Mr. Robert Love of 44 Duer street, member of the firm of Love Brothers grocers, of 257 West Front street, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for eight or nine years; pain across the back and a lameness over the kidneys. Colds always settled there and aggravated the pain and lameness. At last my back grew weaker and any heavy lifting or too much standing or sitting gave me additional pain. It the mornings my back bothered me greatly until I moved about and took some exercise, when it became better to a certain extent. I doctored and used different kinds of so-called kidney cures, but it was like throwing money away. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in our paper, and being in bad shape at the time, I got a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. Before taking half of it my condition was greatly improved, and continuing their use, all the pain left me. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a grand medicine for kidney trouble and it gives me pleasure to recommend them whenever an opportunity presents itself."

SOLDIERS IN HARD LUCK.

Four Hundred of Those on the Transport Tartar Must Remain at Hong Kong.

CLEARANCE IS REFUSED

Authorities Will Not Allow the Ship to Put to Sea in an Overcrowded Condition.

The Matter to Be Taken up By the State Department—Gen. Funston and Twentieth Kansas Volunteer Infantry Aboard the Tartar—The Matter Submitted to President.

Hong Kong, British China, Sept. 14.—The Government authorities have declined to recognize Consul-General Wildman's protest against the detention of the troopship Tartar. The matter rests now in the hands of the Harbor Master, who positively declines to allow the vessel to proceed with more than 750 men aboard. This will necessitate about 450 volunteers of the Kansas Regiment staying behind here.

State Department Will Act.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The army transport Tartar, which is reported detained at Hong Kong by the British authorities, was chartered by the United States, and is owned by the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company. She sails under the British flag. It is said that under these conditions she is subject to British navigation laws, as the fact that she has been chartered by the United States does not entitle her to American registry. The British consul can determine whether she complies with the British navigation laws, and if she does not he has authority to cause her to be unloaded.

A private cable message from Hong Kong says that complaint was made by the four hundred discharged regulars on board the Tartar of overcrowding, whereupon clearance was refused.

The Twentieth Kansas Volunteer Infantry with Gen. Funston is aboard the Tartar, but it is understood that the volunteers made no complaint and are anxious to have clearance granted the ship in order that they may proceed homeward.

Secretary Root saw the President on the matter and afterward had a conference with the commissioner of navigation, Mr. Chamberlain. It has been decided to take up the subject with the State Department, with a view of having the Tartar cleared at Hong Kong. A despatch was sent to Col. Metcalf of the Twentieth Kansas, who is in command of the troops on the transport, asking if in his opinion the ship is overcrowded and if there are just grounds for complaint of the subsistence furnished the men. A despatch was also sent to Gen. Otis, asking for further information concerning the Tartar and the supplies with which she was furnished. No definite decision can be reached until the State Department has communicated with our embassy at London, as it is a question which must be settled by the British Government.

5,000 Attended the Funeral.

Thomson, Ga., Sept. 14.—Over 5,000 negroes attended the funeral of the Rev. B. H. Battle, who was so sensationally murdered. Battle was the pastor of the African Methodist Church here. He went out into the field to gather corn and was shot down by a strange white man. The sermon that brought about Battle's death was of such a violent nature that many of the best colored people left during its delivery and condemn his utterances in no uncertain terms.

New Wireless Telegraphy.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—A special despatch to the Chronicle from Perry, Okla., says: "Peter Pearson, an Oklahoma man, has invented a system of wireless telegraphy which he claims is perfectly successful. Some time last week, Mr. Pearson says, he sent a message to his agent in a little town sixty miles away. He later received a copy of the message through the postoffice exactly as he sent it, including a mistake in the sending."

Will Not Seat Quay.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14.—Senator Penrose, it is said, has advised M. S. Quay that the indications are that the Senate will not seat Quay on Gov. Stone's certificate. Quay will direct in person the Republican State campaign, and will take chances of election at the extra session of the present Legislature.

Mrs. Hearst's Generosity.

San Francisco, Sept. 14.—It is stated that Mrs. Phoebe Hearst will erect at least two of the buildings of the new University of California, at Berkeley. One of these, the school of mines, will be a memorial to her husband, who was a mining man, and the other will probably be for women students.

Price of Oil Advanced.

Lima, O., Sept. 14.—The price of oil has taken another upward shoot, advancing two cents a barrel, making North Lima $1.03, South Lima and Indiana 98 cents. The shipments are about 20,000 in excess of the run, which indicates that the market will go higher.

To Tap Irwin Coal Fields.

Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 14.—The first movement of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company to enter into the local territory of the Pennsylvania Company and to seek a share of the passenger and freight traffic was made at Scottdale. The Irwin coal fields are to be tapped.

Child Boiled to Death.

Shamokin, Pa., Sept. 14.—Falling into a boiler of water in the kitchen of her parents' home, Elizabeth Schickley, aged 4 years, was scalded to death during the temporary absence of her mother.

LARGEST SHIP AFLOAT.

The Oceanic is Now at Her Dock in New York.

New York, Sept. 14—The biggest ship that ever crossed the ocean has sailed into New York harbor with 2,614 passengers and thousands of tons of merchandise on board. The leviathan of vessels is the new White Star liner Oceanic, built to transport passengers and freight at Railroad speed between Liverpool and the port of New York. The time of her passage was 6 days 2 hours. The Oceanic is to be thrown open to view by the public on Monday, on which day an admission fee of 50 cent will be charged. The money thus raised wil be given to the New York hospitals. Prior to her departure from Belfast, where she was built, she was inspected by 10,000 visitors, the accruing fund going to the British hospitals.

Captain John G. Cameron, Commodore of the White Star fleet, commands the Oceanic. She measures 704 feet, to the Great Eastern's 680 feet. The vessel has 980 sacks of mail. The Oecanic is built with gun platforms, according to Admiralty requirements, so as she may be used as an armed cruiser in case she is needed. She can steam 23,400 miles at the rate of 12 knots an hour, or clear around the world, without recoaling, and at the same time carry a large body of troops, stores and ammunition.

Pardon for Dreyfus.

Paris, Sept. 14.—A pardon for Dreyfus is regarded by some persons in authority here as almost a certainty in the near future. President Loubet, it is expected, will exercise his constitutional right of individual pardon, and, acting on the "extenuating circumstances" plea of the Rennes court-martial, restore to Dreyfus his freedom. This graceful act would be followed by a policy which the boulevards already speak of as "the sponge." All old scandals would be wiped off the slate. The pending trials which originated in the Dreyfus affair will be reduced to mere formalities. In fact a general amnesty for the anti-Dreyfusites, the Dreyfusards the Royalist conspirators and all political spitfires would be granted. All this, it is believed, would go to clear up the situation and work toward heading off the threatened international boycott of the Paris Exposition in 1900.

Schurman Talks on Philippines.

Ithaca, Sept. 14.—President Schurman, the head of Cornell University and president of the United States Philippines Commission, has returned to his office in the university. He has made a statement in regard to affairs in the Philippines and what is required to end the difficulty in the islands. Professor Schurman's statement is about the same and along the same lines as those he has made on the same subject on previous occasions.

Killed His Wife Accidentally.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 14.—Eugene H Brientnall, son of Lieutenant Colonel R. Heber Brientnall of the First New Jersey volnteers, accidently killed his wife with a shotgun. As she sank expiring he fell in a faint, and as he is afflicted with heart disease his condition is regarded as serious. The woman was shot in the left breast and died almost instantly.

Venezuela Verdict Oct. 1.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Officials here say that the British-Venezuela Court of Arbitration, now sitting at Paris, will end its work and render a final decision about October 1, so that Chief Justice Fuller, one of the arbitrators, may return to Washington for the opening of the Supreme Court on October 10.

Palmer Sails For Home.

New York, Sept. 14.—Pedlar Palmer, who was defeated by Terry McGovern in one round at the Westchester Athletic Club, has sailed for England on the American liner New York. He said before leaving that his defeat was an accident and that he is anxious to meet McGovern again.

Won't Exhibit at Paris.

Cologne, Sept. 14.—At a meeting of the German Trades Union Association, on the motion of its president, adopted a resolution not to exhibit at the Paris Exposition, declaring that the Rennes sentence was an insult in its disregard of the official satements of Germany.

Two Skeletons Unearthed.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 14.—In excavating for the foundation of a new building on Avon street a coffin and a box were uncovered. The former contained the skeleton of an adult and the latter that of a child. The color and sex are not known. Detectives are at work on the case.

George Siler to Move to New York.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—George Siler, well known as the referee of the greatest fistic encounters of recent yars, has decided to leave Chicago anl locate permanently in New York. He has been chosen official referee of the Coney Island Athletic Club.

Belongs to the Finder.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The finder of mutilated money is the owner and can have it redeemed at the United States Treasury. So has decided Comptroller of the Treasury Tracewell, thereby overruling the custom that has obtained heretofore.

For a National Forestry Park.

St. Paul, Sept. 14.—Dr. Schenck, the German forestry expert, and Col. John R. Cooper, of Chicago, were the principal speakers at a meeting in the interest of the proposed National Forestry Park in northern Minnesota.

THE DEAD MILLIONAIRE.

Relations With His Son—The Funeral and the Will.

New York, Sept. 14.—Dr. Chauncey M. Depew, who was believed to have been largely responsible in bringing about a reconciliation between Cornelius Vanderbilt, the dead, and Cornelius Vanderbilt, the living, his son, was asked if he could tell the story of that reconciliaton.

"My dear boy," said the genial Senator to the reporter, "there is no story of a reconciliation to tell. The relation existing between Mr. Vanderbilt and young Cornelius before the former's death were fair. That's the word—fair. For several weeks he has called at his father's house and been welcomed there, and on several occasions he has eaten at his father's table."

"What brought about this reconciliation?"

"Well, there isn't any story in it. It is true that as time lapsed they became more or less reconciled. Their relations were fair—that's the word. Very shortly after the death of the father Mrs. Vanderbilt had a telegram sent to Newport summoning young Cornelius to New York. He replied that he would be here by the first train and he came on at once. He came up and saw the body, and I think he spent the night in his father's house. But I will not be certain as to this; I merely think so."

The reporter subsequently learned that young Cornelius spent the night at his own home, 608 Fifth avenue. He left immediately after breakfast to rejoin his mother.

The will of Cornelius Vanderbilt will be read Friday. It was definitely announced that the funeral would be held at 10:30 o'clock Friday. The body will then be taken by special boat from the foot of East Forty-second street to New Dorp. Dr. Greer will accompany the remains and perform the burial rites at the tomb.

The services, marked by simplicity, can scarcely fail to be deeply and intensively impressive. They will be held in St. Bartholomew's, at Madison avenue and Forty-third street, the family place of worship in this city. Rev. Dr. Greer, the rector for many yehrs, and almoner of countless thousands of Vanderbilt offerings to charity and education, will officiate, assisted probably by Bishop Potter. Here the last rites of the Episcopal church were celebrated over William H. Vanderbilt, whose pious wife brought so deep a religious strain into the family, leavening the money-gathering talents inherited from the old Commodore and making the career of her oldest son such an example for rich who would live aright and die honored and respected.

Accident to the Shamrock.

Highlands of Navesink, N. J., Sept. 14.—Shamrock spread her new racing canvas to the breeze and made ready for an early start for a trial over the measured course, but she had not gone far when her new gaff was broken and in a nine-knot breeze the cup hunter was towed to port.

Caxton Mansion Burned.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 14.—The mansion of Samuel Paxton, at Hyde Park, has been burned to the ground, in spite of the efforts of the village department to check the flames. The place adjoins the new mansion of Fred W. Vanderbilt, which was in no danger.

No Trace of Andre.

Copenhagen, Sept. 14.—Professor A. G. Nathorst, who has just returned from exploring the coast of Greenland, says he found no trace of Andre. Nathorst brings a valuable ethnological collection from the arctics.

More Fever at Key West.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 14.—Dr. Porter, who is in charge of the yellow fever cases at Key West, reports from there that there are twenty-nine new cases and one death from the disease.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 14.—The dealing in the stock market indicated that the more urgent liquidation, induced by the financial stringency, had been about completed, and prices were much firmer than they have been since the publication of the bank statement on Saturday. London was also a favorable factor in the market, both furnishing a higher range of prices and being a buyer of stocks here. Tennessee C. & I. was again a conspicuous feature in the market, in a further sharp advance, which was subsequently shaded, though the stock ruled above its closing figure of yesterday. Brooklyn's Rapid Transit was active and weak on a continuation of the liquidation that has been present in that stock for some time. The remainder of the market main, was steady, but it closed at a was only fairly active, and, in the general advance over yesterday.

Wheat was lower. The decline was induced by the drop in the cables. The bears had little trouble in breaking prices, as the outside trade was very small. The Western crop news was favorable, but had no effect. December wheat 75⅝. May 78¾.

Expert Coal Thieves.

Coal stealing from railroads, common along the lines of all the coal carrying roads, has ben reduced to a system in Syracuse, the Post-Standard of that city says. The thieves work hard and take many risks, not only of detection but of bodily injury. Their methods would be called clever if employed in an honest business. The heaviest thieving is done by men with sacks, who climb up between the cars of a slow-moving train, with two or more bushel sacks concealed under their clothing. As opportunity offers they fill a sack and throw it from the train, to be picked up by accomplices. Another trick is adopted by men who, dressed like tramps, board trains as if with the intention of stealing a ride. These men travel along from one car to another, apparently seeking a comfortable place in which to lie down, but in their progress they manage to dislodge a large amount of coal, which is subsequently picked up by the women and children who are employed in the "industry." Large quantities of coal are stolen by these and other methods, the plunder being disposed of to unscrupulous dealers, who subsequently rob the honest poor by dishonest measure.

THE DANGERS OF TRUSTS

Civic Federation Opens Up the Much Talked of Conference in Chicago.

GOV. PINGREE PRESENT.

Uses and Abuses of the Big Organizations Before the Meeting For Discussion.

Nearly Every State in the Union is Represented—Music Hall Packed With Delegates—Interesting Papers Read By Men of Prominence. What Combinations Do.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—The Civic Federation Conference on the uses and abuses of trusts and combinations, with representative men from nearly every state in attendance, has opened here. Central Music Hall was packed with the 200 delegates and hundreds of spectators.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman Franklin H. Head.

Gov. Pingree, of Michigan is present, and the New York delegation, headed by W. Bourke Cockran, is well represented.

Mr. Head was followed by Dr. Howard S. Taylor, who, as the representative of Mayor Harrison, welcomed the delegates to Chicago. Attorney-General E. C. Akin, acting for Gov. Tanner, who was too ill to attend, delivered an address of welcome for the people of Illinois.

The first real business confronting the delegates came in the papers delivered by Prof. J. W. Jenks and Prof. Henry Carter Adams, both under the caption "Problems Before the Conference."

Prof. Adams, of the University of Michigan, said in part:

"Industrial combinations, whatever their form, whatever their purpose, whatever their explanation are matters of public concern. It is said we do not know enough of this new form of industrial organization to judge properly respecting it.

"If this be true, and if on this account trusts are to be allowed a probationary existence, it is the plain duty of Government to hold them meantime to strict account. If trusts are what they claim—that is to say, the vanguards of a new industrial organization, which holds within itself great industrial benefits—the sooner this fact is recognized by the public the better for all concerned.

"If, on the other hand, there is danger in the extreme application of this form of organization, the Government certainly has a right to possess itself of all facts necessary for a judicial opinion, and for effective legislation.

"Where competition controls, the government may safely refrain from interference, but where competition is excluded, or where the conditions of its xercise are such as to give one competitor an advantage over another, nothing remains but public supervision; and the most important, indeed the essential agency for legislation or for administrative supervision, is a thoroughly organized bureau of statistics and accounts, clothed with authority over the auditing departments of these industrial associations.

"The question before this convention is indeed a great question. It moves in many directions and embraces many considerations. It is at bottom a question of social theories and social ideas.

"Its vastness will be appreciated when it is observed that its judicious treatment will result in securing for the people the advantages of the industrial development of the past century, while to ignore or to fail in its solution would result in prostituting the wealth created by a hundred years of phenomenal development to the service of a class."

John Graham Brooks, of Cambridge, Mass., lecturer on social economics at the Harvard Union, read a paper under the head, "Are the New Combinations Dangerous?" He spoke in part as follows:

"We do not say a corporation is good or bad until we know what the corporation is or does. If the business is properly safeguarded the corporation renders a social service as essential as the college, the library or the church. If the larger combinations now under discussion can be so far controlled as the Boston Street Railway, and indeed most in Massachusetts are controlled. I should say the trust is not to be feared, but to be welcomed. The supreme question that confronts us is that of possible regulation.

"I submit that the time is at hand for some kind of wise, thorough and effective organization. Nor do I believe it open to doubt that the immense pressure of this necessity is producing the so-called trust.

"I believe it to be the beginning of practical sense to understand that the new combinations can in no sense be permanently smashed. The party which proposes to do this, in the sense of absolutely checking them, will have plenty of leisure to regret it. The real problem, immediately and imperious, is how to regulate and guide the new force that stands merely for the latest stage of industrial growth. If the combinations are to work for the public, as well as for private, good, three things, two of them now largely under the voters' control, must be brought about:

"1. As absolute a publicity of methods and accounts as the largest Massachusetts corporation has to submit to.

"2. Every artificial advantage given by the tariff must be removed.

"3. Railroad discriminations shall not be allowed to these combinations."

After the close of the conference the Graham & Morton Steamship Company will give the visiting delegates an excursion to Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, Mich.

To Recall Attaches.

London, Sept. 14.—A despatch says that Emperor William and King Humbert will withdraw their military attaches from Paris and request France to recall hers from Berlin and Rome.

As the Law Views It.

The verdict of the coroner's jury in the case of the murder of Paul Roehricht, charging the crime to Mrs. Theodore Fingerhuth, aided and abetted by her son, is the only decision that could be reached in the eyes of the law and in view of the circumstances of the tragedy. Whatever aggravation there might have been in the forcible action taken by Roehricht and those whom he employed in his efforts to oust the Fingerhuths from the house which they occupied, there was certainly no justification in taking a life in order to repel them.

There is undoubtedly much sympathy for the unfortunate woman in the terrible predicament her rash act has precipitated.

The fact that her two protectors—father and son—had been called away from home by proceedings instituted in the courts by Roehricht, and that in their absence the landlord and his employes should attempt to take forcible advantage of the woman, makes public opinion favor the woman's side to a remarkable degree. There is a tendency of the public to always respond to the side of the weaker in any sort of a contest, and the expressed sympathy of the general public for her is but natural. But there is an overbalancing of commiseration to maintain that she was justified in shooting Roehricht. The taking of a life is the most serious offense in the criminal or moral category, and there is only one way in which it is justified—that is, in self-defense when one's own life is endangered by the willful act of another. There was no such mitigating side in this case, Roehricht and his employes had no purpose of harming Mrs. Fingerhuth physically.

From all that can be learned of the case thus far it appears that the act of killing Roehricht was not due to sudden impulse, but rather was the result of anticipation and preparation for exactly the situation that the affair finally resolved itself into. It was the culmination of deliberated action and thought in the premises, and as a result the law cannot but deal severely with the unfortunate woman.

THE OLD ALABAMA AND THE NEW.

The new battleship Alabama, which on her recent trial trip made over 17 knots, exceeding the speed requirement of the contract, is 11,525 tons, 374 feet long, 72 feet 5 inches beam. Her horsepower is 10,000. Her main battery will comprise four 13-inch guns and fourteen 6-inch rapid fire, breechloading rifles. Completed she will cost $3,750,000.

The fall campaign in Gloucester county was started yesterday, when the Republicans made the following nominations, to be voted on at the primary election next Saturday: Senator, George E. Pierson, Solomon H. Stanger; Assembly, W. P. Buck, W. K. Roberson; Sheriff, Franklin D. Springer; Coroner, William H. Miller. The nominating election promises to be a lively one, as nomination in this county is almost equivalent to election.

The Newark News think that there is a suspicion of irony in the appointment by Governor Voorhees of the delegates to the National Prison Reform convention. He has named the State Prison Keeper, the State Prison Supervisor and the six members of the Board of State Prison Inspectors, all of whom, judging from recent developments, are in need of all the information they can get on the subjects to be discussed at the convention.

Jerseymen will learn with deep regret that Admiral Sampson, whom they were proud to have as a resident of their State, will in the near future remove from Glen Ridge to Boston. This change of residence is necessitated by his coming retirement from sea service to take charge of the Boston Navy Yard.

Of the six States which elect Governors in November, five have now Republican Governors.

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS THAT PLAINFIELDERS MAY WITNESS.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

Leonard's "Two Jolly Rovers," a musical farce-comedy, which will appear at Music Hall tomorrow night for the first time, is one of the funniest comedies upon the road. It is full of funny situations and the scenery is beautiful. Second act showing the Harlem river and the High Bridge, also the exterior of the Rubbernecks Yacht Club, and the third act exterior of the Ladies' I. O. C. gymnasium, where the "Two Jolly Rovers" are captured by their wives making love to the beautiful widow and her charming niece. The company is composed of only first-class talent, each and every one an artist in his or her line. A special feature is Miss Maizee King, the acknowlged best tiptoe dancer liver. She created such a sensation, being the principl attraction at Madison Square Garden, in New York.

William A. Brady's production of Lottie Blair Parker's play, elaborated by Joseph R. Grismer, "Way Down East," will be seen at Music Hall, Tuesday, Sept. 19th. The play is a splendid study of New England life, full of homely sentiment and that peculiar appealing quality which strikes home to every heart. Mrs. Parker calls her play "a story about plain people," and it is this in fact. They are plain, everyday characters engaged in the homely pursuits of domesticity, but the series of events which are unfolded in the course of the play are of a deep dramatic interest, enhanced by the simplicity and naturalness of their telling.

called Grain-O. It is a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it because when properly prepared it tastes like the finest coffee but is free from all its injurious properties. Grain-O aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant but a health builder, and children, as well as adults, can drink it with great benefit. Costs about ¼ as much as coffee 15 and 25c.

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

By our new process of ironing we are enabled to give you a perfect domestic finish, and to launder turn down collars without breaking them. Call and see how we do it; you are welcome to inspect our plant at all times; no mystery about our work.

Hand work on all shirt waists, cost a little more, but perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

SOMETHING ABOUT CARPETS.

The carpet season is here again, and as usual we are ready for it with what we claim is not only the largest, but the most carefully selected stock ever offered the people of this community. A marked reaction has taken place in the carpet business, viz: An increased demand for better grades. People have made the discovery that we made years ago, that good carpets are always cheapest. Our fall stock has been selected with this in view. We are showing a higher grade of carpets than ever before in the history of our business, and the readiness with which our customers are responding to same is most gratifying. We select the best patterns from the most reliable makers only and satisfaction is guaranteed in every particular.

Moquettes, Axminster, Saronneries in the latest designs, the richest colorings and most pleasing effects. Tapestries and velvets in beautiful patterns. All particularly good for parlor and dining room. An unusually good assortment of all-wool Ingrains, suitable for bedrooms, etc. Reversible, they will give splendid service. Our line of church carpets we consider superior to that of most N. Y. City stores. Cocoa mattings for public buildings. It comes in plain and striped patterns.

Ingrain Art Squares, Jute Smyrna art squares, all-wool Smyrna rugs, Royal Wilton rugs, Mouquette rugs, Cocoa mats, Rubber mats, etc., etc. Cocoa mats with rubber ends for piazzas made to order. Shades made to order and ready made. Contracts made for furnishing whole houses.

Lace curtains, Portierres, tapestries, furniture coverings, rug fringes, sash curtains, curtain poles and fixtures, brass rods, stair pads and everything else in curtain fixtures.

Our assortment of Linoleums and Oil Cloths, we feel safe in saying, is far above the average. We handle only goods we can recommend. We employ only the most experienced workmen, and all carpet laying, oil cloth fitting and shade hanging is done in the best possible manner.

About Furniture.

If all the young people who have been getting married lately or who expect to be married in the near future will call on us we will agree to save them a snug sum on Furniture. We are in a position to sell Furniture cheap. Same is true of Bedding, Crockery and housefurnishings in general.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 14.—The Brunswick Traction Company has placed half fare school tickets on sale at the post-office. Thirty tickets are sold for a dollar. The members of the Common Council will be asked to have the trolley company comply with the provision of the franchise in regard to half fare tickets, which were to be issued to all children between the ages of five and ten years, and not only to school children. Many of the citizens are of the opinion that the traction company is trying to evade the fulfillment of the provisions of the franchise by placing half fare tickets on sale at the post office, which can only be available to those who buy them at the place of sale. The matter will probably be brought up at the next meeting of the Council.

Isaac J. Stites, a member of the board of education, yesterday called upon Superintent Morris at the Lincoln school. Mr. Stites was very much pleased at the splendid discipline being maintained by the new superintendent. The pupils seem to like the new head of the schools. Already a warm attachment is being formed for Mr. Morris, who gives promise of proving a capable man.

The friends of Fred Warden will enjoy a dance at his barn on Prospect street next Tuesday night. Music will be furnished by Merschund. This will be the second society event of the season among the young folks and it promises to be a pleasant affair.

Miss Ethel Jamieson has returned from a visit with friends at Newark. On Sunday she will resume her position in the choir of the Methodist church, where her sweet contralto voice is so much appreciated.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 14—The prompt action of the Royal Arcanum in case of death was illustrated at Tuesday evening's meeting of Fanwood Council. John G. McNair, who was killed Wednesday evening and was buried Sunday afternoon, was a member of the local council in town. Proof of death was established at the meeting and the papers were immediately rushed through to the supreme secretary and if there is no delay there his widow will receive $3,000 death benefit within a few days.

P. B. Provost of Decatur, Ill., who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Robison, lost a G. A. R. Post No. 1 pin while in Plainfield several days ago. Mr. Provost has offered a reward for the recovery of it, as he values it for its association more than its real value. Mr. Provost has the honor of being one of the charter members of Post No. 1 and there are very few of the pins in existence.

The Borough Council at that last meeting passed an ordinance to go into effect October 1st, 1899, charging a license fee of $1 per year for every hack at the station and $1 for each driver, making a total of $2 per year.

The old wooden culvert on Terrill road has been removed and a much larger one has been put in. This will enable the water to run off more freely and do away with a very bad mud hole after every heavy rain.

Dr. Parks and T. J. Nichol have returned from a two days' stay at Long Branch where they have been attending the State Convention of the Firemen's Relief Association.

Miss Alice Chapin, who has been spending two weeks with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Chapin, has returned to her home in Hartford, Conn.

Miss Lily Gibbs has returned to her duties in Plainfield after enjoying a very pleasant two weeks' vacation which was spent with friends out of town.

The boys in town are trying to arrange a two-mile junior race for tomorrow afternoon over the Mountain avenue course.

Alfred Ward, of Green Valley, Ill., has been spending a few days with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wade.

The open-air dance at Mountainside last night attracted a number of people from town.

Henry C. Meyers, the grocer, is out with a handsome new delivery wagon.

Mrs. Adelia West, of Newark, spent Wednesday with friends in town.

Miss Kittie Buckley visited friends in Westfield last night.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell it at 50 cents or it will be mailed by Ely Brother, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

MORE ITALIANS STRIKE.

Laborers on Somerville Gas Mains Go Out—Replaced by Negroes.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, September 14. — The striking fever seems to be prevalent in this section, the strike of the Italians on the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company a few days ago being followed up yesterday by similar action on the part of their countrymen employed in putting down the gas mains of the Somerville Lighting Company. They wanted an increase of pay, and when it was refused them they decided to strike. A gang of negroes was secured to take their places, but the Italians refused to give up the tools they had been supplied with. A riot was imminent between to two forces of laborers when Constable Gulick appeared on the scene and succeeded in making the strikers give up the tools.

To Resume Meetings.

Next Tuesday evening Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., will hold its first meeting since last summer.

Union County Court of Common Pleas

In the matter of the application of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Plainfield, N. J., a religious corporation, to sell lands in which burials have been made. } Order to Show Cause.

Upon reading the petition of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Plainfield, N. J., duly verified and this day filed in this court, setting forth that the petitioner is a religious corporation or society owning real estate in which burials have been made, and that said lands are no longer desirable for burial purposes nor in use as such, that owing to the changed condition of population and business the lands described in said petition are not in demand as a place for the burial of the dead, and that it is desirable to sell said lands, and that the petitioner has secured consents in writing of all of the living owners of plots or burial permits authorizing the removal of the bodies buried in said lots in said lots or plots, and that said lots or plots are designated on a map accompanying said petition, said petition also setting forth a list of all apparent owners of lots or plots designated in said petition by lot or plot number, also designated on said map, the petitioner setting forth that it was unable to find said apparent owners, their lineal descendants, widows or widowers after having made diligent inquiry therefor; said petition further setting forth a list of enumerated lots or plots said to contain bodies of persons unknown to the petitioner, and that said lots or plots do not appear to have been conveyed by the petitioner to any person:

It is, on this nineteenth day of September, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, ordered that the following named persons, apparent owners, to wit:

A. Conant, apparent owner of lot No. 5 South Border Section,
J. Smith, apparent owner of lot No. 10 South Border Section,
Mercy Waldron, apparent owner of lot No. 11 South Border Section,
Caroline DeCamp, apparent owner of lot No. 12 South Border Section,
David S. Townley, apparent owner lot No. 13 South Border Section,
John Fitzgerald, apparent owner lot No. 15 South Border Section,
H. W. Bradley, apparent owner lot No. 2 Square No. 7, or such persons as may be interested in the lots or plots designated, and all persons interested in the following lots or plots, to wit:

Lot No. 16 South Border Section,
Western half of lot No. 11 Square No. 7,
Lot No. 3 Square No. 16,
Lot No. 5 Square No. 16,
Lot No. 6 Square No. 16,
Lot No. 7 Square No. 16,
Lot No. 8 Square No. 16,

do show cause to this court on the eighteenth day of October, eighteen ninety-nine, why said lands should not be sold, and why all bodies buried therein should not be removed therefrom, as in said petition prayed for, and that a notice of this order be published in the Plainfield Courier-News for four weeks successively at least once in each week.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Speyer. Das Eisenbahnprojekt Speyer-Neustadt kommt allmälig in Fluß. In einer unter dem Vorsitz des Bürgermeisters Serr stattgehabten Versammlung sprachen sich die Vertreter sämmtlicher Gemeinden bis Geinsheim, welcher Ort vorläufig den Endpunkt der Strecke bilden soll, einstimmig für die Durchführung des Projektes aus. Die Strecke bis Geinsheim ist 19.54 Kilometer lang und würde einen Kostenaufwand von 928,000 Mark erfordern. Bis Neustadt hat die Strecke eine Länge von 29.51 Kilometer und würde 1,224,000 Mark kosten.

Kaiserslautern. Der 60jährige Arbeiter Schaumlöffel hatte bei der Polizei die Anzeige gemacht, sein Morgenkaffee habe Phosphor enthalten, und zugleich bezichtigte er seine Haushälterin dieser That. Doch ergab die Untersuchung, daß Schaumlöffel selbst das Gift beigemengt hatte, um sich an der Haushälterin zu rächen. Das Gericht erkannte gegen ihn auf eine Gefängnißstrafe von einem Jahr und einem Ehrverlust von drei Jahren.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Der Württembergische Obstbauverein, dessen gemeinnützige Wirksamkeit im ganzen Lande geschätzt wird, hat es nach dem neuesten Stand auf 1500 Mitglieder gebracht.—Jüngsthin Nachts stürzte der verheirathete Kaufmann Schulz in der Schloßstraße vom Rade. Er sollte in's Katharinenhospital verbracht werden, verschied jedoch schon unterwegs.

Attenweiler. Von der Schule heimkehrende Kinder badeten im Schammacher See. Plötzlich sank ein sonst des Schwimmens kundiger, 13jähriger Knabe, Sohn des Oekonomen Gersten, unter. Ein Schlaganfall hatte dem jungen Leben ein Ende gemacht.

Leutkirch. In der letzten Zeit waren in den Orten Thannheim, Roth und Hauerz Brandfälle sehr häufig, ohne daß man die Ursache ermitteln konnte. So brannte dieser Tage wieder in Hauerz ein großes Wohn- und Oekonomiegebäude nieder; dabei fand ein 51jähriger Mann den Tod in den Flammen. Auch sechs Stück Rindvieh, zwei Schweine, ein Pferd und sämmtliches Geflügel gingen zu Grunde. Brandstiftung ist fast sicher anzunehmen, aber feste Anhaltspunkte fehlen noch.

Stimpfbach. In Gauchshausen feierte Matthäus Stegmaier mit seiner Frau das Fest der goldenen Hochzeit im Kreise von 8 Kindern und 21 Enkeln.

Tübingen. Der Kanzler der hiesigen Universität, v. Weizsäcker, ist letzthin gestorben.

Urach. Vor Kurzem wurde das dem Fürsten Bismarck hier errichtete Denkmal feierlichst eingeweiht. Das Denkmal besteht in einer von Professor v. Rumann (München) modellirten und von P. Stotz (Stuttgart) gegossenen Kolossalbüste, die auf Granitblöcken ruht.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Steuermahner Heß hat sich unlängst im Rhein ertränkt. In seiner Rocktasche wurde folgender Brief an seine Angehörigen gefunden: „Liebe Frau und Kinder verzeiht, daß ich das gethan habe, ich bin krank."

Baden-Baden. In Gegenwart von Vertretern der Staats- und städtischen Behörden sowie hiesiger und auswärtiger Gäste fand neulich die feierliche Einweihung der neuerbauten Synagoge statt. Oberrabbiner Meyer hielt die Festrede.

Heidelberg. Der in der „Frankfurter Zeitung" neulich erwähnte Rebstock in Tschars im Vintschgau mit seinen 600 Trauben wird weit übertroffen von einem Rebstock im „Grünen Hof" in Handschuhsheim, der eine Laube von etwa 20 Meter Länge und 8 Meter Breite bildet und zur Zeit etwas über 3000 wohlausgebildete Trauben trägt.

Mannheim. Die Ehefrau Wilhelm Mengen erstach Nachts nach heftigem Wortwechsel aus Eifersucht ihren Mann.

Billingen. Die Gedenkfeier der vor 900 Jahren erfolgten Verleihung des Markt-, Münz- und Zollrechts und des Gerichtsbanns durch Kaiser Otto den Dritten an Billingen ist glänzend verlaufen. Die Zahl der zur Feier gekommenen Gäste, unter denen sich auch das Großherzogliche Paar von Baden befand, wird auf 200,000 bis 300,000 geschätzt. Den Glanzpunkt des Tages bildete der große historische Festzug, bei dem gegen 1000 Personen, darunter 200 zu Pferde, mitwirkten.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Bei einem Dauermarsch des anhier garnisonirenden 8. Württembergischen Infanterie-Regiments Nr. 126, Großherzog Friedrich von Baden, wurden 44 Soldaten schlapp, und einer derselben starb.

Beinheim. In unserem Orte hat die neue elsaß-lothringische Gemeinde-Ordnung sonderbare Folgen gezeitigt. Nach einem alten Gewohnheitsrechte waren in diesem Orte nur diejenigen Einwohner allmendberechtigt, die ein Wohnhaus besaßen. Dieses Gewohnheitsrecht wurde beseitigt durch Paragraph 54 der Gemeinde-Ordnung vom 1. April 1896, der jeden Einwohner zum Mitgenuß der Allmende für berechtigt erklärte. AN INDIAN PRINCESS.

But No One Would Suspect Her Aboriginal Anticedents.

Miss Maude T. Parker, of New York, is an Indian princess. She is the daughter of Donehogawa, who up to the time of his death was the acknowledged king of the Iroquoise, head of the once famous Six Nations. She has an Indian name, as well as the more prosaic one of Parker. It is Ah-wa-ee-o, the meaning of which is "the opening bud."

Born in a hut within sound of the Niagara Falls, the first ten years of his career were passed among the associations of the little Indian settlement, one of the few remaining in all their primeval simplicity, just as nature had ordained that they should be. Then came a kindly disposed whiteface to the camp one day, who took an interest in the little redskin, sufficient interest, in fact, to persuade his reluctant parents to allow him a little schooling in the big city down the Hudson.

At sixteen the father of "Miss Parker, of New York," was Indian interpreter at Washington, D. C. A few years in the country's capital, and his roving traits got the ascendancy He went West to Galena, Ill., the home of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, where he struck up quite a friendship with the great leader. Here the young chief was induced to study law.

For some two years he did what no Indian ever did before—pored over the dry and endless tomes of the English common law. He applied for admission to the bar, and the saving grace of common sense and equity was not as prevalent in the bar as it happily is to-day, and the youthful brave was refused admission.

Then came the war, and with it an appointment on the staff of the "silent captain" from President Lincoln. During the entire conflict Donehogawa served with credit to his race and the high trust imposed in him by the President and his chief, Gen. Grant. Apropos of his record in the war, it is perhaps enough to say that he retired from Uncle Sam's service at its close as "Gen." Parker.

As Indian Commissioner under Grant, Gen. Parker proved a gratifying success, and incidentally proved the worth of the intellectual mettle of the red man.

He died in New York some four years ago, leaving the impress of his character in somewhat indelible lines on the contemporary charts.

Miss Parker's education was received in private schools in New York. She finished in the fashionable seminary of St. Mary's in 1896. It was while attending this exclusive institution that she made the acquaintance of Miss Wilkinson, the young woman who gave the party in her honor recently. Her mother was a Miss Minnie Sackett, a member of one of the first families of Washington, where she was wooed and won by the late General.

In personal appearance one would certainly be forced to look twice to catch the unquestionably characteristics of the Indian in her form and countenance. Perhaps the characteristic which suggests her interesting origin the most is the queenly grace of her carriage and movements. It is the grace not of the schools or the gymnasium, but such as might come fresh from the woods and nature.

She has all the quick, bubbling vivacity of her paternal line, full of life and freedom and health. She can swim and dive like one of nature's children, while all the popular pastimes of the up-to-date society girl each find in her a warm enthusiasm. She, of course, plays golf, and is exceptionally clever at this particular form of killing time.

Tea-Table Etiquette.

A hundred years ago there was a quaint tea table etiquette. It was considered a lack of courtesy to take much cream or sugar in one's tea. Etiquette demanded that tea should be tasted from the spoon, and that the hostess should then inquire, "Is your tea agreeable?" Modern women would be shocked by a fashionable lady of those days who deliberately cooled her tea with her breath. Yet Young wrote of a certain bewildering Lady Betty:

"Her two red lips affected zephyrs blow
To cool the Bohea and inflame the beau:
While one white finger and a thumb conspire
To lift the cup and make the world admire."

MARY ELLEN LEASE.

Her Idea of New Womanhood and in Higher Civilization.

Mrs. Mary E. Lease, who is in many respects the most remarkable women of the century—the most eloquent as a platform speaker, the most courageous and one of the most vesatile, has this to say about the new women:

"In this period of human development the phrase 'new woman' has become strangely familiar, and to that person whose hand is not steady enough to feel the throbbing pulse of the times, to that person whose mind is not clear enough to catch the first glimpses of the resplendent dawn, the phrase has become a cant expression associated in some ways with some nondescript preacher, half man, half woman, who, bold, defiant, tramples ancient usage under foot and tries to overthrow or improve existing distasteful conditions by material or intellectual force, always masculine in its tendency or nature.

"Such a conception of the new woman, such an interpretation of her mission is indeed erroneous, and could only come to us hidden under the trailing robes of superstition and ignorance, which is our heritage from the past. New occasions teach new duties, time makes ancient good uncouth. We must upward still and onward who would keep abreast of truth. To-day, as never before, new occasions and new conditions confront us, conditions so absolutely new that all the intelligence, the wisdom and integrity of the hour are demanded to meet the requirements which they impose.

"The new woman is here, not as the result of a more advanced civilization, but a more advanced, a truer and higher civilization is dawning because the new woman is here. She is at once a result and a cause. Women's part in the stupendous economy of nature is, first and distinctively, most important, that of motherhood. She can only pay her debt to nature, fulfill her mission in the world and discharge her obligations to humanity by faithfully discharging the duties of motherhood. But as the functions of motherhood cease, when the woman is in the prime of life, ripened by experience and fortified by maternal ties, she may yet have ample time to exert her far-reaching influence in the public life which she has exemplified in her own life and the words "home, love, mother."

"The advocates of woman's suffrage makes a grievous mistake in not placing more emphasis upon this particular phrase of the women question, for there is, there can be no more rational objection to granting the fullest suffrage to woman at this period of her life.

"Outside of having located the basic cause of woman's dependence, it will at once be seen that the only solution possible for her complete emancipation and mental and physical development is to render her, through industrial freedom, so economically independent in every way of man's grudging bounty that she will scorn his pity, resent his abuse and claim her right to fullest individuality and opportunity as a human being. The mists are lifting, the dawn is breaking, the new woman is here, not as a theory, but as a fact.

"In the domain of economics the new woman has evolved when social conditions presented the opportunity by which she might achieve independence. This is the hope we waited for when courage else had died. Borne on the morning tide we hear the notes of angel choir, the tones of raptured throng, "all hail the new woman, for whose love the world hath hungered long."

Fashion Notes.

The scallop is another thing that still is. It undulates around jacket and wrap fronts, is to be seen in the frill that edges the yokes, waves up the over dress that opens at one side or the one that opens up in the middle over a pain or plaited skirt, and it finishes the lower edge of the double skirt. It is usually large.

High flaring collars are seen on capes and mantles of different kinds, as well as on coats, though on the latter more of the collars simply turn down. A narrow ruching of velvet is becoming on the high collars for capes and pretty as a finish for the edge of the entire garment. Double-breasted coats are stylish for fall wear.

The pierced cloth is seen in capes, and the long stole ends which have long been seen in diffrent forms are to be seen in the most dressy mantles. Lace bows are at the neck of rich capes with ends falling to the knees, and on more severe garments double-faced satin robbon is used.

Black silk coats in the form of the Eton jacket or coming a little below the waist line are trimmed with light fur for fall. Chinchilla is one of the prettiest and most becoming of these trimmings.

The broad collars or frills are to be seen around and at the edge of yokes to children's gowns, with wide revers at the sides of long-pointed vests, all falling over the shoulders at the top of the sleeves.

The aesthetic reason why gloves should be worn for outdoor sports is that they contribute a trim, smart look to the athletic girl.

Stylish Stationery.

From England comes the cry that the envelope is no more in fashionable correspondence; that the proper thing is to seal or fasten with a wafer, or both, the note and letter. However, as long as this is a busy world and time passes quickly for both rich and poor, there will be envelopes until some one has discovered another method of sending letters which is as simple.

THE HOUSEHOLD

USEFUL HINTS.

Household Notes to Be Read and Remembered.

Such dishes as beef or veal olives are attractive and palatable. Sufficient meat for them may be puchased for a single meal; in fact, this is true of all stews; but broils and roasts are not good when small. Beef olives are strips of thin round steak with a small piece of suet or bacon rolled and tied within. They are first browned in a little suet, and then stewed slowly until tender—about one hour—in a brown sauce made by adding two tablespoonfuls of flour to the fat in which they were browned. After mixing add a pint of hot water and a seasoning of onion, bay leaf, salt and pepper.—September Ladies' Home Journal.

One of the best "mouse scarers" is the foliage of a walnut tree. When traps are useless the above is most successful, and for those to whom such leaves are obtainable there need be no more worry about those annoying little animals. Even after the foliage has been dried it is still effectual in driving them away. On the continent, where country folks bury such vegetables as turnips, carrots, celery etc., for winter use, a layer of the above keeps rats and mice away.

Damp cupboards and rooms can be made airy and dry by placing a basin of fresh lime where the moisture penetrates, to the deteriment of food, linen, etc. The lime quickly absorbs the unwholesome humidity, and the remedy need only to be repeated every now and then. In living room, which are not to be depended upon as being as dry as could be desirable, it is advisable to place saucers containing salt under sofas, etc. This will absorb the moisture in a wonderful manner. If thoroughly dried the salt can be used again for the same purpose.

Poultry and meat on being served cold, may be improved in appearance by glazing. This process is simple. An excellent glaze may be found by dissolving a half ounce of gelatine in a pint of water, flavoring and coloring it with extract of beef. To be perfectly successful the meat must be cold before the glaze is put on, and the first coat should be allowed to dry before the second is added. The glaze must be warm and applied with a brush.

A fine seasoning for chicken salad is to slice an onion on the top of the prepared chicken and let it marinate two hours or more, adding, at the same time, a few drops of prepared chevril. Be sure that every particle of the onion is taken from the chicken before adding the dressing.

A novel way to make sandwiches is to use horseradish grated fresh, instead of mustard. Spread in a thin layer upon each buttered slice, and the result will be found an appetizing surprise.

A new soda water drink may be made at home and consists of a large spoonful of ice cream with a generous supply of thick chocolate syrup poured over the top.

To give a fine flavor to corned beef hash use good stock for moistening, with a pinch of salt, sugar and cayenne.

Three tablespoonfuls of freshly-made Janan tea with a bit of nutmeg give an indispensable flavor to an apple pie.

French Cake.

One and a half cupfuls of butter, two cupfuls sugar, twelve eggs, one quart flour, half teaspoonful of baking powder, one gill each of cream, wine and brandy, twelve drops each extract bitter almonds and nutmeg, one and a half cupfuls of raisins, stoned, half cupful almonds, blanched, one cupful choped citron. Rub butter and sugar to a white, light cream; add the eggs, two at a time, beating ten minutes between the three first additions and five minutes between the rest; add the flour, sifted with the powder, raisins, almonds, citron, extracts, cream, wine and brandy. Mix into a smooth, consistent batter; bake in a thickly paper-lined cake pan in a steady oven two hours.

English Dumplings.

One quart of flour, mixed with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a small teaspoonful of salt; rub in a piece of butter or lard the size of an egg; then add one medium potato; grated in flour; after the butter is well mixed stir in milk and knead to the consistency of soft biscuit dough; break off pieces of dough large enough to close over four quarters of an apple (or other fruit as desired) without rolling, and lay in an earthen dish and steam until the fruit is tender.

Irish Stew.

Time, about two hours. Two and one-half pounds of chops, eight potatoes, four turnips, four small onions, nearly a quart of water. Take some chops from loin of mutton, place them in a stewpan in alternate layers of sliced potatoes and chops; add turnips and onions cut into pieces; pour in nearly closely, let it stew gently till vegetables are ready to mash and greater part of gravy is absorbed; then place in a dish.

Macaroni a l'Italian.

Break half a pound of macaroni in pieces an inch long, cook in boiling water, slightly salted, twenty minutes. Drain and put a layer in bottom of a greased bake dish, upon this some grated cheese and tiny pits of butter; then more macaroni, and so on, filling dish, with grated cheese on top. Wet with a little milk and salt lightly. Cover and bake half hour; brown and serve in a bake dish.

Dark gray is in demand for autumn wear, and the new shades of tan are not as deep as those that have been worn.

THE FRIAR OF PADUA

ST. ANTHONY'S INSPIRING ELOQUENCE AND GREAT CHARITY.

The Legacy of Love For the Poor Which He Handed Down to the Faithful When at the Age of Only 36 He Was Called to His Reward.

Every Tuesday throughout the year there are special devotions in honor of St. Anthony. The thirteenth day of each month is particularly dedicated to his memory. But the thirteenth day of June is the special festival of the Paduan friar, whose eloquence and good deeds made him famous in the Catholic church. It commemorates that sorrowful day in Padua over six centuries ago when little children ran crying through the streets of the city, mourning the death of their saint.

Born in Lisbon in 1195 of a noble family, renowned for its military achievements, and destined by his father for a like career, this lad who was given the name of Ferdinand in baptism did not hesitate to show his abhorrence of war and its cruelties by devoting his early years to prayer and the pursuit of learning. It was not long after he entered the Augustinian monastery at Coimbra that the brotherhood of St. Francis attracted the notice of the youthful Ferdinand. The story of its founder, the testimony of the piety, wisdom and humility of gentle Francis of Assisi, appealed to the heart of the boyish Spanish monk, and, adopting the name which after 600 years is hailed as the saintly patron of the whole world, St. Anthony at his own request was formally transferred to the Franciscan order.

He entered the monastery at Bologna, served nearly two years in the kitchen of the convent and carefully concealed all knowledge of his eloquence. Then he was sent with some companions to Forti, where for several days they accepted the hospitality of the Dominican monastery. The great preacher was not long destined to hide in obscurity, for one evening after supper some one suggested that a brother should preach a sermon for the edification of the assembly. Friar after friar refused on the ground of insufficient preparation. St. Anthony, as the lowliest brother, was the last to proffer his excuse. To the astonishment of the community and to his own great dismay, the superior commanded Anthony to obey and furnished the text for the discourse. The monk slowly arose, reluctant to break the silence which had made solitude so enjoyable a blessing for almost two years. But sentence quickly followed sentence, and his voice gaining power and his form acquiring command he soon showed that his was an eloquence not to be baffled. The irresistible force of his logic and the beauty of his language enthralled the little audience in the refectory of the monastery. Its masterly conclusion ended forever the quiet duties of the lay Brother Anthony among the pots and pans of the convent kitchen, and word was sent to St. Francis of the discovery of the marvelous preacher.

St. Anthony was thereupon named professor of theology and immediately began at Padua the wonderful teaching and labor for the salvation of souls, which ended only with his death. St. Anthony was only 36 years old on the 13th of June, 1231, when he went to his reward.

Yet into the space of a short life he had crowded a long record of good deeds. Self was forgotten or cheerfully sacrificed for the good of others. Charity with him was as farreaching as was his almost unbounded eloquence, and practice went hand in hand with his preaching. His was a love of the poor that approached the generous affection of his Master, and it is in commemoration of his practical aid that the modern devotion of "St. Anthony's Bread" is dedicated.

It originated in Toulon in 1890 and was the result that sprang from the granting of a temporal favor. Louise Bouffier, a humble French girl, owned a small shop on one of the side streets of Toulon, to which she lost the key. She applied to the locksmith, but all his efforts to open the door were stubbornly met with defeat. In rage at his unsuccessful trials the man ran for a hatchet to chop down the strong barrier. Miss Bouffier in despair at her loss threw herself on her knees and besought St. Anthony to spare her door. When this locksmith returned with the hatchet, he yielded to the owner's entreaties and once again tried the lock. Instantly the handle turned and the door opened.

The news of the miracle spread throughout Toulon, and large numbers of men and women visited the little shop. Miss Bouffier acknowledged that St. Anthony had frequently relieved her temporal distresses if she promised him a small sum of money to buy bread for his poor. A statue of the patron was placed in the back room of the store, and to it resorted every inhabitant of Toulon who wanted aid. Soldiers on the eve of battle asked protection. Sailors leaving port requested safety for crew and cargo. A woman was cured of a physical defect which she had endured for 23 years. The money left at the little shrine was all spent in purchasing bread for the poor. From Toulon the devotion spread throughout France and Europe, and even through America.

Shortly after the organization at Toulon of the little society of "St. Anthony's Bread" a writer in The North American Review described its institution as "a charitable project which bids fair to do more toward bringing about the solution of the social problem in France than all the congresses and conferences that have been held and all the books and articles that have been written with that end in view. It is rapidly assuming the proportion of an international movement of the first magnitude. The writer recently had an opportunity of witnessing the practical working of this charity in the toughest quarters of Paris and has discussed its various phases with Frenchmen of every shade of belief, all of whom with one accord acclaim its promoters as the nation's benefactors."

Indeed, according to this authority, it will be surprising if "St. Anthony's Bread" does not result in the complete regeneration of the French working classes.—Thomas Francis Hunt in Weekly Bouquet.

COVENTRY PATMORE.

The Poet Was a Catholic Before He Formally Became One.

Patmore in quite another fashion has unearthed from the tomb our ancient glories and taught us that the blood of saints flows in our veins; that spiritual power is not to be disregarded which created the poetry, architecture, painting and sculpture of mediaeval Europe. We have no details of Patmore's conversion to Catholicism, but it is easy to see how the aestheticism of that religion could provoke from him not only love but obedience. Yet he was philosopher enough to know that culture is but a faint manifestation of the high spirit that dwells within—that beauty is but the splendor of the true.

Patmore's second wife relieved him of all financial difficulties, and some have said that it was she who made him a Catholic. This cannot be true, for his mystical aspirations had already and unconsciously made him a Catholic. He was of too independent and candid a mind to be influenced either by Puritanism because his first wife was a Purtian or by Catholicism because his second wife was a Catholic. Yet it would be wrong to deny that these women must have indirectly mellowed his heart and soul. How could so susceptible a character as his resist them?

Father Cardella, the Italian Jesuit, who is known as being something of a philosopher and theologian, is rumored to have said after meeting with Patmore in Rome that he was Catholicism itself before he was received formally into the church.—Catholic World Magazine.

Propagating the Faith.

Catholic missionary effort has stirred itself up wonderfully within the last two months. This is more especially true of the Society For the Propagation of the Faith. This society was organized as long ago as 1822 in Lyons, France. It has never been very aggressive—at least not here—until last spring, when it began for the first time to make itself heard and felt in America. Missionaries working under its support are subject to the direction of the diocesan and not to the society. They labor in Alaska, among the Rocky mountain Indians and among colored people in Mississippi, and last year spent in this country $69,000. The contributions to the society from American Catholics during the same period were $81,000. The awakened campaign consists in an effort to much increase the American contributions. The Catholic Missionary union, which is a home mission board and directed by members of the Society of St. Paul, has just placed a missionary in Alabama, who will work among non-Catholics. His pay is $500 a year, provided by the union, but he labors where and how the bishop of Mobile directs. Much of the work of the union is in the south, and all of it is to non-Catholics.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Suggested by the Pope.

The Catholic World Magazine publishes a story evidently from a trustworthy source to the effect that the peace congress was originally suggested by the holy father. It was not only suggested, but all its preliminaries were arranged for. The proceedings of the congress were forecast by him, the place of meeting was selected by him, and when it came to the assembling of the congress, through the representations of the Italian empire, the holy father was shut out from the deliberations of the congress.

Go Often to Church.

In every tabernacle God waits and watches for the visits of his children, longing for them to come and talk to him and tell him their troubles and their needs, their joys and sorrows, their hopes and fears, and he is always ready to listen to and comfort them and to grant their prayers.

Devotion to Mary.

Everything you can do to spread devotion to Mary, and especially to make Catholics feel more tenderly toward her, is a distinct work for Jesus and one which he will most lovingly repay.—Father Faber.

A STRING OF PEARLS.

He that trusteth to the world is sure to be deceived.—St. Macarius.

If you would fall into any extreme, let it be on the side of gentleness.—St. Francis de Sales.

Recall to mind the heavier trials of others that you may bear more lightly your own troubles.—Thomas a Kempis.

The more numerous the gifts received from God the greater the account we must render to him.—St. Gregory the Great.

Have courage. Have confidence. No matter how you are weighted down by past sins, Christ's blood will make you free.—Cardinal Gibbons.

Charity does not recede like a wave, which returns no more: it flows back to those who dispense it. Give for God's sake, and you shall receive a hundredfold in return.—Edward McSweeney, D. D.

As the incarnation is God's book of life, the knowledge of his sacred heart is the interpretation and the unfolding of that book. The sanctuary where he dwells in the blessed sacrament is the type of that sanctuary of the sacred heart in which he personally dwells by incarnation.—Cardinal Manning.

THE HUMAN BODY.

Odd Facts Which Are Not Generally Known.

Human beings are of all sizes, but the tall man is less common than the short; only one man in every 208 exceeds the height of six feet. For every foot of stature a man should weigh from twenty-six to twenty-eight pounds, a proport on that is not the lot of all in these hurrying, scurrying days.

An average-sized man weighs 140 pounds; a woman 125 pounds. Curiously enough, the mean weight and height of lunatics are below those of sane people. Another unexpected thing in this respect that a negro's skeleton weighs more than that of an Englishman.

The vitalizing power is the blood, a drop of which takes but twenty-two seconds to go the round of the body. There passes through the heart once in every three minutes an amount of this precious fluid equal to all that is contained in the body.

The mileage of the blood circulation reveals some astonishing and undreamed of truths. It is estimated that, assuming the average speed of the heart to be sixty-nine beats a minute, the blood travels 207 yards in sixty seconds; in other words, seven miles an hour, 168 a day, or 6,320 per year.

If a man of 84 could have one single blood corpuscle floating in his blood all his life, is would have traversed in that period no less than 5,150,808 miles.

The average weight of the brain of an adult male is three pounds eight ounces, of a female, two pounds four ounces. The woman's brain begins to decline in weight after the age of thirty, the man's not till ten years later. According to high authorities the nerves, with their branches and minute ramifications connecting with the brain, exceed 10,000,000 in number.

The palm of the hands and soles of the feet are composed of cushions of fat, in order that sudden jolts and violent blows may be successfully resisted, and no injury done to the muscles and bones underneath.

The muscles—of which the tongue monopolizes eleven—and bones of the human structure in combination are capable of more than 1,200 different motions.

The teaching of experience indicates that accidents are far more likely to occur to the right leg and arm than to the left. Further evidence of this fact is supplied by the makers of artificial limbs; they dispose of many more appendages to the right side of the body than to the other. Statistics show that in fifty-four cases out of a hundred the left leg is stronger than the right.

If a man could move his legs proportionally as fast as an ant, he would travel not far short of 800 miles an hour.

Seeing Bullets as They Fly.

"As every sportsman knows," said an enthusiastic hunter, "it is easy to see a rifle bullet in the air, and those fired from the new high-power guns are very curious to look at. Stand a dozen yards to one side of the mark and let a friend blaze away at any range with a small calibre weapon using smokeless powder, and you'll see a strange, bluish-white streak the instant the bullet strikes home. The streak is apparently a couple of inches wide and several feet long, and is more like a flash of light than anything else I can think of. With the old-fashioned Remington or Springfield carbine the bullet has the appearance of a long black rod, and I don't know why there should be such a difference in the optical illusion produced by the smaller calibre. I have heard some people deny that the bullet can be seen, but they are very much in error. It all depends on getting the right view point. A few feet either way will render the missle invisible, but the right spot is soon found by experiment, and after that the thing is as plain as day."

New Use of Glass.

The latest use of glass is instead of gold as a material for stopping decayed teeth. It answers splendidly and is far less conspicuous than the yellow metal. Of course, it is not ordinary glass, but it is prepared by some new patent process, which renders is soft and malleable. Glass too is being extensively used for church bells. It can be toughtened so that there is no risk of it cracking, and the tone is said to be beyond anything yet invented, perfect, soft and sonorous.

Opals Are Safe.

Opals will soon be considered lucky stones if it is found that they are burglar-proof, which looks as if it might be the case from the accounts given of a recent robbery in Spokane, Wash. The burglars there broke into a jewelery shop and took a quantity of jewelry, but left the most valuable stones, a number of opals, which they could have taken as easily as the cheaper and more telltale goods which they carried away.

Poor Field for Inventors.

The patent laws of Japan afford little protection to foreign manufacturers or inventors. A native may patent any trademark of a foreigner if the patent be taken out before the real owner has moved in the matter. Then the only course open to the owner is to buy from the native the right to use his own trademark in Japan.

"The Queen's Health."

Every night, in every ship in Her Majesty's Navy, the Queen's health is drunk by the officers of the vessel; but is is a curious fact that is is always drunk sitting, the officers never rising, as is usual on land.

Frightening Wolves in Norway.

It is believed in Norway that wolves are frightened away by telegraph poles. On one occasion a village voted money to help in the construction of a line passing near them for this reason alone.

Ancient Custom.

In ancient times to eat salt with a man was held by most people to form a sacred tie of brotherhood. This custom still holds among Orientals.

ODD REQUESTS BY CITIZENS

Some Extraordinary Uses For Which They Desire Government Literature.

The ingenuity displayed by some people in reaching bizarre and unique interpretations of apparently simple statements is marvelous at times. An instance occurred recently that astounded even the hardened clerks in one of the departments at Washington, that has many peculiar persons as correspondents. A request came to the department for one of its publications. The request was granted and the book sent in the familiar manila wrapper, bearing in one corner the legend, "Official Business. Penalty for Private Use, $300." In due course of the mails the following reply was received: "Dear sir wat does that mean penalty for private use 300 does that mean that you want pade for the book if it does let me know an I wil sente the book back rite away for I hant working an I cant aforde to by it. Yours truly, ——."

The writers of the Government publications cannot afford the vanity and sensitiveness that is popularly ascribed to authors. If they did not cultivate a callous indifference to jests and criticism their beds would be thorny indeed, for there is a lamentable lack of appreciation of the literary merits of the works within the solemn black bindings that emerge from the Government Printing Office. The head of a department that prides itself on the high value of its various publications received a request from one of the sovereign people for his report. Glowing with inward pride over having found an appreciative reader, the head of the department informed his correspondent that a large number of reports were issued from his office every year, and that he would send any of them that was desired, if he were informed which was wished. A prompt reply came saying that the writer was not particular, any one would do, as he only wanted it for a scrap book.

Speaking of report, the Smithsonian Institution had an experience that was a shock to the stately calm of that dignified body. As is known to every one, one of the purposes of the institution is the "diffusion of knowledge among mankind," and in pursuance of this end, it publishes valuable scientific works. There are many books that are of great utility to scientific workers and students and that should be published, for which the demand would be so limited that no commercial publisher could afford to issue them. If a work of this sort be really meritorious, the Smithsonian Institution undertakes its publication, and to this are due several of the most important and exhaustive works of the past half century. These works are given to certain public libraries and individuals, and their value is known to all students of science.

Among the libraries that have been beneficiaries of the institution is one in a town in Massachusetts. This library has a complete set of Smithsonian publications, and is the envy of many others on account of it. It became blessed with a new librarian not long ago, and he saw the long file of these donated books and regretted the shelf room. A remedy suggested itself and the Smithsonian received a letter saying that this library needed space, and as it could not give shelfage to such a mass of literary rubbish it was hoped that the institution would take back its useless trash. By return mail this offer was accepted, and, to the disappointment of the officials, the learned and courteous librarian replied that since writing the letter he had been told that some of the books were of value and he would retain them—for which compliment the institution is duly grateful.

The popular notion of the functions of the Government is a source of never-ending wonder. The Commission of Fish and Fisheries received a letter some weeks since from a lady who wished to know if the distribution of fish was kept up by the Commission. "If so," continued the letter, "I wish a large salmon sent me. I expect to give a handsome entertainment on the —th of this month, and wish to serve salmon at the dinner." She was informed hat the fish distributed are only about one inch long, and she, no doubt, thinks the Government a flat failure.

Pretty Tobacco Plant.

This picture shows a tobacco plant of an ornamental species of tobacco, the nicotina sylvestris, discovered recently in the Argentine Republic, growing at an altitude of 5,000 feet.

The large white tubular and drooping flowers are borne in graceful panicles at the summit of the main stem and the principal branches; the flowers have a very sweet and pleasant oder, especially in the morning.

The plants can be easily raised from seeds, says Vick's Magazine, like others of the genus, and can be employed as pot plants, or they may be planted out in groups or beds on the lawn.

Believes In Its Efficacy.

"Yes, the neighbors consider old Beegum the meanest farmer within twenty miles of here."

"Why is that?"

"You remember the dry summer a few years ago when there was a meeting held in the country schoolhouse to pray for rain?"

"Yes."

"Well, everybody in the neighborhood went to the meeting except him. He worked all day like a beaver, getting his hay in. He got it in just in time, and he was the only farmer in the township who saved his crop."

GOLF.

After the good showing that George C. Worth has made since he first tried his hand at tournament play on the Park Golf Club course Labor Day, it is very likely that the greens committee will fall upon his handicap and reduce it considerably. When Worth drives as well as he plays on the fair green, his scores will take another drop.

William A. Townsend has made a good showing since his return from his summer outing on Long Island. He has already advanced far enough into the competition for the McCutchen Cup as to be a possible candidate for honors. A few weeks will see him out of that contest, however, as he enters Cornell University this year and will leave for Ithaca in a week or so. Fred Overton, who has also competed far the trophy, goes with him. Morgan T. Townsend will still remain a possible candidate. If he continues in his good form of Saturday, the leaders will need to look well towards their honors if they hope to retain them.

A great improvement has been made to the third hole on the Park Golf Club course. Just in front of the green to that hole, there is a ditch five feet deep. On the right of the bridge the ditch has had smooth turf banks, but to the left the further bank was almost perpendicular and rough. A ball once striking there was sure to roll back into the bottom of the ditch. Under the direction of Mr. Hyde the further bank was leveled Saturday and arranged with a more gentle incline. Part of it was sodded. This hazard was one of the worst on the course, and has ruined more scores than any other unless it is the combination on "Desperation."

BASKET BALL.

It is only the matter of a few weeks before the basket ball season at the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium will open. There will be a team this year but it may not be composed of the same players as represented the association on the floor last season. The policy that prevailed last year with the physical work committee of the association will not be changed. The committee will not push forward basket ball to the exclusion of other sports and gymnastics. The object of the work in the gym will be the all round development of its members and with that end in view, basket ball will take a secondary place. The game will be played, of course, but many of the neighboring teams have been disbanded and there will not be the frequency of matches that there was last year. Several of last season's players have been offered places on other crack teams where there will be more opportunity and so it is not expected that the team, which has grown to be such a strong combination after playing together for several years, will continue to represent the local association.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Another remarkable performance by A. C. Vail's thoroughbred trotter, "Kenelm," was recorded at the track of the Gentlemen's Driving Park Association Saturday afternoon last, when he trotted a mile in 2:26¼ with a road wagon, paced by Thomas Brantingham's "Myrtle Twig." Next Saturday if the track is in good condition this horse will be given an opportunity to do her best. Mr. Vail is a great lover of fine horses, and at present he has two, "Jay" and "St. Croix, Jr.," that are following the circuit in Maine. Last week "Jay" went three heats in 2:20½, 2:20¼ and 2:20¼, and the other horse trotted three heats in 2:17, 2:16¼ and 2:13½. "St. Croix, Jr.," is a full brother to "Kenelm," and the two are among the best that ever trotted in this city."

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more, than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

HAPPENINGS IN A FEW LINES FROM ALL OVER JERSEY.

More or Less Important Happenings and Events in Various Sections Served For a Quick Glance at

John R. Sithens, of Swedesboro, has apples, 24 of which fill a truck basket. He gathered 80 baskets of fruit from four trees.

Notwithstanding reports to the contrary the cranberry crop is expected to be up to the average, and already a number of growers have the picking well under way.

William Erwin Lewis, a truck grower, at Hightstown, has just received notice that he is heir to $15,000, the estate of the late William Erwin, of Newport, R. I., for whom he was named.

The Bodine Glass Works, at Williamstown, are so rushed with orders that they are having difficulty in getting their moulds made as quickly as they want them. Mouldmakers are scarce and hard to get at any price.

Solomon Weiss, Justice of the Peace of Perth Amboy, was arrested, charged with extortion. The complaint was made by Karolyn Lapo, before Recorder Ward. Weiss was released on his own recognizance, and a hearing will be given him.

MISSIONARIES NEEDED.

Capt. Morrison Says There is a Big Field for Christian Workers in the Phillipines.

Last evening in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church Captain George D. Morrison, who recently arrived home from Manila, related some of his experiences while in the Philippines. His remarks were interesting and gave his hearers an excellent idea of the country and conditions. He says that there are good opportunities offered for missionary work, but at present the Americans do not stand much of a chance for carrying on the work.

He says that Bibles are being sent to the islands by the thousands by the English Bible Society, and the natives are considered a part of the white man's burden.

GIVEN A FAREWELL.

Enjoyable Social Event in Honor of Three Hope Chapel Members.

An enjoyable social event was arranged by the Christian Endeavor Society of Hope chapel for last evening to mark the departure of three members of the society. Miss Helen Louise Hall, Henry C. Pierce and Fred Newman, who leave in a few days for college. The sociable was held in the chapel and was well attended by the young people of the society. The evening was spent in playing games and conversation. Refreshments followed. The committee in charge consisted of Miss Mabel Firstbrook, Miss Laura Hanglighter, Miss Marion Porter, Edward Young and John Young.

Customers Admitted in Bunches.

The assignee's sale at Van Emburgh's has proved a great success. The low prices have attracted great crowds. Yesterday the crowd was so large that the force of clerk's was utterly unable to wait on them. Today it was found necessary to close the doors after the store was filled and wait on those customers inside and then take in a new batch.

WHERE THE DUTCH REIGN.

Interesting Account of a Trip of a Plainfield Girl Through Quaint Old Holland.

The following extract from a letter written by a prominent young society woman in Plainfield, while touring Europe, is very interesting:

"I don't just remember when my last letter to you was written, but I will begin and tell you about our stay in Amsterdam. The first day there we spent in taking the trip by boat to the Isle of Marken. It is the quaintest little Dutch village you ever saw, and the people who live on the island belong to one clan, so to speak, and it is said that they do not marry off the island. Their houses are just as clean and pretty as possible and they themselves are so interesting with their queer head-dress and huge wooden sabots. In one of the houses that we went to one of the women had a beautiful old Dutch spoon with the date 1752 on it. One of the party wanted to buy it and offered as much as ten florins for it. But it was an heirloom, and so fond of that sort of things are they that she would not part with it for any money. Going there we passed through many picturesque locks and canals, and each side is edged with windmills of all sorts and sizes. Coming back we came through the Zuider Zee, and for quite a distance you can see the dykes.

The next day in Amsterdam we spent at the picture gallery, where we enjoyed many of Rembrandt's paintings and especially his "Night Watch," which is very fine. It is considered the master's most celebrated piece and is the largest. It represents Captain Franz Banning Cocq's company emerging from their guildhouse on the Singel. We also went to the diamond cutting factory, which was very interesting. Thursday afternoon and Friday morning we spent at Cologne, and you can well imagine how I enjoyed that beautiful cathedral. We spent just a little while at the museum and saw that exquisite portrait of Queen Louise of Prussia. Friday afternoon we ascended the Drachenfels by carriage. The castle, which stands 1065 feet above the river, was erected by Arnold, Archbishop of Cologne, at the beginning of the 12th century, and bestowed by him on the Cassins Monastery at Bonn in 1149.

In the thirty years war the half ruined castle was occupied by the Swedes, but was besieged and taken from them by Duke Ferdinand, of Bavaria, who completed its destruction. Near here is a quarry where most of the stone for the Cologne Cathedral came from, and a cavern about half way up the hill, is said to have housed the dragon slain by Siegfried. I don't know whether you have been here or not, but the way I felt when up there is told in a portion of Byron's "Childe Harold:"

"The castled crag of Drachenfels,
Frowns o'er the wide and winding Rhine,
Whose breach of waters broadly swells,
Between the banks which bear the vine;
And hills all rich with blossomed trees,
And fields which promise corn and wine,
And scatter'd cities crowning these,
Whose far white walls along them shine,
Have strew'd a scene which I should see
With double joy wert thou with me."

Yesterday morning we came up the Rhine by boat to this place, where we pitched our moving tent for Sunday. In the afternoon we took a most beautiful drive along the top of the mountains, and at one point we had a fine view of the point where the Rhine and Moselle flow almost side by side. We went up to the Castle of Stolzenfels by donkeys, 310 feet above the Rhine. It is now a new castle built on the site of the old one by Arnold von Isenburg, Archbishop of Treves, in 1242, and was frequently a residence of Archbishops. In 1686 it was destroyed by the French. In 1823 the ruin was presented by the town of Coblenz to Fred William II, when Crown Prince, who caused it to be restored according to the old plan. It now belongs to Emperor William II. Tomorrow we proceed on our journey up the Rhine to Weimar and then on to Frankfort.

The crayon portraits that Crosby & Hill are giving to their customers, who purchase over $1 worth of goods at their big store, are proving very popular. In the brief time that the offer has been made over 400 crayons have been given away. The offer will be continued but for a brief time longer.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way

Mrs. Charles C. Lister, of Watchung avenue, is visiting relatives in Philadelphia.

James W. Townsend, of 414 West Third street, is confined to his home by a severe attack of neuralgia.

Mrs. I. L. Miller and daughter, of Watchung avenue, have returned home from their summer outing spent at Wurtsboro, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb King, of Brooklyn, returned home today after a visit of several weeks with her son, David King, of Craig place. When Mrs. King came to Plainfield she was obliged to use crutches, but she is able to return home without them, her health being greatly improved.

JURY SAYS IT'S MURDER

huth did on the twelfth day of September, A. D., 1899, at the township of North Plainfield, in the county aforesaid, wilfully, feloniously and of her malice aforethought, kill and murder the said Paul Roehricht. And that one Oscar Fingerhuth, late of said township of North Plainfield, in the county of Somerset, was then and there abetting and aiding the said Henrietta Fingerhuth to commit the murder aforesaid."

Coroner DeMott then dismissed the jury and the crowd passed into the outer darkness to discuss the result.

The coroner's inquest held in the borough by Coroner DeMott to ascertain the cause of the death of Paul Roehricht, was continued up to 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The last three witnesses to be called and examined were Mrs. Augustine Clementz, a French woman, Wm. Titus and Wm. Demler. The last witness gave valuable testimony. He told how Mrs. Fingerhuth had threatened to shoot anyone who came on the premises to cause trouble for her or her family. He also related a conversation held yesterday morning when the witness called at the Fingerhuth home with groceries. At that time she told Mr. Demler that she would shoot anyone attempting to put the family off of the place.

William Titus told as to the shooting of Mr. Roehricht, to which he was an eye-witness. His testimony was chiefly the same as has already been published regarding the visit to the house when the shooting occurred.

Mrs. Clementz spoke through Mrs. William Demarest, being unable to talk good English. She told how the men came to the place and attempted to break in the doors and take possession of the premises. At the conclusion of taking this testimony Coroner DeMott decided to adjourn until 7 o'clock last evening, when it was continued.

Fingerhuth Discharged.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept.—The verdict of the coroner's jury having not involved Theodore Fingerhuth in the murder of Paul Roehricht, the husband of the woman who committed the crime was released from custody today.

The discharge was signed by Prosecutor Dungan, as there was no particular purpose in detaining Fingerhuth. The case of the mother and son will be brought before the Grand Jury Sept. 26th, and it is thought the trial will take place at the same term of court unless there is difficulty in securing witnesses.

Remains to be Sent Home Tonight.

The remains of Paul Roehricht will be taken to New York this evening by Undertaker DeMott, and the funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the house, 2155 Seventh avenue, New York.

Could Not Shoot.

A Hindu looks upon the slaughter of an animal with the same dread and horror with which he would witness the taking of a life of a human being. It would be well for some of the hunters from our own country to learn from such pagans a lesson in humanity. Rev. B. Fay Mills tells the story of a hunter who employed as a decoy for deer a peculiarly constructed whistle, which closely imitated the voice of a young fawn calling its mother.

With his rifle in hand ready for instant action, he was one day blowing his whistle, when suddenly a mother deer thrust her head out of the bushes and looked straight toward him. There she stood, trembling with fear, yet looking this way and that in search of the little one which she supposed to be in danger. The hunter said:

"As I looked into those eloquent eyes, anxiously glancing here and there with maternal fear, my heart melted. I could not shoot."

Young deer that have not been chased or fired at by hunters will frequently come very near to unarmed travelers. The writer, while driving along a country road in northern Maine, has had a deer walk just in advance of the horse for some distance; and it is well known that wild deer often come into pastures and feed with the cows. To take advantage of this confidence seems very near to murder.

BRYAN IN NEW JERSEY.

CONGRESSMAN DALY TALKS OF PLANS OF FRIENDS OF THE NEBRASKAN.

He Says That Bryan Will Visit New Jersey This Year, and Make Several Speeches —Severely Criticises Chairman Gourley.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, Sept. 14—"Mr Bryan will positively visit New Jersey during the campaign this fall," said Congressman William D. Daly, at his summer home, in Owasco. "I cannot yet state just when he will come, but I am authorized to say he will speak at Camden, Bridgeton, Jersey City, Hoboken and Newark."

Questioned regarding the plans of the Democrats who met in conference in Philadelphia last Saturday, the congressman said: "There has been a big misapprehension about that meeting. It was not a silver conference, but a meeting of Democrats to indorse the candidacy of Bryan and to exclude everybody but Democrats from the convention. My definition of Democrat is an out-and-out party man who stands by principals enunciated at a regularly-constituted Democratic convention. The meeting at Philadelphia was merely for the purpose of organizing and preparing for the campaign. I have not given definite thought as yet to the address which the committee (of which I am chairman) has been instructed to prepare for the voters of New Jersey, but I shall get to work on it as soon as I get through farming. Our temporary organization will do what it can for the interests of the party until the State Convention in Trenton. This talk of gold Democrats," continued Mr. Daly, "is bosh. There are none. They have all gone to the Republican side of the fence."

Asked what he thought of State Chairman Gourley's reorganization plan, Congressman Daly said: Mr. Gourley's all right in his place, but his place is at the foot of the line. Let him reorganize all he pleases. I have nothing against him, and nobody will stop him. Whatever happens, Bryan will be nominated, will carry New Jersey and will be the next President."

ELI SHAW CONFESSES.

Admits That He Killed His Mother and Grandmother—Tried and Acquitted on Charge.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Philadelphia, September 14.—The Times this morning states that Eli Shaw, of Camden, N. J., twice tried for the murder of his mother and grandmother and acquitted, has confessed that he killed both of them. The confession is said to have been made to two reporters, Howard K. Sloan and H. A. Kemble.

OUT TO SEE THE SIGHTS.

Young Son of William Jeffery Strayed Away From Home—Found by a Policeman.

A young son of William Jeffery, of 92 Summit avenue, strayed away from his home yesterday and he was not missed till nearly noon. The family then became much worried over the absence of the absence of the little fellow and the matter was reported to the police, who in turn reported it to the police of this city. A persistent and vigorous search was instituted and towards night the boy was found in the West End by Patrolman McCue, and returned to his home. He had no explanation to offer for his absence except that he wanted to see the town.

ALIS ELEVEN READY TO OPEN THE SEASON.

Will be Strongest Team to Represent Plainfield.

A SCHEDULE ARRANGED.

PROBABLE CANDIDATES FOR POSITIONS ON THE ALIS TEAM.

Roy T. Phillips Will Captain it and Charles Woolston Will Act as Business Manager—Will Play Series of Games With Westfield—First Regular Practice Game Tomorrow Afternoon.

The chilly weather of the last few days has turned the thoughts of the young men of this city to football. While the old Plainfield A. A. seems to have withdrawn from the gridiron, Alis football team is planning great things for the coming season. The Alis team will be the strongest team to represent the city, and if anything like the old form is shown, the eleven will be a worthy one to defend the honor of Plainfield on the field.

Roy T. Phillips will continue to captain the team while Charles Woolston will act as its business manager. This evening the candidates for the team expect to get together while the first regular practice has been called for tomorrow afternoon at the Martine Field.

There are several loses from last year's team. Henry Leal, Carroll Runyon and Fred Overton go to college and therefore cannot play, while Albert Finch will spend the fall and winter in the south. Charles Woolston and "Jim" Taylor are the probable ends for the team with Morris Dumont and Roy Radford as tackles. Walter L. Long and George P. Smith are strong men likely to be chosen for the out side positions of the central trio. Who will play centre is still a question that the management is anxious to solve. Roy Phillips will be in his old place at quarter. Harry Cuming will play one half and Richard Waring may play the other. Volney F. Green will make a splendid full back if he decides to play. Ed. Smalley, a promising boroughite, is another candidate for a back. Godwin Beard is mentioned for the line and Maltby, of Dunellen, as a possible end.

The schedule as now completed is as follows: Saturday, October 7th, Westfield at Plainfield; Saturday, October 14th, Bayonne Field Club at Plainfield; Saturday, October 21st, Seton Hall College at Plainfield.

A return game will be played in Westfield and a series may be arranged with Scotch Plains. Games will be arranged in Plainfield with the Battin High School, of Elizabeth, the Englewood A. C., the Arlington A. C., Pingry School, of Elizabeth, Newark High School and Newark Academy.

2,048 PUPILS ENROLLED.

An Increase of 221 Over the Number Registered the Second Day of Last Year.

The excitement attendant on the opening of the city public schools is practically over, and the classes have settled down to the regular routine of work. Superintendent H. M. Maxson has received the reports of the enrollments in the various schools and is able to give accurate figures.

The total enrollment in the Plainfield public schools Tuesday was 2,048, which was an increase of 221 over the enrollment the second day of the term a year ago. The enrollment will steadily grow for the next two weeks as more children return from their vacations. This year there is an increase of over thirty in the High School alone, and a specially large increase is noted in the attendance at the Franklin and Irving schools.

LADIES ACTED AS HOSTS.

FESTIVAL AND DANCE AT THE YOUNG MEN'S CATHOLIC CLUB.

It Was the First Event Ever Carried Out by the Women and They Succeeded in Making it a Very Pleasant One.

The peach festival and dance given last evening by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Young Men's Catholic Club, at the club rooms, corner of Sixth and Liberty streets, proved to be a delightful affair. This was the first function of the kind that the ladies have ever attempted. When it was first proposed some of the young men were inclined to treat the affair as a joke, claiming that the young ladies were not capable of assuming the cares and responsibilities of such an undertaking. But the gentlemen counted without their host, so to speak.

The success of last night's festivities is certainly a guarantee that the ladies felt sure of their position and had confidence in their ability to carry out their plans. Every one had a delightful time and those young gentlemen who previous to the entertainment had misgivings as to the possibilities of its success had them entirely dispelled.

The young ladies had entire charge of everything, even to filling the important and arduous position of floor managers. O'Reilly's orchestra supplied the music. The refreshments, consisting of peaches and cake, were served in the card room of the club. The house committee acted as waitresses.

Much of the credit for the success of the festival and dance belongs to the following ladies, although others among the fair sex also assisted: Miss Josie Butcher, Miss Margaret Day, Miss Katharine Carty, Miss Nellie Casey and Miss Mamie Cotter.

The entertainment of last night having proved to be such a decided success it is the intention of the ladies to hold these dances at least once a month, and possibly oftner.

NO ATTACK ON THE PAY CAR.

It Was Late and the Waiting Crowd in the Rush Broke Railings.

The pay car on the Jersey Central was delayed in reaching Elizabeth Wednesday afternoon because two gondolas were wrecked on the Newark branch of the road, and it was 6:30 o'clock when the car reached the freight transfer station near Elizabeth.

A rush was made for the car by the crowd that had been waiting, and the railing inside that separated Paymaster Kinsman and his assistants from those he was paying was broken. This was the basis of an emotional story that the paymaster had been mobbed and an attempt made to wreck the pay car.

Several men who could not get their money Wednesday night were paid yesterday, and also the 600 employes in the Elizabethport shops.

New Station for Hackensack.

The plans for the new station at Main street, Hackensack, on the Susquehanna and Western Railroad, are ready, and the Erie officials have notified the Hackensack Board of Trade that the building will be an ornament to the town. It will cost about $20,000 and will be similar to the stations at Rutherford and Paterson.

TROLLEY WANTED ON WOODLAWN AVENUE

Some of the Claims Being Urged by Interested Ones.

PETITION SENT TO COUNCIL.

ELECTRIC ROAD WOULD DEVELOP THE SECOND WARD.

It is Said That the Extension of the Street Railway Out Woodlawn Avenue Would Not Interfere With Arlington Avenue, Except That the Latter Will Not Continue on Randolph Road.

While the extension of the trolley through Arlington avenue is under consideration, a number of people who reside in the eastern section of Plainfield, have petitioned the Plainfield Street Railway Company to extend its tracks from the present line at Putnam and Woodland avenues through Woodland avenue to the cemetery and golf links. This is the route which was first planned when the road was run out Putnam avenue, and the residents in the Second ward have been by turns hoping for and expecting the building of this line for the last five years.

A petition has also been sent to the Council, signed by a great many property owners on Woodland avenue, asking their co-operation in securing this road to the cemetery.

It is argued that this extension is not only desired by the present residents but by persons living in other parts of Plainfield, who have bought plots of ground in this section and desire to build, and by others who would like to live in this section and only wait for some means of reaching the centre of the city and the stations other than by horse and carriage.

There is no question but that the eastern portion of the Second ward will, with trolley communication, develop as rapidly as the section near South avenue or the section in the Third ward adjoining Monroe avenue, both of which enjoy the advantages of the trolley.

The extension of the trolley through Woodland avenue will not be at the expense of the one on Arlington avenue, it is claimed, for the Council has already been assured of the company's willingness to build that line to Randolph road at once and later to extend the line still further, but the railroad people decline to extend the Arlington avenue line out Randolph road and also one out Woodland avenue to the same terminus, and who can blame them, for through a portion of the year even one line must be run at some loss.

The question which the Woodland avenue advocates urge is whether there shall be a trolley built past the swamps and fields of Randolph road, or out Woodland avenue, passing the highest land and one of the most desirable residence portions in the city.

Two Regiments, One Calvary Company, Battery A and Naval Reserves to Participate by Sewell's Order.

Major General and United States Senator William J. Sewell, commander of the New Jersey National Guard, was in Jersey City yesterday to confer with Brigadier General P. Farmer Wanser concerning New Jersey's participation in the Dewey parade. The troops designated to take part in the parade are the First regiment, of Essex county; the Fourth regiment of Hudson county; Troop A, known as the "Essex Troop," of Newark; Battery A, of Orange; battalion of the East Naval Reserve, of Jersey City, and the Battalion of the West of Camden.

General Sewell issued an order directing the first Brigade to take part in the parade and reception to Admiral Dewey.

The order set forth that transportation and rations will be provided by the Quartermaster General upon requisition of the brigade quartermaster duly approved. It also set forth that General Wanser will make all necessary arrangements for carrying into effect the provisions of the order.

Against Illegal Liquor Traffic.

The war against the unlicensed liquor traffic in Elizabeth was brought to a definite issue Wednesday, when four saloonkeepers were arrested on a State warrant on charges of selling liquor without license. They were John Gontz, Willian Fulmer, Charles Carter and John G. Gerhardt.

Soldier Found Drowned.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 15—The body of James E. Wall, who served as a volunteer in the Spanish-American War, was found drowned in the Elizabeth river Wednesday. The body had been in the water about a month.

WOMAN KICKED BY HORSE

MRS. CHARLES KRAMER, OF SCOTCH PLAINS, GETS DAMAGES.

She Received Injures From a Horse Which Had Been Allowed on the Highway—Trial Held Before Justice Clark.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 15.—The action brought by Mrs. Charles Kramer against Sabine Vannatta for damages claimed for being kicked by a horse belonging to the defendant, was tried before Justice Clark yesterday afternoon. The amount claimed was $200. It appears that the defendant's horses were being pastured along the highway and that one of them kicked the plaintiff who was passing. It was shown that the defendant had violated the law by allowing his horses to be pastured on the highway. One of the principal witnesses for the plaintiff was Dr. Westcott, who testified to the serious injures of the woman. Other witnesses testified that it was a daily occurance for the defendant to allow his horses to be on the streets. The court after carefully weighing the evidence found in favor of the plaintiff for the full amount claimed. Murphy & Blatz for plaintiff, Walter L. Hetfield for defendant. Notice of appeal was given by the defendant's counsel.

DECREASE IN SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

Falling Off Shown in Organizations and Pupils in Somerset County.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 15.—The Somerset County Sunday-school Convention, which met in annual session at Rocky Hill Tuesday, adopted a resolution asking for the expulsion by Congress of Brigham H. Roberts, the Mormon Representative from Utah.

A feature of the meeting was the resignation of the corresponding secretary, Rev. Dr. James LeFevre, after an uninterrupted service of thirty-six years. Resolutions of appreciation for his long and faithful services were adopted, and he was subsequently elected president of the association for the ensuing year. Rev. T. E. Davis, of Bound Brook, was elected corresponding secretary.

The receipts of the township secretaries revealed the fact that the Sunday-schools are not increasing in number, but are rather on the decrease. Two schools had been abandoned altogether during the year. In few schools were any gains reported, and a number had lost ground.

ALLOWED $200 FOR HIS DOG.

Jury Decides the Collie Was Worth That Much.

A verdict of $200 for the life of a dog was given yesterday afternoon in the Elizabeth District Court against the North New Jersey Traction Company. The plaintiff was George W. Mannefield, mailing clerk in the Elizabeth Postoffice. His Scotch collie was run down and killed by a trolley car, June 27th.

The animal was raised by the American Kennel Club, and was valued at $300, for which sum he sued.

The case was tried before Judge Atwater and a jury.

The jury was out twenty minutes. Frank Bergen defended the traction company, and ex-Senator Marsh appeared for the plaintiff. The case may be appealed.

Senators in Consultation.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, September 15.—Senator Sewell came to Elizabeth from Camden Wednesday night, and was met at the Pennsylvania Railroad station by Senator Kean. The visitor was driven to "Ursino," Senator Kean's home in Union township, where he spent the night, going to Jersey City yesterday morning. It is supposed they discussed the coming campaign in this State.

Making Voters by the Wholesale.

William Newcorn, Harry McDonald and John Keely, the advisory committee from the City Republican executive committee on naturalization, took forty people to Elizabeth yesterday to secure their papers. Thirty-four applied for their second or full papers, while six obtained their first papers.

To Talk Trolley Again.

At next Monday evening's meeting of the Board of Trade it is expected that a number of the property owners of Washingtonville and vicinity will be present to discuss with the members of the board the prospect of having the trolley line extended to Somerset Park.

Work Resumed on the Reformatory.

ALLEGED STATEMENT DECLARED UNTRUE

Mrs. Fingerhuth's Lawyers Say She Has Made None.

FINGERHUTH RELEASED.

DE MEZA DENIES THAT HE EVER TOLD CLIENT TO SHOOT.

Did Not Know Her Until After the Tragedy—Had Done All His Business With Father and Son—Lawyers Say That Mrs. Fingerhuth Has Made Statements Only to Her Lawyers.

The alleged statement, said to have been made by Mrs. Henrietta Fingerhuth at the county jail in Somerville yesterday, was flatly denied this morning by Lawyers Walter L. Hetfield and William G. DeMeza, of this city, attorneys for Mrs. Fingerhuth. The statement was, in substance, that Lawyer Clark had pointed a revolver at Mrs. Fingerhuth through the window and threatened her with it and that she had fired her revolver out of the window to frighten the invaders off. It had not been aimed at Roehricht or with the intention of injuring anyone.

A Press reporter called at the office of Lawyer DeMeza this morning. Mr. DeMeza declared that his client had made no statement except to her lawyers. He was with her for nearly an hour yesterday afternoon, but had given out nothing regarding what she had told him. Regarding the truth or falsity of the substance of the statement, he had nothing to say.

A report had been circulated, Mr. DeMeza stated, that he had instructed Mrs. Fingerhuth to shoot anyone who had tried to force an entrance into the premises. He wished to contradict that statement, he said. He had never spoken to the woman before the shooting took place and had not even known her. All his dealings had been with father and son. His advice to them had been, he declared, to allow Roehricht and his men to put them out forcibly, and thus give them good grounds for an action in forcible entry and detainer.

The Press reporter also interviewed Councilman Walter L. Hetfield, who is associated in the defense of Mrs. Fingerhuth. Mr. Hetfield was free to say that there was no truth in the story concerning the alleged statement by his client. She had made no such statement, he said, and would not make any to the public. She had told her lawyers the circumstances and fully understood that she was to talk to no one else on the subject. He characterized the alleged statement as a "fake."

Lawyer Robert M. Clark denied the truth of the part of the alleged statement that referred to him. He told a Press reporter that he had had no revolver in his possession or on his person that day before the time of the shooting. After the shooting and when the coroner was on hand, it was rumored that young Fingerhuth was coming up the valley and Clark was advised to look out for him. Constable Bartell loaned him a revolver which was soon after returned unused, no occasion having been found when it was necessary to use it in self defense.

Lawyers Hetfield and DeMeza went to Somerville yesterday and secured the release of Fingerhuth who returned to Plainfield and is now living once more on the old Aaron Allen farm. Fingerhuth appeared before Justice Mattison in the borough last evening to answer to the warrant issued for him on complaint of Robert M. Clark. The charge was assault. Fingerhuth was held under $50 bonds, which were furnished by Charles Back, of Somerset street, for an examination before the Justice Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Fingerhuth and son, Oscar, still remain in the county jail. They are confined in different parts of the jail. They still remain in good health despite the confinement and, it is said, are confident of their final acquittal from the charges made against them.

Mr. Shott to Lead.

Rev. Gideon M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, will conduct the W. C. T. U. meeting Sunday at 4 p. m., at the W. C. T. U. parlors, 129 East Front street. All are invited.

Contracting Firms Dissolved.

The firm of G. and C. W. Hummer, carpenters and builders, was yesterday dissolved by mutual consent. George Hummer will continue the business.

—John P. Wolfe, of North Plainfield township, will attend the carnival to be held next week at Somerville and will exhibit a line of Empine drills for sewing grain and grass seed.

JACK FROST ON HAND.

Evidences of Chilly Weather Were Observed Early This Morning in the Country.

Summer has gone. The last sign of that season, the straw hat, was called in today. When the chilly north wind died away with the setting of the sun yesterday afternoon, the mercury took a little journey in the direction of the bottom of the thermometer. It went as low as 38 degrees above zero, six points above freezing, according to the observation of Mahlon Vail, the veteran farmer on Park avenue, who keeps an eye on the weather the year around. He also reports that there was frost on the low lands. John P. Wolfe, of Rosehill Farm, near Smalleytown, also tells of a slight frost during the night.

DISPUTE OVER A DEED.

A NICE PROBLEM FOR A MIDDLESEX JURY TO DECIDE.

Difficulty Between Mary Otto and Railroad Company as to Which Owns Small Strip of Land Near New Market.

An interesting dispute as to the ownership of a piece of farm land near New Market is being aired before Justice Collins and a jury in the Middlesex County Court.

The parties at law are Mrs. Mary Otto, of New Market, and the Easton and Amboy Railroad, which is controlled by the Lehigh Valley Railroad. According to the opening of the case made by Lawyer Craig A. Marsh for the plaintiff yesterday, the circumstances are these:

In 1878 the heirs of Wm. Vail sold a tract of farm land to Mary Otto, the plaintiff in the suit. This tract is situated along the New Market and Dunellen road and runs down to the defendant railroad. Wm. Vail held title to the property from 1830 and four years prior to deeding the farm to Mrs. Otto and her husband a tract was conveyed to the Easton and Amboy Railroad by him. The dispute is as to the starting point in this deed of 1874, the railroad claiming title to a small strip which, Mrs. Otto holds, is her property according to the deed of 1878 The jury certainly has a nice problem to solve.

The first was Robert A. Meeker, of Plainfield, a surveyor, who was sworn this morning. He had gone over the courses in several deeds relative to the disputed land and explained them to the jury. The southeast corner of the David Coriell property, which has a direct bearing upon the case, had been lost by washouts and in tracing the property he discovered a difference of twenty feet on the measurement of the line along the brook.

The case was still on this afternoon.

WORE STOLEN FINERY.

Colored Domestic Made Free With Apparel of Her Mistress—Held for the Grand Jury.

Carrie Kenny, a colored woman, formerly employed in the family of Frank Huntington, of 36 Raymond avenue, was arrested last night by Officer Mattox, charged with stealing a silk waist, a quantity of lace, a scarf valued at $18 and other articles of clothing. When the police searched the woman's room several dresses and a quantity of female wearing apparel belonging to another servant employed by Mrs. Huntington, were also found. In fact much of the clothing which the Kenny woman had on when she was arrested had been stolen. She was compelled to remove the garments.

Justice Nash held the accused to await the action of the Grand Jury.

TROUBLE AMONG THE JUNIORS.

Franklin Council Think National Body Made Unjust Rulings.

At the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., last evening, Wm. B. LaRue, of Bound Brook, representative to National Council, whose sessions were held at Minneapolis, Minn., was present and related some of the unjust rulings of the National body, so for as the paying of delegates' expenses. It was decided at Minneapolis that hereafter the National body shall bear the expenses of the delegates. Criticism arose over that the fact that although New Jersey is stronger than some western states, her members do not receive the consideration she should. There is promise of the difficulty being adjusted.

—Deputy Nash paid an official visit to Central Lodge, A. O. U. W., last evening. One candidate was initiated.

—Miss Mary Adelaide Luckey, a graduate of the New York School of Expression, has opened a studio in the Babcock building. Classes of ladies and children are now forming for instructions in aesthetic, Swedish and medical physical culture, elocution and oratory.

WOMAN RIDER BLAMED FOR HER OWN DEATH.

Charles MacMurray Disclaims Responsibilty for Fatality.

CORONER TO INVESTIGATE.

COUNTY PHYSICIAN DECIDED THAT IT WAS THE BEST COURSE.

MacMurray Says That as He Approached the Two Women Bicyclists Mrs. Martin Suddenly Rode in Front of Team and He Could Not Avoid the Accident—Denies Driving off Quickly.

Charles MacMurray, who lives near Westfield and is a brother of City Clerk MacMurray, of this city, disclaims responsibility for the death of Mrs. T. Dayton Martin, of Newark, who was struck by a wagon he was driving while she was riding a bicycle near the "seven bridges," just outside of Newark.

County Physician F. W. Westcott, of Union county, accompanied by State Detective Keron, of Elizabeth, arrived about 7 o'clock Wednesday night, and after examining the body and questioning Mrs. Shipman, the friend who was with Mrs. Martin when the accident occurred, decided that the case was one for the coroner, and Coroner W. H. McConnell, of Cranford, will empanel his jury today. After the jury has viewed the body it will be removed to Newark.

McMurray lives near Westfield with his parents. He is 32 years old and unmarried. His version of the accident differs from the story told by Mrs. Shipman, Mrs. Martin's companion. He says when he first saw the bicyclists they were riding on opposite sides of the road. As he approached Mrs. Martin crossed over and joined her companion, and McMurray kept to the left. When he was but a short distance behind them Mrs. Martin started across the road directly in front of the horses and fell, and was not struck by the horses.

McMurray denies that he started to run away, but declares that he turned back with his team as soon as he could stop the horses, and after he had rendered what assistance he could, drove to Springfield and left word about the accident at the office of Dr. Jackson.

He declares that he was not driving recklessly, and says that he had the horses under complete control.

McMurray has engaged Reed & Coddington, of this city, to represent him in any court proceedings that the fatality may involve. McMurray says that when the woman fell off her bicycle in front of the team the horses became frightened and started to run away. They ran for a hundred yards before he was able to stop them, and this led to the rumor that he had attempted to drive off at a rapid pace when the accident occurred.

REBECCA DEGREE LODGE.

Gave an Entertainment Consisting of Many Pleasing Features.

Rebecca Degree Lodge, No. 4, gave an excellent entertainment last night in their rooms in the Babcock building, when an appreciative audience was present to enjoy the several features offered. Prof. Schorbach, of New York, was present and gave a number of selections on the new piano recently purchased of John Voght & Son by Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F. He was obliged to respond to several encores. There were also several vocal solos by Mrs. John Manley, Miss Elizabeth May Loveland, of Elizabeth, captivated the audience with pleasing recitations. A violin solo by Mrs. George Saums, accompanied by Mrs. Buckley, delighted all, and John H. Carney, in the character of a future soldier, made several local hits, and caused many smiles. This concluded the entertainment and all adjourned to the banquet room, where refreshments were served by the committee in charge, Mr. and Mrs. Welsh and Mr. and Mrs. Kettering.

Springfield Lighted by Electricity.

Springfield now has electric lights. The Milburn Electric Company, which supplies the light, turned it on Tuesday night. It was a great surprise and source of pleasure and convenience to all, and the people who ha opposed it were the most delighted. Members of the company and citizens with the Town Committee drove over the line and everything worked to the satisfaction of all.

Willie Was Too Busy.

The trial of Willie Sweeney, the law student, on the charge of violating the bicycle ordinance, was set down for this morning. Willie was too busy, however, to attend such trivial matters and the City Judge agreed to adjourn the case to suit the convenience of the law student and Patrolman Lunger who made the arrest.

ELI SHAW MAKES DENIAL.

Says He Never Confessed to Anyone That He Was Guilty of Murder.

WANTED TO SURRENDER.

Went to the Prosecutor's Office to Make Denial of the Alleged Confession.

Eugene Darnell, Arrested as an Accessory on Affidavit of a Newspaper Man Has Been Released—Shaw Declares That He Refused To do Any Talking.

Camden, N. J., Sept. 15.—Eli Shaw went to the prosecutor's office here and denied the story that he had confessed to the murder of his mother and grandmother to William H. Hay and Howard K. Sloan, of the Philadelphia newspaper reporters.

Shaw said he was present to surrender if there was any charge against him. Prosecutor Jenkins said he was not wanted.

Eugene Darnell, who was arrested as an accessory after the fact on the affidavit of a newspaper man that he was present at the time Shaw committed the double murder, has been discharged.

Darnell is a reputable citizen and church member. He easily proved an alibi.

Mr. Shaw said: "The two reporters who say I confessed did meet me in Federal street and asked for an interview. I said I would talk to them only in the presence of my counsel, Mr. Scovel, and left to call on him.

"As I was going away I met them again, and again I refused to talk with them. One of them asked me: 'Do you know Gene Darnell?' I said 'Yes, do you know him?'

"'Well,' said one of them, 'people say you and he were out on a drunk the night of the murder, got home about 1:30 at your house and went in together.'

"'That is a lie,' I said. 'We not only were not out together that night, nor were we ever out together.' 'But,' the reporter went on, 'a man says after he heard one shot he saw a man run out of the house and hide in the bushes; that he talked with the man and recognizes Darnell as that man.'

"'It is all a lie,' I told them and offered to go and see Darnell. I left them and crossed to the Pennsylvania Railroad milk station to see a friend named McMullin. I did not jump a fence nor get on a train.

"Then I went home. I got there about 6 o'clock, ate supper and, with Miss Weed and Mrs. Ogden spent the night right in Philadelphia."

Hay and Sloan still affirm that Shaw did make the confession substantially as published and both have made sworn statements to that effect.

Miss Eva Wood, the young woman to whom shaw is engaged to be married, is credited with saying that she still believes Shaw innocent and that no matter what is said about him in connection with the murder of his mother and grandmother, she will stand by him just the same.

Fatal Wreck Near Beard Station.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 15.—Two men were killed and two injured in a collision on the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston Railroad, near Baird station, between the pay train and a freight train. The killed were Edward Rohbacher, engineer; Charles Bettig, fireman. The injured are J. K. Aiken, paymaster, and an unknown tramp. The accident was caused by a misunderstanding of orders.

Troubles With Cuban Labor.

Havana, Sept. 15.—The Heraldo says editorially that the behavior of the Cubans is absurdly contradictory. In many parts of the island, it points out, there is great want of labor, in spite of which the Cubans are crying for foreign labor to leave the country, and in Havana work is being improvised for vagrants. The paper asks why they do not go to Pinar del Rio, where laborers are wanted.

Strike on Canadian Pacific.

Owen Sound, Ont., Sept. 15.—About 130 freight handlers employed by the Canadian Pacific Railroad are on strike here for 2½ cents an hour increase for trucking and 5 cents an hour for handling coal, making their wages 15 and 20 cents an hour, respectively. About twenty-five old hands remained at their work.

Prof. Marsh Resigns.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 15.—Prof. Arthur R. Marsh has resigned the chair of Comparative Literature at Harvard University. He is to enter business. This announcement comes as a surprise to all connected with the University. The chair was established in part through Prof. Marsh's efforts.

Vermont to Welcome Dewey.

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 15.—The State Committee in charge has decided on Oct. 12 as the day for welcoming Admiral Dewey home. This date is selected with the provision that it will be acceptable to him. Gov. Smith will meet the Admiral in New York and make certain of his plans.

Youthful Murderer Hanged.

Helena, Mon., Sept. 15.—Joseph H. Allen, a quarterbreed, who murdered J. S. Reynolds, near Henela in July, 1898, was hanged here yesterday. He was only 21 years old. Many efforts had been made to induce the Governor to commute his sentence, but without success.

Faith Healers Indicted.

Frankfort, Ind., Sept. 15.—The Clinton County Grand Jury has indicted Mr. and Mrs. John Chenowith, charged with manslaughter. Their 9-months-old child died of pneumonia without medical attendance, they having employed a Chicago faith healer to make prayers there.

PHILADELPHIA'S BIG FAIR.

President Opens the National Export Exposition.

Philadelphia, Sept. 15.—The National Export Exposition was opened here with considerable ceremony. Hundreds of distinguished visitors from all sections of the country were in attendance, including representatives of the diplomatic corps, officers of the army and navy, scientists and business and professional men. After the benediction, which concluded the dedicatory exercises, had been pronounced by Archbishop Ryan, a message was received from President McKinley extending greetings and officially opening the great show. When the message had been read the chorus of six hundred voices and the audience sang "The Star Spangled Banner." The United States Marine band and the big exposition organ played the accompaniment.

Crowd Attacks Pay Car.

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 15.—A crowd of switchmen, brakemen, flagmen and freight handlers of the Central Railroad partly wrecked the pay car of the road. The car was in charge of Paymaster Tinsman. When the men, several hundred in number, received their pay for August, a howl arose. They found that they had not received pay for the overtime put in when the new system of freight transfer went into effect at Elizabeth. During the row the windows of the car were demolished by stones, and for a time Paymaster Tinsman was in fear of his life. The men dispersed when it was promised that they would receive money for the overtime on next pay day.

Wrecked a House With Dynamite.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 15.—A daring attempt was made in the town of Albion to blow up the house occupied by Charles Gillett a respectable farmer. A stick of dynamite was used and the side of the house was badly wrecked. The members of the family were thrown out of their beds by the explosion and the entire house was filled with moke. Mr. Gillett received a slight cut on the hand and was badly bruised, but the other members of his family were not injured. The building caught fire but the blaze was put out before much damage was done. The case was at once reported to the District Attorney who is using every effort to find the guilty perons.

Like Wild Men.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 15.—Jim Brewer, N. G. Nelson, J. C. Bagger and E. Calberg, of Ashland, Wis., made the start on the Edmonton trail for the Klondike in April, 1898. They reached Vancouver looking like wild men. Bagger(the leader, had not had a hair cut or shave for nearly two years. Bagger said, "We have traveled incessantly for nearly twenty months. There was scarcely a day last summer that we were not wading through water often up to our thighs."

The Day's Tragedies in New York.

New York, Sept. 15.—Many women figure in the tragic stories of to-day. Mrs. Catherine Kennedy was burned to death in a fire in Brooklyn. Annie Miller and Marguerite Hill, penniless, were too proud to beg. The first named starved to death and the other went insane. Mrs. T. Dayton Martin, while riding a bicycle, was run over by a wagon and killed. Mrs. Eugene Brietnall was accidentally shot and killed by her husband

Changes in the Shamrock.

New York, Sept. 15—It is learned that many of Shamrock's spars are of the same material as that of the gaff, which broke during the trial. Great reliance was placed on these metal sticks to stand the strain of strong winds and the challenger's heavy canvas. The accident showed conclusively that stronger material will be necessary, and many important changes will be made between now and Oct. 3, the date of the first race.

Thirty-two Killed.

London, Sept. 15.—During a panic in a synagogue at Lentscits, Russian Poland, thirty-two women and children were crushed to death.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 15.—The stock market was active and, in the main, at advances from the figures of yesterday. Brooklyn Rapid Transit broke very rapidly after the opening dealings, the stock reflecting the elimination of the short interest through yesterday's advance. Manhattan Railroad was conspicuously strong on renewal of the reports that the dividends on the stock would be guaranteed for another corporation. American Tobacco was strong and the other industrials generally showed advances. Foreign houses traded moderately on both sides of the market.

Wheat 73½, oats 26½@32, corn 35½. Lard was easy; western, $5.55@5.60. Pork was steady at $9@$9.50 for mess. Meats were steady; pickled hams, 9½@10c.; do., shoulders, 6c. The age at which children begin to work is 11 years in England, 14 years in Switzerland, 13 years in Germany and 12 years in France, Holland, Russia and Belgium.

A decision has been rendered by the supreme court of California upholding the right of labor organizations to boycott obnoxious employers and denying an injunction except upon a showing of specific acts of a criminal nature.

Labor circles of the northwest are much agitated over reports, which are received with general credence, that hundreds of Japanese contract laborers are being brought into Puget Sound cities. Every month from 500 to 1,000 Japanese are said to be landed at Tacoma, Vancouver and Portland. Practically all pass inspection, the requirements of which are sound body and $30 in cash. It is said that hundreds of these men are finding employment on various railroad lines.

THE PARAGUA FIRED UPON

Our Gunboat Has a Sharp Engagement With Natives in Philippine Waters.

THE FILIPINOS DEFEATED.

The Ship is Hit a Number of Times With Rifle Bullets But No Serious Damage Results.

Filipino Schooner Captured and Destroyed—Fire of the Natives Silenced in Twenty Minutes—Commissioners Receive Instructions to Return as Soon as Possible.

Manila, Sept. 15.—Col. Charles Denby and Prof. Dean Worcester, members of the Philippine commission, have received instructions from President McKinley, asking them to return as soon as possible. They will embark in the steamship Empress of India, which is to leave Hong Kong Sept. 26. It is not known whether or not the clerical force will return with them or remain here. The commissioners had just moved into new offices, and had expected to spend some months working on the establishment of municipal government.

The Nevada cavalry was unable to sail in the Newport. They will take the next available transport.

The Filipino police, numbering 250 men, armed with revolvers and clubs, went on duty at Manila. The force is controlled by the provost marshal, and was reviewed on the Lunets.

Transport Tartar Released.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Clearance papers have been issued to the Tartar, at Hong Kong. It is expected that the vessel will proceed to the United States at once.

The information that clearance had been allowed came in a despatch to Adjt.-Gen. Corbin from Col. M. Metcalfe, commanding the Twentieth Kansas and the troops aboard the transport. It is supposed that clearance papers were allowed on the suggestion of the British foreign office to the British consul at Hong Kong that it would be unwise to interfere with American transports.

Another despatch from Col Metcalfe, in reply to one sent him, says that the Tartar was no more overcrowded than other transports leaving Manila, and the food was as good. He said the trouble was caused by the discharged regular soldiers who were returning home on board the ship.

Was a Sharp Engagement.

Washington, Sept. 15.—The following despatch has been received at the Navy Department:

"Manila, Sept. 14.

"Secretary of Navy, Washington:—Davidson, commanding Paragua, reports sharp engagement at Balemao. Vessel struck many times by rifle shots; no casualties. Paragua silenced insurgents' fire in twenty minutes; at range from 400 to 900 yards. Occasion, captured Filipino schooner, which Davidson destroyed.

"WATSON."

Balemao is in the province of Masbate, south of Luzon and north of Visayas.

Three Women Killed in a Wreck.

Bakersfield, Cal., Sept. 15.—North bound passenger train No. 8 on the Southern Pacific Railroad ran into the rear end of the Portersville accommodation train at Formosa about twenty miles north of here. Mrs. Maggie T. Majors, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Rose, her mother, and Mrs. Larsue, were instantly killed. Engineer Wright and Fireman Keller were seriously injured, and their condition is precarious. A track walker, whose name is unknown, was badly hurt and is still unconscious.

Physician Accidentally Shot.

Poughkeepsie, Sept. 15.—Dr. John P. Wilson, a leading physician of this city, accidently shot himself here. His condition is regarded as serious. He picked up an old pistol and was examining it when it dropped from his hand. As he picked it up it was discharged. The ball struck him on the side of the nose passed through his mouth and lodged in the back of his neck.

Bishop Doane Robbed.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 15.—William C. Doane, Episcopal bishop of Albany, N. Y., was robbed in the suburbs of this city. His pocketbook containing about $100 and several valuable papers were taken. The police, to whom the case was reported, believe that the bishop was the victim of a pickpocket.

Killed and Cremated.

Oneonta, N. Y., Sept. 15.—John McClintock and his sister, Margaret, living near Worcester, this county, were burned in their house. Strong reasons exist for believing that they were first murdered. They were aged, and McClintock was one of the wealthiest farmers in this section.

Laborer Buried Alive.

Chester, Pa., Sept. 15.—William W. Carter, 20 years old, of Perryville, Md., is at the Chester Hospital at the point of death. He was working at the Beaeard Oil Works and while digging a place for a tank a seven-foot bank of earth fell on him and he was buried alive.

Two Colliery Engines Wrecked.

Shamokin, Pa., Sept. 15.—A trip of cars from Burnside ran away, and mounting a plane, dashed into and badly damaged a pair of engines at the Peerless drift. It was necessary to close down about half the mines for one week to repair the damage.

Part of the Strikers Won.

London, Sept. 15.—Seventeen vessels were unable to leave the Tyne owing to the shipping strike. The Montreal Line steamship Carvona and the steamship Silverdale have conceded the strikers' demands. The seamen are naturally jubilant.

IS TIRED OF PUBLIC LIFE.

Governor Pingree Will Soon Retire From Politics.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 15.—Governor Pingree before leaving for Chicago to attend the trust conference in session in that city was pressed for a statement as to whether or not he would resign the governorship in the event of being nominated and elected mayor of Detroit this fall. In reply he said:

"No, sir; I would not. I have never had any idea of running for mayor again and I would not resign as governor to take the mayoralty. Since the people have been fit to reelect me, I believe the least I can do is to serve my term. I believe in being square with the people; and then, on the other hand, I don't want to be mayor. I have had my share of public offices. There are a lot of good citizens who have never served their city or their state, and they ought to be given a chance. And when I get through with my present term as governor I want to devote the remainder of my life to my own private business."

Croker Was on the Stand.

New York, Sept. 15.—Richard Croker was before the Maset Committee and testified that he knew absolutely nothing about the Ramapo Company. He declared that he was making a quiet investigation, but would not give the result to the Committee. He said that a committee of underwriters called on him, at the Democratic Club, to advocate the Ramapo Company, but he refused to say whether he was opposed to the deal or not. Mr. Croker took refuge behind his famous "That's my private business" when Mr. Moss asked him questions about various stocks he held. Mr. Moss wanted to know how many shares he had received since Mr. Van Wyck became Mayor, and Mr. Croker replied that it was his private business. He plainly tried to laugh the matter out of court, and caused more amusement than any previous witness.

Made a Fortune on Wall Street.

New York, Sept. 15.—One of the quickest and most important turns made in Wall Street in recent years, and which this week has been the subject of general gossip, was that of William Alexander Scott, better known as "Farmer" Scott, who, by speculating in the common stock of the Tennessee Coal, Iron, and Railroad Company, has since last December cleared up little short of $200,000, with, as he says, "more in sight." Not the least interesting fact is this stroke of good fortune is that Mr. Scott was absolutely verdant in regard to stock speculations when he went to Wall Street and began to play the market with the capital known as "a shoestring."

Two Murderers Respited.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 15.—Governor Stone has granted respites to two Susquehanna county men, who were to be hanged September 26. They are Cornelius W. Shew and J. James Eagan, alias J. James Smith. Their execution day has been postponed until October 26 to enable their attorneys to carry their cases before the Board of Pardons. The Governor also fixed the execution day of Edwin Cressinger, of Northumberland county for Wednesday, November 15.

For the St. Louis World's Fair.

St. Louis, Sept. 15.—The Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad has subscribed $35,000 to the capital stock of the World's Fair. This is one of the largest subscriptions yet received to the fund. The subscription is on a basis of $750,000 for all the steam railroads centering in St. Louis, or $1,000,000 for all the steam transportation interests.

Old Man Killed by Bicyclist.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 15.—Daniel McCarty, eighty-three years of age, was run down by a bicycle rider, P. Martin Friel, seventeen years old, on the Washington Bridge and killed. The spot where the collision occurred was a dark one and neither of the two saw the other until it was too late.

Charged With Highway Robbery.

West Chester, Penn., Sept. 15.—Walter Herrod, "Tony" E. Biddle and Leona Corsey, of this place, were locked up in prison on a charge of highway robbery, preferred by Michael E. Reed, of Pocopson township, who alleges that they secured his watch and money.

Indiana Town Badly Scorched.

Milltown, Ind., Sept. 15.—The business portion of this village was almost destroyed by fire last night. Odd Fellows Hall, the Royer Hotel, three stores and three houses were burned. The loss amounts to about $95,000.

Father Shoots His Daughter.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 15.—Patrick T. Suerin, 65 years old, shot and mortally wounded his daughter Mary, 30 years old, with a shotgun, in Ohio county. They had quarrelled. He surrendered himself.

Has Half a Dozen Wives.

Salt Lake, Utah, Sept. 15.—Another Mormon church officer has been arrested. This time it is Joseph E. Taylor, a white-haired man of over 70. He has at least a half-dozen wives.

American Collier at Gibraltar.

Gibraltar, Sept. 15.—The United States collier Alexander, which sailed from Norfolk Aug. 30, with a full cargo of coal for the naval station at Manila, has arrived here.

New Cabinet at Sydney.

Sydney, N. S. W., Sept. 15.—A new ministry has been formed here, with W. J. Lyne, the leader of the opposition, as premier.

Let Him Off Cheaply.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 15.—Herbert S. Dudley was fined one cent in the Municipal Court for shaking his wife's hand in anger.

A New American Duchess.

Berlin, Sept. 15.—Miss Anne Russell Allen, of St. Louis, Mo., was married to the Duke of Montefeltro, at Hamburg.

KRUGER'S REPLY AWAITED

Thought That it Will Have a Quieting Effect When Published.

London, Sept. 15.—The tension now existing here and at the Cape may be temporarily settled at any moment by the publication of President Kruger's reply.

On the other hand, it may be several days before the general public learns what answer the Transvaal has made.

If President Kruger has answered defiantly, it does not necessarily mean the immediate breaking off of negotiations.

The British would probably reply with an unmistakable ultimatium, but it is scarcely to their advantage to bring about hostilities until the reinforcements are nearer the scene of action than they are at present.

Whatever the nature of President Kruger's reply it is probable that several more stages of diplomatic processes will be gone through with before there is definite war or peace, unless, of course, President Kruger takes the initiative and raids Natal.

It is the possibility of this move that makes definite news of his reply so eagerly and anxiously awaited.

The Cape Town papers takes a hopeful view of the situation, basing their belief on the probable acceptance by President Kruger of the franchise measures suggested in Mr. Chamberlain's latest despatch.

But even they admit it is impossible to learn or foreshadow President Kruger's attitude towards the suzeralnty of Great Britain, which, after all, is still the main issue.

President Sent Greeting.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 15.—In his address to the First Nebraska regiment, the Assistant Secretary of War, Mr. Melklejohn among other things said:

"It is with deep regret that I have to announce to you that affairs of state preclude President McKinley from being present with us on this occasion. To the volunteers of Nebraska he sends by me his greetings and congratulations.

"The President sends every good wish that the welcome given to the First Nebraska may be most generous and patriotic."

Hanged For Robbery.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 15.—Noah Finley, colored, was hanged in Pulaski City today. The crime of which he was guilty and for which he was condemned was robbery. On August 2 last he waylaid and robbed Major J. H. Darst, a merchant of Dublin, Pulaski County. Almost since the sentence was pronounced strong pressure had been brought to bear on Governor Tyler to commute it to life imprisonment, but the Governor decided to allow the law to take its course.

Shoe Manufacturers to Organize

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 15.—An important conference of the shoe manufacturers of Pennsylvania will be held in this city next Tuesday, when a state organization will be effected. For several years the need of some uniform system of discounts has been apparent, and now that the manufacturers have gotten together to some extent in the matter of prices they feel that the next most important step is the adoption of a plan regarding the rendering of bills to customers that will be generally observed.

Pardon Said to Have Been Granted

Paris, Sept. 15.—It is said that a pardon has in fact been granted to Dreyfus, but that it is being kept secret until he can be smuggled out of the country. Well informed persons, however, do not believe that Loubet will pardon Dreyfus while his appeal is pending. They say that after the Council of Revision has rendered its decision—in about a fortnight—this Government will grant amnesty to all connected with the case, including Dreyfus, Picquart, Mercier and Zola.

Vanderbilt Laid to Rest.

New York, Sept. 15.—Cornelius Vanderbilt was laid to rest to-day in the little cemetery at New Drop, S. I. In the great mausoleum the body of the man of millions was laid with all simplicity. There was no pomp no display, impressive burial service of the Episcopal Church marked the last farewell at the house, the church and the grave. This was in accordance with the wishes of the dead man.

Dobbs Lost on a Foul.

Coney Island, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Bobby Dobbs of Minneapolis, who recently returned from a tour of England and Scotland, where he won several ring battles, met Matty Matthews of New York in the Coney Island Sporting Club and was disqualified in the twenty-fifth round for fouling. The fighting was fierce from the start to finish and neither man had a great deal the best of it in point of punishment.

Girls Escape From House of Refuge

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Two girls escaped from the State House of Refuge, at this place, and no trace has been found of them. They scaled the fence and disappeared. Five tried to escape Wednesday night, but all were recaptured. The punishment cells are full, and the new administration of the institution is having great difficulty in preserving any semblance of order.

After the Factory Inspector.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Organized labor is after State Factory Inspector Williams. At the Labor Federation Convention here he was severely criticised, and a committee of three was appointed to investigate his methods and to take the matter before the next Legislature. It was said he does not pay sufficient attention to the needs of the workingmen.

Death of Capt. G. R. Wilson.

Buffalo, Sept. 15.—Capt. G. Reed Wilson, quartermaster of the Sixty-fifth Regiment, died from malaria contracted at Camp Alger.

Paris Police Make More Raids.

Paris, Sept. 15.—Fresh police raids have just been made at the residences of prominent royalists.

FIGHT BETWEEN FACTIONS.

The Struggle Waxes Warm at the Trust Conference in Chicago.

BOTH SIDES ARE AFRAID

Each Endeavoring to Keep the Other From Obtaining Control and Gaining Points.

William P. Potter of Philadelphia, Speaks on "Co-operation Better Than Competition"—Quite a Falling Off in Attendance of Delegates and Spectators.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—The second day's session of the Trust Conference was opened here with William Wirt Howe of New Orleans in the chair, and a falling off in the attendance of both delegates and spectators.

Mr. Howe proceeded at once to business by putting before the house a resolution introduced by F. C. Farr of Missouri for the appointment of the important committee on resolutions. The motion instantly developed the undercurrent of strife between the factions for and against trusts which at first threatened the convention's harmony.

An amendment was immediately proposed, various speakers urging that the resolution be amended to allow the appointments to the committee to be made by the delegates themselves, one committeeman from each state.

The original motion was not acted on, but the amendment in regard to the manner of appointment was carried by a standing vote—69 to 14.

Governor Atkinson of West Virginia, rising from a far corner, declared that it was unfair to bind the delegates by resolution. The debate waxed warm, and delegates clamoring for recognition rose in every part of the house.

Mr. Taylor of Indiana, Mr. Prince of Texas and Mr. Collins of Illinois were then heard.

The pro-trust men and the antis were fearful, it became evident, that one side or the other would obtain control and bind the minority to something of which they disapproved.

W. Bourke Cockran repeated his performance of Wednesday when he restored the harmony which had been destroyed in an endeavor to obtain a committee on programme.

Upon his suggestion it was decided that the committee on resolutions consist of not only one representative of each state delegation but of each national organization. To that committee it was resolved that all resolutions be referred without reading or debate.

Lawrence Pudy of the New York Tariff Reform Club was then introduced. He opened the tariff debate, speaking in part as follows:

"I do not contend that the only cause for combination which restrains trade is the tariff, but the tariff does foster and assist in maintaining such combinations. The tariff is under the control of the federal government, the abolition of duties on articles produced by trusts is easy, immediate and effective. When this special privilege is withdrawn we will then be in a better position to do what further may be necessary."

W. P. Potter of Philadelphia spoke about "Co-operation Rather Than Competition." He said in part:

"It is but the statement of a simple fact to say that the present tendency toward combination and co-operation is but the reaction from the keen and excessive combination of the past few years. Whether this movement for co-operation is justifiable or not depends upon the facts in the case. Whether for good or for evil is to be determined by an examination of the results. 'By thier fruits ye shall know them,' and in arriving at a conclusion, calm and careful consideration is called for, and the subject should be approached in a spirit of fairness, and not in bitterness or with blind denunciation. An impulse so general, and so widespread in the business world, must have cause for its existence.

"The rights of the public are not to be ignored in any event; but so long as these rights are respected the individual is certainly at liberty to concentrate his capital and combine his resources with his fellows in the same line of business for their mutual benefit.

"The demand for commodities of all kinds at the present time is greatly in excess of what it has ever been, and it is required, too, that they be furnished more cheaply than ever before. Experience has shown that these demands can be met only by the employment of large capital, and upon a most extensive scale of working.

"Civilization has advanced, and a comfortable scale of living has been brought within the reach of the average man, just in proportion to the development of business along these lines of co-operation and combination. First, it was the individual working by himself in his particular line. Then came the union of two or more individuals into a partnership. This was followed by the formation of the small corporation, and from that grew the large corporation, and the last and present stage of development is the union or partnership of the small corporations into the grand aggregation, often miscalled a trust.

"As a matter of fact, most of the business combinations of the day are not trusts at all. They are simply large corporations. The so-called 'anti-trust' attacks are not really attacks upon trusts, for the reason that but very few real trusts are in existence in this country. The hue and cry that has been raised is really an attack upon large corporations. If the people of this country are determined to wipe out all corporations, of course they can do so. No one would claim, however, that such an extreme measure is desired by any one who has the prosperity of the country at heart. Such action would be to turn backward the hands upon the dial of human progress, and 90 per cent of the country's industries would stop."

What Fire Hydrants Cost Elsewhere.

In view of the recent publication of the cost of maintaining the city as regards the water tax, it may be interesting to readers of The Daily Press to know what other cities pay for water for fire purposes. From a table recently prepared by John W. Hill, a civil engineer of Cincinnati, O., and published in the Western Fireman, are found some interesting statistics. It gives the actual charge for fire hydrants in 27 cities where the water works are operated and owned by private corporations. The average price paid per hydrant a year is about $50. The highest price paid per year per hydrant is $100, which is at Council Bluffs, Ia. This city has a population of 30,000. The lowest price paid per hydrant per year is at Denver, Col., a city of 165,000, where $35 is paid. SanFrancisco, with a population of 376,000, pays $60 a year. In Denver the gravity system is used and fire engines are necessary to force water in the event of fires. In Kansas City, Mo., population 165,000, the rate is $50. But in addition to this sum the city is compelled to pay 10 cents per 1,000 gallons for water used for flushing sewers, sprinkling streets and water troughs.

Plainfield has something over 300 fire hydrants and pays at the rate of $15 a hydrant per year.

Hot Shot for Rev. Mr. Shott.

Rev. Mr. Shott's severe criticism of the bicycle races in Scotch Plains has stirred the Newark Advertiser to editorially remark as follows:

Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, whose present aim seems to be the ferreting out of as much nastiness as he can find in that burg, preached a sermon Sunday night against bicycle riding.

The reverend gentleman says that the costumes used by cyclists in races are so shocking that modest women turn away their heads in shame when the racers pass by.

At a road race in that town Saturday there were present among the spectators some of Mr. Shott's parishioners, which fact grieved that gentleman very much. The sermon followed.

It is safe to say that the racing costumes used by the wheelmen were no different from those worn by cyclists elsewhere. Mr. Shott's mind has evidently become so impregnated with the taint of the evils he has been seeking to eradicate that he can see nothing but indecency and immodesty in the spectacle of a bicycle race. There have been hundreds of bicycles races in this immediate vicinity this year, and thousands have witnessed them. Mr. Shott is the first to state that they are shockingly immodest.

Evidently the morals of Scotch Plains are better than Mr. Shott's diseased view of matters in general.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON.

Though he comes expecting to "lift" the America's cup with his yacht Shamrock, Sir Thomas Lipton is regarded with much favor by the sportsmen of the country because of his gentlemanly and sportsmanlike conduct and air. Sir Thomas was born in Glasgow of Irish parentage 52 years ago. His wealth is estimated at $50,000,000.

Mr. Bryan hopes for a solid Jersey delegation; yet we do not recall that he visited the seashore resorts once during the summer, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The death knell to the straw hat is from today—the 15th of September. On and after this date those who wear straw hats are considered out of fashion. With the passing of the straw hat marks the advent of the top coat, which is already in evidence, owing to the cool weather that put in an appearance Wednesday night.

Paul Roehricht, who was killed by a bullet from a revolver in the hands of Mrs. Henrietta Fingerhuth last Tuesday afternoon, was considerable of a genius as well as a thrifty business man. Mr. Roehricht invented a combination clock which has twenty dials, giving the time of the principal cities in different parts of the world. Mr. Roehricht was also a collector of antiques. He had a gas chandelier which he purchased in Paris seventeen years ago which once adorned the bedchamber of Napoleon III. The chandelier is made of glass and is an elaborate piece of work.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The fatal shooting which occurred in North Plainfield Tuesday is a most unfortunate affair. The woman who did the deed was no doubt prompted by the feeling that her rights were being invaded. But she has brought trouble and disgrace upon her entire family by a hasty act. This will probably prove to be an expensive trial for Somerset county. — Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Leonard's "Two Jolly Rovers," a new musical farce comedy, appears in this city at Music Hall tonight for the first time. It is full of funny situations, and the scenery is beautiful. Second act showing the Harlem River and the High Bridge, also the exterior of the Rubberneckers Yacht Club. The third act exterior of the Ladies O.I.C. gymnasium where the Two Jolley Rovers are captured by their wives, making love to the beautiful widow and her charming niece. The company is composed of only first-class talent, each and everyone an artist in his or her line. A special feature is Miss Mazie King, the acknowledged greatest tip-toe dancer living. She created such a sensation, being the principal attraction at Madison Square Garden, New York. Other members are Sherman Wade, late of Willie Collier's Compeny.; Alice Gilmore, the American comedy 4. Three Dranvel Sisters, Mable Dwight, Madeline Burdette, Carrie Milton, Lillian Hathaway and John F. Leonard. This performance is just what it advertises. If you want to spend a pleasant evening, don't miss the "Two Jolly Rovers."

"Way Down East," which comes to the Stillman Music Hall next Tuesday evening, September 19th, is truly remarkable. Produced in New York last season by William A. Brady without any great advanced heralding it leaped into popularity instantaneously, and for seven months occupied the stage of the Manhattan Theatre. It is a play of great heart interest with homely types of rural New England as its characters, presenting every day happenings of that vicinity that one would be likely to encounter. Lottie Blair Parker is the author of it, but that skillful actor and playright, Joseph R. Grismer, elaborated and produced it.

With Dewey week fast approaching, big things are being prepared for the patrons of F. F. Proctor's two theatres in New York city—the Twenty-third Street Theatre and the Pleasure Palace. Both houses presenting the fad of the day, continuous performance of refined vaudeville. For the big days of the Dewey celebration, beginning with Sept. 25th, the doors at both houses will open at 10 a. m. and the entertainment will run on without a stop till 11 p. m., giving thirteen hours of rare enjoyment. The prices are popular, 15, 25 and 50 cents. The big stars at the Twenty-third Street Theatre, will be Camille D'Arville, the queen of comic opera. She will make her metropolitan debut on the continuous stage when she opens at Proctor's. The salary Camille D'Arville receives is the largest ever paid by any continuous performance manager. Miss D'Arville will appear in a series of costumes and sing all her best successes. At the Pleasure Palace, week of Sept. 18th, an unusually strong programme is in preparation. Some of these are: James Dolan and Ida Lenharr in a "High-Toned Burglar;" Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne in their rural playlet, "Grasping an Opportunity;" James Richmond Glenroy, the man with the green gloves; Newhouse and Woodworth, cyclists; Johnson and Murphy and twenty more.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Dodwell, wife of Conductor Charles Dodwell, was severely bitten by a ferocious dog yesterday morning. Mrs. Dodwell was passing between the Todd building and the tin shop of Mr. Egany to her home on High street, as has been her custom as well as other members of the family, permission having been given to make this short cut to Front street. It was about 9:15 o'clock when Mrs. Dodwell was attacked. Without warning the dog—a large one—sprang upon her and fastened his teeth into her hand. The animal had been fastened by a rope, but broke it easily and made the assault. Mrs. Dodwell succeeded in freeing herself from the brute's grasp and escaped to her home on High street near where the dog is kept. Later she called upon Dr. Brakeley, who dressed the wound. The physician found that the dog's teeth had inflicted a severe gash nearly two inches in length. The dog is owned by J. T. Collins, a machinist, employed at Bound Brook, but who occupies apartments in the Todd block. The dog has not heretofore been considered savage. It is believed that the animal has been teased by the boys in the neighborhood and became cross. It is not believed that Mrs. Dodwell will be laid up any length of time by reason of the injury.

Rev. Dr. E. S. Jamison is attending the Middlesex County Sunday-school convention being held at Highland Park this week. The Doctor went by wheel. There are a number of other members of the Methodist church, of this place, also present.

Mr. and Mrs. William VanMiddlesworth, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Minnie, left yesterday afternoon to visit relatives in Chicago and Ohio. They will be absent about a week.

County Clerk Conger, of Middlesex, was in town yesterday delivering to Borough Clerk Charles English the registry books and registry laws, to be used at the next general election.

Miss Louise Brakeley, daughter of Dr. Brakeley, is attending the Plainfield Female Seminary. This is her second year.

The annual meeting of the Union county W. C. T. U. will be held in Dunellen next Thursday.

John G. Lindsley moved his family to Plainfield yesterday. He formerly lived on Prospect street.

There was a heavy frost in this vicinity Wednesday night.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, September 15.—James Nickol, who with his family have been occupying the Thomas house, near Washington Valley, for several months, had a very mysterious fire Wednesday morning, and only by the chance early arrival of the hired man was a more serious conflagration averted. Mr. Nickol had been to the village Tuesday evening, and it was quite late when he returned home. Before retiring he made an inspection of the place, as usual, and found every thing all right. The hired man arrived about 5:30 the next morning and found the back porch on fire and nearly consumed. The flames already had begun to play upon the weather boards. He immediately called his employer, and between the two a fierce fight with the fire was begun. After a hard struggle the flames were subdued and the house was saved.

Mrs. Francis D. Hoyt, of New York, died at her summer home near Washington Valley yesterday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt have been occupying the Simpson cottage for the summer, Mr. Hoyt going back and forth to New York each day, attending to his law practice. Mrs. Hoyt has only been seriously ill for a short time and her death yesterday morning was a shock to the friends of the family. Interment will be made in the family plot at Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Nach einer offiziellen Mittheilung des Eisenbahnministeriums waren während des nunmehr verflossenen ersten Geschäftsjahres der Wiener Stadtbahn in deren exekutivem Dienste 62 Beamte, 557 Unterbeamte und Diener, 66 Manipulantinnen, 119 Wächter und 100 Reserve-Bremser thätig. Von den Stationen der Bahn hatte die Haltestelle Westbahnhof mit 741,346 Passagieren die größte Frequenz, Unter-Döbling mit 38,496 Reisenden die kleinste.—Die 20jährige Mizzi Schwarz trug bei großer Hitze eine grüne Seidenbluse. Der Schweiß löste die Farbe, die in ein kleines Geschwür unter dem Arm in's Blut trat und nach entsetzlichen Schmerzen in zwei Tagen den Tod des Mädchens herbeiführte.

Asch. Wegen der hiesigen Demonstrationen gegen die Zuckersteuer wurden zahlreiche Ortsbewohner vom Kreisgerichte in Untersuchung gezogen. Einige der Beschuldigten sollen einen großen Zuckerhut an einer hohen Stange umhergetragen haben, auf welchem stand: Paragraph 14.

Balaton-Füred. Dieser Tage hat der bekannte Herrenreiter Lieutenant Aladar v. Burchard-Belavary vom 8. Honvedhusaren-Regiment aus Anlaß einer eingegangenen Wette bei stürmischem Wellenschlage den Plattensee in der Breite von über acht Kilometern in 4 Stunden und 14 Minuten durchschwommen.

Brünn. Letzthin wurde der 27jährige Schuhmacher Zavralek aus Turas, welcher am 20. Februar den hiesigen Uhrmacher Anton Podrazil ermordet und beraubt hatte, hingerichtet.

Innsbruck. Der siebente österreichische Gastwirthstag wird in der Zeit vom 25. bis 28. September in unserer Stadt abgehalten.

Klattau. Letzthin in einer Nacht ist das Dorf Schwarzbach an der böhmisch-bayerischen Grenze gänzlich abgebrannt. Nur das Stationsgebäude der österreichischen Zollwache ist stehen geblieben. Die Zahl der abgebrannten Häuser beträgt 22.

Strobl. In dem nahen Orte Minnichreit schlug der Blitz in das Wohnhaus des Bauern Eisl ein. Der Strahl setzte den Dachstuhl in Flammen, fuhr dann in die Wohnstube der Bauernfamilie und streifte eines der acht kleinen Kinder, das Brandwunden ersten Grades erlitt. Das auf 3000 Gulden versicherte Gehöft, welches wegen einer kleinen Schuldenlast gepfändet war, brannte bis auf den Grund nieder.

Woltersdorf. In der Nähe der hiesigen Eisenbahnstation wurde auf dem Geleise eine verlöthete Blechbüchse, die mit Spiritus gefüllt war und die Leiche eines sieben Wochen alten Kindes enthielt, aufgefunden. Man glaubt, daß ein Passagier diese Büchse aus dem Zug herausgeworfen hat.

Schweiz.

Bern. Der Andrang im Berner Oberland ist heuer größer als je zuvor. Von Wengen zum Beispiel wird gemeldet, die circa 2000 Fremdenbetten daselbst seien allabendlich voll besetzt. Am meisten hat die Zahl der deutschen Besucher zugenommen. In Wengen machen sie vier Fünftheile aller Pensionäre aus.

Zürich. In Zürich hat Louise v. Gempfer, die Tochter einer nach New York übergesiedelten Familie, Hand an sich gelegt, nachdem ihr mitgetheilt worden, daß ihr Geliebter, der österreichische Oberlieutenant Popescu in Triest, im Vorjahre Selbstmord begangen hat.

Basel. Aus der Strafanstalt zu Basel ist der oft wegen Diebstahls bestrafte Metzger Karl Salzmann entsprungen. Er hatte noch über fünf Jahre Gefängniß zu verbüßen.

Graubünden. Am Errgletscher wurde ein männlicher Leichnam aufgefunden, der wahrscheinlich fast zehn Jahre in Schnee und Eis begraben war. Der Leichnam war trotz des langen Aufenthaltes am Gletscher gut erhalten, nur Gesicht und Hände waren zerfetzt. Der Todte ist sehr wahrscheinlich der seit 1888 vermißte Kaufmann Hoffmann aus Riesbach, Zürich.

Aargau. Der Postdieb Imhof von Suhr, der aus dem Untersuchungsgefängniß Aarau ausgebrochen war, konnte in Mühlhausen, Elsaß, verhaftet werden. Er sieht seiner Auslieferung entgegen.

Waadt. An der Universität Lausanne wird vom Oktober d. J. an auch den Bedürfnissen der deutschen Rechtshörer des zweiten Semesters Rechnung getragen werden durch eine vierstündige deutsche Vorlesung über den allgemeinen Theil des Bürgerlichen Gesetzbuches, ergänzt durch zweistündige Uebungen über römisches und deutsches Recht, gleichfalls in deutscher Sprache.

Wallis. Während die beiden Engländer Hill und Jones den östlich von Zermatt gelegenen Berggipfel Dent Blanche bestiegen, riß das Seil, das sie mit ihren Führern verband, und Jones sowie die drei Führer stürzten in einen Abgrund. Die vier Leichen wurden verstümmelt aufgefunden. Der Unfall ereignete sich in einer Höhe von 14,100 Fuß. Hill kletterte 48 Stunden auf dem Berge umher, ohne einen Abstieg zu finden.

THE WOMAN'S WORLD

NEWS, FACTS AND FANCIES OF INTEREST TO THE FAIR SEX.

A New Pocket Idea—Women Speculators—Brilliant Mrs. Kendal—A Bright Queen—The Book Tea and Handsome Foot Gear.

It has been a mystery and a conundrum to the average man for some little town how women did without pockets, and also a wonder to the aforesaid man why women did not lose more of these flimsy creations called handkerchiefs than they did, for it was a marvel to them how the women managed handkerchiefs, pocketbooks and bundles, held up their skirts, carried oftentimes an umbrella and only had the one pair of hands for this rather complicated performance.

For some time past the women have endeavored to solve the problem of doing more than one thing at a time, and have utilized their pocketbooks for the purpose of carrying their handkerchiefs to the great detriment of the former and the very untidy condition of the latter

Some enterprising manufacturer has conceived the idea of a "pocket-handkerchief-pocketbook" (this word need not be pronounced very often, else there might be some trouble), and an article meant for this double purpose is now on the market.

It is made with the last compartment open at one end to admit of the handkerchief or the gloves or both being slipped in and not necessitate their being rolled up into a ball, bulging out the purse and wringing the handkerchief so that it is mussy looking As the sides of the purse were apt to be torn down under the old style, women will hail the innovation with delight.

These pocketbooks come in pretty styles and can be bought at a price to suit any purse. They are shown in the shops from 50 cents to the amount of several dollars.

Women are not generally accredited with being wonderfully cool-headed or with having the power to control their curiosity. Mrs. Kendal, who was the charming Madge Robertson previous to her marriage, considered her husband her best friend and critic concerning her acting She never reads any of the press notices until a week after the performances. This is because she is very sensitive, and if the notices were unfavorable she would be too disheartened to act; and if she had been highly praised she would feel an anxiety that the first impression must be dispelled. Her husband, Mr. Wm. Grimstone, better known as Mr. Kendall, reads the criticisms and assists her in perfecting many a role. At the last Lydia Thompson benefit at the London Lyceum, she recited in magnificent style a poem about a poor woman receiving the news of her son winning the Victoria Cross. There was a crowd of well-known professionals in the theatre, but Mrs. Kendall and Miss Thompson seemed to be the two actresses of the day. At the Women's International Congress in July, when the drama as a field for women were discussed, Mrs. Kendall occupied the chair and was among the principal speakers.

The quantities of hip pads that are being shown in the shops seem to indicate that there is a big demand for these articles and also prove that there are a great many women who are not posted on things fashionable. They are laboring under the delusion that hip pads are in fashion. The newest Parisian figure is hipless, and seems to have been especially invented for the clinging skirts. It calls for the full bust, but no hips, and this is the way in which it is secured: Two sets of laces are provided, one of elastic, which begins at the waist line and continues to the top, where it is left extremely loose to give a full bust effect. The elastic expands and contracts with the movement of the chest. The other lacing, of linen or silk, is put in at the bottom of the corset and extends to the waist line bringing the two parts of the corset as near together as possible. This gives a most fetching figure. As for pads, many of them are seen, all showing plainly and giving a grotesque appearance to the wearer, particularly when one or both have been pushed a bit out of place.

For several years the Queen of Roumania has given private talks on subjects of interest to young women in her palace to the daughters of Roumanian aristocrats.

These lectures have, however, recently become so popular and attractive, and the request to attend them so many and so persistent that the Queen now lectures in the public High School for girls and has obtained the necessary official professional diploma, which is signed by the King and he Minister of Public Instructions.

But Queen Elizabeth is as deft with her fingers as she is clever with her brain. At a doll show recently held in Berlin, the leading feature was a collection of dolls exhibited "by the Queen of Roumania," every article of dress and decoration of which was made by herself. A gem of the royal handiwork was a charming reproduction in miniature of the carriage used at the Roumanian coronation, drawn by eight tiny horses, whose silver harness is a marvel of workmanship. The group is valued at £3,000, and is to be sent to the Paris Exposition in 1900.

The latest craze is the book tea. A number of guests—the sexes equally represented—are asked to afternoon tea, and each is to wear a badge denoting a book. The book is not necessarily a novel, though the run is on novels, nor is it necessarily a modern book, though these are more generally selected. The badge, which is a little toy, must express the title of the book. The guests arrive decorated, supplying and wearing their own decorations, and each has to guess the titles of all the others. Some people are very stupid at it, some very quick. And there is skill, too, not only in guessing the titles, but in making the orders. There are two prizes—one for the guest who guesses most and one for the guest whose badge has been most difficult to interpret. Much tea and some time are consumed, and men and women show themselves to be children of a larger growth.

WOMEN'S REALM

WHAT TO WEAR AND HOW TO MAKE IT.

May Manton's Hints Regarding Seasonable Toilettes.

Plain colored cashmere is here charmingly developed with an applied yoke and collar of black guipure over turquoise blue satin the trimming of insertion being laid over blue satin to match.

The semi-girdle of blue satin ribbon is inserted at the under arm seam and tied in a large bow with ends at the front.

The sylish arrangement of the gown is made over fitted linings that close in center front, a slightly pouched effect is given by gathers attached to the lining at the waist line. The full fronts are gathered at the top and arranged at pointed yoke depth the fulness in back being collected in overlapping plaits that hang from the center in Watteau-like folds. The neck is finished with a standing collar over the top edge of which a circular portion is joined that separates in neatly pointed ends at the front.

The prettily pointed lapels in four sections form a bertha over the edge of the yoke, and square epaulettes stand out stylishly over the two seamed sleeves.

The upper portion of the sleeves are arranged over fitted linings in three downward turning plaits that cause pretty fulness at the top, the wrists being finished with narrow frills of the material or lace as preferred.

To make this gown for a lady of medium size will require 6½ yards of material 44 inches wide.

Ladies Jacket.

Hussar blue cloth is here stylishly united with black velvet and brocaded silk, braid passementere showing up well as decoration on the edge of velvet collar and light toned vest.

The vest fronts of brocaded silk are cut low at the neck and close invisibly in center front, the edges being included in the shoulder and under arm seams of the jacket.

The fronts that fit closely with single bust darts flare apart, to disclose the handsome vest, and the inside facing is of silk to match. The flaring Medici collar is shaped in four sections, each one being interlined with tailors' canvas, and the velvet facing with fancy braid edge adds a charming finish to this stylish collar.

smoothily, coat laps being finished below the center back seam.

It is matter of choice whether the belt shall be worn over the back, and slipped through openings in the under arm seams, or worn under the jacket altogether, the former method being quite fashionable.

The sleeves, shaped with under portions, are of the size demanded by fashion, and flaring cuffs of velvet finish the wrists. Square pocket laps cover the openings to front and breast pockets, either of which can be omitted, if not desired.

While a tailor finish of machine stitching is correct for garments of this kind, braid is equally fashionable and very stylish. The jacket can match or contrast widely with the vest, or it can be omitted, and the jacket worn as a blazer over a silk blouse or shirt waist of any seasonable material.

To cut this jacket for a lady of medium size one and five-eighths yards of material 54 inches wide will be required.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 17—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Unhesitating confidence in Christ.—II Tim. i, 1-12.

Paul is a splendid example of "unhesitating confidence in Christ." He had confidence in Christ, and a confidence that was shaken by nothing. So great was his confidence that prison walls had no terror for him, the faithlessness of friends never unnerved him, and death had no sting for him. He had been beaten for Christ's sake, stoned for Christ and shipwrecked in the cause of Christ. He had been "in journeyings often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils by mine own countrymen, in perils by the heathen, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren, in weariness and painfulness, in watchings often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness," yet none of these many and varied experiences ever shook his faith in Christ. They rather seemed to strengthen it as the storms strengthen the roots of the great oak in the earth.

The secret of the great apostle's unfounded faith in Christ was his positive assurance that Christ was worthy of it. He had learned from faith, love and experience that Christ was able to do all that he had promised to do for him. He had intrusted the eternal welfare of his soul to Christ and knew that Christ was able to keep the trust. As one deposits his money in a bank for safe keeping, Paul had deposited his soul into Christ's care and keeping, and, as the knowledge that the bank is worthy of our trust gives us unbounded confidence in it, so Paul's knowledge of Christ's worthiness gave him unbounded trust and confidence in Christ.

The importance of having this positive assurance is evident to all, yet how many do not possess it! How many Christians are fearful and timid and, amid trials and troubles and afflictions, are filled with doubts and mistrusts! Whence came Paul's abundance of assurance? It was undoubtedly a God given assurance. "I can do all things through Christ that strengtheneth me," he had written to his friends before, and can we not be sure that God in Christ gave him this assurance and confidence in Christ? We may be naturally of a timid, despondent disposition, and yet God can by his power strengthen us and enable us to meet with unhesitating confidence the trials, doubts and troubles of life. He can strengthen the weak hands and confirm the feeble knees. Let us live closer to Christ in our daily lives and learn from experience that Christ is able to do for us all that he has promised to do, and this knowledge will give us confidence in Christ.

Bible Readings.—Job. xiii, 15; xix, 25, 26; Ps. xxvii, 1-5; xc, 1, 2; Mark ix, 14-29; John ix, 1-11; I Cor. xv, 58; II Tim. iv, 6-8; Heb. iii, 6; iv, 14-16; I Pet. iv, 19; I John iii, 1, 2, 20-24; v. 14-21; Rev. ii, 10.

Searching For the Truth.

The truth never lies on the surface. It is deep and must be sought profoundly. It seems certain at first sight that the sun goes round the earth, but it does not. It took centuries to see beneath the appearance to the fact. Our earth looks flat, but it is not. It is a globe, and there are men on the other side with feet turned toward ours. The stars all look to be the same distance away, but the difference of distance is perfectly immense—immeasurable. It will not do to trust our first impressions, or the appearances of things, or our desires, or our wishes in the matter. We must find out what the facts are.—American Friend.

The Home and the Church.

There are two kingdoms of which peace is the sovereign—the home and the church. No one should ever throw the pebbles of discord into those waters. Why one should remain in either when his presence gives offense is a species of martyrdom we cannot understand. Discord is antagonistic to the one purpose of church and home life. To fight for a position in either is a battle to which victory cannot come. God made the world wider than our necessities demand. The margin belongs to those who are always better than their neighbors or friends.—Presbyterian Journal.

God Is Love.

People go into ecstasies over the idea of a corporal Jehovah, though with scarcely a spark of love in their hearts, yet God is love, and without God immortality cannot appear. Mortals try to believe without understanding truth, yet God is truth. Mortals claim that man must die when his divine principle is ever present life. Mortals believe in a finitely human God, when God is love that must be demonstrated.—Rev. Mary Baker H. Eddy.

The Songs In the Night.

Sing in fine weather! Any bird can do that. Praising God when all goes well is commonplace work. Everybody marks the nightingale above other birds because she singeth when other minstrels of the wood are fast asleep, and thus doth faith praise God under a cloud. Songs in the day are from man, but God himself giveth songs in the night.—Selected.

God's Temple.

Oh, the hush'd and holy quiet
That Jehovah will impart
When He comes to make His dwelling
In the consecrated heart!

Oh, the hush and holy quiet!
Oh, the rest while here below!
When He comes and fills His temple,
Waves of glory o'er thee flow.

Blest the thought that our Jehovah
Deigns to dwell in hearts so low,
And His presence gives this quiet,
Which the world cannot bestow.

What a rest and what a stillness,
Though without the winds may blow!
If Jehovah keeps this temple,
Naught but rest the heart can know.
—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 17, "Unhesitating Confidence In Christ"—Text. II Tim. ii, 1-12.

"Be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus."

Confidence is the basis of strength and of comfort. Doubt weakens and distresses. The happy Christian is the one who believes wholly in Jesus, trusts Him unreservedly and confides enthusiastically.

But confidence must have an adequate basis of knowledge. No one can rely upon another unless there is a felt need in himself and assurance of power to relieve in the other. Paul had deep consciousness of his own soul need. He was a sinner. He had met Jesus Christ face to face at Damascus, and his own guilt and evil nature had been revealed to him in contrast with the Lord's blinding white purity. He had deeply studied the Old Testament writings and felt Israel's need of a Saviour. The power of Jesus of Nazareth in life, in death, in resurrection, had proved conclusively to Paul His Messiahship. He was fully convinced after the most searching inquiry; he believed with all the intensity of his ardent nature. To believe was with him to act. He must tell others. At the risk of perils and persecutions, in spite of pain and privations, he would everywhere he could spread the good news. If others were violent in opposition, it was only what he had been in his spiritual blindness. He must now be bold to endure as he had been forward before to inflict suffering. His eyes were opened; he must help others to get theirs open. He had been a persecutor. Why should he think it strange if others now persecuted him? For the sake of the Christ he would endure all. The Master Himself had been the sufferer pre-eminent. His followers surely were not above their Lord! If Jesus had overcome all, He could make His disciples to triumph also.

The secret of power is the same today as it has ever been. Unwavering confidence and unhesitating obedience give strength and joy beyond describing. Young Christians are often surprised at the expressions of experience made by older people. Some things are known only by continued endurance, and time is essential to their mastery. Long study alone is sufficient to unfold some meanings of Scripture. Age should bring increased stability. Complete, conscious giving of self without reserve to the pursuit of right and holding oneself to it will give increasing confidence in Christ and bring liberty of soul.

Faith, Not Fanaticism.

Christian faith is not credulity nor assent to things irrational and magical, but is the most sober, practical, common sense belief in things which commend themselves to reason as the only adequate basis of truth and right.

We believe in Jesus Christ as the most unique personality ever known among men. His complete mastery of the spiritual mysteries of human nature, His matchless self mastery, unbounded sympathy with suffering, absolute loyalty to right. His oneness with men in all their varied interests and experiences presents Him as the one person only who can be trusted to guide each of us to our highest and best.

We believe in Jesus Christ, soberly and earnestly, as the truly living one who now guides and rules the world of men as well as individuals who have the relation of special discipleship. The principles of righteousness which He laid down as laws for human conduct are dominant and ever have been in all affairs of nations and in the dealings of men with men everywhere. Right rules in spite of evil and wrong. Slowly but surely the world is lifting by the inner power and propulsion of the right, the perfect, the beautiful and good.

We believe in Jesus Christ as the one who has touched our own inner lives, made us see the glory of righteousness; love Him as its fullness, trust Him as imparting it to us and promising its future fullness to us.

Rally to the Work.

Vacation season is over. Now comes the most beautiful season of the whole year for work in many parts of the land. Plan to begin the fall campaign promptly. Hot weather and absence of many people from home have prevented vigorous and aggressive work during the summer. Cooler weather and increased vigor of mind and body should be utilized in League work. Have a "rally evening," with welcome home addresses, reminiscences of vacation days and plans of work for coming days. Collect arrearages of dues, get the reading course in shape, start anew the mercy and help visitation and relief work, enthuse with new life the prayer meeting, hunt up the newcomers to town and enlist them in the active work, fill up the empty seats at the preaching service, get the wheels a-going briskly for earnest, forward effort.

Unwise Seeking.

An old lady noted for her sour and crabbed disposition suddenly became the direct opposite. Asked the cause of the change, she said: "I have all my life been striving for a contented mind without getting it. Now I have concluded to sit down contented without it." She had at last learned that happiness never comes to those who search for it. Seek right, and if you succeed in being right you will be happy.

Our Worst Fault.

As Christians our worst failures come not from lack of knowledge of what to do and how to do it, not from lack of ability or opportunity. We know enough and are able enough to do much better than most of us do. Our lack is more one of disposition, selfishness, indolence, love of ease, amounting in some cases to sheer laziness and carelessness for others. Self denial is the sure cure.

HARRISON'S MURDER CASE.

How He Won One of the Few That Voorhees Ever Lost.

The scars are almost healed. The small boys of the Civil War period are growing gray, and Hoosiers who used to be afraid to go into Kentucky and Kentuckians who dared not cross into Indiana now "jug" for catfish from the same skiff and swap war lies and plug tobacco in perfect amity. The war must be over.

Ben Harrison's appearance in one of the greatest lawsuits in the world's history—the boundary dispute between Venezuela and Great Britain—is not his first celebre by any means. He may recall one in which he participated when he was twenty-five years younger than he is now, with Dan Voorhees as opposing counsel. He may remember it because it was one of the few murder cases Voorhees ever lost. The State of Indiana had found fault with one Bill Smith—that was not his name, but 'twill serve—because Bill had killed a farmer. It was a most unprovoked murder, for Bill and a party of roystering companions had stoned the farmer's house, and when he appeared without the moat to make physical protest they set upon him most savagely. He was stabbed to death with a jackknife in the hands of Smith. Harrison was called in to assist the Prosecuting Attorney. It was a great day at the county seat, and the courthouse was packed to witness the battle royal between the two giants of the forensic arena. Smith was a very unpromising candidate, for nature and a bad ancestry had made a low-browed degenerate of him to begin with, and his own efforts had not improved his makeup. While the witnesses were being examined he leered, grinned and spurted tobacco juice vigorously extracted from a quid which, from the swelling in his cheek seemed to be about the size of an ordinary egg of commerce. Voorhees, calling each juror by his first name—"Bill," "Jim" or "Jack," as was his wont—made a most impassioned plea for the young man, begging his twelve peers to "give him just one more chance." He rung the changes on that tent for three or four hours, and the more eloquent Voorhees became the more Smith grinned and expectorated.

When Voorhees had finished Harrison walked close up to the prisoner, regarded him most attentively for a length of time that seemed an hour to the jury and spectators, and an age to the culprit, and after he had finished his survey exclaimed in mock continuation of Voorhees's speech: "Yes: give him one more chance!" and the deadly sarcasm in his tone was like a thrust to the heart of the defendant. With malignant deliberateness Harrison sized the degenerate again for an interminable length of time, and the jury could not help doing the same. "Give him one more chance!" hissed the cold-blooded, cruel Harrison, and then the flaying began. If ever a man was verbally skinned alive that same Bill Smith was, and Voorhees acknowledged after the trial that his client's fate was sealed when Harrison first called the jury's attention to the prisoner's utterly depraved appearance and then sneered, "Give him one more chance!" Smith got twenty years, which Mr. Voorhees declared was a light sentence, considering all the circumstances.—Minneapolis News.

The Machine Gun.

Rapid-fire machine guns are in use in the United States army and have been employed against the Indians, the Spaniards and the Filipinos. It was the machine gun that enabled Lord Kitchener to cause such terrible slaughter in the ranks of the dervishes in the Soudan.

There is no more deadly weapon than this arm when it is skillfully handled against masses of troops within its range, either by steady aim, or, if pivoted, swept slowly through an arc of train "A buzz-saw of death," says one observer of its work; "it scouted the hill like a steam hose," says another; "the devil that spits bullets," the Swazis named it, and one of Lobengula's fighting indunas described its death-hail thus: "I led my men on, but saw them falling like cut corn. We then halted, knelt and fired, but still they fell. We lay down protected by our shields, but most of the remainder were killed. So I crawled away and fled." The machine gun will fire 700 shots a minute.

Helps the Doctor.

"Do you make much out of your apples?" asked the visitor.

"Oh, pretty considerable," answered the farmer, "but I've got a son up in the town who makes more out of the apples in a month than I make the whole season."

"A farmer, is he?"

"No, he's a doctor. I'm talking about green apples now."—Yonkers Statesman.

Break the News Gently.

Excitement is frequently the cause of strange telegrams, as well as of other strange manifestations. A man who had been one of the passengers on a shipwrecked vessel was rescued almost by a miracle. On arriving at a place from which he could send a telegraphic message he forwarded the following dispatch to his brother: "I am saved. Try to break it to my wife."—New York Tribune.

SHARKS NOW A FOOD

BUT NOT MANY WILL CARE TO EAT THEM.

Whale Meat is Also on the Market and Much Other Material is Now Put to Use Which Formerly Went to Waste.

The notion of making "meat extracts" on a commercial scale from the flesh of sharks and whales is so extremely novel that exceptional interest attaches to a study which the United States Fish Commission has been making of this subject. Several factories have recently been established in Europe for this purpose and already their products are coming on the market in an appetizing shape. Indeed, it is asserted that in taste they closely resemble the well-known beef preparations, have no flavor of fish whatever and they afford an excellent basis for soups. In Aberdeen the Normal Company is utilizing in this way large quantities of whale meat which hitherto has gone to waste.

In Sweden they are making nutritious extracts from sharks' flesh, which is chopped up into very small pieces and stirred in a vat with distilled water, the mixture having the consistency of thin gruel. From it the liquor is drawn off, and the oil which the latter contains is removed by passing it through a centrifugal apparatus, after which it is boiled and filtered, the clear fluid thus obtained being evaporated in a vacuum until it reaches the consistency of molasses. Salt for flavoring and sugar for preserving are added, the product being put up finally in sealed jars.

Similar methods are employed in the manufacture of whalement extracts, which are said to be indistinguishable from those of Liebig. Of course a whale is as much a mammal as an ox, which may be supposed to modify the problem, but there does not seem to be any great difference between flesh and fish in respect to chemical composition, and the concentrated essence of shark packed in porcelain pots is to all intents and purposes meatstuff. It has all the aromtic flavor of meat extract and can be made much more cheaply. At a certain point in the process of extraction all fishy flavor disappears. Shark extract is available for all purposes that beef extract is good for and it will "keep" indefinitely.

It has been ascertained that valuable extracts can be obtained also from crabs and shellfish, in the manufacture of which special effort is made not to get rid of the natural flavors, but to retain them. Already there are on the market of this country quite a number of such preparations from clams and oysters, highly recommended by physicians for their medicinal and restorative powers, which render them invaluable for invalids and convalescents. These extracts are produced by reducing the mollusks to a fine hash and subjecting the latter to pressure, the liquid thus separated being evaporated to a semisolid, rich in nutriment, easily digested, and a valuable tonic for a weak stomach.

The juice of oysters and clams, which in the "shucking houses" is usually drained off and thrown away, is put up in similar fashion, after being concentrated by evaporation. Sometimes it is reduced to a solid form and pressed into cakes, a two ounce tablet containing the nutritive ingredients of four quarts of fresh oyster juice. Such a tablet, with the addition of four quarts of boiling water, is guaranteed to yield a gallon of real oyster soup, to which, if desired, a few of the natural mollusks fresh from the shell may be added for verisimilitude.

Extracts in large quantities are made from solft clams at several points on the Massachusetts coast, the surplus liquor from shucking-houses furnishing the raw material. One use to which these preparations are put is in the making of "instantaneous" hot clam broths by dispensers of intemperate drinks.

Other brands of clam extracts are obtained from "round" or hard clams, which are prepared as a by-product incidentally to the canning of these mollusks. The latter are opened with a knife and the "meats" are mixed with the disks of white potatoes, onions and other vegetables, to make chowder, the product being put up in cans. Meanwhile the waste liquor, condensed by evaporation, is poured into glass jars, which are hermetically sealed, and in this shape it comes to market. A tablespoonful is sufficient, with hot water added, to make a cup of broth.

The greatest value of these new ideas lies in the fact that they make use of food materials hitherto regarded as waste. Until very recently the eggs of fish were mostly thrown away, but now they are utilized in a variety of valuable ways. Sturgeon eggs are salted in brine, to be sold under the name of caviare, and it will probably astonish most persons to learn that 800,000 pounds of this product, worth $1,800,000, are put up annually in the United States. Mullet roes are salted or pickled all along the Atlantic shore from North Carolina to Florida, and the Indians of the northwest coast dry large quantities of eggs of various fishes, the product being held over until winter, when it is pounded between stones and beaten with water to a cream, or else boiled with dried berries and molded in wooden frames into cakes a foot square and an inch thick.

Caviare is made from sturgeon eggs, salted in brine. It is the most costly product of the fisheries of this country, and while largely relished by epicures, a taste for it must naturally be acquired. Until recently its manufacture was monopolized by the Russians, most of it being prepared on the Volga River and Caspian Sea, and at the present time about 8,000,000 pounds of it are exported annually from the dominions of the Czar. The abundance of sturgeon in the United States led to the preparation of the caviare on the Hudson River as early as 1850. Much secrecy attached in these days to the process of its manufacture, and as much as $500 was sometimes paid for instructions in the method. At the present time, on acount of the high price at which the article sells—50 cents to 75 cents a pound—every locality in American waters where sturgeons abound is being vigorously fished, and on the Delaware female sturgeon sell for $10 each, while as much as $50 is sometimes obtained for a single roe fish.

IVORY SOAP PASTE.

In fifteen minutes, with only a cake of Ivory Soap and water, you can make a better cleansing paste than you can buy.

Ivory Soap Paste will take spots from clothing; and will clean carpets, rugs, kid gloves, slippers, patent, enamel, russet leather and canvas shoes, leather belts, painted wood-work and furniture. The special value of Ivory Soap in this form arises from the fact that it can be used with a damp sponge or cloth to cleanse many articles that cannot be washed because they will not stand the free application of water.

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING.—To one pint of boiling water add one and one-half ounces (one-quarter of the small size cake) of Ivory Soap cut into shavings, boil five minutes after the soap is thoroughly dissolved. Remove from the fire and cool in convenient dishes (not tin). It will keep well in an air-tight glass jar. COPYRIGHT 1898 BY THE PROCTER & GAMBLE CO. CINCINNATI

GOLF.

There will he play for the Reinhart Cup on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds tomorrow afternoon, and there will also be a match game betwen the home team and one from the Morristown Field Club.

If the period of fair, cool weather continues tomorrow there will be a big turnout on the links of the Park Golf Club in the afternoon. Those who did not care to brave the hot weather to enjoy the game are anxious to take advantage of the bracing fall air and will add to the list of competitors for the McCutchen cup. The golfers who have been out for the weekly competitions, rain or shine, hot or cold, will be on hand and some good playing is promised.

Green keeper Barrie, of the Park Golf Club links, is hard at work resodding the putting green at the second hole. The green will be leveled and the old rolling surface done away with. The greens committee has had the improvement under consideration for some time. Most of the other greens will receive similar treatment. One of the chief faults of the course has been the fact that the putting greens were not perfectly flat. While they were kept in good condition such a state of affairs was bound to make very accurate putting impossible. The fair greens are in excellent shape, and with the proposed improvement to the others the course will be an excellent one, indeed.

ROD AND GUN.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more, than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. STRAP BROKE, HORSE KICKED.

And as a Result of the Combination the Big Was Put Out of Use.

The horse and wagon belonging to Marsh, Ayers & Co., is out of use today owing to a break down yesterday. The rig was in charge of Albert Marsh, who was driving west on Front street. A strap broke, allowing the shafts to strike the horse, causing him to run away. The animal kicked vigorously and wrecked the wagon to a considerable extent. Mr. Marsh lost control of the animal and rather than run the risk of losing his life he jumped from the wagon. A few minutes later the rig collided with a farm wagon and was totally wrecked. The horse fell down and was cut to such an extent that he cannot now be used for several day.

DEATH OF MRS. HOPE.

She Had Been Ill for a Long Time—Member of First Methodist Church.

The death of Mrs. Mary S. Hope, wife of Stephen R. Hope, 353 East Third street, occurred yesterday afternoon after a long and very painful illness. Mrs. Hope was 67 years of age, and has lived in this city for many years. She was a woman of sterling character and had a great many friends. Both she and her husband attended the First M. E. church, but Mrs. Hope has been unable to leave the house for many months.

The funeral services will be held from the residence, 353 East Third street, Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

STOPPED UP THE KEYHOLE.

Mischevious Boys' Trick Kept Lawyer Newcorn Out of His Office.

Some mischevious boys have been enjoying themselves at the expense of Lawyer Newcorn by filling the keyhole of his office door with pieces of matches. Until the appearance of his humble clerk the Judge was compelled to transact business in the hallway. When the clerk put in an appearance he was requested to enter the office through a front window which he did. Counsellor Newcorn and his clerk with difficulty extracted the pieces of matches.

Mrs. Gilmore and daughter, Miss Lulu Gilmore, of West Second street, left this morning for New York where they will visit for a short time.

Patrick Lynch, of West Second street, will return Sunday from his two weeks' vacation. During his absence his place as watchman at the banking place of Harvey Fisk & Sons, New York, has been filled by Jeremiah Cash, of this city.

RESOURCEFUL ENGINEERS.

Qualities Exhibited by a Corps of Electricians in an Emergency.

It has been stated that one of the leading qualities exhibited by electrical engineers during the war was readiness of resource. This is well illustrated in a story told by one of the officers of the corps. There was a good deal of uneasiness about that time around Boston, as no one knew but that the Spanish fleet was sailing straight for the city, and shells might be flying within twenty-four hours. On Saturday morning orders came down to a squad of engineers to set up before night a complete isolated plant for searchlight work on one of the fortifications in the harbor. The men in charge of getting the boiler down the bay could get no suitable boat anywhere, so they simply plugged the holes in the boiler, rolled it off the pier, hitched it to a tug, and towed it down the harbor, kept afloat by the air inside it. The men who had to take down the engine and dynomo managed to get their machines landed, but there they waited, with apparently no prospect of going further. On the whole island there was only one truck strong enough to carry the machines from the dock to the fort, and that was in charge of an Irishman in the employ of the city of Boston, who doggedly maintained that he took no orders except from the city officials, and the authority of the United States government was nothing to him. It was already late in the afternoon, and there was no possibility of reaching the office of the authorities in time to secure the permit. The men simply took the driver to their barracks, got him dead drunk and did their own driving. And the searchlight shone down the bay that night.

WHO WILL TEACH IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Corps of Instructors in Plainfield Public Schools.

FEW CHANGES IN THE LIST.

THE SCHOOLS ARE STILL CROWDED WITH PUPILS.

Formation of New Classes Relieved Overcrowding Somewhat, But Rooms Are Still Accommodating More Than the Intended Number—List of Teachers at Public Shools in the City.

The first week of school at the Plainfield public schools is over. Monday the work will be resumed with the usual regularity. The arrangement of new classes has relieved the overcrowding of many of the classes that interfered with the best results last year. The increase in the attendance still makes the size of some of the lower grades larger than the accommodations were intended.

There are several changes in the corps of instructors throughout the entire system of schools. Under the general direction of H. M. Maxson, superintendent of schools, the teachers have made the local system one of the best in the State. The teachers in the different schools are as follows:

High School—Ira W. Travell, principal; Ellen E. Niles, Ellen K. Cuming, Alice M. Whitney, S. Lena Bass, A. B. Meredith, Geo. W. Sanford, Anna J. Bennett, Chas. L. Lewis, Mabel A. Maxson.

Stillman grammar—Carrie B. Runyon, M Elizabeth Benedict.

Whittier School — Anna M. Day, principal; Alice W. Lansing, Lena Tomlinson, Flora Griffin, Elizabeth E. Mors, Anna E. Manktelow, Eleanor T. Wilber.

Franklin School—Noel J. Bullock, principal; Jennie E. Davies, Mabel Mitchell, Charlotte C. Morrill, Emma Force, Clara J. Churton, Edith Gilbert, Lottie B. Strong, Minnie B. McMaston, Madge L. Sutphen, Caroline A. Barber, Edith R. Bond.

Washington School—M. E. Humpston, principal; Anna W. Booraem, Jennie Owen, S. Louise Wood, Margaret R. Cory, Charlotte E. Tennant, Lillian T. Glen.

Bryant School—Emma V. Shattuck, principal; Kate A. Romer, Ariadne Gilbert, Harriet Baker, Mary A. Cowles, Jessie Brown, Clara Ticknor, E. May Tennant, Emma M. Starr, Louise B. Runyon, Cora F. Cadmus.

Irving School—Genevieve Petrie, principal; Anna W. Watson, Grace O. Teller, Eliz. W. Reynolds, Lottie W. Stillman, Lucia N. Wood, Charlotte M. Beekman, Alice A. Lee, Hattie Filmer, Lucy L. Brown, Mary M. Griswold, Cora M. Perry, Ada H. Clark, Susie Davies.

Lincoln School—Anna S. Coyle, Alice Miller, Nancy M. Thomas, Agnes B. Freeman, Elizabeth T. Angell.

TO CONDEMN KEAN'S LAND.

Park Commissioners Object to the Price Asked by the Senator.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Orange, N. J., Sept. 16.—Condemnation proceedings shortly will be instituted by the Essex county park commission against property on the side of the Orange Mountains, in West Orange, owned by Senator John Kean, which the commissioners wish to obtain as a part of the big South mountain Park reservation. The property in question consists of about thirty acres of rocky ground at the foot of Second mountain, and the commissioners are anxious to obtain the tract to prevent undesirable use of property on the near confines of the park.

Condemnation proceedings have been made necessary in the case by Senator Kean's refusal to sell the land to the commission at the price which they offer.

Tickets for Export Exposition.

In connection with the National Export Exposition the Central Railroad Company will sell tickets at reduced rates from Plainfield to Philadelphia. The exposition opened in Philadelphia yesterday and will continue until November 30th, and tickets can now be purchased good for return until December 4th inclusive. The fare for the round trip, including admission to the exposition, is $3 05.

COAL DUST AND FLOUR.

THEY MIXED AND NOW FIGURE IN COURT.

This Grievance Miller John Otto Has Against Coal Dealer Abner S. Coriell is Back of Railroad Suit in New Market.

It has developed that a neighbor's quarrel is at the bottom of the ejectment suit between Mary Otto, of New Market, and the Easton and Amboy Railroad Company, which has been on trial before Justice Collins at the Middlesex county courthouse for the past two days.

Although Mrs. Otto is the plaintiff she does not appear in the suit, her husband, John Otto, looking after her interests. The railroad is the defendant, but the sut is practically against Abner S. Coriell, who occupies the piece of land in dispute with the consent of the railroad. The case was decidedly dry until the defense was reached.

It seems soon after the railroad gained possession of property at New Market they erected coal chutes on the place now in dispute for Mr. Coriell, and built a siding from the main line to his coal dumps. Some distance away, along a dam, Mr. Otto had a grist mill.

In 1897 these two men quarreled about the coal dust from Mr. Coriell's coal yard interfering with the manufacture of flour at his grist mill. Then it was the suit was started, after the railroad had held undisputed possession for a score and more of years.

The witnesses for the plaintiff were Robert A. Meeker, the civil engineer, John Otto, William J. Nelson and J. Y. Rupel. The defense swore Architect Eugene H. Shipman, Harry M. Herbert and Robert M. Lowrie yesterday. The latter was eighty-five years old, and was called to give the history of an old race way. Adrain Vermeule told of the building of four bridges over the brook in the centre of which was the southeast corner of the land disputed.

After a recess of an hour, the court reconvened at 2 o'clock. The counsel summed up and the case was given to the jury at 4:30 o'clock. The jury brought in a verdict for the railroad company, declaring that Mrs. Otto had failed to prove her claim.

UNION COUNTY BAR GROUP.

Pictures of the Members of the Legal Profession in Heliotype Reproduction.

Among the members of the Union county bar are a number of prominent men. The photographs of most of the members of the bar in this county have been collected by J. H. DeLamera, and grouped in one. The Daily Press has just received a copy of this new plate, a heliotype reproduction, which will soon occupy a prominent place in the editorial rooms. The likenesses are excellent, and include those of twenty-four lawyers from Plainfield and vicinity. The collection will be a valuable one in time, as it includes Governor Voorhees, Chief Justice Magie, U. S. Senator Kean, State Senator Cross and the other leading lawyers of Union county.

NEW RED MEN'S TRIBE.

Miantonomo's Degree Team to Organize South Plainfield Lodge.

The degree team of Miantonomo Tribe, I. O. R. M., will go to South Plainfield next Monday evening and organize a new tribe of Red Men. The Tribe has a charter list of thirty-five members. District Deputy William A. Westphal has been working on the new organization and is greatly pleased with the success attained. A large delegation of Red Men from both Plainfield tribes will go to South Plainfield and assist in the organization. The affair will be held in the town hall at that place.

OVER THE BARS HE WENT.

Scotch Plains Bicycle Rider Met With Accident on Watchung Avenue.

Harvey Marsh, of Scotch Plains, had a narrow escape yesterday afternoon from serious injury while riding his wheel on Watchung avenue. He was on his way home and was turning into East Front street when the wheel slipped and Mr. Marsh went over the handle bars. He was severely scratched and bruised about the body, and his wheel was damaged to a considerable extent. Mr. Marsh attributes the accident to the trolley car tracks. He was obliged to secure other means with which to continue his journey homeward.

WHEN DEWEY COMES.

PLAINFIELDERS WILL BE NOTIFIED IN VERY QUICK TIME.

The Mayor Will Order the Fire Alarm Whistle to be Blown, and Cannons Will Thunder the Patriotic News to All.

Through the telegraphic service which the enterprise of the New York World will furnish, all Plainfielders will be apprised at the earliest possible moment of the arrival of Admiral Dewey and his brave jack tars in the lower bay of New York.

It is the purpose of the big metropolitan newspaper to notify every county seat and big town in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut by wire of the arrival of the hero of Manila, and in connection with this Mayor Rockfellow this morning agreed to order the blowing of the fire alarm whistle in this city as soon as the news is received.

In this way people for miles around will be able to know the home coming of Dewey and his men in a very few minutes after the actual time they are sighted at Fire Island. It will be a moment in which the thrill of patriotism will course through every vein of every citizen of the United States.

In addition to the blowing of the fire alarm The Daily Press has also made arrangements to fire the National salute of seventeen guns from the cannon owned by the Democratic Association on the plaza opposite the North Avenue station of the Central Railroad. Thus there will not only be the spreading of the news by the far-reaching tone of the whistle, but there will be also an echoing sentiment in the thunder of the cannon doing honor to the man who is now most in the public eye and appreciation.

Hundreds of towns and cities have already agreed to accept the World's patriotic service in this respect, and in the demonstration that will be made Plainfield will not be among the least of them.

MOVED IN WRONG HOUSE.

Strange Mistake Made by Hampton Probasco in Trying to Settle in a Home.

Hampton Probasco, a middle-aged colored man, applied to Justice Nash this morning for a warrant for the arrest of a well-known lawyer, who he alleged had threatened to evict him from the house he was occupying on West Third street.

Probasco told an amusing story of having lived in one of the Hetfield houses. By mistake he had moved into a house which is in charge of L. M. French, where he had lived for a month. One evening, while he was absent at prayer meeting, his wife, having been told of her mistake, made preparations to move around the corner into a house owned by Walter L. Hetfield. When Probasco got home he found all the beds down and the furniture piled into a heap, while his wife and a friend were engaged in moving into the "little house around the corner."

Now Mr. Hetfield wants his rent. Probasco went to Justice Mosher and offered to pay part of the rent, but that was not satisfactory, and now he has been threatened with ejectment.

What Probasco can't understand is how they can compel him to pay twice.

It is unnecessary to say that his application for a warrant was refused.

He left Justice Nash's court in high dudgeon threatening to go to Elizabeth, "where de high courts was made," and get a warrant.

TO PROTECT LOCAL JEHUS.

Somerville Will Tax Hackmen as Well as Peddlers and Circuses.

The Board of Town Commissioners of Somerville has an ordinance under consideration for the licensing and regulating of hacks, which has been discussed for several years. The local liverymen have insisted on such an ordinance as a protection to them against the invasion of foreign hackmen in times of county fairs and other such events when the liverymen can reap a harvest. The proposed ordinance provides a license fee of $6 a year for four-horse vehicles; $4 for two-horse vehicles, and $2 for one-horse. There is also an ordinance regulating street venders. This fixes the license fee for peddlers with wagons at $5 a day, and for peddlers on foot at $1. Circuses will be obliged to pay $50 a day, and the performers are made equally liable with the proprietors for the violation of the ordinance.

A Still Alarm of Fire.

There was a still alarm of fire last evening at 5:45 o'clock at the home of John Apgar, 213 Richmond street. The fire was discovered in the chimney, and a small extinguisher quickly put it out. No. 2 hose wagon responded to the call. The damage was very slight.

HEIRESS TO THE MISSING GOULD CASH.

Found to be an Inmate of a Charitable Institution.

WILLIAM GOULD'S SISTER.

TALKS TO A REPORTER ABOUT HER ECCENTRIC BROTHER

Had Never Considered Her Brother a Miser and Was Surprised to Learn That He Left Considerable Money—Had Seen Her Brother But Twice Since He Left Home at the Age of Eighteen Years

Lawyer Harry C. Runyon has received from Mr. A. H. Morton, of Chicago, the nephew of William Gould, the eccentric hermit who died at Bayville nearly two years ago, copies of the Manchester (N. H.) Union, in which is published a short story about Miss Mahaley Gould, the dead hermit's sister. It says:

"Miss Mary A. D. Allison called at the Union office and stated that a year ago there was a Mahaley Gould at the Woman's Aid Home. Mrs. Allison remembered that Miss Gould had called on her and she thought that she was alive and well.

"Acting on the suggestion a Union reporter called at the institution and had the pleasure of meeting Mahaley Gould, the much-sought woman. She is 75 years of age, and, barring rheumatic troubles at certain seasons of the year, enjoys good health for one of her years. Miss Gould talked freely in regard to the reported legacy and her brother's position in life.

"When he died in November, 1897, William Gould was 88 years of age. She had seen her brother but twice since he left home at the age of 18. Miss Gould was but 4 years old at that time. He was a stone mason by trade and in his early years worked on the railroad, helping to lay the first line in the United States. He visited home when Mahaley was 11 years old and again when 20. That was the last time she ever saw him, although they corresponded regularly up to the time of his death.

"Her brother, William Gould, she said, was early married and for fifty years lived with his wife in Plainfield, N. J. He later moved to Barnegat Park, where she supposed he died. A few years ago Miss Gould learned that her brother was married a second time, but does not know whether this is true or not.

"Concerning the money reported to be left Mahaley Gould knows little, but does not believe it was any great amount. William Gould was never a miserly man, she said. She expects that her nephew will make a thorough investigation and straighten matters out satisfactorily. Miss Gould is at present comfortably situated, but says that a little money would be greatly appreciated in her old age."

Mr. Runyon is vigorously prosecuting the search for the old man's hidden money, which is believed to be at least $8,000. Mr. Morton of Chicago has instructed him to use every endeavor to secure if possible a strong box, which is in the possession of the woman he married for his second wife, and which is believed to contain valuable papers that will throw some light on the whereabouts of the missing cash. Further developments are expected at an early date.

To Teach Music.

William Henry Miller, organist and musical director at the First Presbyterian church, will receive a limited number of pupils after Sept. 15th. Mr. Miller has been identified with the musical interests of Boston and other New England centers for several years, having been connected with the Boston Conservatory of Music and a private teacher there also. His time will be divided between his studio at The Sherwood, New York, and this city. For particulars see ad.

Home From Their Cruise.

THE BRYAN GAUNTLET.

CONGRESSMAN DALY MAKES THE ISSUE IN NEW JERSEY.

Soon Will Issue an Address—Jersey Democrats Will Be Asked to Send a Bryan Delegation to the Convention.

The New Jersey Committee of Bryan Democrats held a secret meeting in the Ridgway House, Philadelphia, Thursday night. Wm. F. Morgan, of Burlington county, presided. Others present were Congressman William D. Daly, of Hoboken; Clarence Atkinson, and John J. Crandall, of Camden; Charles Stokes, of Beverly; Theodore Budd, of Pemberton; August Schwabenland, of Riverside; A. S. Dulin, of Moorestown; Robert M. Brock, of Riverside, and Allan Brensby, of Merchantville.

Congressman Daly was the only Hudson county man present. J. F. Minturn, of Hoboken, also on the committee, sent a letter regretting that he could not attend.

Congressman Daly submitted the draft of a proposed address to New Jersey Democrats. It calls on them to support W. J. Bryan for the Presidency and to endeavor to secure the election of delegates to the National Convention that will vote for the nomination of the Nebraskan.

The address, it is understood, calls on those members of the Democratic State Committee who are opposed to Bryan to retire and make way for straight Bryan men.

The proposed address favors the Chicago platform and also indorses Bryan's views in favor of the election of United States Senators by a popular vote, an income tax and the regulation of trusts by the Federal authorities. It does not mention silver specifically.

The address was approved, and it will be put into formal shape and issued probably next week.

That part of the address which calls on anti-Bryan members of the State committee to resign is said to be a slap at the present State Chairman, William B. Gourley.

Congressman Daly could not be seen last night. He had left for Syracuse.

DEATH OF N. H. JEROLOMAN.

A Partner of the Late David Demarest, Who Died Several Months Ago.

Nicholas Henry Jeroloman, aged seventy-six years, of East Orange, a brother in-law of P. M. Demarest, of Craig place, died yesterday morning at his home after an illness covering a period of six months. He was a member of the firm of Jeroloman & Demarest, which was one of the oldest firms in New York. About a year ago his late partner, David Demarest, died at his home on Crescent avenue. The firm passed out of business several months ago. Mr. Jeroloman was born at Bellville, this State, while P. M. Demarest was born at Passaic. When the two were boys they used to play together. The funeral will be held tomorrow from his late residence at East Orange.

WILL JOIN THE CHORUS.

Many Signify Their Willingness to Help Produce "The Messiah."

Nelson Runyon, secretary of the committee that is arranging to give "The Messah" at Christmas time, has received many replies to the notice he sent out inviting local singers to take part in the concert. The answers he has received are very satisfactory. There are still some to whom the notices were sent that have not yet made any reply. Mr. Runyon is anxious to hear from them as soon as possible as the time to organize the chorus is near at hand.

Building a County Bridge.

The authorities of Somerset county are having a bridge constructed across Stony brook near Grove street. The bridge will have stone abutments and iron trusses.

New Standpipe Nearly Finished

The new standpipe being erected on the mountains by the Plainfield Water Supply Company will probably be completed the last of next week.

TIPPLING AT THE BEACH.

ALLEGED VIOLATION OF LIQUOR LAWS AT BOYNTON'S RESORT.

The Proprietor Disclaims All Knowledge of the Fact, But Prosecutor Voorhees Has Laid the Matter Before the Jury.

Prosecutor Voorhees, of New Brunswick, is busy gathering evidence to submit to the Grand Jury regarding the selling of intoxicating drinks at Boynton Beach. This has been a favorite picnic ground for Sunday-school excursions all through New Jersey, Staten Island and New York, because it was supposed no intoxicating liquors were sold there. All through the grounds, posted in conspicuous places, are signs reading, "No intoxicating beverages will ever be sold on these premises."

Frequently during the early part of the season several cases of intoxication were noticed, and it soon became apparent that beer was not far away. Nothing could be found out definitely. The parties interested were extremely cautious and only those who "knew the ropes" could get anything.

During the latter part of the season it is said that the business was carried on so openly that all those who frequented the beach knew of it. C. W. Boynton, proprietor of the beach, disclaimed any knowledge of it whatever. Mr. Boynton has always been connected with the Prohibition party and identified with a local temperance society, and as soon as he learned of the report he posted signs around the grounds offering $25 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons found selling intoxicating beverages on his premises. Mr. Boynton's house is but a few yards from the building in which the beer was sold. No arrests have been made, but the case will come before the Grand Jury as soon as Prosecutor Voorhees has finished gathering evidence.

LITTLE MISS POPE'S BIG DAY.

Her Fourth Birthday Anniversary Marked by a Happy Gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Pope's little daughter Beatrice was four years old yesterday, and in honor of the happy event they gave her a birthday party in the afternoon. The young friends of the celebrant were invited to the house where every arrangement had been made for an enjoyable time. After the young hostess had received her guests all joined in playing games. During the latter part of the afternoon a repast was served to the guests. Before dark all had left for their homes, wishing their friend many happy returns of the day. Little Miss Pope received a number of very pretty and useful presents from her friends for which she was very thankful. A feature of the event was the table decorations on the dining table. It was arranged by Mrs. Pope, and was very attractive.

What the Sheriff Says.

Sheriff Selah Schoonmaker, of Somerville, was in the borough today looking after the county's interests in the murder case of Paul Roehricht. Mr. Schoonmaker informed a Press reporter that the case would be called this month. Court will open on Tuesday, September 26th.

Inquest to be Held Next Week.

The inquest to inquire into the death of Mrs. Martin, who was killed on the Springfield road a few days ago by colliding with a wagon in which was seated Charles MacMurray, of Westfield, will be held at the town hall, Springfield, next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

May Observe Dewey Day.

Some of the local grocers are considering the advisability of giving their clerks a holiday Friday, September 29th, at the time of the Dewey celebration. Many of the business men have agreed to take such action if their competitors will also agree to close.

Young Western Man to Preach.

Rev. R. B. MacHatton, of Pittsburg, Pa., will preach in Trinity Reformed church tomorrow morning and evening. Mr. MacHatton is a young Presbyterian minister and a very able speaker.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement is announced of Miss Estelle Hopson, of Paterson, to Walter S. Gibson, formerly of this city, but now with C. R. Newman Electric Construction Company, of Passaic.

To Address Bible Class.

R. M. Honeyman, of Somerville, who makes a specialty of inductive Bible study, will address the Y. M. C. A. Bible class and other men interested at the Association building at 9:30 a m.

Change of Hour for Sunday-school.

The Sunday-school of Trinity Reformed church will meet at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, instead of 9:30 o'clock as during the summer.

MRS FINGERHUTH IS LONELY IN HER CELL.

Does Not Realize Seriousness of Charge Against Her.

EXPECTED TO BE RELEASED.

IS THE ONLY PRISONER IN WOMEN'S WARD AT SOMERVILLE JAIL.

No New Developments Have Appeared in the Case—Prosecutor Dungan Says That Facts That Come to Him Do Not Differ From the Stories Already Told—Injustice Done Lawyer DeMeza.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 16—No new developments have appeared in the Roehricht murder case. Mrs. Henrietta Fingerhuth, who is charged with the crime, and her son, Oscar Fingerhuth, who is named as an accessory, are both in the county jail, awaiting the action of the Grand Jury. The Grand Jury has been empanelled for Sept. 26th, and the charges against the Fingerhuths will be among the first to be investigated. As this is the long term, there is a large batch of cases to be brought before the Grand Jury, but none so serious as that of the Fingerhuths.

Mrs. Fingerhuth is lonely. So the officers at the county jail say. Like other women Mrs. Fingerhuth likes to talk. Her lawyers have carefully instructed her to say nothing about the shooting and so she is compelled to find some other topic of conversation. But she hasn't anyone to talk too except when the Sheriff or his deputy visit the women's ward on their rounds. There is no other woman locked up in the county jail and Mrs. Fingerhuth has the entire ward to herself. During the day she has the freedom of the corridor but at night is confined in one of the cells.

Deputy Sheriff John Anderson is in charge of the jail most of the time and he has done his best to treat the woman kindly. She is furnished with old exchanges from one of the local newspaper offices but is not allowed to see any of the papers that tell anything of the shooting. She spends much of her time reading.

Mrs. Fingerhuth was locked up late Tuesday night, the day of the shooting. She expected to be released next day and evidently did not realize the seriousness of the crime that was lodged at her door. She asked Deputy Sheriff Anderson many times Wednesday when she was to be released. It was lonely in the jail and she wanted to get back to the farm and look after the poultry and the pets. Thursday she confidently expected to be released. Thursday afternoon her lawyers, Councilman Walter L. Hetfield and William G. DeMeza, were with her for an hour. Since then she has said nothing of the time when her release was coming.

Mrs. Fingerhuth has shown no signs of agitation since her confinement in the county jail. She has partaken of the regular prison fare with evident relish and, as far as the authorities know, has slept well at night.

Her son is confined in a ward apart from the regular prisoners which has been used for the confinement of murderers and other important prisoners in the past. It is on the second floor, near the women's ward. Only a brick wall separates mother and son. He is the only prisioner in the ward. He is only locked in the cell at night.

Regarding the alleged statement made by Mrs. Fingerhuth, Prosecutor Nelson Y. Dungan said that no such statement had been made. Mrs. Fingerhuth had made a statement under oath but it was secret and no reporters had been allowed to see her.

A Press reporter saw Mr. Dungan yesterday afternoon and he said:

"All the stories that come to me as to the actual occurrence practically agree with the story of the shooting as already told. An injustice has been done to Lawyer DeMeza in quoting him as having advised Mrs. Fingerhuth to shoot. I haven't heard anything that would warrant such a statement."

Such a statement coming from the Prosecutor, who is DeMeza's legal opponent in the case, carries more weight that any other denial of the rumor that DeMeza told her to shoot that could be made. The Daily Press published a denial from DeMeza yesterday.

Won the Assessment Prize.

At last evening's meeting of Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., Mr. Maier won the assessment prize. The members amused themselves in pitching quoits and several exciting contests were had.

GEN. OTIS WANTS OFFICERS

Commander in the Philippines Cables For Additions to His Staff.

MEN WILL BE FURNISHED.

Heads of Departments at Washington Asked to Designate Names For Appointment.

Why the Philippine Commissioners Were Recalled—President Needs Reports to be Used in His Message to Congress—Public Execution Favored by Otis.

Wahington, Sept. 16.—Gen. Otis has cabled to the War Department for additional staff officers. He asks for one judge advocate general, two assistant adjutant generals, two inspector generals, eight quartermasters, nine commissaries of subsistence and two engineer officers.

The adjutant general has called on the heads of the different bureaus to designate officers for the duty. The importance of Gen. Otis's request is recognized, and the necessity of having all the officers he asks for at Manila before the next active campaign is begun is acknowledged.

It is said at the War Department that the recall of Col. Denby and Prof. Worcester of the Philippine commission from Manila was ordered that they might advise the resident respecting the latest aspect of affairs in the islands. He desires to use the information in his message to congress. It is said that the advice brought by President Schurman, Senator Beveridge and other persons from Manila are not in strict accord at all points, though the itmes on which they differ are not known beyond the White House, and it is added that as Admiral Dewey is nearing the United States an opportunity to have a meeting of the full commission, of which he is a member, is one that should not be lost, as a report from it might be expected to sum up the work done and be of great value to congress in its efforts to legislate for the islands.

No official statement can be obtained as to the future of the commission, but it is not probable that it will return to the islands, at least not without a considerable change in personnel.

The recall of Col. Denby and Prof. Worcester leaves Gen. Otis the sole representative of the commission in the Philippines.

Railroad in British Honduras.

Washington, Sept. 16.—During the last twenty years there have been several definite proposals, Consul Avery writes to the State Department from Belize, for building a railroad in British Honduras from Belize to the eastern frontier of Guatemala, thus opening up the immense forests in the province of Peton. The persistent efforts of the Governor of the Colony, Sir David Wilson, have at last promised success.

The Government has received a despatch from the British Secretary of State for the Colonies, submitting a proposal from R. W. Perks, M. P., who will undertake the construction of the road. If the road is built it is generally believed that the most remarkable results will accrue for the prosperity of the Colony, as the region through which it will pass is extemely rich in natural resources.

Revenue Receipts in Manila.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The receipts of the Internal Revenue Department at Manila for July were, according to a statement just made by the War Department, $106,327; divided as follows: Industrial taxes, $72,768; urban taxes, $24,815, issuance of personal certificates, $338; sale of internal revenue stamps, $8,202; issuance of Chinese certificates, $104. Total internal receipts since the date of occupation, $402,063. The receipts in Cuba for the month of August from all sources aggregated $1,557,970, divided as follows: Customs, $1,391,405; postal revenues, $18,000; internal revenue receipts, $98,216; miscellaneous, $50,349.

Otis Favors Public Execution.

Manila, Sept. 16.—The local newspapers assert that Corporal Damhoffer and Private Conine of Company B, Sixteenth Infantry, have been sentenced to death by court martial, and that Private McBennett has been condemned to twenty years' imprisonment for having assaulted native women in Manila a month ago. The crime, it is said, greatly aroused the natives.

The newspapers add that Gen. Otis has recommended that President McKinley approve the sentences and that the general desires a public execution of the sentence as a warning against a repetition of the crime.

Crops Destroyed by Frost.

Patchogue, L. I., Sept. 16.—The unlooked-for cold snap and the frost of the last few nights have destroyed the fruit and grain crops in the interior of Long Island, and the farmers will lose heavily in consequence. The fruit on the trees for fall packing is reported to be a total loss. The local weather forecasters predict a long cold winter.

First Snow of the Season.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The first snow of the season fell Friday at McCullom's, Franklin County, near Paul Smith's. The snowstorm didn't last very long, but it fell steadily for the time and covered the ground completely.

Many Cases of Typhoid at Madrid.

Madrid, Sept. 16.—Fifty-nine cases of typhoid fever are reported here. Since the outbreak of the disease the proportion of cases resulting fatally has been small.

Cnanges in British Embassy.

London, Sept. 16.—G. Lowtler, British consul at Budapest, has been appointed secretary of the British embassy at Washington.

REVOLUTIONISTS GAINING.

Venezuelan Government Forces Suffer Two Severe Defeats.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 16.—Advices from La Guayra, report that the Venezuelan revolution under the leadership of General Cipriano Casto is assuming overwhelming proportions, in spite of the wholesale imprisonment of political personages known to be implicated in or who are suspected of complicity in the movement against the government and who have been unable to reach the insurgents' lines.

The government has been endeavoring to prevent the news from reaching the ports, but it was understood at La Guayra that President Andrade would change the composition of his Cabinet and proceed to take command of the government troops, which had sustained two severe defeats, losing quantities of munitions of war, camp equipments and prisoners, suggesting the desertion of the government troops and collusion upon the part of the government generals with the insurgent forces.

The populace of Caracas and La Guayra is apathetic, but the whole interior is reported to be rising behind the banner of the revolution.

The government of Venezuela has one small steamer, carrying light guns, for guarding the coast.

Fishermen Accused as Wreckers.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 16.—Six men are under arrest at Guysboro, charged with wrecking vessels and defrauding insurance companies.

The names of the prisoners are Otto Feltmate, Daniel Simpson, Captain Abner Munroe, Captain Abner Duncan, Percy Munroe and Wallace Munroe. Captain Munroe commanded the big schooner St. Thomas and Captain Duncan the schooner Juventa. A hearing was held and the cases continued.

The schooners were wrecked in some mystrious manner north of Cape Breton last June and later an unsuccesful attempt was made to collect the insurance upon them. It is charged that a cargo of lobsters which the Juvenia carried and which was insured was sold at St. Pierre, Miq., before the vessel was lost. An investigation by the insurance company led to the arrest of the crews.

German Mission Annihilated.

Berlin, Sept. 16.—The Cologne Volks-Zeitung prints a despatch from Shan-Tung which reports a serious condition of affairs in the Hinterland. The Chinese government has endeavored to keep the German minister at Pekin in ignorance of the condition of affairs and has intercepted telegrams to him. The German mission at Shan-Tung, it is reported, has been annihilated and railroad communication is only possible with a strong military escort.

He Fleeced the Farmers.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 16.—William T. Hahn has made much money by advertising as a widow looking for a loving husband. Many farmers answered and to each applicant he wrote and proposed to visit him and act as housekeeper for a few weeks on trial if the man would send a sum sufficient to cover expenses. The postal authorities say Hahn gathered in hundreds of dollars in this way. He is now under arrest.

Wood Alchol Killed Them.

Vallejo, Cal., Sept. 16.—Michael W. Owens and Richard Conroy, who were marines on board the cruiser Philadelphia, have died from the effects of drinking wood alcohol. The men enlisted at Mare Island. Owens, who was formerly a member of the Sixteenth Infantry, served throughout the Cuban campaign and came here from Samoa in the Badger. He was a native of Philadelphia.

Has Three Husbands.

Watertown, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Mrs. May Stone was arraigned here on the charge of having three husbands. She is thirty years old. It is said she so managed her affairs that each of the men was happy in the belief that he was alone in his wedded bliss. The men were astonished when she was arrested and they learned how they had been fooled.

Lafayette Eleven Begins Practice.

Easton, Pa., Sept. 16.—Dr. S. B. Newton, who will coach the Lafayette football team this season, has arrived in town and at once took hold of the candidates for the eleven. Light practice was indulged in, consisting of running, kicking, falling on the ball and catching punts. A tackling machine will shortly be rigged up on the field.

Boy Charged With Murder.

West Dennis, Mass., Sept. 16.—Edward R. Snow, a boy of seventeen, is under arrest here charged with having murdered his friend, James F. Whittmore, for $25. The murdered boy was nineteen years old. His mutilated and robbed body was found in a wagon at Yarmouth shortly after Snow had been seen riding with him.

Another Advance in Meat.

New York, Sept. 16.—There has been a further advance of one-quarter of a cent over the top-notch price of ten cents a pound in the price of beef. By this additional raise the Beef Trust will pocket an extra profit of $23,000 during the current week in Greater New York and Jersey City.

Automobile Made Big Climb.

San Jose, Cal., Sept. 16.—President David Starr Jordan, of Stanfard University, is back from an automobile trip up Mount Hamilton. The electric carriage reached an altitude of 4,200 feet, the greatest height ever reached by a vehicle of the kind.

Transport Sails For Manila.

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—The transport Belgian King has sailed for Manila. She carries the field and staff officers of the Thirty-fourth Infantry and several companies. On Monday the transport Grant will follow the Belgian King.

Bavarian Floods Subsiding.

Munich, Sept. 16.—The floods are subsiding in upper Bavaria, but railway communication with the south and southeast is still interrupted.

Fordyce Barker, M. D.
"I can fully endorse all that my friend Dr. Barker has said about the MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER. I have prescribed it with benefit in a few cases of cancer. I also consider it a great remedy in all scrofulous diseases, and in syphilitic affections. In these diseases its true value has not yet been fully recognized by the profession. It is also an admirable remedy in affections of the digestive organs, and in some diseases of the kidneys."

LEGISLATION IS DEMANDED

Resolutions of a Radical Nature Presented at Chicago Trust Conference.

MANY SPEECHES MADE.

Small Dealers and Workingmen Said to Require More Competition Than is Now Given.

Majority of Speakers Vigorously Oppose the Industrial, Financial and Transportation Combinations—W. J. Bryan and W. Bourke Cockran Enthusiastically Received.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Workingmen, Socialists, advocates of the single tax theory and students of political economy were heard at the Civic Federation conference on trusts and combinations.

A majority of the speakers vigorously opposed industrial, financial and transportation combinations. The problem in its relation to the workingmen was discussed in all its phases.

The Committee on Resolutions held its first meeting and organized by electing former Governor Luce, of Michigan, chairman, and Ralph M. Easley, secretary. It was decided to name a sub-committee of five to receive and consider resolutions that might be presented and report to a general committee.

Louis F. Post, the New York advocate of the single tax, was the first speaker. His address was enthusiastically cheered. Thomas J. Morgan, of Chicago, followed on "The Trust from the Socialist Point of View."

Henry White, secretary of the United Garment Workers of America, followed in an appeal for government regulation of trusts.

The following resolutions, which represent the sentiment of the anti-trust delegates were referrd to the committee on resolutions:

Whereas, Trusts and industrial combinations have been formed for the purpose of gratifying the greed of their promoters at the expense of the general public; they destroy competition, nullify the operation of the economic laws of supply and demand, deprive the young men of the country of opportunity to advance; take away all incentive to invention and improvement and hold out inducements to deterioration and base imitation. Inspired by no other or higher motive than the insatiable greed of their promoters, they hold the small merchant, the wage earner and consumer subject to their arbitrary dictates. They are the evil of the hour, and their suppression is of momentous importance to the American people. Therefore be it

Resolved, first. That we are unalterably opposed to all trusts and monopolies as in derogation of the common right.

Second. That we demand of the several states and cities that they take such action as will lead to the public ownership of all public utilities, and we demand of the Federal and state governments such legislation as will effectually control the railways and prevent extortion and discrimination.

Third. That we demand of Congress and the Legislatures of the several states that they abolish all special privileges and take whatever action is required to destroy monopoly.

Fourth. That in our judgment no candidate for public office is entitled to the suffrages of his fellow citizens who does not earnestly declare his hostility to all combinations in restraint of trade, or the further granting of any special privileges, and openly avow his purpose to favor such legislation as will suppress them.

Fifth. That it is the duty of the people by organized effort to secure the nominations by the political parties of the opponents of trusts and who have the integrity, courage and ability to defend the rights of the people against impending industrial slavery.

Sixth. That the growth of private industrial corporations under the general laws of the several states, and the advantages given to such artificial persons by such laws, result in the extinction of all natural persons as competitors with them in every line of business.

We therefore recommend that the several States take immediate action to limit the purposes for which such corporations may be formed, and discourage their further formation by the adoption of such measures as their wisdom may advise.

W. J. Bryan of Nebraska, and W. Bourke Cockran of New York were each down for a speech but Mr. Bryan said he had not understood that he was to deliver an address and so did not take any official part in the meeting. Mr. Cockran, however, spoke, and his remarks were greeted with much applause. Mr. Bryan only accepted a seat on the platform and both he and Mr. Cockran were given an enthusiastic greeting when they made their appearance.

Meteorite Shakes the Earth.

Tiffin, O., Sept. 16.—A large meteorite fell near Sycamore, south of this place. It weighed over 500 pounds, and burst into many pieces. The light of the meteorite was brilliant, and its roar passing through the air was deafening. It made the ground in the vicinity tremble when it struck.

Hanged to a Telephone Pole.

Tifton, Ga., Sept. 16.—A negro was arrested at Tyty and positively identified as one of the two negroes who assaulted Miss Johnson at that place last Tuesday. He was immediately hanged to a telephone pole. Search for the other negro continues.

Allen Captured in Germany.

Berlin, Sept. 16.—Charles Allen, the American mail robber, who escaped from Ludlow street jail, New York, in 1895, has been arrested in Frankfort.

Sampson's Fleet at New York.

New York, Sept. 16.—Admiral Sampson's fleet which sailed from Philadelphia Friday, has arrived here.

HE ATTACKS GOEBEL.

Johnston Now Says That He Must Be Defeated.

Louisville, Sept. 16.—Chairman P. P. Johnston of the Democratic State Central Committee and temporary chairman of the State Convention that nominated Goebel for Governor, says:

"We must defeat Goebel and every man on his ticket. The outlook all over the state is most gratifying for the Lexington ticket. I know of no term that will express the situation better than to say that there has been a regular ground swell. The Goebel ticket is losing ground. and has been ever since he opened his campaign. The supreme and only question at issue in this fight is the action of the Music Hall Convention, and the manner in which Mr. Goebel received his nomination. This has been evaded by him every time he has appeared before the people on the rostrum."

"What do you think of Senator Blackburn's attitude in the campaign?" was asked.

"I dislike to bring personalities into anything," was the reply, "but I am forced to say that in this campaign Senator Blackburn has turned his back on all the best friends he ever had. He seems to put it in the light that if they do not like Goebel they do not like him, and he demands as a test of their friendship for himself that they shall swear allegience to Mr. Goebel. With this idea in mind he has proceeded to make them bear the burden of abuse."

New Evidence in Molineux Case.

New York, Sept. 16.—New and startling evidence in the Molineaux-Adams murder mystery has been unearthed at East Hampton, Conn. A letter written by "Albert Morgan" asking that a patent medicine be sent to No. 158 West Twenty-third street was discovered to be among a batch owned by Dr. D. A. Williams. Assistant District-Attorney Osborne has asked to have this letter sent to him at once. He also asks for letters signed "Ronald" Molineaux, a new signature that has not heretofore figured in the case. This indicates that the District Attorney has still further evidence of vital importance bearing on the mystery.

Burdette Stricken While Speaking.

Hanford, Cal., Sept. 16.—Robert J. Burdette, who was engaged to open the Hanford lecture course, appeared before a large audience here. He had proceeded but a few moments when he was stricken with vertigo and the audience was dismissed. Mr. Burdette is in the care of local physicians at a hotel and is in a serious condition.

Vanderbilt's Will Read.

New York, Sept. 16.—The will of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt has been read to the family but has not been made public. It is said by those in a position to know that young Cornelius was not cut off, but will share about equally with other members of the family in his diceased father's enormous estate.

Reversed His Decision.

New York, Sept. 16.—The injunction to prevent the Ramapo water scheme from being put through was argued before Judge Gildersleeve in the Supreme Court. The Judge, after hearing the lengthy arguments by attorneys and others, reversed his decision and gave counsel until Tuesday to put in briefs.

Tennessee Miners in Riot.

Belton, Tenn., Sept. 16.—News has been received here that the striking miners at the Ducktown Copper Mine have begun rioting. The Sheriff and thirty-five special deputies have left here for the mines, which are some distance from any railroad station.

Many Drowned by Freshet.

Vienna, Sept. 16.—Scharding, a town on the Inn, in Upper Austria, is flooded. Many persons have been drowned. The inhabitants of Ebensee and Steyr have deserted their dwellings. The rivers Ems and Traun are falling, but the Danube is still rising.

Senator Jones Improved in Health.

London, Sept. 16.—United States Senator Jones, of Arkansas, National Democratic Chairman, has arrived from Switzerland, where he underwent treatment for heart trouble. He is much improved in health and will sail for the United States Sept. 30.

Workingmen Elect Officers.

Albany, Sept. 16.—The State Workingmen's Federation elected the following-named officers: Martin F. Murphy of Buffalo, president; C. J. Johnson of New York City, first vice-president; John Bradley of Poughkeepsie, second vice-president.

Peck Doesn't Fear Boycott.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 16.—Commissioner General Peck, who has charge of the United States exhibit at the Paris Exposition, declares there is really no organized movement to boycott it, and that it will be a success.

McPartland Defeats Seloff.

New York, Sept. 16.—Kid McPartland defeated Otto Seloff before the Broadway Athletic Club. Seloff went the twenty-five rounds but McPartland outpointed him and was given the decision.

Diseased Milk Caused Death.

Pottstown, Pa., Sept. 16.—Pulmonary disease caused by drinking the milk of cows affected with tuberculosis resulted in the death of Mrs. Jonathan Templin, of West Vincent township, Chester county.

James Harmon Davis Dead.

Washington, Sept. 16.—James Marmon Davis, one of the Minute men, of Washington during the Early raid in 1863, died at his home in Washington. He was 61 years old. The burial will be at the Arlington National Cemetery.

The Boston Out of Commission.

Mare Island Navy Yord, Cal., Sept. 16.—The United States cruiser Boston has gone out of commission. The members of her crew have either been discharged or transferred to other vessels.

An aeronaut named Dennis was severely hurt in dropping with a para chute at Crawfordsville, Ind.

In the pocket of my Tuxedo coat, said one of the New York four hundred—that's the coat I wear when I go out to dinners—I always keep one of the small vials of Ripans Tabules. There is one in the pocket now. I always look to see that it is there before I go out of an evening. After the dinner I always swallow a Tabule and then I know that I shall have no trouble that night and no headache next morning. With the Tabules in my pocket I always feel free to eat and drink everything that is put before me at a dinner.
A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

DAVITT ON DREYFUS CASE.

Irish Leader Sneers at English Sympathy For the Prisoner.

London, Sept. 16.—The papers are still flooded with Dreyfus letters, the most remarkable being from Mr. M. Davitt, the Irish Nationalist Member of Parliament, and the Rev. Hugh Price Hughes, editor of the Methodist Times.

Mr. Davitt says English sympathy for the prisoner is entirely due to the fact that Dreyfus is a rich Hebrew, instead of a poor one, and to the desire to injure a rival nation.

"No absolutely innocent man," continues Mr. Davitt, "was ever convicted twice in any civilized country by a jury of his peers. No civilized country could produce a conspiracy of men educated, cultured and responsible, like the French military chiefs, to stoop to the baseness and infamy of plotting to ruin an insignificant petty officer. The supposition is too monstrous to be entertained by my mind, unwarped by anti-French feeling.

"What have you to say about Florence Maybrick? Your Lord Chief Justice is said to believe her innocent. So do many eminent Englishmen and tens of thousands of Americans. Why has she not a second trial? If innocent, she has suffered ten times more than Dreyfus could suffer. She is an American citizen, abandoned more or less by the press and public opinion of her country, which can repeat the London phrased insults to France for the alleged miscarriage of justice, but which do not have a word of protest or of reproach against England, which refuses to listen even to the petitions of mercy addressed by their unfortunate country-woman's British goalers."

The Rev. Mr. Hugh Price Hughes in the Methodist Times protests against "the first of English gentlemen, the Prince of Wales, being allowed, as chairman of the British Exposition Committee, to associate with liars, forgers and assassins."

Tossed by a Bull.

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 16.—William McCaffery, an employee at Bloomingdale asylum, who has charge of the cattle on the place, had a fight for his life with a Hostein bull. Upon the approach of McCaffrey the bull began to paw the ground and then lowering his head made a charge. Before McCaffery had time to retreat the bull was upon him and tossed him twenty feet in the air. McCaffery made several atttempts to escape, and on each occasion the bull caught him and tossed him. He called loudly for help. Finally he was battered almost beyond recognition. Mr. George Thompson, a contractor who was driving along Westchester avenue, came to his rescue, a whip in one hand and a club in the other. McCaffery was a mass of cuts and bruises. Upon regaining consciousness he told the doctors that he was tossed in the air from ten to fifteen times before help came. His condition is precarious.

Lost His Valice and $50,000.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 16.—B. R. Banning, a Hawaiian capitalists, arrived here from Honolulu on the steamship Australia. Among his effects was a valise containing, it is said, between $30,000 and $50,000 in bank notes, bonds and sugar stocks, with other valuable documents. A few hours after his arrival he missed the valise. It is now thought that Mr. Banning's property is on its way back to Honolulu, having been sent on board the steamer Nippon Maru by mistake, as part of the baggage of Purser River, of that vessel.

Coal Miners Go on Strike.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 16.—Practically the entire New River mining district is idle. Three-fourths of the mines have suspended work and the remainder are being worked with only a small force. The miners demand an advance of five cents per ton and the operators say they have contracted to furnish coal for both eastern and western trade at a figure which will not admit of an increase in wages. A joint meeting has been called for Monday to endeavor to reach a settlement.

Hinton, W. Va., Sept. 16.—Eight hundred miners here joined the strike. Almost 3,000 men are out.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 16.—The day's record showed small decline in prices through the list. The most pronounced weakness was in Brooklyn Rapid Transit, where the loss was in excess of three points; elsewhere, particularly among the standard issues, the declines were within fractional limits. The market seemed to derive its early tone from London, where general declines were reported on account of a revival of the apprehension in regard to the issue of the South African situation. There was, furthermore, continued disappointment in regard to the action yesterday afternoon of the St. Paul directors upon the dividend on the common stock of that company, and, as usual toward the close of the week, there was a good deal of uneasiness as to the showing that the banks would make in their weekly statement tomorrow. The firmest features of the market were American Tobacco and Lackawanna.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Wheat 71⅝, corn 31¾, oats 21¼, lard 5.30, pork, 7.97½.

Drum Horses.

In the army of Great Britain the bands of cavalry are mounted, and the honorary position in these musical cavalcades is that of the bearer of the kettledrums. The horse selected for this high position is often piebald, but this particular coloring is not essential to the office; the animal may be pure white. At any rate his appearance must be consistent with the slow piece he is in the band. His education is severe and persistent, bringing him at last up to that point where his pride and intelligence makes him a dignified and graceful bearer of the handsome trappings that surround his high calling. His nerves are severely tried by the booming of the enormous drums he is destined to bear, but in time he becomes as indifferent to the noise as do his brothers to the singing bullets. In the parade his rider has his hands full in the use of the sticks. He controls the steed by use of the reins which are fastened to the stirrup strap near the foot.

MAY YET BE ARBITRATED.

President Kruger Not Seeking Serious Trouble With Great Britain

PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT.

That is the Way the Transvaal Authorities Would Prefer to Have Difficulties Disposed Of.

A Blue Book Issued—How the Hitch Occurred—The British Commissioners Suggestion for a Settlement—Arbitration Now Strongly Advocated.

London, Sept. 16.—The South African Blue Book has been published. It contains some important explanations made by Sir Alfred Milner.

"The position taken by me at the conference," he says, "and the state in of the conference, was generally misernments were left by the breakdown of the conference, has ben gnrally misunderstood. A particular proposal, but even a definite or detailed proposal, but mere outlines as the basis of discussion in regard to a single question has been treated as if it were by itself not only the panacea for all the grievances of Uitlanders, but the sentiment of all questions at issue between Great Britain and South Africa.

"I refer to the proposal that if the Uitlanders possessed a certain amount of property or income, after having residing five years in the country, they would be allowed to become citizens on taking the oath of allegiance; and in order to give the new citizens immediate voice in the affairs of State, there was to be a certain number (never peopled) of new constituencies created for districts in which they principally reside, so as not to leave their representatives in a contemptible minority. I never said—indeed, I carefully guarded myself against such an assumption—that an agreement on this matter would put an end to all differences. What I said was that it would greatly reduce the number of questions at issue, establish beter relations, and make it much easier to arrive at a satisfactory understanding on questions not connected with the grievances of the Uitlanders.

"For the Uitlanders' grievances, whether great or small, their admission on to an influential position within the State is a true remedy. As regards other differences, they would be discussed in a calmer atmosphere with a better chance of reaching an agreement. At Bloemfontein, however, we never got to those matters.

On the subject of the latest Boer proposals Sir Alfred Milner says: "In view of the immense importance of the many details of the franchise redistribution as bearing on the question whether the Uitlanders will or will not attain an immediate position of influence in the State, it is essential that the latest proposal be carefully examined.

"Of matters which we cannot refer to arbitration and cannot without discredit or the risk of a speedy revival of the difficulties, abandon, I would especially refer to the position of the British Indians and the position of other colored British subjects, and our claim that all British subjects shall be entitled to treatment at least equally favorable to that accorded the subjects of any other nation. The latter claim has been put forward by us on many occasions, but has never been formally admitted by the South African Republic, and unless it is so admitted now I feel certain we shall have grave difficulties in the future."

The correspondent of Dazell's News Agency at Pretoria telegraphs an interview which he had with President Kruger.

"Why must there be war between Great Britain and the Transvaal?" asked the President. "Why cannot we go to arbitration and settle the difference of the two countries? I tried all along to place aliens on the same footing politically as the burghers, and would point out to you that on being shown my speech of last Monday Chamberlain said that I had not kept my promises. This I deny. Let me repeat, that under the convention aliens in the Transvaal have the same commercial rights as the burghers. Indeed, they have always enjoyed these without any interference whatsoever. They did not have the same political rights under the convention, but I wanted to let them have these rights. I wanted to make them equal and place them on equal terms with the burghers, but they would not avail themselves of the opportunity. I wanted to make a new seven years' franchise law. There are, roughly speaking, more than 50,000 aliens who have been here more than seven years and have registered, and are thus eligible to the franchise immediately. Yet I may tell you that of all the British subjects who are willing to avail themselves of these rights, the chief applicants were Afrikanders, not English-born, while the rest were subjects of other countries. This shows that the British in the Transvaal do not want the franchise. In my opinion there is no cause whatever for war. Everything should be settled by arbitration."

It is a well known fact in British circles that the Boers are preparing for war and that if the arbitration plan fails and hostilities should be declared, they will be prepared to put up a strong defense until overwhelmed by the British forces.

Prtoria, Sept. 16.—All the commandants have been asked to send immediate returns of all the burghers available for military service.

At the close of the discussion both raads met in secret session to discuss the final draft of the Transvaal reply, which will be handed to Conyngham Greene immediately. It is understood the reply is courteous, urges the acceptance of the joint conference and maintains the conventon of 1884.

Dreyfus Will be Liberated.

London, Sept. 16.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "It is certain that Captain Dreyfus will be liberated. The only question to be settled is one of ways and means."

COMING EVENTS.

September 17—B. M. Heneyman will speak and there will be violin and vocal solos at the Y. M. C. A. meeting at 4:15 p. m.

An Elizabeth correspondent of the Newark News says that Charles H. K. Halsey has come out as an avowed candidate for the nomination of County Clerk at the hands of the Republican county convention. The Daily Press announced the probable candidacy of Mr. Halsey several weeks ago. The News writer says that "five years ago Mr Halsey could have been nominated and elected clerk, but he would not give up his position in Senator Kean's bank to become a candidate. Now that he has decided to enter the fight he promises to give the other aspirants for the clerkship a lively struggle. The Halsey men intend, it is said, forming a combination with Plainfield to give the nomination for Sheriff to that Republican stronghold."

It would not require many factions in the Socialist-Labor party in Union county to have each faction consist of one man, and a step in that direction seems to have been taken by the German division of the Socialist-Laborites. Notwithstanding that there is but a handful of voters in that political party in Union county, there are enough malcontents in the ranks to put forth two tickets. The first one was nominated in a convention held in Plainfield some weeks ago, and a few days ago another convention was held in Elizabeth when nominations were made for County Clerk, Assemblymen and Coroner.

The ethics of asphalt are thus described by the Syracuse Post-Standard: "We are just beginning to realize that a change from a mud road to an asphalt street is not merely a change in ease of traffic. Asphalt has a distinctly elevating influence on any neighborhood. It replaces dinginess with light, disorder with orderliness, neglect with progress. People at once begin to paint their houses and place their lawns in order. Other people will be going past. Their street has become a thoroughfare."

Alexander T. McGill, Chancellor of New Jersey, will retire from official life at the completion of his present term of office. He is one of the most famous of New Jersey's Chancellors and the most learned in the law. He has held the office, which is the highest judicial place in the State of New Jersey, since 1887. His reputation for fairness and justice has been such that it has become a common saying with lawyers who have an honest case, "Get it before the Chancellor and it will be all right."

The Somerset county ratables, as fixed by the County Board of Assessors, contain the following interesting facts about the borough of North Plainfield: Real estate valuation, $2,273,375; personal estate, $275,805; total debt, $164,725; valuation taxable, $2,384 455; names on poll lists, 1,026; school tax, $6,510.94; county tax, $13,486.94

William B. Boyer, chairman of the Union county Prohibition executive committee, has called upon the Prohibition voters of the county to meet in convention at the Home Mission Hall, 1181 East Broad street, on Monday evening, Sept. 18, at 7:45, for the purpose of nominating a county ticket, to be voted at the coming November election.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A peculiar coincident regarding the recent murder of Paul Roehricht is that nearly every lawyer in the city has given his opinion in the case and no two agree. When lawyers disagree who shall decide. It has been aptly said that law is the last guess of the Supreme Court, and it would appear to be applicable in this case.

Senator Charles A. Reed, following the habit of New Jersey's illustrious Governor, has purchased a very stylish felt hat of the Fedora type, and he secured it several days before the bell sounded for the calling in of straw hats. No doubt New Jersey's popular Senator will find any amount of comfort in his new head-gear and his friends take pleasure in knowing that it is very becoming.

Among the guests who have been stopping at the Hotel Huntersdon this fall is Oscar L. Richard, senior member of the firm of C. B. Richard & Co., New York bankers, and president of the State Bank on Grand street, New York. Mr. Richard was the first American to import a motor tricycle to this country from France and is one of the most enthusiastic automobilists in the country. He brought his motor tricycle to the hotel with him and almost daily rode over the links of the Baltusrol Golf Club, of which he is a member, to play his favorite game. He visited Plainfield several times and attracted much attention. He can easily make twenty miles an hour with his machine which is easily controlled. It derives its power from a gas engine. A reservoir and a supplementary reservoir carry enough gasoline to enable him to make a hundred mile trip without refilling. Mr. Richard has now returned to New York but will undoubtedly be a frequest guest at the Hunterston, for the roads in this section give him plenty of opportunity to use his motor tricycle with the best of success.

TO SEE THE NAVAL PARADE.

Steamer Mohawk Will Sail From Newark the Morning of the Parade.

Those of our citizens who intend to take their families on Dewey Day, Friday, September 29th, to participate in the great Naval parade, and to witness the grand illuminations and fireworks in the evening, cannot be too careful in making the selection of the steamer and the party to sail with. Starin's Transportation Co.'s well-known and commodious saloon steamer, Mohawk, will leave the Elec-Light Co.'s dock, near the Market Street station of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Newark, Friday morning, September 29th, at 9:30 o'clock. This steamer is licensed to carry 1,400 people, but on this occasion tickets will be limited to only 700, insuring every patron an excellent opportunity of witnessing the parade and fireworks without the disagreeable features of jamming crowds or rowdyism. The party will be in charge of experienced men who will cater for select family patronage. Prof. Markwith's Band, of Orange, will render concert music. The price of tickets, including lunch, which will be served in first-class style by a well-known caterer of Newark, will be $3.50 each. Tickets should be secured in advance, and can be obtained at Petty's drug store, Prudential building, or Lehigh Valley Railroad ticket office, 792 Broad street, or by mail of E. G. Daniels, 800 Broad street, Newark, N. J.

In Charge of Assistants.

During the absence of Chief T. O. Doane, the Plainfield fire department is under the command during the day of Second Assistant Chief Jennings as First Assistant Chief J. W. Murray, Jr., is in New York. At night Murray takes command.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

The production of Leonard's "Two Jolly Rovers," a musical farce, at the Stillman Music Hall last evening, was one of the best seen there this season. It was deserving of a crowded house. Leonard and Gilmore, the great Irish comedians, have separated, and Leonard is now playing with Sherman Wade. Wade seconded Leonard's efforts in excellent fashion.

"Way Down East," which enjoyed such a long and prosperous run at the Manhattan Theatre, New York, last season, will be presented in this city for the first time Tuesday evening, September 19th, at Music Hall. The success of this play has been remarkable. It caters to all classes of theatre-goers and presents a strong moral without a sermon being preached to you. It is owing to this latter point that it has aroused the interest of the clergy in the different cities in which it has been presented. During the engagement at the Manhattan Theatre, New York, numerous clergymen in Brooklyn used it as a text for their Sunday sermons. "Way Down East" was written by Lottie Blair Parker, who several years ago wrote a curtain raiser for the Lyceum Theatre, called "White Roses," which met with great success. In the present instance the piece "Way Down East" was elaborated and produced by that skillful actor, Joseph R. Grismer, and the interpreting company supplied by manager William A. Brady, is one of marked excellence. "Way Down East" depicts life as one finds it in rural New Hampshire, and admits of elaborate staging, which Manager William A. Brady has supplied. Probably the most conspicuous scene in "Way Down East" is the snowstorm which is presented throughout the entire third act.

Willie Collier has won a great success in "Mr. Smooth," at the Manhattan Theatre in New York. The attendance reaches the standing room limit, and the merriment is unforced and unrestrained. The fun is largely farcical, but never coarse, offensive or prunient. It begins like a zephyr with Collier's entrance, rises to a gale at the end of the first act, and becomes cyclonic in the subsequent comic complications. Willie Collier is a comedian of delightful and magnetic personality with a constantly increased following, and his quiet, repressed and almost serious methods emphasize the drollery of his performance. In writing this bustling and ingenious play he has given himself a part that fits him like a glove, but is not obtrusive or overshadowing. As the prince of plausible and pictureseque liars he presents the most artistic performance of his career, but there are other entertaining characters essayed.

DRINK GRAIN-O

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about ¼ as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 16—The favorite sport in town for sportsmen just at present is to get up early and go to the woods in search of grey squirrels. Quite a number of them have been shot this season.

Word has been received from the Misses Shott, Marsh and Johnston, who left Tuesday for Luray College, Luray, Va., that they arrived safe and had a delightful journey.

John R. Marsh is making a number of improvements about his property on Union avenue. John Schmidt has the contract for the carpenter work.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthias Schmidt and family leave next week for California, where Mr. Schmidt will engage in the fruit business.

Tomorrow afternoon Rev. Mr. Shott, of the Baptist church, will make an address at the W. C. T. U. meeting in Plainfield.

Prof. Maguire and his troupe of trained horses are holding forth at Excelsior Hall this afternoon and evening.

Rev. Mr. Shott, of the Baptist church, expects shortly to start a series of sermons on "Discipleship."

John Patterson, of Morris Plains, is spending a few days in town visiting relatives and old friends.

Thomas M. Paff, Sr., and Edwin Wright spent yesterday at the Passaic river fishing.

Twilight Council, Jr., O. U. A. M., met in their rooms last evening.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 16.—The following have been appointed election inspectors for Westfield: Frank R. Pennington, Thomas O'Neill, Lewis C. Theis, Isaac H. Lambert, Democrats; George Cox, James Folsom, Howard P. Manning, Charles E. Smith, Republicans.

The tract of land on Westfield avenue, Westfield, known as the Harbison tract, will be sold under foreclosure proceedings of the Home Life Insurance Company September 27th.

South avenue bridge, at Cranford, is blocked to travel while the girders for the street car rails are being put in place.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell it at 50 cents or it will be mailed by Ely Brother, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

—Willett & Son have the agency for the W. L. Douglas shoes. Their patent leather button or lace are lady killers.

—The third degree will be conferred on one candidate at the meeting of Queen City Lodge, I. O. O. F., Monday evening.

—At the meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders it was decided to buy a steam roller for county road work.

—During the past few days a number of private patients have been received at the hospital, making the total number twenty-two.

—Rev. Gideon M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, will lead the meeting at the W. C. T. U. rooms, 119 East Front street, tomorrow afternoon. All are invited to attend.

THE WORLD OVER.

Paris newspapers announce that the governor of French Oceanica has issued a decree prohibiting tattooing throughout the archipelago in the interests of public health and morals, which, the decree states, seriously suffer from the practice. The Journal Des Debats, humorously commenting on this decree, says it will deprive the natives of the only costume they were ever accustomed to wear.

Some of the condors shot in the Andes mountains have a spread of wing from fifteen to twenty feet.

It is believed that a diet of cornbread makes bigger men, physically, than bread made from wheat flour.

The Roman Catholic bishop of Maitland, Australia, has forbidden the use of flowers at funerals in his diocese.

Mrs. Celestina Nigro, of Philadelphia celebrated her one hundred and ninth birthday by dancing three waltzes.

Moisture is prevented from condensing on windows and shutting off the light, by a new English device, which has an air supply pipe located at the bottom of the window, with an electric heater set in the outlet to dry the air as it is forced from the pipe.

The Philadelphia Record tells of a little woman and a big man who visited a dentist not long ago. "I just came along to help her keep her courage up," explained the big man fondly. She sat through a long operation, the filling of several teeth, with scarcely a quiver. When it was done she suggested that her husband ought to have his teeth examined. He said he knew there was nothing the matter with his but finally she had her own way. The dentist found one small cavity and said he might as well fix it at once, and the little woman agreed with him. When the boring machine was moved out from its corner the big man seemed to shrink; when it began to buzz he shivered perceptibly, and even before the tool touched his tooth he gave a shout; after which it took all of the little woman's powers of persuasion to keep him in the chair until the job was completed. "And that's no exceptional case," said the dentist when the couple had gone.

FASHION HINTS.

What Will Be Worn During Autumn and Winter.

Little jackets for fall wear are made of cloth, the revers being faced with the same plaid or checked silk which forms the lining of the jacket.

For children there are straight sacks, trimmed around the edge with a circular flounce.

Blouses of various kinds are still worn with different skirts. They do not, however, hang over the belt.

The half length cape, smooth around the shoulders and flaring toward the edge, retains its position in general favor.

SCHOOL DRESS.

It is sometimes draped a little across the front, fastening across the shoulder with a clasp or other ornament.

The newest traveling wrap is a half length straight sack, having around the shoulders two little circular capes. The revers and pocket flaps are like those of a man's coat.

The cut shows a school dress for a girl 11 years old. It is of brown serge and has a skirt gathered into a band at the waist. The foot of the skirt is edged with several rows of gold and brown braid. The bodice has a plain back gathered at the waist and a blouse front mounted on a yoke. The yoke is covered with lines of gold and brown braid, which are carried around to the back to simulate a yoke there also. The sleeves have lines of the braid at the top and wrist, and the collar and belt are also covered with braid.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

THIN GOWNS.

Modes of Making and Ornamenting Them.

Charming decorations for thin gowns are obtained by applying muslin or batiste upon the surface, outlining the design with cord and then cutting away the goods beneath the application. Many plain foulard gowns are thus ornamented. The muslin or batiste used for the incrustation may be plain, or it may have a printed floral design which is followed in the application.

With foulard a pretty effect is obtained by tucking the top of the skirt lengthwise. The tucks approach each other toward the waist and extend half way down the skirt, where their termination forms points or scallops. The fullness which is thus left free at the foot affords the desired flare at the base.

DINNER GOWN.

Foulard may be used for gowns of both the simplest and most elaborate character. All depends upon the color and style of cut chosen.

The dinner gown illustrated is of pink velvet covered with black chantilly. It is in the princess form, with a very low decolletage, the lace portion appearing as a redingote, which opens over a loose, straight front of pink mousseline de soie, which continues around the front of the skirt as a flounce. The edge is adorned with applications of black chantilly. The lace redingote has a deep flounce of lace, headed by a puffing of black mousseline de soie. The sleeves are of unlined chantilly, and the decolletage is bordered by a drapery of pink mousseline de soie, a bow of black tulle being placed in front.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

VICTORIA'S FADS.

THE BRITISH QUEEN'S GREATEST ANTIPATHY IS A FOLDED LETTER.

The Amusing Way in Which Her Mail is Handled—Duties of Her Private Secretary—The Royal Servants Must Be Comely—The Queen's Exclusive Colors.

Many thousands of Queen Victoria's subjects who have addressed private letters to Her Majesty and have never received a reply have often wondered why they have not. Since it is the right of every English subject to address a complaint or any appeal to his sovereign when he has sufficient reason for doing so, it is not surprising that some wonderment and, even bitterness, is experienced when, after a reasonable time, an earnest appeal, marked "private," brings no reply whatsoever. But whenever a letter of any nature addressed to the Queen remains unanswered it is due to the fault of the subject, and not of the sovereign. And for the simple reason that persons who are unacquainted with the details of court etiquette do not take the trouble when writing to the Queen to familiarize themselves with the requirements covering such matters. Usually the letters are properly addressed, and, as the writer thinks, properly folded and despatched.

QUEEN VICTORIA.

But in folding the letter is where the fatal error is made, for the Queen never, under any circumstances, reads a folded sheet of paper. If by any chance, or through the importance of a cause, a letter is handed to Her Majesty and the sheet is folded, it is immediately thrown to the floor without even a second glance. This is not permitted to occur often, however, for the Mistress of the Robes now looks over all the Queen's letters, even after they have passed through the hands of two private secretaries before they are taken to Her Majesty's apartments.

A sheet of thick white paper of ordinary size, with envelope of same size, should be used when writing to the Queen. The color does not matter so much, but as the royal taste prefers white paper, of course it is advisable that it should be used. The Queen is particular about these small matters, and anything that she is pleased to regard as a royal prerogative must never be trifled with.

The royal mail is brought by a special courier to the palace at which Her Majesty happens to be staying at the time. It is taken first to the official secretary, who has a high-sounding title and is a member of the official household. From there that portion of it marked "private" is taken to the Queen's private secretary No. 1, and, after he has examined it carefully and has assured himself that nothing of an unpleasant nature is to reach the Queen, he turns it over to the Indian secretary, who is the favorite with Her Majesty at present. This dark-skinned attendant scans each letter separately, and when he is satisfied that all is well he delivers them into the hands of the Mistress of the Robes, who, in her turn, delivers them to the Queen, who, according to her humor, reads them personally or commands her waiting woman or the Indian secretary to do so for her.

In some things the Queen's taste is exceedingly simple and old-fashioned, in others it is capricious and extravagant. For instance, when the servants of the royal household are engaged, each one, after being found satisfactory to the various functionaries before whom they have to pass, is commanded to enter the presence of his august mistress and, even if he passes all the qualifications necessary to royal service and lacks that of an agreeable face and figure, in other words, if he be not good looking, he is immediately dismissed.

Then the use of the royal colors, or the particular shade of red, or scarlet, used by the royal family is denied to all others. There is not a tailor in England who would dare to put the royal red into any garment of any person other than a royalty, no matter what the inducement might be.

No one is allowed to use carriages like those used by the Queen, and no one but a royalty can have more than two outriders. Members of the royal family are entitled to four, but even the Queen herself does not have more than two except on state occasions, when her eight milk-white ponies have a man at each head.

She Mends for Batchelors.

The expert professional woman mender earns quite a pretty penny by her neatness and deftness in repairing rents and replacing buttons. Bachelors profit most by this line of business, for the women who engage to keep their clothing in perfect order are far more reasonable in their charges than tailors who would perform the same office. The professional mender regularly engages her customers and never neglects them.

THE AUTUMN STYLES

DESIGNS SO FAR SHOWN ARE VARIED BUT GRACEFUL.

Skirts Flare Much at the Lower Third—Models for Jackets—Box Coats—Sleeves, Princess Gowns and Shape Collars—Latest Fashion Gossip.

The first autumn costumes to make their apearance after the tailor models in cream and white serge, to wear as long as the weather remains warm, are the light-weight cloths and woollens in numerous grades and effects. The designs shown so far are quite varied The shape of the skirts is not materially different from those of the summer for they can be made no more clinging above the hips—an effect still prominent—and the flare on the lower third of the skirt is only a little more pronounced. But the general appearance is about the same. There are still many trimmed models, but the plain ones, after the over-decorated, fussy styles of the summer, look more elegant and attractive. Rows of soutache, bias folds, and braiding on tailor costumes, and small frills on demidress gowns, so far form most of the principal decorations, and there is still great latitude in fancy braiding. Some skirts show two rows of braid around the bottom, and an elaborate design across the side breadths. Others have rows of braid put on in peplum style just below the hips, or there are five graduated rows on the botom of the skirt. There is, however, a disadvantage in all these styles for women neither tall nor slender, and for these cases there are new trimmings that decorate the skirt seams, or are put on in several ways ferm belt or hip to skirt-hem, thus giving longer lines. Many elegant tailor costumes are simply stitched. Sometimes the bobbin in the shuttle is wound with a silk of some shade in decided contrast to the dress goods. For example, a beaver brown gown decorated with stitchings will show the tiniest points of green or pale yellow where the shuttle thread peeps through.

A great variety of models are shown in the way of jackets. The Eton in style and shape still continues popular. There are a few fitted round waists among full tailor costumes, but the great majority of both French and English models show a jacket or Louis coat in some form, all very graceful and smart; some double-breasted and fastened at the left side with a strap and single button; other open over remarkably pretty plaited vests of taffeta silk or waistcoats, elaborated with braiding or chenille and silk cord appliques. Some have fitted backs and loose fronts in Empire form, with straight revers the entire length of the jackets, these joining a cape collar that turns down over the shoulders, and, with the revers, is faced with velvet and bordered with a bias-stitched strap of the fabric forming the jacket.

The waist shown in the accompanying illustration is especially designed to give a graceful effect to a rather stout figure. The fronts are cut surplice fashion, the fullness being laid in narrow tucks from shoulder to bust. The pointed vest and the insertion trimming are of guipure lace over color in white. To give added breadth to the shoulders, and thus apparently reduce the size of the waist, a puff is set in the sleeve top.

An effort will be made to make popular the box coat, but few American women take kindly to this model.

Quite an unusual model of long coats are being made to order.

Lovat mixture, beaver and felt cloth and livery melton are popular coat materials. Coats of Persian lamb, broadtail or sarl, with extremely high collar, have satin-faced revers covered with costly lace.

Many capes of cloth and fur are shown. These are longer than those recently worn. Flounces of guipure, point de venise, Honiton, Flemish, and where tan lacs overlap flounces of fur are some of the exclusive novelties. Many of these models are cut with a long, deep shawl-like angle at the back. First comes, for example, a very wide fur flounce beginning in a high standing collar about the throat. This arches down in a sumptuous sweep, bordering the entire garment, whose foundation is heavy, creamy satin. Above this fur flounce and slightly lapping it arches a magnificent lace one in point Russe, each flounce curving up short toward the front and woven to a design to end there is a final elegant scallop. Four alternating lace and fur flounces complete the wrap, satin lining each row.

Many beautiful princess gowns are shown, and it is predicted that the Empire gown is surely coming. The dressmakers have endeavored for several seasons to force the overskirt upon us but women fight against it. American women do not wish it, and in Paris few draped skirts are seen outside of the dressmakers'.

The fashion of making the sleeves of bodices, polonaises and fancy jackets of two contrasting fabrics is increasing. The upper sleeve ends at the elbow in a pretty, graceful, bell-shaped flare, and is made of the waist or jacket material. Below this is the tightly fitted forearm ending very often in a "calla" cuff, whose point reaches well over the hand. This part of the sleeve is, as a rule, formed of the material which trims the gown. This sleeve is not confined to any special style of gown, and appears among utility models as well as in the realm of demi and full-dress toilets, and, besides being a pretty and picturesque fancy of fashion, is a very economical one, in which very small lengths of fabric can be most tastefully utilized.

The high collar may be used, or if the gown is intended mostly for home use, it may be cut as low as the collar bone in front. Many theatre waists will be cut with round necks. Elbow sleeves will naturally accompany this fashion, which will necessitate a return to the long gloves.

AGNES OLCOTT.

MUSICIAL CLUBS.

Which Branches of Work It is Advisable to Take Up.

"There is one principle that must be strictly adhered to in any successful village musical society: there must be no drones," writes Professor Frank Waldo in an article on "Music in the Village," in the September Ladies' Home Journal. "The instant that any one is admitted to membership on any other ground than ability the decline of the society has begun. Regular attendance can be secured only by arousing the enthusiasm of the members.

"The one word that expresses the possibilities of concerted instrumental music for the village is orchestra. This word, while rather pretentious in sound, may have an extremely humble application. Orchestra is mentioned as opposed to band, the orchestra being intended for indoor practice, is capable of exerting a most refining influence.

"It is to chorus work that the vocal energies of the singers of the town must be mainly devoted, and it is best to assume a high stand from the outset, and establish an 'oratorio society,' rather than a 'chorus' or 'choral club.' For this purpose a well-balanced group of thirty or forty voices is sufficient if it is composed of members who can really sing. A small chorus of unexpected volume of tone is much more effective than a large one with a disappointing volume.

"It may be just as well to call attention to the fact that the larger music emporiums, especially those in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, are always ready to give advice and assistance in the selection of music where the members of clubs, individually or collectively, do not know just what is best for their purpose."

Becoming.

The most important part of wearing any kind of garment is to become it. That is what two girls learned last summer. Their summer wardrobes were complete and the summer was coming well to an end, when they happened one day to discover some of the most charming of outing hats. They were of a coarse straw, but of the softest, most flexible weave that could be imagined with a hat which still had considerable body. They had quaint high crowns, with wide brims, and there was a band of silver lace around each crown and around the edge. They were so pretty and they weren't expensive! Only $1.50, and they were real Mexican hats. The only trouble was that neither girl had the slightest use for such a hat. One never wore a hat at all when she could help it, and the other was devoted to the sunbonnet. Just how it was they never knew, but in some way they resisted the temptation, and neither bought a hat. They were glad of it later, for two old women who saw those hats also admired them, and they bought them, wore them and looked ugly and commonplace in them. They spoiled the hats, and two happy girls, seeing that, rejoiced that they had resisted temptation.

Plants Will Soon Need Protection.

"Plants which have been kept out-of-doors during the summer should be brought into the house before cold nights come," writes Eben E. Rexford in the September Ladies' Home Journal. "They will thus be accustomed gradually to the change from outdoor to indoor. Left out until cold weather comes, the fire heat is necessary inside for the human occupants of the rooms, they will be sure to suffer from the abrupt and very decided change of conditions. When you bring the plants in keep windows open aby and night to admit the fresh air. Give them all the sunshine possible. Shower daily all over and avoid giving fertilizers, as they would force them at the time when all the energies of the plants should be expended on getting used to the new order of things. Later, when they have become acclimated, so to speak, fertilizers may be used."

To Curl Feathers.

It would pay the average woman to buy a curling knife and learn to curl her feathers at home. They require it often when it is impossible to send them to a professional curler. The knives are cheap, and may be found in most hardware stores. Hold the feather over a kettle of boiling water, spreading out with both hands the flues to their full length. Let it become damp, but not too wet; then wave gently from side to side until partially dry. Begin to curl at the end, not the beginning of the stem. Take only a few flues at a time and curl under.

SOUTH LONDON.

Sir Walter Besant Gives Some Interesting Sketches of That Ancient Portion of the City.

Besides being a novelist, Sir Walter Besant is a historian, particularly the historian par excellence of London. For the last few years he has written articles on historic London for The Pall Mall Magazine. The last series to appear were on South London; these, like the others, are now presented in book form under their original title and with the elaborate and artistic illustrations which so enhanced their value when they were printed in the magazine. The publishers of "South London" in this country are Frederick A. Stokes Company.

"The chief difficulty in writing 'South London,'" said Sir Walter in his preface, "has been that of selection from the great treasures which have accumulated about this strange spot. The contents of this volume do not form a tenth part of what might be written on the same plan, and still without including the history proper of the borough."

The author courteously acknowledges his obligations to the artist "Mr. Perry Wadham, who has so faithfully and so cunningly carried out the task committed to him."

"My South London," says Sir Walter, "extends from Battersea in the west to Greenwich in the east, and from the river on the north to the first rising ground on he south. This rising ground, a gentle ascent, the beginning of the Surrey hills, can still be observed on the high roads of the south—Clapham, Brixton, Camberwell."

At first London had no communication with the rest of the world, except by water. Then a causeway was built across the Southwark marshes. The second road connected with the high road to Dover; it is now called High Street Borough. It formed an entirely open and broad communication; it began not far to the west of St. Saviour's Church, opposite the Roman Trajectus, the mediaeval ferry, now St. Mary Overies Dock. Ferries were soon established across the Thames, and at length the marshes were drained. Prehistoric remains prove that all this was done during the stone age and the bronze age.

Centuries passed by. "High Street of Southwark is now a crowded thoroughfare, because it is the main artery of a town containing a population of many hundreds of thousands. In the last century it was quite as animated, because it was one of the main arteries by which London was in communication with the country. An immense number of coaches, carts, wagons, and 'caravans' passed every day up and down the High Street, some stopping or starting in Southwark itself; some going over London Bridge to their destination in the city."

Among the relics of the bygone ages stands to-day the remains of the palace of the Bishop of Winchester. As one of the Bishops of Winchester would have made a very good modern Police Court Judge and District Attorney combined, it may not be inappropriate at this place to tell something about the punishments of the time that were ordered by the church. "There was whipping, but not the terrible, murderous flogging of the eighteenth century; there were hangings, but not for everything. Mostly to the credit of the church, punishment was designed not to crush a man, but to shame him into repentance and to give him a chance of retrieving his character. A man might be set in the stocks or put in pillory, and so made to feel the heinousness of his offense. This punishment was like that which was inflicted on a schoolboy; the thing done, the boy is taken back to favor. The eighteenth century branded him, imprisoned him, transported him, made a brute of him, and then hanged him. Did a woman speak despitefully of authority—presumptuous queen—set her up in the cage beside the stoulpes of London Bridge, that every one should see her there and should ask what she had done. After an hour or two take her down; bid her go home and keep henceforth a quiet tongue in her head. This leniency was only for offenses moral and against the law. For freedom of thought or doctrine there was Bishop Bonner's better way. And it was a way inhuman, inflexible, unable to forgive."

Sir Walter Besant, in showing how the palace either contains or has at some time contained the work of nearly every archbishop in succession, incidentally remarks, in speaking of some of the improvements executed by the various prelates, that the Chicheley Tower, commonly known as the "Lollards' Tower," "never had any connection with Lollards, and that all the talk about the unhappy Lollard prisoners is without foundation."

And, in a word, which will explain why I have given an apparently disproportionate space to Lambeth Palace, the author thus ends his chapter on the royal houses of South London; "Lambeth Palace, the only palace in the whole of South London, is a monument of English history from the twelfth century downward. Kennington appears at intervals; Eltham is a holiday house; Greenwich practically begins with the Tudors. Lambeth, like Westminster or St. Paul's belongs to the long history of the English people."

From the fragmentary "lives" of Shakespeare we have learned considerable about the Globe Theatre, but in "South London" we find a great deal more, and also much about the Bear Garden, Blackfriars, and Paris Garden, the Hope Theatre, the Swan Theatre, and the Rose. It is all very interesting.

And of the South London of to-day, there is much that is of interest, much that is fascinating, albeit the tourist to London can see it all if he only takes the trouble.

Tempering Steel.

The tempering of steel with uniform results is a feat hardly to be achieved by the most expert artisan. A German inventor had devised a process for accurately obtaining any desired degree of hardness, the variations being effected by changes in the liquid used, and depending on the fact that graded results may be produced by the use of milk in varying forms and dilutions—that is, by fresh and skimmed milk, sweet and sour whey, fresh and old buttermilk, and different mixtures with water. The various stages of acidification of milk are also said to give all the effects of hardening in oil and other fat mixtures.

NO MORE BALD HEADS

A CONSTANTINOPLE PHYSICIAN DISCOVERS A REMARKABLE REMEDY.

Ploughs the Head With a Scarifier, Cutting the Scalp, and Then Plants the Hair Like a Farmer Would Plant a Willow Wand.

Dr. Menahem Hodara, of Constantinople, announces that he can take a fragment of hair, and, by implanting it on the scalp of a bald patient, make the meagre clipping take root and grow into a long, heavy hair, with a root of its own.

He says that he has tried it upon several patients and has afterward demonstrated its success by microscopical examination.

Every one knows that a bit of willow twig, when stuck into the earth and left alone, will probably throw out roots and in time grow into a tree. Even dried-up looking sticks have been known to accomplish this.

Dr. Hodara virtually says that a hair will do the same thing. He does not transplant it in any sense of the word. He does not take a hair that is attached to skin, or that has its root and follicle entire. His discovery is not the result of any mere grafting experiment. Dr. Hodara says, in effect, that he can take the clippings of hair as they fall beneath the barber's shears and from each of these bits of hair can cause a new hair to grow.

It has long been known that the human hair was a composite organism and that it closely resembled skin in its structure, but it has never been thought that it contained within itself the power to initiate growth. It has always been believed that it depended for its life and existence on the nutrient vessels which supplied its follicle, or sheath.

Dr. Hodara's discovery means that each hair, or fragment of hair, must contain within itself the same power that resides in a willow twig—the cell-producing capability.

His discovery was the result of a pure experiment. It happened that two of his patients were suffering from a scalp disease known as "favus," which is prevalent in the Eastern countries. Its cause is a minute fungus; its usual result is absolute baldness of the patch of scalp attacked by disease.

Careful examination of the scalp on the bald area showed that the hair was non-existent. Microscopical examination of a section of the scalp showed also that the follicles of the hair were empty, shrivelled and dead.

Before beginning operation, Dr. Hodara carefully washed a selected part of the patient's head on which hair was luxuriant, with an antiseptic solution. This was repeated until the hair was thoroughly sterilized. Then about fifty hairs were clipped off with a pair of scissors and were laid in soak in a neutral solution of sodium chloride.

The next thing done was to render the bald spot on the scalp thoroughly aseptic. This was done by almost the same measures as those used to sterilize the hair.

After applying an anaesthetic spray to the surface to be operated upon Dr. Hodara picked up an instrument known as a scarifier and drew it horizontally across the bald patch. The result was six little cuts through the surface of the scalp. Changing the direction of the instrument, Dr. Hodara then made another set of incisions at right angles, until the surface of the scalp appeared to be cross-hatched with little cuts.

The slight hemorrhage which resulted was easily controlled, and Dr. Hodara then took up a pair of small forceps and began to select a hair. Picking up one by the middle, he held it in the forceps while he clipped it with scissors at each end until the resulting bristle was about an inch and a half long and was blunt at each end.

A quick look through a powerful lens showed the doctor that he was holding the hair right end up, for a hair has a skin to it that lies in scales like the bark of a palm tree. Then he selected a place where two cuts crossed and into the incision inserted the hair.

Wherever the cuts crossed each other on the bald spot Dr. Hodara inserted a clipped hair, and then inserted some of those that remained in the intermediate spaces. When he had finished the bald spot was sparsely covered with little bristles of hair.

Then a dressing was applied, and the patient was instructed under no circumstances to remove or even disturb it.

PLANTING HAIR ON BALD HEAD.

A week later Dr. Hodara examined the scalp. The cuts were practically healed, and he was pleased to notice that every implanted hair was still in position.

Three weeks later another examination was made. The hairs were still in position.

Dr. Hodara picked up a pair of forceps and tweaked one of the hairs. It came out easily, and was obviously in the same condition as when it was first placed in the scalp. Dr. Hodara thought his experiment had failed, but pulled out another.

That sample astonished him, for with the hair came a follicle. Dr. Hodara looked at it in real astonishment, and then laid it by the side of the first hair. It was perceptibly longer, although when he performed the operation Dr. Hodara had been careful to see that all the hairs he used were of the same length.

Another and another hair was quietly tweaked out, and it was found that many had grown bulbs, and in every way had acted as mere tree twigs might have acted if planted in good ground.

Examination under the microscope showed that the hairs had undoubtedly taken root and appeared to be likely to grow into good, long hairs.

GOLF.

After an absence of several months, Senator Charles A. Reed is to be seen on the course of the Park Golf Club once more. The Senator was a little out of practice but he settled down to business and rapidly improved his game, giving his old opponent, Councilman George T. Rogers, an exciting match.

There is general satisfaction among the members of the Park Golf Club at the action of the greens committee in building new putting greens or rather in putting the old ones in proper condition. There was considerable criticism of these greens as they interferred with the best play through their irregularity. The greens committee was scattered during the summer vacation and joint action has only just been made possible.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The juvenile football players of city and borough have gotten together their crack team, called the Norwood A. C., and are preparing to go forth to conquer whoever they can find. Fred VanAuken is captain and has infused his comrades with all the enthusiasm of a college team. There is great rivalry for the positions on the team and the boys say they are going to have a strong aggregation.

The candidates for the Alis football team turned out last evening on the Westervelt avenue practice grounds to talk over the prospects for the season. It seems probable that the Plainfield A. A. will have no team this year and that several of the players who were on the big team last year will play with the Alis this season. They will be principally the lighter players, as the Alis team will keep its average down to 140 or 145 pounds.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Peter Simmons, Plainfield's crack colored cycle racer, will take part in the fifty mile race at the Vailsburg track tomorrow. Simmons has been out for a few weeks and has been training hard and is said to be in much better condition than when he rode in the road races in this section.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more, than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

AS A SAILOR SAW IT

HE WAS IN THE MANILA FIGHT WITH DEWEY.

A Carpenter's Mate of the Cruiser Charleston Tells How the Victory Was Won—Enthusiasm of the Men at the Guns.

The first intimation that any of the men in the Asiatic squadron had of impending trouble came on the day after the arrival of the fleet in Hong Kong. Commodore Dewey called for a general assembly of commanders on the flagship, and that always opens the eyes of the jackies to the fact that there is something in the wind. The next day the men were all put over the side with paint pots, and within twenty-four hours the vessels of the fleet were in their war garb, and the sailors knew that at last they were in for serious business. The sailors were delighted at the prospect of a fight, and worked with great enthusiasm to get the ships into fighting condition.

Boats were sent ashore, bulkheads were torn out, and all superfluous woodwork was removed from the interior of the warships. Some of the men toward the last, as it became evident that we were bent on fighting, became so excited that they could hardly contain themselves. Patriotic songs resounded all day long from the forecastles of the different ships, and they were not checked by the officers, either. Even the apprentice boys were anxious to get a chance at the Spaniards.

On Friday night, when we had drawn near to the entrance of Manila Bay word of our destination and what we might expect to find there was circulated among the men. Lights were masked, and as the ships drew nearer to the entrance of the bay singing and loud talking were forbidden on the warships. The squadron slowed down as we neared the mouth of the harbor, and for a time the men, who of course did not know what was in the minds of the officers, thought that the fleet was going to anchor. There was consequently much speculation as to whether the Commodore was going to enter the bay or stay outside, in the hope that the Spaniards would come out and attack us. The latter theory was the one most commonly accepted by the men, as some of the sailors in the ships had been in Manila Bay in times of peace and knew how strong its natural defenses were. It made little difference to the men, however, which course the Commodore adopted, as we were not much in doubt as to the outcome of a fight.

"I ain't very particular how this blooming show is managed," one little Englishman in our ship said, "so long as I get a blooming whack at one of them blooming Dons. The only way to get them beggars to stand is to get their vessels up against the side of a rock, so that they can't run away."

And it turned out that was practically what we did. We got the word from the watch officer at 3 o'clock in the morning of the fight to keep ourselves ready for a call. The dim outlines of the shore of the islands could be seen over our quarter even then, and although the men off watch were privileged to sleep, I for one felt more like sitting up and thinking. By 4:30 the ships had approached to within about ten miles of the mouth of the harbor, and men were piped to quarters. I shall never forget the magnificent spectacle the fleet presented when I first came on deck.

As the men stood in their positions on board our ship there was scarcely one who spoke. Every man kept his eye riveted on the harbor entrance. The suspense as we steamed slowly through the entrance to the harbor was intense.

"Will they spot us?" was the question on every one's tongue. After we had got well into the mouth of the harbor in the wake of the Olympia and the other vessels of the squadron, a single flash of flame darted from the side of the battery on our port side. The shock of the explosion which followed was so entirely unexpected that most of the men gave a start. Time after time the forts fired upon us, but our commanders held their fire, obeying instructions from the Commodore, until the signal, "Engage the enemy" was finally made on the Olympia, and the gunners turned themselves loose. The men down in the magazines, realizing that silence was no longer necessary, broke out into sailor songs as they pulled up shells. The men at the guns could hardly be kept behind the shields, so intense was their enthusiasm.

In about half an hour's time we had passed into the bay and were safe from the projectiles from the forts at the entrance to the harbor. It was now broad daylight, and down along the wall which bounds the river front of the city of Manila the Spanish ships could be seen strung out in single column formation.

We continued our course up the harbor, steaming to bell, the ships of the squadron proceeding in single file. The flagship led the column, and as soon as the vessels had closed up along the line to the fighting ditance they headed for the Spanish fleet. The Olympia opened with her full battery, and the other ships followed in turn as they steamed abreast of the first ship in the Spanish column. The Spaniards got right to work at their guns, and during the first round gave us shot for shot. Their marksmanship was very poor, however, and not one of their shells, so far as I saw, came anywhere near hitting us. The men on our ships by this time had got their stride and settled down to business. When the Olympia made the signal to cease firing for the first round, the men were very much disappointed.

"Why, we've only just got at them!"

We were all glad enough to get a cup of coffee, however, and when, as we steamed back into the firing line, we saw the Spanish ships break into flame, we knew that the day was ours. After the fight, when we had once more withdrawn to our former position up the bay, the sailors on the different ships cheered for hours. It seemed as if the men could scarcely find time to sleep, so busy were they in cheering the different ships' boats as they passed to and fro from the Olympia.

Shepard said that every man, without exception, now on the Asiatic squadron would follow Dewey and his officers to the world's end if the Admiral set the signal.

DID NOT WANT IT

The Quaker Member of the Chicago Board of Trade.

He was a Quaker of Quakers and held to the tradition of his faith and to all the forms of it excepting the matter of dress. And above all the variance he showed there was the fact that he would wear a plug hat. Of course it was not such a hat men in the vain world world were in the habit of wearing, and then it was not the "broadbrim" of his fathers—not by any manner of means.

One day when he was going down La Salle street in the high wind and his head was not especially puffed up with his success in guessing the market that day, and away went his hat in a little cyclone and rolled in the most exasperating manner right at the edge of the curb. Quite a number of men hurried to stop it and some boys yelled and some women laughed, but the decorous owner of the headgear never changed his pace. He walked on as though he had never seen that particular hat and didn't care a cent what became of it.

Of course, some one brought to him. He looked at it and saw its awful condition. He looked straight into the eyes of the gentleman who had brought it to him and said: "No, I thank thee; I don't want it."

He went into the old Grand Pacific Hotel and sent a messenger boy home for another tile, for there was not a store in Chicago where a duplicate of his peculiar style could have been found.

SENATOR REED WINS HONORS AT GOLF.

Competed On Links Of Park Golf Club.

GEORGE T. ROGERS FIRST.

SENATOR REED WAS SECOND FOR THE M'CUTCHEN CUP.

None of the Leaders in the Competition Were Able to Score Points—Mr. Rogers Becomes a Factor In the Contest—Many Played Saturday—Miss Elsberg Made Her Score For Buttfield Cup—The Scores.

Senator Charles A. Reed signalized his return to the haunts of the golfers by winning second honors, Saturday afternoon, in the day's play for the McCutchen Cup on the links of the Park Golf Club. The Senator and Councilman George T. Rogers, one of the Park whist team, made the rounds together. They were a combination that couldn't be beaten. The Councilman has been playing considerably of late and won first honors. The Senator came in two strokes behind. As a result of the day's play, Mr. Rogers has become a factor in the contest for the handsome silver trophy, and is now tied for fifth place with G. W. Faber.

The day was a delightful one for golf, clear and cool, while the brisk north wind died down as the sun approached the horizon. The course was crowded with players, twelve of whom entered in the competitions for the two trophies. The fair sex was represented, but not very largely. Nine cards were handed in for the McCutchen Cup, but the leaders in the contest for the cup all failed to win any additional points.

W. de la R. Anderson, the club champion, was way off his usual form. He played with Morgan T. Townsend and was beaten by three strokes. Anderson's hoodoo still hung over him and his ball showed a strong propensity to land in every possible hazard. Gifford W. Cooley was playing even worse than usual. Meredith Dryden was out but did not try tournament play.

Morgan T. Townsend's handicap has been reduced from seven to five. Otherwise he would have scored a point. As it was, he tied with his father for fourth place with a net score of 101. William A. Townsend, winner of the Labor Day cup, has had his handicap reduced from 16 to 12 but, as he leaves today for Cornell, it will make no difference to him.

The Senator did some great playing, his approaches being particularly commendable. This is the first time that he has competed for the McCutchen Cup and he is now in fifteenth place with a bunch of others. W. J. R. Thiers, who won third place and one point, advanced to tenth. Mr. Rogers' victory carried him from tenth place to fifth where he is tied with G. W. Faber. If Mr. Rogers continues the game he played Saturday, he will become a prominent factor in the competition for the cup. A few more victories like that and he will be at the front.

The scores handed in during the afternoon were as follows:

	Gross.	Handicap.	Net.
George T. Rogers	114	21	93
Charles A. Reed	125	30	95
W. J. R. Thiers	112	12	100
Morgan T. Townsend	106	5	101
Samuel Townsend	125	24	101
J. H. Howell	122	18	104
William B. Faber	132	26	106
W. de la R. Anderson	109	0	109
Gifford W. Cooley	119	9	110

The official standing of the candidates for the cup follows:

W. de la R. Anderson	12½
Meredith Dryden	10½
Gifford W. Cooley	10
Charles E. Faber	7
G. W. Faber	6
Geo. T. Rogers	6
Samuel Townsend	4½
Wm. A. Townsend	3½
E. T. Douglass	3½
H. D. Hibberd	3½
Morgan T. Townsend	3
Arthur Peck	3
George C. Worth	3
W. J. R. Thiers	3
Fred P. Taylor	2½
S. S. Squires	2½
A. B. Laing	2
Volney F. Green	2
Charles A. Reed	2
Fred S. Overton	1½
Clarence S. Boome	1½
Augustus VanDeventer	1
W. R. Faber	1
C. W. McCutchen	½

Miss Elsberg and Miss Howell both competed for the Buttfield Cup. They played the necessary nine holes together, accompanied by Allan E. Laing. At the close there was only the difference of one stroke between their net scores, Miss Elsberg winning. The scores were as follows:

	Gross.	Handicay.	Net.
Miss Daisy Elsberg	100	18	82
Miss Saidee Howell	87	4	83

There has been no official announcement of the number of points yet scored for the Buttfield Cup, but an inspection of the past scores shows the following competitors and the points scored by them:

Miss Daisy Elsberg	26
Miss Saidee Mae Howell	14
Miss Adelaide G. Ball	3

NOT QUITE PERFECT.

Bottle Designed Not to be Re-filled Was Tried by an Expert, Who Overcame the Difficulties.

A test was made yesterday of the non-refilling bottle, recently invented and patented by Charles C. Overbaugh, of this city. The test was made at a machine shop on Sycamour street, in the presence of a number of prominent citizens and some of the stockholders os the Marvel Bottle Company. The test was made by Charles Hunter, of New York, an expert in his line. A small rubber hose attached to the water faucet was used, one end of the hose being inserted into the neck of the bottle. It was said that the pressure was equal to sixty pounds to the square inch.

At the first test the bottle was filled in 12½ minutes. The second test did not require but 12 minutes. Then another bottle was secured and it was filled in exactly nine and a half minutes by a stop watch. Mr. Overbaugh, the inventor, claimed that the bottles tested were slightly defective in that the rubber balls used in the neck of the bottles was not perfectly true and that the water had been forced in where the two parts of the glass stopple came together. Another test will soon be made. Some of those who witnessed the test believe that Mr. Overbaugh's invention is a good one and that he will yet be able to demonstrate its practicability.

Arrested and Locked Up in the New Steel Cages Over Night—Hearing To-Night—First Arrest in a Long Time.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 18 — Scotch Plains is wild with excitement! An arrest has actually been made in the town, the first in a dog's age on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. The victim who is wriggling in the law's toils is a Plainfielder—Albert Aykon, who imbibed in a glorious manner Saturday night and tried to paint the town a reddish hue. He made too much noise, and Constable Taynor's acute attention was soon attracted. His arrest followed in short order. He was incarcerated in the new steel cages for just such disturbers.

When his friends saw he was in a fair way to spend the night there they began a hunt for a justice of the peace. Constable Taynor had already preferred charges against the prisoner before Judge Schick.

As soon as this was learned the Judge was besieged by the mob to give an immediate hearing in the case, as they were ready to pay his fine. Judge Schick said that owing to the lateness of the hour the prisoner would have to stay until Monday morning.

Willie Sweeney, of Plainfield, tried to bluff the Judge by saying he would begin suit against the township if an immediate hearing was not given. The Judge gave Sweeney to understand that he was able to conduct the business of the court. His friends then appealed to Judge Clark, who had retired. He was prevailed upon to get up and come up town and look into the matter. As soon as he heard that the case was in Judge Schick's hands he refused to have anything to do with it. The crowd finally dispersed about 1 o'clock and all quieted down.

Sunday morning Judge Schick paroled the prisoner until Monday evening, when he will be given a hearing. The law-abiding citizens will watch the case with a great deal of interest, as this is the first arrest in town for being drunk and disorderly since the Citizens' League was organized.

A Bright Young Minister.

Rev. B. R. MacHatton, of the 7th Presbyterian church, of Pittsburg, Pa., who preached in Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning and evening, proved a very acceptable supply and his sermons were so much enjoyed by those who heard him, that the supply committee of the consistory have been asked to secure him for one or two Sabbaths during the month of August, next year.

Paid Thier Assessments.

A great many people affected by the assessment made by the borough officials for the opening of Watchung avenue have paid up and their names have been crossed off the list. Those who do not pay by October 1st, will be obliged to let their property be put up for sale.

New Faces in Town.

A local well-known real estate firm says that more strange people have located in Plainfield than during any previous fall of recent years. A great many of them have come from New York, and they are delighted with Plainfield's advantages.

YOUNG LIFE CUT SHORT.

JESSE L. HURLBUT, JR., COULD NOT SURVIVE TYPHOID FEVER ATTACK.

Taken Sick at Jamestown, N. Y., Where He Died—Son of Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, and Formerly Lived in This City.

Jesse L. Hurlbut, Jr., who spent his boyhood in this city, died yesterday at Jamestown, N. Y., from typhoid fever. He had nearly recovered when he suffered from a severe relapse that ended in his death.

Jesse L. Hurlbut was the youngest son of Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut, who is prominent in the Sunday-school work of the M. E. church and in the Chautauqua movement. Dr. Hurlbut was pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, and then moved to Brooklyn where Jesse was born. When Dr. Hurlbut went into the Sunday-school work, they came to Plainfield and lived first on West Fifth street, near Arlington avenue, and afterwards at East Fifth street and Franklin place.

He entered the Plainfield public schools and finally reached the High School. He was a member of the class of '95, but left the school in 1893 when Dr. Hurlbut moved to New York. He then entered Berkeley School, New York, where he made a great reputation for himself as a pole-vaulter, winning many honors in the various scholastic and interscholastic meets.

Three years ago young Hurlbut entered Wesleyan College, where he was also prominent in athletics. He won the intercollegiate championship at pole vaulting and many other victories in the same event. He was an athletic member of the New York Athletic Club.

Most of his summers were spent at Chautauqua, N. Y. This year he went there as usual and acted as one of the assistants in the gymnasium. He was taken ill with typhoid fever and went to the hospital at Jamestown. It was not considered a very serious case and no fears were entertained for his recovery. Several weeks ago he was able to go out once more. Then came the relapse. He died yesterday morning.

He leaves a father, mother, two sisters and a brother. He has a host of friends in Plainfield to whom the news of his death will be a great shock.

The funeral will be held from Dr. Hurlbut's residence at 325 West 101st street, New York, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

BOWLING ON THE GREEN.

Middlesex Club Met at Christian Schepflin's Saturday Afternoon and Enjoyed a Fine Time.

The Middlesex Bowling Green Club entertained their lady friends at the handsome residence of Christian Schepflin on Prospect avenue, Dunellen, Saturday afternoon. There were about seventy guests present including the members of the club. The guests came on a special trolley car from New Brunswick, Somerville and Plainfield.

The spacious grounds were decorated with the national colors and Hart's orchestra supplied music. It was a delightful afternoon for bowling and the ladies enjoyed themselves in a manner to be thoroughly appreciated by the genial host and hostess. During the afternoon refreshments were served.

The bowling events were spirited and closely contested. Mrs. Edward H. Wikoff won the first prize, a set of silver desert spoons, and Miss May Evans the second prize, a set of silver tea spoons. The affair was one of the pleasant social events for which Mr. and Mrs. Schepflin have an enviable reputation.

Among the ladies to participate in the bowling were: Mrs. F. L Hindel, Mrs. J. C. Evans, Mrs. Charles A. Schenck, Mrs. A. W. Pettit, Miss Addie Fisher, Miss May Evans, Miss Etta Evans, Mrs. Andrew Love, Sr., Miss Love, Mrs. Joseph Fisher, Mrs. Louie Powelson, Mrs. Edward VanPelt, Mrs. Edward H. Wikoff, Mrs. John Schwenger, Mrs. Geo. A. Viehman, Mrs. H. B. Willis, Mrs. Fred Wiegel, Mrs. H. A. Cook, Mrs. Lyle VanNuis.

Fletcher Music Method.

A method of teaching music to children, which is within their powers, has at last been devised. By this new natural method, which is engaging the earnest attention of educators, the inborn love of music is fostered and the child thinks the hour for the music lesson the most delightful of the day. A demonstration of this method will be given in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, to which all interested in the new method are cordially invited.

PLAY FOR THE BROWN CUP.

W. L. GLENNY IN FINE FORM AND LED THE CONTESTANTS.

By His Excellent Playing he Secured the Cup, Which Now His Personal Property—Bracing Weather Made Play on the Links Very Pleasant—Next Saturday's Competition for Reinhart Cup.

There was enough of interest at the course of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club last Saturday to satisfy the most enthusiastic golfer. The day was all to be desired and the bracing cool weather had a good effect on everyone who played. A large number of the club's best players were present and the fact that Josiah Brown offered a silver cup for the best score from scratch, was an incentive to great effort. W. L. Glenney, who has made the eighteen holes in 77, almost equaled that score Saturday. His score was 79, and his play was remarkable. This player has been in fine form this year and his work has been of the best. After his score was recorded it seemed to be a settled fact that he would secure the cup. This proved to be true. The cup is his personal property and is not to be played for again.

Nearly all of the other scores were good and showed a remarkable degree of proficiency on the part of the "regulars." Below will be found the scores for this event: W. L. Glenney, 79; F. O. Reinhart; 84; Willard Wadsworth, 86; F. O. Talmadge, 88; W. T. Kaufman, 90; J. W. Baker, 90; H. R. Stockton, 96; R. M. Shepard. 100; F. C. Ard, 103; Henry Syder, 104; George Ryder, 107; L. H. VanBuren, 114; E. J. Waring, 130.

The next event that attracted considerable attention was the match play between a team from the Morristown Field Club and a team from the home club. The home team maintained its reputation and won easily from their opponents by a score of 33 to 11. The visitors did not seem to be in the best of form, and at no time were they able to equal the play of the home team. Of the latter team there were only two members, F. O. Talmadge and R. M. Shepard, who failed to score, while every other one made good scores. On the other hand there were only two of the visiting team that were able to score, and they made the total of eleven points for their team.

During the contest there was some fine playing, and the home team distinguished itself in many ways. The score in detail for the match play is as follows:

HILLSIDE.		MORRISTOWN.
Glenney	4	Smith	0
Wadsworth	6	Thomas	0
Reinhart	9	Holmes	0
Talmadge	0	Ewing	0
Baker	5	Durkinck	0
Shepard	0	Maey	3
Stockton	9	Palmn	0
Sangstaud	6	Fielinghuy	8
	39		11

Next Saturday play will be resumed for the Reinhart Cup, which is a men's competion, handicap, open to active members only. Eighteen holes medal play.

ADDRESSED THE W. C. T. U.

Rev. G. M. Shott Scores the Liquor Traffic in Severe Terms.

The 4 o'clock service in the W. C. T. U. rooms yesterday was conducted by Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Scotch Plains Baptist church.

He said that people of today are going backward with their cloaks of excuse and license laws, failing to face the greatest enemy to our homes and to our nation.

He drew a lively comparison between the heathen worship of India, and the heathenish complicity with the liquor traffic in America. It India it is the Juggernaut which grinds out the life of its devotees. In America it is the jug-or-not which tells the story in home life and church life.

Mr. Shott says it is interfering sadly with his business in Scotch Plains, and wishes something more could be done to help root out this glaring sin.

A Fine Roadbed Now.

Travelers by wheel and wagon greatly appreciate the improved condition of Park avenue from Fourth street to the city line. It is now a pleasure to travel over this fine strip of road and almost every day that thoroughfare is crowded.

Out of the Lockup Now.

Charles Braynton, who has been confined in the borough lockup on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, and who was unable to pay a fine, was discharged Saturday, having completed his term of five days.

BOARDER WAS BURGLAR.

BOUND BROOK MAN CAME HOME TO FIND HIS HOUSE LOOTED.

Jersey City Police Notified and They Arrested the Thief, Who is Indentified as an Ex-Convict and a Professional Burglar.

Over the Raritan River at Bound Brook the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company is having a bridge built by the Pencoyd Iron Company, of Philadelphia. The iron company employs about forty men, who had a difficult time to find board. Two men on Friday traversed the town for board, saying that they were bridge builders and were working at Bound Brook. They tried six or seven different places, and at last obtained board with August Palan, who has a boarding house in Second street.

Palan arrived home about 12 o'clock that night and found that the house had been looted and his new boarders gone. He at once notified Chief of Police Sebring, who sent word to Jersey City, Easton, Trenton and Philadelphia.

Sebring on Saturday night received word from Jersey City that the police there had a prisoner answering the description of one of the suspects. Sebring and Palan's daughter went to Jersey City and identified the prisoner. He was given a hearing before Judge Crampton, and was recognized as Daniel Burns, who, according to the police, is a burglar and former convict. Burns' companion had made good his escape, but most of the stolen property was recovered in Burns' possession. None of the bridge builders know him. The police of Cincinnati and St. Louis will be communicated with, as Burns had various articles which, it is believed, were lately taken from those cities. He also had a bond, which was dated Centralia, Ill., August 23, 1897.

CORONER INVESTIGATING.

Inquest Being Held to Determine Who is Responsible for Death of Mrs. Martin While Wheeling.

Coroner Charles W. McConnell is this afternoon at the Springfield Town Hall conducting an inquest to inquire into the facts connected with the death of Mrs. Cornelia A. Martin, of Newark, who was killed by being thrown from her bicycle and run over by a farm wagon driven by Charles MacMurray, of Westfield, on Springfield avenue, Springfield, last Wednesday. Subpœnas have been served upon a number of persons, including MacMurray, the driver of the wagon; Mrs. Ida Shipman, of Newark, who was riding in company with Mrs. Martin, and Theodore Voorhees, who was near the scene of the accident.

Judge W. A. Coddington, of this city, is attending the inquest to look after the interests of MacMurray.

SHOP-LIFTERS TO BE ARRESTED.

Assignee's Sale at VanEmburgh & Son's Interrupted by a Warning.

In the big crowds that have visited the assignee's sale of VanEmburgh & Son's stock of goods it has been impossible to keep a close watch on all the people of the store to prevent shop-lifting. Considerable stock has therefore been stolen by weak-minded persons. Saturday two persons were detected in the act of taking articles, and Mr. VanEmburgh decided that work of this kind had gone far enough. He announced before a storeful of customers that the first case hereafter where a person was found stealing goods they would be promptly arrested by Special Officer Giese, who is present during the sale to keep the crowds in order.

Advancement Association to Meet.

The Plainfield Advancement Association will meet tomorrow evening. It is the wish of President Smalley that as many members as possible be present as much important business is to come before the meeting. All who attended the clambake are expected to attend the meeting. Reports are to be received from various committees and some new suggestions made for the advancement of the city's welfare.

To Repair South Avenue.

It is the intention of the councilmanic street committee to repair South avenue as soon as possible. The members realize the great inconvenience caused to travellers, but circumstances interfere somewhat, but the officials are anxious to get the road in shape quickly.

Board of Trade to Meet.

The Board of Trade will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening. The Arlington avenue extension will be among the questions discussed.

WILL FIGHT LICENSES.

Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, Partially Outlines Future Work of the Citizens' League.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 18—In a prelude to his sermon yesterday morning Rev. G. M. Shott, pastor of the Baptist church, took occasion to resent the criticism that has been placed upon him for criticising the bicycle road races that have been promoted in that place recently by a hotel keeper. Rev. Mr. Shott said that he desired to reiterate his statements that the riders in the races appeared in costumes that were shocking to the decency of the community, and that the State laws also were violated by the running of the races.

Rev. Mr. Shott also outlined an important part of the work to be undertaken by the Citizens' League, which he organized and of which he is the president. Believing that the root of a considerable part of the evil that prevails in Scotch Plains is due to the liquor sold there, the League will oppose the renewing of the licenses as fast as they come up for action in the county court. A special effort, he said, would be made to prevail upon the freeholders of the town not to sign the applications of the hotel keepers for the renewal of licenses.

HIT BY A HEAVY IRON.

BRIDGE REPAIR MAN HURT ON LEHIGH VALLEY RAILROAD.

Has Face Badly Cut—Brought to Muhlenberg Hospital—Feared His Skull is Fractured—His Condition is Serious.

R. Bruce McFarland, one of the bridge gang of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, was seriously and perhaps fatally injured this morning while at work on one of the railroad bridges near Bound Brook. He was brought to the Muhlenberg Hospital, this city, with his face badly cut and crushed and lies there now in a precarious condition.

The bridge gang was making some repairs on one of the Lehigh Valley bridges near Bound Brook. One of the heavy iron hooks slipped and swung round in time to catch McFarland right in the face. He was knocked unconscious by the blow. He was carried to Bound Brook and there put on a Jersey Central train and brought to this city. The ambulance was telegraphed for and met the train at the Grant Avenue station but McFarland was brought on to the North Avenue station and taken to the hospital in Hoagland's express wagon. His injuries were so serious that he was hurried to the hospital in the wagon. His face is very badly cut and it was feared that his skull was fractured. He was unconscious.

It was said at the hospital this afternoon that McFarland could not recover.

BRIGHT GIRL DEAD.

Miss Miriam E. Sherwin Sick With Typhoid Fever Several Weeks.

After an eight weeks illness with typhoid fever, Miss Miriam E. Sherwin, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Sherwin, of 226 East Second street, died at Muhlenberg Hospital Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock. She was fifteen years six months and twenty-six days old. She was a bright girl, a general favorite with all who knew her and would have entered the Plainfield High School this fall had not illness kept her away.

She was taken to the hospital and everything possible was done to fight off the dread disease but it was of no avail. The funeral will be he held tomorrow afternoon from the house. It will be private.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Young Plainfield Merchant Will Soon Take a Bride.

There was a happy gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gordon, at 75 East One Hundred and Ninth street, New York, Saturday, when a large number of friends of Louis B. Rosenthal and Miss Lena Gordon assembled to extend congratulations on the announcement of their engagement and approaching marriage. About a week ago there was a family dinner. The gathering yesterday was for the friends of the young couple who were the recipients of many handsome and costly presents. Mr. Rosenthal is a well known merchant of his city whose place of business is on East Front street.

LEHIGH BLOCKS THE TROLLEY IN ROSELLE.

Would Not Allow Work to Proceed Near Their Switch.

FORCE OF MEN READY TO ACT

CONTRACTOR SERRELL WITHDREW HIS MEN TO AVOID TROUBLE.

What Prompted the Action of the Lehigh is a Mystery, Unless it Was in Order to Aid the Central in Retarding Progress of the Trolley—Conference Held to Try to Adjust Difficulty.

The Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company, which is building the trolley line between Elizabeth and this city, has encountered unexpected and strong opposition from the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company in completing the last link in the system through Roselle borough.

Just after leaving Cranford the route of the trolley line passes under the overhead bridge of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, near the crossing with the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and a little further on it was planned also to lay the trolley tracks over a switch of the Lehigh that crosses South avenue. When the trolley franchise was granted there was not the slightest anticipation that the Lehigh would object to the crossing, but Friday when the employes of the trolley company arrived at the depot they were confronted with a switch engine and 100 Lehigh employes who had received orders to block the trolley work in crossing the switch.

On the tracks on the overhead bridge another engine and two car loads of men were also stationed ready for action in case the trolley company attempted to force matters. L. W. Serrell, the contractor, of this city, decided to avoid trouble and his men were removed to another section of the line to work.

During the day a conference between Frank Bergen, the borough counsel; Chandler Riker, the head of the trolley syndicate, and the Lehigh Valley officials, was held. The matter was not adjusted and Saturday no work was done on the trolley line in that vicinity.

In anticipation of being outwitted the Lehigh had a large force of men quartered a short distance away. What the opposition of the Lehigh is based upon is not known, unless it is that the trolley company will be a competitor of the Jersey Central, and the Central and the Lehigh being controlled by the same interests the latter road has been forced into the fight in the hope of blocking the trolley line.

LIKES THE JUDGE.

Alexander San Jose Haled to Court and Released Because He Didn't Understand the Officer.

Alexander San Jose, an attendant at the Muhlenberg Hospital, says that City Judge Runyon is a very nice man. The cause of the young man's excellent opinion of the Judge, was the Judge's decision when San Jose was arraigned before him this morning, charged with riding his bicycle Saturday evening without a light. He was ordered to appear by Patrolman Saunders. San Jose speaks twelve different languages, and is very highly educated. He is now learning English, but does not speak it very well as yet.

He says that the officer called to him, but he did not understand, and that finally the officer kicked him on the leg. The Judge heard San Jose's explanation that he did not exactly understand the American laws, and suspended sentence.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Brower Have Been Married Fifty Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Brower, of West Sixth street, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary under most auspicious circumstances at the home of their son, Lorenzo D. Brower, at Bayside, L. I., last night. The event was attended by the children and grandchildren of the celebrants. Mr. and Mrs. Brower were wedded in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 18th, 1849, but as it was more convenient for the relatives to meet yesterday the event was celebrated then. Mrs. Brower's maiden name being Miss Sarah Jane Hirst.

GEN. ALGER WITHDRAWS.

Ex-Secretary of War is Out of the Race for Senatorial Honors in Michigan.

GIVES A FINAL DECISION

Senator McMillan to Enter the Field With His Prospects Unobstructed by Alger's Admirers.

Retires For Sake of Harmony—He Does Not Wish to Endanger the Republican Ticket Next Year by Cultivating Strife—Will Attend to Private Business.

Detroit, Sept. 18.—Gen. Russell A. Alger will not be a candidate for the United States Senate. In a letter addressed to State Oil Inspector Judson, head of the Pingree State machine, he announces his final decision to withdraw from the contest with Senator McMillan, leaving him an unobstructed field so far as Gen. Alger is concerned.

The situation was disclosed in an evening paper which has been pronounced in its support of Gen. Alger. The proprietor, William Livingstone, is a close personal and political friend of Gen. Alger, and he made the disclosure on the authority of Gen. Alger himself, who would not, however, consent to the publication of the letter.

The withdrawal of Gen. Alger was not unexpected, although it was generally believed that he would postpone making the announcement until after the fall election, when it would be demonstrated in this city whether Gov. Pingree still continues to hold his grip. The peculiar situation locally is discouraging to Republicans. Pingree's championship of Tomas L. Johnson's scheme to sell his street railway has greatly weakened his popularity, and it is doubtful whether Pingree could be elected mayor if he would consent to run.

The unpromising local outlook is not relieved by a bright outlook in the state. The annual tax levy has just been made public. It is for approximately $4,000,000 or 40 per cent. higher than ever before and more than twice the tax levies of the two years of the Winans administration. The failure of Pingree's many pretentious reforms, followed so quickly by this enormous tax levy, has unquestionably injured his prestige with the people.

In his letter of withdrawal Gen. Alger declares his unwillingness to endanger the success of the Republicans next year by fomenting discord or engendering further bitterness. For the sake of harmony and party success he surrenders a long-cherished ambition to be Senator, and makes the sacrifice, he says, not because he fears defeat, but because he believes that the individual should subordinate himself to the party.

Gen. Alger will make his withdrawal the open doorway through which he will retire from politics altogether to devote himself to his business. His action leaves Senator McMillan a lone candidate, but Gov. Pingree will not permit him to have the field to himself for any great length of time. In fact it is generally believed that Gov. Pingree will recall his farewell message to politics, shy his castor into the ring and fight to a finish to down his beloved enemy, whom he never fails to speak of as "Jim." If he goes into the fight the storm centre of politics next year will be in the state of Michigan.

Whole Family Found Dead.

Platte Canon, Col., Sept. 18.—Walter Janes, his wife and two children were found dead in their cabin in the upper end of the canon. The bodies showed no signs of violence and the house was undisturbed, leaving the impression that the father had poisoned the rest and then had laid down to die. The father had been out of work for some time.

Must Stand up or Pay Big Prices.

New York, Sept. 18.—The public will have to pay exhorbitant prices for seats on stands to view the big Dewey land parade. The indications are that there will not be half enough stands to accommodate those who will be willing to pay even a high price for the privilege of sitting on a common bleachery.

Was Buried With Military Honors.

Trieste, Sept. 18.—Gustav Lindholm, one of the crew of the United States cruiser Olympia, who died in a hospital here from consumption, was buried with military honors. Mr. H. H. Hossfeld, the United States Consul, and a number of Austrian navy and army officers followed the body, which was wrapped in an American flag.

Half a Million Goes up in Smoke.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 18.—Half a million dollars' loss was caused by fire in North block here. This block was occupied entirely by printing firms. The flames spread to the Masonic Temple, Methodist Church and Webster block, which were destroyed. Several smaller buildings were burned.

Highlanders Will Attend.

Toronto, Sept. 18.—The Forty-eighth Highlanders have been invited by the Dewey Reception Committee, and have unanimously accepted the invitation to take part in the land parade at New York on Sept. 30 in honor of Admiral Dewey's return.

Was Robert E. Mowbray's Body.

Chatham, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The dead wheelman whose body was found on the mountain road leading from New Lebanon to Pittsfield, has been identified as Robert E. Mowbray, of Glen Cove, L. I.

Auto-Truck Company for California

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 18.—Howard P. Taylor has arranged to form the California Auto-truck Company in this city. Joseph Leiter, of Chicago, will be president, and J. H. Hoadley, of New York, vice-president.

FOR A NATIONAL ISSUE.

The Anti-Trust Advocates Will Organize For Action.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Anti-trust delegates to the National Trust Conference took action to make the anti-trust movement a national one. A meeting of prominent delegates, including M. M. Lockwood, president of the American Anti-Trust League; Congressman Sutherland of Nebraska, John I. Yellett of Maryland and others was held after the adjournment of the conference and decided to hold a meeting of anti-trust delegates, pass strong resolutions and plan for making the movement national in scope and to make it the paramount issue in the forthcoming campaign.

Prominent anti-trust delegates declared the movement was in no sense a political one, but its importance overshadowed all else. The idea of attempting to force anti-trust resolutions through the trust conference was abandoned. It was the general opinion that such action would only result in a row, and Colonel Bryan's action in refusing to present his resolutions for that reason was upheld by his friends.

Their Speeches Cause Comment.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The topic of conversation among all classes of people here since the close of the conference on the "Uses and Abuses of Trusts," has centered on the closing speeches of the conference delivered by W. J. Bryan and W. Bourke Corkran, both of which are declared to have been the most masterly efforts in the line of oratory that have been heard in this city in a long time. Mr. Bryan's speech made it clear that he is now, as he always has been, unalterably opposed to trusts and combinations in all their forms and said that no good ever had nor ever could result from them; that they were the cause of much of the suffering among the poorer classes—a continual obstacle in the path of prosperity among those who labor for their daily bread, and a menace to the general business interests of the country.

Mr. Bryan's speech brought forth some remarks from W. Bourke Cockran in which he tried to make it clear that no monopolies could exist without governmental favor. The moment a monopoly abused its opportunities, competition sprang up in its own field. "Octopuses" and "crushing monopolies" were but incomprehensible noises, at which people took fright, he declared, and added that if an incomprehensible noise were to occur right then he and all the others would jump out of the windows.

The volume of wages is regulated by fixed laws, he declared, and he said it was no Utopian dream that ere another trust conference rolled around employers and employes would be living in peace and harmony, with the former insisting on the latter joining unions.

Both speeches were received with warm outbursts of enthusiasm.

Street Car Officials Quit Work.

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 18.—General Manager Walter, Superintendent Uhl, several dispatchers and crews of Albert L. Johnson's Lehigh Valley Traction system, quit work because Mr. Johnson had appointed some Brooklyn men to important posts on the line in place of local men who were discharged. The changes were very unpopular with the patrons of the road, and when President Johnson visited Allentown and refused to recede from his position, General Manager Walter and Superintendent Uhl resigned. The other men quit work soon after and others are expected to do so.

Death of a Promising Attorney.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 18.—After an illness which had been continuous since Januray last, Rufus Wheeler Peckham, Jr., the youngest son of Justice Rufus W. Peckham, of the United States Supreme Court, died at the country residence of the family, at Altamont. Mr. Peckham, who was thirty years old, was considered one of the most promising of the young members of the bar of this state.

Democrat Congressman Dead.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 18.—Daniel A. Ermentrout, who was elected last November to his sixth term in Congress from the Ninth distruct (Berks and Lehigh Counties), is dead. He was 62 years old and a Democrat. On Thursday, while at dinner, a piece of meat lodged in his throat and a physician had to be calltd to save him from strangulation. Paralysis of the throat followed, but his death was unexpected. Mr. Ermentrout is survived by a widow, a son and daughter.

May Succeed Pauncefote.

London, Sept. 18.—Commenting upon the difficulty experienced in finding a successor as Ambassador at Washington to Lord Pauncafete, a weekly paper says it is more than likely that Sir Thomas H. Sanderson, K. C. B., Permanent Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs since 1894, will receive the appointment as a reward for his long services.

Paralyzed From Scurvy.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 18.—Gerald Petre, first cousin of Lord Petre of Essex, England, and next of kin and heir to the Petre estates in England, has arrived from Alaska. He is a helpless cripple. His entire left side is paralyzed from scurvy.

Did Not Reply to MacVeagh.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Colonel Barr of the Judge Advocate's Department, who has been on sick leave, has returned to his station in Chicago. He said his visit to Washington had nothing to do with the Carter case.

Suicided After Killing a Girl.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 18.—Frank Goodrich, thrity-five years old, of Wethersfield, murdered Mary E. Banning, a resident of that place. After killing the girl, Goodrich took his own life.

Conferred Again With President.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Bartlett M. Tripp, the American representative of the Samoan Commission, has had another conference with the President on the confidential features of the work of the Commissioners in Apia.

WAR SEEMS INEVITABLE.

Believed in London That Only War Can Settle the Transvaal Complications.

WAR SPIRIT INCREASED.

Departure of British Troops for South Africa Causes Much Speculation Throughout England.

Serious Danger of an Unauthorized Clash on the Frontier—Attitude of the Boers Not Thought Justifiable to England in Commencing Hostilities.

London, Sept. 18.—While the hope of avoiding hostilities between Great Britain and the Boers has undoubtedly diminished, there is still adequate justification for the widespread belief in London that war is now inevitable. All accounts agree that the Boer reply to the British demands is tantamount to a refusal. Nevertheless they reckon without the restraining influence of British conscience, who believe that England's answer will be a declaration of war or the firing of a British gun without further preliminaries. The Boers may expect this; in fact, the real danger is that they assume a British intention to immediately attack them and will seek to forestall the British at some frontier point.

The war spirit is strong in England, and especially in London, but its strength is exaggerated, both in the press and other public utterances. It is beginning to be realized by conservative opinion that the remaining issues with the Boer republic will not justify England before the world, or before her own conscience, in striking down a free white people. It may be the intention of the Salisbury Government, sooner or later, by one means or another, to add the Transvaal Republic to the British dominions, but it will not be attempted without a better excuse than the Boer refusal to grant the outstanding demands. Such an excuse, unfortunately, may be forthcoming at any moment. There are plenty of agents of Cecil Rhodes, with other fire eaters, on the Transvaal frontier ready to provide it even if the Boers themselves do not.

The artificial nature of much of the war excitement both here and at the Cape is becoming more palpable daily. The peace party has no fair representation in the London press. The Manchester Guardian is its only powerful exponent. The influence of the Chartered Company on the English press was never so strongly demonstrated as now.

Many Englishmen are puzzled by Sir Alfred Milner's openly bellicose attitude. His last despatch is nothing less than an appeal to the Government to proceed to extreme measures immediately. This is an open espousal of the war party's cause, and deeply disappoints many of Sir Alfred's friends, who have heretofore had unlimited confidence in his prudence, conservatism and toleration.

The public excitement in London is fed by the enthusiastic farewell to departing troops, and the long series of war office announcements of fresh preparations for war. The patriotic thrills aroused by reading these stern orders were turned to pathos by this accompanying circular, signed by the Secretary of War: "It has been noticed that a predominant fashion exists for young officers to shave the upper lip. This is much to be regretted." The order proceeds to request the superior officers to take such steps as may be necessary to ensure that the Queen's regulations are observed.

The latest news from South Africa confirms the statements made by the Cape Town correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette in regard to the willingness of the Transvaal Government to grant the seven years' franchise, provided it is not regarded as a precedent, and the appointment of a joint commission of inquiry.

It is Negative and Conclusive.

London, Sept. 18.—The reply of the Transvaal Government to Mr. Chamberlain's latest note covers nine pages. It is eminently of the "negative and inconclusive" character which Mr. Chamberlain declared would compel the Imperial Government to consider the situation afresh. It practically repudiates suzerainty, reverts to the seven years' franchise, and declines to give equality to the Dutch and English languages in the Volksraad.

In short, it is negative and defiant politely. The full text may not be available for a day or two, but it will not change the aspect of affairs. The Cabinet probably will meet on Wednesday or Thursday to consider the next step.

Has a Capital of Seventeen Millions

Pittsburg, Sept. 18.—James A Chambers, president of the American Glass Company, is authority for the statement that a window glass combine has been effected. The new company will take in fifty of the largest concerns in the country, their aggregate capacity being about 2,000 pots. This is said to leave only about 600 pots outside of the combine. The new company will bear the old name of "American Glass Company," and will be capitalized at $17,000,000.

Rochester's Loss By Fire.

Rochester, Sept. 18.—A fire, which started in the boiler room of the Ira S. Desbro box factory, No. 7 Aqueduct street, totally destroyed that six-story structure, togeher with the J. H. Chase flouring mills, four stories high, and damaged surrounding property. Two firemen, William Scanlon of Hose No. 6 and William Oakman of Hose No. 11, were injured, the former seriously. The total loss will reach about $100,000.

Alabama Invites the President.

Huntsville, Ala., Sept. 18.—The Chamber of Commerce of this city has invited President McKinley to attend the deliberations of the coming industrial convention.

HE IS HOPELESSLY INSANE.

Richard Droehmer, of Philadelphia, in Jail at Lyons, N. Y.

Lyons, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Richard H. Droehmer, who suddenly went insane at Philadelphia on Aug. 24, deserting his wife, and for information concerning whom the Philadelphia Ledger has been advertising, lies hopelessly insane in the Wayne County Jail here. Droehmer is 32 years old and is from Berlin, Germany. His father, he says, was president of the Academy of Arts in Berlin in 1890. He was honorary president of the Academies of Art at Turin and Munich. His father, he says, left an estate of five million marks. After graduating from a technical high school in Berlin, he says, he travelled all over the world. Arriving here in 1892 he obtained employment as an expert electrician in the Carnegie works at Pittsburg and afterward with the General Electric Company at Schenectady and the Westinghouse Company. He says he was married sixteen months ago in Pittsburg.

He was arrested on Sept. 7 for stealing a box of cigars and a bottle of whisky from the Hotel Iroquois. On it being discovered that he was insane, he was sent to jail.

His satchel contained much booty taken from the Wagner cars in which he travelled. During his lucid intervals he gave information about himself to Police Justice Williams, who upon communicating with the Westinghouse people found that Droehmer's story was correct. He deserted his wife on Aug. 24 at Philadelphia as they were going to New York to return to Germany. His wife, supposing he had gone ahead, took a vessel and is now presumably in Germany. At that time Droehmer had plenty of money. He had none when arrested.

C. A. Pillsbury Passes Away.

Minneapolis, Sept. 18.—C. A. Pillsbury of this city, the miller known as "The Flour King," died at his home here from heart disease.

At the time of his death Mr. Pillsbury was the principal owner of the most extensive flour milling systems in the world, and enployed in his enterprise an army of men. The relation between capital and labor in the Pillsbury mills have been peculiarly pleasant. One feature of the management is a profit-sharing scheme, by which in some years as much as $25,000 goes to especially efficient employes. Mr. Pillsbury was State Senator from 1877 to 1887.

CHARLES A. PILLSBURY.

Dreyfus to be a Free Man.

Paris, Sept. 18.—Capt. Alfred Dreyfus will be released Tuesday, Sept. 19, and thereafter will be at liberty to pursue, as a free man, the vindication of his honor which no pardon can give. The Court of Cassation will then be open to him for quashing the Rennes verdict as soon as the necessary facts for demonstrating his innocence have been collected. The prisoner himself is unable as yet to declare his intentions in this respect, but his family and friends, in announcing the withdrawal of the appeal to the military court of revision, at the request of the Government, affirm their purpose never to rest until the rehabilitation of the injured man is complete.

Will Declare Strike Off.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 18.—Twenty-five of the old employes of the Big Consolidated Street Railroad Company have just gone to work, making in all about 150 who have returned. A meeting of the employes will be held at which time an effort will be made to have the strike declared off. The call for a meeting was issued by the Strikers' Executive Committee at the request of a large number of the men who appear to have lost all hope of carrying the fight to a successful conclusion.

Prof. Washington to Be Honored.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 18.—The leading negroes of this city are arranging for a big reception for Booker T. Washington, who has been invited to speak here on Sept. 25. Governor Candler will welcome the colored educator on behalf of the state, and Clark Howell for the white people of the city. Professor Wahington will speak on "The Negro Race in the Light of Foreign Travel," relating his experiences on his recent trip to Europe.

Our Troops Parade in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 18.—The Thirty-second Regiment, U. S. V., Col. L. A. Craig, passed through here on its way to Manila. A stop of three hours was made and the command marched through the principal streets, was addressed by the Mayor and presented with a silk flag.

A Shipment of Coal For Italy.

Norfolk, Va. Sept. 18.—The Italian steamer Hercules, which arrived here from Brindisi, has cleared for Genoa with a cargo of Pocahontas coal. The shipment of coal mined in the United States is a result of the Spanish war and the coincident strike of the Cardiff, Wales, miners.

Rhodes Dona ed a Lion.

London, Sept. 18.—A despatch to the Central News from Cape Town says that Cecil Rhodes recently learned that the Zoological Gardens at Pretoria did not possess a good lion. He immediately sent a fine specimen of that animal to the gardens with his compliments.

CORNER NORTH AND PARK AVENUES

A woman whose home is in Lancaster, Pa., suffered from water brash and sleeplessness, which always ended in severe sick headache, lasting two or three days. Physicians told her it was a "stomach dyspepsia," and that the headaches were due to her age (53 years). She got one small bottle of Ripans Tabules at first, and felt better after taking them. Then she tried more. The water brash left her, and she did not have a spell of sick headache for about a month—the longest she was ever without one for a long time.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

SIX NEGRO MINERS KILLED.

Carterville, Ill., the Scene of an Awful Butchery.

Carterville, Ill., Sept. 18.—Carterville was the scene of a bloody riot in which six negroes were killed instantly and one fatally wounded, while two others received slight wounds. The badly wounded man is said to be dead. Trouble has been brewing since the militia was recalled by Governor Tanner last Monday. The white miners have refused to allow the negro miners to come into town, always meeting them and ordering them back.

However, thirteen negroes, all well armed, marched into town, going to the Illinois Central station, where they exchanged a few words with the white miners. Then the negroes pulled their pistols and opened fire on the whites, who returned the fire. A running fight was kept up.

The negroes scattered, some being closely followed by the whites up the main street, while the remainder fled down the railroad track. Here the execution was done, all who went through town escaping.

After the fight was over six bodies were picked up and taken to the City Hall, where an inquest was held. One of the dead men was a negro preacher.

One of the negroes when first shot started to run. He was shot again and fell. One of the white men then ran up and shot him through the head with a rifle. The shooting took place in front of Mayor Zimmerman's house and in full view of several women seated on the porch.

Strike May Keep President Away.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The Building Trades Council has adopted a vote of confidence in M. J. Sullivan, chairman of the Strike Committee on the new Post Office. It voted that no masonry work of any sort be done on the building until the stone cutting is unionized, and it gave favorable consideration to a report that the work on the arches and other street decorations should be stopped because non-union electricians have been employed. An informal announcement was made after the council adjourned that a general strike would be ordered on the Post Office building within a few days, and the prediction was advanced that President McKinley would not find it desirable to come to the proposed corner stone laying celebration.

Death Did Not Separate Them.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Conrad Leibfried, eighty-four years old, who had lived in this city more than sixty years, died from grief, caused by the death of his wife on Thursday last. Mr. Leibfried was in excellent health until his wife's death. He lay on a lounge Saturday, and when his daughter spoke to him soon afterward he did not answer. The family physician was summoned and found Mr. Leibfried dead. He had been married more than forty years, and when he learned that his wife was dying he told her that his death would soon follow hers.

Revolutionists Win Another Battle.

Caracas, Venezuela, Sept. 18.—Cipriano Castro, at the head of the revolutionary army, has fought and won a bloody battle near Tacuyo. He has taken Valencia and Puerto Cabello, and it is believed the killed and wounded will number sixteen hundred. It is reported that Senor Ferrer, the Minister of War, has been killed. President Andrade, who left last Thursday to put himself at the head of the government forces in Valencia, is returning to Caracas.

American Athletes Won.

Toronto, Ontario, Sept. 18.—The weather was all that could be desired for the sixteenth annual tournament of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union at Rosedale. The results in the different events do not pay a very high compliment to the ability of the Canadian athletes, the Americans capturing every one. Kraenzlein, Flanagan, Baxter and Long, all of the New York Athletic Club, were the chief winners.

Home from Europe.

New York, Sept. 18.—The American liner St. Louis has arrived with a shipload of distinguished passengers. Senator Mark A. Hanna, Seth Low, President of Columbia College, and one time candidate for Mayor; former Mayor Thomas F. Gilroy, Wayne MacVeagh, counsel for Captain Carter; former Senator Pavey and Frank S. Monnett, Attorney General of Ohio, were among the passengers.

Accidentally Shot His Friend.

Burlington, N. J., Sept. 18.—While Edgar Horner was out to shoot reed birds on the Burlington flats, his gun was discharged and the shot from both barrels entered the head of William Lawrence, killing him instantly. The young men were inseparable companions and worked at the same bench in R. T. Wood's shoe factory.

$600,000 Fire on Long Island.

Amagansett, L. I., Sept. 18.—The plant of the American Fishing Company, at Promised Land, a short distance from this place was destroyed by fire with nearly all its contents. In all eight buildings were burned. The loss is $600,000.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 18.—Stocks were a little firmer than Friday and closed with fractional advances.

A Great Railway Enterprise.

Albert L. Johnson, formerly head of the Nassau Street Railway, Brooklyn, N. Y., has laid plans to introduce the American trolley car in London. About October 1 he will apply for a franchise for a trolley road from London to Brighton. The distance is forty-five miles, all over a private right of way, and the fare will be sixpence. Mr. Johnson says the rides will not exceed one and one-half feet to the mile, and the rails will be so heavy that he hopes the cars will average a mile a minute, except in the city limits. American capital, he says, is backing the scheme.

DID NOT CONSULT SCHLEY

The Rear Admiral's Transfer Said to Be a Very Unusual Procedure.

NOT DESIRABLE STATION

Preliminary Steps Taken to Assign Him to Command of South Atlantic Squadron.

To Perform a Duty Which Has Usually Fallen to the Lot of a Captain — His Present Appointment Declined on a Previous Occasion. May Revive Old Controversy.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Formal orders have been issued to Rear-Admiral Schley directing him to hold himself in readiness for sea duty, this being preliminary toward assigning him to command the South Atlantic station. From all that can be learned here in the absence of Rear-Admiral Schley, he has not had an opportunity to indicate whether this assignment would be agreeable to him or not. It is unusual in the case of an officer of flag rank to give him an assignment without first consulting his wishes, but Schley's pleasure in this instance does not seem to have been considered. This is the least desirable of the flag commands and one which has heretofore been given to a captain for that reason. Altogether Rear-Admiral Howison has been in command of this station, it was only in a nominal way, for he made a cruise with the Chicago around Africa and through the South Pacific waters embraced within this station.

Two small gunboats plying in Southern waters were designated as belonging to the South Atlantic station. Therefore it is obvious why Schley would not care for the station. In fact, when it was offered to him some time ago he declined it. It was well known then that he desired a sea command more befitting his rank, having expressed preference for the European station.

His friends have confidently believed he would be given the European station when there should be vessels to permit its re-establishment. It has been thought that when the Kearsarge was put in commission the department would be ready to organize a squadron for that station. It has been desired by the department to send representative ships to the European waters in view of the reputation gained by American warships during the war with Spain, and as Schley was one of the naval heroes it was thought the department would at least be generous enough to have him cross the Atlantic.

Whether Schley will make a formal protest or not remains to be seen, but his friends are already active and may intercede in his behalf. He cannot refuse, however, if ordered to go, unless he is prepared to resign or submit to a court-martial. But it is believed Schley will not go on record as refusing.

It is now believed Rear-Admiral Remy will be given the Asiatic station should Rear-Admiral Watson's health incapacitate him for further duty afloat, and it has been intimated that Sampson will be permitted to take a squadron to European waters, in which event a squadron of respectable proportions would be assigned to him.

Those who had hoped that the Schley-Sampson controversy had ended now fear that it will assume a more unpleasant phase than has attached to it heretofore, if the Department continues to treat Schley with such indifference while showing the fullest consideration to Sampson.

Interceding For Damhoffer.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Senator Foster of Washington has called upon the President in the interest of Corporal Damhoffer, who has been sentenced to death, together with a private of the Sixteenth infantry, for assaulting native women in Manila. Senator Foster was informed by the President that nothing concerning the cases had been received from General Otis. He promised that when the papers arrived Senator Foster and the friends of the condemned men should have a full hearing.

Senator Foster went from the White House to the War Department. He saw Adjutant General Corbin, who said General Otis would be asked not to carry the sentence into effect until after he had reported the facts to the deparment.

Bore a Good Reputation.

Vancouver, Wash., Sept. 18.—Corporal George Damhoffer of Company B, Sixteenth infantry, who was sentenced to death in Manila, is a resident of this city. His mother, who lives here, is prostrated over the news. Damhoffer bore an excellent reputation.

Fever Increasing at Key West.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 18.—The fever epidemic seems to be increasing rapidly at Key West, as the latest report gives thirty-eight new cases. There has been one more death, Captain Shattuch. This makes more than three hundred cases so far in the two weeks since the epidemic began. Private advices say the physicians there are overworked, and it is not improbable that a call may be made for volunteer physicians.

Summer Hotel Burned.

Boston, Sept. 18.—The Grand View House at the summit of Wachusset Mountain in Princeton, a land mark for many years, was burned to the ground. The guests barely escaped with their lives and saved few of their belongings. One woman lost jewelry and clothing valued at $12,000.

Governor Wolcott Accepts.

Boston, Sept. 18.—Gov. Wolcott has decided to attend the exercises to be held in Washington in celebration of Admiral Dewey's return. His Excellency has written to that effect, accepting the invitation and promising to attend with his staff.

Referring to the action of the Central Railroad in removing the through train between Plainfield and Newark, put on several months ago at the behest of the Newark merchants, the Elizabeth Journal truthfully says: "In making up its new time table the Central Railroad abandoned the train which ran through from Plainfield to Newark. This train was clamored for by the Newark storekeepers and Board of Trade. It was opposed by not a few of the Plainfield merchants, and though the Elizabeth storekeepers took no action to prevent the running of such a train, they were, as a rule, opposed to it. After a three months' trial the train has been withdrawn. It did not pay. Newark is a city of good size, with many excellent stores, but there are other cities in which good goods are sold at reasonable prices—Plainfield is one and Elizabeth is another."

The proceedings of the conference of eminent gentlemen representing all sorts and conditions of men and all shades of opinion, which was held in Chicago last week, to arrive at some worthy conclusion about the existence and operation of trusts, possessed peculiar significance for New Jersey. As the chief propagating and fostering ground for all the big monopolies of the country, New Jersey is vitally interested in all that transpired in that conference, and the addressees that were made there should finally resolve themselves into a concentrated idea that will take root in this State and grow and grow in its salutory effect until the commonwealth is relieved of the stigma that the present disreputable incorporating business has stamped upon it.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

It looks very much as though the Democrats are to nominate Freeholder Scudder for Senator. Naturally enough, his Republican friends are very sorry that he should consent to be made a sacrifice of, as he is an all round good fellow. And yet, after all there is no stronger candidate for the unterrified. Mr. Cross will be renominated, and the gentleman from Picton will have to learn a lesson or two. Yet, if we are to have a Democratic Senator Mr. Scudder can't be improved on. Wonder if he would, if elected, vote for the re-election of James Smith, Jr? Wonder how he stands on the trust question?—Westfield Republican.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Justice Collins, of the Supreme Court, enjoys a little joke occasionally. Friday afternoon, while the Middlesex Court was hearing the testimony in a very dry ejectment case, Deputy County Clerk Helm entered the court room and whispered something to Lawyer McCarter, of Nawark. The lawyer, rising and addressing the Court, said: "Your Honor, will you excuse me, somebody wishes to see me at once on the telephone."

"He can't," answered the Justice.

The lawyer bowed graciously, acknowledging the apparent refusal of the court, and was about to continue with the case.

"He can talk to you, though," continued the Justice.

There was a general laugh at the lawyer's expense as he hurried over to the telephone.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"Way Down East" which comes to Music Hall tomorrow night, had a run of seven consecutive months at the Manhattan Theatre, New York, and is said to be superior to "The Old Homestead" and "Shore Acres." It has received the endorsement of prominent clergymen and the press of New York and Boston particularly, and now begins its first season "on the road," the engagement in this city, being the second performance outside of the two great cities. It will be seen here with all the original scenery and splendid effects which helped make it so realistic and so successful in New York, the several roles being portrayed by many of the original cast. When the play was presented in Boston last season, a number of clergymen were invited to attend the performance and the following endorsement is worthy of space: "Messrs. Brady and Grismer. Dear Sirs:—I must thank you heartily for the enjoyment afforded me by the performance of "Way Down East." Seldom is a play so entirely free from broad allusions, by word or action. It is a trite remark since many other clergymen have seen it, but it is a good sermon. It is a new thing to have men preached it so truthfully, and the great popularity of such a clean play assures me that the human race is progressing; and I assure you that at least one person is grateful to the stage for helping the pulpit teach men and women that virtue's ways alone are pleasant, and as one sows so surely shall he reap. Sincerely yours, Wm. F. Potter, pastor Unitarian church, Winthrop, Mass."

Stetson's double monster Uncle Tom's Cabin Company will present their popular and unrivalled version of the ever-welcome Uncle Tom's Cabin at Music Hall, Friday, matinee and night. That their entertainment gives unlimited satisfaction is fully evidenced from the number of laudatory notices compilmenting their excellent performance. Look out for the big street parade.

The Pure Food Question

Has attracted a great deal of attention during the past few years.

Pure food inspectors at a good, big salary are appointed, but we never hear of any attempt being made to compel the use of pure cooking utersils.

No matter how pure the food may be, it will suffer by being cooked in a kettle that will scale off, and is not acid proof.

Stransky-Steel Ware has four heavy coats of enamel—each coat burnt on separately—that's why it don't chip off in big flakes and get in your food.

Just try one piece of "Stransky"—more good argument in that than in all our talk.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Menzenbach, of Somerset street, have been entertaining company from Elizabeth.

Miss Tyler, of Brookfield, Mass., is visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. F. E. Bemis, 203 Watchung avenue.

William A. Townsend, of Myrtle avenue, left today for Ithaca, N. Y., where he will enter Cornell University.

Robert Turrill, of Grove street, who who has been ill with typhoid fever, is so much improved that he is able to be out again.

Miss Florence Dodge, of East Second street, began her duties this morning as stenographer in the law offices of Murphy & Blatz.

Harry Yaeger, of Liberty street, who has been working at Asbury Park for several months, has returned to his New York position with Stern Bros.

The Church Goer.

The Rev. Dr. D. J. Hauer of Hanover, Pa., the oldest Lutheran clergyman in America, is 98 years of age.

In more than 500 American colleges there is to-day a carefully organized Young Men's Christian association.

There are 42,893 Baptist churches in the United States, an increase of 500 over the number reported last year.

The largest salaries ever paid to clergymen in this country were those of Henry Ward Beecher and Dr. John Hall.—$20,000 to each.

In Belgium the people seem to live in the presence of God. At 6 o'clock, evening, you hear from every cottage the voices of father, mother, and children, and servants saying their prayers and it is much the same at noon.

According to the reports made at the recent annual meeting of the American Unitarian association the number of contributing churches rose during last year from 274 to 319, the largest number in the history of the association.

A curious custom survives at Llanfihangel, in Carmarthenshire, Wales, where, in the ruins of a building known as the "Pilgrim's Church," and said to have been associated with pilgrims in the middle ages, a service is held once a year—in summer.

A preacher named Houldsworth, who had preached for eighty years, died recently in the Malifax, England, almshouse, aged 94 years. He began to preach at 14, and when 80 years of age traveled fifteen miles on a Sunday to conduct services in five places.

The Catholic University has now about it four colleges and novitiates, located in Washington, in furtherance of making it the great center of Catholic educational interests in America. The newest one is the College of the Holy Land, which is to be dedicated on September 17.

The list of Presbyterian ministers deceased last year, a list that has just been made up, shows a remarkable longevity. The total number is 145, a percentage of less than three to the thousand, and seventy-three, or precisely one-half, were past 70 years of afe—forty-one of them past 80 years. Scarcely a dozen in the entire list died under 50 years of age.

None of the rival parties in the Anglican Church seems satisfied with the Archbishop's "opinion." High churchmen are against the frankly "Erastian" basis of the decision, ritualists complain that their main arguments have been cleverly evaded, but not answered, while low churchmen are terrified by the half-promise of the Archbishop to legalize the condemned ceremonies by order of the crown.

The Jester.

"You say the popular Miss Smith can play the piano. I never heard her."

"That's just the point. She can, but she doesn't."

"What is your idea of a silent partner?" was asked of a business oracle on the Board of Trade.

"He's the fellow that puts his money into the firm and keeps his mouth shut while it is being spent."

"Mamma, what are stars?" asked Freddie.

"What do you think they are, son?" she replied.

"I fancy they must be the moon's eggs," returned the young man.

"Why is it," they asked, "that you let your husband have his own way in everything?"

"Because," she replied, "I like to have someone to blame when things go wrong."

He (reading item in newspaper): "It is estimated that in a few thousand years the human race will have become entirely destitute of teeth.'

She: "And yet you want Tommy to be a dentist."

"Events are moving rapidly in this country," said one man. "Hardly a day passes without one hearing of a new political party."

"That's true, was the answer. "And hardly another day passes without its ceasing to be heard of."

They met at Narragansett Pier.

"I thought you said you preferred the mountains to the seashore," remarked the girl in blue.

"Oh, that was before papa consented to let me get a little dainty $25 bathing suit," was the reply.

"In some future year," said the citizen with a powerful imagination, "the human race will find the sun extinct. That once glowing orb will cease to shed its rays upon our world. Then what'll we do?"

"What will we do?" echoed the morose man, who was grinning for the first time in weeks. "That isn't the question. What'll the iceman do?"

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 18—Mr. and Mrs. Henry TenEyck, of Fairview avenue, are enjoying a visit from Mr. TenEyck's sisters, Mrs. J. G. Sherman, of Davenport, Delaware county, N. Y., and Mrs. Henry S. Doolett, of Pompey, Onondaga county, N. Y. The visit of these ladies is partly in the nature of a family reunion. For a number of years it has been customary for the members of the family to meet and annually enjoy each other's society and renew the felicitous greetings of one another. It was expected that Mrs. O. D. Woodford, of Castleton, N. Y., and S. G. TenEyck, of Davenport, N. Y., would also be present and participate in the festivities of the occasion, but they were unavoidably detained. Mrs. Sherman is Mr. TenEyck's youngest sister. Mr. TenEyck is the oldest member of the family who is now living He formerly lived in Delaware county, N. Y.

The fifteenth annual convention of the Union County Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held in the Presbyterian church next Thursday. Sessions will be held morning, afternoon and evening. At the morning session the address of welcome will be delivered by Mrs. T. C. Bodine and the response will be by Mrs. I. Z. Hatfield. At the afternoon session papers will be read by a number of the most prominent workers in the cause. Mrs. J. I. Ellis will deliver an address in the evening. The exercises give promise of being highly interesting.

The Rev. and Mrs. A. I. Martine have returned from Nyack, N. Y. Mr. Martine occupied the pulpit at the Presbyterian church yesterday, both morning and evening.

George W. Day and Sandford C. Staples will represent the Democrats and Henry C. Gaskill and Eugene Runyon the Republicans on the borough election board.

OFTEN FOOLED.

Pawnbrokers Are By No Means the Shrewdest Class of Persons.

"People who put faith in the traditional shrewdness of pawnbrokers," said a veteran in the business, "would be surprised if they knew how often they are fooled into loaning more than the value of a pledge. Most of the big shops have experts who are hard to deceive, but they make mistakes now and then, while with others of less experience overvaluation is a distressingly common occurrence. A certain class of sharpers make a living victimizing pawnbrokers, and they regard them as tolerably easy prey. Colored stones are often used for that purpose, and I have known dozens of large loans to be made on fake rubies and emeralds. The bogus stones are usually mixed with good ones in the setting, and are hard to detect. A few years ago an ingenious chap discovered that by dipping an off-colored diamond in a weak solution of aniline ink he could render it temporarily blue-white and extraordinarily brilliant. He saw a fine field for operation in the pawn shops, and these 'painted diamonds,' as they are called, were worked off all over the country, before the trick was exposed. A big yellow stone worth, say $75, would look like a $500 gem, and it was no trouble at all to borrow from $250 to $300 on such security. The ink cost only five cents a bottle, so you see the profits were large. Another common swindle is a filled watch case, reinforced at points where it would be apt to be tested, and pawned for solid gold. When these watches were first made there were few pawnbrokers that didn't get one or two. The works of a watch may also be 'faked,' as the saying goes. For years a firm in Switzerland made cheap works in imitation of famous and expensive varieties and forged the name on the dial and inside plate. It was only a surface imitation, but it was good enough to pass muster at many a shop. Lots of men have been forced out of business simply because they were loaded up with worthless pledges. They were no blockheads either, but the crooks were too clever for them."—Philadelphia Item.

Won His Case.

"That reminds me," said a Chicago man in a reminiscent group the other night, "of an old story that is good enough to repeat. Some years ago three bookmakers put up at a Chicago hotel and handed a large package of money to the chief clerk. They told him that they would leave it with him every night, and were particular in saying that it was to be delivered only in the presence of all three. It was evident, you see, that they didn't quite trust one another. Well, a week or so rolled around, and one morning one of the trio came down rather early and called for the cash. Without thinking of the conditions of delivery the clerk handed it over and the bookmaker promptly skipped. His two partners were furious and brought suit against the hotel for $25,000, the amount in the bundle. A smart young lawyer volunteered to take the defense, which other attorneys regarded as hopeless. When the trial came off he waited until the bookmakers had submitted all their evidence, and then arose with a large bundle in his hand. 'We stand ready,' he said, 'to fulfill the letter of agreement you have just proved. This package contains $25,000 in cash. As soon as the three owners apply for it together we are prepared to turn it over.' Of course the third man couldn't be produced, and the case immediately collapsed. The parcel really contained an old pair of pants."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Extreme Measures.

A remarkable event has occurred at Tsing-kiangpu. A man by the name of King had a son who made his father and mother "lose face" because of the wild, rakish life he led. He gambled, loafed, smoked opium, etc. If he stole his father would be taken to the yamen, and the whole family would suffer for the son's villainy, and the vital question was, how could the family be protected? At last they arrived at the conclusion that the only way to protect the father and mother was to take extreme measures with the son, which they did with a vengeance. The father and uncle took him out among the graves, followed by a crowd of curious neighbors and friends, and, putting a rope around his neck, each relation pulled on an end, and the son was put beyond ruining the family in this world.—North China Herald.

AN ANGEL DACHSHUND DOG

It Enabled Mrs. Jones to Keep Up With Her Errant Husband.

Jones, Algernon H., clk., h. — 114th street, New York, as the directory describes him, was very tall. Emily, Mrs., was very short. At one time Jones walked very fast, taking long strides. Mrs. Jones walked slowly, trotting along with steps the length of a foot-rule. At present writing roles are reversed. Jones walks very slowly and Mrs. Jones can walk with comparative rapidity, although the length of her womanly stride is still just twelve inches on level ground. Now all of this was brought about by Bijou, and people who say horrid things about him simply because he's one of those wobbly dachshund dogs, are criticizing an angel in disguise and had better stop it.

It is this way: Mrs. Jones, trot as she would, couldn't keep up with her husband. She would call out to him, half a block ahead, to go less like an automobile. He'd slow up for a while and then straightway forget and do another 100-yard dash, leaving Mrs. Jones to her own conversation and scenery. Mrs. Jones used to cry and say Algy didn't love her any more, and he'd say: "Nonsense, my dear," and get interested in his newspaper, or heartlessly read the joke column out loud, a thing no gentleman with a feeling for a woman's delicate sense of humor would do.

Mrs. Jones, however, was a woman of resources, and rather than let Jones go to the deuce at his own pace, resolved upon heroic measures to reclaim him. One day when he came home she said, "Oh, Algernon, I've got such a nice present for you. Guess what?" Jones shuddered, and guessed, "A necktie?" "Oh, you foolish dear! You'll never guess it," and she led him into the drawing-room, where tied to a chair was the wobbliest dachshund dog Jones had ever seen.

"Isn't it a dear," cooed Mrs. Jones; and Bijou wagged himself all over, so glad was he to see Jones whom he had never seen before. "Yes," said Jones, "he is lovely, but tell me, my dear, is he standing up or only lying down on his elbows? And can he walk, or must we roll him around in a perambulator?" "What a stupid. Of course he can walk. Here, Bijou." In time Bijou waddled across the room.

"Now, dear, take him out for a walk. You had better keep him chained. When you come back supper'll be all ready." It was just like a play. It took Jones eight minutes to get him downstairs, and the more he cussed the more Bijou stopped to wag himself. Then Jones started off. One stride and he felt a jerk at the chain. Bijou was being dragged along on his back, like an overturned toy fire engine, and squealing in German dog language. Jones stopped, because he hates to hurt dogs, for which he has a passion. Bijou rolled over and started to paddle, like a seal. "Come, doggie," said Jones, and then forgot again. Bijou this time took a compulsory leap through the air and landed in a velvetty heap far ahead of his master. After that Jones walked slowly and didn't forget very often. In half an hour he had gotten nearly around the block. Then he picked Bijou up and went in to supper. He was completely cowed.

Now when Mr. and Mrs. Jones go for a walk they get along very well except that Mrs. Jones trots ahead sometimes, which forces Jones to beg: "Emily, dear, don't walk like a steam engine. Poor Bijou can't keep up." Then Mrs. Jones slows up but does not gloat, says the Mail and Express. She merely sees that Bijou gets plenty of sugar and grows wabbiler with the days. She thinks that before long she can trust Jones on the street without lashing him to Bijou. As it is, he is late for business every day.

Ballad of a Blighted Being.

I don't know why I shouldn't flirt
Like other girls—and yet
Somehow, whenever I attempt
To dally or coquet
My efforts seem to fill the world
With wonder and amaze.
O dear! I only wish I had
Some little witching ways.
My sisters often used to try
To put me on the track,
And once I learned to roll my eyes—
A captivating knack—
But all the men on whom I turned
That sudden sidelong glance,
Looked scared to death and asked me if I had St. Vitus dance.
I practice blushing till mamma
(Who always fears the worst)
With apoplexy in her mind
Forbade me lest I burst.
I've simpered, bridled, tossed my head,
Sighed, pouted, all in vain;
Society, with one accord
Pronounces me insane.
So nolens volens I resign
My last despairing hope.
It's hard to teach an elephant
To dance upon a rope—
But if I patiently endure
These prosy earthly days,
Perhaps in heaven I shall have
Some little witching ways!

NEW FIELD FOR WOMEN.

Co-Operative Private Secretaries Attend to Feminine Correspondence.

Within the last two months a new enterprise has been started by women who are eager to be independent. There is but one office of the kind in Chicago, and they are quite proud of the monopoly. The three occupants are kept constantly busy from 9 in the morning until 5 in the evening answering ceremonious letters, notes of polite inquiry and invitations. They really act as a private secretary for leaders of fashionable society who have no time or inclination to attend to their own correspondence.

Promptness is required by the rules of etiquette, and to many of these ladies who receive large numbers of letters that require attention the services of an amanuensis has become a necessity. The writer must understand and have been accustomed to the best social usages. The grand dame drives to the office and spends an hour or two explaining the particulars of her mail. The secretary then arranges the mail in order. When madam is ready the secretary reads the letters to her, and notes on the margin of each the nature of the reply that is to be made.

Madam simply remarks "accept," "decline," "previous engagement," or in some way laconically indicates by a word or two her wishes, then she leaves all the rest with perfect confidence to the bureau. The wording of the replies is left to the secretary, who, therefore, must be familiar with the various forms of polite phraseology, and must write the large aristocratic hand now in vogue. Intelligence and tact are the chief requisites, and there must be no mistakes. The work is not very laborious, and the pay is quite remunerative. On the whole it is pleasanter than the usual downtown work.

Bangles for Ankles.

There is a new fad abroad in the way of betrothal gifts—new and novel, and one whose origin it would be hard to trace, unless we go far back into the customs of the Orient and there find its prototype. The proper way to seal a betrothal compact now is to give a bangle, but not just an ordinary bangle to slip up and down the arm—not the old fashioned, common place bangle which is fastened with a pretty lock, the key to which is carried next the heart—but a gold or silver bangle, just large enough to slip up and down the ankle, fastened with a little lock.

This is the latest, the very latest and newest fad. The bangle may be of gold or silver, just as the doner's pocketbook will allow, and the little lock which fastens it must be secured by a gold or silver key.

The origin of the fad can only be found in the East, where bracelets and bangles are as common on the ankles as on the wrists. Every one who has read "Salammbo" remembers the delicate, dainty, golden circlets which clasped her pretty ankles, only that Salammbo's were chained so that her feet could only step just so far and no further.

The bangle must be loose enough to allow the stocking to be taken off and put on without removing the circlet. It must be tight enough to be kept in place above the shoe top, and many button the top button of a high shoe over the bawble to keep it in place.

It may prove an inconvenience with a low shoe or slipper, but what girl would not put up with the slight discomfort of having her pretty bangle slip down so that it shows a little, just to prove to another girl that she has a sweetheart and a bangle, of which he carries the key?

A Virginia Woman's Success.

A Virginia woman who owns a little land has gone into the business of raising sheep. She spent $25, paying $3 a head for ewes, and then turned her flock into her pasture land. She raised what she could care for on the land, selling the rest as soon as they were of a marketable age. She gave only about one hour a day to them, and paid a boy 50 cents a week to keep the sheepsheads clean and the fodder cut up. She has been in the business about five years. The first year she came out $40 ahead of her experiment. At the end of the fourth year she had a flock of sixty ewes, all she could keep with her pasturage, and in wool and mutton she found she had a clear yearly income of $450.

Typewriter for Correspondence.

The Countess of Aberdeen is an advocate of the typewriter, and many of her notes and letters are written by this means. They look exceedingly attractive, however, for the note paper is of the best Irish linen. At the upper left-hand corner are the initials "I. A.," with a crown above, all in a pretty shade of blue. "Government House, Ottawa," also in blue, is stamped at the upper right-hand corner.

Lady Aberdeen signs herself "Ishbel Aberdeen" in blue ink, and a postscript is apt to follow, written with a pen.

The Bicycle Girl's Gaiters.

"The clumsy bicycle gaiter is going, and the short skirt is not so short as it used to be." If this information is authentic we must regard it with pain. For the bicycling gaiter is by no means clumsy—that is, if it be properly made. The lower portion of the female leg looks extremely well with the trim row of buttons or the line of crossed lacings; nor is the short skirt aesthetically offensive if worn by the right sort of person. "Knickers" and golf stockings would be poor substitutes.

NEW FASHIONS.

Changes For Men—Light and White Costumes.

There is a prospect that the masculine wardrobe will once again rival the feminine in fancifulness of color and decoration, as it has in times past. The entering wedge may be perceived in the new materials for waistcoats. Damask, silk and velvet of decided colors are being introduced, and for evening wear metal buttons are appearing on waistcoats. In some cases the buttons match the shirt studs.

Gaiters are being abandoned by smartly dressed men.

Gowns of plain foulard in delicate but clear colors are among the prettiest of the season. Pastel blue, petunia and pinkish lilac are favorite shades. Grays are also much liked by fashionable women, and among grays may be included those tones just off white which verge on silver, pearl, ecru, beige or verdigris. Violet and green also, much attenuated in strength, afford some charming tints.

The illustration given today shows a new model for fall coats. It is of gray covert cloth and is straight at the back and in front. It is double breasted and fastens with cords and frogs. The collar, revers and upright collar are faced with blue taffeta having woven white spots, and the entire garment is lined with spotted taffeta. The sleeves are plain, with turned back cuffs faced with taffeta. The accompanying hat of blue braided felt is trimmed with a drapery of white lace, some yellow flowers and a black feather. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION HINTS.

Notes Upon the Phases of the Fashionable Wardrobe.

Long, clinging sleeves, extending upon the hand, are still the correct model and will remain so for some time to come. The part which covers the hand may be cut in one with the sleeve or may be added in the form of a circular ruffle, tabs or frills.

Princess gowns must be perfect if they exist at all, and that is why they are always an exclusive style, for only the best of dressmakers can properly achieve one. They will continue to be worn by those women who have the figure and the purse to permit it. Only a slender, well formed woman should attempt to wear a princess gown, as no other costume so pitilessly reveals redundancy or deficiency of form.

POPLIN GOWN.

The waterproof coat is no longer hideous. At least, it need not be, for there are now thin waterproof materials which resemble cloth and which may be made in the form of a redingote, long coat or mantle of the prevailing mode.

The mauve poplin gown illustrated has a circular skirt trimmed with two wide bands of old guipure, rising in a point in front. The coat bodice of guipure over mauve silk has a cutaway basque and opens over a plastron of tucked mauve silk. Two bands of black velvet, fastened by steel buttons, connect the fronts. The plain sleeves of poplin are embroidered at the wrists and have a full cap of lace. The hat of chenille and felt braid matches the gown in color and is trimmed with purple anemones and a black plume. JUDIC CHOLLET.

PORTUGAL'S QUEEN.

HELPS TO RULE ONE OF THE LEAST PROGRESSIVE NATIONS IN EUROPE.

She is Very Much in Love With Her Husband and Studied Medicine to Cure His Ills—Has Established a Free Clinic in Lisbon for the Benefit of Poor Children.

Queen Amelie of Portugal is an advanced woman, though she is Queen of one of the least progressive nations in Europe, and a daughter of the conservative house of Bourbon. When this gay and pretty princess, who had been brought up in England, married blonde and good-natured King Carlos I of Portugal she did what few royal ladies do—she fell in love with her husband. No humble Darby and Joan ever lived in more peaceful conjugal content than these two young royalties. Not only does Queen Amelie think her husband the best of men, but she has been most proud of his blonde but rather chubby beauty, and great has been her grief over his yearly increase in weight. Some time ago King Carlos' figure went the way common to most unfortunately stout men, and though he has borne the loss with princely good nature, to Queen Amelie it was a deep source of distress. After traveling about with him to many spas and cures for obesity and seeing no cutting down of the royal waist measure, this plucky woman set to work to achieve a sufficient knowledge of medicine to enable her to conquer her husband's one weakness.

For five years the Queen has studied medicine under the ablest physicians in Portugal, and at length took her degree of M. D. after passing the most rigorous examinations. Since her debut as a full-fledged doctor of medicine she has actually been able to do more for her husband's health than any of the great specialists to whom he has resorted.

QUEEN AMELIE OF PORTUGAL.

But this good lady does not apply her scientific knowledge to selfish purposes alone. She has established in Lisbon a free clinic, where poor children of the city receive treatment, often at the Queen's own hands, and thus, by her noble sympathy and tender regard for the people, she has gained a unique position as a sort of nurse, mother and friend, as well as a sovereign.

A Cooking Thermometer.

A cooking thermometer is one of the blessings of the modern household. Every housekeeper knows that temperature is the secret of successful cooking, and these useful little articles keep strict account of what the oven is doing. The exact temperature at which different food preparations should be cooked is being taught by the new methods, and the woman who trusts to intuition is or ought to be shelved. Intuition is a good thing, a safe thing to follow in the matter of choosing friends, and, perhaps, in a few other cases, but not in cooking. Trust nothing but actual hard facts and the results will reward you. The cooking thermometer brings success not only with bread, but with cake and pastry. Meat cannot receive much injury from its absence, since a degree more or less in cooking is hardly noticed.

Women Guides in Berlin.

Berlin has now women guides for the city. They are partly elderly, partly middle-aged ladies, with a certain amount of knowledge of the world, some acquaintance with languages and an assured and amiable demeanor, to whose care lone female travelers or the lady traveling parties recently imported from Scandinavia and America intrusts themselves. Most of these resolute persons are Russians or Austrians. They also do shopping and other business for people living out of town.—London Globe.

Linen Chest Catalogue.

The "Linen Chest Catalogue" will prove a welcome gift to mistresses of well ordered homes. If fancy work is ever sensible, this is a bright and shining example. Its cover is appropriately embroidered with graceful sprays of flax blossoms, on wash art linen, and encloses leaves sufficient to bear record of every piece of linen, its size, quality and age.

To Tighten Cane-Bottomed Chairs.

The cane bottoms of chairs can be made tight by supporting the chair and moistening the seat thoroughly by washing it off with a sponge with hot water, so that the canework becomes completely soaked. Then place the chair in a strong draught of dry air, and allow it to dry thoroughly.

A Raffle of Brides.

Smolensk, in Russia, has a peculiar lottery four times a year. A young girl is raffled for in 5,000 one-ruble shares. The winner marries the girl and receives the money from the lottery as her dowry. The girl, however, may refuse to marry the winner, in which case the money from the lottery is divided between them.

PRISON ART CENTRE.

SING SING ESTABLISHING QUITE A REPUTATION IN THAT LINE.

Several Geniuses Already Discovered—A Prisoner Who Designed and Built Two Large Organs—A Remarkable Negro Woodcarver Convict.

As an art centre Sing Sing Prison is establishing a reputation. Already the warden has made the school of design and decoration there one of the most efficient in the United States. The classes are for thoroughly practical work, and the students, all of whom are "doing time," receive an education that makes it easy for them to earn a living honestly as skilled workmen after they have served out their sentences and are discharged into the world outside.

The warden has discovered several geniuses already. One of these built the large reed organs in the Catholic and the Protestant chapels. He did all the work himself and learned how to use tools after he entered the prison. His experience in carpentering or any mechanical work had not gone further than driving nails in packing boxes before the law took charge of him. He had a good ear for music, though he could not read a note, and he had played organs "on the road" three seasons of three months each for a manufacturing firm in Canada. In this work he had helped at packing and unpacking dozens of instruments and had become familiar with the arrangement of the reeds and the general anatomy of the instruments. He had never worked at organ building nor had he done any of the practical work of designing or construction.

But the most remarkable fact about the building of these instruments is that the man who made them thought out everything to the minutest details before he made even a rough sketch of the work he wished to do. Without a model or tools or pencil and paper to help him, he brooded over his plans for twenty-five months. Then he had conceived every detail clearly in his mind, had computed the exact proportions of each of the 14,000 parts, and had assembled these parts mentally.

When his cogitations had evolved the organ he dropped a note to the warden in one of the various letter boxes the warden has placed about the prison grounds. He wrote, he said in this note, to ask for permission to illustrate on paper the ideas he had on building an organ for one of the chapels. The warden sent for the would-be builder, and was so impressed with the man's intelligence and earnestness that he told him to go ahead; that he should have pencil and paper and all the drawing instruments he needed. He had never made a sketch in his life, but he soon made a hundred intelligible illustrations that made it possible for others to see what before had been visible to him only.

The warden sent these drawings to organ builders in New York, and asked for expert opinions. Both critics replied that the designs were excellent and practical, with the exception of one point. They doubted if a reed could be made to give the tone produced by the sixteen-foot organ pipe. They believed eight feet was the limit for reeds.

The genius said that if the warden would let him go ahead he would show the manufacturers how easily it could be done. The warden said "All right" and the result is the two splendid organs that attract so much attention in the prison chapels.

The one in the Catholic chapel is the largest reed instrument in the world, and has a tone that even an expert listening at a little distance would believe came from a pipe organ. Organists have remarked the rich, deep, full pipe tone time and again. This instrument has 731 notes. All of them are true, from the voix celeste—the "impossible" sixteen-foot pipe tone—to the highest the human ear appreciates. There are three manuals and four complete keyboards. The player can couple the swell, the choir or the great organ with the pedals, or he can give a pedal solo, not using his hands at all. There are 14,000 separate pieces in this instrument; 860 of these are small shutters which open or close by pulling or pushing a balance swell pedal stop. The pressure necessary to put down a key is three ounces, and this three-ounce pressure moves 600 pieces of the mechanism. The bellows are about eight feet long, and hold an air supply of 115 seconds, so the organist can play for nearly two minutes with one breath.

Another genius whom the warden's art school has discovered would be driving cabs to-day if he had behaved himself. Under the head of previous occupation he is down on the prison list as "coachman, butler, colored." He is still colored, but it is not probable that he will ever drive or wait on doors or dinner tables again. Instead of meat he will carve wood, and his attention to doors and tables will be with a view to ornament. He is the chief star in the art school galaxy, and does exquisite work.

Chinese Weight.

"Catty" is a weight still in use in the treaty ports of China. When the Chinese first sold tea to the Europeans they inclosed it in litttle lacquer cases which each weighed a "catty" and in due time were called tea catties, and at last tea caddies.

ON TWO PAIR

A Klondike Miner Won a Jack Pot of $70,000.

A draw-poker game was played in one of the down-town hotels of Portland, Oregon, the other night by three recently arrived Alaskans—George W. Mulford, Parker Hamlin and Henry E. Smith—which, in point of recklessness, has scarcely ever been equaled. These three lucky miners went there during the early part of this week and put up at the Esmond.

From the start to the finish it was voted the most "blooded" game ever played there. The limit was $10, and a new deck opened each game. By 11 o'clock there were 100 lookers-on in the room. The game began by Mulford wining a $550 pot on a bluff. He held two aces and a king, while his fellows each had three of a kind in small cards. For the first two hours all pots, some of them as high as $1,000, were raked in by the most hazardous bluffs, the winning hand in many instances not being better than a pair of jacks or three deuces.

An hour after midnight the game drew to a close, and Mulford, Smith and Hamlin again resorted to bluffing. The limit had been raised to $100, and the miners pressed it. Mulford, after contributing $22,000 to a pot, had dropped out, and it was subsequently shown that he had tried to scare the other players with two red kings. From that time on the wildest excitement reigned among the champagne-soaked crowd, but Smith and Hamlin did not lose their equanimity.

Hands were raised from time to time until the lucky one stood to win $70,000. As the clock struck 1 Hamlin hoarsely said:

"Hank, you have got either three big or four small ones, and I'll pass."

The players threw up their hands, surprising each other. Smith held two queens and two tens, while Hamlin held three fives. It was at this juncture, when Smith was raking in the collateral, that Hamlin gave utterance to a string of Yukon blasphemy, and, with Mulford subscribed to an oath before a magistrate, vowing never to play another game of cards during the rest of their lives.

BRIDE'S SURNAME.

Taken by This Couple in Order to Get a Fortune.

At a wedding in Palmyra, N. Y., recently, the bridegroom took the surname of his bride, so that she, instead of becoming Mrs. Jacob Wagonmaker, became Mrs. Jacob W. Crookston. There is rather a romatic tinge to the affair on account of a remarkable chain of circumstances.

Twenty-two years ago Wagonwaker, then a small child and an orphan, was taken by Miss Alice Crookston's parents and reared as their own son, although not adopted formally. He fell in love with his foster sister and she with him, but a seemingly insurmountable barrier existed to their marriage. Miss Crookston, the bride, has a great-uncle who is wealthy, and with whom she always has been a prime favorite. He decided to make her his heir, but through some idiosyncrasy was unwilling that his property should go to any one except a Crookston. If by marriage she changed her name the fortune was to revert to a male cousin.

This unfortunate condition worried the lovers and the idea of marriage almost was given up. Finally Mr. Wagonmaker consulted a lawyer as to changing his name. He thought he would have to get the Legislature to sanction the idea, but the lawyer found an easier way out of it.

It appears that there is an old state law which seems to have been devised expressly for such a case. It provides that when there is no male heir in the bride's family and property interests are involved a Judge of the higher Courts may issue an order by which, when the marriage ceremony takes place, the bridegroom assumes the bride's surname. Justice Dunwell issued the necessary order. It is said that the law in question has been invoked only three times since its passage, the last occasion being nearly 40 years ago.

Tripeseller Guerin.

M. Jules Guerin, the self-constituted prisoner of the Anti-Semite Club, is a retired tripeseller of La Vilette, which explains why he has a lot of butchers with him. He is a gaillard of 35 or so, solidly built, a great crony of M. Drumont's and received a political education with the Marquis de Mores. He was one of the band who signed themselves "The Friends of Mores." After the death of the Marquis, M. Guerin took the lead of the Anti-Semites, and, always spoiling for a fight, he has been in every street demonstration which the Anti-Semites have got up in Paris for the last ten years. He always carries about with him a huge knotted stick as big as a small tree and wears a big felt hat. This is the man, moreover, that half killed a policeman in the Place de la Concorde a few months ago during a demonstration. He has done well in politics, and his paper, the Anti-Juif, has enabled him to make money. It has lately been said that this money, like that of M. Deroulede, is from the Duke of Orleans. M. Guerin, while a fellow capable of doing much mischief, is in reality more of a braggart and blusterer than a dangerous man.—London News.

Journeyed in His Sleep.

A remarkable psychical phenomenon occurred at Chattanooga, Tenn., recently. A fourteen-year-old boy named Hilsfield, who resides in one of the suburbs, went to bed at his home about 8 o'clock not feeling well. About 9 o'clock he arose from his bed, put on his clothes, took an electric car for the city and went to the depot, where he purchased a ticket for Rome, Ga. Reaching Rome he took a cab for one of the hotels where he retired. All this was done while in a trance or sound asleep. Wen he awoke in the morning he could hardly be made to believe that he was not at home. He returned to the city on the first train. He is now suffering from brain fever. The doctors are puzzled over the case and say it is one of the most remarkable they have known in their experience. The boy is very exemplary, and no one doubts the story of his experience.

IF YOU HAVE DIAMONDS

You Are Lucky, Because They Are Rising in Price.

The diamond market is in a condition which could almost be described as one of panic. The market value of stones is now 40 per cent. higher than it was a year ago, and, from present indications, there seems to be no prospect that the high water mark has been reached.

The fact of itself would, of course, not cause the diamond importers and dealers any anxiety. But there is in addition a remarkable scarcity of stones, and it is probable that the coming season will find a good many traders unable to make good their contracts except at heavy loss.

It is the great De Beers syndicate which is responsible for this state of things. The syndicate is controlled by Cecil Rhodes and half a dozen other men, and they have apparently determined to limit the output of the Kimberley mines—which, in reality, means the output of the world—to an infinitesimal quantity. It is customary for the representatives of the large importing houses of the United States, England, France and other countries where there are large markets for the sale of precious stones, to visit South Africa in the summer in order to make their purchases. Frequent and bitter have been the complaints that have reached Maiden Lane and Covent Garden from South Africa this year. The price keeps on going up (within the last week there has been an advance of 10 per cent.), and even at the highest figures it is hard to secure any diamonds. The offices of the De Beer Company are open only a few hours each day, and the number of would-be buyers is so great that it takes weeks before a new comer has a chance to be supplied. Even then it appears the diamond magnates are wont to treat their customers in the most arbitrary manner conceivable, frequently refusing to close a deal for no assignable reason.

DOG GUARDS MASTER.

Watched for Twenty Days Over a Death Valley Victim.

Particulars of the sad fate that befell James Dayton and a team of six horses or mules in Death Valley, Cal., nearly a month ago have been received from a correspondent from Daggett.

According to the correspondent Dayton succumbed to the heat or illness while attempting to cross the desert, and his animals miserably perished from the effets of thirst and hunger, although harnessed to a wagon loaded with hay and water.

Dayton was for years the caretaker of the Pacific Coast Borax Company's property at Furnace Creek, Death Valley. He was over 70 years old, and his long residence in Death Valley has made him familiar with this country.

Dayton was found dead under a mosquito bush. Fifty feet distant was his outfit—a wagon and six draft animals, four of them harnessed to the wagon and two tied behind. All the animals were dead, but there was ample evidence of their terrible stuggle to free themselves. Some of the animals had broken part of the harness in their frantic efforts. The only living thing at the scene of desolation was Dayton's faithful little dog, which for 20 days had watched by the side of its dead master in the desert.—Chicago Tribune.

Two Rounds With a Bear.

Mrs. Thomas, wife of Humphrey Thomas of Humphrey's mill, near Lebanon, Or., recently had a lively fight with a black bear. While she was was knocked out in the second round she has the satisfaction of knowing that she made a good fight.

Mrs. Thomas was out picking blackberries, when she found the bear there on the same mission. Woman and bear proceeded to settle the question of right to the patch. Bruin, thinking he had a right by possession, at once rose to his haunches and made for Mrs. Thomas, who defended herself as best she could, but was knocked down by a cuff from Bruin, and would have been badly bitten but for the prompt action of her shepherd dog, who tackled the bear from the rear.

This attracted the attention of the bear from Mrs. Thomas, and she immediately got up, and, seeing her dog in danger of being killed, grabbed a club and proceeded to give Bruin the second round, but he was ready for her and at once dealt her such a blow on the head as to completely knock her out. When she regained consciousness the bear and dog had vanished and she had the whole field to herself.

A Hideous Crawler.

A monstrous horned worm, presenting a repulsive aspect, that, under propitious circumstances, might prove an effective Keeley cure for some maudlin one, was captured alive the other day in an English walnut tree on the place of Mr. James H. Vail, and was later presented to The American. The creature in motion is seven inches long, and boasts a different hue for each feature of its anatomy. Gaily colored horns protrude from the head, which is wonderfully and fearfully made. Smaller black prongs decorate with mathematical precision the corrugated green back of the monster. When captured the worm was breakfasting greedily on leaves, and with remarkable rapidity skeletonized them.—Baltimore American.

Making Honey in a Beer Keg.

Almon West and son, Ernest West, of East Hampton, Conn., who are experts in lining bees, made a rich and peculiar find recently. They were over Marlborough way in pursuit of honey, and had released the bees several times from the lining box when they saw to their amazement the last one released entered an old lager beer keg lying on its side. Coming nearer they discovered the keg to be full of bees and honey. The little workers had entered the keg through the bung hole and built their comb around the inside of the keg. Mr. West captured the bees, honey and peculiar hive, all at once, and took them home.

THE HANDCUFF KING

A MAGICIAN UNLOCKS THEM WITHOUT KEYS.

He Does Many Other Strange Things But Says it is All a Trick—Why an Amateur Should Never Bet on Another Man's Tricks.

"Whenever any of these alleged spiritual mediums tell you that they have supernatural aid in freeing themselves from handcuffs and ropen bonds, you may safely set them down as frauds. The handcuff trick is merely a matter of sleight-of-hand. I'll show you how it is done."

Houdini, the European magician, who is well-named "king of the handcuffs," was giving an impromptu performance in the Chicago Inter-Ocean office for the amusement of the editorial staff. Taking a pair of the latest make of handcuffs, guaranteed by the maker to be absolutely safe as a bond for the retention of criminals, Houdini placed his hands behind his back and had them locked together by an Inter-Ocean man, the latter retaining the key. Standing a few feet away, but in full view of the audience, he freed himself from the iron cuffs in less than three minutes. It was impossible, under the circumstances, that there should be any deceit in the performance.

"Mediums do the handcuff trick somewhat after the same manner that I do," said Hondini, as he wriggled himself loose, "but they are not quite so deft at it. I have practiced the trick for years. It's simply a matter of dexterity, and there is nothing supernatural about it, no matter what the mediums may claim. I have a standing offer of $100 for any pair of handcuffs that I cannot get out of without the use of a key in less than five minute, and, although dozen of police officers have tried to earn the money, none of them have succeeded. My method is more ingenious than that followed by most mediums, as many of them use keys while concealed in their dark cabinets, while my work is done in full view of spectators. I call it a trick, and that's all it is, but everybody who sees it is willing to admit it is one of the cleverest ever presented.

"While I was at San Francisco a smart man conceived the idea that I must have a key concealed about my person, and induced the Examiner to brand me as a fraud. I went to the Examiner office, just as I have come to the Inter-Ocean, and said:

"'Produce your handcuffs, any make you like, strip me naked, make sure that I have no key concealed, and I will forfeit $100 if I am not free from the handcuffs in five minutes.'

"My offer was accepted. I went through the test to the satisfaction of the Examiner staff, and the following Sunday that paper made the amende honorable by withdrawing the charge of fraud, and devoted an entire page to an illustrated article on the performance."

Houdini's next act was one that is attempted by only one other person in the world. He is known as the "needle king" and is at present performing in Europe. Houdini first drank part of a glass of water, to show that his mouth was empty, and then had the spectators look into his throat to see that nothing was concealed there. He next swallows some thirty sewing needles, taking them into his mouth five or six at a time. Following this he apparently swallows a piece of sewing silk a yard or more in length. A second later he draws out the needles neatly threaded on the silk.

"Looks wonderful, doesn't it?" he asked. "Well, it's just a trick. I'm not going to tell you how to do it. That's my trade secret. But is's a trick just the same. If I can deceive you people standing right here in contact with me, how much easier it is for me to deceive spectators when I am on the stage, twenty feet or so away from them?"

One of Houdini's favorite tricks for the edification of newspaper men is an expose of the three-card monte game. Taking two aces, one of hearts and one of diamonds, and the queen of spades, he throws them slowly, as if trying to let the onlooker catch sight of the winning cards. The regulation crimp in the corner is there, and the picking of the desired pasteboard seems to be an easy task. When the card is lifted, however, it is seen to be the wrong one. Not only this, but the spectator is allowed to point out the other two cards in succession, and neither of them is the queen.

"Ah, you fooled me," says the spectator. "There is no queen in the lot. They are all aces. You slipped the queen away when my attention was diverted."

"You think so?" says Houdini with a smile. "Watch close. I'll throw the three cards so. Now, which is the ace? Remember, you said just now that they were all aces."

The spectator indicates a card. It is turned over and found to be the queen of hearts. Like a flash, before the watchers have recovered from their surprise, Houdini makes another pass and the queens have all disappeared, and in their place are three aces of diamonds.

"All of which," says the magician, "should warn an amateur not to wager money on cards when they are manipulated. A clever man can do anything but make them talk."

Baroness Hirsch's charitable bequests are published in the Jewish Chronicle. They amount to $9,350,000.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

EXCITING PACING RACE.

NED DAVIS DID FINE WORK BY WINNING THREE STRAIGHT HEATS.

The Winner Driven By Dave Smalley and Has Only Been in Training for Three Weeks—Owner, W. A. Coddington.

Those who visited the Plainfield Driving Park Saturday afternoon witnessed an exciting pacing race between Ned Davis, owned by Wm. A. Coddington, Kittie Rue, owned by N. B. Smalley, and Belle, owned by A. I. Smalley. Ned Davis was driven by Dave Smalley, while the others were handled by their owners.

At the first heat Kitty had the pole, with Belle in the centre and Ned Davis on the outside. Before going an eighth of a mile Davis passed the bunch and quickly got next the rail. It was a pretty race thereafter between Kitty Rue and Davis. At the quarter pole the horses were side and side and could easily have been covered by a blanket. But at the head of the stretch Davis shot ahead and finished the heat by fully a length in 2:24½.

In the next heat Kitty Rue broke early in the race and Belle and Davis trotted it out, the latter winning by about four lengths in 2:28.

The third and last heat was also won by "Ned Davis," "Kitty Rue" acting badly, the struggle being between "Ned Davis" and Belle." The time for this heat was 2:27.

The fact that "Ned Davis" won three straight heats was a surprise to many who witnessed the race. This horse has been in training less than three weeks, but has developed remarkable speed.

"Ned Davis" is a handsome, bright bay gelding, 15 hands high, and is considered as gentle as a kitten. He has a record of 2 31½. It is believed that "Ned Davis" could have lowered the distance Saturday, had he been pushed, in less time then 2:20. The horse certainly has a bright future.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

Right of Way for Standard Oil.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 18.—The Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, for a consideration of $500, has agreed to let the National Transit Company (the Standard Oil) run a pipe line through the insurance company's land in New Providence, for the purpose of conveying oil through pipes. The agreement was filed here Saturday with the County Clerk.

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way

Mrs. W. C. Hubbard and family have returned from Weekapang, R. I

Miss Ella Murray, of LaGrande avenue, is entertaining a friend from New Brunswick.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Westphal, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday in Plainfield with relatives.

John J. Praed and family, of Fourth street, are enjoying their annual vacation out of town.

Miss Lister, of Watchung avenue, has returned from a visit with her parents in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox, of Liberty street, have returned from a visit with friends at Watsessing, Essex county.

Miss Hattie Willis, of Johnson's Drive, has returned from a two weeks' vacation at Ruggles, Pa.

Postmaster and Mrs. E. H. Bird, of Elm place, spent Sunday with relatives at Flemington, Hunterdon county.

H. Giddis, of Bound Brook, a veteran of the Civil War, is visiting his nephew, Henry Perrine, of Park avenue.

William Williams, of Duer street, an employe at Woodhull & Martin's, has returned from his vacation spent in Sussex county.

Ellias A. Campbell, of Park avenue, is slightly improved in health today, although he was very ill on Saturday with heart trouble.

W. D. Williams and wife, of 144 Duer street, returned home today after a very pleasant two weeks' of farm life at Wyckertown, Sussex county.

Prohibition Convention.

The Union county Prohibition party will hold its convention in Mission Hall, 1185 East Broad street, corner of Walnut street, Elizabeth, this evening at 7:45 o'clock, to nominate candidates for county offices and assembly. S. J. Sloan, of Newark, will make an address.

Tom Hanna Back Home.

Thomas Hanna, cashier at the freight office, who has been in Ireland visiting the scenes of his boyhood days, has returned to Plainfield. He is in fine health.

—The interesting talk given by R. M. Honeyman at the men's rally at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon was highly appreciated. The after meeting was largely attended.

Too Many Dogs in Kansas.

Kansas has suffered in years past from an over-production of grasshoppers and Populists. It is now afflicted, it appears, with a surplusage of dogs. It is long on dogs, but short on sheep. The secretary of the Kansas State Agricultural society deplores this fact in a recent report. He shows that there are but 200,000 sheep in the state, while the number of dogs is 176,000. Two years ago the sheep outnumbered the dogs by 30 per cent., while last year this percentage was reduced to seventeen. In one county there were 909 dogs to each sheep, and in twelve selected counties there were 209 dogs to each sheep. If a similar investigation were made in other states, we doubt not that some of them would show an equal disproportion of dogs and sheep. But it is not a good sign anywhere. Prosperity for the farmer does not lie along the way of an increase in the dog crop.—Leslie's Weekly.

Nervous About Microbes.

A Parisian who was lately traveling by train refused to show his ticket to a traveling inspector of the company. The passenger was summoned by the company. He argued, however, that he had not refused to show it (presenter), that he had let the inspector see it so that he could easily satisfy himself as to its being in order, but that he certainly had refused to let the ticket inspector take it into his hands, because his hands were so dirty. He, the passenger, therefore was unwilling to put into his pocket a ticket which would be contaminated with microbes and might likely give him some disease. After a long legal discussion as to the exact meaning of the word "show" (presenter), the court fined this ardent disciple of modern hygiene the sum of one franc.—London Lancet.

Americans Buy Rare Musical Books.

English collectors complain that the prices of rare books on musical topics are going up rapidly, largely on account of the increasing demand for the libraries of rich Americans.

A Black Lioness.

A black lioness has been added to the collection of animals in the Jardin des Plantes in Paris. Lions of this color are found only in the interior of the Sahara, and are scarce even there.

YANKEE ENTERPRISE

HOW A SHREWD MULE DRIVER TURNED A HANDSOME PENNY.

He Took Into Account the American Thirst and Made No Mistake —But Nobody Knew How He Got the Ice.

Whenever any of the American soldiers went into Santiago after the surrender there was always one thing they reported on their return. That was just before you came to the city, on the big road—the King's Highway—there was a place where you could get cold beer in bottles. There was a sign, "Ice Cold American Beer," in big letters a foot high, on the left hand side going in, just where the houses began to set close together, and before you got to the Spanish hospital, and the price was all right, 25 cents a bottle. This place, which no man passed without a halt unless he had not the price of a bottle or was a tetotaller, was run by a very shrewd American who had previously been a mule driver under the Commissary Department.

He was really an enlisted cavalryman, but the casualties of war having thinned out the mule drivers at a time when bacon, hardtack and cartridges were prime necessities at the front, he volunteered to drive mules. His service expired just after he had been wounded in this commissary work. Sitting astride his wheeler one day a Spanish sharpshooter tumbled him off his perch, leaving his team to go lickity-split toward the line in their own erratic, pulling six-ways-at-once fashion. He had been getting $15.60 a month in the cavalry. He might have gone on in the commissary service as a civilian mule driver at $30 a month as long as they needed him. But the steering of six obstinate, whalebacked mules over that superlatively rough Siboney road was not exactly a fascinating outlook. The novelty had worn off. And this sitting in a saddle and being popped at by unseen parties and close-shooting Mausers and smokeless powder did not appeal to his cooler judgment. It was too one-sided for the money, and no chance for even a ray of glory. Only the boss of a train knew a driver's worth, and he had no hand in writing the despatches for the public or the department. Even when he came out of the hospital with the Spaniards on the point of surrender he saw no sense in his old job. There ought to be, he thought, more money in less trying pursuits, and more especially he saw this when he found he had one shoulder joint that swung only half way around.

Before coming to Cuba he had been a shipper in a Rochester brewery. As soon as he got into Santiago he noted the dearth of beer in that city. He described the situation concisely in a collect cable despatch to his old firm: "No beer; ship." An answer told him that a shipment had been on the way for a week consigned to a Cuban with a French name doing business on Calle Marina. This despatch intimated that he might head off the native. He met the Cuban and genially led him out to the American camp. Here he fed him on canned beef and bacon, and incidentally secured the bill of lading. Later he lost the native in the mazes of a cavalry camp, where a guard discovered him peering suspiciously into tents. The Cuban explained to the scoffing sentry that he was searching for his friend. His adventures in the guard tent for the next three days will probably furnish the Cuban with thrilling evening talks to his grandchildren a half a century from now. The Americans were not enthusiastic admirers of the Cubans.

Meanwhile the American ex-mule owner paid the freight on the goods when they came, and cabled for more.

He saw the possibilities in a thirsty army. He found a suitable shack on the much traveled road at the edge of the town. This he pre-empted after a moderate resistence by the two big lazy halfbreeds who were sleeping there; exactly how he never told, though he dwelt with much minuteness on other parts of his tale, especially so as to the Cuban's trip to his old cavalry troop. Of course it was nobody's business where he got the ice so long is there was enough to keep the beer properly cold.

His judgment of an unprecedented American thirst was justified by the returns. Across a plank stretched from one barrel to another men in dirty brown or blue threw silver quarters at him, and he threw bottles of Rochester beer back at them. And the men who were giving up the money considered that the ex-mule driver was doing them a favor to sell it so reasonably. When the heroes of the Santiago battlefield came to this place they usually stayed till they were out of money. They never got drunk, be it known; they never had money enough. Between the consignments the dealer would sit in his door and lament with passing inquiring thirsty soldiers the inequality of demand and supply. When the soldiers broke camp for home late in August they passed this dealer's place on the way to town. In answer to many touching pantomimic appeals he replied in expressive gesture that he had just sold out.

"Great business," he called out after the last files. As the men looked regretfully back they saw him waving an arm that moved only half way around. It is said that he moved into the heart of Santiago after the original army went home. No doubt his American enterprise is being duly rewarded down there.

THE MODERN SANDWICH.

Made in Sixty-four Varieties and New Kinds Being Added.

A man of fifty who had chanced never to hear of sandwiches from the time he was a boy, when they were confined principally to three varieties—ham, tongue and corned beef—and when, aside from what kind he would take, the chief question was whether he would have mustard on it, might be surprised to learn that nowadays sandwiches are made in more varieties than his own years number; considerably more. In one big lunch establishment there are made sandwiches in sixty-four varieties. The differences between some of these varieties would be slight, but at the same time they would be clear and distinct; and there would be found regularly on sale on the counter more than twenty varieties always ready.

Besides the familiar ham, tongue, corned beef, roast beef, turkey and chicken sandwiches, there are sold in these days, either already prepared or made to order a dozen varieties of what may be called fish sandwiches, these including the commonly sold sardine sandwiches and anchovy sandwiches, and sandwiches made with little fishes called sardelles, and salmon sandwiches, and sandwiches made of muskallonge, soft shell crab sandwiches, lobster sandwiches, shrimp sandwiches, codfish sandwiches and sandwiches made with a fried codfish cake between slices of bread. Of cheese sandwiches there are ten at least, including many regularly supplied and others made to order.

Of combination sandwiches, made with more than one kind of meat, as sandwiches of ham and chicken, chicken and tongue, and so on, there are various kinds, as there are also of sandwiches made of various materials combined; as, for instance, sandwiches made of minced ham and chow-chow, sandwiches made of chopped chicken, ham and egg, sandwiches of minced tongue and chicken, egg sandwiches and so on. So that it would not be very difficult to enumerate the sixty-four varieties of sandwiches now made, and new varieties are being added all the time.—N. Y. Sun.

Unvaried Diet.

An amusing story is told of an old-time soldier who loved liquor better than food, and was bound to have his diet according to his taste. It was in the days when British soldiers provided themselves with rations out of their pay. To insure the proper feeding of the men a strict inspection of the daily mess was instituted. It was found that unless this was done many soldiers would go without meat in order that they might have money to buy grog.

Donald loved whisky, and could live very well on oatmeal. Therefore he eschewed butcher's meat. But at the daily mess it was essential that he should have meat before him.

For a long time Donald saved his money, and yet, to all appearance, lived up to the requirements. When the officer went his round Donald had his mess before him. It was tripe, tripe, and tripe again for a change.

"Do you always eat tripe?" asked the inspecting officer, becoming a little suspicious.

"Always, your honor," replied Donald.

The officer stuck a fork into the disk before him.

"Well, Donald," he remarked, "I never before saw tripe with buttons on it."

The meat proved to be a slice from a pair of leather breeches.

FINGERHUTH HUSTLED STRANGE MAN AWAY.

Now Lives In Allen Homestead Undisputed By Himself.

HE RESENTED AN INTRUSION

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS PROBABLE TILL TRIAL COMES OFF.

His Two Sons in New York Pay Him An Occasional Visit—Told Constable Bartel That If He Had Been There When Fight Occurred There Would be Six Dead Men Instead of One.

Theodore Fingerhuth still lives in the Aaron Allen homestead in Washington Valley undisturbed. He is all alone, save for an occasional visit from the two sons who work in New York. The neighbors steer clear of the place, particularly since hearing of the experience of a Plainfielder who went to the house Sunday.

The Plainfielder was an active worker in one of the religious societies in this city. He was distributing tracts through the valley that day and had no idea that he was anywhere in the neighborhood of the scene of the shooting of Paul Roehricht. Mr. Fingerhuth saw him coming with the tract in his hand. The neighbors believe that Fingerhuth thought that he was a constable.

At any rate, he hustled the inoffensive man off the premises so quickly that the latter hardly knew what was happening. Since then, everybody has taken care to avoid the place. Rumor has it that Roehricht has declared that he will see to the sudden departure of anyone who enters the place.

Saturday night it is said that Fingerhuth told Constable Francis Bartell that had he been home at the time of the shooting, there would have been six men shot instead of one.

Mrs. Fingerhuth and the son, Oscar, still remain the county jail at Somerville. The case has been fully investigated and there is little possibility of any new developments before the trial takes place. There is little chance of anything sensational appearing in the trial. The circumstances of the shooting have been pretty generally told and the only new points expected to turn up are the legal phases of the case which are very complicated.

MUST WEAR UNIFORMS.

All Employes of the Central Railroad Must Appear in Special Uniforms When on Duty.

The new management of the Jersey Central Railroad has instituted another new rule concerning its employes. Circulars have been received by all the employes stating that they are expected hereafter to always appear in uniform while on duty. The train crews have long worn uniform, so have many of the baggagemasters, but it has not been customary for telegraph operators, switchmen and flagmen to be uniformed. The new rule includes them all, however. Those who have not uniforms will be measured at once and it will be only a short time before all will be in uniform.

DIED WHILE SINGING.

Touching Scene at the Deathbed of Young Jesse Hurlbut.

Further particulars have been learned concerning the death of Jesse L. Hurlbut, Jr., at Jamestown, N. Y., who resided in Plainfield for many years. Hurlbut had nearly recovered from his attack of the fever and, at the advice of his nurse, took a trolley ride. He caught cold and began to sink at once. He was conscious to the last and sent loving messages to all of his family and his intimate friends. He then asked his father to start one of the songs of the college fraternity to which they both belonged. He passed away while singing it.

Freshmen at Princeton

Princeton University will begin its fall term tomorrow. The college will assemble at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and Rev. Dr. Patton, the college president, will deliver the opening address. Plainfield will be represented in the Freshman class by G. W. Faber and Owen Fleming, who graduated from Leal's School last June.

A FRATERNAL VISIT.

Knights of Pythias Members Met at Somerville—Special Trolley Car Run From Plainfield.

About sixty members of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Knights of Pythias, of this city, visited Lodge of the Castle, No. 82, of Somerville, last night. The Plainfield Knights were taken to Somerville by a special trolley car, along each side of which was fastened huge streamers with the name and number of the lodge. The members were liberally supplied with tin horns, and their departure from Plainfield and their arrival in Somerville was noisely proclaimed. Besides the Knights from this city there were also present a good delegation of Knights from Somerset and Friendship Lodges of Bound Brook and New Brunswick. It was purely a fraternal visit for the good and welfare of the order. The evening was pleasantly passed by recitations, speeches, songs, etc. Before the visitors left for home they were served with a fine collation.

DEFRAUDING RAILROAD.

ALLEGED THAT TICKETS WERE NOT CANCELLED BY CONDUCTORS.

Detectives Working on the Case Found That a Bootblack at the Highlands Was Selling $1 Tickets for 50 Cents.

For some time the officials of the Central Railroad of New Jersey have suspected that there was an organized effort to defraud them. The scheme took the form of re-selling tickets that had come into the hands of conductors for cancellation. It was noticed that during the August and September rush to the seashore the New Jersey Southern Division carried more passengers between New York and Long Branch than the company got money for—yet they all had tickets.

Inspectors supposed at first that the conductors were passing deadheads, but finding that tickets were collected in every instance they began to suspect the conductors of failing to cancel the bits of pasteboards. The gatemen were also suspected.

Detectives bought two through tickets, marked them privately at the Sandy Hook boat landing and passed on to the trains. These tickets should have been turned in for that trip. The detectives found a bootblack at the Highlands selling $1 tickets for 50 cents each. They arrested him. He had fifty or sixty tickets.

Although locked up on a technical charge of larceny he absolutely refuses to divulge the names of the men who supplied him with uncancelled tickets.

LODGES MAY CONSOLIDATE.

Knights of Honor of Somerville and Plainfield May Come Together.

There is a movement on foot among the members of the Knights of Honor in Plainfield and Somerville to consolidate the two lodges in these places into one body. W. D. Williams, dictator; E. G Smith, treasurer; J. VanMiddlesworth, past dictator, and R. A. Frey, reporter, of Senate Lodge, No. 3,542, of this city, will go to Somerville tonight to meet a committee of four from Mantanique Lodge, No. 3,653, to discuss the feasibility of consolidating the Somerville lodge with the one in this city.

Millinery Opening at Lederer's.

The first showing of autumn fashions in millinery will be made at Lederer's Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The millinery department is under the direction of Mrs. I. V. Montfort, late with the celebrated house of Henry Offerman & Co. Mrs. Montfort has had an extensive experience, and has given particular attension to the best class of trade. You will find her an artist of ability, refined in taste, competent to suit her hats to the faces and style of the wearers and anxious to make every customer a "success." A visit to her department will please you and assist you, even if you do not at once purchase.

High School Graduates Enter Rutgers

Rutgers College, at New Brunswick, opens tomorrow. Most of the students have returned already. Three graduates of the Plainfield High School, William A. Fisher, Edward Corlell and Merton Davis, all of Bound Brook, expect to enter the freshman class at that college.

Rev. Mr. Jackson to Lecture.

Next Friday night Rev. E. E. Jackson, who has just returned from an extended lecturing trip through the west and south, will deliver an address in the Mt. Olive Baptist church on the condition of the colored and white people of the south.

COUNCIL WILL GRANT TROLLEY FRANCHISE

Arlington Avenue Extension is Now Assured.

ORDINANCE IS PROGRESSED

LIVELY DISCUSSION AT THE HEARING LAST NIGHT.

Lawyer Angleman, Representing the Objectors, Claimed That Not Enough Consents for the Right of Way Have Been Secured—Chairman Barrows Disputed the Lawyer's Allegations.

The trolley is to go out Arlington avenue despite the opposition of some of its residents. So the Common Council decided last night. The Councilmen were unanimous in voting to pass the ordinance granting the franchise for the Arlington avenue line to the Plainfield Street Railway on first and second reading. Another session of the public hearing was held last night and the Council heard arguments for and against the extension. The benches outside the rail were crowded with interested citizens, who came to see what was going to be done. The general trend of opinion could easily be seen by the applause that greeted anything that favored the granting of the franchise.

All the Councilmen were present, George Wean acted as clerk pro tem in the absence of City Clerk J. T. MacMurray. Mayor G. W. Rockfellow was also on hand. The meeting was called to order promptly at 8 o'clock and President F. H. Andrews declared the public hearing open.

Lawyer W. S. Angleman was the first speaker. He said that he would state the legal objections to the granting of the trolley franchise that Councilman Hetfield had wanted to hear two weeks ago. According to the statute on the subject, he said that it was necessary to have fifty-one per cent. of the consents of the property along the proposed line and that the corner properties included to the centre of the cross streets. This made the objectors' property many feet more than had been accounted.

His next objection was that all the consents signed by women, except one, had not been acknowledged apart from their husbands as was necessary. The one case was that of Mrs. Maria Harlow, which was legal. The others, which he said were not valid, were the consents of Mrs. Chas. Fisk for 360.75 feet, Mrs. Otto Arens for 150 feet, Mrs. E. L. Finch for 53 feet and Mrs. John Detrich for 166.

F. R. Bonnell, he continued, had signed as executor for the estate of A. Bonnell which was not the proper way and the consent was therefore not valid. The trustees of the Seventh-Day Baptist cemetery had signed as individuals which was not according to law if they formed a corporation. B. A. Mumford, he further stated, did not own the 67 feet he had signed for and M. J. Schuck had withdrawn his consent.

By the invalidity of the consents he had just pointed out, Mr. Angleman declared that there was still 700 feet lacking to give the necessary fifty-one per cent.

E. H. Hatch filed the protest of eleven property owners against the granting of the franchise and made a few remarks against the Arlington avenue extension. He begged the Council to consider the advantages of the line through Woodland avenue and explained that it would reach the same destination as the other and save he and his friends much annoyance. He declared that the Woodland avenue line would be of greater convenience to a majority of the members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club than the Arlington avenue route would.

Councilman Barrows replied to the two representatives of the opposition. The Council, he declared, was representing the wishes of a vast majority of the people of the Third ward who wanted the line on Arlington avenue. It was not run to benefit the golf club or the cemetery alone. It was done in respone to the demand of the citizens of the Third ward.

Mr. Hatch, he said, represented eleven. There were thirty or forty living on the same street who were just as anxious to have the trolley as he was not to. It was unfortunate that any of the property owners should have to suffer but that was the almost invariable result of any public benefit. A few had to suffer to benefit the greater number.

Regarding Mr. Angleman's legal objections. Mr. Barrows said that the law of '98 did not make it necessary to secure the wife's signature apart from the husband. It was also possible to amend or alter the consents up to the time of the passing of the ordinance.

"This Council does not go ahead blind," declared Mr. Barrows. "We don't go ahead until we know that our Corporation Counsel is behind us and he is the best lawyer in the State." Whereat the audience applauded loudly.

D. M. Bunyon pleaded for immediate action on the ground that a further postponement would stop the progress of the benefit indefinitely. He also pointed out the many public places on and near Arlington avenue that a route out Woodland avenue would never reach. He wanted to know if a few were going to be allowed to block a movement of benefit to so many.

Assemblyman Roger F. Murray told how consents for 425 feet had been filed that evening. He also quoted Superintendent of Schools H. M. Maxson who said at the Board of Education meeting that the benefits to the schools would greatly overbalance the dangers and inconveniences.

Mr. Angleman grew sarcastic in a further explanation of the legal points.

Mr. Barrows moved that a recess of fifteen minutes be taken. Another fifteen minute and a twenty minute recess were taken while the Council talked it over in private. Then the Council was called to order.

Mr. Barrows explained that the delay of the past two weeks was occasioned by an effort on the part of the Street Railway Company to reach the golf grounds and cemetery by a new route from the corner of Park avenue and Randolph road. They had now secured it and had the necessary consents. The line would run from Randolph road along Park avenue, after widening the latter street to make room at one side for the trolley tracks, to two-thirds of the distance from Randolph road to Belleview avenue. At that point a new avenue, 80 feet wide would be opened up from Park avenue to Woodland avenue and the trolley line would follow it to Woodland avenue, and thence out Woodland avenue to the golf grounds and cemetery, and provide for further extension in that direction.

Any further delay in the passing of the proposed ordinance, Mr. Barrows stated, would delay matters for several months. Dr. Fritts, as representative of the Street Railway Company, had agreed to make application within two weeks for the extension from Randolph road out Woodland avenue. So Councilman Barrows moved that the ordinance, granting the franchise for a line from West Fourth street, out Arlington avenue to Randolph road to Park avenue, be passed on first reading. Clerk pro tem Geo. Wean read the ordinance. It was amended so that the company is to complete the line by July 1st, 1900, instead of Sept. 1st, 1900. Then the ordinance was passed on its first and second reading by a unanimous vote. The ordinance was ordered duly engrossed and advertised. The public hearing was then adjourned to October 2d, at 8 o'clock, and the Council resumed the regular order of business.

There was a communication from Street Commissioner Gavett stating that the railway company had secured consents for 1,048 feet more than the required fifty-one per cent. for the Arlington avenue extension.

Chairman Barrows, of the streets and sewers committee, had petitions for the macadamizing of West Second and West Sixth streets, between Liberty street and Central avenue, which were referred to the next Council. There were two petitions from residents of Woodland avenue for a trolley extension. Mr. Barrows expressed himself as favoring it, but said that the Council could not force the company to go there and that the residents might get it by guaranteeing a certain revenue.

After some minor matters Mr. Barrows reported that the committee was ready to take action on awarding the bids for the macadamizing of West Third street, from Madison avenue to Monroe avenue, and West Fourth street, from New street to Monroe avenue, as the Corporation Counsel had finished his work. C. M. Meeker received both contracts. West Third street for 68 cents a lineal foot, and West Fourth street for $1.18 a lineal foot, 30 feet wide, and $1.30 a foot, 40 feet wide. The work is to be completed by December 1st. Contractor Meeker sent an agreement that he would cart dirt gratis to John and Essex streets and Spooner avenue to raise them to grade. The meeting then adjourned.

First Meeting for the Fall.

The executive committee of the Plainfield Union of the Christian Endeavor Society will meet this evening at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock. This is the first meeting of the fall and it is expected that considerable business of importance will be transacted. Among the principal subjects to be discussed is in regard to the next convention of the society soon to be held in Camden.

TO URGE LOWER RAILROAD FARES

Board of Trade to Try to Interest Other Towns.

WANT CONCERTED ACTION.

TROLLEY EXTENSION TO WASHINGTONVILLE IS DISCUSSED.

One Property Owner Who Opposes Building of Railway Through the Notch—Township Committee Would Grant Franchise—Boards of Trade and Officials in Other Towns to be Asked to Aid.

The principal business to occupy the attention of the Board of Trade at last night's meeting was with reference to the extension of the trolley line up Somerset street to Washingtonville. A committee from the valley, consisting of Assemblyman Cooper and F. S. Wohlfert, was present. Mr. Wohlfert said that the consent of every property owner on the line had been secured except that of James Wilson, who he said was opposed to the road on the ground that he considered it detrimental to his business. Mr. Wohlfert said the citizens of Washingtonville were very anxious to have the road built and he thought if the Board would use its influence it would be of vast benefit to the city of Plainfield. He had understood that the township committee would be willing to grant the trolley company a franchise.

Mr. Wohlfert said that he had been given to understand by a number of gentleman living in New York that if the trolley line was extended they would like to come out here and reside, and would build handsome homes in the vicinity of Somerset Park.

Secretary Runyon said that he had been told by President Riker, of the Plainfield Street Railway Company, that the company would like to extend the trolley as far as the corner at Washingtonville, but that the extension could not be built this fall owing to the difficulty of procuring rails.

President Lounsbury was of the opinion that if the influence of the Board of Trade was used with Mr. Wilson it might result in inducing him to approve of the road.

After the trolley question had been disposed of President Lounsbury called attention to the high rate of fares on the Central Railroad, which he maintained were detrimental to the interests of the city. He cited the differences in the fares on the Central road and the fares charged by the Illinois Central out of Chicago. From Chicago to Homewood, a small town 23 miles out, the fare, he said, was but 23 cents, while a 25-mile ride could be had for 18 cents. Mr. Lounsbury suggested that the Boards of Trade along the line of the road from Elizabeth to Somerville should take concerted action and attempt to bring about a reduction of fares. He thought that would be tne only way a reduction could be secured.

After some further discussion upon motion of Mr. J. T. Vail, the secretary was instructed to write to the various boards of trade and the officials of the various cities and boroughs between Elizabeth and Somerville and ask that they co-operate with the Board of Trade of this city in an effort to bring about a reduction of fares, and to meet with the Plainfield Board at the November meeting.

A communication was received from Mrs. M. W. Board, of Metuchen, asking the board to interest itself in the production of artificial rubber and artificial coal, of which the writer claimed to be the inventor. Mrs. Board stated that it would cost about $10,000 to establish the plant. The secretary was requested to inform the writer that the Board was not in a position to further her plans with reference to the matter.

Communications were also received from Messrs. J. Alex. Koons, H. J. Holmes and J. Carslile asking about the proposed trolley to Washingtonville. The secretary stated that the letters had been answered.

After receiving the resignations of William Newcorn and V. L. Frazee, the Board adjourned to meet the third Monday in October.

Prof. Perry's New Position.

Prof. Bliss Perry, who has been professor of aesthetics at Princeton for many years, has resigned that office and has since been made the editor of the Atlantic Monthly. Prof. Perry was a graduate of Williams College and a personal friend of Ira W. Travell, principal of the Plainfield High School, who also graduated from Williams. Prof. Perry delivered the High School graduation address in this city in 1896.

DREYFUS PARDONED.

He Will be Released From Custody in a Few Days—His Health is Very Bad.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Paris, Sept. 19—As has been predicted and anticipated, Alfred Dreyfus, convicted twice of treason, and the second time sentenced to ten years' imprisonment, was today pardoned.

The action was taken by the Council of Ministers. The pardon will take effect in a few days.

As a condition to the granting of the pardon the convicted man has relinquished his appeal for a reversal of the judgment of the court martial, which means that he will live with the official stigma of treason upon his character.

Dreyfus' pardon was a necessity to the prolongation of his life. His long and cruel confinement and the excitement and strain of his second trial has made terrible inroads into his health, and if he was to be confined much longer he would die.

INTER-COUNTY LEAGUE.

BOWLERS OF THREE COUNTIES ORGANIZE FOR THE WINTER.

The Plainfield Catholic Club Team One of the Members—Entrance Fee $10—One Game a Week to be Rolled.

Representatives from the six teams which are to compose the new bowling league met at the Bound Brook Hotel Saturday for the purpose of electing officers and transacting other business preparatory to the opening of the league. John Watson, of the Brunswicks, was elected president; John Moran, of the Plainfield Catholic Club, secretary, and Charles Greenewald, of the Brunswick Cafe team, treasurer.

It was decided that the league be known as the Inter-County League, of New Jersey, as three counties are represented. The entrance fee will be $10 for each team. There will be a fine trophy for the winning team, also first and second prizes for high individual averages. The officers were authorized to draw up a set of rules to govern the games. The following committee was appointed to select prizes: Peter Klein, of the Raritans; A. VanCleve, of the Somersets, and Bert Applegate, of the Bound Brooks.

Each team will roll one game a week to begin about the middle of October and end about the middle of February. George Hughes, of the Brunswick Cafe and C. A. Shannon, of the Plainfield Catholic Club, were appointed to arrange the schedule of games. The meeting adjourned till Friday night, September 22d.

A NEW CITY DIRECTORY.

A Special Feature Will be the New York Business Addresses of Plainfield Residents.

J. R. Wand, of New York, who issued the city directory for Plainfield last year, arrived in town yesterday to commence preparations for getting out the directory this year. In his work of last year Mr. Wand had many difficulties to overcome, as it was his first season in Plainfield, but his book was a great improvement over directories Plainfield has had in former years. This year Mr. Wand promises to get out one of the best directories that can be found in any city in the metropolitan district. One particular feature that he will carry out to as near perfection as possible, will be the New York business addresses of Plainfield residents. This feature was introduced in his former book, but in the short time he had to work in, it was impossible to make it satisfactory. A good city directory is something that all Plainfielders will appreciate, and Mr. Wand should be encouraged in his enterprise.

INJURIES WERE FATAL.

The Lehigh Valley Employe Hurt at Bound Brook Died at the Hospital Yesterday Afternoon.

R. Bruce MacFarland, the member of the bridge gang of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, who was brought to the Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday morning with his skull fractured, died at the hospital yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. He was at no time conscious.

His home was at Millersburg, Pa. He was unmarried. His sister, Miss Mabel MacFarland, reached Plainfield last evening too late to see her brother alive. The remains will be sent to Millersburg today. He was thirty one years of age.

A Successful Operation.

The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kitchell, of Watchung avenue, had a very successful operation performed on him yesterday by Dr. Zeglio, of this city, and Dr. Kinch, of Westfield.

DRIVER NOT BLAMED FOR WOMAN'S DEATH.

Mrs. Martin Fell in Front of Team of Horses.

MAC MURRAY EXONERATED.

RESULT OF THE CORONER'S INQUEST HELD YESTERDAY.

The Investigation Conducted at Springfield Yesterday—Judge Coddington and Senator Reed on Hand to Look After MacMurray's Interest—Witnesses of the Woman's Death Told Their Stories.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Springfield, Sept. 19.—The town room in the public hall here was well filled yesterday afternoon when the jury empanelled by Coroner Dr. Chas. W. MacConnell, of Cranford, heard evidence relating to the death of Mrs. Cornelia A. Martin, of 198 McWhorter street, Newark, who was killed while riding her bicycle on the county road last Wednesday.

Prosecutor English, of Elizabeth, was present to present the case for the coroner and Senator Reed and ex-Judge Coddington, of Plainfield, were there to look after the interests of Charles MacMurray, ex Clerk of Mountainside borough, whose carless driving, it was alleged, had caused the woman's death.

Mrs. Ida E. Shipman, of 83 Arlington street, Newark, the woman who was with Mrs. Martin at the time of the accident, was the first witness called. Mrs. Shipman said she and Mrs. Martin were riding from Newark to Milburn, and when near the first of what are called the "seven bridges" they were overtaken by a heavy farm wagon. The horses were going quite rapidly, and Mrs. Martin was about fifty feet ahead of her, and when directly opposite the horses the former fell from her wheel and rolled under the wagon. Mrs. Shipman said she saw the back left wheel pass over Mrs. Martin's head, and then she, Mrs. Shipman, fell from her wheel. The witness further stated that she and Mrs. Martin were on the right hand side of the road, and that Mrs. Martin rolled from under the wagon on the left hand side. The driver, Mrs. Shipman stated, drove on and was brought back by a wheelman who came along.

Theo. Voorhis, a cigar salesman living at Orange, was called and said that he was riding on the county road Wednesday, about 11 o'clock in the morning, when he noticed a heavy wagon standing in the road and the driver talking to another man, who was in a buggy. He went a little further and saw the body of a woman. He then went back to where the heavy wagon was but the buggy had gone on. He asked Mr. MacMurray for a blanket and the latter willingly gave it to him and then drove to Springfield to notify the officials of the accident. He said that the story that MacMurray had driven off, was not true and he had turned around and come back to the scene of the accident. He said that Mr. MacMurray seemed nervous and bewildered.

Gilbert Smith, of Springfield, said he arrived shortly after the accident and saw MacMurray hand a blanket to Voorhis and then drive off, as requested, for a doctor.

Charles E. MacMurray was called and after Prosecutor English warned him that anything he might say might be used against him, MacMurray said: "I was returning from Newark about 11 o'clock Wednesday and when I came down the hill I saw two women on bicycles in front of me, one on each side of the road. As they turned to the right I went to the left. As they seemed to be very careful I thought it safe to pass on that side. I passed one woman and came to the other, when the one behind called to the front one to 'be careful' and the latter seemed to dismount as she turned in front of my team. I tried to stop but could not and the yoke chain struck her and she fell between the horses. I stopped as soon as I could and turning went back. After leaving a blanket I went on to Springfield and then home. I was driving about five miles an hour." He said he never drank and was watching his horses all the time.

The jury took the case at about 5 o'clock, and after being out for one half hour came in with a verdict that Mrs. Martin's death had been caused by being run into by Charles MacMurray, who had caused the accident unintentionally.

TO REDUCE THE WORKS.

The Movement to Be Pushed With Vigor as Soon as the Two Big Ships Arrive.

Denby and Worcester, of the Philippines Commission Sail From Manila on Their Homeward Journey. Will Present an Elaborate Report to Congress.

Manila, Sept. 19.—The monitor Monterey and the gunboat Concord have sailed for Subig Bay to assist the cruiser Charleston in reducing the Filipino works there, a task which will be prosecuted will all the vigor possible as soon as the ships arrive. The Zafiro took a landing party of 300 marines.

Col. Denby and Prof. Worcester, of the Philippines Commission, have sailed for home. All the attaches of the Commission remain here. Col. Denby said they expected to return, as their work would not be finished until peaceful relations with the Filipinos had been re-established, and civil government had taken the place of military rule.

Since Prof. Schurman left, Messrs. Denby and Worcester have been continuing to assist the military authorities in the establishment of local governments. They have also continued the work of collecting material concerning the resources of the islands, their government by the Spanish and whatever other points are likely to be of service to the Americans in providing a permanent form of administration. The commission has the views of many prominent Filipinos and is prepared to submit an exhaustive report to Congress.

Tartar Not Overcrowded.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Col. Charles Bird, in charge of the transportation for the army, says that many erroneous reports have been made about the capacity of the transport Tartar, which was detained in Hong Kong on a complaint of overcrowding. A despatch from Quartermaster Long, at San Francisco, gives an account of the equipment of the steamship, and shows what precautions are taken regarding the inspection of the transports. He says:

"The British chartered transport Tartar sailed from here July 24. Medical and other transport officers, after careful inspection, fixed her maximum carrying capacity as 107 officers and 1,232 men. However, she sailed with 45 officers and 1,161 enlisted men and 50 civilians, total, 1,221, being 118 less than full capacity. Each person carried, including crew, was provided with life preservers, besides there were many extra aboard."

Thinks Campaign Will Be Short.

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—Major S. R. Jones, U. S. A., who has been quartermaster at Manila ever since that city was captured by the Americans, was a passenger on the Coptic, which has just arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama via Honolulu. He will report to Washington.

When Major Jones left Manila a forward movement in the rain and mud was being made against the insurgents. He is of the opinion that 50,000 men will have to be kept on the island of Luzon for ten years, in order to keep the peace, but that the actual fighting will not last six weeks when that number of Americans have been landed at Manila.

The Hooker Will Be Saved.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The government has decided to save the cable ship Hooker, which is on a reef at Corregidor Island. The cost of repairing the ship so that she can be taken to Cavite will be $57,000 Mexican, and to remove her cargo, $24,000 Mexican. It is estimated that she is worth more than $200,000.

The cargo to be saved is valued at more than $100,000 and consists principally of cable for use of the signal corps in the Philippines, together with other telegraphic and signal corps supplies.

Total Receipts in the Philippines.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The War Department has made the statement that the total receipts of the Philippine Islands for the month of July were $732,845.55, divided as follows:

Customs receipts at Manila, $391,147; customs receipts at Illoilo, $22,111; customs receipts at Cebu, $31,043; internal revenue receipts, $106,226. The remaining receipts consist of provost court fines, water rents, market and slaughter house receipts, etc.

Gage Goes to Arizona.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—Secretary and Mrs Gage have left Washington for Arizona by way of Chicago. While in Arizona the secretary and his wife will make a trip to the Grand Canon of the Colorado. They will return in time to meet the President and party in Chicago on Oct. 9.

$90,000 Fire in Indiana.

New Albany, Ind., Sept. 19.—Fire destroyed a tenement house at Vincennes and Beeler streets, owned by the DePauw estate, and the DePauw Memorial Church adjoining. The loss was about $90,000.

No Arrests Made.

Carterville, Ill., Sept. 19.—No arrests have been made and much difficulty is anticipated in discovering the identy of the white men who did the killing of the negro miners in a riot on Sunday.

These Chinamen May Land.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Spaulding has issued an order allowing the three unenlisted Chinamen on board the Olympia to land in New York.

ODD FELLOWS AT DETROIT.

The Seventy-Fifth Annual Meeting Largely Attended.

Detroit, Sept. 19.—Sovereign grand encampment officials and various other functionaries of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows walked to the opening session of the seventy-fifth annual meeting of the order through a drenching rain. They were escorted from headquarters, the Hotel Cadillac, to the Detroit Opera House, where public reception exercises were conducted by the military cantonments of the order present in the city. Arrived in front of the theatre, the patriarchs militant stood in line with swords at present, while 300 umbrella-bearing sovereign and state officers, delegates to the sovereign grand lodge and to the Michigan grand lodge filed past in pairs and entered.

The proceedings were opened with orchestral music. Greetings were extended by Col. O. A. Jones, chairman of the general local committee; Mayor Maybury, for the city and state; Col. E. H. Sellers, grand master, representing the Michigan grand lodge; Robert Donovan, grand patriarch of the Michigan grand encampment; Brigadier C. S. Martin, department commander of Michigan patriachs' militant, and by Mrs. Emma Haskin, president of Rebekah assembly.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Chicago will be the working centre of the Democratic National Committee in the campaign in preparation for the next Presidential election. This was decided at a meeting of the Executive Committee, thus settling definitely rumors that the headquarters would be changed. J. G. Johnson of Kansas will have charge of the work. Those present at the conference were former Governor Stone, J. G. Johnson, J. M. Head of Tennessee, George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, J. M. Guffey of Pennsylvania and J. B. O'Brien of Minnesota.

The Ways and Means Committee was called together by John R. McLean, and the matter of financing the campaign was discussed. The Press Committee also was convened by Mr. Johnson. Members of the Press Committee were not disposed to discuss probabilities. It is thought probable that the press arrangements for Chicago will be changed, using the attitude of the local papers in the last campaign as a basis for reorganization.

Mended the Broken Neck.

New York, Sept. 19.—Walter A. Duryea, son of a wealthy starch manufacturer of Glen Cove, L. I., will probably live, after being in danger of death for many weeks. The parts of the fifth and sixth vertebrae, which were fractured by a dive in shallow water at Oyster Bay, on August 7, have been extracted at Roosevelt Hospital in the presence of several eminent physicians. The fracture completely paralyzed the young man. The physicians give it as their opinion that Duryea will now fully recover.

Widow Will Get Insurance.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 19.—An opinion filed in the Court of Chancery dismissed the suit brought by the First National Bank of Asbury Park against Evlena White, widow of Washington White. The husband died owing the bank $3,700, and it sought to get part of a $10,000 life insurance. The bank asserted the premiums were paid with money which belonged to White's creditors, but it was shown that Mrs. White paid them out of her own income.

Alleged Mail Robbers Arrested.

Marietta, Ohio, Sept. 19.—Deputy United States Marshal W. T. Harness has arrived here from Benwood, Monroe County, with Spencer Wood, who is charged with cutting a mail sack and robbing it of registered packages. It is charged that he gave the mail carter, William Dillon, $2 to allow him to take the sack. Dillon also is in jail on the same charge.

Life Sentence for a Murderer.

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 19.—The jury in the case against Edward and Malinda Delegal, charged with being implicated in the murder of Deputy Sheriff Townsend at Darien, found Edward Delegal guilty, and Malinda Delegal was acquitted. Edward received a sentence of life imprisonment, being the same punishment imposed upon his brother a few days ago.

Chased Him With a Shotgun.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, Sept. 19.—Frank North, of Lakeview, was arrested here charged with criminally assaulting Lottie E. Siep, 15 years of age. Her father chased North through the streets of Lakeview with a double-barrelled shotgun, and the officers had great difficulty in disarming the enraged parent.

Refuse to Divulge His Name.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 19.—A man sent to Mt. Pleasant Hospital from Des Moines proves to be a chemist known on two continents. He was released and given a position in the college, but the hospital authorities respect his wishes for secrecy and refuse to give his name.

Soldier Sick With Smallpox.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 19.—Much excitement has been created at the Presidio by a case of smallpox which was discovered in ward "I" of the Presidio Hospital. The victim is a private in the Thirty-first United States Volunteers, whose name the hospital authorities refuse to divulge.

Craig Badly Beaten.

Coney Island, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Tommy Ryan defeated Frank Craig, the "Harlem Coffee Cooler," here in the eleventh round. The fight was stopped by the referee to prevent Craig from being knocked out. The defeated man was fearfully punished and was no match for Ryan.

Key West in Fever's Grip.

Key West, Sept. 19.—Fifty-four new cases of yellow fever have been reported in the last forty-eight hours and three deaths, making a total number of cases to date of 362, and seventeen deaths.

A Specific for Cancer.

"THE MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER has in some cases seemed to be of great benefit in arresting the progress of the disease. In a few instances, one of cancer of the breast and four of uterine cancer, the apparent effect has been more striking than any results I have seen from any other agent."

Fordyce Barker, M. D.

"I can fully endorse all that my friend Dr. Barker has said about the MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER. I have prescribed it with benefit in a few cases of cancer. I also consider it a great remedy in all scrofulous diseases, and in syphilitic affections. In these diseases its true value has not yet been fully recognized by the profession. It is also an admirable remedy in affections of the digestive organs, and in some diseases of the kidneys."

To Be Depended Upon

Because it is the Experience of a Plainfield Citizen, and Can Readily be Investigated.

Suppose you were an utter stranger in a large city and had completely lost your way, whose guidance could you place the most confidence in, a stranger's, lost like yourself, or a resident's, born and bred in the city? When a ship reaches the offing of a strange port, whose hand directs the tiller and brings her safe to her moorings, a trusty pilot's or a greenhorn's? Whose opinions experience and statements can the reader depend upon the more, those published by bona fide Plainfield citizens or those originally drafted in every hole and corner of the Union, except our own Plainfield and its suburbs? Read this Plainfield case. Mr. Jos. VanArsdale, carpenter and contractor, living at 213 Spooner ave., says: "For several years I suffered from severe pain in my back, hips and loins, so bad at times that it was almost impossible for me to get around and attend to my work. Any stooping or heavy lifting aggravated it, and if I contracted the least cold it always settled in my back, at such times my suffering was something intense. When Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice I was in pretty bad shape and procuring them from L. W. Randolph's drug store, I took a few doses when I found they were helping me, and on completing the treatment I was quite free from pain. I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand so as to have a sure remedy close by if the trouble should ever return. I highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for aching and lameness in the back and consider them an honest kidney medicine and possessing all the merits claimed for them."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers; price 50 cents a box. Mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

PROTEST TO PRESIDENT.

Rear-Admiral Schley's Friends Do Not Take Kindly to His Assignment.

MAKE SHORT SPEECHES.

Try to Make it Clear to the Chief Executive That Schley Should Have Better Treatment.

The Delegation Treated Courteously and Receive the President's Promise That the Matter Will Have His Attention—Alarming Situation in Venezuela.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The expected protest by friends of Rear-Admiral Schley against compelling him to obey the orders of the Navy Department to take command of the South Atlantic Naval Station has been made directly to President McKinley by four supporters of Schley. They are Senator Wellington, Gov. Lowndes, of Maryland; Mayor Malster, of Baltimore, and Gen. Felix Agnus, the proprietor of the Baltimore American. Each of them made a short speech to Mr. McKinley, telling him Schley should have a more desirable assignment. They said that the people of the country had obtained the idea that Schley was not receiving fair treatment, and suggested that his assignment to the South Atlantic station be changed to something which would be more acceptable to Schley and would remove that impression. They said that they did not come from Admiral Schley, whom they had not seen or heard from since his orders were issued.

The President told the delegation that he did not want the people to get the impression that Rear-Admiral Schley was being ill treated by the Navy Department, and did not think such a statement was justified, but he promised to look into the matter.

Senator Wellington declared some time ago that Maryland would be lost to the Republican party if Schley were not treated better by the Administration. He and other members of the delegation were asked, after they left the White House, if they had said anything like that to the President. They were evasive, but it is fair to assume, from what they did say, that Senator Wellington told the President practically what he had said in newspapers about the effect of the Schley case on the political situation in Maryland.

The Situation Serious.

Washington, Sept. 19.—A cable message received at the Navy Department from San Juan, P. R., says that the Detroit has sailed from that place for La Guayra, Venezuela.

United States Minister Loomis is hurrying his departure from Washington because of the gravity of the situation in Venezuela. He left for New York and will take the first steamship from that city for Venezuela, which will be not later than Saturday next. The minister regards the situation as critical if the newspaper reports of the insurgent successes are accurate.

The town of Maracay, where the revolutionists are reported to be, is only about eighty miles distant from Caracas, the capital.

No orders have been issued to the Nashville, now at Gibara, Cuba, to proceed to Venezuela, but it is probable that she will be needed soon at Porto Cabello, which is reported here to have fallen into the hands of the insurgents.

Honored Garfield's Memory.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 19.—The memory of the martyred president, James A. Garfield, was honored here at Golden Gate Park. Orations were delivered by United States Senator George C. Perkins and Representative Julius Kahn. Brief remarks were also made by E. M. Galvin, president of the day; City Treasurer I. J. Truman and Major-Gen. Shafter, U. S. A. There was a parade, the participating organizations being G. A. R. posts, sailors from the battleship Iowa, a detachment of the First California Regiment, United States Volunteers, and various civic societies.

Disastrous Fire at Farnham, N. Y.

Farnham, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Almost the entire business section of this village was destroyed by fire, which started in Louis Schwert's barn. A conservative estimate places the loss at $250,000. Among the buildings destroyed were the Erie Preserving Company's canning factory, the National Hotel, the Caul House, Brinkmal's department store, Schwert's hardware store, and about thirty residences.

Buying Mules for War Purposes.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 19.—An agent of the British government is negotiating with a local firm that deals extensively in horses and mules for the purchase of 1,000 pack mules for use in South Africa. The deal remains open because of the question of delivery, the Englishman demanding immediate shipment, while the firm asks six weeks. It is understood that the mules are to be shipped from New Orleans.

Marriage Licenses Will Come High.

Perry, O. T., Sept. 19.—A telephone message from Tishomingo, I. T., says that the Chickasaw lawmakers are at work on a bill to provide for the increase of the price of Chicasaw marriage licenses from $50 to $1,000. Such a measure was before the legislature last winter, and was defeated, but that proposed to raise the license to only $500 instead of $1,000.

Tanner's Niece Fatally Injured.

French Lick, Ind., Sept. 19.—Mrs. Alexander Wilson and daughter of Blue River, Ind., were thrown from a carriage and Miss Wilson was fatally hurt. The other occupants were also badly hurt. Miss Wilson is a niece of Governor Tanner of Illinois.

MAY CORNER WHEAT AGAIN.

P. D. Armour Said to be Interested in the Big Deal.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—P. D. Armour, head of the Beef Trut, is named as the backer of a new attempt to corner the wheat market of the United States.

Armour, it will be remembered, posed as the friend of "Joe" Leiter when that young Napoleon of wheat met his Waterloo, but his friendship cost the elder Leiter several millions of dollars and left young Leiter much the worse for wear.

The Weare Commission Company of this city, is engineering the new deal. Charles A. Weare, the president, and Portus B. Weare, the vice-president, are the leaders in the big scheme.

For some time the Weares have been filling their elevators from the bins of Armour. He held the bulk of the visible supply, having brought it on to Chicago when he made a show of coming to Joe Leiter's aid. The Weares have been buying September and selling December wheat. In August, December wheat went to two and a half cents over September, and if they can get the bulk of cash wheat in their hands these gentlemen will have engineered a "spread" which will hurt both ways.

Nobody can tell where the price will go, and the men under contract to deliver December wheat when that becomes cash wheat are shaking in their shoes already.

It is believed that Armour is really sincere in his backing of the present deal. But he is not apt to take any chances. Mr. Armour has had personal experience with corners and knows, to his cost, that they are very hard things to get out of with profit.

Shamrock Has Narrow Escape.

Highlands, N. J., Sept. 19.—Shamrock had a close call just as she crossed the finishing line heading for home after her trial spin of thirty miles. An immediate column of water shot high in the air not over 150 yards off her port bow. A big shot from one of the 12-inch guns under test on the Government proving-grounds on Sandy Hook was fired and struck the water in such close proximity to Sir Thomas Lopton's green hull pride that the sailors aboard of her shouted in a chorus of alarm.

The spray from the tower of water fell on the deck of the Shamrock, sprinkling the faces of some of the astonished seamen.

The shot had travelled between three and four miles, but had lost none of its force when it dropped near the Shamrock. This shot was followed by several others, but they did not fall near the cup-hunter.

Accede to Strikers' Demands.

New York, Sept. 19.—Between 500 and 600 carpenters who were on strike gathered at Bohemia Hall, 337 East Seventy-third street where President George Barry and Secretary T. H. Walsh of the carpenters' organization, were receiving reports. The men demand $22 a week and only forty-four hours' work. It was reported that 268 of the 400 or more employers had acceeded to the demands of the men.

Laborer Won an Heiress.

Port Washington, Wis., Sept. 19.—James McCracken, of Ohio, a day laborer, has eloped with Edith, the beautiful daughter of Mayor Mueller, who is the richest man in this section of the state. Edith is sole heir to her father's fortune and she has been forgiven. The father will set McCracken up in business.

Tortured the Indian Chief.

Mazatlan, Mexico, Sept. 19.—Totabiate, a chief of the Yaqui who remained loyal to the Mexican Government, was seized by the rebels, stripped, slashed with knives and shockingly mutilated, while the Yaqui danced about him, crying out: "Take your peace! Now you are punished for siding with the Mexican Government."

Cow Dragged Him to Death.

McKeesport, Pa., Sept. 19.—A fourteen-year-old son of Jacob Smith, a dairyman residing near this city, was dragged to death by a cow. The boy was taking the cow to pasture and had tied the rope, by which he was leading her, to his body. The animal became frigtened and ran away. The boy was horribly mangled.

National Bank Suspends.

Penn Yan., N. Y., Sept. 19.—Pen Yan people were startled by the announcement of the failure of the First National Bank. The liabilities are said to be about $80,000, and it is thought that with the assets and a small assessment on the capital stock, the depositors will be paid in full.

Only a Life Interest.

New York, Sept. 19.—The latest rumor in regard to the disposition of the Vanderbilt millions is that while Cornelius, jr., is in no way disinherited he will have only a life interest in the share which would have been unconditionally his had he not married in defiance of is father's wishes.

Cathedral in Blaze of Glory.

City of Mexico, Sept. 19.—The magnificent illumination of the Cathedral of Mexico by electricity is the cause of general admiration. The great building can be seen for thirty miles away like a vast mound of blazing light in the centre of the valley of Mexico.

Crew Thought to Have Been Lost.

London, Sept. 19.—A boat containing the captain and eleven men from the French steamship Dunrae, reported to have foundered off the Island of Elba in the Mediterranean, is feared to have sunk with all on board.

Americans Invited to Attend.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The Belgian Legation has officially informed the State Department of the World's Medical Congress to be held at Brussels in September 25 to 28. The United States is invited to send delegates.

Choked to Death on a Peanut.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, Sept. 19.—The infant child of John Ewn, while eating peanuts, had one lodged in its windpipe and it choked to death in two hours.

An Oconomowoc, Wis., printer was greatly troubled with a disorderly stomach and constipation. He became nervous and peevish, easily excited, and all things seemed a bluish tint to him. "One day I procured a box of Ripans Tabules," he says, "and used only a few when the change in my appearance was well-nigh marvelous. The distressed feeling after eating has settled away into oblivion, and my bowels move daily with the regularity of clockwork."

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

LI HUNG CHANG TALKS.

He Says We Should Withdraw From the Philippines.

Chicago, Sept. 19—John T. McCutcheon, the correspondent of the Record, cables an important interview which he had with Li Hung Chang, the Chinese statesman, at Shanghai.

Chang freely discussed the American occupation of the Philippines, and the question incidental to the campaign.

"What do I think of your American occupation of the Philippines?" he said. "I consider it a great mistake. When Gen. Grant was here he assured me that America was committed to the policy of non-aggression on weaker nations, but since this man McKinley became President America seems to have cast aside its traditional policy of honor, riches and safety and to have entered upon the same land-grabbing plan of England, Germany and Russia. I think America should ultimately withdraw from the islands."

"But," I said, "America could not retire honorably during hostilities. The island was not sought, but forced upon us as a result of the war."

"Is Aguinaldo not a man of ability and patriotism?" asked the distinguished statesman.

"Aguinaldo," I replied, "sold out to Spain once and possibly is waiting for the chance to sell it again."

"Then, why not buy him off," asked His Excellency.

"Because," I said, "it would be against American policy."

"You have already begun buying islands," he retorted. "You paid twenty millions to Spain after the war had ceased. Would it not be a good idea to pay a little more to complete the bargain and prevent further loss of American life and an endless pension roll?"

"What solution do you suggest?" I inquired.

"Sell the islands to Japan," he replied. "She is undoubtedly eager to acquire them and has neighboring possessions in Formosa and would subjugate them cheaper than America."

"Would not retiring now cause the European powers to struggle for possession and a general war?"

"That would not hurt America," he replied. "Sell the Philippinos and let them fight it out in their own way."

Break in Canal Feeder.

Rome, N. Y., Sept. 19.—A serious break occurred in the Forest Port feeder at a point about one mile from Forest Port and just northwest of where the break occurred last year. The break is 125 feet long and forty feet deep, and all the water in the feeder has run out. The water runs directly into the Black River and no damage to property has been done. It will require two weeks to repair the break, and the result may be that navigation on this level of the Erie Canal may be stopped, as the feeder here is its main source of supply.

Mme. Dreyfus at Folkestone.

London, Sept. 19—Maitre Labori and Mme. Dreyfus have arrived at Folkestone. Apartments have been taken there for Mme. Dreyfus and her children, who will live in Folkestone in the event of a pardon being granted her husband. M. Labori is much affected by the kindly feeling exhibited toward ex-Capt. Dreyfus and himself.

An American Ship Burned.

London, Sept. 19.—The ship George Stetson of Bath, Me., owned by Arthur Sewall & Co., Captain Patten, from Portland, Me., June 17, for Taku, China, has been burned at Loo Choo. No lives were lost.

Another Bicycle Record Broken.

The Hague, Sept. 19.—Martien Cordang, the Dutch cyclist, has beaten the world's record for twenty-four hours. He rode 640 miles and 120 yeards, beating Walter's record of 637 miles.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 19.—A big break occurred at the opening of the stock market owing to tremendous liquidation, assisted by a large volume of short sales. The floor of the Exchange was the scene of the greatest excitement during the first fifteen minutes in the efforts of brokers to execute their orders. Prices melted at an astonishing rapid rate, with several of the active specialties showing declines ranging up to 4 or 5 points. The heaviest trading was in Brooklyn Rapid Transit, which, however, received considerable inside support, which kept it moving within the two quotations of 85 and 86, the lowest being a net decline of 3 points. American Steel and Wire was another feature, selling down to 46 and rallying later to 48½. The standard issues, the industrial stocks and the local traction shares all broke together, and the only variations that appeared were those in respect to relative decline and activity. At the extreme declines made in initial dealings better evidence of support was noted, particularly in the standard issues, and some of the specialties also rallied. Toward the close there was an advance, but the net result for the day was a loss.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Wheat-closing quotations 70⅝, corn 32¾, oats, 21⅞, pork, 7.95, lard, 5.27, ribs, 5.15.

Gigantic Omelette.

A company of the Third African Battalion stationed at Kef (Tunis) has just enjoyed the most gigantic omelette ever made. At the request of the farmers in the neighborhood, the soldiers were sent on an expedition to annihilate the swarms of sparrows which were playing havoc with the crops. Their work finished, they brought back as spoils of war 5,000 eggs, which the regimental cook mixed with many pounds of other ingredients, and made into an omelette nearly seven feet in circumference.—Nice Phare du Littoral.

Drawing a Comparison.

"Don't talk like a fool, Joshua," said Mrs. Harix, "to hear you tell it folks would be thinkin' I asked you to marry me, and goodness knows I never ran after you fer a minute in my life."

"Well, I hain't sayin' you run arter me, Melinda," replied the old man, "but that don't prove nuthin' nohow. I reckon the trap never runs after the mouse neither, but somehow it 'peers to gather him in jist the same."—Chicago News.

ARTILLERY ON FRONTIER.

Arrival of Munitions of War Looks Troublesome in the Transvaal.

SENDING FAMILIES AWAY

Beginning to Look as Though President Kruger Means to Do Some Hard Fighting.

Panic Among the Dutchmen—Charles Town Deserted—Families of the Boers Sent to a Refuge Across the Border of Natal—Are Anxious for American Intervention.

London, Sept. 19.—The Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "The United States Consul in Cape Town has gone to Bloemfontein, at the request of the Government of the Orange Free State, to confer regarding the crisis. The Orange Free State Executive is anxious to secure American intervention.

"Boer spies infest the border towns. Two thousand troops will be dispatched to Kimberley within a week. Five hundred have already started, and others will go forward at once.

London, Sept. 19.—A despatch from Natal to the Central News says that the arrival of the Staats artillery on the border has created a panic among the Boers. Charles Town has been deserted and the Boers' who believe now that their Government means business, have sent their families to a laagar on the Natal side of the border.

A despatch to the Times from Johannesburg says it is stated that an early coup is contemplated. Large quantities of forage have been forwarded toward the Natal border, and this is taken to indicate a move on the part of the troops to that quarter. The agents of the Transvaal Government are buying horses freely.

The Colonial office give out the following as the official version of President Kruger's reply to the latest proposals made by Great Britain:

After acknowledging the receipt of Secretary Chamberlain's despatch the Boer reply says: "This Government wishes to state that it learns with a feeling of deep regret that it must be understood that Her Majesty's Government understood that Her Majesty's Government sent in your letter of Aug. 23 and accepted by this Government, and substitutes in its place an entirely new proposal.

"The proposal which has now lapsed was contained in the letters of this Government of Aug. 19 and Aug. 21, and was introduced by suggestions given by the English Diplomatic Agent to the State's Attorney of the Transvaal. These suggestions were accepted by the Government in good faith, on express request, which was equivalent to an assurance that the proposal would be acceptable to Her Majesty's Government. It was in no way the object of this Government, either then or now, to make any needless recapitulations of its contention about its political status as an independent State, as defined in the London convention of 1884, but only to try to put an end to the state of tension by meeting Her Majesty's Government upon a proposal which it supposed to be constituted, both in spirit and form, in such a way as it was given to understand to be satisfactory to Her Majesty's Government. This Government cannot disguise from itself that in making the proposals contained in its note of Aug. 19, it not only ran the danger of being disclaimed by the South African Republic, Volksraad and people, but its acceptance might affect the independence of the State by as therein proposed, giving an immediate vote in the Legislature to a large number of inpouring Uitlanders. But it set against that the continuous threatening and undoubted danger to its highly-prized independence, arising from the claim of suzerainty made by Her Majesty's Government in the internal affairs of this Republic, and from want of an automatically-working manner of regulating the differences between Her Majesty's Government and this Government, and was in consequence prepared to recommend to the South African Republic, Volksraad and the people, to run the danger attached to the offer made in order to avoid the certainty of greater danger.

Not Confined to Any One Party.

Manchester, Sept. 19.—The Guardian's London correspondent says the sense of gloom and anxiety over the news from the Transvaal is not confined to any one political party. Secretary Chamberlain's policy has only received a lukewarm acceptance from a certain section of the Ministerialists, while others are directly opposed to his views.

Dewey Holidays Proclaimed.

Albany, Sept. 19.—Governor Roosevelt has issued a proclamation setting apart Friday and Saturday, Sept. 29 and 30, as holidays to be observed throughout the State as days of general thanksgiving in honor of the return of Admiral George Dewey to the United States.

A Volunteer Suicides.

Vancouver, Sept. 19.—J. N. Waldron, who was an enlisted man of Company E, Thirty-fifth Infantry, U. S. V., committed suicide at the Hotel Columbia by taking poison. Waldron failed to pass the physical examination and would have been given his discharge.

Fire Frightened Her to Death.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Mrs. A. Quackenbush died at her home in Cannon street of an attack of heart failure occasioned by fright, when she saw her son's house, next door, burning. She had been in perfect health.

The Steamer Merrimac Floated.

Haverhill, Mass., Sept. 19.—The steamboat Merrimac, which ran on the rocks in the Merrimac river two weeks ago, has been floated.

The Arlington Avenue Extension.

The unanimous action of the Common Common Council in progressing the ordinance granting the Street Railway Company a franchise on Arlington avenue, was the only thing that the members could do conscientiously in the matter. At the time the Scotch Plains franchise was granted it was explicitly understood that the trolley should next be extended on Arlington avenue, and the fact there are a few objectors to the improvement—as there always seems bound to be—would not justify the Council in holding up the extension once the legal side of the project has been complied with and safe-guarded.

The extension of the trolley service out Arlington avenue will be the final act in treating all sections of the city alike in the matter of transit facilities. The First, Second and Fourth wards all receive excellent street car service now, with the result of not only being a great convenience to the people resident there, but also in attracting others who build or rent houses, make improvements and otherwise contribute to the increasing value of those sections. This latest proposed line will invade one of the finest residential districts in Plainfield, and will undoubtedly quickly and substantially develop it the same as it is doing in the territories which now possess a trolley car service.

If there is a reduction in the railroad fares to be secured from the Central it would seem that the Board of Trade has at last gone at in the right manner by seeking to interest other towns along the line in the same movement. A committee made up of representative citizens and business from various towns would probably have more influence in getting the fares lowered than any efforts a single organization could bring into play.

John Sherman says that when he was in the Cabinet a prominent man applied personally to him for a consular post in China. He replied that he always wanted to appoint men who spoke the language of the county to which they were sent. "Now, you do not, I presume, speak Chinese," he concluded. "Certainly I do," answered the applicant. "Ask me something in Chinese and I'll reply."

The Newark Evening News advances the idea that the Excise Board removed the time-limit on the saloons of Trenton in order to make the town more attractive to the members of the Legislature. The Trenton Times replies that this is a base libel on the members of the Legislature, penetrated, no doubt, for campaign purposes.

Another Republican candidate for the County Clerkship has appeared upon the scene in the person of the Hon. John A. Hicks, of Summit, who announces in the Herald that he will strive to secure the honor.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Somerset county shows a decrease in the attendance on Sunday-schools during the past few years. Somerset county also shows a tremendous increase in the number of murders committed within its borders in the past few years. It may be merely a coincidence, but if there had been an increase of Sunday-school attendance the strong probabilities are that the record of capital crimes would have provided no such startling antithesis. —Elizabeth Journal.

* * * * *

Hundreds of children are denied the privilege of education in Elizabeth, Paterson, Greenville and other cities, because there is not room for them at the schools. In Elizabeth those who attend the schools in the morning must make way for others in the afternoon. In the clamor for pavements there is lost all conception of the need for more schools, and rapidly increasing bond issues for pavements are crowding out applications for loans that should be devoted to extending school systems. The need of legislation to enable cities to meet extraordinary expenditures for school purposes is apparent.—New York Press.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Beautiful Jim Key, the equine wonder, the most intelligent and learned horse in the world, who has been seen in Plainfield, will hold receptions and give exhibitions of his knowlege during the period of the National Export Exposition in Philadelphia. His entertainments will be given in an attractive building erected for the purpose on the Esplanade at a cost to his owner of $3,000 and will seat 500 people. Jim Key knows more than was ever dreamed of in horse philosophy. In spelling, reading, writing and arithmetic he surprises and entertains his large audiences. He can operate a cash register, ring up any number of fares desired on a street car machine, manipulate a telephone and by movements of his lips appear to be talking through it to the man or horse at the other end of the line, and do innumerable other things requiring a degree of intelligence one would never suspect a horse's brain capable of developing. Politically, beautiful Jim claims to be a Democrat, and can't be argued out of it. He was bred in old Kentucky of a pure Arabian dam and his sire is of Hambletonian stock.

VOLUNTEERS TO PARADE.

Spanish-American War Veterans to Honor Dewey.

The former members of the Third New Jersey Volunteers, which includes several Plainfield boys, will parade in the Dewey procession in New York on Saturday, Sept. 30, and all who wish to participate are asked to attend a meeting in Company C, Phil Kearny Guard, rooms, in the Faulks building, Broad street, Elizabeth this evening, to complete the arrangements.

The uniform adopted to be worn in the parade will consist of campaign hats, blue shirts, fatigue coats and trousers and leggings. The trousers my be either blue, khaki or serge. Officers will wear field blouses, campaign hats, belts, no side arms.

Members of the Third Regiment who wish to participate in the parade, but who may be unable to attend the meeting called for Tuesday evening, may send their names to former regimental Sergeant-Major D.A.Daland, of Elizabeth, who will see that they are properly enrolled.

Mrs. Josie Voilin and daughter, Miss Anna Voilin, of New York, have been guests at the home of Joseph A. Blatz, of Somerset street.

Mrs. M. J. Hawkins, Miss Florence Hawkins and J. M. Hawkins, of LaGrande avenue, returned yesterday after an outing at Ocean Grove.

George D. Spicer, captain of the British ship Glooscap, was the guest last night of Capt. George D. Morrison and wife, of Plainfield avenue. Capt. Spicer's ship recently arrived from Manila with a cargo of sugar. The two captains became acquainted at Manila during the late war.

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS THAT PLAINFIELDERS MAY WITNESS.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

There are many delightful little episodes in "Way Down East," the play which will be presented for the first time in this city at Music Hall tonight, which show that the author has made a close study of character. One discloses the pride that underlies a mother's love for her son. The young man is in love with a girl whom his fond parent believes is an outcast and utterly unworthy, and whom she berates for ensnaring her boy. The girl retorts that she has not encouraged him, and furthermore that she has refused point-blank to marry him. The mother's pride is in arms in an instant, and she becomes even more indignant than before because the girl has had the bad taste not to fall in love with her son. Another incident shows a change of front quite as sudden, and even funnier, on the part of an arbitrary and strong-willed, old New Hampshire squire, who brings together his son and niece, whom he intends shall marry, and leaves them to "come to an understanding." He discovers that not only his pet scheme has failed, but that he has made a spectacle of himself, and his ponderous playfulness instantly gives place to a tremendous outburst of rage. There is a great deal of relishable fun in "Way Down East," as well as the serious interest attendant upon the pathetic story of the heroine. The company engaged by Manager Wm. A. Brady for "Way Down East" is spoken of as being one of the strongest traveling on the road this season.

Stetson's Big Double Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. will be at Music Hall Friday, matinee and night. The company has a double-band orchestra, composed of white and colored musicians, two Topsies, two Marks, Eva and her pony, "Prince," the Lone Star Quartette, the African mandolin players, a pack of savage looking bloodhounds and the Female Creole Quartette, the only one now traveling direct from Nashville, Tenn. See the big street parade.

"The Hustler," attired in the latest fashion of the day, with new songs, dances and specialties, and new, in fact, in everything but name, will be at Music Hall Saturday. This farce comedy enjoys unusual popularity among all classes of theatregoers and and its return will be a welcome event. Manager William T. Keogh has secured for this season an unusually able and versatile company of fun makers. The farce abounds in the latest songs, dances, specialties and comedy ideas.

P. A. Paulscraft, the silver king of theatrical Avant Couriers, is a new arrival in the city and claims that he has a positive novelty in the new farce comedy "Kelly's Kids" which will be the attraction at Music Hall next week Tueeday. This play was made from the sketches and cartoons in the New York World, and the humor is bright, catchy and contemporaneous. It will be given with a full complement of beautiful scenery, new music and by a large and competent company of singers, dancers and comedians.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 19—The trial of Albert Aykon, for being drunk and disorderly upon the streets of the village Saturday night, was called in Judge Schick's court last night. Aykon was penitent and plead guilty to the charge. Judge Schick gave the prisoner a little lecture and good advice for the future, after which he gave him his choice of paying a $5 fine with costs or taking ten days in the county jail. He concluded to pay the cash, making a total of $8.90 for his amusement.

The two children of Hezikiah Ryno, who live with his father on Terrill road, had a rough experience Saturday with a large dog belonging to the family. The animal had always been considered gentle until Saturday morning, when he began to act strangely. The children were playing around the yard when the brute jumped at the little girl and dragged her to the ground. The brother came to her assistance and the animal attacked him also. Help arrived and the animal was shot before he could do any more damage.

Constable Trayno was bound his prisoner Saturday night should not escape or be rescued by friends, so he spent the night in the building on guard.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Thüringische Staaten.

Apolda. Um die Nachtigallen vor Verfolgung und Fang zu schützen, hat die Gemeindebehörde eine Nachtigallensteuer von 18 Mark jährlich eingeführt. Sobald Jemand eine Nachtigall kauft oder auf andere Weise erhält, hat er dies binnen 24 Stunden anzuzeigen, sonst verfällt er in eine Strafe von 36 Mark.

Gotha. Geheimer Hofrath Wilhelm Pertsch, einer der bedeutendsten Orientalisten der Gegenwart, ist gestorben.

Triebes. Bei einem hier ausgebrochenen Brande wurden 18 Gebäude eingeäschert. Fünf Gebäude sind außerdem beschädigt. Große Erntevorräthe wurden vernichtet; versichert war nichts.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Die Hamburgische Börsenhalle meldete, daß die Dampfer der Hamburg-Südamerikanischen Dampfschifffahrtsgesellschaft wegen der Pestgefahr bis auf Weiteres portugiesische Häfen nicht anlaufen.—Der nach Unterschlagung von 100,000 Mark flüchtig gewordene und steckbrieflich verfolgte Kassirer der See-Berufsgenossenschaft, Stöver, ist neulich in einem hiesigen Wirthshause verhaftet worden. Er hatte sich inzwischen in Lüneburg, Lübeck und Oldesloe aufgehalten und war nach Hamburg zurückgekehrt.

Bremen. Der hiesige „Sicherheitshafen" einschließlich des Woltmarshauser Kanals ist nunmehr auf acht Meter unter dem Nullpunkte vertieft worden. Es können jetzt im Sicherheitshafen Schiffe bis zu reichlich 18 Fuß flott bleiben, während früher schon Fahrzeuge mit 14 Fuß, an einigen Stellen schon mit weniger als 10 Fuß Tiefgang bei Ebbe auf Grund geriethen.

Lübeck. Ein großer Moorbrand wüthet seit Wochen im Möllner Stadtmoor, westlich der Lübeck-Büchener Bahn. Zur Einschränkung desselben hat die Eisenbahnverwaltung schon mehrere Arbeiterzüge dorthin abgehen lassen, um längs des Bahndammes auf 200 Meter einen ein bis zwei Meter tiefen Graben auszuheben, ihn mit Sand ausfüllen und von seinem Endpunkte aus je einen Seitengraben ziehen, auch alle auf dem Moor wachsenden Bäume und Sträucher abhauen zu lassen.

Oldenburg.

Süssel. Hier wurde ein Moltke-Stein errichtet. Außer diesem zieren den Marktplatz die Gedenksteine von Kaiser Wilhelm dem Ersten und Bismarck; diese drei Gedenksteine sollen demnächst von einem eisernen Gitter und einer Nadelholzgruppe eingefaßt werden.

Mecklenburg.

Schwerin. Der Sohn des Tischlermeisters Günzlow, ein Maurergeselle, arbeitete im Herbst v. J. in Saarbrücken. Im Oktober führte er in einem Dorfe nahe der französischen Grenze Arbeiten aus. Französische Werber lockten ihn in eine Wirthschaft jenseits der Grenze, machten ihn betrunken und warben ihn für die Fremdenlegion an. Vor etwa zwei Monaten schrieb er seinen Eltern aus Fez, daß er aus seiner im südlichen Algier gelegenen Garnison Georgeville über die marokkanische Grenze nach Fez entkommen sei. Ein deutscher Großkaufmann nahm den Deserteur in einem Karawanenzuge nach Tanger mit, und von dort schickte ihn der deutsche Konsul auf dem Dampfer „Oldenburg" nach Bremerhaven.

Braunschweig. Waldeck.

Blankenburg. Dahier erschoß der elfjährige Schüler Wilhelm Kopta den 13jährigen Schüler Louis Köhler mit einem Revolver. Unbegreiflicher Weise soll der Knabe, der die That in frevelhafter Spielerei begangen, schon seit sechs Wochen im Besitze des Revolvers gewesen sein.

Gandersheim. Seit Kurzem ist Gandersheim in den Fernsprechverkehr mit Berlin einbezogen.

Pyrmont. Anhier, wo Albert Lortzing längere Zeit als Schauspieler, Sänger, Dirigent und Komponist wirkte, wird dem Künstler ein Denkmal in Gestalt einer Bronzebüste errichtet.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Die hier im Bau begriffene russische Kirche geht ihrer Fertigstellung entgegen. Der äußere Bau soll bis Ende September auf Wunsch des russischen Kaiserpaares vollendet sein, der innere Bau in so weit, daß die Einweihung bei dem Anfang Oktober zu erwartenden Besuch des russischen Kaiserpaares erfolgen soll.

BACHELOR MAIDS' MAIDS.

Guard Apartment, Put on Mackintoshes and Brush Hats.

When the bachelor girl wants to keep house she gets herself a maid—a sort of patent, nickel-plated, self-adjustable maid—who acts in the amazing fourfold capacity of chaperon, housekeeper, bootblack and mender, to say nothing of watchdog for the bachelor premises when the girl is down in that awful region among the sharks of men, writes a New York woman.

It has come to be quite a calling, indeed—a good opening for women who want homes and quiet work to try and find just such employment as the lonely unmarried woman can offer. It is a plan that works excellently well for all parties concerned, and is the logical outgrowth of the wants of both women in the question.

Say, for instance, the artist, the woman wage earner in office and other lines, the journalist, the dramatic devotee—are they to do without homes because the poor things happen to be utterly alone in the world? They have evidently thought not, and have acquired a "maid"—why not call her a "valette?"—when they have once thought out the great problem that presented itself.

I listened to one young woman unfold her bright scheme. She had a flat—a tiny affair somewhere in this big city, and I know just where—and she was the originator of the "maid" plan in all its new and native brilliancy.

She looked at furnished and unfurnished rooms first, and all their advertised glory, but she would have none of them, with their "parlor privileges" and "no cooking done." She concluded to have a flat, which was looked upon as the wild dream of a demented brain. She showed her society associates how she could have a flat and all the comforts of a home, and that it was not such an impossible thing after all. She advertised for a woman willing to act as several different sorts of things, and she found one glad to take the offer at once.

The result was that she went into that flat in a flare of triumph, and had a home, with parlor, bedrooms, dining room, kitchen, bathroom and study. And the dear five hundred friends did not even dare to laugh. The woman she hired was neat and respectable, kind and experienced; and while that bachelor girl roamed all day in quest of news and dollars, that maid darned her hosiery, bound her skirts, cooked her tiny meals, swept her rooms and was there to welcome her to a wood fire and chocolate when she came in dripping wet and tired to death.

The work is not taxing for the "maid;" it is independent as to hours, light and agreeable, and it is, best of all, a home for some woman who would be forced into some line of drudgery were it not for the new needs of the newest woman. Two meals a day are all that the bachelor girl finds time to take in her flat, usually, while the dusting and ordering and cooking and mending and bedmaking of so small an affair as a four or five room apartment cannot consume much time. The mending can be done "in between times," in odd moments when the bachelor is away, and when the house is free from the plink of her banjo and the sound of her newly acquired whistle.

And last, but not least, the house has some one with it the most of the time when the owner is off on business, or out of the city for a few weeks, and everything is sure of going on just as usual, from forwarded mail to meeting bills that belong to this newest sort of a "missus."

Demand For Hair Nets.

Hair dressers say that there is such a demand for hair nets that it is difficult to meet it. Two kinds are used so far, the invisible net, made of fine hair, and the old-fashioned heavy net, woven of fine silk tape. However, word comes from Paris that beaded and jeweled nets have been adopted there, and dealers say they will make their appearance here within the next fortnight. The most stylish are wrought with tiny gold beads or those of cut steel, though some women with pocketbooks longer than their heads have nets made to order jewelled with precious gems. Hair and silk tape nets vary in price from ten to fifty cents. The handsome ones, of course, come higher.

Using Art Silks.

The art silks for the various uses of fancy work, including scarf draperies and sofa cushions, are vieing in beauty this season with costly hand work in the shape of elaborate embroideries. A sofa cushion made up of silk of a pale art green tint, powdered with brown thistles, was as extremely realistic as though they had been wrought in relief work. Some other patterns seen were one of apple green silk, covered with cherry blossoms, and a rich one of a cafe au lait ground, upon which was strewn in lavish profusion perky bunches of the stiff little spikes of wintergreen leaves, with the bright red beads of berries that betoken their ripening.

Bernhardt's New Wig.

In Gabriele D'Annunzio's La Ville Morte, which Sarah Bernhardt intends producing shortly in the Renaissance Theatre, she is to wear a wig, the hair of which is to be thirty-six inches long. This length is necessitated by the final tragedy in which the heroine is strangled with her own hair.

SYLPH-LIKE FIGURES.

Padded Hips the Thing if You Would Be in Fashion.

The fashion for padding the hips has become so common now, writes a Paris correspondent, that I must speak of it as an established custom. Some people seem to have a horror of it, but then, when one thinks of it, what is there so much worse about putting little bustles on the hips than putting a little bustle at the back, and yet the most decorous of us wear those now, for a dress is not fashionable without one.

And so, my lady, pad your hips if nature has not been sufficiently lavish with you, and be in vogue. All sorts of things are used for these pads. Some use hair, but that is heating and unwholesome, others swansdown, which is all very well in winter, but something like eternal torment for heat in the summer.

Some have layers of cotton batting, but that is heavy and drags one down, and some have gathers of crinoline or canvas, but these are bulky and always getting awry, so that the best things to use are the little pads that come prepared like a bustle of fine feather bone run into satin or silk like the little bustles for the back.

Of course, the padded hips give a very small effect to the waist, which itself is drawn in very tight just at the belt line, and the rest of the figure left to spread out as large as it wishes above, short corsets being worn to give the effect.

The hip pads should be made very secure to the belt or the effect is grotesque with them slipping all about or getting out of place to make one look as if one had a tumor. The best way is to have them made into each dress and fastened securely to the belt.

Some hip pads come in one with the bustle for the back and this is the best form of all, as it looks more like the natural figure than any of the separate affairs.

Bangs Revived.

It is said that bangs are coming into vogue again. Women with the broad, low forehead so attractive to men should not be persuaded by fashion to hide this light under a bushel; in short, they should not be beguiled into concealing their brows under a bang. As yet the bang has not arrived. Perhaps the little curling tendrils that femininity is trying to train down over its forehead are the forerunners of bangs. When banged hair is becoming, it is very, very becoming; but when it isn't, like the bad little girl everybody knows about, it is horrid. Just at the minute the newest way of dressing the front hair is to comb it back and let it lie perfectly flat on the head in front, while it is puffed out on the sides. A fringe of little curls should fall naturally over the forehead, even if they have to be manufactured with a broiling-hot curling iron. The hair should always be dressed so that it will form the most becoming background for the particular face that it tops, and not according to the latest style.

Modesty Forbade It.

The woman who had charge of a banquet recently given in Washington by a patriotic society of women notified each member of the toast she would be expected to respond to ten days or so before the meeting. To one young woman, whom she did not know personally, she sent the toast, "Our Flag." The young woman received it, and at once went to call on the head of the society in a state of great distress. She simply could not respond to the toast, she said. She didn't know whether a joke was intended, but she had been chaffed unmercifully about it already, and wouldn't go near the meeting if she were to be called on to speak on that subject. "Why, what on earth is wrong with that sentiment?" asked the head of the society. The pretty young woman hesitated. She blushed. "Well," she said, "you see, I am going to marry a man named Flagg."

The Servant's Table Etiquette.

While there is quite a difference of opinion among authorities as to which side of the diner the waiter should place the soup, meat, water, etc., and remove the soiled plates, the weight of opinion seems to favor the left, as there is always less danger there of interfering with the hands of the person served—if engrossed in conversation he fails to notice the approach of the waiter. About dishes from which guests are to help themselves, there is no question. Those are invariably passed to the left. In serving, the larger dishes and platters are usually carried by a napkin in the hand, but smaller ones are passed on a tray. While the carver is busy the waiter stands at his left, ready to take each plate as served.

Rules for Cooking Porridge.

Chapters would be required for exhaustive treatment of the porridge family. The management of the ingredients entering into the various preparations known under this name is substantially the same with all. The milk must be fresh, the water clean and boiling, and never cooked in iron or copper; the cereal which gives name and character to the mixture should be good of its kind, not sour, musty or stale; each sort of porridge should contain a little salt, and the whole be carefully boiled in a double boiler, or in a vessel set within another holding boiling water.

Women and Their Ways.

The women of Finland are accorded almost every freedom that men enjoy. The country is described as "a veritable haven for suffragists."

POPULAR SUPERSTITIONS.

Character In Shoes—The Four Leaved Clover Charm.

It is said that character may be read from an old pair of shoes. If the sole and heel are equally worn, the wearer is wise and energetic if a man, faithful and orderly if a woman. When the inner edges are worn, it signifies feebleness and irresolution in a man, sweetness and modesty in a woman. When the greater wear appears at the outer edges, it is an indication that a man is obstinate, persevering and bold, and that a woman is full of resolution and authority.

Some women have or profess to have a horror of spiders. The spider is, however, a bringer of good fortune, according to superstitious authorities, and to kill a spider is to incur ill luck.

TAFFETA COSTUME.

The four leaved clover continues to be the favorite porte bonheur and is seen in gold, silver, enamel and jewels, or the real clover is incased in crystal and set like a jewel.

The picture shows a gown of sky blue taffeta having a plaited skirt, over which is a tunic of blue taffeta embroidered with white silk. The bodice, which is fitted at the back, has bolero fronts embroidered with white, closing by a white satin bow and gold buckle over a blouse of puffed blue taffeta. The sleeves are plaited across the top and have embroidered caps. The white satin belt is fastened by a gold buckle. The hat of white felt is trimmed with black plumes and pink roses.

FALL FASHIONS.

White Costumes and White Trimmings For Other Gowns.

White costumes are still much in evidence. In cloth, serge and crepe de chine they adapt themselves for autumn wear, both for in and out of doors.

A novel idea in tailor made gowns is the combination of pique and cloth, not merely the use of a pique shirt waist or vest with a cloth gown or the addition of removable pique collars, cuffs and revers, but the employment of stitched bands, applications and trimmings of pique sewed permanently on the cloth; also the cloth is sometimes perforated in designs which reveal pique beneath. The pique is usually white, and the transitory nature of these costumes is too self evident to require comment.

Many gowns for autumn and winter are decorated with a border band of cloth, plain or embroidered. The cloth employed is very thin and fine.

The picture illustrates a tailor made jacket of red cloth. It is tight fitting and fastens diagonally with two groups of crystal buttons. The basque and revers are slashed, and all edges, as well as the sleeves, are bordered with rows of black mohair braid. A white linen collar and shirt bosom, with a black cravat, are worn, and a hat of black braided felt with red flowers, white lace and black quills.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Clear Cut.

The Rev. F. W. Greenstreet furnishes the London Spectator with an amusing epitaph.

When he was curate of Tetbury, Gloucestershire, in the fifties, the parish church contained, and no doubt still contains, a marble slab near the west door inscribed as follows:

"In a vault underneath lie several of the Saunderses late of this parish. Particulars the last day will disclose. Amen."

NATURE'S COSMETIC.

LIST OF VEGETABLE PRODUCTS GOOD FOR THE COMPLEXION.

In the Earth's Laboratory Can Be Found a Wide Variety of Materials for Beautifying Femininity—Some Queer Dentifrices and Lotions.

Almonds are very soothing to the skin, and many foreign women use crushed almonds instead of soap for their faces and hands to keep them fair, soft and white. Oil of almonds, also, may be rubbed into the skin at night, and is better than cold cream, especially if really pure oil of almonds, and not a mere imitation. As for the so-called almond soap, it is very rare that the almond has any part in it. It somewhat resembles almond in its odor, but this odor comes from benzole, which is taken from tar oil and other substances not injurious to the skin, but not so beneficial as real almond powder, a "nut quantity" of which forms a paste in the water, and is a splendid beautifier.

Basil, though not a cosmetic plant, is a skin beautifier, because it purifies the air wherever it grows, and pure air is a skin beautifier. In India this plant is sacred to Krishna, and is named after the nymph beloved by Krishna. It was he, in fact, who changed her into the plant. It is also sacred to Vishnu, and necklets and rosaries are made of its stalks and roots. No Hindoo house is without it; it absorbs the carbonic acid of the air, and gives forth its disinfecting, vivifying oxygen.

Benzoin is a genuine cosmetic of nature. It is the gum of the benzoin tree. The best benzoin comes from Siam. It is the frank-incense of the Jews and the incense of Roman Catholics, Hindus, Buddhists, Mahommedans, etc. The Chinese fumigate their houses with it, and, owing to its grateful perfume, vanilla pomade and pastilles are made with it. As a cosmetic it has no superior. A few drops added to water makes what is called "virginal milk," which, used as a lotion, keeps the skin wondrously soft and fair, and prevents premature wrinkles. Cedar wood in powder or as a tincture is excellent for the teeth, and imparts an agreeable perfume to the breath.

Citron is another substance that can be used with advantage to the face and hands instead of soap. No toilet table, indeed, ought to be without it, and if the fingers and nails are well rubbed in a quarter of citron every time the hands are washed they will never require the manicure's aid. During the day, indeed, it is better to rub the hands with citron than to use water.

Cucumber is another of nature's own cosmetics. Never throw away cucumber peelings. Boil them and use the water for the toilet. Here also a slice of cucumber may be used instead of soap, with advantage to the skin. Dill water is as good as rose water for the complexion, and for some skins perhaps better; it makes the skin paler.

Still another of nature's cosmetics is the elderflower, famous for its cooling qualities. It makes an exquisite wash for the face and an excellent oil for the hair.

Lavender is not precisely a cosmetic, yet a few drops in the toilet water are very refreshing. The hygienic virtues of lavender are well known.

All spices are air purifiers and air coolers. It is a fact that very few epidemics visit places filled with perfumes of spices—cloves, mace, cinnamon, etc. A room perfumed with spices and eucalyptus remains cool on the hottest summer day, and defies disease resulting from impure air.

There is no better antiseptic in nature than musk—real musk, of course. The Chinese use it also to dye their hair and eyebrows.

Good Idea For a Pantry.

A good idea, this, taught in the waitress class at the Pratt Institute: A convenient bag for the butler's pantry, to hold the soiled table linen, may be made of linen, denim, or any serviceable, washable material. It is made of two straight pieces of material cut in the shape of a large bag sewed together at the sides. The opening runs about half way down the middle of one piece. The top has two rows of stitching, leaving a little ruffled head. Between the stitching is run a curtain stick, with a ring screw in either end, which fastens the bag to the door or the wall. A deep pocket is stitched across the entire width of the front side of the bag where the opening is, and is divided in the center. The large bag contains the tablecloth, while the smaller ones are for the napkins and embroidered pieces which are to receive special attention in the wash.

Scientific Cooking.

"People have an idea," said the expert cook, "that when we speak of scientific cookery we are talking of something very difficult, but it is only the application of the simplest principles. Scientific cookery can only be obtained by careful experiment, careful observation, and careful record. When we cook as we would make chemical experiments we shall have perfect cooking—we shall be sure then that a loaf of bread will always be good. There is as much training of the mind from the practice of exact cookery as from the study of mathematics."

When Baby's Shoes Slip.

If the baby's shoes have grown slippery a few lines scratched lengthwise and crosswise on the sole with a knife or scissor's blade will be effectual in stopping the slipping and consequent straining of the back.

THE TIP QUESTION.

What a Man Must Give in Order to Get Good Service.

"What ought a young fellow to give in tips?" said a young clubman to whom this important question had been propounded by a New York Tribune man. "Why, I do not know what other chaps give, but I make it a rule to take $25 in bills of different denominations for a week's visit to a Newport house, and $10 for a Friday to Monday's outing. To the man who valets me for a week I give $5. Five dollars to the coachman, $5 to the butler, and $5 to the housemaid who attends to my room; the other $5 goes in $1 tips to grooms, footmen, etc. For the shorter visit I give $3 to the valet and $2 apiece to the others."

"That is too much for me," remarked one of his hearers, an impecunious young man of business. "I get through a week with $10, and about $5 or $6 of an over Sunday's invitation. It is rather hard on the rest of us for you rich fellows to put up the scale to such high figures. You should leave that to the married men—of course, their standard is higher—but we poor bachelors should be let off easy."

"Luckily for us women, we are never expected to tip as liberally as men, either at a hotel or a private house," said a young woman, taking part in the discussion.

"Fortunate for the poor devils that they don't expect it," interpolated her brother with a grin, "for they would never get it—women are always so mean."

"I give," continued his sister, scorning to notice his remark, "$6 for a week—$2 to the lady's maid, $2 to the housemaid in charge of my room, and $1 apiece to the butler and coachman. That is what most of my friends give, and I think it is quite sufficient."

At restaurants the rule for a tip is ten per cent. of the order, so it is very easy to do what is expected. Only women do not seem to have grasped this simple rule of arithmetic.

On the great ocean liners the schedule should be well understood, for the traveler, be it male or female, who does not leave at least ten shillings apiece for the stewardess and his particular attendant at table had better not cross again on that ship unless he begins with a reformation, while at English hotels, as is well known, a gratuity is expected for the smallest service, and to escape without being plundered requires considerable maneuvering.—Exchange.

Why the Sky Is Blue.

The explanation of the blue color of the sky, as given by A. H. Thiessen, is that as the observer looks into space his line is intercepted by a multitude of particles of dust floating in the air. The reason these particles appear to be blue is that they reflect to the eye the blue rays against which they form an effective barrier, while the red or coarser-waved rays pass on. That the dust reflects back only the blue rays is due to their microscopic size. The finer the dust, the purer is the blue which is reflected or scattered. The bluest skies, therefore, are seen in places where the dust particles are smallest; the blue of the sky, as viewed from the tops of mountains, is deeper and purer than that seen from a lower altitude. This is due to the fact that the air is very rare at great heights and can only sustain the finer particles of dust, while the coarser particles abound in the lower levels. The intensity of the blue sky for which Italy is noted is not owing to the existence of finer dust than in northrn countries, but to the fact that in the northern latitudes, in consequence of the greater coolness of the air, the vapor more readily condenses upon the dust particles. These particles thus become larger and less effective in turning back the blue rays alone. It follows that other rays are reflected, and a grayish effect is produced. When the sky forms a background for white cumulus clouds, it appears to be bluer by the contrast than it otherwise would, and after a shower, when the lower stratum of air is washed of its coarse dust particles, the result is a deeper and paler blue. The reason the reds are prominent at sunset is that then the dust particles are between the sun and the observer, and the blues are reflected away from him, while the reds pass unobstructed to his eye.

Rockefeller Dreads Debt.

John D. Rockefeller, the "Oil King," whose wealth touches the $125,000,000 mark, won his first start in a business way working on a New York farm twelve hours out of the twenty-four for twenty-five cents a day. He has earned his position as a multimillionaire by adhering to the principles of the following maxims:

1. It should be every man's duty to get all the money he can, keep all he can, and give away all he can.
2. Buy only what can be paid for, and look upon debt as an ogre that first paralyzes and then kills.
3. Live within your means and don't think too much of your neighbor's good fortune.
4. Keep a record of all expenditures and receipts, so that at the end of each year you can tell whether you are saving enough money to provide against the inevitable rainy day. Any one can make money; few can save it.
5. Live as though every act of yours was under the scrutiny of your bitterest enemy.—Saturday Evening Post.

Swallowed Her Tooth-Plate.

Mrs. John T. Jennings, of Amherst county, died here last night from an unusual cause. On the 15th inst., while eating dinner at her home, she swallowed a false tooth plate. The feeling of suffocation became distressing, and every effort was made to dislodge the obstruction, without avail. On the following Monday she was brought to St. Andrew's Home here, and the doctors tried in every way to relieve the trouble. All other devices failing, a surgical operation was decided on as the only hope, and the plate was found an inch and a half from the cardiac end of the stomach and removed. Mrs. Jennings, however, was unable to rally from the operation, and died at 9 o'clock last night.—Baltimore Sun.

Bear Escaped.

"Steve," a big Russia ground bear, celebrated his introduction to Central Park yesterday by escaping from the pit and running several blocks through crowded streets, greatly to the terror of pedestrians, cyclists, and others. He was finally captured by his former owner, Steve Johns, a gypsy, and returned to the park.—Chicago Chronicle.

HE COULD BLOW.

Veteran Bugler Beat the Lung-Testing Machine.

While the proprietor of a lung tester was expatiating upon the benefits to be derived from the free use of his instrument, a cadaverous individual stepped out of the crowd and remarked to him:

"Mister, do you think it would do me good to blow into that?"

"Yes, sir, certainly; it would expand your chest, give elasticity to your lungs, and lengthen your life. Why, you'd soon be able to blow 500 pounds and win a prize."

"Why, does a fellow get a prize when he blows that many pounds?"

"Yes, sir, $5. Wouldn't you like to make a trial?" with a knowing wink to the crowd.

"I don't care if I do," said Greens, coming closer and throwing down a coin. Then, taking the mouthpiece in his hand, he made ready. He opened his mouth until the hole in his face looked like a dry dock for ocean steamers, and began to take in wind. The inflation was like that of a big balloon, but not so disastrous. The fellow's chest began to grow and distend until he resembled a pouter pigeon more than a man.

At length he put the mouthpiece to his lips and blew with such force that his eyes came out and stood on his cheek bones to see what was the matter, but that indicator's top went up like a flash, and its needle spun round and stood still at 500 pounds. The crowd cheered, and the keeper of the thing paid over $5 with a mutter of astonishment. But Greens pocketed the money coolly, and, turning to the spectators, said:

"Look here, gents, that ain't nothing to do at all for a man who has been a bugler in a brass band for seven years like me."—Berlin (Md.) Herald.

Bought His Own Note.

The following story of David Hanan, of Homer, N. Y., who is said to have been the original of the much-discussed book, "David Harum," is told to the New York Sun by a Syracuse man, who knew Hanan very intimately.

"One day about twenty-five years ago," he said, "there was a raffle for a horse in Syracuse. There were about fifty tickets, and I was induced to buy one, which cost $5. I had a friend who was considered very lucky in throwing dice. I had him throw my number; he threw 44. I won the horse. I had the horse about a week, and found her quite valuable, when my friend, David Hanan, came in and said: 'Riley, I see you won that Hunter mare. I've got a lot of horses and d'know's I really need 'nother, but yourn's kind o' a likely hoss, an' I've taken quite a fancy to her. What'll ye take for her?'

"I said, 'David, it's a pretty good mare, but I guess about $200 will buy her.'

"'I'll give ye my three mon's note for $175,' said David.

"'David,' I said, 'your note is good, and you've bought a horse.' I got the note, and he got the horse.

"He was gone about two hours when he came back and said: 'Riley, what are you going to do with that note?'

"'David,' I said, 'I guess I won't throw it away.'

"David said: 'Riley, I'll tell ye what I'll do. I'll give ye $150 cash for that note.'

"I said, 'David, you've bought a note.'"

David Hanan gained $25 by the transaction.

Rapid Readers.

Perhaps the fastest reader the world ever knew was Gladstone. He could read and digest a novel of 50,000 words, a scientific work as large or larger, a political treatise or a history by merely glancing at the leaves as he turned them over. His eye and mind seemed to photograph with the rapidity of an instantaneous camera. His eye was the lens, his mind the sensitive plate. In his reading he was omnivorous to the last degree. The most rapid reader we ever had in this country is John G. Carlisle, former senator from Kentucky, speaker of the house, Secretary of the Treasury and now legal representative of a giant trust, with headquarters in New York. Joe Blackburn, the most popular man in Kentucky, says that Carlisle is the most remarkable man he ever saw; that he can tell the contents of a book without looking at it, and give the synopsis of an argument on being told the name of the author.—N. Y. Press.

Star Photography.

Star photography is one of the most tedious operations known. In some cases the exposure of the plate must last for several hours. During all this time both the plate and telescope must be moved so that the image of the star will be stationary on the plate. The exposure for a star of the sixteenth magnitude is two hours, and only the image of one at a time can be secured, unless those adjoining happen to be of the same size.—Exchange.

Telephones in Japan.

Japan apparently favors telephones. The imperial diet recently voted to expend $12,800,000 within the next seven years for the improvement of the government telephone system. Rinja Nakayama, a young electrical engineer, has been sent to the United States to investigate the latest improvements and inventions. The government work will all be executed by Japanese electricians.

Practical Advice.

A troubled but trusting subscriber recently wrote to the editor of the Huron Herald:

"What ails my hens? Every morning I find one or more of them keeled over, to rise no more."

The reply was: "The fowls are dead. It is an old complaint, and nothing can be done, except to bury them."—Kansas City Star.

Never Touched Him.

"Hello! old man, you're looking well," said the chronic borrower to an acquaintance.

"Yes," replied the other, "and I attribute it to the fact that I have recently given up my worst habit."

"Indeed! And what was that?" asked the c. b.

"I gave up giving up," was the laconic reply.—Chicago News.

AN ORDINANCE

to provide for the issuing of temporary notes for sewerage expenses pursuant to Chapter 33, P. L., 1899.

WHEREAS, The Common Council has ascertained and determined, and does hereby ascertain and determine that the expense incurred for the sewerage purposes specified in Chapter 33, P. L., 1899, in full to date, amounts to the sum of $7,654.70, and that it is expedient to provide for such expense by issuing temporary notes or obligations of the City, the same to be renewed from time to time in such manner as to make an equal amount thereof, as nearly as practicable, payable each year during five years from the date on which they shall be authorized:

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1.—That to provide for the expense aforesaid, temporary notes or obligations of said City be issued as follows: One note for one-fifth of said amount payable one year from date of issue; one note for one-fifth of said amount drawn for one year from said date, but subject to renewal for one year thereafter; one note for one-fifth of said amount drawn for one year from said date, but subject to renewal for two successive years thereafter; one note for one-fifth of said amount drawn for one year from said date, but subject to renewal for three successive years thereafter, and one note for one-fifth of said amount drawn for one year from said date, but subject to renewal for four successive years thereafter; all of said notes to bear interest at the rate of 4 per centum per annum.

Section 2.—That the Mayor and City Treasurer be, and are hereby authorized to make and execute the said notes, and apply the same for the purpose aforesaid.

BOY BABIES.

Reasons Why They Are More Popular Than Girls.

We have lately printed a number of letters from Evening World readers discussing this question which the intense interest in Dr. Schenk's discovery suggests—Why are boy-babies preferred? The writers offer these reasons:

1. That it is more expensive to bring up a girl than a boy.
2. That when they are reared boys can earn more, and hence that they sooner become self-supporting and able to give a helping hand to their parents.
3. That girls, after they reach their teens, are a greater source of care and anxiety than boys—simply and solely because of their sex.

In our judgment, however, none of these explanations, nor all of them together, completely accounts for the strong desire of the average father and mother to have more male than female children.

It is only the mature parent, with the experience gained in raising a family, who is seriously impressed with the fact that daughters are more expensive to bring up than sons. Young married people are, as a rule, far too sentimental, sanguine, and buoyant in their outlook upon life to figure closely on the comparative cost of rearing boys and girls.

Yet the desire to have more boys born to them than girls is manifested, as a rule, more strongly by young parents than by parents of riper years. Why?

The true explanation is a sentimental, not a mercenary one. It is the modern survival of an ancient idea—the idea so strongly prevalent in the East even to this day—that a son represents the strength of the family, its defense, its protection, its hope of perpetuation, the carrying on of its name and fame to future generations.

You will find this idea in all the old Hebrew writing. A traveler in modern Syria relates how he talked with the head of a large family on this subject. "How many children have you?" he was asked. "Three," he replied. "But I see seven standing around you now," said the traveler. "Ah, but four of them are daughters only."

The feudal lord was eager for sons—heirs to succeed him, to go to the tourney and the wars with him, to bear his name, wear his coat-of-arms, to help him hold his castle and his lands against his foes. He loved his daughters, but his pride, his glory, and his hope were in his sons.

Unacknowledged, and unconsciously, the average American man and woman are still thinking this old Oriental and feudal thought, and that is why, as a rule, they would rather be the parents of four boys and one girl than four girls and one boy.—New York Evening World.

The Camel's Eye.

The Nile is essentially a river of silence and mystery. Even the camels turn their beautiful soft eyes upon you as if you were intruding upon their silence and reserve. Never were the eyes in a human head so beautiful as a camel's. There is a limpid softness, an appealing plaintiveness in their expression which drags at your sympathies like the look in the eyes of a hunchback. It means that, with your opportunities, you might have done more with your life. Your mother looks at you that way sometimes in church, when the sermon touches a particularly raw nerve in your spiritual make-up. I always feel like apologizing when a camel looks at me.—Lilian Bell in the Woman's Home Companion.

Bracing Himself for the Kick.

"Some men are hard to suit," remarked the real estate agent, after a customer had left. "That man, now, will come back here in a week or two, and tell me I have swindled him, although I've sold him a suburban lot at half price."

"What will he complain about?" asked the office lounger.

"He'll kick because when I told him he would be within twenty minutes' ride of the city I didn't tell him he'd have to walk thirty minutes to reach his train."—Chicago Tribune.

Her Gentle Hint.

He had been calling with great regularity for some time, but that was all.

"What do you think of this movement to let women propose?" he asked.

"If some such plan isn't adopted," she adventured, "there seems little likelihood that you will ever be married."

After he had caught his breath he made the customary avowal and their engagement was announced the next day.—Chicago Post.

Polygamy in the Austrian Army.

Austria's pension bureau has been obliged to recognize polygamy in the army. Since the occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina many Mohammedans have become soldiers, and each one of these when he dies may leave several widows. A recent order settles the pension question thus: "In case a soldier leaves more than one legal widow the pension assigned to the widow shall be divided equally among all his widows who are entitled to be pensioned."

The Noble Scotch Game.

The hero was beside himself with rage.

"The serpent!" he hissed, for it was in these terms that he was wont to refer to the villain of the plot, "has won the golf trophy."

Genevieve shuddered.

"That's what comes of his having been scotched, I doubt not!" she faltered, and would fain have wept.

Ah, it was easy now to see where mistakes had been made.—Detroit Journal.

Home Run Strikes.

Diggs.—So your daughter is married, eh?

Biggs.—Yes.

Diggs.—And how does your new son-in-law strike you?

Biggs.—For a "V" or an "X" usually.—Chicago News.

Fuddy—"The Hulcums are very discreet."

Duddy—"In what way?"

Fuddy—"They never smile when they are in public together. They are afraid people will think they are not married. They both of them hate a scandal above all things."—Boston Transcript.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. MANAWAH TRIBE IS NEW LODGE OF RED MEN INSTITUTED AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Entire Board of Great Chiefs Conducted Initiatory Ceremonies—Tribe Has Twenty-six Charter Members.

South Plainfield's new tribe of Red Men was instituted last evening and began its career with the name of the Manawah Tribe and with twenty-six charter members. The ceremonies were held in the town hall, where the tribe will meet on Tuesday evening in the future. The initiatory ceremonies were performed by the entire board of great chiefs who were present for the occasion. The degrees were worked by a delegation from Miantonomo Tribe of Plainfield.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the guests were invited to the dancing pavillion of the Lehigh Valley Hotel where a collation was served and speeches were made. Then followed a dance with music by Prof. Naylor.

Plainfield's tribes sent a delegation of seventy braves who went in two stages and on wheels.

SCHOOL ROOM FATIGUE

Too Long Hours of Study for the Youthful Mind.

Regarding the number of hours of mental application per day which may be safely expected of a pupil in school investigations have tended to show that there is a danger of requiring too many. When pupils return to school morning after morning without having recovered from the previous day's labors, it is evident that too heavy drafts are being made upon their nervous capital. It may be said in reply that many factors conspire to produce this depleted condition, as insufficient sleep, inadequate nutrition and outside duties; but the answer is that under such unfavorable circumstances less work may be demanded. As the curriculum is planned in many places, alike in graded and ungraded schools, the pupil is expected to be employed in the school for five or six hours a day, no matter what may be his age, and to this work should be added studies at home for the older students.

Now, as Kraeplin has just observed, nature ordains that a young child should not give six hours' daily concentrated attention in the school-room, but, rather, she has taken pains to plant deeply within him a profound instinct to preserve his mental health by refusing to attend to hard work for such a long period. Consequently in such an educational regime, the mind of the pupil continually wanders from the duties in hand. The most serious aspect of this is apparent that when attention is constantly demanded and not given, or when a pupil is pretending or attempting to keep his thoughts turned in a given direction, yet allows them to drift aimlessly because he is practically unable to control them, he is acquiring an unfortunate habit of mental dissipation.—Popular Science Monthly.

ONE WHO WAS NOT SEEN

INTERESTED LAND IOWNER : DOES FAVOR WOODLAND TROLLEY.

A Correspondent Declares That There is No Real Sentiment for the Electric Railway to Run Over Route Petitioned for.

No matter in which way it is proposed to extend the trolley system there always seems to be some who object to the routes being agitated. At present there is some agitation towards having the trolley lines extended out Woodlawn avenue, but the inevitable opposition has come forth in the following letter to The Daily Press:

To the Editor of The Daily Press—My attention is drawn to a leading article in your issue of Saturday headed "Trolley Wanted on Woodlawn Avenue." The article in question does not by any means represent the sentiment of the property owners on Woodlawn avenue, at least those occupying their own residences, and from what I can learn "the claims urged by interested ones" are those of land speculators who hope to enhance the value of their property by the introduction of a trolley through which is now beyond Prospect avenue nothing but a section of waste lands. From the corner of Watchung avenue to the corner of Randolph road there are but five houses standing today, three of which are occupied by caretakers, one is occupied by the owner and the fifth unoccupied, so that the extension is not desired, so far as I can learn, by the present residents on that avenue.

I understand that a petition had been sent to the Common Council asking that this route to the golf grounds be accepted in preference to that already agreed upon through Arlington avenue, but I was not, as a property owner together with several of my neighbors, asked to sign this petition. I am sure that the majority of people whether they own horses and carriages or not will agree with me that the introduction of a trolley line through Woodlawn avenue will utterly destroy the one drive now remaining free from railroad tracks.

Do not misunderstand me in offering my objections to this extension that I am opposed to trolleys—on the contrary, I faver the introduction of them as a means of developing the outlying district of our town, as well as others in our neighborhood.

I am sure that the persons living in other parts of Plainfield will fail to see the great advantage of the Woodlawn avenue extension, as the Scotch Plains line was granted upon the express condition that the line through Arlington avenue be built.

The railroad company must of course see its advantage in accepting—which they have done—that street upon which to build their line; it offers them undoubtedly immediate advantages in the way of traffic and as a means of reaching the golf grounds and cemetery which no doubt will, when the road is running, return them it may be a small profit, whereas the other line is a matter of years, not a portion of a year as you have it, must be run at considerable loss.

We do not propose to have trolleys built because individuals favor such extensions, and at the proper time will take action to protest against this proposed line.

Respectfully yours,
Netherwood.

A Shillalah for the Warden.

Warden Charles Dodd, of Elizabeth, was made the recipient of an Irish shillalah yesterday, which came from across the deep. It was brought to him by Thomas Hanna, of this city, who returned Saturday from a two months' visit to Ireland. The stick is of blackthorn, and has a "shamrock" embossed in green on its knob. It is highly polished, and it is greatly prized by its owner, who has had many friends in to see it.

Assault Charge Withdrawn.

The charge of assault against Theodore Fingerhuth, husband of the woman in the Somerville jail on the charge of murder for shooting and killing Paul Roehricht a week ago, which was preferred by Robert M. Clark, has been withdrawn. The hearing was set down for yesterday afternoon.

The Bachelor.

Foibles are what keeps every woman from being a freak.

"Cheap" cynicism is the kind every other cynic has except you.

When love gambles it always plays to the limit, and either breaks the bank or itself.

To woo a woman properly a man must first win her.

Before a girl is 20 you can never tell whether she is in love or her stomach is out of order.

The woman of experience can have faith in no man except her father, and then she is fooled to death.

Every woman believes if her husband were more just to her she would pray to better purpose and make crisper waffles.

The man who doesn't brag about the salad dressing he can make hasn't got conceit enough to care if his hat is smashed in.

A man without any religion at all may not be manly, but a woman without any religion at all isn't even feminine.

At the age of 25 a man must be either engaged or married, or else the women begin to wonder why he doesn't behave himself.

To be fascinating to a young man a woman must never admit that she is not in love; to be fascinating to an old man she must never admit that she is.

Every man knows he can always get a woman's sympathy if he can only get up a good hard-luck story.

A girl may think pate de foie gras sounds nicer, but she can catch a lot more men with raspberry turn-over.

When the average woman tries to get sarcastic, she reminds you of a bay mare trying to kick the eyes out of a mosquito.

It doesn't take a man very long after he gets married to get over being proud of the way his dog will do what he tells him.

The average person's beliefs in the hereafter are based on the idea that that people are divided into good and bad, with no middling.

The Little Brother.

"Mr. Sixaweek," inquired her little brother—he was entertaining the young man on the front steps of a Capitol Hill house while she was "getting ready" upstairs—"why don't you get two of them?"

"Two what, son?" inquired Sixaweek.

"Why, two skates," replied the delightful little boy. "Sis says she seen you on F street yesterday afternoon with one large skate on, and I've been a-wonderin' why you didn't buy a pair. I ast Sis, and she said you must be up against it. What are you up against, Mr. Sixaweek?"

Sixaweek's reply was too evasive and inarticulate for reproduction.—Washington Post.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

PROGRAMME FOR THE STATE ENDEAVORERS.

The Convention Will Be Held at Camden This Year.

GOOD ADDRESSES PROMISED

REV. J. W. RICHARDSON WILL PRESIDE AT ONE OF THE SESSIONS.

Convention Will Meet in the Broadway Methodist Church—Juniors Will Have Special Attention Shown Them—Delegates Will Be Entertained in Pleasant Homes of Convention City.

The great Christian Endeavor event of the year for the young people of New Jersey will take place next week. The host of workers that meet yearly in the annual State Christian Endeavor convention will this year be entertained in Camden, and a good time is assured for all who go. The services will be held in the large Broadway Methodist church, and the programme includes many interesting and helpful features.

The delegates will gather Tuesday, September 26th, and that evening there will be preparatory meetings under the charge of the local committee.

Wednesday morning the convention proper will open. The first session will begin at 9 o'clock, and will be devoted to addresses of welcome, business and reports from the various departments, with the exception of the first half hour, which will be used for a convention prayer meeting.

The afternoon will hold a variety of pleasant things The session at 1:45, at which Rev. John Wilbur Richardson, of this city, one of the vice-presidents of the State Union, will preside, will include the annual address of the president, Rev. Cornelius Brett, D. D., of Jersey City, and a "quiet hour," conducted by Rev. Floyd W. Tompkins, rector of Trinity church, Philadelphia. This session will be adjourned at 3 o'clock, when the delegates will scatter to attend the various conferences, covering all departments of Christian Endeavor work, to be held in different places. At the conference held by the State secretary, Miss Ida B. Stephens, of Hackettstown, for the corresponding secretaries. the general secretary of the United Society, the much-loved John Willis Baer, will deliver an address. These conferences will be followed at 4:10 o'clock by denominational rallies, led by prominent members of the various denominations.

By this time the delegates will feel that the day has been crowded with good things; but the crowning meeting of the day is still to come. The evening session will be an unusually interesting and profitable one, with two fine addresses, one by Mr. Baer and one by Rev. Kerr Boyce Tupper, of the First Baptist church of Philadelphia.

In spite of a busy day on Wednesday, the New Jersey delegates will, as usual, be ready to attend the sunrise prayer meeting to be held at the Calvary Presbyterian church at 6:30 Thursday morning, in goodly numbers. An interval for breakfast, then they will reassemble for the memorial hour to be held in loving memory of the late Rev. J. Clement French, D.D., of Newark, for three years president of the State Union. This will be followed by an open parliament session, in which several interesting and practical subjects will be freely discussed.

The Juniors will have their especial treat on the afternoon of Thursday. The older delegates will form in procession and escort the Juniors to the convention church, where a delightful programme, with an address by Rev. C. H. Tyndall, Ph. D., of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., will be presented for their entertainment.

The farewell service, dear to all attendants upon Christian Endeavor conventions, will be held Thursday night. After election of officers, the presenting of resolutions, and the awarding of banners, the convention sermon will be preached by that well-known and inspiring speaker, Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D., of New York, and the closing consecration service will be conducted by Rev. L. R. Dyott, of Newark.

The delegates will be entertained in the many pleasant homes of the city and every effort will be made to make their stay an enjoyable one. The expense of attending the convention will be very slight, amounting in all, including railway fare and board, to not more than six or at the utmost seven dollars. All Endeavorers from Plainfield and vicinity who wish to go should communicate with E. E. Anthony, of 444 West Front street, who is in charge of the arrangements for the transportation of the delegation from this section.

SEEK PRIZE MONEY.

Lieut. Braddock, of the Resolute, Applies to Gov. Voorhees in Behalf of Naval Reserves.

Lieut. Braddock, of Haddonfield, representing the New Jersey Naval Reserves, who were on the Resolute during the Spanish-American war, called on Gov. Voorhees yesterday to enlist the Governor's services in behalf of the reserves in a claim they are making for prize money.

Lieut. Braddock claims the Resolute was within a half-mile of the battleship Indiana, and in direct firing line of the Spanish ships as they emerged from Santiago Harbor. Spanish shells, he says, flew all about the Resolute, and when the actual fighting was over the Resolute took 490 seamen prisoners off the Cristobal Colon.

Gov. Voorhees will investigate before making any formal claim at Washington.

Gov. Voorhees will go to Washington today to secure a settlement of a claim of about $80,000, which is due the State for advances made in equipping the New Jersey troops for the war.

VERY NEAR TO DEATH.

Charles B. Brown in a Trolley Car That Jumped the Track and Went Down an Embankment.

The Jersey City Journal tells of the following narrow escape from death that Charles B. Brown, formerly of this city, recently experienced:

"General Secretary Chas. B. Brown, after an absence of one month's vacation, has returned to his duties. Mr. Brown visited many of the large western associations, traveling altogether over 4,000 miles and delivering several addresses. While near St. Louis Secretary Brown met with a thrilling experience that might have cost him his life. He was a passenger on a trolley car that jumped the track while going at full speed and started down an embankment. The car, however, was thrown into a side ditch and held there until the passengers escaped. The accident occurred in the evening and in a dangerous place. The passengers were severely shaken and one or two badly injured. Had the car gone down the embankment all the passengers would undoubtedly have been killed. Mr. Brown is being congratulated on his escape, which was almost miraculous."

NEW BRUNSWICK'S THEATRE.

Mr. Edwards States That the Project is Progressing Very Encouragingly.

Maze Edwards, at present manager of the Plainfield Theatre, who is endeavoring to interest local capitalists in the project of a theatre for New Brunswick, of which Mr. Edwards will become the lessee or manager, whichever is most practicable, was in New Brunswick again today.

He visited a number of people, and when seen by a representative of The Times declared that he was much encouraged at the turn affairs were taking. He is confident that he will succeed, and that before next season New Brunswick will have a modern playhouse.

Mr. Edwards said that matters were not yet sufficiently advanced to warrant him in making public the names of the gentlemen with whom he is treating, but that there is every reason to believe that he will carry the enterprise to a successful conclusion. —New Brunswick Times.

JERSEY'S GIFT TO SAMPSON.

Sword to be Presented to Admiral Obtober 25th at Trenton.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Sept. 20.—The committee of citizens of New Jersey which has in hand the matter of the presentation of a handsome sword to Admiral Sampson is sorely disappointed because he will be unable to receive it in time to wear it at the reception to Admiral Dewey. A letter was received from Admiral Sampson saying that his engagements would render it impossible for him to be at this place to receive the sword before October 25th, but that he would be pleased to visit this city on that date for the presentation.

Governor Voorhees will, on behalf of the citizens of New Jersey, present the sword on that day in the State House here.

Trusted Employe a Thief.

John Trumhert, a laborer, of Springfield, was brought to the county jail Saturday on a commitment signed by Judge Ira J. Hall, to be held for the Grand Jury for the larceny of $70 from his employer, Michael Wolf, of that place. Trumhert was entrusted with the money to convey it to a friend of Mr. Wolf's and decamped.

GREAT PLANS FOR TROLLEY EXPANSION.

Plainfield and Metuchen to Soon Be Connected.

BOTH ROADS CONSIDER IT.

EXTENSION OF BRUNSWICK LINES TO PERTH AMBOY.

That is Present Aim of Radel's Company—Has an Eye on Line to South Amboy, Red Bank and the Jersey Shore—Would Open Up a Big Traffic From New Brunswick, Bound Brook, Etc.

The possibilities of the progress and enlargement of the trolley lines in this state during the coming decade are so wide that it is useless to enlarge on the subject. The probable happenings in the electric street railroad systems during the next year or two are of immediate interest to every Plainfielder, however. Nobody doubts but these lines will be rapidly extended and that the work of the past year will be pushed forward with great results.

At the Common Council meeting, Monday evening, when Councilman E. T. Barrows was speaking of the Arlington avenue extension, he made a remark, simple in itself but one which opened up a new line of thought and suggested much for the future. The line would be extended out Woodland avenue, he said, to the golf grounds and the cemetery and to provide for what further extensions that the company might wish to make in that direction.

Since the exchange with the Brunswick Traction Company was established at Dunellen, the Plainfield Street Railway Company has found that it has increased its business. It has discovered the fact that connection with other lines is a good thing. With the line from Elizabeth to Plainfield completed, the Riker syndicate will be looking for new worlds to conquer. There will also be a connecting line from Westfield to Rahway. Knowing ones say that it is only a question of time before the company will plan extensions from both Rahway and Plainfield in the direction of Metuchen.

The Brunswick Traction Company has already considered the advisibility of a line from Metuchen to Plainfield. It was then believed that the time for such a line had not come. But the Brunswick Traction Company is ambitious. It already has a scheme in view that will greatly enlarge its lines and take in new territory hitherto practically uninvaded by trolley lines. With these plans in view, a more intimate connection with Plainfield will be advisible. The knowing ones say that it is only a question of a year or two when Plainfield and Metuchen will be connected by trolley. Which of the two companies moves first in that direction remains to be seen.

But the new schemes of the Brunswick Company already referred to. That corporation is now straining every nerve to get a line from Metuchen to Perth Amboy. Connecting at Amboy with the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company, it will open up a new traffic over its lines. Then Perth Amboy is in Middlesex county, of which New Brunswick is the county seat. The communication between the two cities at present is very poor. A trolley line between them would find a ready patronage at once.

The Brunswick Company is also anxious to extend its present line running to Milltown and South River on to South Amboy, and eventually on to Red Bank. New Brunswick, Bound Brook and Somerville people find it difficult at present to reach the summer resorts on the upper Jersey coast from Seabright to Asbury Park. This proposed electric route would open up a new line of travel to the shore that these people would gladly take advantage of.

The wonderful growth of the trolley in this section during the past two years make these ideas sound by no means unreasonable or improbable.

Suit Over a Trolley Transfer.

Justice Joseph Hayter is plaintiff in the suit brought against the Brunswick Traction Company for being ejected from one of the company's cars. Mr. Hayter presented a transfer which, he claimed, was valid, but which the conductor of the second car refused to accept. Mr. Hayter alleges personal injuries and loss in self-respect and damage to his business.

Shot Supposed Mad Dog.

Dog Catcher Frisbie shot a dog yesterday afternoon in the rear of the Trinity Reformed church on West Second street. The dog was supposed to be mad. It snapped at several passersby, but no one was bitten.

FIVE YEARS FOR KUCKLO

ATTEMPTED WIFE MURDERER RECEIVES A HEAVY SENTENCE.

Assailant of a Young Girl Sentenced to Three Years in Prison—"Cack" Carter Let Off With Thirty Days More in Jail.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sep. 20.—There was considerable business in the Court of Special Sessions this morning. It was sentence day. Judge Vail presided.

John Kucklo, of this city, who attempted to kill his wife by shooting her at their home on Clinton avenue and then attempted to kill himself several weeks ago, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to five years in State Prison at Trenton. Mrs. Kucklo has entirely recovered from her injuries and Kucklo is also in a fair way to recovery, although he was quite ill when taken to the Elizabeth jail.

Fred Knock, charged with assaulting a young girl at Mountainside, a small settlement near Westfield, also pleaded guilty to the charge of assault and was sentenced to State Prison for three years.

Walter, alias "Cack" Carter, who was charged with burglarizing the home of his stepfather in this city, also pleaded guilty and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail. This is considered a light sentence. "Cack" told the police that he expected at least a year and possibly two years.

Clara Kenney, charged with stealing a quantity of clothing from the residence of a family on Raymond avenue, this city, was sentenced to the county jail for sixty days.

STRANGE REQUEST IN COURT.

Man Afraid He May Become Violently Insane Wants an Examination.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 20—Frederick E. Krause, formerly a saloonkeeper of his place, appeared in the police court yesterday, and made a strange request. He asked that he be committed to the county jail, and that a medical examination be ordered. His request was granted.

He said he was afraid that his mind was giving way, and that he did not want to be in a position to do anybody injury if he suddenly should become violently insane.

Jr. O U. A. M. Name May Not Be Changed.

The name of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics will not be changed. At the National Council held in Minneapolis last spring, a resolution was passed changing the name to the "United Americans," subject to the approval of the State Councils. Word was received here from the National officers that the new name is that of an organization formed in Philadelphia five years ago and that its officers had notified National Jr. O U. A. M. officers that the theft of the name would be fought in court. The formel warning will be presented at the meeting to be held at Scranton, and it is expected that will end the matter.

Car of Tanbark Makes Trouble.

A car loaded with tanbark caused the Pennsylvania Railroad lots of trouble yesterday afternoon. It was in the middle of a long freight. Between Stelton and New Brunswick it jumped the track and derailed enough cars to block both freight tracks and make it dangerous for passenger trains to pass except at a snail's pace. The local wrecking train from New Brunswick and the Jersey City wrecker cleared the track.

Big Factory for New Orange.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 20—It is reported here that the firm of William Gard am & Son of No. 45 Rose street, New York, manufacturers of machiney, will build a large factory in New Orange. It is said that the factory will be 250 by 200 feet in size, and that work will be begun at once on its erection.

Traffic Impeded on Church Street.

Residents of Church street, near Third, have complained to the police of the condition of the street at that point. The water company is making an excavation for pipes, and the complaint is made that the earth has been thrown up in such a manner as to partially block the street and impede traffic.

To be a Church Wedding

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Ethel Carey Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Green, of Mercer avenue, to Meredith Dryden, of Watchung avenue, at the Grace P E church Wednesday evening, October 4, at 7:30 o'clock. A reception at the bride's home will follow.

Dewey Holidays for Elizabeth.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 20.—The Common Council passed a resolution declaring September 29th and 30th legal holidays and calling on all citizens to suspend business on those days in honor of Admiral Dewey.

ADVICE TO GOVERNOR FROM DAVID P. HALL

Recommendations for the State Industrial School for Girls.

MANY REFORMS REQUIRED.

ALL THE SEVERER PUNISHMENTS ARE CONDEMNED.

Suggestions Made That Corporal Punishment Be Entirely Forbidden and That Solitary Confinement Be Not Allowed for a Longer Period Than Twenty-four Hours' Consecutive Time.

David P. Hall, of Madison avenue, this city, who is chairman of the Committee on Reformatories of the State Charities' Aid Association, has written Gov. Voorhees a letter in which certain important recommendations are made with reference to the management of the State Industrial School for Girls.

The recommendations are intended, the letter states, to help the incoming trustees of the school to make it a model institution of its kind, and they are founded on information obtained from similar institutions throughout the country.

In part the letter says: "Many of the inmates of the school have been sent there by parents who could not manage their children, in the hope that they would come under the influence of women who had grown wise in the work and were specialists in moral pathology.

"Judging from the evidence we herewith present, as to the methods pursued elsewhere, the active managers of the Trenton institution would seem to us to have no adequate conception of the problems involved in reformatory work, and, indeed, not to have given any serious study to the subject. They would appear to have taken no steps to discover the methods and remedies which obtain in other like institutions. The methods of punishment pursued would seem to have been dictated by something akin to a feeling of despair at their own incompetence to maintain discipline in the school.

"We have undertaken," says the letter in conclusion, "this inquiry with the sincere desire to help the incoming trustees of the Industrial School to make it a model institution. We may take the liberty of suggesting to them through you.

"That corporal punishment be absolutely forbidden.

"That cells be abolished.

"That no girl be deprived of the regular board for more than twenty-four hours consecutively.

"That the use of the straight-jacket be abolished.

"That the visiting physician be required to examine all abnormal and habitually refractory girls and report their condition to the trustees.

"That an effort be made to secure and record the physical history of all girls who are now in the school, and hereafter of all girls when committed there.

"That the indenturing of all girls to the private families be encouraged and facilitated as far as possible.

"That the office of managing trustee be abolished.

"That the new board of trustees visit in a body the similar institutions in Massachusetts and Rhode Island and investigate the methods which are practised there.

"That the trustees send the superintendent or one of the members to the annual meetings of the National Conference of Charities and Correction for enlightenment as to new methods and comparison with other workers.

"And that the congregate plan be abolished as soon as practicable.

"May we also venture to recommend to your Excellency that the auxiliary board be abolished and legislation be procured to admit the appointment of a mixed board of trustees, consisting of four men and three women."

State Convention of the W. C. T. U.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Atlantic City, Sept. 20—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the New Jersey Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held in St. Paul's M. E. church, this city, October 3d, 4th, 5th and 6th. Tuesday afternoon the executive committee and delegates will hold a prayer service. At night the president's address will be delivered and reports of the corresponding secretary and the treasurer will be made. Wednesday night Miss Lillian Herr, of Connecticut, will talk on "The World-wide Work of Young Women." Thursday night Miss Jessie Ackerman will speak and Mrs. Teats, of California, will give a chart lecture on "Purity" and conduct a conference with superintendents.

COLD WATER CANDIDATES.

Prohibitionists in the Field With a Full Quota of Candidates for County Offices.

The Prohibitionists have nominated their county ticket. The convention was held in Elizabeth Monday night, and was attended by sixty people, several women included. It was the largest attended county convention in a number of years.

Nominations were made as follows: Senator, Edward L. Massett, of Westfield; county clerk, Walter M. Irving, of Cranford; sheriff, Neil McLeod, Sr., of Elizabeth; Assembly, Joel G. Vancise, of Summit; Lewis C. Long, of Elizabeth, Spencer Blake, of Cranford; coroner, Edward Hall, of Elizabeth.

William B. Boyer was re-elected county chairman; Lewis C. Long, secretary, and Edward Stoddard, treasurer.

Addresses were made by Samuel Sloan, of Newark, and George J. Haven, the State committee chairman, the latter speaking encouragingly of the cause throughout the State.

A CITY WATER PLANT.

The Subject to be Discussed by the Next Meeting of the Advancement Association.

The storm of last night prevented a quorum at the regular meeting of the Plainfield Advancement Association. Mayor Smalley, Secretary Martine and several other members of the association were present. It was decided to adjourn the meeting to next Tuesday evening. Before adjournment, however, there was an informal and quite thorough discussion of the municipal ownership of the water works. At next Tuesday evening's meeting of the association some action will be taken looking toward relief from this heavy burden of the taxpayer.

REMAINS SENT HOME.

Victim of Bridge Accident Was a Worthy Young Fellow.

The remains of R. Bruce MacFarland, who was mortally injured while working on a bridge on the Lehigh Valley Railroad near Bound Brook, and who died later in the hospital, were this morning sent to his home, Millersburg, Pa., in charge of his sister, Virginia E. Stewart, of Newark, Ohio. The interment will be at Halifax, Pa.

Mrs. Stewart and her mother, Mrs. Sarah MacFarland, were visiting near Philadelphia when they were apprised of the accident to their son and brother, and Mrs. Stewart started post-haste for this city, but when she arrived here her brother was dead. In fact, through some delay, the young man was dead almost as soon as his relatives received the news that he had been injured.

The dead man was an industrious and highly-esteemed fellow among all who knew him, and the fact that he was a source of great assistance to his mother makes his unfortunate death fall doubly hard upon his relatives.

VALENTINE CASE GOES OVER.

Will Not Be Ready for the September Grand Jury.

It has been authoritatively announced that the September term of the Grand Jury of Middlesex County, now in session at New Brunswick, will not consider the case of George M. Valentine, the defaulting cashier whose peculations wrecked the Middlesex County Bank, at Perth Amboy. At the opening of court, Justice Collins, in his charge to the jury, said the receiver, Edward S. Campbell, would submit his report to that body.

Prosecutor John S. Voorhees has received a letter from Mr. Campbell, stating that he will be unable to get his report in shape before the adjournment of the Grand Jury of the September term Valentine's case, therefore, will be considered by the December term.

New Carriage Works for Cranford.

A certificate of incorporation was filed yesterday morning in the office of the county clerk by the Wilbet H. Murray Manufacturing Company, whose main office is located at Cranford. The objects of the company are for the manufacture and sale of wagons, carriages and other like vehicles. The capital stock of the company is $50 000, divided into 500 shares, the par value of each being $100. The incorporators are J. Walter Thompson, New York; Edward M. Johnson, Jersey City, and Elson C. Hill, Roselle.

Italian Brawlers Arrested.

Alfreddo Perrella and Giovanni Frano, who were mixed up in an Italian brawl in Bound Brook last May, and on which occasion stilettos were freely used upon one Joseph Damatte, have been captured. Perrella was captured at Newark and Frano at Bound Brook. Both are now awaiting the action of the grand jury.

MAYOR ASKS ALL TO HONOR HERO DEWEY.

Fitting That Concerted Action be Taken by Citizens.

SHOW PATRIOTIC COLORS.

ASKS THAT ALL PLACES OF BUSINESS BE CLOSED FRIDAY, SEPT. 29TH.

Plainfielders Will Unite With One Accord in Paying Homage to the Great Admiral and "The Men Behind the Guns" for Their Immeasurable Services to the Nation in the Philippines.

Mayor Rockfellow this morning issued the following proclamation.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.
Plainfield, N. J., Sept. 19, 1899.

The people of Plainfield have never been lacking in timely and appropriate manifestations of patriotic sentiment. The expected home-coming of the great Admiral kindles the enthusiasm and stirs the blood of every American who loves his country. On the days set apart for the Nation's greeting and homage to the Hero of Manila, it is fitting that such concerted action should be taken by our citizens as will leave no doubt that in admiration and gratitude for his matchless heroism, his calm dignity, self-poise and enlightened statesmanship, alike in the time of peril, in the hour of victory and whilst guarding the fruits of victory; and in our affection and honor for George C. Dewey, his officers and the "men behind the guns," for their immeasurable services to the Nation, all the citizens of Plainfield unite with one accord, and with all their might.

I, therefore, earnestly recommend that on September 28th, and 29th and 30th instant, houses and other buildings throughout the city be decorated with national flags and bunting, and that on Friday, Sept. 29th, all places of business be closed the entire day.

Geo. W. Rockfellow, Mayor.

OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.

Dewey Reception Will be a Handsome Souvenir Well Worth Preserving.

The preparation of the New York State official programme of the Dewey reception is now in progress, and orders are received from all over the country and abroad for this great popular souvenir of this National event.

George T. Parker has returned from Washington, where he has been in consultation with the navy and other officials. The indications now are that from an artistic standpoint the State programme will be equal, if not superior, to any souvenir programme of like nature ever published. The official design adopted by the committee is an illuminated cover illustrating the life of Admiral Dewey from his entrance to the Naval Academy to the battle of Manila Bay, which is life-like and realistic.

Orders, enclosing the price, 25 cents, postal note, should be sent to George T. Parker, treasurer, 253 Broadway, New York, and they will receive prompt attention.

PLEASURE AFTER BUSINESS.

Martha Washington Council Enjoyed an Entertainment Last Night.

After a short meeting last evening Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, held a sociable and entertainment, to which a large number of the members' friends had been invited.

The programme consisted of recitations, dialogues, solos, etc. Later refreshments were served and an enjoyable evening passed.

The committee having charge of the affair consisted of Mrs. G. B. Allen, Mrs. Tillie Riker, Mrs. Sarah Page, Miss F. W. Walsh, Miss May Hughes, Miss Agnes Randolph and Messrs. G. B. Allen, F. W. Walsh and Amos Wilson. Notwithstand the stormy weather the affair was a decided success.

Vesper Service Once a Month.

The Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church choir has arranged to have vesper services the last Sunday evening in each month during the winter. The first one will be held next Sunday evening, when there will be a special musical programme rendered by what is considered the best choir the church has ever enjoyed. The members of the choir are: Frank J. Smith, director and organist; Mrs. George H. Brooks, soprano; Miss Magdelena Perry, contralto; F. H. Potter, tenor, and C. L. Lewis, basso.

Mr. Hobart Greatly Improved.

Vice President Garret A. Hobart, who has been ill at his summer home at Long Branch, has improved greatly during the last two days, and last night he said he expected to return today to Paterson. Mr. Hobart said his health had been greatly benefited by the sea air.

CAUSES FEELING OF RELIEF.

Pardon of Dreyfus Seems to Satisfy Both His Friends and His Enemies.

IS NOT YET LIBERATED.

May Be Set Free and Removed From France Before the Official Announcement of Pardon.

Believed That by Granting the Pardon France Has Passed a Grave Crisis That Threatened the Nation. Exile of Devil's Island no Longer Attached to the Army.

Paris, Sept. 20.—It is stated here on excellent authority that Capt. Alfred Dreyfus has already been released and has left Rennes.

Paris, Sept. 20.—The Cabinet, after a short discussion of the case, decided in principle to pardon Captain Alfred Dreyfus, but no official announcement of the pardon was made. The papers will not be officially signed and issued for several days, as certain formalities must be observed. It is said that Captain Dreyfus will be secretly liberated and removed from France before the official announcement of his pardon is made. Big crowds are thronging the boulevards discussing the pardon and its probable effects.

Many conflicting reports are afloat. One wild story has it that President Loubet signed the pardon Monday, and that Dreyfus has already passed beyond the frontier. The report, wild as it is, is considered seriously by many. There has been absolutely no disorder. While Dreyfus has been pardoned, he has not been vindicated, and will simply be freed from prison. The plans of Dreyfus and his friends are not definitely known, but it is believed he will go to England and live quietly until he can recruit his former strength.

The decision of the Government to pardon Dreyfus was reached some days ago after consultation with his family at Rennes, who have consented to withdraw the appeal from the verdict of the court-martial. For a long while his family and friends were unwilling to accept a pardon on these conditions, but were finally persuaded that nothing else was possible at present and that freedom was necessary to save the martyr's life.

Anti-Dreyfusites are satisfied with the pardon, accepting it as the best way out of dangerous complications. The feeling of relief is general. No matter what measures the family may take to rehabilitate the good name of the exile of Devil's Island, it is felt that France has passed a grave crisis that threatened the nation itself.

With Dreyfus free, the campaign for vindication will not again arouse the storm of indignation caused by his imprisonment. Foreign nations, too, will be less inclined to condemn the French people for injustice; hence the press as a rule pronounces the pardon the safest course. What will be done with Mercier, Gonse and Rogett for their continued persecution of Dreyfus is the chief problem of the future. Their power for evil, however, has been curbed by the exposures of the court-martial, and no one now believes they could persuade the army to revolt, if they should try it.

The pardon is not an exoneration. It is more an act of mercy. The verdict of the court-martial against Dreyfus is not nullified and the stigma of guilt still rests upon him. He is simply made a free man, as one who has suffered enough punishment. He is no longer attached to the army, it is inferred, as the act of degradation is not abrogated in the pardon.

Will Fight Against Vaccination.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 20.—Frank Blue, of this city, secretary of the Anti-Vaccination Society of America, is sending a circular broadcast over the state advising parents not to heed the advice of boards of Health and school authorities in regard to the vaccination of school children. Several years ago Mr. Blue raised a test case in the Court here against the ruling of the school authorities that children not vaccinated could not attend school, but the case was never decided by the Supreme Court.

The French Conspirators.

Paris, Sept. 20.—It is expected that the work of the High Court's inevstigating committee, appointed to inquire into the charges of conspiring to change the form of government brought against M. Deroulede and others, will occupy from four to six weeks. When the task has been completed the High Court (Senate) will reconvene. It is expected that the latter will be in session about a month.

Killed With a Beer Bottle.

Red Bank, N. J., Sept. 20.—The body of James Slack, a carpenter, sixty years old, was found near a saloon owned by Frank Sacco, in a lonely part of the town. Slack's skull had been cruhed with a beer bottle. Fragments of the bottle were found near him. The police arrested two colored men, Holmes and Hendrickson. They refused to make public what evidence they had against the two prisoners.

Elopers Will Be Returned.

London, Sept. 20.—John Stephenson and Alice Jones, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who were arrested at Liverpool on Aug. 19, charged with forgery have been extradited and will be sent back to the United States. Stephenson was a boarder in the Jones household at Wilkesbarre and was accused of eloping with Mrs. Jones, who, it was said, managed to get hold of some of her husband's property.

Robbed a Merrimac Hero.

Boston, Sept. 20.—George Burke has been sentenced to four months' imprisonment for stealing a medal belonging to Osborn Deignan, of Merrimac fame. The medal was presented to Deignan by his townspeople of Billerica, Mass.

SANDBAGGED AND ROBBED.

The Michigan Swindler Buncoed a Kingston, N. Y., Man.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 20.—One of the supposed victims of William Lord Moore, alias Robert Harper, alias Howard, who was arrested a few days ago by Post Office inspectors in the State of Michigan, and who is now in the Ohio Penitentiary, is a resident of Kingston. He is Thomas Telford, once prosperous, but now aged and poor.

Over two years ago Telford, who is a Scotchman, received a letter from Moore, which purported to come from London, and which informed him that a relative of his had died at Dumfries, Scotland, leaving property to him. Telford was advised to send the writer some money, so that the inheritance could be secured. The money was sent at once. Then another letter came, telling Telford that it would be necessary for him to come to London and go with the solicitor to Scotland in order to get possession of the property.

Telford drew his little fortune, $600, out of the savings bank here and borrowing several hundred dollars from old friends, went to England.

In the railway station in London, Telford was sand-bagged and robbed, while a companion, who went with him, was in another room. Telford was taken to a hospital and subsequently sent home.

No trace of the swindler was found. The letters sent Telford were postmarked "Station E, New York city," although English postage stamps had been affixed. Ever since Telford's return to Kingston he has been mentally unbalanced.

Made a Plea for Union.

Chicago, Sept., 20.—Rev. R. H. Dolliver made a plea for the union of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Chuch South in a paper read in the Methodist ministers' meeting here. He pointed to the fact that the recent war had made fast the union of the north and south and said that the time had come for the reuniting of these branches of the Methodist Church. The matter will be brought before the annual meeting of the Rock River conference in October by the Rev. Mr. Dolliver. He will present a petition from the members of his church asking that the Rock River body, both lay and clerical, make a definite proposal to the church south for the union.

He Killed the Sheriff.

Salinas, Cal., Sept. 20.—H. F. Farley, sheriff of Monterey County, was shot and killed by George Caesar, whom he was trying to arrest for arson. Caesar, who had been drinking, threatened to shoot the officers of the law and burn up the town. Shortly after a barn and a house were discovered to be on fire, and the sheriff, with ex-District Attorney Seabel, went in search of Caesar. The latter had run home and had armed himself with a shotgun. As the sheriff entered the house Caesar shot him through the forehead. Farley died soon afterward.

Naval Orders Changed.

New York, Sept. 20.—A Washington dispatch to the Herald says: "In order to give him an opportunity to accompany Captain F. E. Chadwick, commanding the New York, to West Virginia, the Navy Department has changed the orders detaching Rear Admiral Sampson from the command of the North Atlantic Station, so that he will relinquish the duty on Oct. 12, instead of Oct. 10. Captain Chadwick will be presented with a sword by admirers in West Virginia.

Rescued From Fire in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—A fire, which started in the basement of a restaurant at 86 State street, spread to the adjoining buildings occupied by the Economical Drug Company and Fred Kaempfer's bird and animal store. Two bakers, who were at work in the basement, and the janitor and his wife, who were asleep in the building, had a narrow escape from death by suffocation. A large number of monkeys and parrots were rescued alive, though many of the birds in Kaempfer's store were killed by the smoke.

The Big Gem Has Arrived.

Boston, Sept. 20.—Among the Marlborough gems just received here by the Museum of Fine Arts is the famous two-thousand-year-old cameo representing "The Marriage of Cupid and Psyche." It is an oval, 1 7-16 by 1 3-4 inches, and humorously represents a wedding procession in a relief of flesh color upon a background of black. The gem cost $10,000. The collection consists of nineteen pieces and is part of the collection sold by the estate in 1870 for $175,000.

Swifts After Ranches.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 20.—G. F. Swift, the Chicago packer; Charles E. Coffman and C. T. Hall, of this city; W. H. Jennings and C. C. Clamp, of San Antonio, Tex., and H. Jennings and R. L. Ellison, Ft. Worth, were in conference here examinging the titles to a number of ranches which it is said the Swift interests contemplate purchasing. Among the ranches is the Childress, in the Panhandle of Texas, containing in the neighborhood of 200,000 acres, and on which 10,000 head of cattle are grazing.

Queen Wilhelmina Was Pleased.

The Hague, Sept. 20.—The States General were convened by Queen Wilhelmina, who, in the speech from the throne, referred to the great work of the Peace Conference. Her Majesty said she had reason to hope that all the conferring powers would sign the treaties drawn up at the conference.

Struck a Gusher in Ohio.

Cygnet, O., Sept. 20.—The Ohio Oil Company has struck a gusher on the Lawrence Cable lands. The well put 16 feet of oil into 250 tanks, which is equivalent to 480 barrels. At the present price of oil it represents an income of $499.60 a day.

Clyde Line Steamship Ashore.

Pasque Island, Mass., Sept. 20.—The Clyde Line steamer Cherokee, bound from Jacksonville, Fla., for Boston, is ashore on Naushon Island. The Cherokee has forty passengers on board.

FEVER TAKES TIGHTER GRIP

New Cases at Key West Developing at the Rate of Thirty a Day.

PEOPLE MUCH ALARMED

Many Persons Leaving the Country Who Are Not Prevented by the Quarantine Regulations.

The Exodus From Key West May Spread Yellow Fever to Other States—The Situation Considered to Be of the Gravest and Most Threatening Character.

Key West, Sept. 20.—The yellow fever situation here is regarded by the most conservative to be of the gravest character. At the present time there are upwards of 400 cases of the disease in this city alone and new cases have been developing at the rate of thirty a day for the past four days, and there seems to be no good reason to hope for its abatement until cooler weather sets in. Every precaution has been adopted to prevent its spread, but in spite of all that has been done and all that is being done from day to day, the number of cases increases instead of showing any signs of decreasing.

The matter has reached such an alarming stage that persons who can, and are not prohibited by the stringent quarantine regulations, are hastening to leave the country for the north as rapidly as possible. The quarantine is not sufficiently strong to prevent those in adjoining towns and villages from closing up their homes and seeking a climate where yellow fever is not known and where they will be practically safe from its ravages. This, it is thought will undoubtedly be the means of spreading the disease to other states as many whole families have left without the knowledge or consent of the health authorities and have escaped by driving to out of the way stations and taking the trains from points where the quarantine regulations are not is force.

Of course, no person knows how many of these people have in one way or another, been exposed to yellow fever and the result may be disastrous—not so much to those who are compelled to remain at their homes, as to those in the towns where the refugees may choose to locate for safety.

While the mortality rate here is low, the alarm is rapidly increasing and it is only a matter of conjecture when the disease will be gotten under control. There have been twenty-eight deaths in the past forty-eight hours and at least fifteen per cent. of the 400 cases now being treated are considered as hopless.

There's Millions in Bonds.

New York, Sept. 20.—Comptroller Coler advertises the sale of city bonds for $7,269,107.32, to take place on October 3, with interest at 3½ per cent., payable in gold. $1,950,000 is for the new Hall of Records; $1,849,107.32 for street and park openings; $1,000,000 for dock improvement purposes; $570,000 is to pay the Long Island Water Supply Company; $400,000 for sanitary protection of the Croton watershed, and $1,500,000 is for the new aqueduct.

Declares Cobb Was Insane.

Denver, Col., Sept. 20.—J. C. Osgood, who came here last week with Mrs. McKibben and Mrs. Shelgren, the women for love of one of whom and hatred of the other Arthur E. Cobb shot himself at Rye, N. Y., has sent a card to the newspapers declaring that Cobb was insane and had been heard threatening the lives of Mrs. McKibben and Mrs. Shelgren. Mr. Osgood adds that the women were nothing more to Cobb than his kind employers.

This Runaway Beat the Band.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 20.—An immense circus van, bearing the band became unmanageable near the top of a steep hill here owing to the brake getting out of order, and dashed down the hill at great speed. The band men fell off in every direction, but none of them were seriously hurt. One boy in a crowd was knocked down and his skull was fractured. Many other people had narrow escapes.

Carnegie Makes Another Donation.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Henry Exall, President of the Dallas Library Association, has received a letter from Andrew Carnegie contributing $50,000 to establish a free library for the city of Dallas. This is the third library contribution Mr. Carnegie has made to a Texas city. Pittsburg, Tex., received $50,000, and Fort Worth received $50,000 a few weeks ago.

Locomotive and Cars Wrecked.

Amsterdam, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Locomotive 813 and seven cars on the New York Central Railroad were wrecked at Fonda by crashing into freight cars which had been shoved out on the main track from a siding. The wrecked cars were loaded with merchandise. The engineer and fireman escaped by jumping.

Bloodhounds Found the Money.

Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 20.—James E. Brown of Chesterton, while hunting in the woods, lost a pocketbook containing $2,500 in money and notes. Bloodhounds from Hanna were put on the trail, and after three hours' search located the pocketbook.

Kentucky Town Marshal Shot.

Georgetown, Ky., Sept. 20.—Town Marshal Duke, at Stamping Ground, this county, attempted last night to arrest Zack Zuddoth. Both used pistols and both are mortally wounded.

Lawyer Accidentally Shot.

Bangor, Me., Sept. 20.—Charles W. Porter, a well-known St. Louis lawyer, was killed by the accidental discharge of a gun.

SEES NOTHING BUT WAR.

The Outlander Press Believes That Trouble Has Got to Come.

London, Sept. 20.—There is an unverified Cape Town rumor that the Boers have delivered another message to the British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, more conciliatory than the last reply.

The rumor, however, fails to obtain much credence, and is not taken as in any way mitigating the seriousness of the crisis.

The Outlander press sees nothing but war ahead and urges the Outlanders to leave immediately.

The London press is now inclined to take the view that the recent action on the part of the Boers does not make war a certainty, though it does place the British Cabinet in a position where it must take steps so aggressive that war or utter ignominious submission will be the only alternatives remaining to the Transvaal, and is by no means so persistent in urging the government to move hastily, except in the matter of hurrying troops to the probable scene of action. The Pall Mall Gazette prints a despatch from Cape Town which says:

The general impression is that the Boers will at once take the initiative, and an attack is expected at any hour.

Troops continue to leave Cape Town for Kimberley and the North and the first class cruiser Terrible, sailing from Portsmouth for China, is reported to have been ordered to go by way of Cape Town instead of Suez.

Nothing is yet known regarding the definite date of the expected Cabinet Council.

The British government is still rushing troops to the Cape as rapidly as possible, and the Cabinet has been called for a council on the situation on Friday.

Will Regulate Dispensaries.

Albany, Sept. 20.—The State Board of Charities will hold a special meeting on Sept. 26 at the United Charities Building, New York City, to decide upon the rules and regulations for the government of dispensaries in accordance with the provisions of the statute enacted at he last session of the Legislature, which is to go into effect on Oct. 1. The Board's Special Committee on Dispensaries will give a public hearing on Monday afternoon, Sept. 25, at 2 o'clock, at the United Charities Building to those interested in the management of dispensaries, at which the proposed rules and regulations will be considered. There are over 200 free dispensaries in the state.

Two Steamships Disabled.

Suez, Sept. 20.—Lighters and laborers have been sent to the assistance of the British steamship Oak Branch, Capt. Steel, from Baltimore for Vladivostock, reported here on Sunday to be ashore at Faiserasgharib. It is reported that the stranded steamship rests quietly with her head pointed seaward and that her ballast tanks are strained.

London, Eng., Sept. 20.—The British steamship Tabasco, Capt. Happer, from Rotterdam, Sept. 15, for Baltimore, on entering Sunderland damaged several plates. She has been drydocked at that port and is being repaired.

Sheehan Came Out Ahead.

New York, Sept. 20.—In the general primary election, held under the new primary law, John C. Sheehan defeated Frank J. Goodwin. Richard Croker's candidate for the Tammany leadership of the Ninth District. Thomas F. McAvoy won the leadership of the Twenty-third from William E. Stillings, Isaac A. Hopper overturned Charles Welde as leader in the Thirty-first District, and in the Twentieth District Capt. F. Norton Goddard captured the Republican leadership from James L. Stewart. With these exceptions there will be no changes in the County Committees of the two parties as a result of the balloting.

W. K. Vanderbilt Succeeds Cornelius

New York, Sept. 20.—William K. Vanderbilt has succeeded his brother, the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, as president of the New York and Harlem Railroad Company. William Rockefeller and H. McK Twombly have taken up the burdens left by the late Cornelius Vanderbilt as directors respectively of the New York Central and New York and Harlem railroads. The Board of Directors of the two corporations met in the Grand Central Station offices and provided for the vacancy left by the death of the railroad magnate.

Woman Run Down by a Train.

Danbury, Conn., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Margaret Hughes, a widow, forty-one years old, was killed by a train on the Berkshore division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. She lived in this city, and was on her way to her farm at Hawleyville. While walking along the rails a train came from a tunnel so suddenly that she lost her presence of mind and remained upon the track.

The Avona in a Hurricane.

New York, Sept. 20.—The steamer Avona, Captain Frostad, has arrived from Rotterdam. September 14, in latitude 44 longitude 55, Captain Frostad reports that at noon the Avona entered a strong southeast gale, which changed to the north and northwest, and developed hurricane force lasting six hours with tremendous seas. The Avona was on the westerly edge of a hurricane moving to the north.

Canal Commissioners at Hamburg.

Amsterdam, Sept. 20.—The Isthmian Canal Commission, Messrs. Walker, Burns, Noble, Hains and Ernst, arrived at Hamburg and inspected the North Sea canal locks at Ymuiden. They were accompanied by Consul Hill. They were the guests of the Minister of Waterways. They left for London to inspect the Manchester canal and will sail for home on the 23d inst. from Southamption.

Paralytic Stroke Proved Fatal.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 20.—W. C. Young, treasurer of the Wyoming Valley Trust Company, of this city, and well known in banking circles, was striken with paralysis on a Lehigh Valley Railroad train, while returning from Harvey's Lake. He was taken to his home and died in a few hours. He was forty-three years of age.

"My wife and myself are in the balloon and parachute line.
"We travel all over the country making parachute jumps at summer resorts, county airs, and with tent shows.
"Up to a few months ago neither my wife nor myself was in good health.
"Our poor physical condition was due, to some extent, to the fact that we were almost constantly traveling, and were obliged to eat and sleep irregularly.
"In filling our balloon we would become warm and perspire profusely. Then in a little while we would be high in the air, where it was so cold that we would become chilled; and then came the drop, often into water.
"We had bad colds, so bad as to be almost chronic, and for some time after the drops into cold water I would be so choked up that I could hardly speak above a whisper.
"Then I had been affected with cold night sweats for almost two years. My appetite was poor and I was badly run down, so badly, in fact, that when I felt the worst I often made up my mind to quit the business.
"At about this time I was talking with a friend about my condition and he suggested I try Ripans Tabules. I bought a small packet, and they did me much good.
"They have benefited my wife as much as they have me.
"The 'giddy' feelings have disappeared; we rarely have colds; the night sweats have gone, and I eat and sleep well.
"My bowels used to be irregular, even when I was careful about what I ate. Now I eat almost anything, and my bowels were never in better condition.
"The Tabules have toned up our systems so thoroughly that we are proof against all such attacks.
"Ripans Tabules have done my wife and myself more good in the past four months than all the doctors' advice and medicine we have ever had."

WANTED—A case of bad health that R-I-P-A-N-S will not benefit. Send five cents to Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce Street, New York, for 10 samples and 1,000 testimonials. R-I-P-A-N-S, 10 for 5 cents, or 12 packets for 5 cents, may be had of all druggists who are willing to sell a low-priced medicine at a moderate profit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R-I-P-A-N-S on the packet. Accept no substitute.

M'COY DEFEATS O'DONNELL

A Large Crowd Sees an Interesting Boxing Bout in New York.

New York, Sept. 20.—In the presence of a crowd that packed the Broadway Athletic Club from ringside to roof Kid McCoy last night knocked out Steve O'Donnell of Australia. He put the finishing touches to his man in two minutes and forty-eight seconds after the opening of the sixth round, and walked out of the ring without bruise, scratch or mark of any kind to denote that he had taken part in anything more serious than a friendly bout. With feint and jab and swing and straight punch he reduced his man to that condition where he was ripe to receive the knockout blow. Quick as a flash that knockout came. With the force and precision of a piston rod McCoy's left shot to O'Donnell's jaw. The right followed almost with the quickness of thought, landing on the other side of the jaw, and O'Donnell, dropping to the floor, was counted out.

The crowd was the largest that ever gathered to witness a contest in this club house. Every seat and every nook or cranny in which a man could stand was occupied.

The contest was the most scientific and interesting that has ever taken place in the club house.

Duryea is Doing Well.

New York, Sept. 20.—Walter E. Duryea, who underwent the difficult operation of having fragments of broken vertebrae removed from his spinal cord at Roosevelt Hospital, is reported as doing well. He slept comfortably all night and far into the morning. The fact that the patient showed such remarkable strength and vitality after such a trying ordeal was very encouraging to the surgeons who have charge of the case, and they now have hope that he will derive great benefit from the operation.

Hohenlohes' Narrow Escape.

London, Sept. 20.—Prince and Princess Hohenlohe just had a narrow escape from death in a railway accident. They were on their way to Balmoral when the express on which they were passengers collided with another train near Perth. Half of the royal saloon car was demolished, but the Prince and Princess escaped without injury.

Death of Oakes A. Ames.

North Easton, Mass., Sept. 20.—Oakes A. Ames, a member of the well-known Ames family and a brother of the late ex-Gov. Oliver Ames, is dead of heart failure at his home. Mr. Ames was president of the Ames corporation of North Easton, and was one of the wealthiest men in this section. He was seventy years old.

Schley Accepts Assignment.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Rear Admiral Schley will succeed Rear Admiral Howison in command of the South Atlantic station. He has no protest to make against the assignment which the Navy Department selected for him. As a sailor he will obey orders without a murmur.

Ex-Judge C. P. Daly Dead.

Sag Harbor, Sept. 20.—The Hon. Charles Patrick Daly, ex-Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of New York and President of the American Geographical Society, was atacked with apoplexy at his summer home at North Haven, near here, and died soon after.

Howard Gould at Home.

New York, Sept. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gould, who have been exchanging courtesies with royalties and lesser dignitaries abroad aboard their yacht Niagara, have arrived on the yacht from Southampton.

Col. Miley is Dead.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Lieut.-Col. John D. Miley, Inspector-General of Volunteers, has died at Manila. His death was due to cerebral meningitis, attendant on typhoid fever. Col. Miley's rank in the regular army was First Lieutenant Second Artillery.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 20.—The rally in the stock market, which made its appearance in the final dealings of yesterday, made further progress. After the opening, however, the market showed that the liquidations of weak speculative accounts had not been fully completed, and, on selling of this character, the market sold off quite rapidly from its initial level. The Granger stocks, with the exception of St. Paul, were conspicuously heavy. Burlington and Rock Island both failing to participate in the market's opening strength. Trading in Brooklyn Rapid Transit was heavy and the stock was feverish. It scored a sharp advance in the opening, but frequently settled back. Missouri Pacific and Southern Pacific were firm. The Industrial quarter was active, and, in the main, steady, but the dealings there showed the same feverish tones that appeared in the trading in the railway list. There was very little news bearing upon the market, but sentiment seemed to be encouraged by the hope that the extensive liquidation of the past few days would result in an easier money market.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Closing prices for spot, wheat 70⅝, corn, 34⅝, oats 22, pork, 7.95, lard, 5.27.

What to Do Just Now in the Garden.

"September and October are good months in which to make any needful changes in border plants," writes Eben E. Rexford in the September Ladies' Home Journal. "Nearly all kinds of hardy herbaceous plants may be moved or divided safely in those months. It is well to look over such plants as Larkspur, Phlox, Aquilegia, and others of similar habit, and see if the clumps would not be benefited by a division of their roots. If there is any weak growth, or any of the roots appear diseased, by all means give the plants attention at once. Lift the plants entire and then cut the clumps apart with a sharp spade. Then go over them carefully and cut out all weak portions. Use only strong, healthy roots for replanting."

TO LIBERATE PRISONERS.

The Cabinet at Washington Discusses the Offer Made By Aguinaldo.

OVERTURES FOR PEACE.

It is Believed That the Filipino Leader Will Make Propositions to Gen. Otis For Surrender.

May Bring About Peace in the Philippines at an Early Date—Secretary Root Not Inclined to Place a Great Deal of Confidence in the Wily Aguinaldo.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—Information of a character that leads some of the Government officers to believe that Aguinaldo is about to renew his overtures for peace has been received at the War Department from Major-Gen. Otis saying that Aguinaldo has requested permission to send two envoys to Gen. MacArthur to arrange an exchange of prisoners and that one of them, a Filipino General, be permitted to go to Manila to confer with Gen. Otis on a subject not stated.

Most of the time of the regular Cabinet meeting was devoted to a discussion of this latest information from Gen. Otis. There was a diversity of opinion among the members as to the significance of Aguinaldo's request, some members believing that it meant a definite effort on the part of the Filipino leader to bring about peace on a basis not unfavorable to the American position, and others expressing little faith that such would be the outcome of the proposed conference.

After the meeting Secretary Root said frankly that he was not inclined to place too much reliance on Aguinaldo's good intentions, for this case might prove to be quite similar to the other movements of the Filipino chief in the same direction. There was an inclination, however, to hear promptly what the Filipino representatives might have to say and to deal promptly and finally with any proposition that might be forthcoming. Another member of the Cabinet said that he had no faith whatever in the good intentions of Aguinaldo, and that he did not believe that the approaching conference meant peace on our terms.

Still another Secretary said that personally he believed the Filipinos meant to bring about peace by the proposed conference, and that the end of the hostilities was at hand. He said he did not speak from superior information, but from an impression gained from carefully observing the recent progress and tendency of events in the Philippines.

The Adjutant General received a despatch from Gen. Otis saying that Aguinaldo had promised to surrender Lieut. Gillmore and the enlisted men of the Yorktown, and some other war prisoners.

Commander Davidson Praised.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The Navy Department has received the following cablegram from Admiral Watson:

"Davidson, in Paragua, had sharp engagement on the 14th at San Fabian, Lingayen Gulf, with about 300 insurgents, heavily entrenched, at a distance of from 1,000 to 700 yards. The insurgents fled. Their fire was weak and ineffective. On the Paragua there were no casualties. The senior commends Davidson highly."

The Paragua is one of the little gunboats turned over to the army by Admiral Watson, and Davidson, the commander, is a young ensign. The scene of the battle was on the north coast of Luzon, off the port which forms the northern terminus of the railroad.

She Married Her Accuser.

Charlotte, Mich., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Mary Brooks, the first woman ever received at Jackson State Prison, has been married to D. H. Stuart, who was the complaining witness against her, and who was largely responsible for her conviction. In March, 1876, Mr. Brooks, a wealthy farmer, died suddenly under suspicious circumstances. His wife was arrested the following day on complaint of Stuart. The woman was convicted after a short trial, evidence being offered that she poisoned her husband by arsenic given in his food. Stuart, the complaining witness, afterward headed a petiton for pardon, which was secured after the woman had served twenty-three years.

Wells Must Be Cased.

Massillon, Ohio, Sept. 20.—State Mine Inspector Hazeltine, of Columbus, has been engaged for the past few days in the Scio oil fields. He is compelling oil owners of both producing and dry wells to case them, in accordance with the state law. Were the holes abandoned without casing off the water, he said, the cavities from which the oil or gas was drawn would fill, and the oil in the entire field would eventually be driven away. By the casing method Mr. Hazeltine thinks the Scio field can be made to produce oil for 20 years at least. Other fields like Findlay, could have been saved if the method had been practiced there.

Colored Troops Disbanded.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 20.—The colored militia of Georgia has been practically wiped out by the state authorities. Out of a total of twenty-one negro volunteer companies in the state seventeen have been ordered disbanded and disarmed. This leaves only four companies in the service, three of which are in Savannah and one in Atlanta.

Ostrich Whipped the Thieves.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 20.—Napoleon, the big ostrich at the pheasant farm, has saved the fat birds from a band of thieves. The men were creeping into the pheasant house when the ostrich sat upon them tearing off much of their clothing and wounding them severely with his feet. The shreds of clothing are blood-stained.

COMING EVENTS.

September 24—Rev. A. E. Crane will address the men's rally at the Y. M. C. A., at 4:15 p. m. There will be vocal and instrumental music.

Governor Voorhees has decided that he has no legal right to issue a proclamation declaring Dewey Day a legal holiday. All North Jersey, however, will take it upon itself to observe the day as religiously as possible, and to make special efforts to pay homage to the hero of Manila as he comes sailing up New York bay on one day and on the following witnesses the land pageant that will be made up of the cream of the civil and military organizations of the country.

As one whose only interest is to see that the best thing is done for the benefit of the State and the inmates of the Industrial School for Girls, the letter of David P. Hall, of this city, to Governor Voorhees, should demand careful consideration from the latter. Mr. Hall, as the representative of the State Charities Aid Association, has not gone into the investigation of this institution in a sentimental or political mood, but one that seeks a thoroughly practical view of the situation.

Jacob W. Shepherd, of Elizabeth, who gave Sheriff Kirk a close run for his office three years, is now mentioned in connection with the County Clerkship nomination of the Democrats. If Mr. Shepherd can pull as good a vote in Elizabeth as a candidate for County Clerk as he did for the Shrievalty, he would be a valuable man for the party to select for that honor.

The Kearney justice of the peace who decreed that the punishment of two bad boys arraigned in his court should be a sound spanking by their respective fathers before the court, took a novel proceeding, but one that doubtless will accomplish the reformation of the youths much quicker than anything he might impose in strict accordance with the law.

Referring to the fact that an Elizabeth man has received a judgment for $200 against a trolley company for killing his dog, the Newark News remarks that this is about $199 more than he would have been entitled to under our laws had it been his child that was destroyed,

Municipal ownership makes greater headway in Germany than elsewhere. In 517 cities of over 10,000 inhabitants, 120 own electric plants, and out of 2,200 smaller cities, 300 own their own plants.

Pictures of famous men which appear in public prints are not always good likenesses. This portrait of Admiral Dewey is as near perfect as the art of picture making can produce. It will be noticed that the hair and mustache are both white; in the old pictures they are black. The photograph was taken on the admiral's flagship, Olympia.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

W. R. Cock, of East Fifth street, greatly distinguished himself as a fisherman while spending his summer vacation at the Thousand Islands. He caught one of the river bass, weighing five and a quarter pounds, the largest catch of the season. Mr. Cock has just received a photograph taken by one of his friends at the Islands, showing Mr. Cock holding the fish up to view.

"If cleanliness is akin to godliness," said a well-known taxpayer in speaking of the excessive water rates in Plainfield, "then it's an expensive luxury, I think." Continuing, he said, "Why do you know, sir, it's the water rents and the heavy rentals that keep people from coming to this city. The rates for water are about twice as high as they should be—in fact they are about double what they are in any other city of this size in the state. The only way to get cheaper water is for the city to own the water works."

Few persons have any idea of the magnitude of the work done by the fruit canning factories, especially tomatoes, in the heigth of the season. A visit to one of those factories at Mount Holly last Tuesday morning showed outside a line of ninety-one large wagons waiting to be unloaded, as there is not sufficient space for storing the tomatoes, and they are canned as they are unloaded. A farmer on one of these wagons said he had fallen into line Monday morning at 5 o'clock and had not yet been able to get his wagon unloaded at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. In consequence many of his tomatoes were spoiling, and, he said, he would be obliged to throw away one-half of them.

In another establishment in Burlington county, where soups and catsups are manufactured and the manufacturers have contracted with the farmers to take their whole crop, the supply is so great that baskets of tomatoes are given away and people are urged to carry them from the establishment. A farmer, in the neighborhood of Camden, stated that he was offered only 1 cent per basket, and was letting them spoil unpicked on the ground.

The average street car conductor, like other men, is born of a woman, and his life is full of trouble. The many annoyances he is subjected to, if published in The Daily Press, would be sufficient to crowd out all other news. He is continually in fear of being reported to the superintendent and of losing his job. Often he is reported for the most trifling things. A case in point: Several days ago a woman hailed a car while standing on the lower side of the cross street. In conformity to the rule the car stopped on the upper side of the street. The woman was compelled to walk some little distance, which she did in a huff. Taking her seat in the car she proceeded to give the conductor a "piece of her mind." All attempts at an explanation but sufficed to increase her temper, and she finally snappishly informed the conductor that she would report him, which she did. It is not known whether the woman succeeded in getting the conductor "fired." Perhaps the woman did not realize whether that conductor had a wife and children to support—and perhaps she didn't care. There are occasions were conductors are at fault, but it was not so in this case. The writer rides on the cars of the Plainfield street railway and the Brunswick Traction Company nearly every day. As a rule the conductors have been found to be both polite and attentive to their duties.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"What's in a name?" Well, it seems as far as the Uncle Tom's Cabin business is concerned, that everything lies in the name of Stetson. Since the present tour of Stetson's Uncle Tom's Cabin Company opened, they have met with a succession of packed houses, an illustration of the fact that the public have not forgotten the name of Stetson, a name that gladdens the heart of the amusement lover, for one can always count on witnessing a first-class entertainment under that trade mark. The great Stetson Uncle Tom's Cabin Company will appear in its entirety Friday and give two performances, one in the afternoon for the accommodation of the children and the other at night. A grand street parade will be given at noon.

After much heralding that infinitely diverting musical farce, "The Hustler," comes to Music Hall Saturday night and brings to theatre-goers a fund of novelty with merry comedians, famous singers, sweet-voiced pretty girls and graceful dancers. The piece is practically a new show this season through the process of re-writing, and the acquisition of up-to-date music, dances, marches, medleys and numerous additions. Embodied in the play this season are spicy and enjoyable selections from all the "hits" of the season. In its latest revised shape "The Hustler" evokes one continual roar of laughter from beginning to end.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, September 20.—William H. Carman, the well known butcher, and Miss Annie E. Titsworth were married last evening. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. Garretson, on Centre street, by Rev A. I. Martine, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few friends of the contracting parties. Many friends wish the happy couple Godspeed on life's journey. Immediately after the ceremony and a light collation Mr. and Mrs. Carman left on a short wedding tour.

The sensational story published in the News a few days ago to the effect that parties were in the borough looking for Rev. Frank Fletcher, and intimating that it was a case of elopement, proves to be absurd. The parties referred to was a committee from a Plainfield Sunday school, who had come to consult with the Rev. gentleman regarding church matters, and they had not thought of an elopement.

The many friends of Mrs. Charles Dodwell will be pleased to learn that she is recovering from the injuries she received a few days ago by being bitten on the hand by a savage dog belonging to Mr. Collins, a neighbor. Since the unfortunate affair the dog has been removed from further harm.

Oscar Runyon, brother of Undertaker Runyon, has secured a position in the office of the Central Railroad at Elizabethport.

Many farmers in this vicinity are taking their apples to the cider mill of Abe Smalley, who is quite busy at present.

There are letters at the postoffice for C. E. Huhn (3), Emma A. Schultz, Standard Construction Co.

A. S. Giles, the well-known tinsmith, is having a foundation placed under his shop on North avenue.

Mrs. Edward Hart, of Florida, is visiting her brother, Wm. Jenner, of New Market.

The work of filling in the highway near the Borough Hall is progressing nicely.

PLAINS AND FA[illegible]OOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 20.—The want of proper place in which to hold justice's court was realized Monday evening. A large crowd had gathered to hear the trial of Albert Aykon and as Judge Schick's court is open to the public he decided to try the case in the Engine Company's rooms, as the township was paying rent for the use of the property as a jail and fire house. One objection was raised by Landlord Meyers, who claimed the engine company objected to the use of the building as a court room. The Judge withdrew gracefully, but the clash will probably be the means of having the township committee set apart some part of the property they are paying rent for, as a court room.

Arthur Chapin, Ernest Marsh and Harry Flannery were entered in the bicycle races held yesterday at the Somerville fair. Chapin won the first prize in the half-mile open.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gere, of Bartle avenue, have been entertaining Mrs. Gere's sister, Miss Brockway, of New York.

Miss Mamie Dobbins, who has been spending two weeks with Mrs. Fred Clark, has returned to her home in Kearney.

Miss Minnie Hosinger has returned to her duties at Crosby & Hill's in Plainfield after enjoying a week's vacation.

George L. Dunn has returned from an enjoyable two weeks' vacation spent at Southport, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Devine, of Plainfield, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taynor.

Mrs. Peter Smith, of Lincoln, spent Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark.

Miss Hattie Wilcox, of New York, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Nancy Wilcox.

There will be a dance at Emery's Pleasure Garden this evening.

Card of Thanks.

In return for the sympathetic interest and many kind acts that were done to make the dying hours of my brother, R. Bruce MacFarland, more easy, I desire, as his sister, to sincerely thank all who in anyway assisted in the sad fatality, and especially do his relatives appreciate the sympathy and whole souled action of the coworkers on the Lehigh who made such strenous efforts to secure relief for the injuries he received while at work. Virginia E. Stewart,
Millersburg, Pa.

Cranford Golf Club.

The Cranford Golf Club is now a reality, a permanent organization having been effected Monday evening at a meeting held at the assembly rooms opposite the depot. Officers of the club were elected as follows: President, Leroy M. Lyon; vice-president, F. W. Hunter; secretary, Alvin H. Denman; treasurer, D. H. Hopkins; governors, Harry S. Sanderson, H. N. Fiske, Thomas A. Sperry, L. L. Coudert, L. V. DeForrest E. G. Woodling, E. Everett, H. A. Humphrey and W. C. Major.

Senator Kean's Line Not Yet Opened.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, September 20.—Senator Kean's new trolley line was to have been opened Sunday for the initial trip of the cars, and it had been Senator Kean's intention to act as motorman on the first car to be run over the road. Mr. Kean was promptly on hand at 11 a. m., but he found that the wires running into Broad, from East Grand streets, were not connected, and as a consequence the cars could not be started. The line, it is expected, will be opened for business before next Sunday.

John W Whelan Dangerously Ill.
(Special to The Daily Press.)
Elizabeth, Sept. 20—Former City Treasurer John W. Whelan, who is secretary and treasurer of the Elizabeth Water Company, and who is also private secretary to Senator Kean, is dangerously ill with pneumonia. Mr. Whelan was taken ill last Thursday, and has grown steadily worse since then. The crisis in the disease, it is expected, will be reached within the next twenty-four hours.

Glaser Out After Delegates.
Jacob Glaser, who is after the Democratic nomination for Sheriff, invaded Rahway yesterday afternoon. He conferred with several of the local Democratic leaders, was cordially greeted by them, and secured a promise of their support. Glaser also stopped at Linden and had talks with the Democrats there. He thinks his chances are excellent for securing the nomination.

München. Der Kongreß deutscher Zahnkünstler, der kürzlich hier tagte, hat beschlossen, auf eigene Kosten in München eine Fachhochschule für Zahntechniker zu gründen. Es würde das die erste derartige Einrichtung in Deutschland sein.—Die Goethefestnummer des „Süddeutschen Postillons" wurde am Abend ihres Erscheinens wegen Majestätsbeleidigung in Kafehäusern und Zeitungskiosken konfiszirt.

Augsburg. In einer letzthin abgehaltenen Maurerversammlung wurde der Strike für beendigt erklärt. Die Kosten des Strikes sind nach den vorläufigen Feststellungen auf etwa 50,000 Mark veranschlagt. Die Arbeitnehmer nahmen die Arbeit bedingungslos wieder an.

Bamberg. Im Rangirbahnhof verunglückte der ledige, 25 Jahre alte Wagenschieber Schwind dadurch, daß er mit dem Fuß in einer Weichenzunge stecken blieb, während schon die Maschine daherfauste. Schwind wollte sich schnell des Stiefels entledigen, allein es war zu spät, er wurde von der Maschine erfaßt und derartig zugerichtet, daß er, kaum in das Krankenhaus verbracht, alsbald seinen Geist aufgab.

Cham. Ein Redemptoristenkloster für zehn Patres und eine entsprechende Anzahl Laienbrüder wird hier mit Genehmigung des Staatsministeriums erbaut.

Mindelheim. An der neurenovirten Façade des Hotels zur Post wurde kürzlich eine von der Stadtgemeinde gestiftete Gedenktafel aus schwarzem Marmor angebracht, die folgende Inschrift trägt: „Zur Erinnerung an die Frau Posthalter Cäcilia von Dreer, die muthige Retterin der Stadt Mindelheim am 21. September 1796." An diesem Tage kam ein französisches Korps durch unsere Stadt. Der Führer der Arriere-Garde, General Ferino, wollte die Stadt an allen vier Ecken anzünden lassen, verschonte sie jedoch, als Frau v. Dreer, deren Urenkel noch heute im gleichen Hause waltet, mit ihren Kindern um Schonung für die Stadt bat.

Oettingen. Das Schloß Hochaltingen, bisher im Besitz der fürstlich Oettingen-Spielberg'schen Standesherrschaft, ist durch Kauf in das Eigenthum des Mutterhauses des Ordens der Franziskanerinnen in Dillingen übergegangen. In dem Schlosse soll eine Erziehungsanstalt errichtet werden.

Passau. Das bei Gastwirth Rosenauer in Holzgarten bedienstete 17jährige Kindsmädchen Emilie Regner versetzte dem ihr anvertrauten acht Monate alten Kinde, als es nicht nach Wunsch einschlief, einen Messerstich in die rechte Seite. Das Scheusal wurde verhaftet.

Wörishofen. Die Prinzessin von Wales ist hier angekommen, um sich wegen ihres Rheumatismus einer Kneippkur zu unterziehen.

Würzburg. Selbstmord verübte die 16jährige Stieftochter des Eisendrehers Prozner. Das Mädchen hatte 1 Mark verloren, weshalb es Strafe befürchtete und nächst der Heidingsfelder Brücke in's Wasser sprang. Die 13 Jahre alte Schwester des Mädchens wollte nachspringen, wurde aber von herzueilenden Passanten festgehalten.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Kaiserslautern. Ein jugendlicher Todtschläger stand in der Person des 14jährigen Spenglerlehrlings Abele vor der Strafkammer. Derselbe hatte vor Beginn der Fortbildungsschule mit einem Kameraden Streit, in welchen auch der später dazugekommene 17jährige Steinbrecher Edinger verwickelt wurde. Diesem stach Abele sein Messer in den Unterleib, so daß der Unglückliche nach zwei Tagen starb. Der Missethäter erhielt ein Jahr Gefängniß zudiktirt.

Ludwigshafen. Der Gründer und Direktor der Ludwigshafener Walzmühle, Sigmund Kauffmann, ein hervorragender Industrieller, ist gestorben.

SOME NEW TROTTERS

ANIMALS THAT MAY BREAK ALL TRACK RECORDS.

A New York Sportsman Training a Pair of Antelopes—They Have a Long Stride But Light Weight—May Beat the World's Record.

A New York sportsman is at present training a pair of antelopes in trotting harness, which he considers will considerably lower the world's trotting record. The antelope has never before been considered seriously as a racing machine, but those familiar with them believe that they can be controlled by careful training as well as a horse, and are capable of wonderful bursts of speed.

The owner of the first team of racing antelopes is Mr. Donald Burns, who is famous as an animal trainer of wide experience. Mr. Burns is at present running his trained antelopes on a track near his home at Babylon, L. I., and expects to have them in condition to take part in regular track racing events some time this fall. When Mr. Burns was seen last week by a representative of the Sunday Philadelphia Times, his expressed himself as confident that his strange racers would better the world's trotting record of 2:08 from 4 to 6 seconds.

It has been found in training this pair of antelopes that their peculiar nervousness or wildness gives them an immense amount of life and spirit on the race course. The average antelope, if its training be commenced early enough can be brought to mind the whip and rein when about two years old, and their racing life after that is about the sme as that of a horse. They run very low, as the expression goes, the body falling several inches when they move at their best speed, while their long thin legs move with great regularity and evenness.

Their stride is somewhat different from that of a trotting horse, their steps being slightly longer, but it is sufficiently like to allow them to enter a regular trotting race. Another peculiarity of antelopes is that they can only travel at their best pace for comparatively short distances. In their natural wild state they cannot sustain one of their spurts of speed for more than a half to three-quarters of a mile, and it is only by careful training that they can be made to cover a mile.

This is due to the fact that they are naturally very short-winded, and their muscles are too slight to stand any long exertion. Their speediness is due to the fact that they weight from 300 to 500 pounds less than a horse, while their legs, with comparatively the same reach of stride, are lighter and more nimble.

Mr. Burns has found that the best results are obtined by commencing the training of an antelope just before it is a year old. Antelopes have not been born in captivity as yet, so that the sportman must first catch them in their mountain homes. They are still to be found in many of the Western States, as well as the wild mountain regions in many parts of the world. In order to catch them without inflicting the slightest injury they must be lassoed, and great care must be exercised to prevent any injury to their very delicate legs, which are very easily sprained or disjointed. Once captured, they are, however, easily managed.

The first step in training an antelope to trotting harness is to break or accustom it to the use of the halter. Their wildness is not so much due to viciousness as to nervousness or fear so that it is a great mistake to force them into obedience. Mr. Burns first began with his antelopes by placing a rope about their necks and leading them about. After a few weeks of this they became very docile. The next step was to accustom them to the regular halter. They resented any harness, and the first step to accustom them to it found them very skittish and unmanageable.

A fractious antelope behaves very differently from a horse, but is none the less difficult to cotnrol. An antelope does not buck or rear like a horse, though it has plenty of troublesome tricks of its own. Perhaps the most dangerous of these is its habit of jumping or springing, which it does with much more agility than any horse. It will launch itself through the air a distance of ten or twelve feet without any warning, and instantly come to a dead stop. In its wild state the antelope frequently kills snakes by jumping upon them and landing with all four feet gathered close together. It can be imagined what havoc such a feat would work to a carriage and harness.

The next step in training the trotting antelopes at Babylon was to accustom them to the use of the shafts. The antelopes were first hitched separately to a pair of long poles on either side and led about by a halter. Both of Mr. Burn's antelopes succeeded in breaking several sets of these poles before they would consent to walk about hampered in this way. The poles, of course, accustomed the animals to the use of shafts.

It was necessary to use very stout poles for the purpose, because the snake-killing jumps of the antelopes would soon splinter ordinary shafts. The groom, who was conducting these experiments, led the antelopes by a very long halter, in order to keep out of the way of these long flying poles. It required some eighteen months of continuous training to accustom Mr. Burn's antelopes to an ordinry racing sulky. At the end of this time, however, they were almost entirely broken to harness, and the subsequent training has been aimed more particularly to develope their wind and endurance.

The sight of a pair of antelopes with their slender bodies and long horns trotting peacefully about the country has naturally attracted a great deal of attention. The residents of Babylon, Long Island, have decided that this curious means of conveyance is merely the freak of some rich man, and the fact that they are actually training to beat the world's record with much promise of success has been kept secret.

Not Always.

Bertha—It's a curious expression, "She went in bathing." Why is it not enough to say "she went bathing?"

Bobby—Sure enough. When a girl goes bathing she doesn't usually go in.

AS TO THE EYEBROWS

THEY ARE MORE GENERALLY NEGLECTED THAN CARED FOR.

This Will Tell You How to Cultivate Them and Make Them a Thing of Beauty—Easy Enough if These Rules Are Followed—Never Pull Them Out

Poets and artists may continue to extol the expressive beauty of the delicately penciled eyebrow, but the average woman pays but little attention to it, and beyond an occasional smoothing with her finger leaves uncared for one of the nicest and most particular portions of her facial toilet. Like all other points of beauty, this little pen stroke of nature varies greatly with the individual, but as a usual thing one is endowed with just about the right brow to harmonize with the features, and a little judicious care is all that is necessary to enhance this touch, which goes so far to make or to mar the entire facial expression. When, however, the formation of the eyebrow is decidedly at fault, we have recourse to artifice to help out the deficiency or obliterate its homeliness. The eyebrow should extend slightly beyond the orifice of the eye at either end, should terminate in a mere line toward the temple and be slightly broader toward the nose. Upon the breadth, the arch and the shade depend much. Delicate features should not be preponderated by broad brows, while those which are large and strong in character need the bolder brush to accentuate their force. The brow is always to be carefully smooth, glossy and orderly. At a recent visit to a dermatologist a society woman was greatly amused when the so-called artist, after carefully treating her skin for real and imaginary blemishes, apparently scrutinizing every part with a microscope, completed his work in a hasty brush over the much-disturbed eyebrows with a camel's hair brush and stepped back to announce his work of beautifying was complete. "Now," she said with a smile, "I'll show you something. Look at me well and then notice the difference." Selecting a stiff little brush from among his numerous paraphernalia, she brushed the hair of both eyebrows straight up toward the forehead, then carefully brushed them down from above. This left an extremely delicate shading, every hair clearly defined and distinctly separate, and a clear, dark line along the center. She shaped the inner line toward the nose with a cautious touch of the brush, then turned to the manipulator for his opinion, and he was magnanimous enough to admit that when the brow was in a healthy condition he had never taken much pains about its dressing.

Never pull the hair out, even if it grows too close over the brows; careful brushing will in time shape it nicely, and to certain features close brows are a decided necessity. If you will take the time some day to comb you brows in various shadings you will soon discover which style—whether high or low arch, rather flat or fine and delicate style—is most becoming, and, once learned, adhere strictly to it. The hair will of its own accord finally shape itself in that direction.

Satisfactory Rugs.

Probably the most satisfactory inexpensive rug is one of body Brussels carpet. These are usually kept in stock at the large carpet-houses, made from remnants as they accumulate. They can be had in various sizes from a square of nine feet or even somewhat less to a size that will serve in a large room. They come, too, in beautiful Persian patterns, and well made as they are, with borders carefully matched and seams lined and pressed, they are both handsome and durable. A good domestic Smyrna costs a little more, and has the added advantage of being on both sides. The ingrain art carpets are not to be recommended in any room where the wear is at all serious. They are useful and effective, as they come in excellent designs, for light service, their extreme cheapness being another advantage. The imported rugs of this character are more durable, as they ought to be, costing twice as much or more, but their patterns are rather dull, and their grade of colors limited and difficult to tone with furnishings. Jute rugs are to be found in most attractive patterns and in a variety of colorings, dark and light, and at a very low price. They should be purchased, however, with the knowledge that their wearing qualities are poor.

Mary Stuart's Curious Watches.

Among the watches owned by Mary Stuart was a coffin-shaped watch in a case of crystal. Probably the most remarkable one in her collection was the one which was bequeathed to Mary Seaton, her maid of honor. It was in the form of a skull. On the forehead of the skull was the symbol of death, the scythe and the hour-glass. At the back of the skull was Time, and at the top of the head was the garden of Eden and the crucifixion. The watch was opened by reversing the skull. Inside was a representation of the holy family, surrounded by angels, while the shepherds and their flocks were worshiping the new-born Christ. The hand the brains, while the dial plate. She also possessed a skull-shaped watch, but it is not what became of it.

Widow's Caps.

The origin of the custom of widows wearing caps is extremely ancient. It can be traced back to the Egyptian and Grecian practice of shaving off the hair in periods of mourning. But as without hair there was a danger of catching cold, the men wore wigs upon their bald crowns and the women caps.

THE AUTOMOBILE FAD.

How It Has Spread From Paris to Newport.

The acme of up to date smartness is to own and operate an automobile. In Paris the use of the horseless carriage has become a craze. Along the Boulevard Haussmann, the Avenue Bois de Boulogne and the Champs Elysees automobiles are on pleasant afternoons as plentiful as equipages drawn by horses. It is estimated by the time of the world's fair in 1900 there will not be a single horse left in harness on the streets of Paris. The Duchesse d'Uzes, one of the most original of the fashionable grand ladies of Paris, introduced the fad to society. She was the first woman to propel her own motor carriage along the boulevards and through the Bois. Her son, who early became devoted to automobiling, was her companion. They were noted scorchers and had at least one encounter with the authorities. They were enjoined from further fast riding.

It was not very long until fashionable Parisian women were daft about the "teuf teuf," their nickname for the horseless carriage, given because of the noise the French petroleum supplied motors make when in action. Parties of automobilists are to be frequently seen on fine days wending their way out the beautiful roads to Versailles or Fontainebleu. It is no unusual thing for parties to start early in the morning and make the run to Versailles in three hours, a distance of over 40 miles. They take breakfast at the end of the trip, the breakfast having been ordered in advance at hotel or club by the host or hostess.

Very ardent automobilists even make the trip to Nice or Trouville, Monte Carlo or other fashionable resorts in their horseless carriages, sometimes sending the machines back by rail and returning in that way.

The European motor carriages are large and supplied with every convenience for long trips, and as continental railway carriages are far from models of luxury the auto carriages are appreciated by the very rich.

Even baby carriages in Paris are now supplied with automatic motors, so that the nursemaids in the Bois de Boulogne have practically a sinecure and unrivaled leisure for flirting with the tall gendarmes.

In America, particularly in Newport, New York and Chicago, the use of the automobile is rapidly becoming a favorite diversion of society. Many wealthy families expect next season to dispense with their horses and use the horseless carriages entirely. The cost is less and the convenience greater. Besides, it is now considered the ultra chic thing to do.

The cost of an automobile is about $2,000. The American horseless carriages are run by electricity, which is cheaper and less objectionable in many ways than petroleum. After the carriage has been purchased it costs less than keeping horses and carriage if one considers the wages of a coachman, expense of harness and cost of feeding and caring for a pair of fine horses.

There is on Fifty-second street, New York, a firm that takes charge of the automobiles belonging to private families. They supply motormen who wear the livery of the family and charge only for the time the man is employed. They rent automobiles for the month for about $180, and the owner may have his monogram or coat of arms on the hired equipage. A telephone message at any hour will bring the carriage to their door, the company storing the motor with electricity so that it is always in readiness.

In Paris automobile parades and automobile racing are popular. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who is noted for the originality of her entertainments, introduced the automobile parade at Newport recently. Before the parade, in which 19 vehicles, containing ladies and gentlemen whose names are familiar to society columns, passed down Bellevue avenue, where they were viewed in their flower decorated automobiles by thousands of admiring spectators, they enjoyed a funny contest on the grounds of Mrs. Belmont's residence, Belcourt.

Obstacles, such as dummy nursemaids and carriages, pedestrians, wagons and even stuffed horses, were placed about the grounds, and the contestants were required to pass these without grazing them. It was a severe test, yet only one slight accident occurred. Prizes were awarded to the most proficient automobilists and prizes for the most handsomely decorated carriages.

JANE DEVOE.

THE ORIGINAL HORSE

HE ONCE HAD FIVE TOES TO EACH FOOT.

He Dropped His Toes One by One.—The Oldest Horse Known.—Precious Relics of Preadamite Days.—Later Specimens.

How old is the horse? Since the advent of the motor and its apparent success in weaning man's affections away from the horse, interest has been foregathering and centralizing in the reputed most intelligent of all domestic animals, and people are now asking, how old is the horse? Bones that have been dug up tell the story.

Dr. Matthews, the discoverer, a "savant" who has been digging and searching for fossilised remains of many-toed horses for some years, looking for such in certain out-of-the-way districts where he thought the original horse lived, came across a quantity of bones, which he declares to be those of the ancient horse, three hundred feet below the surface of a vast plain in Colorado.

But this find was a pure accident. Excavators were digging there, not for petrified, or mummified, or fossilised remains of extinct animals, but they were digging to find the source of a well. Luckily, the ancient horse enthusiast was close to the spot at the time, and his attention was called to the discovery, with what result the scientific world now knows.

These precious relics of pre-Adamite days are now wrapped for the sake of preservation in greased rags

From the conformation of the bones, and their general setting, Dr. Matthews, being a clever anatomist, will be able to fairly determine the exact shape that the original horse took a million years ago.

He hopes within the present year to complete the difficult, albeit interesting, work of building up with the discovered bones the original horse, and he will probably throw positive light upon the now very open question, whether the horse of a million years ago was blessed with toes, and what their shape was

Some of the scientific men who have devoted much time to it are inclined to believe that the horse of the primal period existed two some say six, million years ago, because the radical changes in the shape of the foot would take at least a million years to bring about, and there have been a number of changes.

The old horse dropped his toes one by one.

The founder of the horse of horses, it is suggested, had twenty toes, five to each foot. That was before the tertiary stage. As the latter period progressed, the horse's toes began to disappear. The various bones dug up show this.

Enough bones have, from time to time, come to light to make a complete series of horses from the present day to the time of five toes, going back thousands of centuries. The toes of the hind feet changed before those on the fore feet, the former having more work to do.

The oldest horse bones show eight toes on the fore feet and six on the hind feet, while splints, like thumbs, show whither the missing digits have gone. The next batch of remains, post-dated a thousand centuries, show the foot without the splints.

Later specimens again show only three toes, while the fourth is reduced to a thumb, or a splint. The next lot of remains in date order shows the fourth stump gone, and its place taken by what was originally the third toe, and so forth, until we come down to the foot without a toe, or splint, or stump.

Feel for a stump just above the offside of a horse's hoof, and you may be able to trace a hard, lumpy substance.

The hoof did not assume its present shape till the advent of the post tertiary period of the world's existence. This is the horse as we know him today, when he is rapidly transforming into electricity and compressed air.

A City of Pelicans.

Frank M. Chapman tells the readers of the September St. Nicholas where the pelicans of Florida build their nests and breed.

In March, 1898 I visited this city of birds. As my boat approached I saw signs of life. Files of birds were returning from fishing expeditions; platoons were resting on the sandy points, some were in bathing, others were sailing about in broad circles high overhead; and soon one could hear the sound of many voices—a medley of strange cries in an unknown tongue.

It being quite impossible to count the birds, I determined to count their nests, of which my census showed there were no less than 845; but only 251 were occupied, although all had been built that spring.

The death rate is high in Pelicantown. Doubtless many young birds die through injuries received while trying to escape from tourists who visit the island and thoughtlessly chase the young birds about. Eggs and very young birds are destroyed in hundreds by fish crows that daily come over from the mainland on marauding expeditions. It is not probably, therefore, that in many families three pelicans live to leave the nest together; hence, we may reckon about one and a half pelican to each of the vacant nests. Add to these two parent pelicans to each nest, and we have 2,581 birds on the wing or on foot. But this number is to be increased by the number of 154 young that were still in the nests, making the total number of population of Pelicantown 2,735.

Lazy Pussy Cats.

"You lazy, lazy Pussy-cats! Ever since your breakfast
You haven't done a single thing but sit there in the sun!
I've had to learn my letters—four of them this morning:
D and E, and F and G—I know them every one.

"Do you know what will happen? You all will grow up stupid.
Snowflake. Whitey, Puffball!—remember what I say!
You won't be anything but cats, who cannot read a letter;
And when I take to writing books, you won't know what they say!"
—St. Nicholas.

SCORNS HIS MILLIONS

JAMES E. HOW LIVING THE CHRIST LIFE.

His Grandfather Was the Celebrated Engineer—He Has Taken Monkish Vows to Uplift His Fellow Men. How He Proposes to Do It.

When all the world is struggling, working and exerting every effort to get rich, a young man, owner in his own rights of an estate said to be worth a million, lays it aside to dress in homespun and take his place beside the lowliest of his fellow men. He is a well-bred, educated man, delicately nurtured, born to enjoy the best there is in life, and accustomed to it, a college athlete at Harvard, a leading football and baseball player also, a gymnast able to do stunts, to walk on his hands and to perform on a trapeze

[James Eads How.]

Later he was a student at Oxford. He is withall a man of brawn and sinew and strength of mind.

He arrived in New York City recently from the West, feeling that he had a great task before him and seeking the means to perform it. He announced to a friend that he wanted work. The friend, who finds work for hundreds of unfortunate men every year in the Bureau of Charities in Brooklyn, sought it for him also, just as he does for tramps who want to reform, for sailors who have outgrown their usefulness at sea and for the riffraff of humanity. There was almost nothing the rich man could not do; even a menial place, it was said, would be acceptable to him.

Imagine the Christ as the great Italian masters have painted Him and the reader will get an idea of the man. A great deal more might be said, for his personality, face and physical proportions carry an irresistible suggestion of the Saviour to almost everyone who meets him. He is a gaunt, spare man, with a long, slim face, long, slim arms and hands.

This interesting person's name is James Eads How. James B. Eads, the great engineer who built the Mississippi River bridges at St. Louis and also the jetties at its mouth, was his grandfather. Mr. How reveres the memory of his grandfather above that of all men. He emulates his grandfather's presistence, and like his grandfather he is determined to accomplish what he undertakes. It took nerve and grit to become foremost as a college athlete; it has taken more grit to renounce vast wealth and take monkish vows.

When Mr. How arose one day last week a warm breakfast awaited him on the table of a college chum who was his host. He did not eat it, not because he could not afford it, for it was free. He went instead to the Medical Mission in Fulton street, Brooklyn (walked over a mile to reach it), and there he bought a breakfast of pea soup, bread and coffee, which cost three cents. He is a strict vegetarian, and eats no meat. It took grit, an observer thought, to leave the beefsteak and savory coffee of his host and eat the pea soup in the Medical Mission on a hard bench and at a wooden table without any cloth. It would take grit, at least on the part of most men, but it seems to be no effort for Mr. How.

As he sat at the table an orthodox preacher accosted him. The preacher did not quite understand Mr. How, but it was apparent that he understood the preacher.

"What kind of Christian work are you engaged in?" asked the preacher.

"The hardest thing I have to do." Mr. How replied, "is to get away from the Christ and the Church, as commonly understood, so as to use what judgment I have myself."

Mr. How went back to his ideals to the beginning of the Christian era, and started on the plan of the early followers of Christ. He resolved to renounce the world and extinguish himself. He will not talk about himself, and he means to go through life with just as little as he can subsist on, doing all he can for other men The vanity of ministers eager for big salaries and preaching in superb churches he contrasted with the early apostles, and was not long in making up his mind which to follow, for he had already resolved to devote his life to Christian work. The early monks had subordinated themselves as the Christ did. Mr. How would not take Monkish vows except by resolve in his own mind, but having once resolved nothing should swerve him from his course. He began by extinguishing himself so far as he could by simplicity of attire, abstinence and frugal living.

A friend remembers when he arrived at Meadville, Penn., from Harvard, eight or nine years ago to attend the evangelical school. He had a banjo and a dress suit in his outfit. He was one of the fashionable young men and a favorite with the fair sex. When he left, the banjo, the dress suit and his social pleasures had been cast aside forever.

Mr. How has spent years in thought, the outcome of which and of the meetings was a plan to establish a new brotherhood among men, where it is, he thinks, sadly needed. It is the Brotherhood of Daily Life. One might think that, having done so much for it, Mr. How would take the highest office in the direction of its affairs, but not so. He would not put himself forward in any way. He would ont seem to put the Brotherhood forward, either, save in its teachings.

The plan of the Brotherhood is taken wholly from some of the orders in the Apostolic Church. The members were banded together to go where they were needed to do good, especially among the very poor. That they might not prove a burden to the people, it was felt that they should be able to support themselves by work of their own hands, while thus they would come in close touch with the common people. Mr. How explained that while organized charity was designed to give material aid, the Brotherhood of Daily Life was fundamental in its scope and designed to cure the evils of society by a radical regeneration. To promote social justice would be its aim. Social justice, he explained, meant that every person should find his proper sphere in life, and be dignified, not dishonored, in it. The millionaire's son should drive the dray, and the drayman's son, if fitted, should be elevated to the bench. Society should discover fitness, single out genius and treat each person according to his deserts. This, he explained, would be to give an equal opportunity to all youth and simply live out the Christian idea. Christ preached the coming of a kingdom. What he really wanted to establish, Mr. How said, was a brotherhood.

Mr. How began his propaganda work last spring. The first thing he did was to walk into the office of the Mayor of St. Louis, where the family is well known, and handed him a check for all that he possessed. He intended to follow the injunction of Christ to the rich young man, to sell all that he had and give it to the poor. He insisted that he had no right to his father's estate, because he had not earned it. He asked the Mayor to spend the money for the poor. The Mayor, however, ordered that an investigation be made as to his sanity. Mr. How is still trying to dispose of his inheritance, but friends have always persuaded him not to be too rash about it. He maintains stoutly that while his legal right remains, he still has no moral right to the money and refuses to touch it. His father, the late J. F. How, was President of the Wabash Railroad. The widow and another son look after the estate.

BRINGING IN THE SHEAVES.

A Graphic Description of Harvesting in the Great Wheat Fields.

"With the first touch of gold on the beards a feverish activity begins. The farmer gets his binder and reaper ready and arranges with his neighbor to trade off work. Daily the thrasher creeps nearer, now East, now West, but always farther North," writes John Northern Hilliard in the September Ladies' Home Journal. "At length the men in the family ride away in a wagon to help a neighbor, returning by night with the news that 'the machine many be here any time now.' The women are thrown into a flutter of excitement, and the next day, while the men are gone, the oven is filled with loaves, then with pies and cakes. The great kettle is hung on the crane in the yard and hams are boiled. All the buttermilk is saved to be sent to the men in the field, and root beer is brewed. The chickens are dressed and vegetables gathered in anticipat on of the harvest supper.

At last the thrasher, drawn by four horses, pulls to the field and other wagons follow, loaded with singing, shouting, laughing men and boys, most of them neighbors, who have come to help get supper and wait on the men. They come on to the house, bringing with them many dishes, knives and forks and table linen to help out the ordinary family outfit. Such laughing and joking and shouting and exchange of good news and bad news!

"In the windless September air the booming of the separator's cylinder rises above the steam voice of the traction engine. Six teams are in the field hauling the wheat to the machine, and the feeder, with easy, majestic movement, gathers the sheaves under his arms and feeds them into the insatiable maw. All the afternoon the golden straw climbs and falls over the smoky air, and the chaff flies in a blinding cloud; and the grain flows like a stream of sun-flecked water into the two-bushel measures, which are tipped into a wagon."

SWOLLEN STREAM

Between the Couple and Minister, But He Married Them.

With the minister standing on one side of a swollen creek near Perry, Ok., the contracting parties on the other, and the turbid waters roaring, charging and splashing between them, the words were spoken that made John S. Perry, and pretty Emma Moyer husband and wife.

Perry is a cowboy and noted for his daring feats of horsemanship. Emma Moyer is the daughter of a well-known cattleman. They have loved for years. The novel wedding was not an elopement, nor was it the result of an idea concocted for the sake of notoriety. It was simply the outcome of circumstances over which none of the parties had control. The rising of the creek and the unwillingness of the lovers to postpone the nuptials are alone responsible for this unique wedding, the most remarkable ever known in Oklahoma.

The minister who performed the ceremony was the Rev. J. Carlock, of Beaver County, Oklahoma. The wedding day had been set and Preacher Carlock invited to be present. The minister lived only across the creek from the Moyer home, but the big rain raised the creek so that he could not cross over. When the appointed hour for the wedding arrived Perry and his fiancee appeared at the creek bank and the minister performed the ceremony at the other side, more than 50 yeards away. Perry threw the license and the preacher's fee over the swollen stream tied to a small stone.—St. Louis Republic.

Said to be the Largest Madstone.

Bert Fisher, of Sandford, Ind., has the largest madstone, it is claimed, ever found. Fisher has had the madstone in his possession for over ten years, and during that time has applied it with success to over 700 bites. The stone was found at St. Augustine, Fla., about twenty years ago. In one case a lady was bitten on the ankle by a mad dog, and for eighteen months her foot was so swollen that she was unable to wear a shoe. The madstone was applied and adhered to the wound for ninety-two hours, when it dropped off. In a few days the young lady wore her shoe.

HOW A SHOT FEELS

REPORT OF SOLDIERS WHO WERE WOUNDED IN ACTION.

There Is a Tradition That Men Shall Not Have Feelings When Under Fire, But It is Natural—Wounded Men Explain Sensation.

A man in New York set out after the recent war to find soldiers who had been wounded in action. He wanted to ask them about their wounds, to know how they acted when hurt, and especially what was their first conscious thought—the psychological effect, in short.

The investigation was attended with certain difficulties. In the first place a surprisingly small percentage of the of the invading army had been wounded. Soldiers had suffered all sorts of other things, from sunstroke to yellow jack, but Spanish marksmanship seemed less and less to be feared as the search went on. Even after the investigator corralled some men who had been shot, he had trouble in making them tell about it—a whole lot of trouble, in fact. Many of them were like the old sergeant of regulars, whose tale was as follows: "I was shot in the leg, sorr. Oi tumbled down, sorr. I felt like hell, sorr." There is a tradition that men shall not have feelings when they are under fire. When they tell of their feelings at all it comes in the nature of a confession—something to be ashamed of. That is what drill and training are for as much as anything else—to create a habit that will be strong enough to resist naure. Consequently it was among the volunteers, who had not prepared themselves so thoroughly as the regulars for this kind of crisis, that most of the interesting mental phenomena occurred.

There was one member of the Seventy-first Regiment who was shot in the leg, and he said that the mental effect was intense chagrin. His people, he said, were of the "let the others go" variety of patriots. They did not forbid him to enlist, but the consensus of home opinion was against it. They took the ground that other lives, of less value either to their owners or society, would answer the purpose as well. He argued that he did not expect to lose either life or limb or health. Were the loss any of these certain he would not have enlisted, and he concluded that his chances were nearly as good as if he were to remain at home. Well, when he was shot down there in Cuba, the episode became part of discussion in a way that was sudden, complete, and not at all unnatural or grotesque. Swifter than the shot came the thought: "What will the folks say to me now? And how am I going to explain this?"

["I Forgot All About Myself."]

Another volunteer said that when he was shot he felt like standing up and telling the Spanish army that they had performed the feat of final detriment, not only to this country, but to the whole universe. The idea of his getting shot struck him as having been compared only by means of an incongruous relaxation of attention on the part of Providence. He could not reconcile it with preconceived ideas. He said that he stood up and spluttered in the direction from which the shot had come like a mad baby until somebody came along and pulled him over backwards and told him to shut up. During his subsequent illness and delirium the volunteer became possessed of a perfect imaginative picture of the man who shot him to the most minute change of expression and effect of dress. That Spanish soldier has as distinct a personality as he has himself, and even yet he seems more real and easier of identification than most people with whom the American has a waking acquaintance. The volunteer said that so far as he knew the Spaniard's face was not one which he had ever before seen or imagined. It was only after his convalescence that he was able to separate what actually happened from what occurred in his imagination, and he knows now that the Spaniard was a dream.

"My regiment had taken to the shrub jungle on nearing the front from Siboney," said another volunteer. "As I was crawling through the jungle, I found myself following a man who was much bigger than I, so much bigger than I, in fact, that if we were to stand in a row he would overlap me at all points. It was through no contrivance of mine that I was following this particular man. It just happened for the same reason that he was following somebody else, in a way men have, in common with sheep. All this time the Spanish bullets were drilling nasty little holes in the air and spattering through the leaves above our heads. I remember being particularly grateful for not being as big as the man ahead of me. It was but a step from this to taking advantage of the cover his size afforded. I remember arguing with myself that I was not doing anything mean or contemptible; that the big men stood no greater chances and that I stood fewer by the arrangement. I didn't feel as though I was cheating him out of anything; in short, although I was dead sure that if he turned and caught me dodging when he dodged and stopping when he stopped, there would be strife within our lines. All at once there was a little twinge in my arm. It had the numbing effect, without the pain, of being struck on the funny bone. Somehow I knew at once what it was, and my first thought was for my friend, the big man. He was walking serenely away, notwithstanding the fact that he must have had a bullet hole through the middle of his stomach. I forgot all about myself and waited almost breathlessly for him to stagger and fall. He kept right on until he drew out of sight, and when I realized that my bullet must have gone right through him without any effect at all my profound astonishment gave way to rage. I felt as though he had cheated me. I tried in vain to formulate some kind of remonstrance and hurl it at his retreating figure."

"Ever since the war," said another officer, "my memory has been developing details that were crowded for the time to the rear by my interest in the greater drama. Many of them, although small in themselves, illustrate the personal courage and devotion of the troops. There is one episode that in particular typifies the American soldier; I like to think so, at any rate. He was a private of regulars. When I first saw him he was already a dead man, if I ever saw one. He was on his feet, shambling along with that galvanic kind of energy that comes to men of great vitality when they are wounded beyond repair. His forehead was all puckered up, his mouth was set and his eyes were glazed and staring. He halted suddenly and shook all over. Just as he fell—even, as it seemed, in the very act of falling—he looked up and saw me. A very faint sign of recognition came into his eyes, and then he straightened with a jerk and saluted me as stolidly as though he was on parade. His arm was all torn and ragged, the wound from a shell probably, and the final effort sent the blood flying all over his face. There was nothing in the act of conscious dramatic effort. This well-drilled, well-disciplined, well-balanced private soldier of the United States army was merely saluting me, his superior officer, and the thing that stood for his flag. He was a flat, flagrant piece of mechanism, a thing to delight the professional instincts of any officer. I never knew his name or his record or his regiment, and I didn't want to know. I knew that he was a soldier, and it has been the means of constant inspiration to know that we have that kind to work with."

A STORY OF GRANT.

How He Raised the Standard of Beauty at Dead Letter Office.

Most stories and reminiscences of Gen. Grant are of the military or political sort. A little tale (and a pretty one) told by Assistant Attorney-General James N. Tyner, shows a new side of the great General's character.

"The President was passing through the department of dead letters," said Mr. Tyner, 'and jokingly commented on the unattractive appearance of the clerks, and quizzically inquired if I could not raise the standard of female beauty.

"Naturally I regarded the matter as a jest, and replied that I would be glad to do so, and was open to suggestions.

"'Why, employ one handsome woman, and perhaps she will leaven the whole loaf,' he answered, and when I assented he inquired seriously:

"'Would give a pretty girl an appointment if I sent her to you?'

"Of course I would," I replied, never dreaming, however, that he was in earnest.

"But the next day a lovely young girl came into my office with a note from President Grant, simply asking me to fulfill my promise, without referring, however, to its character. I questioned her closely and found her as innocent and unsophisticated as she was pretty. She was a Southerner and lived on a plantation all her life, but wanted a Government position, and, being backed by the President, I set her at work in the Dead-Letter Office.

"While Grant was on his trip around the world I spent a couple of months with him in Paris, and one evening as we sat talking of the past I asked him if he remembered this young lady.

"'Certainly I do, for I have good cause to remember her.'

"I intimated that I was satisfied there must be a story back of his appointment, and he was in one of his rare reminiscent moods he related the the following extraordinary experience:

"'It was just before the battle of the Wilderness that I mounted my horse and went for a ride. I was full of anxiety, and in my preoccupation went outside of our lines and found to my dismay that I was being chased.

"'My horse was a good one and I rode hard until I came to a little half-concealed cabin, where I dismounted and said to the man who came to the door:

"'"Are you a Confederate or a Union man?"

"'"I am a Confederate," he answered proudly.

"'"Well, sir I am Gen. Grant. Can you hide me for a little while, as I am being pursued?"

"'"How do you know that I won't betray you?" he inquired, curiously.

"'"Because I can trust your face," I replied, and without more ado he seized my horse by the bridle and we went into a deep ravine back of his home, where a moment later he left me, after bidding me to keep perfectly still.

"'It was a glorious moonlight night, and I could see every object distinctly. About 11 o'clock I heard the bushes crackle, and for a moment my heart leaped for fear as my host came cautiously up behind me.

"'"Have you betrayed me?" I inquired sharply.

"'"No, sir," he replied, almost harshly; the pursuing party has passed, the coast is clear and you can return to your army."

"'He put me on the right road, and as I jumped into the saddle I grasped his hand and tried to thank him. I told him that if I could serve him or his to let me know.

"'I never saw him again, but the day you spoke to me his daughter came to me with a letter from her father, who is very poor, reminding me of my promise. And this,' concluded Gen. Grant, 'was the sole reason I wanted to raise the standard of female beauty in the Dead-Letter Office.'"

ON THE GRIDIRON.

There were fourteen not four candidates out for practice for the Alis football team Saturday afternoon. The candidates will meet again this and Friday evenings.

Among the candidates for the 'varsity team of Yale university this season are Raymond A. McGee and Charles Dupee, of Washington Park. McGee will try for tackle or guard while Dupee will be a candidate for one of the places back of the line.

The candidates for the Alis football team turned out last evening on the Westervelt avenue practice grounds for practice. The grounds were lighted by electricity. It was the first evening practice and was very satisfactory. Captain Roy T. Phillips is very much pleased with the material at hand and believes that the Alis team will be stronger this year than ever. There are enough of the old players back to make a strong nucleus from which to work. The Alis boys have always been famed for their great team work. Phillips hopes to break in the new men and get them in shape to do as good work as the old players did. There are already fourteen strong candidates for the eleven places with the promise of a number of others. Practice will be continued tomorrow and Friday evenings.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The ladies' class at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium is progressing. A number of young women have taken a great interest in the proposed class in gymnastics, so that it is assured. It will start in a few weeks.

There is little prospect of the usual field day of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association this fall. It has been the custom for the association to hold a closed meet every fall at which the championship of the High School was decided. Most of the young men, prominent in athletics, have left now and the rest feel that there is not sufficient material in the school to make a field day successful.

Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood is arranging to resume activity in the Y M.C. A. gymnasium about Oct. 1st. There will be a formal opening and some kind of an entertainment. Leonard M. Smith, physical director of the Newark Y. M. C. A., has been invited to be present and bring with him his "model class" and give an exhibition of their work. It is probable that they will come. The date will be announced later.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Louis Bird, of the borough, wheeled to South Beach Monday by the way of Elizabethport and viewed Sampson's fleet at anchor in the bay.

Jack Townsend, of Cranford, has challenged Charles Embleton, of Westfield, to ride an unlimited pursuit race at the Vailsburg track or any other track agreeable to both on September 25. Both young men are known as speedy riders in this section, and they are anxious to get together. It is likely Embleton will accept the challenge, and that the race will be ridden at Vailsburg.

The Atlanta Wheelmen decided on Monday to hold their annual ten-mile club road race Saturday, October 7th, over the Elizabeth-Springfield course. Since 1888 the race has been held on the last Saturday in September, but the Dewey celebration made it necessary to change the day this year. The club will enter a bowling team in various tournaments for the coming season. Charles H. Bubb, the former president and chairman of the racing committee, who is now in the Adirondacks suffering from a pulmonary complaint, and who resigned, was elected a life member.

GOLF.

There were several changes made Saturday by the greens committee of the Park Golf Club in the list of club handicaps. As was expected, George C. Worth's handicap was reduced from the limit of 30. He was put at 20. The Townsend brothers also suffered. Morgan T. Townsend had his handicap reduced from 7 to 5 and William A. Townsend had his lowered from 16 to 12. It will make little difference with the latter as he has gone to college and will not be home again until Thanksgiving. The next to have his handicap reduced will be George T. Rogers as a result of his victory Saturday; Senator Charles A. Reed may also have his lowered. When a few of these high handicaps are reduced, the crack players with the low handicaps may be heard from again.

AT THE TRAPS.

The season of the Central New Jersey Trap Shooters League was completed Saturday afternoon with a team shoot on the grounds of the Columbia Gun Club, of South Amboy. The teams from the Brunswick and Reservoir Gun Clubs, both of New Brunswick, tied for high score and the former won on the shoot off. During the season the Brunswick Club has won five of the shoots and the Dunellen Gun Club three. The trophy therefore goes to the team from New Brunswick.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. MEASURED FOR SUITS

JERSEY CITY OFFICIALS IN PLAINFIELD YESTERDAY.

Superintendent Wentz and Other Officials Came In the "Star," and Saw Local Railroad Employes Measured.

The local employes of the Jersey Central Railroad received a visit from Division Superintendent W. W. Wentz and other officials from the Jersey City offices, yesterday. The visit was the result of the recent order providing that all employes shall be uniformed. Its object was to see that the proper employes were measured.

The party arrived shortly before noon on the superintendent's special engine, the "Star." The party consisted of W. W. Wentz, division superintendent, F. L. Morse, assistant division superintendent, C. P. Adams, superintendent of telegraphs, and two tailors. They went to the Hotel Kensington where an excellent dinner was served. The officials inspected the North Avenue station and its facilities and arrangements.

Baggagemaster Garretson and his assistant, J. Wagoner, wear uniforms already. They were measured for the new ones which will be different in design from the old ones. They will be more military in style, but with turn down collars. The baggagemaster will wear a double breasted frock coat and the assistant a single-breasted frock. Station Agent J. A. Haynes received the guests. He was also measured. His new uniform will have a double-breasted frock coat.

Hereafter the operators will be uniformed. Night Operator Benson, who is in charge during the absence of Chief Operator Charles Soermerhorn, was measured, and his chief will be measured on his return. The operators uniforms will be of military style with stand up collars and single-breasted frock coats.

PERTH AMBOY FIREMEN ACCEPT.

They Will Attend Borough Parade With a Band of Music.

There is reason to believe that the firemen of the borough will have a good many visiting firemen on the occasion of the annual parade and inspection on the 12th of October. The last company to respond to the invitations recently sent out is the Perth Amboy fire department, which will be represented by one of the hose companies of that department and also a band of music. This makes at least eight fire companies that are surely expected. The parade promises to be the best ever held by the borough department. It has not yet been decided whether the parade will be seen in this city, but it probably will. Through what streets the line will pass, however, has not yet been determined.

Police Asked to Find Hotel Clerk.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

PARTICULAR MENTION.

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way

Mrs. Horseley Barker is visiting friends in Brooklyn.

Miss Alice Simpson, of Paterson, is visiting relatives on East Third street.

Godwin Beard, of Hillside avenue, has returned from a visit at New Rochelle.

Mrs. A. A. Chandor and daughter, Miss Alys, of East Fifth street, went to Irvington, N. Y., today where they will visit relatives.

Rev. C. Schenck, Ph.D., Mrs. Schenck and children arrived home last evening from Ocean Grove, where they have been for about a week. Mr. Schenck's seven weeks' stay at Clifton Springs, N. Y., was very beneficial and he gained in weight and bodily strength, but at the present time he is suffering from the effects of a severe cold that affects his bronchial tubes, and he will necessarily be obliged to remain in doors for a time.

Instructors of the Y. M. C. A.

The following are the instructors in the educational classes of the Y. M. C. A. for the coming season: Stenography, George Weeks Sandford; assistant, Clarence B. Vail; German, Rev. George Hauser; Spanish, Jose A. Machado; mechanical course, Samuel Hollingsworth, Joseph F. T. Fuller, Irving F. Niles and A. Russell Bond; bookkeeping and commercial course, Max Moraller, Edwin H. Beekman and Clifford Braider.

Lost Their Infant Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Wyckoff, of LaGrande avenue, will have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in the loss they have sustained by the death of their infant daughter, Ruth, which occurred yesterday at the age of a trifle over one year. The funeral services will be held from the residence of the parents, 655 LaGrande avenue, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Sale of Compton Estate Property.

The two story dwelling on West Front street, belonging to the Compton estate, and which has been occupied by Mrs. C. C. Clark, was yesterday afternoon sold at partition sale by Charles A. Reed, Special Master in Chancery, for $2,697.50. It was purchased by George J. Tobin, of this city. The price is considered very cheap.

Claims Damages to His Wheel.

Peter Simmons, the bicycle rider, has brought suit in Justice Mosher's court against William Brown, another colored man, for damages alleged to his wheel. The action is in tort and was brought through Lawyer DeMeza. The papers are returnable on the 25th—next Monday.

Separate Towels for Children.

Two or more children should not be permitted to use the same towel. Each child should have a separate one, and be taught to regard it as personal property. Towels may be bought with initials woven in them, which makes it easy for the owner to distinguish his own. Diseases of the eye and skin diseases are easily communicated by the indiscriminate use of the same towel by different persons. If carefulness in this matter be inculcated in childhood it may save much suffering.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Suffering of the Ministry.

I am in receipt of letters constantly from ministers seeking charges, and the suffering and anxiety they disclose is appalling. It is a necessity born of elementary human sympathy that something be done. Only the most callous could refuse, and I am convinced that the ministry will act when they see that it is in their power to right the wrong.—A Congregational Minister in the Hartford Courant.

"Most successful man that—whenever he has a job on hand he always has it carried out!"

"Indeed, what is he?"

"An undertaker!"—Judy.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

PLAINFIELD BOTHERS G. O. P. ASPIRANTS

No Certainty As to Who City Delegates Will Support.

PLEDGES FOR HOUSTON.

RESULT OF COMPACT ENTERED INTO THREE YEARS AGO.

As Yet It's to Early to Say Just How the Combinations Will Form in the Convention, But There is a Vast Amount of Hustling on the Part of the Candidates Who are in to Win.

With such an assemblage of booms for the various plums to be awarded at the approaching Republican convention in Union county, it is not surprising if all sorts of strange combinations are made by the various candidates in their efforts to secure the coveted nominations. Just how the Plainfield delegation is going to unite with the rest is a question that is puzzling many.

As Elizabeth has a favored son after every position to be filled, it is evident that the county seat can't have them all suited. So a split in the Elizabeth delegation can be confidently expected. There's Robert Houston, whose support is in the "Port," who wants to be nominated for Sheriff. George Squier, of the city wards, is after the County Clerkship. Judge Cross has the united support of the county seat as long as he doesn't interfere with the others.

Squier is after the support of the Plainfield delegation and would ally himself with the friends of B. Frank Coriell, who is spoken of for the Shrievalty nomination. With an understanding with the townships, Squier's friends believe that the Squier-Coriell ticket would win. Some of the local politicians, it is said, have pledged their support to Squier.

But it must be remembered that many of the Plainfield delegation promised three years ago, when Kirk was nominated for sheriff, to give Houston their support as Kirk's successor if the "Port" delegation would back Kirk. Therefore, some of Plainfield's G.O.P. ites are pledged to back Houston.

Rumor has it that the friends of Houston have allied themselves with Clerk Howard to give the latter a renomination for the clerkship. But the "Port" and Plainfield have stood together of late and may join forces again with Houston for sheriff and Kirk for county clerk. However it is, there are pledges that must of necessity be broken, unless Plainfield sends a disunited band of delegates to the convention, which would effectually spoil all chances of anything coming this way. If Plainfield howls long enough unitedly there is a good chance of the rest of the county taking heed.

It is too soon as yet to tell how any of the booms are going to move. It's too early to pick the combinations with any degree of certainty. But it certainly offers a vast amount of conjecture in the various combinations that are possible.

ELECTION OFFICERS.

Men Who Will Handle the Ballots in North Plainfield.

The Somerset County Board of Elections has made the following appointments of election officers for the borough of North Plainfield:

DEM.	REP.
Chas. Emmons,	Asa D. Pope,
J. . Carney,	W. W. Bowley,
Louis R. Bird,	Edgar C. Schenck,
Charles A. Case.	Wm. F. McLaughlin.

The North Plainfield township appointments are as follows:

DEM.	REP.
George Mobus,	J. Worth Coddington.
George Demler, Jr.	R. W. Vall.

All these officers are the ones recommended by the respective political parties of the county.

Mrs. Denton Ready for Business.

The reception given today by Mrs. L. J. Denton at her handsome floral store in the Stillman block on West Front street, attracted the attention of many of the most representative ladies of the city. The features of the reception were the practical illustration of the methods employed by Mrs. Denton in her line. Mrs. Denton has made a new departure in the florist line, something that has not heretofore been attempted in Plainfield, which is the caring for plants during the winter months. Mrs. Denton has maintained a reputation in the florist business that is well merited. Her patrons are among the leading families of the city. The gathering of ladies today fully exemplified this statement.

A WESTFIELD GROOM.

Pretty Home Wedding Celebrated, in Which Miss Katherine Fitzpatrick Was the Happy Bride.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, September 21—The home of Mrs. Ellen Fitzpatrick at Picton was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening when her daughter, Miss Katherine Fitzpatrick, became the wife of George W. Baker, of Westfield. Rev. George A. Francis, pastor of the Westfield Baptist church, performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock.

Miss Florence Hauge and Miss Jennie Fitzpatrick, both of Newark, acted as flower girls. There was no bridemaid, Miss Lettia M. Cullen, an intimate friend of the bride, who was to have acted as such, having died last Friday.

After the wedding ceremony a supper was served and then the newly-married couple left on the late train for a wedding trip which will take in Philadelphia, Washington and Niagara Falls. They will return the first of October and occupy the house at 78 South Broad street, Westfield.

SOLD MANY CHICKENS.

MEYER'S BIG DEALS LED TO HIS SECOND ARREST.

Chicken Thief Said to Have Taken Over 1,500 Fowls During the Past Year—Now He Will Answer to the Grand Jury.

Fred Meyer, who is supposed to have been robbing the chicken coops in the neighborhood of Kingston and Franklin Park during the past few months, has been lodged in Somerst county jail at Somerville.

Meyer was first caught after a lively chase on the night of September 1st. John Suydam and Benjamin Moore, of Franklin Park, were driving along the road near Franklin Park when they heard a disturbance among the chickens at a nearby farmhouse. They saw a man run from the chichen-house across the fields to a place where a horse, attached to a wagon, was tied. The man jumped into the wagon with a number of chickens that he carried and started his horse on a run down the road. Suydam and Moore pursued him for several miles and finally came upon the fellow in New Brunswick, where he was about to dispose of his plunder.

Suydam entered a complaint against Meyer and he was arrested and committed to jail. His counsel, Alvah A Clark, began habeas corpus proceedings before Judge Bartine on the ground that the commitment was irregular and Meyer was released.

The people in the vicinity where Meyer lived knew that he raised very few chickens and it was arcertained that he had marketed over 1,500 live chickens in New Brunswick during the past pear. Mr. Suydam came to Somerville a day or two ago and swore out another warrant for Meyer's arrest, and he was committed a second time and held to await the action of the Grand Jury.

THAT LINDEN COCK FIGHT.

More About it is to be Heard In Justice Collin's Court in Westfield.

The trial of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals against the men accused of pulling off a cock fight at Linden last winter will come again before Justice of the Peace Collins, Wednesday morning, in Etta Hall, in Westfield. Former Judge Coddington, of this city, the attorney for the society, states that Vorice Spice, at whose home the fight is alleged to have taken place, confessed to him recently that the fight did take place and that all the men now awaiting trial were there. The fight, however, took place after midnight and therefore was on a day latter that the date charged in the bill of complaint.

A large begonia which was stolen from the piazza of Mrs. Wm. Dunavan, of East Second street, Sunday night, was returned yesterday morning. The plant was partially broken.

STATE TO SEND BOOKS TO RURAL SECTIONS.

The Traveling Library Idea Will Soon be Carried Out.

WOMEN URGED THE PLANS.

TWENTY LIBRARIES OF FIFTY BOCKS EACH TO BE STARTED.

To Secure One of These Libraries Some Responsible Person Will Have to Make Application for It and Agree to Act as Librarian—One Community May Have Use of Books for Six Months at a Time.

As soon as the members of the State Library Commission return from their summer outing they will be called together for the purpose of perfecting the plan for a traveling library within the State. The idea is not a new one, but it was not until Gov. Griggs suggested that an appropriation be made by the Legislature two years ago to defray the expense of making the experiment, that the people of New Jersey gave it a serious thought.

The Federation of Women's Clubs took a lively interest in the suggestion and induced the Legislature last winter to appropriate $500 for the purchase of books and paraphernalia necessary to the conduct of the library.

The purpose of the Commission is to send books of a miscellaneous character to small towns in various sections of the State where there are no circulating libraries or reading rooms, and give the residents the benefit of up-to-date literature without expense to them.

The appropriation will enable the Commission to purchase 20 libraries of 50 books each, and the cases in which they are to be kept. To secure one of these libaries, application must be made for it by some responsible person in the community into whose charge it will be given. The intention is to have the library located in the postoffice or a store, where it will be available to the people during the day.

The person into whose keeping the library is given, is to act as librarian. He will be required to keep a record of each book given out, so that it can be traced to the person borrowing it, at any time.

The holder of a book is to be allowed to keep it a week or more, after which time one cent a day must be paid for its use. This is the only charge made for the use of the books.

A community may have the use of the books six months, at the end of which time it must be returned to the State Librarian, to be put in repair if necessary, and sent to some other town.

The impression prevails in some quarters that the books to be circulated in the traveling library are those already included in the State library. This is not true. Books will be especially purchased for the traveling libraries and will be selected upon suggestions made by the Library Commission and by members of the committees which intend to avail themselves of the opportunity to get the benefit of the libraries.

State Librarian Buchanan says that no applications for the libraries have yet been made and he thinks it is because the people haven't a thorough understanding of what the proposition means to them.

It has been the result in other States where the scheme has been tried, that persons with means have donated libraries of the traveling kind that have been named in their honor and several members of the Woman's Federation of Clubs have expressed the opinion that this will be done in New Jersey when the plan has been perfected.

The Federation meets at Atlantic City within a few weeks. It is expected that there will be 1,500 women present, representing the wealth and culture of the State. They have asked that one of the libraries be placed on exhibition in the convention hall so that they may have a clear idea of what it looks like and how it is to be handled.

Photographs to be on Exhibit.

An important meeting of the Plainfield Camera Club will be held Monday evening to which all members are requested to be present. There will be on exhibition several albums belonging to the Postal Photographic Society.

IN SEARCH OF APPLES.

FOUR NEWARK LADS STRAYED AWAY FROM HOME.

Finally Landed in Plainfield Where Chief Grant Gave Them Lodging and Sent For Their Parents.

Four small boys, possessing very woebegone expressions, wandered into Front street yesterday afternoon. Health Inspector Addis found them and began to question them. Finding that the lads were lost, he turned them over to Chief Grant who discovered a home and parents for them this morning. The lads returned to Newark from where they had strayed after spending a night in jail.

An expedition composed of Emil Frederic, 13 years old, Larry Dorse, 10 years old, Otto Hemner, 13 years old, and George Ruff, 12 years old, started out from their homes on South Fifteenth street, near Irvington, in search of apples. After wandering far they caught a ride on a farmer's wagon which landed them in the mountains back of Plainfield. Another farmer directed them here and they arrived late in the afternoon hungry, footsore and weary.

Chief Grant gave them a night's lodging in the city jail, where they spent the evening hours watching the creeping and the crawling ones. He notified the Newark police who in turn notified the anxious parents of the missing lads.

This morning Mr. Frederic, Mrs. Dorse and an elder brother of Otto Hemner arrived and took charge of the lads. Frederic and Dorse have been playing "hookey" from school for several weeks. There was much weeping when the boys were greeted at the jail. They were then gathered together and taken home.

STILL GUARDS CROSSING

BUT TROLLEY COMPANY HAS MADE SATISFACTORY TERMS.

Lehigh Valley is to Build Crossings at Aldene and Picton, But the Trolley Company is in Favor of Them.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Roselle, Sept. 21—The engine still stands guard over the Lehigh Valley Railroad crossing at Aldene, although it is understood that the railroad company and the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company have reached an agreement. The street railway people are inclined to laugh at the recent efforts of the Lehigh to block the crossing. Their efforts, the trolley folks say, were entirely uncalled for, as Contractor L. W. Serrell was not in a position to put in the crossing even if the Lehigh Valley had made no effort to stop them. The necessary material has not yet arrived.

The agreement that was reached by the two corporations was that the Lehigh Valley Company should lay the crossing at First avenue, where the trolley line crosses the connecting link between the Lehigh Valley and the Jersey Central and another at Picton, where the road from Westfield to Rahway crosses the main line of the Valley road. The trolley company is to pay the cost of both crossings.

MONARCH PRINTING COMPANY.

Frank L. Jones, George J. Tobin and Frank H. Smith are the Incorporators.

The Monarch Printing Company filed articles of incorporation yesterday with the county clerk at Elizabeth, with a capital of $25,000. The new company will be located at 408 West Fifth street in this city. The incorporators are Frank L. Jones, George J. Tobin and Frank H. Smith. Mr. Jones has been the foreman for a number of years in the office of S. C. Baker & Son's.

The new company has purchased the printing plant of the Serrell Printing Company on Plainfield avenue. It proposes to do all kinds of printing and lithographing. Mr. Smith is a Councilman in the Fourth ward and for a number of years was a valued employe of the Potter Printing Press Co.

EVERYTHING TO LOOK NEAT.

Engine House and Fire Apparatus to be Slicked Up in the Borough.

The board of engineers of the North Plainfield Fire Department held a meeting at fire headquarters last evening and decided to make some needed repairs to the house of Warren Engine Company before the date of the firemen's parade, October 12. The interior of the house is to be painted and thoroughly renovated. The apparatus are also to be put in first-class condition. The firemen have recently had constructed a handsome and substantial wardrobe to be used for storing the new uniforms.

Next Sunday will be Rally Day at Grace M. E. Sunday-school. Every scholar is expected to attend.

"REV." J. A FOSTER MARRIES MRS COX.

The News Received in a Letter Written by the Couple.

THEY WILL GO TO WALES.

MRS COX, OR FOSTER, LEFT HER HUSBAND LABOR DAY.

In the Letter Cox Received Today the Woman Says That She Does Not Love Him and That She Never Wants to See Him Again—Cox Says That He Will Prosecute the Woman for Bigamy.

"Rev." James A. Foster, who came to this city several months ago and organized the Second Church of Christ, today sent word that yesterday he and Mrs. Andrew Cox, who left her husband Labor Day, were married in Brooklyn, and that tomorrow they would sail for Wales, where they would live in the future. Besides the letters sent by "Rev." Mr. Foster, the woman whom he alleges is his wife also wrote to her deserted husband confirming the marriage of herself and Foster. One of these letters was received by Cox himself and another by Mrs. Thompson, a neighbor who lived in adjoining apartments with the Coxes in the Rink building on Watchung avenue.

Early last summer Foster came here from Cranford and claimed to be a minister of the Gospel. He attended the temperance meetings at Reform Hall and there met Mrs. Cox, and the two ostensibly became very much interested in the work of Reform Hall. As a result of a split in the First Church of Christ, Foster undertook to organize the Second Church of Christ with a few of the disgruntled members of the First church. His principal aid in this work was Mrs. Cox. The meetings of the church were held in the home of the Coxes, and the husband of Mrs. Cox also became interested in the church, and finally Foster commenced to board with the Cox family.

A month ago Cox commenced to notice that his wife's affection for him seemed to be growing less, and Sunday night, September 3d, Mrs. Cox told her husband that she had learned from a secret source that her first husband, whose name was Ensign, was still living, whereas she thought he was dead when she married Cox in Trenton on Sept. 13, 1895. She said that the next day she was going to Brooklyn, her former home, to try and find out about the matter. She left home Labor Day ostensibly for that purpose, and Cox has not seen her since. When Mrs. Cox went away the "Rev." Mr. Foster accompanied her, but Tuesday he returned to Plainfield and while Cox was out of the house the alleged minister quietly disappeared with his trunk and belongings.

By this time Cox became suspicious that his wife had left home in order to be with the "Rev." Mr. Foster. A few days after that he received a letter from his wife stating that she had found that her first husband had been dead only eight months, and that a lawyer had told her that she and Cox were not legally married. She told Cox, in conclusion, that he might never expect her to return, as she had met another man that she loved better and intimated that it was the "Rev." Mr. Foster. Incidentally, she also stated that her grandmother, a Mrs. Davis, of Brooklyn, who had recently died had left her $1,000, so that he may never worry about her, as she would get along all right,

This morning Cox received a letter from his erstwhile wife confirming his fears—that she had become Mrs. Foster. She told him that all her love for him was gone, and that she never wanted to see him again. The letter was postmarked New Paultz, N. Y.

Cox is wild with excitement as a result of the letter from his wife, and says that he will immediately take steps to have her arrested for bigamy. He believes the story that the couple are going to Wales is merely a "blind" and that they have no intention of leaving the country. He met Mrs. Cox, now Mrs. Foster, in the meetings of the American Volunteers four years ago, and while accompanying another runaway couple to Trenton to be married they were wedded.

QUIET HOME WEDDING.

Miss Lottie Grace Voorhies Becomes the Wife of J. F. Green, of Buffalo.

A pretty home wedding took place at noon yesterday, at the residence of Mrs. J. D. Voorhies, of Oak Tree, when her daughter, Miss Lottie Grace Voorhies, was united to John Frederick Green, of Buffalo. The bride looked charming in her traveling dress of pearl gray cloth with white silk trimmings. She carried a bouquet of maiden hair pin and white asters tied with pearl satin ribbons.

The house decorations were of smylax, lavender and white asters. An arch under which the bridle couple stood was of the same. The Rev. Mr. Maison, of the First Presbyterian church, of Metchen, performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Green took the 3 o'clock train on a short bridal tour, and on their return will reside at Hotel Netherland, New York. Owing to a recent death, only the family and near friends of the bride and groom were present, including Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H Dorlon, Mrs. Spreg and Mrs. Huntington, of New York.

INSULT FOR JERSEYMEN

THE STATE NAVAL RESERVES BARRED OUT OF DEWEY PARADE.

The Old Portsmouth Was to be Used as a Stakeboat, But Plans Were Changed Owing to "Insane Jealousy," it is Said.

Members of the Battalion of the East, Naval Reserve of New Jersey which includes several Plainfield boys, were highly incensed yesterday over the receipt of a telegram by Commander Washington Irving from General Howard Carroll which read as follows:

"Owing to insane jealousy created by the selection of the Portsmouth as a stakeboat, the committee on plan and scope has decided to do without her."

This briefly told the story that the old war sloop, which had been originally selected as a stakeboat for the great Dewey naval parade, would not take part in the grand demonstration.

The members of the Reserve were up in arms, and said that the change in the plans was an insult, not only to the Naval Reserve, but to the entire State of New Jersey. The impression is current that the New Yorkers do not want Jerseymen to share in the honor of contributing to Dewey's welcome.

Plans had been made to tow the Portsmouth to her anchorage off Grant's tomb Saturday. Tickets are now being printed, which were to have been issued to the Governor and other official guests, asking them to view the parade from the decks of the Portsmouth, but all the plans will now be revoked.

It was thought that the Portsmouth would be a feature of the parade, inasmuch as she is in good trim, and represents one of the crack ships of the American Navy of fifty years ago.

A Pleasant, Profitable Evening.

Capt. Geo. D. Morrison led the prayer meeting in Trinity Reformed church last evening, and after a very helpful half-hour of prayer, Scripture exposition and singing, Mr. Morrison gave a brief, but very interesting account of a visit he and his daughter had made through the streets of Manila and into the hospital at that place, after the routing of the Filipinos by our troops and warships in February last. At the close of his remarks Capt. Morrison paid a glowing tribute to the stalwart western men in the U. S. army and comparing their gentle, compassionate disposition to the sneaky, treacherous Spanish soldier or Filipino. He attributed the great difference in the men to the fact that the average American soldier had during his boyhood been an attendant at Sunday-school, while the enemy had no such opportunity, as Sunday-schools were not in existence in those islands under Spanish rule.

Raising the Grade.

A gang of Contractor L. W. Serrell's men are now at work on Richmond street between the railroad bridge and South avenue, raising the grade of the tracks of the Plainfield Street Railway in compliance with the request of the street commissioner. The new grade will conform with the established city grade.

Gathering of Relatives.

There was a gathering of relatives and friends at the home of Patrolman James Saunders, of the Plainfield police force, last evening. Saunders lives on Berckman street. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

Received the Chief's Degree.

Seven candidates received the chief's degree at last evening's meeting of Paughcaughnaughsinque tribe of Red men. Short speeches were also made by Messrs. Westphal and Nash.

MURRAY PRIMARY SYSTEM ADOPTED.

Republican Committee Decided the Matter Last Night.

IT AFFORDS A SECRET VOTE.

FEW MINOR DETAILS OF OPERATION MAY BE CHANGED.

The Plan Originated by Mr. Murray Was Given a Trial Last Year—It Was Thought the Old Method Would be Returned to This Year, But the Committee is to Continue Murray System.

The introduction of the element of secrecy in the method of balloting at the local Republican primaries last year, according to the Roger F. Murray system, called forth considerable comment, favorable and adverse. It was said that the G. O. P. would return to the old method this year. The decision was left to a sub-committee of the city executive committee, composed of J. B. Dumont, chairman; Ernest R. Ackerman and W. R. Coddington.

A meeting of the sub-committee was held last evening when it was decided to continue the Murray system at the primaries preceeding the State election in November. Assemblyman Roger F. Murray, the originator of the secret ballot system used in last year's primaries, was present.

There may be a few minor changes in the details of the plan that experience has shown to be advisable but the general idea will be retained.

At the primaries preceeding the city election in December, the same method of balloting will be used. There will be a nominating primary, however. If there is only one list of candidates nominated, then no electing primary will be held but the one will stand as the decision of the ward where it is held without further action.

TRADED HORSES TOO OFTEN

Five-Year Sentence the End of Overland Honeymoon Trip of Young Fellow From Scranton.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 21—Fred C. Smith has been sentenced by Judge Bartine to five years in state prison for horse stealing. Smith, whose family is a respectable one in Scranton, Pa., hired a rig from a livery in that city, about a month ago, and, together with his wife, started for Newark. To keep himself in spending money he traded horses several times on the trip, receiving a little cash in each exchange.

At North Branch, this County, he went into a stable and took a fine gray pacing horse, turning his own loose along the highway. He was traced to Newark, and was trying to sell the rig when arrested. His wife has forsaken him. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

TO JOIN IN DEWEY PARADE.

The Third New Jersey Volunteers Will Turn Out in Force.

A meeting was held in Elizabeth Tuesday night of the volunteers who served in the Third New Jersey Regiment during the late war with Spain, and they decided to parade with the Manhattan regiment under Colonel John Jacob Astor in New York on Dewey Day, September 30th.

The men will wear a uniform consisting of campaign hat, service blouse and trousers with leggins, but they will carry no arms. A committee of seven to arrange the details was appointed at the meeting, the chairman of the committee being Captain T. F. McCarty, of former Company E of the Third.

Mr. Hall Goes Abroad.

Charles H. Hall, proprietor of Hall's Pharmacy, on Watchung avenue, sailed this morning on the Hamburg-American liner, Fuerst-Bismarck. He accompanied his sister, Miss Mary A. Hall, who is returning to her duties at the American College for Girls at Constantinople, as far as London, and will then return after a short stay in that English city. He expects to be absent three or four weeks. A registered pharmacist will run his place in his absence.

Looking for a Suitable Design.

The members of the Senior class of the Plainfield High School are now considering the question of a class pin A number of designs have been examined but nothing satisfactory has yet been found. The committee in charge of finding a suitable design, is composed of the Misses Ruth Maxson, Beatrice Miner, Helen Brown and Walter Squirers.

Six Months for a Wife Beater.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 21.—John Murphy, of Linden, who some weeks ago gave his wife a terrible beating, entered a plea of guilty in the Union County Court yesterday and was sentenced to six months in the County Jail.

GEN. OTIS MUST EXPLAIN.

The President Asks for a Full Report on Destruction of Catholic Property.

IT MUST BE PROTECTED

Cardinal Gibbons Makes a Personal Protest on Alleged Vandalism in the Philippines.

Urges that Immedate Steps Be Taken to Prevent a Repetition of Recent Occurrences—Hospital Corps and Nurses Will Not Sail for Manila on the Relief.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Cardinal Gibbons was in conference with the President over the alleged vandalism and desecration of Catholic Church property by American soldiers in the Philippines.

He reiterated the statements recently submitted to the President in the letter of the Rev. Dr. Maginnis, and urged that steps be taken to protect church property and prevent such acts in the future.

The President assurred the Cardinal that orders to protect church property of all denominations had been issued, and that a full report on this particular subject had been asked of General Otis.

Secretary Root was present during the interview.

Will Not Go on the Relief.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The Hospital Corps men and nurses assigned to the hospital ship Relief for transportation to Manila will not go on that vessel. The War Department received the report of the board of officers appointed to examine the Relief, and in accordance with the board's recommendations the Hospital Corps men and nurses will be sent to the Philippines on some other transport. The report was transmitted by Gen. Shafter, who indorses the findings. Secretary Root approved the report. The board consisted of Commander H. G. O. Colby, U. S. N., John Birmingham, supervising inspector of steam vessels; Robert Forsyth, chief engineer of the Union Iron Works; James Dickey, superintendent of the Union Iron Works, and Capt. John Barneson, marine superintendent in the army transport service.

The report says that the board, "although of the opinion that the ship is structurally strong enough to make the voyage, recommends that she be sent upon her proposed voyage with her officers and crew only; that the passengers (nurses and men of the Hospital Corps) be not taken in the ship, but sent to Manila by some other means; that sufficient of her cargo be removed and the space so gained be filled with additional coal; that the voyage be made via Honolulu and Guam to avoid possible rough weather, and that the ship be retained in the Philippines and not used for long ocean voyages or for voyages in the season when storms may be expected."

Crisisat Puerto Cabello.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The acting Secretary of the Navy has received a cipher despatch from Capt. Hemphill of the cruiser Detroit at Laguayra, Venezuela, concerning the situation in that country. Parts of the despatch could not be deciphered. It is as follows:

"About 4,000 men—insurgents—now principally in the vicinity of Valencia, recently occupied Puerto Cabello unopposed. Later evacuated position. The Venezuelan forces took possession. Principal American interests Red D Line. Red D Line's steamer leaves from Laguayra for Puerto Cabello. Fear possible injury in the event of fight. With the advice of American Charge d'Affairs I shall proceed at once to Puerto Cabello, Venezuela, to protect American interests. I have arranged to keep in communication with Minister."

To Photograph Army Officers.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—Secretary Root has sent out circulars requesting photographs of every commissioned officer of the army, to file with the efficiency records in the War Department. The photographs are to be all of one size, unmounted and to have the name of the officer, his rank and the date on which the photograph was taken inscribed on the back.

Another Typhoon at Manila.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The War Department has received the following despatch from Manila:

"Typhoon prevailing. Rainfall forty-eight hours, eight and two-tenth inches. Last twenty-four hours, six and three-tenths. Delay shipment of volunteers. Iowa's probably sail to-morrow; Tennesee's detained South by storm.

Big Sale of Mineral Land.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 21.—The Douglas Coal and Coke Company of Seahold, Del., has purchased 14,000 acres of the best mineral land in eastern Tennessee, near Dunlap, in the Cumberland mountains. The price paid was $50,000. The company is to develop the property. A railroad ten miles long is to be built from Whitenell to it.

Tried to End Her Life.

Chicago Junction, O., Sept. 21.—Addie, aged 17, daughter of Mayor Jump, of this city, emptied two loads of a 32-calibre revolver into her breast, and still lives. She stated to her parents that she was sorry she was unsuccessful in her attempt at suicide. Family interference with the daughter's love affairs is attributed as the cause.

Wants Big Damages for a Leg.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 21.—Ray E. Head has sued the Ohio Valley Telephone Company for $25,000 damages for the loss of a leg. He lives at Middletown, Ohio, and is manager of the Continental Tobacco plant there.

BILLION DOLLAR COMBINE.

Vanderbilts and Rockefellers in Big Railroad Deal.

New York, Sept. 21.—A billion-dollar combine is foreshadowed by the entry of William Rockefeller into the directory of the New York Central.

The union of Rockefeller and Vanderbilt transportation interests through out the country would result in the management of the principal railway systems of the country passing under the control of two families. A gigantic railroad trust would thus be formed which would eclipse in magnitute anything in the line of combination this country has yet seen.

The combined wealth of the Rockefeller brothers—John D., William and Frank—on a conservative estimation, reaches $500,000,000, and William K. Vanderbilt, the heirs of Cornelius and the other branches of the Vanderbilt house would easily bring the total capital of the combination up to the billion-dollar mark, and perhaps even to $1,500,000,000.

The Pensylvania Railroad's management is understood to be looking at the New Haven system with covetous eyes, but if Mr. Rockefeller's election as a director of the New York Central is correctly understood in railroad circles thert will not be any likelihood of the Pennsylvania securing control of the New Haven.

In the West the effect of Rockefeller control is likely to be felt in a pushing of Mr. Vanderbilt's scheme of a great trans-continental line.

Relic of Andree's Expedition.

Stockholm, Sept. 21.—The newspaper Aftonbladet has received a telegram stating that the Norwegian cutter Martha Larsask found an anchor buoy marked "Andree Polar Expedition," on Sept. 9 on the north coast of King Charles Land.

King Charles Land is approximately in latitude 79 degrees north, and is almost due north of North Cape the extremity of the Scandinavian Peninsula. It is a comparatively short distance to the eastward of Danes Island, Spitzbergen, from which place Professor Andree, with two companions, made his ascent on July 11, 1897, in his daring attempt to reach the North Pole by balloon.

Trolley Car Runs Into a Train.

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—A crowded car of the Fifth and Sixth street line crashed into a moving train of empty freight cars on the Reading Railroad at the Kensington avenue crossing, and the motorman of the car, James Remington, was removed to the Episcopal Hospital in a dying condition, he having been thrown under the wheels and crushed. Ther were fifty persons in the car, mostly women and girls on their way to work. No one was seriously injured, although a panic followed the collision. Many fainted from fright. Slippery rails are responsible for the accident.

Andrade May Escape.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Sept. 21.—It is reported here that President Andrade, of Venezuela, is preparing for flight from the capital, his yacht being held at La Guagra for that purpose.

The filibuster Josefita has arrived on the coast of Guria, communicated with the revolutionists and landed supplies. General Castro is in possession of Valencia and has been entertained at a banquet by the leading citizens.

End of Carter Case Next Week.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Wayne MacVeagh, counsel for Capt. Carter, called at the department of justice and arranged with the attorney general for a final hearing of the case on Wednesday next. So far as known no other counsel will be present at the hearing the judge advocate general having signified his willingness to submit the matter on his brief filed recently.

The Fatigued Wheelwoman.

Valley Stream, L. I., Sept. 21.—Physicians in attendance on Miss Jane Yatman, the bicyclist who made the recent record of 700 miles in 81 hours, had to arouse her from a deep sleep. Sht was made to take a brisk walk in spite of her protests, and intervals during the day this same course was resorted to.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 21.—The fluctuations in the market to-day were unusually wide, and the more speculative issues, like Brooklyn Rapid Transit, moved up and down rapidly without any other than technical market reasons being applicable to their tendency. The undertone of the market seemed to be somewhat firmer than it has been during the week, and after the initial dealings prices had a more definite tendency toward recovery. Trading was in comparatively light volume at the opening, but later became more animated. The London market was somewhat firmer, reflecting further diminution of uneasiness respecting the outcome of the South African situation, but foreign houses were not active in this market. Strong features were Lackawanna and the other Anthracite coal stocks, New York Central and American tobacco.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Spot closing quotations: Wheat 71⅝, corn 34¼, oats 22⅛, pork, 8.02, lard 5.30, ribs 5.17.

The Real Road to Success.

"There is no rival road to success; there can be none. Each man is an individual problem, and he can work himself out," writes Edward Bok in the September Ladies' Home Journal. "He must first know himself—in other words, find himself; then he will quickly discover what particular line of work is best adapted to his abilities. Determination and work after he has once made a choice of profession, trade or business, will soon develop the best that is in him."

Prizes of $250 for Photographs.

Amateur photographers have an easy chance to win some handsome prizes by taking advantage of a tempting offer announced in the September Ladies' Home Journal. That magazine wishes to use some pictures of rural churches and suburban club houses, and therefore offers twenty prizes, amounting to $250, for the best pictures submitted. The competition will be open until November 1.

To Be Depended Upon

Because it is the Experience of a Plainfield Citizen, and Can Readily be Investigated,

Suppose you were an utter stranger in a large city and had completely lost your way, whose guidance could you place the most confidence in, a stranger's, lost like yourself, or a resident's, born and bred in the city? When a ship reaches the offing of a strange port, whose hand directs the tiller and brings her safe to her moorings, a trusty pilot's or a greenhorn's? Whose opinions experience and statements can the reader depend upon the more, those published by bona fide Plainfield citizens or those originally drafted in every hole and corner of the Union, except our own Plainfield and its suburbs? Read this Plainfield case. Mr. Jos. VanArsdale, carpenter and contractor, living at 213 Spooner ave., says: "For several years I suffered from severe pain in my back, hips and loins, so bad at times that it was almost impossible for me to get around and attend to my work. Any stooping or heavy lifting aggravated it, and if I contracted the least cold it always settled in my back, at such times my suffering was something intense. When Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice I was in pretty bad shape and procuring them from L. W. Randolph's drug store, I took a few doses when I found they were helping me, and on completing the treatment I was quite free from pain. I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand so as to have a sure remedy close by if the trouble should ever return. I highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for aching and lameness in the back and consider them an honest kidney medicine and possessing all the merits claimed for them."

THEY ARE READY TO FIGHT

The Boers Expect Trouble and Will Not Hesitate to Take the Offensive.

TALK NOTHING BUT WAR

All Their Arrangements Complete and They May Begin Hostilities at Any Moment.

Their Artillery is Posted—Dismantling of Their Forts Said to Have Been Demanded by the Colonial Secretary—Martial Law is to be Proclaimed.

London, Sept. 21.—Great Britain's relations with the Transvaal, so far as surface indications here may be trusted, remain unchanged, and, so far as the former is concerned, the situation is not likely to take on a new phase until after Friday's Cabinet council. Whether the Boers will be content to wait even that long before ending the suspense with hostilities appears open to a great deal of doubt.

The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Pietermaritzburg, Natal, telegraphs that the military authorities have received warning from Johannesburg that the Boers have purchased considerable quantities of cyanide of potassium for the purpose of poisoning the streams in the Transvaal likely to be used by British troops.

Other special despatches give various details of preparations for war on both sides. Boer troops now control both the Beira and Newcastle railways as they enter Transvaal territory.

The British authorities are shipping troops daily from India to South Africa.

A special despatch from Pretoria says:—"The reports received here that Great Britain contemplates proposing a new convention, with disarmament, though discredited officially, have created the greatest indignation. The burghers say they would rather die than be thus reduced to the status of white Kaffirs. Members of the government declare that if this report be a real reflex of England's intentions, nothing will avert war."

From Cape Town comes a report that the government of the colony contemplates introducing a motion in the Cape House of Assembly urging the Transvaal to accept the demands of Great Britain.

According to a despatch from Rome, President Kruger has wired King Humbert invoking the intervention of Italy.

Are Prepared For War.

London, Sept. 21.—The Morning Post's Pietermaritzburg, Natal, correspondent sends the following despatch:

"Letters from Johannesburg and Pretoria say the Boers are determined on war. They consider that they can expect nothing else after the last Transvaal despatch and are prepared for the consequences. All their arrangements are complete, and they only await two days' rain for the beginning of hostilities. The Boers are congregating at Standerton with the express intention of seizing Majuba, Laing's Nek and Newcastle the moment an ultimatum arrives. Boer artillery is distributed along the Natal border and defenses have been prepared at the lead mines, thirty miles southeast of Jacobsdal, to resist the English in case the Mafeking column should follow Dr. Jameson's route."

A despatch to the Times from Johannesburg states that well-informed burghers are advising their Uitlander friends to leave immediately, as martial law will probably be proclaimed before the end of the week. When this is done the Government will insist that all persons not favoring the Boers shall leave the Transvaal within forty-eight hours. "A gentleman having access to the inner circles at Pretoria," confirms the story that a despatch has been received from Colonial Secretary Chamberlain ordering the dismantling of the Boer forts and the reduction of armaments.

Seventy-five per cent. of the leading Pretoria officers talk of nothing but war, which is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Dreyfus Leaves Nantes.

Paris, Sept. 21.—Captain Dreyfus has gone from Nantes to Carpentras, a city in the department of Vaucluse, to stay a week with relatives. From there he will go to Monaco. Before the Dreyfus court-martial the Prince of Monaco invited Dreyfus to visit him in case he should be acquitted. Count Boni Castellane challenged the Prince to a duel on account of this invitation. The Prince paid no attention to the challenge.

Large Dividend Declared.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 21.—The Crown Cotton Mills Company at Dalton, Ga., at the annual meeting of the stockholders declared a dividend of 93 per cent. 83 per cent. in stock and 10 per cent. in cash. That creates a new record in cotton mills dividends. The company will at once build another $100,000 cotton mill at Dalton. Last year the company declared a dividend of 43 per cent.

Discovered New Mountains.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 21.—The Russian Abyssinian expedition has discovered a new range of mountains between 8.30 and 6 north latitude, and 36.30 longitude. By permission of the czar the mountains have been named Nicholas II. range.

Wool and Bristle Warehouse Burned

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—The wool and bristle warehouse of Peter Woll & Son, at Hancock and Berks streets, was totally destroyed by fire. Andrew H. Manley, a fireman, was badly hurt by a section of the roof falling on him. The loss will reach $100,000.

1,200 Miners Out of Employment.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 21.—The Hillside Coal and Iron Company has shut down its two big mines at Forest City, throwing out of employment over 1,200 men.

SHIP JOINERS GO OUT.

Another Strike is on at Cramps' in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 21.—Another strike was begun at Cramps' shipbuilding yards when 150 shipbuilders laid down their tools.

These men had presented demands that nine hours constitute a day's work and the pay be 30 cents an hour, instead of a ten-hour day at 27½ cents per hour. They had given the Cramps a time limit in which to reply, and, no answer having been received by the joiners, the strike resulted. There are about 180 joiners employed at Cramp's but the movement affects only those who went out, the others being foremen or employed on machines.

The machinists and blacksmiths, who on September 1 struck for a nine-hour workday, are still out, and the Pattern Makers' Association of this city has served notice on the Cramps making a similar demand. A reply from the firm is expected soon.

Grand Army Will Not March.

New York, Sept. 21.—Since the decision was reached by the Dewey Land Parade Committee, of which Major-General Charles F. Roe is chairman, not to allow the Grand Army veterans to head the procession, efforts have been made by Commander in Chief Albert D. Shaw and Department Commander Joseph W. Kay, of the G. A. R. to bring about a change in the plan. The suggestion was made that the Grand Army be allowed to represent itself at the head of the column with a guard of honor for Admiral Dewey. The committee declined to alter its plans, and the Grand Army veterans, through the Commander in Chief refuse to march in the parade.

Fierce Battle With Bank Thief.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—In defending his bank faithfully against a stalwart young man whose object in the attack is supposed to have been robbery, Frederick J. Filbert, the aged cashier of the Palatine Bank of Palatine, Ill., twenty-six miles north of Chicago, was wounded severely. He was cut and bruised so badly about the head and body with a tack hammer that his recovery is doubtful. The young man says his name is Walter Lawton, but he is unknown in the village, and the name is believed to be assumed. Filbert shot the would-be robber, wounding him seriously.

Woman Battles With Leopard.

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—Locked in an iron cage, cut off from all help, Mlle. Morrelli fought for her life with an enraged leopard on the exhibition grounds. The little French woman conquered, but at fearful cost, as she now lies in the University Hospital with severe wounds in her left arm and breast. Fully fifty persons, powerless to aid the woman, witnessed the duel, and a great shout went up when she was victorious and had beaten the beast into submission.

Lutherans in Convention.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—The general council of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in North America will hold its twenty-seventh semi-annual convention in Chicago at the Wicker Park Lutheran Church on Thursday, Sept. 28 to Oct. 4. The council represents 400,000 communicants, 2,500 churches, 1,300 pastors, 4 theological seminaries and 10 colleges.

Killed By an Electric Shock.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 21.—While trying to turn on an ordinary electric light, Herman Nielson, of No. 830 Park avenue, was struck dead. It is believed that he caught the full current from the power house. His death probably was instantaneous, and only little is known of the exact cause of it.

Convention of Negro Waiters.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—The negro headwaiters' convention opened in the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church here. This is the first time that a convention of this character has been held. Its purpose is to improve waiting service among te negroes.

Big Concerns Incorporated.

Dover, Del., Sept. 21.—Certificates of incorporation have been filed with the Secretary of State by the Havana Cigar Manufacturing Company of Rhode Island, capital $1,000,000, and the Highland Home Investment Company of New York, capital $400,000.

Guns to Preserve Order.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 21.—The Mayor of Warrenton has telegraphed the Governor for 100 guns in order that the citizens may be armed when the colored military company visits there. White men are in jail for assaulting a colored woman, and trouble is feared.

Bohemians Change Customs.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—A plan by which it is sought to revolutionize the social customs of Bohemians in the United States has been put in practice among the 100,000 persons of that race in Chicago by the Bohemian Brotherhood of America.

Earthquake Kills Many.

Smyrna, Asia Minor, Sept. 21.—A disastrous earthquake occurred at Aidin, a town on the Mender, eighty-one miles southeast of this place. Hundreds of persons were killed in the valley of Menderez.

Major Allen's Request Granted.

Berlin, Sept. 21.—Major H. T. Allen, the United States military attache here, has received a cable message granting his request to join in the Philippine campaign.

Cherokee May Not Be Floated.

Pasque Island, Mass., Sept. 21.—The wreckers were unable to work on the stranded steamer Cherokee, owing to a southeasterly gale. If the storm continues it will be difficult to save her.

Ten Eyck Won at Halifax.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 21.—Ten Eyck, of Worcester, defeated Brennan in the scull race here. The event was a most exciting one from start to finish.

TEETH.

If you have any to be extracted remember you will not be hurt in the slightest. My local anesthetic is the best that can be obtained and is not known to the other dentists in this city. Gas strictly fresh administered by an expert if you want that. If you need artificial teeth you may rest assured that the greatest care will be exercised in selecting shape and color to harmonize with the face, also to restore the features to their natural expression and fullness. This is most important.

CORNER NORTH AND PARK AVENUES

A well-known Armenian gentleman, whose efforts in behalf of his countrymen have borne considerable fruit, writes as follows: "I had been suffering with indigestion for months. My food would distress me, and many sleepless nights would I pass with an overtaxed stomach. I did not have much faith in patent medicines, but I had heard so much about Ripans Tabules, that I thought I would give them a trial. I took one after each meal, and on the second day I already began to feel that they were helping me. Therefore I continued to take them faithfully till I used up a whole box. Not only did they entirely cure me of my indigestion, but my appetite has so improved, that it is causing much content and pleasure to the other members of my family. As for myself, I do not hesitate a moment to state here that Ripans Tabules are a wonderful remedy for such troubles of the stomach as I had, and now I am so attached to them, that I shall always have some at the house for the use of the family in case of need, and I take pleasure in recommending them to my friends, whenever I have the opportunity."

Ripans Tabules may be procured at any drug store. Five will be sent for the price, forty-eight cents, to any one who will send their address to the Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce street, New York City, or a single carton (Ten Tabules) will be sent for five cents.

ARE DISCUSSING TRUSTS.

Governors in Important Conference at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 21.—The Anti-Trust Conference of Governors was called to order in the Southern Hotel here, Governor Joseph D. Sayers of Texas in the chair. There were present the following Governors and Attorneys-General: Govs. Joseph D. Sayers, of Texas; Lon V. Stephens, of Missouri; Benton McMillin, of Tennessee; Hazen S. Pingree, of Michigan; Charles S. Taylor, of Colorado; Leslie M. Shaw, of Iowa, and Dan W. Jones, of Arkansas; Attorneys-General W. L. Taylor, Indiana; T. S. Smith, Texas; Jefferson Davis, Arkansas; C. B. Nolan, Montana; Edward Crow, Missouri; D. M. Campbell, Colorado, and Horace M. Orin, Michigan.

Gov. Tanner of Illinois will not attend, but it is hoped by the Government here that his Attorney-General will be on hand. The Governor of Kentucky will not be here and no word has been received from the chief executive of either of the Carolinas, Mississippi, Gorgia, Alabama or Louisiana. The Eastern States, so far as is known, will not be represented. Not a word has been heard from Massachusetts, where the people have the most stringent corporation laws. The Governors and Attorneys-General of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, the New England States, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin are not expected, and the delegates on the ground do not expect representation from the Dakotas, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Washington, Colorado, California, Oregon, Utah or Kansas.

Proceedings began with the same informality that had characterized all the preliminaries.

Japanese Steamship Lost.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 21.—A telegram from the governor of Shigo prefecture to the Japanese government, reported by the steamship Empress of India, says that on Sept. 4 the steamship Koun Maru foundered during a typhoon off Hanakawi in Biwa Lake. The vessel had fifty passengers on board, a majority being women and children. Twelve of these were drowned and two injured fatally, while eight of the crew also went down with the ship.

Her Course Attracts Attention.

Yokohama, Sept. 8, via Victoria, Sept. 21.—The course pursued by the Empress Dowager of China continues to attract attention. Her severe illness, reported at first as due to poison, was later interpreted as a political expedient to checkmate the schemes of the rival factions at court and to pave the way for the help of the Japanese government in the person of Marquis Ito, under whom needed reforms are to be made.

Snake Nearly Killed Him.

Milton, Pa., Sept. 21.—Aged Postmaster Isaac Wintermute is prostrated after a terrible battle with a huge blacksnake that had crawled into a mail bag at Mill Rift. He is eighty-one years old and the snake was six feet long and very heavy. It coiled about him and he fought several minutes, upsetting many barrels and boxes in his grocery store before he could free himself from its coils that almost strangled him.

Vice President Hobart at Paterson.

Paterson, N. J., Sept. 21.—Vice-President Hobart, who has arrived at his home from Long Branch, where he had spent the summer for his health, feels none the worse for the journey, except that he is somewhat fatigued. Mr. Hobart's secretary said that he would rest for a few days, and then attend to some private business affairs. The secretary could not say how long the Vice-President would remain in Paterson.

Killed By an Infuriated Cow.

Marietta, O., Sept. 21.—Farmer David Shilz started home with a strange cow tied to the rear of his express wagon. The cow became infuriated and charged on the vehicle, throwing out the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Shilz were both badly bruised and a seven-year-old boy who was riding with them had a hole crushed in the top of his head as large as a half dollar and he died as a result of the injury.

Won't Accept His Resignation.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, Sept. 21.—The resignation of Mayor Lisle was not accepted by the Lakeview Council, and, as he refuses to perform the official duties, Lakeview is without an executive head. The Mayor alleges gross abuse, no place to hold Court and adverse criticism. He refuses to act, and the Council refuses to accept his resignation.

New Cases of Yellow Fever.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Reports received by Surgeon General Wyman of the marine hospital service show forty new cases of yellow fever and three more death at Key West. Two new cases are reported at New Orleans. The weather in both cities is unfavorable to the spread of the disease.

Illinois Car Works Burned.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—The planing mill of the Illinois Car & Equipment Company at Hegewisch was completely destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $200,000, the greater part of which was on machinery.

Holding Wheat for Big Prices.

London, Sept. 21.—The corn market farmers of Yarmouth are holding their wheat, as they believe that war with the Transvaal is imminent. In such an event they anticipate a big advance in the price of wheat.

Banana Peel Causes Death.

Bucyrus, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Will Raymond, of Martel, slipped on a banana peeling and fell, striking his head on the pavement. His skull was fractured from top to base, and he cannot recover.

The License Law Passed.

Ardmore, I. T., Sept. 21.—The Chickasaw Legislature in session at Tishomingo has passed the bill raising the fee for the marriage licenses from $50 to $1,000.

TO HAVE A CLEAR COURSE

Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock Must Not be Interfered With in Yacht Race.

FEDERAL VESSELS TO ACT

The War, Navy and Treasury Departments Will Play a Part in the Much Talked of Event.

President Gives Orders to Prevent a Repetition of Valkyrie Affair When the Shamrock and Columbia Meet—Race Practically Under Federal Supervision.

New York, Sept. 21.—A despatch from Washington says:

Sir Thomas Lipton's cup challenger, the Shamrock, will have a fair field and no favor on race days, according to the plans of Secretary of War Root and Acting Secretary Allen, of the navy.

The course will be swept as clean as a whistle and Federal vessels acting under orders from the President will put a repetition of the deplorable Valkyrie affair beyond the pale of possibilities.

Secretary Root, Acting Secretary Allen and officers of the Treasury Department met and conferred about the best means of keeping New York harbor clear and standing off the great fleet of excursion boats that will fight for places as near as possible to the racers.

The order for this federal supervision of the cup races will be promulgated by President McKinley and enforced by all three departments represented in the conference.

The Valkyrie incident is still fresh in the minds of the yachtsmen, and they have been at work for weeks seeking to insure a clear waterway for this year's cup races.

Commodore J. Pierpont Morgan, of the New York Yacht Club, was the leader in the movement, and with that end in view spent some time in Washington three weeks ago. He was in conference with the naval authorities much of the time, and other prominent members of the club added their entreaties to his with gratifying results.

Many plans have been discussed, and it is believed it will be a difficult matter to handle the shipping that crowds New York Harbor. For this reason it was thought advisable to assign three departments, instead of one, to the task imposed by the President.

Sir Thomas Lipton himself aided the efforts of Commodore Morgan, as he desired plenty of room on the days of the races. While he has always believed that he would not suffer from crowding, he was pleased to learn that the government would come to his assistance and make a clear course, an absolutely sure condition.

The plans of the Navy Department will be matured in a few days, and orders will be issued governing the movements of private vessels and excursion boats on the days of the cup races.

Captain Robley D. Evans, of the navy, will have charge of the arrangements for policing the course in the races between the Columbia and the Shamrock. He will be fully empowered to exclude any vessel from the lines.

It is understood that the boats to be employed in this police work will be reinforced by as many of the torpedo boats as can be made ready.

Ethnological Finds in Maine.

Ellsworth, Me., Sept. 21.—Important finds have been made this summer by eminent ethnologists, who have been searching for Indian relics near Brooklin, on the coast of Maine. Prof. Cushing and Major Powell, of the National Museum at Washington, have been at work, and to that institution will go the important relics unearthed by them.

Arthur Sewall Sued.

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 21.—Arthur Sewall, of Maine, candidate for Vice-President in 1896, has been sued on his liability as stockholder of the defunct Davidson Investment Company, which failed for $116,000, by the receiver. Mr. Sewall owned $10,000 worth of stock, and under the Kansas law is liable for double that amount.

Merrick Will Not Be Pardoned.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The President has denied a pardon to John A. Merrick, formerly employed in the office of the clerk of the United States Circuit Court at Philadelphia, who was sentenced to two years' imprisonment for conspiracy to utter false certificates of citizenship under seal of the court.

Scheme for Pacific Cable.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 21.—Advices from Yokohama say that a bill is being prepared for the coming session of the Japanese Diet to grant a subsidy for a cable across the Pacific to Japan and the Philippines, the promise being made that rates are to be reduced to one-half those now being paid.

Ohio Man Held in London.

London, Sept. 21.—George Washington Thacher, of Dayton, O., has been remanded in the Bow Street Police Court on charges of obtaining money of his next of kin and perpetrating frauds on Scott Wilson, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Charles Ruehrwein, of Dayton, Ohio.

Collision Kills Four.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 21.—A northbound passenger train on the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad collided with a freight train fifteen miles southeast of this city. Four persons were killed and four others injured. All were trainmen.

Emperor William in Sweden.

Malmoe, Sweden, Sept. 21.—Emperor William has landed here safely. The Crown Prince of Sweden and a number of dignitaries received his majesty and the party proceeded to the Snogeholm estate, where the emperor will remain until Friday.

COMING EVENTS.

September 24—Rev. A. E. Crane will address the men's rally at the Y. M. C. A., at 4:15 p. m. There will be vocal and instrumental music.

Paul Kruger, president of the Republic, of South Africa, has a salary of $32,000 a year, with perquisites, and his savings and investments have brought his present fortune up to fully $25,000,000. Mrs. Kruger also has a fortune in her own right—yet she does her own cooking! It is whispered about among tourists in Pretoria that she even takes a hand in the washing and ironing "on a pinch," and it is an open secret that that she makes all the beds in the White House of the Boer Republic. In a moment of confidence she told an American woman recently that she did this because Oom Paul "needs an untroubled pillow and a sheet without a wrinkle," and she at the same time admitted frankly that the Kruger family expenses had never in any year exceeded the "coffee money" allowed them by the Government, about $2,000. Paul has not only got a good thing in the way of a country to rule over, but a wife that can't be beat. No wonder he declines to recognize British suzerainty.

The street department is being subjected to considerable criticism because the roadbed on Watchung avenue, between North avenue and Second street, is being torn up for the purpose of entirely rebuilding it. Many believe that this improvement will be paid for by the tax payers and therefore is not in accordance with a business-like and economical policy. That is where they are laboring under a misapprehension. When the Street Railway Company was given the right to extend their switch on Watchung avenue, it was agreed that the company should pay for the re-macadamizing of the street at that point. The work that is being done there, therefore, will be paid for by the Street Railway Company, and the critics of the street department miss their mark.

A census taken by the Board of Health of New York shows that there has been a decrease in the tenement-house population of more than 10,000 in the past year. The tenement-house population constitutes about three-fourths of the entire population of the metropolis, and the latter appears to have increased during the same time, though for it merely an estimate has been made, based on certain figures which may be misleading. The decrease in the tenement-house population is accounted for on the theory that many people have moved into the suburbs where they became occupants of separate houses, and hence ceased to be dwellers in tenements as defined by law.

HOW PRESIDENT DIAZ TRAVELS.

President Diaz of Mexico, though at the head of a republic and a very democratic man, travels in style when going on a journey of considerable extent. Should he visit Chicago at the time of laying the corner stone of the new federal building he will travel in the train de luxe. The drawing room car of this train and the president's room are reproduced in the cut.

Mayor Rockfellow's proclamation calling upon the citizens of Plainfield to decorate their homes and places of business in honor of the home coming of Dewey, will doubtless receive a ready response from the patriots hereabouts.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Matthew Suydam is the latest candidate for Senator in Somerset. He has the support of Clerk in Chancery Thompson, who has been credited with urging the nomination of ex-Sheriff Dilts. Mr. Suydam is widely known through the Third district as a patriotic Republican, a man of extensive agricultural and financial interests, and of the ability requisite for satisfactorily representing the people of Somerset in the Senate.—New York Press.

* * * * *

In Passaic and Plainfield movements are on foot to secure lower rates of fare between those cities and New York. In the case of the former city unjust discrimination is alleged, but there seems to be no such influence as an impelling cause for Plainfield's action. There it is proposed to secure united action on the part of all towns along the New Jersey Central Railroad looking toward a general reduction of passenger rates with the hope of attracting settlers.—Newark News.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

People who want to get a preliminary view of the warships to participate in the naval parade can be gratified by going down to Staten Island. There will be thirteen war ships, nine revenue cutters and five torpedo boats anchored off Staten Island next week, in double column, the smaller vessels taking the outer line.

* * * * *

The approach of Dewey Day is making itself manifest in this city. Some of the shop windows already display pictures of the Admiral and some of the stores have medals to sell. There is also a slight demand for flags and the National colors. Every citizen should make an effort to decorate on next week Friday and Saturday. Gov. Roosevelt has issued a proclamation declaring both Friday and Saturday, Sept. 29th and 30th, legal holidays in New York State.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" has lost none of its charms with the Plainfield public, as was evidenced last season when the Stetson company gave their performance. This great company will be at Music Hall again tomorrow and it is expected the house will be packed from pit to dome. Every detail of the story was vividly portrayed by an excellent aggregation of performers, and beside, there were many specialties, notably the cake walk, the singing by the male and female quartets, buck and wing dancing, and a plentiful supply of humor furnished by the two Topsies and the two Marks. Two performances will be given, one in the afternoon and the other at night. The afternoon performance will be given as full and complete as the night show, for the express accommodation of ladies and children and will take place at 3:15 o'clock, so as not to interfere with school hours. Prices will be 15c. for children and 25c. for adults. The usual street parade will be held at noon.

That ever gay and popular farcical comedy, "The Hustler," which comes to Music Hall Saturday night, has been aptly denominated as "not a play but an institution." This merry entertainment has long headed the list of comic performances now before the public. Measured by the number of laughs produced during a performance it has no equal. For people who go to the theatre for the sole purpose of laughing it is the first and foremost of entertainments. This season Manager Thomas H. Davis has equipped it with one of the most notable companies in the farce-comedy world. The play newly revised and reconstructed up-to-date gives the various members of this company ample opportunity for the exercise of their diverse talents. The newest and brightest specialties, novelties from both sides of the Atlantic, and the rarest of musical gems, are introduced in "The Hustler" and the whole performance is one that will perceptibly increase the good cheer of the community.

* * * * *

It must not be supposed that the constant references in the newspapers to "Kelly's Kids," which will be at Music Hall next week, refers to a brand of gloves or that it has any connection with young goats, not on your life. "Kelly's Kids" are the children of the prolific brain of that prince of humorists and caricaturists, R. F. Outcault, who has introduced them to a blaze world through the columns of the New York Sunday World, and they are the favorite of millions of readers. T. W. Dinkins has had a musical farce comedy made of the World stories and with a high-class company of selected artists will present the comedy as above.

DRINK GRAIN-O

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about ¼ as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 21.—John R. Case, a farmer living over Green Brook, had a narrow escape from being killed Tuesday evening. Mr. Case was driving into his barn, which is of the overshot style, with a large load of grass. It was about six o'clock and Mr. Case was in something of a hurry. In some manner one of his horses slipped and the entire load of hay, wagon and all, went over the high embankment. At first it was thought that Mr. Case was killed. Some of the inmates of the house ran to his assistance and with difficulty he was extricated from his perilous position. He was found to be injured quite seriously. Dr. Brakeley was sent for. The physician made a careful examination of Mr. Case's injuries but could not discover that any bones were broken. His right leg was badly sprained and the skin was lacerated in a shocking manner. Mr. Case was otherwise bruised and shaken up. Dr. Brakeley bandaged his injured limbs and made him as comfortable as possible before leaving. The hay wagon was not damaged to any extent. Mr. Case appears to be a victim of accidents. Some months ago he fell out of a cherry tree and was so badly injured that it was thought he would not live. Fortunately he has a rugged constitution and recovered from his injuries. It is not believed that the last accident will prove fatal.

The dance given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Warden Tuesday night proved an enjoyable affair. The young folks used the spacious barn for dancing, music being furnished by Muschard. There were about eighteen couples in attendance. The success of the undertaking must be awarded to the committee of arrangements, consisting of Masters William Dealaman, Fred Warden, Ernest Peters and the Misses Nellie Dodwell, Maud Wilcox, Edna Coriel. During the evening the young folks indulged in an old fashioned cake walk, the participants being Willie Dealaman and Herbert Wyckoff. The former won the cake, which was afterwards divided among the guests.

Some recent changes have been made in the borough by removals. David Runyon has moved into the house on the Smith property, on Prospect avenue, formerly occupied by Sandford Staples who has moved into the Lowery house on Front street. "Pony" Snell has moved from the old schoolhouse on Washington avenue to near Warrenville on the mountain.

Some of the boys about the borough gathered about the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Carman, who were married Tuesday evening, and gave them an old-fashioned serenade, which proved to be more noisy than it was entertaining. The groom, however, did the proper thing and the boys were all satisfied to quietly steal away after being treated to the cigars.

The Central Railroad officials have placed a night watchman at the Washington avenue crossing. Many of the citizens believe that all crossings should be protected at night. The only crossing at present which has a watchman at night is Prospect avenue.

John Muschard, who is nothing if not patriotic, is preparing to celebrate Dewey day by displaying outside his home a number of handsome photos of the beloved Admiral. He also will display pictures of the battleship Olympia.

Frank Fletcher, Jr., and son and Mrs. Robert Giddes, went by trolley to Somerville yesterday to attend the fair at that place.

Superintendent Morris is making preparations to appropriately observe Dewey Day next Friday afternoon.

Expressman George Huff yesterday moved Mrs. C. M. Boyer's household goods to New York city.

Mrs. Arthur Vail and son William, will spend a week at High Bridge visiting relatives.

Chronic Nasal Catarrh poisons every breath that is drawn into the lungs. There is procurable from any druggist the remedy for the cure of this trouble. A small quantity of Ely's Cream Balm placed into the nostrils spreads over an inflamed and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation, cleanses, heals and cures. A cold in the head vanishes immediately. Sold by druggists or will be mailed for 50 cents by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 21.—A teachers meeting will be held in the Baptist church tomorrow night immediately after the weekly prayer meeting. The meeting is called for the purpose of electing a new superintendent for the Sunday-school in place of George E. Hall, who has resigned the position on account of his intended removal from the place. Mr. Hall during his superintending has built the school up, so that today it ranks as one of the best in the county.

August Kiemser, who was unfortunate enough to have some molten metal fly into his eye while at work at Pond's Tool Work last week, is still unable to work and it will be some time before he will be able to use the injured optic again. Dr. Ard, of Plainfield is treating him.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hall and family, of Fanwood, intend giving up their residence in the borough, and will move to Plainfield. Mr. and Mrs. Hall during their residence here have made many warm friends who will regret their removal from among them.

An important meeting of the Citizens' League was held in the parlors of the Baptist church last evening. Business relating to the work of the league was transacted and plans adopted for future work, which for the present is secret.

John Patterson, who has been spending a few days with relatives in town, has returned to his home at Morris Plains.

Charles Bied, while at work at Scott's Press Works several days ago, slipped and badly sprained his ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ford have been entertaining Mrs. Ford's sister, Mrs. Mooan, of Brooklyn, for a few days.

Mrs. Edward Merrett and family, of Newark, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Johnston for a week.

The Township Committee meet in the township rooms Friday evening.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 21—The Republican voters of Westfield will, in accordance with a resolution adopted at the last primary, hold a meeting in Etta Hall Monday evening for the purpose of perfecting a permanent Republican organization. Frank S. Smith is the chairman of the committee appointed at the said primary and Charles D. Reese is the secretary.

The annual election of officers of the Social Club takes place next Tuesday evening when the members will be asked by the nominating committee, of which E. J. Whitehead is the chairman, to elect the following ticket: President, N. B. Arnold; vice-president, J. H. Hendrick; secretary, H. R. Forster; treasurer, Geo. B. Dickerson; members of governing board, W. E. Tuttle, Jr., J. Dix Ritchie and W. N. Hackett.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Der Empfang des Kaisers und des Königs von Sachsen anhier hat sich zu einer großartigen Ovation für den Kaiser, König Albert und das württembergische Königspaar gestaltet. Die Stadt prangte im Schmuck von Flaggen und Guirlanden. Der Andrang ist ungeheuer. Im Schloßhof fand Abends ein Zapfenstreich zu Ehren des Kaisers statt, bei welchem unter Leitung des Musikdirektors Prem wohl an die 1000 Mann, die Regimentskapellen des 13. Armeekorps, theilnahmen.

Backnang. Neulich Nachts stürzte die 17 Jahre alte Metzgerstochter Bertha Baumann in das Schlafzimmer ihrer Eltern mit dem Schreckensruf: „Hilfe! Ich bin gestochen!" Kaum hatte ihr Vater sie in seinen Armen aufgefangen, als sie todt zusammenbrach. Am Hals zeigte sich eine fünf Centimeter lange und anderthalb Centimeter breite Wunde; die Halsschlagader war ganz durchschnitten. Von dem Mörder hat man noch keine Spur, auch das Motiv des Mordes ist noch nicht aufgeklärt.

Bietigheim. Bei der gegenwärtig vorgenommenen Restaurirung der uralten Peterskirche wurde unter der Kalkdecke ein sieben Meter hohes und vier Meter breites Gemälde, das heilige Abendmahl darstellend, aufgefunden.

Gechingen. Die 48jährige Wittwe Brenner wurde auf freiem Felde vom Blitze erschlagen.

Horb. Anhier wurde Oberkirchenrath, Dekan und Stadtpfarrer Beyerle beerdigt. Beyerle hatte ein Alter von 80 Jahren erreicht und war hier 37 Jahre als Stadtpfarrer thätig.

Schwenningen. Bürgermeister Geiger ist wegen Fälschung zu 20 Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt worden.

Tübingen. Altmeister Goethe weilte vom 7. bis zum 16. September 1797 auf seiner Reise in die Schweiz auch in unserer Stadt. Sein Besuch galt seinem Verleger Cotta, der damals das heute dem Schneidermeister Hauff gehörige Haus bewohnte. Die Erinnerung an Goethes Aufenthalt in Tübingen wird durch eine Gedenktafel am Hauff'schen Hause festgehalten. Zum 150. Geburtstag des Dichters wurde die Tafel nun festlich bekränzt.

Urach. In einer Korrespondenz der „Frankfurter Zeitung" wurde unlängst behauptet, der seit 13 Jahren bestehende Harzklub sei mit 111 Zweigvereinen und 14,764 Mitgliedern der stärkste deutsche Touristenklub. Das trifft nicht zu. Nach einem Jahresbericht von 1898 weist der schwäbische Albverein 21,930 zahlende Mitglieder auf.

Karlsruhe. Auf der Gemarkung St. Märgen sind durch Blitzschlag zwei größere Bauernhöfe ein Raub der Flammen geworden. Der Besitzer des einen, Josef Saier, erhielt bei Bergung einer größeren Summe Papiergeldes derartige Brandwunden, daß er nach einigen Stunden verstarb.

Baden-Baden. Der große Blumenkorso, eine berühmte Glanznummer der Sport- und Festwoche von Baden-Baden, ist diesmal unter starker Betheiligung des Fremdenpublikums und bei prachtvoller Sommerwitterung vorzüglich verlaufen. Die Großherzogin von Baden, der Internationale Klub, die Stadt Baden und das städtische Kurkomite hatten für die schönsten und originellsten Wagen Ehrenpreise gestiftet.

Heidelberg. An der hiesigen Universität promovirte die frühere Lehrerin Fräulein Kipfmüller aus Nürnberg. Sie erlangte nach einem Studium von sechs Semestern den Doktortitel cum laude in Germanistik, Sanskrit und vergleichender Sprachwissenschaft.

Ottenhöfen. Straßburger Offiziere unternahmen einen Streifritt durch das Renchthal über den Knibeis, die Alexanderschanze und Seebach und kamen hierher, um im Gasthof „Zum Pflug" Nachtquartier zu nehmen. Während der Nacht aber verfiel einer von ihnen, wohl in Folge der Hitze und Strapazen, in Tobsucht, so daß er nach der Irrenanstalt Illenau gebracht werden mußte.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Ueber eine große Anzahl elsässischer Orte gingen schwere Hagelwetter nieder. In Hüttenheim, Kogenheim, Sermersheim und Herzfeld wurde der größte Theil der Tabakernte vernichtet. In Pisdorf litten die Rebengelände und der Hafer, in Weißenburg und Umgegend die Hopfen- und Pferdezahnmaisanlagen großen Schaden.

Mülhausen. Die Ermordung der beiden französischen Offiziere durch ihre Landsleute in Afrika hat im Elsaß viel Aufsehen und Theilnahme erregt, um so mehr, als der Oberstlieutenant Klobb ein Elsässer war. Er war 1857 zu Mülhausen, wo sein Vater Notar war, geboren und trat 1876 in die Ecole Polytechnique ein. Zahlreiche Verwandte von ihm leben noch im Elsaß.

GOSSIP OF THE WHEEL

Properly Understood Bicycling is an Inexpensive Pastime.

It is said by some people that bicycling is an expensive pastime and that it is no cheaper as a means of transportation than street or steam cars. These people claim that repairs count anywhere near one cent a mile. As a matter of fact bicycling can be made a very expensive pastime or a very economical one. If the rider chooses he can spend as much money on a machine as on boating, golf and other sports—by keeping up to date in the matter of new devices and joining clubs. Veteran cyclists, however, say that it is easy to get out of bicycling the greatest possible amount of pleasure with a small expenditure. With a first-class wheel and a reasonable and intelligent use of it, the expenditure and repairs, apart from the tires, will be practically small. One may ride a machine year after year and the cost per annum should not be more than a dollar or two, and if a rider is experienced enough to attend to adjusting, and to look over the machine carefully before and after a ride, he may get through the year without any expenditure at all. As to the durability of tires there is a great deal of guess work. Sometimes tires will last three years, but if a rider is unfortunate in the way of punctures they may have to be replaced more frequently. A rider can repair his own tires, for the use of the tire repair kits now being sold can be speedily acquired.

A Chicago man, J. A. Carlisle, is working on some new tires that he believes will attract attention. In each case the principle is almost similar, although its application differs. In one of the tires air pockets are arranged on either side; in another three small inner tubes are arranged within the tire, each one independent of the other. A puncture in one does not affect the other. The idea is to prevent the total collapse of the tire in case of a puncture.

A swiveled lamp reflector is one of the latest devices seen on a machine. The device provides for cords running from the handlebar grips to the side of the reflector. By this means a flash of light can be thrown in any direction. The reflector can be moved by lifting it vertically.

Charles W. Miller, the long-distance champion of the world, has signified his intention of giving up the work which has made him famous, and in future will confine himself to middle-distance events. He has been working over the Manhattan Beach track for some time, and his trials for the 100-mile race have convinced him that he will have a fine chance at this kind of racing. Miller says that he is somewhat tired of the strain in the long-distance events, and, while he denies that he has been hurt in any way by those in which he has taken part, it is probable that he begins to realize that the terrible strain has told on him, and is trying to get into lighter work on this account. Miller expects to make a trip of Europe next year to ride against all the cracks over there in the middle-distance events.

Zimmerman has given up racing, and he acted wisely. He is not in the class with the flyers of the day. As far as he went Zimmerman has done very little to indicate that he compares favorably with the present day champions, his best race being against Bald, in which the latter beat him out in the sprint at the finish of a very slow race. The whole matter is still being discussed, as those who take one side contend that Zimmerman has gone back, and those who take the other contend with equal vehemence that he never was in the same class with Bald, Cooper Taylor McFarland and the other fast racers of this season.

A new law adopted by the Connecticut Legislature requires all dealers in second-hand bicycles to take out a license and keep a book of record, explaining of whom and when the bicycle was purchased and fully describing the wheel. The law does not apply to those who take second-hand wheels in trade, but these dealers must keep a book giving a description of such bicycles. The penalty for non-compliance with the law is a fine and three months' imprisonment. The intention of the law is to keep a lookout for stolen bicycles and to identify any one dealing in them.

In order to determine exactly how fast riders are traveling in the parks of Rochester the commissioners there have caused posts to be be erected at intervals of 253 feet along the driveways. An officer looking at his watch as a cyclist passes one of these posts and noting how long it takes the rider to reach the next flag, can tell exactly at what rate he is riding by referring to a table the commissioners have furnished. The speed limit in the park is eight miles an hour. To ride at this rate means a mile in seven minutes and thirty seconds, and it should take a cyclist just thirty seconds to pass over the 352 feet. In NewYork an idea can be gained of the speed by taking the time required to pass one of the blocks between the numbered streets. These are about 250 feet long. Multiplying the time for the block by twenty one will give a rough figure for the time per mile.

Base Ball Notes.

The proposed sprint race between Callahan, of the Chicagos, and "Win" Mercer, of the Washingtons, is off for the present. Callahan is suffering with a lame back.

It is probable that all the California talent playing in the East will organize into a team to play exhibition games en route to the Pacific at the close of the season. Donlin, of the St. Louis team, is father of the scheme.

POOR PRUDENCIA.

How the War Has Saddened the Heart of One Little Filipino Girl.

A Story Of Real Life In Manila. By Eliza Archard Conner.

POOR PRUDENCIA.
[From a photograph.]

You will thank the Lord you live in free America when you read the following story of a girl in Manila. It is quite true.

In the Philippine Islands persons of mixed foreign and Malay blood are called mestizos; feminine, mestiza. Sometimes these mestizos display thrift and good management, like white people, particularly if a proportion of the race mixture is Chinese. Such persons often become wealthy or inherit fortunes from their ancestors, and the richer they are the more they imitate the Spanish style of living, laziness and all.

One of the cardinal tenets of the Spanish social fabric is that a girl is to be watched and tended precisely as if she were a baby or perhaps a criminal or an idiot. She must not take a walk, must not work or get much education, must not be driven out in a carriage by the coachman, unless somebody is with her to prevent the total depravity of her nature from asserting itself. She is not allowed to know anything of the world till after she is married, and not even then unless she is a woman of unusual brains and independence and takes the bit in her own teeth.

The logical result is that the most absolutely useless human being on this planet is the average Spanish woman in Manila, whether maid, wife or widow.

Now let us go on with my story. Prudencia's father and mother were rich mestizos. They reared the girl in pinchbeck imitation of the Spanish style, showing thereby the silliness and vanity of human nature, since no Spaniard of high social standing would have associated with them any more than with his own valet or stableman.

The Americans came to Manila, changing the whole face of things. The Filipino insurrection flamed up in a night. Our soldiers fired native houses and cut up plantations for miles around Manila to drive out the rebels and protect the city.

Among those whose possessions went up in smoke were the parents of Prudencia. In one day their chocolate and cocoanut groves, banana gardens and ricefields were leveled to the ground, and of their home only the brick steps were left.

Homeless, ruined, not knowing whence their next week's living would come, they sped into Manila, the city where the American government feeds the wives and children of the insurrectos who are fighting against it. The father and mother consulted an American lawyer to ascertain whether they could recover damages for the loss of their property, seeing that they themselves had not been its enemies.

Oh, yes, they could, the attorney told them. The great and good United States government always paid for property necessarily destroyed in the war when it belonged to persons not in rebellion. But it would require time to recover what was due them.

The attorney showed himself kindly and interested in their welfare, so that one morning they made bold to consult him on a matter that vitally concerned them. How were they going to live while the lawyer was recovering their possession?

That was more than even he could tell them. Had they no way of earning money to tide over the waiting? he asked. No; there was no way, there was nothing. At least there was one thing, but it was not thought of, not for a moment.

"What is that?" asked the attorney.

"There has been offered to our daughter," answered the father, "a place as teacher in one of the municipal schools. It is a primary school, to teach young children, and our Prudencia could do this well."

"Oh, then," said the attorney, "you are provided for already."

"But, no," answered the father; "it cannot be. The little school is in Ermita. We live in the walled city, a mile and a half away. We are too poor to keep a carriage in which to send our daughter back and forth four times a day."

"But there's the street car quite convenient," said the American.

"But the senor does not understand. Her mother cannot accompany our daughter always in the tram car or go after her every noon and evening. We are too poor to hire a nurse or woman servant to do so. It would eat up all the earnings."

"But surely the senorita knows the way to her schoolhouse and can sit in the street car till she arrives at her schoolhouse."

"Oh, no, no, senor! She could never go alone. It cannot be," was the horrified answer.

It is true that Prudencia's Tagalo cousins and aunts and friends, young women with quite as much Spanish blood in their veins as she had and quite as pretty and intelligent, rode in the street car every day, and they rode bareheaded and barefooted at that, and smoked cigarettes or chewed a nasty blood red betel nut on the way, quite able to take care of themselves in every respect, just as Prudencia would have been had not fate cursed her mother and father with a little money, thus enabling them to make of their daughter a cheap and monkeylike imitation of a Spanish woman. Even cigarettes and all their healthful, active life were better than hers.

The legal gentleman smiled. "Wait till the Americans have been here a year longer, and you'll let your daughter go alone anywhere she likes in the street car. You will find it will be not only safe, but entirely proper," he said.

But they only shook their heads in stupid unbelief.

The kindly attorney made another suggestion: "Rents are cheap in Ermita. Why don't you take a small house and have the whole family go and live there, somewhere near your daughter's school?"

"Even then our Prudencia would have to walk several blocks and alone four times a day," said her mother. "We could not let her do that, not ever. It is out of propriety. No, senor, alas, no! This means of living is cut off from us. We must starve or beg unless the good God helps us."

You will say that people like that ought to starve. I say so, too, the sooner the better, that they may the more speedily get off the earth and be preparing for another incarnation in which they will have more sense.

WORLD OF SPORTS

NOTES AND NEWS OF CRICKET, AQUATICS AND CYCLING.

An Interesting Performance—Coming Athletic Contests—A Fine Athlete—A New Element in Bicycle Racing—Speed of the Motor Machines.

Even in New York City, which does not lay claim to be in any sense of the word a "cricket" town—though undoubtedly there are several first-class teams here—one occasionally hears of some rather interesting performances in the game. For instance, in a recent match between Paterson and Brooklyn, J. Pedlow took four wickets for five successive balls; in a game between Manhattan and Brooklyn, H. Carrington of the former team took six wickets for no runs; while in a more recent game between New York and Kings County, Alex Richardson performed the "hat buck" by straight successive balls.

It is now assured that for nine years at least Yale and Harvard will meet each spring in athletic contests for the new five-hundred-dollar cup which has been offered by Walter Camp, Harry Brooks, George Morrison, and Everet Wendell. The first dual meet is scheduled for May next at Cambridge, and the events are set down as follows: 100-yard dash, 120-yard hurdle race, 440-yard run, 880-yard run, 220-yard hurdle race, and 220-yard flat race. Judging from the Yale-Harvard showing at London, Harvard should certainly win the first meet, as she seems to have her athletes well in hand, but there is no knowing what may develop for Yale between now and next spring. If, for instance, the New Haven institution should again secure the services of "Mike" Murphy, now trainer at the University of Pennsylvania, it is thought that some of her athletes would develop surprisingly. Then, too, if "Bob" Cook is secured as rowing coach and all the training tables are put together, there will be such an incentive to development that the Yale men may very soon regain their lost ground.

Cornell, always good in aquatic sports, and continually developing in other lines, now purposes, if it be possible, to show the "big" colleges that she can do something worth doing in track events. To that end the Ithacan institution has secured the services of John A. Moakley of Boston, as a trainer in all branches of athletics, except rowing, and he will assume his duties on Sept. 1. Moakley's record, of course, is well known. At one time he was the National cross-country champion, and he trained and captained the team of the New York Athletic Club which won the five-mile cross-country championship in record time. He also brought out Tom Burke, the champion half-mile runner; and last year, as trainer at the University of Wisconsin, he developed some good men there.

The pacing of bicycle racers by motorcycles may not improbably develop special motor machines constructed solely for this purpose and built with an eye to the greatest possible speed combined with an adequate degree of durability. Indeed, motorcyclists say that in all likelihood bicycle meets in the near future will have not only motor-paced races, but also races between motor machines, constructed much after the model used by Henri Fournier. It is said that even now several such machines are being built, to be run by gasoline, and with a gurnteed speed of a mile in 1:10. Later, single wheel motor machines, it is predicted, may also be seen as racers.

A Champion Bantam.

Kid McFadden is the champion bantam of the Pacific Coast. McFadden was born in Philadelphia October 21, 1879, and although 20 years of age now, has had fifty battles, and has come out either victorious or on even terms in every one of them. He has beaten Joe Foley, Billy Lodge, Billy Otto, Harry McLaughlin and Young Fitzsimmons and drawn with several others, but has not suffered a single defeat. There is talk of a match between him and Casper Leon, or some of the crack St. Louis locals like Kid Foutz or Frankie Noel.

Gear Question for Cyclists.

Among cyclists who have been riding for one or more seasons it is at present probably less a question what wheel they will ride next year than it is what gear they will select. In considering the matter riders, even those of experience and judgment, get confused. All speed is at the expense of power. There are thousands of riders who could well afford to paste this in their riding caps. If a rider travels ten miles in one hour with a 70 gear he will put forth a given amount of power. If he has an 80 gear and covers ten miles an hour it may be easier on his muscles, but he has expended precisely the same amount of power.

FOUNDED BY LOYOLA.

THE SOCIETY OF JESUS AND ITS RIGID DISCIPLINE.

What a Member of This Strict Order Must Undergo to Become a Professed Jesuit—Years of Hard Toil and "Obedience, Always Obedience."

There are hundreds of orders, societies, congregations and confraternities in the Catholic church, and of them all the Society of Jesus is the sternest in discipline. It is also the most difficult to enter and the most difficult to leave. When Loyola founded the Society of Jesus in 1534, he incorporated into its rules much of the spirit of the camp of his time, for Loyola was a soldier as well as a priest, and then he dedicated his society to the pope as a bodyguard. Loyola's next step was to make such regulations as would build up and perpetuate an efficient, machinelike body of men worthy of personal allegiance to the Roman pontiff. He wanted men of the highest endowments and sincerest purpose to join his order. To this end he instituted the "rules of probation."

These rules, which are still enforced to the letter, prescribe for the candidate a harsh novitiate of two years. This time is spent in performing the most exacting labor. The novice is set to work in the kitchen or the forest with the end always in view to make him humbly obedient in everything.

At the end of two years, if the novice be deemed worthy, the simple perpetual vows of poverty, chastity and obedience are administered to him. These he is powerless to break without committing a grave sin. After these vows are made the novice is sent into the world for 15 years. The young priest is ordered to study, to lecture, to teach, to take charge of a parish or to do any of the hundred and one tasks which his order performs. His particular talents are encouraged. He is urged to develop himself in such a manner that he may do the widest good for his society and his church. He is moved from place to place like a chessman, and before him always is the word of Loyola, "Obedience, always obedience."

During this service in the world he writes S. J. after his name, denoting that he is a member of the Society of Jesus, but his associates know that he is as yet only a helper. He is not a professed Jesuit.

The professed Jesuits are the head and front of the order. Entrance to their ranks is not only a matter of years, but of remarkable achievement and ability. A priest in the order may be a helper all his life. He cannot be professed in less than 17 years. This time of probation is often lengthened to 25 and 30 years, and in some instances a helper has not been allowed to become professed even after spending half a century in the order.

He must pass the third probation. This is a severe trial of one year and in this country is made at Frederick, Md.

The priest who for 17 years or more has met with great success in his field of work in the world is called from his triumphs to wash dishes or to hoe corn. He is placed in the position he was in when he began. "Loyola's masterpiece," as this third probation is called, wipes away the preceding years.

Again the priest works as he did when a boy. Into this year are crowded the most severe trials, and the failures in it exceed the successes. If the superiors tell the priest he has failed, he goes back to the labor from which the third probation called him, and he prepares for another test later.

If he succeeds, he has reached the pinnacle of a Jesuit's ambition. He is "professed." This means he is received into the highest ranks of the order. The most solemn vows are laid upon him, and for the first time during his connection with the order his vows bind the order as well as himself. In his earlier vows he made all the positive promises. The order passively admitted him and could at any time dismiss him. But now that he is "professed" the order is bound to provide for him for life. Not only is the order bound, but the church itself assumes a liability as surety. If he goes away to the ends of the earth, the order will follow him to see that he is well cared for, for he is one of their elect forever.

In return for this assurance of permanence the professed Jesuit promises to remain true to the order. This promise can be nullified only by the pope.

In the case of Father Lambert of Chicago, who recently retired from the order, the statement made that the pope absolved him from his bonds is an error, because Father Lambert, although he had been in the order 40 years and was one of the most famous pulpit orators and philosophers of the church in America and was known as a Jesuit, was only a helper. He had never been professed. When he decided to leave the order, the interference of the pope was not necessary. The general of the society released Father Lambert. He still remains a priest. He has simply withdrawn from the community life of the Jesuits.—Chicago Tribune.

Good Books.

If we only knew how much our actions in supreme moments of life—in times of crises—depend on the little thoughts and acts that preceded them, we should keep vigilant watch on the little foxes that make way through the gaps in our hedges. It is the carelessness of venial sins that makes mortal sins easy. We in this world are like the violins in a great orchestra—if we are not kept in tune, we lose in fineness of quality, and when the great Leader of this wondrous earthly orchestra waves his baton we are found wanting, we make discord. To be at our best always we must keep ourselves in tune with the best of instruments near us. And the best of these instruments are good books.

A DETRIMENT TO RELIGION.

What His Holiness Says of the Alleged "Higher Criticism."

The Montreal True Witness, a Roman Catholic publication, gives the following as the "well weighed words of the holy father himself" in regard to so called "higher criticism:"

Without reason, and to the detriment of religion, has been introduced an artifice called by the specious name of "higher criticism," according to which the origin, genuineness and authority of each book are wont to be decided from so called intrinsic reasons. On the contrary, it is manifest that in questions of a historical nature, such as that of the origin and the preservation of the sacred books, the evidences of history are paramount and are to be carefully explored and examined, that, on the other hand, those intrinsic reasons are not of such weight that they should be brought to bear on the matter, except as subsidiary evidence, else great inconveniences are certain to follow, for the enemy shall then gain greater confidence in attacking and discrediting the authenticity of the sacred books. That which is called higher criticism will eventually lead to this, that each one will follow his own whims and prejudices in the interpretation of the Scriptures; hence no light will be thrown on Holy Writ, no benefit will accrue to science, but that wide diversity of opinion which is the index of error will prevail, as the leaders of this novel science give ample evidence. Moreover, since most of its advocates are imbued with the doctrine of false philosophy and rationalism, they will not shrink from eliminating from the books prophecies, miracles and whatever else there is of a supernatural character.

THE TRUTH SOCIETY.

Objects of an Organization That Has Been Started In Brooklyn.

Unanswered and unfair attacks upon the Roman Catholic church have caused to be organized in Brooklyn a society which will have for its object the meeting of such attacks and the dissemination of the real truths of Catholic dogma. The society will be known as the Truth society, and the Rev. Father McGinnis, rector of St. Francis Xavier's church and one of the most scholarly of the younger priests of Brooklyn, has been chosen its head.

A vast scope has been projected for the society by its organizers, whose efforts will be directed in the main against the anti-Catholic literature and the articles appearing in the denominational magazines and papers, which are regarded as one sided, if not false, in their estimate of Catholic doctrines and practice.

One of the arguments advanced by the new society is that the Catholic publications are not numerous enough to cope with those representative of the Portestant churches and which are the main source of the attacks on the Catholic church in this country. The members of the Truth society will be chosen according to their scholarly attainments and ability to wield a controversial pen.

The object of the organization, however, is not to stir up controversy, but simply to refute untruths and ambiguous statements about the church. It will also aim to make the classic literature of the Catholic church better known.—New York Telegram.

The Noble Priesthood.

Notwithstanding the scandals which must occur, the church points with pride to the history of the priesthood. One of the chosen 12 betrayed his Master; the 11 lived, labored and died for the Master. It is the same in the priesthood; one falls, 11 are faithful unto death. One in time of temptation falls away; 11 by devotion and self sacrifice edify the faithful in conversation, in charity, in faith, in chastity. Yet such is the perversity of human nature, even in some who are Catholics, that they will see, criticise and publish the defects of an individual priest, while they are blind to the zeal, charity and devotion of hundreds of faithful priests who live only for God and their fellow men.—Right Rev. Dr. O'Sullivan.

Those Who Will Not See.

The salvation of the human race having been purchased by the life and death of the God man, the practical application of this unspeakable boon is made by the Redeemer himself and in a manner so simple that "he that runs may read." As the Master a few days after transferred the full charge of his whole flock into the hands of one apostle, authorizing him to feed his lambs and sheep, so in this instance he delegates his exclusive power of forgiving sins to his apostles in language so plain, so intolerant of any attempt to mystify or change its meaning, that there is no refuge left those that will not accept the language in its literal sense, save not to touch the question.

An Afflicted Bishop.

"The Lord hath given me two legs; if I am to lose one of them, his will be done," was the pious exclamation of Bishop Schmitz, the auxiliary bishop of Cologne, who, barely two months after the death of the archbishop of that see, Cardinal Krementz, was obliged recently to undergo the amputation of his right leg above the knee, owing to a malignant disease in the knee itself. The totally unexpected and severe affliction which has fallen upon the good bishop excites widespread sympathy in the Rhenish provinces, where Bishop Schmitz is highly esteemed and respected. The case is probably unique.

The Divine Example.

Take nothing lower than the heart of our Divine Lord as the measure and rule of your own. Do not take any lower standard. Do not take the examples of men. Set before you the Sacred Heart in its full and divine perfection. The word of God took that Sacred Heart in order that we might know God.

PESTS OF THE WIRES

RAIDS ON THEM BY WILD BEASTS AND FISH.

Queer Diet for Bruin—Maine Bears Like Porcelain Insulators—Wicked Fish Cut All the Submarine Cables They Come Across.

Telegraph wires, whether strung on poles or laid along the bottom of the sea, are harmless, inoffensive things, and by no means attractive in appearance. Yet they have numerous enemies, in the animal world, as well as the vegetable world, writes John Munroe in the New Illustrated Magazine. The other day, for instance, an American journal reported that a newly erected line, which runs through the forests of Aroostook, in Northern Maine, has been damaged by black bears, who persist in climbing the poles and breaking off the porcelain cups or insulators that support the wires. What singular fancy bruin has taken for these knobs of earthenware can only be conjectured, as bears do not carry their hearts on their sleeves for savants to publish. It is supposed that he mistakes the insulators for his favorite crabapples, and there is little doubt that he regards them as something good to eat. Perhaps he thinks them bees' nests. At all events, there is a large woodpecker in Norway which is deluded by the humming of the wires in the wind like an Aeolian harp, and fancies that there is a nest of insects inside the pole. To reach them he toils for days and pecks great holes into the wooden posts, or even through and through them, only to discover that his promised feast of delights was a phantom of his own creation, and his labors all in vain.

Wiser in his generation is the green woodpecker of California, which makes a larder of the red cedar telegraph poles. It riddles the top of the post with small pits and fills them with acorns—a nut in each cavity—thus providing against a winter famine. Surely the bird displays an ingenuity, a genius, in fact, that is worthy of its nation. Is there any other woodpecker but a Yankee one that would make a pantry out of a telegraph post? Indian crows and Australian magpies have been known to pick up the snippets of wire left by the telepgraph engineers in putting up the lines and build their nests with them on the poles but in so doing they only follow their instinct. They did not invent.

The American bison when he roams the prairies also shows an unsuspected intelligence in adapting the telegraph poles as rubing posts, and sometimes threw down miles of the wire. An American, thinking to cure him of his passion, studded the lower part of the poles with spikes, but the hirsute buffalo requred no ordinary curry comb, and ever after preferred the spikest poles. Elephants have also amused

Ants are feeble folk as compared to elephants, yet they are far more destructive of the telegraph. In tropical countries the white ants, or tormites, devour wooden poles in a short time, and it has been found expedient to employ poles impregnated with oil of cresote, or, better still, posts of iron, where these tiny marauders are known to swarm. Wasps and oter insects also build their nests between the wires or about the insulators, and in wet or dewy weather produce a leakage of the messages. It goes without saying that vegetation, growing over the poles and wires, has the like effect, and in the neighborhood of Rio Janeiro the lines are infested with a parasite plant resembling mistletoe.

After all, however, man is the worst enemy of the telegraph line. Not only do boys and thoughtless adults fire at the insulators as a mark with stones and guns but they fling up rags or fly their kites against the wires, and so cause a loss of the electric current. In Belgium, for example, it pays to use insulators of an unconspicuous gray color instead of white ones, that offer a tempting mark to aim at. In savage or barbarious countries the natives are prone to destroy the lines, if the chiefs are not satisfied with "backsheesh" or frightened by some superstition about the wonderful virtues of the white man's talking "fetish."

When Sir Garnet Wolseley advanced upon Coomassie, his field telegraph line, on bamboo poles through the jungle, was not molested by the enemy; but to be even with him in point magic they ran a line of their own, consisting of a thread tied to the trees. In the Macdonald range of Western Australia the hostile blacks were imbued with a wholesome dread of the telegraph by letting them touch the wire when it was highly charged with electricity and giving them a pretty strong electric shock. This "dodge" has proved very effective in many parts of the world.

Submarine lines would appear to be snugly placed out of harm's way, but they, too, have their pests. The limnoria worm and xylo phaga shellfish devour both the hemp and gutta percha which protect the wire, and permit the electric turernt to escape into the sea. A single repast of the limnoria maggot has cost the shareholders of a cable company many thousands of pounds, because it is highly expensive to send a cable ship to grapple for the cable and cut out the fault, especially if the weather is unfavorable to the operators.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The practice of the Alis football team on the Westervelt avenue ground last evening was a very satisfactory one. Most of the boys were out, and the team played well together. The team has two weeks yet to practice before the first game which is with Westfield, to be played on the Martine Common.

Rutgers College is to have a football team this year that will be stronger than any that has represented that college for several years. The manager this year is Bert Rapalje, who formerly attended the Plainfield High School. His brother, Ernest Rapalje, will play on the eleven. Manager Rapalje has announced the following schedule: September 30, Columbia College at New Brunswick; October 7, Lehigh University at Bethlehem; October 14, Lafayette at Easton; October 17, Stevens Institute at Hoboken; October 21, Haverford at Haverford; October 25, Swarthmore at New Brunswick; November 4, Stevens Institute at New Brunswick; November 11, New York University at New Brunswick.

GOLF.

There will be a big turnous for the competition for the Beinhart Cup on the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Saturday afternoon. It is expected that fully thirty members will contest for the trophy. It is a men's handicap, eighteen holes, medal play.

Louis E. Waring, chairman of the golf committee of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, is getting the course in great condition. It is being improved over its entire length. The bunkers and other hazards and the greens are all receiving attention. The course will soon be in perfect condition for fall play.

ROD AND GUN.

Garrett Dunham, George M. Macintyre and J. Hervey Doane went fishing early Tuesdey morning at New Market pond. Their catch was a record breaker for the season. The fish bit freely and in half an hour's time they had thirteen bass, averaging two pounds each in weight. They also caught two cat fish. Their catch wou'd have been larger but for the fact that they ran out of bait.

VARICUS SPORTS.

An individual bowling contest is being arranged at the Y. M. C. A. alleys. A trophy will be offered. All full members of the association will be eligible to compete. The contest will open the first of the month. Each contestant will roll ten games and the result will be determined on the lowest average for the ten games.

WHIST

The Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club has accepted the challenge from the New Jersey Whist Association of Newark to play a series of three games, one here, one in Newark and one at some place yet to be decided. Each club will put thirty-two men in the games.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The New Brunswick Driving Association will introduce several novelties at its race meet on the Highland Park track Oct. 18. In addition to the usual contests in trotting and pacing there will be a running race and probably a horse show.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

In a Nutshell:

Regular collections; intelligent washing; careful ironing; prompt deliveries. This makes a good laundry. People who have known us as dyers for thirty years back may not realize that we are doing the largest laundry business in New Jersey. Send us your bundle for a trail.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

HAPPENINGS IN A FEW LINES FROM ALL OVER JERSEY.

More or Less Important Happenings and Events in Various Sections Served For a Quick Glance at Farmers in Salem county are receiving from $7 to $12 per ton for their tomatoes at the various canneries.

The tax rate for Burlington has been fixed at 80 cents on the $100. The county tax is 88; the State, 28, and the special school, 28, making a total of $2 24.

The Texas hornfly is increasing to no little extent in Salem county. The farmer states that all other species of flies combined are not so annoying as this so-called Texas pest.

There has been a shortage of freight cars in all parts of South Jersey, which has affected business to a considerable extent. The powder works at Pennsgrove have been shut down some days on account of a shortage of coal.

The Burlington Common Council has adopted a resolution providing for the appointment by the Mayor of a commission to plant and look after the shade trees of the city. Burlington has been famous for its shade trees for nearly 200 years.

The Rev. Richard M. Sherman, who for the last ten years has been pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, in Newark, has given notice to the vestry that will resign. He has accepted a call to St. Agnes Episcopal church, New York. The announcement surprised the congregation.

There is an epidemic for penny photos around the little village of Fairton, and there is scarcely a house that has not a collection. A photographer states that he has had 21,682 sittings, and as each get fifteen pictures or more the number would make, if placed side by side, a string twelve miles long.

Former Mayor Jeremiah Casey, of Undercliff Borough, is in the Hackensack jail. He was arrested Tuesday night on a charge of malicious mischief. He is alleged to have cut down a stairway leading up the Palisades bluff, near his home, belonging to the Columbia Real Estate Company. He refuses bail and will remain in a cell until the Grand Jury disposes of the case.

CASE TO BE TRIED BY JURY.

A Dispute Between Tenant and Agent to be Tried in Justice Storm's Court.

A hearing was had yesterday at New Market before Justice Storms in the matter of an ejectment suit brought against Alex. Harris by Eugene Runyon, as agent for a house at Dunellen, owned by the Rev. Theodosius Goeth, of Riverside, and which has been occupied for several months by Harris. The action was first tried last April before Justice Warden, at Dunellen. The defendant claims that he does not owe the plaintiff, but that the latter, was indebted to him to the amount of about $85 for services rendered as a nurse for taking care of his father. He claimed to have given the plaintiff's attorney credit on his rent each month. Yesterday's hearing was for the purpose of securing an adjournment and trying the case by jury. Law Clerk Sweeney represented McClure & Meehan, attorneys for the defendant. The plaintiff was represented by W. S. Angleman. The action will be tried on Saturday, before a jury in Justice Storms court at New Market.

Corner Stone Laid.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, Sept. 21—The corner stone of the new Reformed church, of Whitehouse, was laid yesterday afternoon. Miss Louise Brown, of "Cedarholm," Whitehouse, laid the stone with a silver trowel presented by Stephen K. Large. Addresses were made by Rev. M. H. Hutton, of New Brunswick; Rev. W. H. DeHart, of Raritan, and Rev. H. P. Lyman Wheaton, pastor of the church, who also presided. At the close of the exercises the ladies of the church served a repast. The church was organized Jan. 10th, 1792. The new church is of stone and will cost $8,000.

To Enroll Westfield's Republicans.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, September 21.—In accordance with a resolution passed at the primary held last spring, looking toward a permanent organization of all Republicans of the township, a meeting has been called at Etta Hall, for next Monday evening, at which time an enrollment of the Westfield Republicans will take place. After this is done it will be known just who are Republicans and who are not, and will prevent further trouble at future primaries.

Damage for Water Deprivation.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, September 21.—Former Surrogate L. S. Cramer, E. B. Allen, of Flemington, and former County Clerk H. E. Park, of Whitehouse, the commissioners appointed by Justice Gummere to settle the differences between James Plum and the borough of High Bridge, have awarded Plum $600 damages. When the High Bridge water works was established Mr. Plum's water supply was almost depleted, and his suit was for damages.

Home Ready for some Inmates.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, September 21.—The board of managers, which has been preparing the new home in Vineland, in which veteran soldiers and their wives will be received, has spent all the money at its command, and the home is ready to receive some inmates. It cannot be finished until a new appropriation is made, but some inmates can be received by November 1st.

Husband Not To Blame.

John VanNest, of Sycamore street, was arrested last evening by Patrolman Totten on complaint of his wife. She said that he struck her and knocked her down. He did not deny the act, but said that she had been cursing him. The Judge, who knew something of the domestic troubles, decided that the husband was not to blame. So he suspended sentence.

Trunk Lines Finished.

The linemen of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company have completed putting up the two trunk lines from Plainfield to Somerville, and have now returned to this city and are busy removing the old and useless overhead wires from the poles on such streets as they have allowed to remain heretofore.

Going on Long Tramp.

Edward Donnelly started this morning from the front of the United States Hotel in Elizabeth for a walk across the continent. His destination will be Los Angeles, Cal. He is to accomplish the journey in 165 days, under a wager of $250, and is to start without money and to have $200 at the end of the long tramp.

Dog Poisoner at Work?

A handsome pet pug dog belonging to E. P. Williams, of West Seventh street, died last night. It is believed that the animal was poisoned. Other dogs have been poisoned recently, and the residents in that part of the city feel greatly incensed.

A CABIN BOY'S VIEW

THE ALABAMA-KEARSARGE DUEL TOLD BY TOM SPELLMAN.

Capt. Semmes's Speech to His Crew Before the Battle Began—The Sinking of the Alabama—Semmes's Leap Into the Sea and His Rescue.

Tom Spellman tells the story of the destruction of Admiral Raphael Semmes's battleship Alabama by the Kearsarge in June, 1864, near the coast of France, in the English Channel. Spellman is in his fifty-second year. He shipped on the Alabama as cabin boy when she was turned over to agents of Admiral Semmes at Birkenhead, England, by the Lairds on Aug. 20, 1862. Mr. Spellman, who is a genuine "old salt" gave a description of the Alabama, which, during her existence afloat with the ensign of the Confederate Navy at its masthead, was the terror of the ocean to the shipping of the United States. The Alabama was built in the Laird yard at Birkenhead under the superintendence of Capt. James D. Bullock of the Confederate Navy. She was brigantine rigged, with a maximum speed of 15 knots, which was fast time at that period. She went with sails or with steam or both. Her engine was a 300-horse-power with a condensing apparatus. The armament of the Alabama consisted of one Blakely 100-pounder rifled gun, pivoted forward; one 8-inch solid shot gun, pivoted abaft the mainmast, and six 32-pounders in broadside. The crew consisted of 120 men and twenty-four officers. In leaving Birkenhead as a ruse an excursion was organized to Terceira, in the Azores, to which point a transport, loaded with war materials, had been sent. Admiral Semmes and his officers met the Alabama at Terceira. They sailed there in the Bahama. The excursionists, consisting of English ladies and gentlemen, who left Birkenhead on the Alabama, had been transferred to a tug in the Channel and sent home, so that when the Confederate Admiral took possession at Terceira he was then and there ready for his career and there was no delay in getting down to work.

The French Emperor, Napoleon III, declined to allow either the Alabama or the Kearsarge to go into dock at Cherbourg, and both ships, being near that port, had a battle, with the coast of France in the vicinity lined with spectators. This occurred in June 1864, and Tom Spellman, now a section hand, gave an account of the naval duel which hastened the collapse of the Southern cause. Admiral Semmes, standing on a gun carriage, delivered the following address to his crew:

"Officers and seamen of the Alabama: You have another opportunity of meeting the enemy—the first that has been presented to you since you sunk the Hatteras. In the meantime you have been all over the world, and it is not too much to say that you have destroyed and driven for protection under neutral flags one-half of the enemy's commerce, which at the beginning of the war covered the sea. This is an achievement to which you may well be proud, and a grateful country will not be unmindful of it. The name of your ship has become a household word wherever civilization extends. Shall tha name be tarnished with defeat? The thing is impossible. Remember that you are in the English Channel, the theatre of so much of the naval glory of our race, and that the eyes of all Europe are at this moment upon you. The flag that floats over you is that of a young republic which bids defiance to her enemies whenever and wherever found. Show the world that you know how to uphold it. Go to your quarters."

Capt. Winslow, the commander of the Kearsarge, accepted the challenge of the Alabama, and forty-five minutes after Admiral Semmes concluded his stirring address to his crew and stepped down from the gun carriage the action began. The ships approached each other at high speed, like two great eagles rushing to combat, firing broadside batteries into each other at a range of 500 yards. To keep from sweeping past each other the opposing commanders each gave the same order, keeping a strong helm to port and fighting in concentric circles toward a common centre, which grew more and more diminished. Semmes, bareheaded, on the horse block abreast the mizzen mast, with his glass in his hand, gave his orders in a clear voice which rang above the roar of the awful conflict. On the Kearsarge, Capt. Winslow stood on his upper deck and directed his battle, his voice being heard between the broadsides cheering his men. Once Admiral Semmes shouted to Kells, his executive officer: "Give them solid shot. Our shells strike and rebound into the water without sufficient effect on the enemy."

With its decks covered with wounded and dying the Alabama settled stern foremost, and the waves were soon churning with drowning men. Among those who leaped overboard with Admiral Semmes just as the Alabama lifted her bows high in the air and went down to the bottom was Tom Spellman, the Cotton Belt section hand. Along with his commander he was picked up by the English yacht Deerhound. He is one of the few living men who saw Semmes throw his sword into the sea and leap with the others of the survivors of the battle off Cherbourg, France, between the Kearsarge and the Alabama.

Surprised by Filipino Gentility.

"Speaking of the oft-repeated statement that the Filipinos are a very degraded, ignorant and uncivilized people reminds me of a night I spent at a Filipino club," said Charles L. Jewett of New Albany. "I was invited to attend the opening of the club. I had not been in Manila long and everything was new to me. Out of curiosity I accepted the invitation and went to the function in my every-day duds, not dreaming but that it would be a very rude and coarse, if not comical, affair. Well, I want to tell you that I was completely surprised. The guests drove up in carriages and the men were all attired in black clothes with white ties, and a good many were in full dress attire. And, by George! if it isn't a fact that several of them carried crush opera hats. I was the poorest dressed man in the lot, but they all treated me with the greatest consideration, and I found them a polite and cultivated set of people. Of course, they were the cream of the Filipinos, but the fact that the race can evolve such creditable exponents shows that as a people they are capable of development."

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

HOW SILK IS MADE AT WATCHUNG MILL.

Local Manufactory of Silk Fabric in Full Blast.

THIRTY LOOMS ARE GOING.

EXACT MACHINERY USED IN MAKING THE SILK.

The Raw Silk is First Dyed Out of Town and Then Brought Here to be Woven Into the Rich Fabric—The Machinery Used in the Process—Ralph Whiteley and Wm. E. Stansberry are in Charge.

It isn't any easy job to properly weave a silk fabric. It takes skilled workmen and some very exact and complicated machinery. A glimpse of the mill on the second floor of the Schepflin building, West Front street, operated by the Watchung Silk Company, gives some idea of the wonderful industry.

The local silk mill is now in full operation with thirty looms busy. As the proper facilities for that work are yet lacking, the dyeing of the raw silk is done elsewhere. The silk, properly colored, is brought here in skeins. It first goes to a machine called a winder, where it is transferred to bobbins or spoons and queer little arms called "quillers," for use in the shuttle of the loom. Then the silk threads are unwound from the bobbins into the warper to the number of some 5,000 side by side. The "warp" thus prepared is rolled on cylinders ready for use on the looms. On the looms the cross threads or the woof is woven in. Every time a new warp is placed on a loom it is necessary to fasten every one of those 5,000 threads to another by hand.

Some of the looms are equipped with as many as four different shuttles so that the silk fabric may be made with more than one color. Stripes and figures can thus be arranged. Most of the labor came here from Paterson, the centre of the silk manufacturing district. It is the intention of the Watchung Company to teach some local help to handle the looms and other machinery as soon as possible.

Ralph Whitley, a man of great experience in the silk business, is manager of the Watchung Company's mill and has been very successful so far. William R. Stansbery, of Scotch Plains, looks after the business end of the concern.

"PASTING PROCS."

Sophomores Lay Down Rules of Behavior for the Freshmen at Rutgers College.

"Pasting procs," otherwise proclamations, is one of the time-honored methods of manifesting class spirit at Rutgers College, New Brunswick. Every year the sophomore class gets out proclamations addressed to the freshmen enjoining upon them certain rules of behavior. The class of 1902 got out their proclamations this week and pasted copies on the doors of the homes of members of the faculty and a double allowance on the house of Dr. Scott, the president of the faculty.

They failed to get any in the Sixth ward, as Special Watchman Coleman and Officer Allen captured a crowd with a bundle of "procs" and a bucket of paste. Early in the morning the freshmen organized bands to cover the town and tear down all the proclamations, with the result that there were scarcely any to be seen at daylight.

Instructs in Etiquette.

There has been no doubt about the success of Frederick F. Dawes who conducts classes in dancing and polite training at the Seminary, West Seventh street, every year. Mr. Dawes is considered one of the best in his particular line and is assistant to T. George Dodworth, New York's greatest dancing teacher. Mr. Dawes will return to Plainfield again this fall and his classes will start October 17th. His Tuesday evening cotillion class will commence December 19th.

Fitting Themselves as Lawyers.

The Law School of the University of New York will open its fall term October 1st. Carl Stedman Brown, of Mercer avenue, who was compelled to give up his studies there last winter on account of ill health, will complete his course. John H. VanWinkle, Jr., of Duer street, will also be a member of the senior class. There are several of Plainfield's law students who are contemplating a course at that institution.

—For building lots, Somerset Park.

—When in Newark lunch in the coolest, cleanest dining room in the city, "Walsh's Blue Room," 677 Broad, corner West Park.

PUSHING TROLLEY WORK.

Tremendous Amount of Grading Will Have to be Done Along Jerusalem Road.

Work on the trolley is being rushed between Westfield and Scotch Plains. The workmen are now very busy in the woods off the Jerusalem road. A tremendous amount of grading will have to be done, the line passing directly through the woods till nearing Scotch Plains. The rails have been laid nearly to Prospect street. Colonel E. W. Hine, Contractor L. M. Serrill and Engineer H. C. VanEmburgh went over the line yesterday and talked over grades and other parts of the work. Trolley wires are being strung at Garwood and in the southern portion of the township through which the trolley passes. The road work done by the trolley is being appreciated by the citizens and property owners.

W. C. T. U. WOMEN ELECT

MRS. T. H. TOMLINSON IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT FOR UNION COUNTY.

Convention Held in Dunellen Yesterday and Attended by Many Delegates—Resolutions Against Roberts

The fifteenth annual convention of the Union County Woman's Christian Temperance Union convened in the Presbyterian church, Dunellen, yesterday morning. There were present delegates from Elizabeth, Westfield, Cranford, Summit, Rahway, Plainfield and other places. Besides the delegates many women interested in temperance work were also in attendance. The ministers were represented by the presence of Dr. E. S. Jamison, pastor of the M. E. church, Rev. A. I. Martine, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. Martin Sindall, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of New Market.

The session began with devotional exercises at 9:45 o'clock, followed by the appointment of the standing committees. The address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. T. C. Boeine, of Dunellen, with a response by Mrs. I. Z. Hatfield.

The reports of the corresponding secretary and treasurer were very satisfactory, and showed that the organization is steadily forging ahead. After the report of the credential committee was received and acted upon, the election of officers was proceeded with. The election resulted in the re-election of Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, of this city, for president; Mrs G. M. Mosher for recording secretary; Mrs. M. L. Rarick for corresponding secretary, and the re-election of Mrs. L. H. Noe for treasurer.

After the reading of the Scripture and the offertory a noontide prayer meeting was held, followed by a box luncheon. At 1 o'clock the executive committee held a meeting and discussed topics regarding the welfare of the union.

The afternoon session began shortly after 2 o'clock. It proved to be the most interesting one of the day, although the address of Mrs. J. I. Ellis in the evening was an able effort and closely listened by a large audience.

Among those who read papers at the afternoon session were Mrs. S. R. Krom, Mrs. Noe, Mrs. Dobbins, Mrs. L. Ussing, Mrs. E. R. Collins and several others. The report of the resolution committee was an interesting document. Among the resolutions which led to discussion were those in relation to the curfew law and those pertaining to the efforts to be made to unseat Congressman Roberts of Utah. After some discussion it was decided to present the latter resolution to the State committee and ask that it be presented at the State convention. In advocating the adoption of this resolution Mrs. Ellis very eloquently denounced polygamy and said that the seating of Congressman Roberts was putting a stigma upon every American woman in the land. She said that every member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union should stand up for God, humanity and morality.

The rest of the session was taken up with the question box. The feature of the evening was the address by Mrs. Ellis, who is superintendent of Legislation of the organization. Mrs. Ellis is thoroughly at home with her subject. She carefully outlined the work before the Union and related in a forcible manner how it was possible to accomplish the objects to be obtained by active legislation. The convention proved to be one of the most interesting ever held.

Woodbridge Officials Lax.

The Middlesex County Grand Jury has about concluded its investigation of the charge of maladministration of the officials of Woodbridge township. It is understood that no indictments have been found, but that the Grand Jury will bring in a presentment charging general laxity and carelessness.

PLAINFIELD WILL OBSERVE DEWEY DAY.

Local Merchants Have Agreed to Close Their Stores.

RESULT OF PROCLAMATION.

CITY WILL BE DECKED OUT WITH FLAGS AND BUNTING.

Large Crowd Will Go to New York to See Parade—H. P. Greenwood and J. Louis Bennett Visited Most of Merchants, Who Readily Agreed to Close Their Stores Friday, Sept. 29th.

Plainfield is going to do its little part in the general movement throughout the country to honor the return of the great naval hero, Admiral Dewey. Mayor George W. Rockfellow issued a proclamation two days ago asking the local merchants to close their stores Friday, Sept. 29th, the first day of the celebration. The proclamation also contained the request that all decorate their homes and places of business in honor of the event.

An agreement has already been signed by nearly all the merchants of the city agreeing to close their establishments on that day. H. P. Greenwood, of Woodbull & Martin's big store, visited all the dry goods stores, men's furnishing establishments and shoe stores and met with only one refusal. It is likely that that merchant will reconsider his decision. J. Lewis Bennett, of J. A. Smith & Brother, saw the grocers and hardware dealers and they were willing to close if the movement was a general one.

Dewey Day will be well observed in Plainfield and crowds will go to New York that day to see the naval parade and witness the fireworks in the evening. With all the stores closed, Plainfield will be very quiet. Flags will fly from nearly every building in the city. Already several of the merchants have begun to use the national colors in the decoration of their store and flags, tri-colored ribbon and appropriate neckwear will be put on the market at once.

PORTSMOUTH TO BE THERE.

New Jersey Naval Reserves Gratified by the New Decision of the Dewey Parade Committee.

Members of the Batallion of the East, Naval Reserves of New Jersey, were extremely indignant when it was announced that the plan and scope committee of the Dewey Celebration had decided not to assign the old war sloop Portsmouth, training ship of the battalion, as a stakeboat in the naval parade. Joy took the place of indignation among the men yesterday over the counter announcement that the Portsmouth could could be used as a stakeboat, after all.

It was first the plan of the committee to tow the Portsmouth to the station and anchor her there as a stakeboat. That would cost between $200 and $300, and when the St. Mary's, which is of like type and rig to the Portsmouth, was offered free of all cost, the committee decided to accept the offer. General Howard Carroll has written Commander Irving, of the New Jersey Naval Reserves, that his committee has kept the place beside the St. Mary's for the Portsmouth, but that the committee had no money to spend in towing her to the anchorage. General Carroll expects the Jersey men will take up their position at their own expense.

The High School Cadets

The Plainfield High School cadets have not held any drills as yet. It is expected that Capt. Geo. F. Edwards will call the old members of the company together the first of next month, enroll the new boys in the High School cadets and announce his appointments for officers. The cadets will not take part in the Dewey parade in New York. There will not be time for the boys to get together and so the plan, once thought of, has been given up.

Mad Dog at Avon Park.

The residents of Avon Park had a scare Monday morning when a dog appeared which it was believed was mad. Edward Campbell went after the intruder with a shotgun and killed the canine before any people or other dogs were bitten.

DARLING IS SENTENCED.

Goes to State's Prison for Twenty Years.

WAS ARRAIGNED TODAY.

PLEADED NON VULT TO THE CHARGE OF MURDER.

His Counsel W. S. Angleman, Made A Strong Plea For Mercy In His Behalf—Presented Affidavit Of Witness of Shooting—Darling Goes To State Prison Monday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 21—William Darling, who shot and killed Harry Dunham at New Market four years ago, pleaded non vult to the indictment of murder in the first degree at the Court of Oyer and Terminer this morning and Justice Collins sentenced him to a term of twenty years in the State Prison.

The arraignment this morning was a surprise as it was generally understood that Prosecutor Voorhees was not yet ready and that the arraignment would not take place until Tuesday.

The plea was the result of an understanding between the Prosecutor and W. S. Angleman, of Plainfield, counsel for the defence.

The killing of Dunham took place August 20th, 1895. Darling was indicted for murder in the first degree shortly after the fatality took place. Darling was finally captured this summer at McConnellsburg, Fulton county, Pennsylvania, and has since been lodged in the Middlesex county jail in this city.

Darling was brought before Justice Collins this morning. He was apparently cool and self composed. He showed no signs of nervousness. After Lawyer Angleman had offered the plea of non vult, which had already been accepted by the prosecution, he made a strong appeal for mercy for his client. His speech was an excellent one.

During his remarks he introduced an affidavit by Edward Mitchell, a colored man who witnessed the murder. Mitchell declared that the quarrel started during a game of pool at Dantz's hotel, New Market. Dunham made an insulting remark about Darling's mother and there were several words passed. Then Mitchell said that Darling fired a shot over Dunham's head to intimidate him. Dunham started for Darling as if to come to close quarters and Darling shot again, the bullet striking Dunham in the head.

Prosecutor Voorhees made no reply to Lawyer Angleman's speech, and Justice Collins immediately sentenced Darling to a term of twenty years in State's prison. Darling showed no signs of agitation when the sentence was pronounced.

According to law, the prisoner will remain in the county jail forty-eight hours after he is sentenced to State Prison. Monday morning Darling will be taken to Trenton to serve his term. No attempt will be made to secure a slighter sentence.

More Good Roads for Middlesex.

The Board of Freeholders of Middlesex county yesterday afternoon awarded contracts for over thirty miles of macadam road. The roads to be improved are: From Dunellen to Bound Brook, from Black Horse tavern to Cranbury village, from the bridge to New Brunswick.

Read a Paper on Missionary Work

The Woman's Association of the Congregational church held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon. The rather unsettled weather kept many away but there was a good attendance notwithstanding. An interesting paper on missionary work was read by Mrs. M. E. Dwight.

Mrs. Layton, of East Fifth street, is visiting in Newark for a few days.

FREED FROM HER VOWS AS A WIFE.

An Absolute Divorce Granted to Sarah R. Robinson.

CRUELTY AND DESERTION.

THOSE WERE THE CHARGES AGAINST THE HUSBAND.

Couple Were Married by Rev. D. J. Yerkes in 1875, and for Several Years the Husband was a Conductor on the Central Railroad—Mrs. Robinson Now Keeps a Boarding House.

In the Court of Chancery at Trenton, Tuesday, Chancellor McGill granted an absolute divorce to Sarah R. Robinson, of this city, from her husband, Emery H. Robinson. The decree was secured by Former Judge William A. Coddington, of the firm of Reed & Coddington, and was granted on the grounds of cruel treatment and desertion.

The couple were married in this city by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church, November 3d, 1875. For a time they lived in Dunellen.

Mr. Robinson was for several years a conductor on the Central Railroad. He is now living in New York city.

Mrs. Robinson, who is the daughter of William C. Ayres, of West Second street, keeps a boarding house in the Hand building on Watchung avenue. The couple have two children, the eldest being a son about twenty years old.

WON A SOUTHERN BELLE.

Notable Wedding at Ashville, North Carolina in Which Plainfielder Was Groom.

William Corwin Baker, eldest son of Former Councilman and Mrs. John T. Baker, of Steile avenue, was married to Miss Sara Keyes Rumbough, daughter of Col. James Henry Rumbough, a prominent citizen of Ashville, N. C., Wednesday evening at the Trinity P. E. church at Ashville. Col. Rumbough was an officer in the Confederate Army during the Civil War, and his daughter was one of the leading belles in Ashville society.

The ceremony was a pretty one and was largely attended. The bridemaids were Miss Elizabeth F. Forbes, of Philadelphia; Miss Isa Bache, of Brooklyn; Miss Helen Skiles, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Mar e Hill, of Hot Springs, N. C. The maid of honor was Miss Rumbough, a sister of the bride.

The best man was Willard A. Speakman, of Wilmington, Del., and the ushers were Dr. Charles S. Jordan, D. C. Waddell, Jr., and John C. Rumbough, of Ashville, and Howard W. Beebe, of this city.

The newly-married couple will take a trip to Canada and the west, after which they will visit at the groom's home in Plainfield and then take up their residence at the Marie Antoinette in New York.

IT'S DEWEY PARK.

S. D. Drake's Latest Land Scheme Took Definite Form This Morning.

The Middlesex Land Company, which has purchased 100 acres of land one mile east of Lincoln for the purpose of establishing Dewey Park, a residential and industrial town, met at the office of S. D. Drake this morning and organized.

The following officers wore elected: President, S. D. Drake; first vice-president, N. B. Smalley; second vice-president, Dr. F. H. Hallock; secretary, William N. Runyon; treasurer, Frank S. Runyon. The officers, together with John D. Runyon, constitute the board of directors. Steps will be taken immediately to develop the property. A five-acre park and an artificial lake are some of the features of the place.

A JERSEY GAS COMPANY DEAL.

Syndicate to Pay $350,000 for the New Brunswick Concern.

New Brunswick, Sept. 22.—An offer which was made a few days ago of $350,000 for the plant of the New Brunswick Gas Light Company by a syndicate which has been buying up gas companies in this and other States has been accepted. The offer, which was made three weeks ago by a New York promoter, of $400,000 for this plant fell through after the local investors agreed to their part of the deal. In order to prevent a repetition of this the local company has caused the syndicate to place $10,000 in the hands of H. G. Parker, cashier of the National Bank of New Jersey, as an earnest of their good faith.

Daly at the Somerville Fair

Congressman Daly, of Hudson county, will deliver an address at the Somerville fair and carnival today.

FIREMEN ON PARADE.

Annual Inspection of the Borough Department Will Bring Together a Dozen Visiting Companies.

The approaching inspection and parade of the North Plainfield Fire Department will possibly eclipse anything previously attempted in the borough. The fire laddies across the brook are working hard to make the affair a succes and it is believed that their efforts will be fruitful.

The boys need some more money to ensure the proper care and entertainment of the many guests which are expected on the occasion and the citizens are earnestly asked to contribute as liberally as the their means will permit.

From present indications it is believed that there will be fully a dozen visiting fire companies in line from out of town, together with seven bands and two or three drum corps.

SMALL FAMINE OF WATER

ENGINE AND WIND-MILL BOTH GAVE OUT AT GOLF GROUNDS.

L. E. Waring Had a Difficult Time in Getting a Temporary Supply—Water Cart Mired and Contents Allowed to Run Out.

The clubhouse of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club has just passed through a brief but exciting period of misfortune that gave the chairman of the committee, L. E. Waring, a lively amount of hustling to overcome. Without warning the engine at the club house, which runs the pump, refused to work. Then the wind-mill became obstinate and that method of getting water for the clubhouse failed. Yesterday, Mr. Waring found the clubhouse without any water, and the boilers empty.

Although torrents of water were falling, it was necessary to supply the house with water at once and Waring secured the services of the city's watering carts and started to cart water to the house in the tank of the wagon. The roads were muddy and so four horses were put to the wagon. It reached the dirt road and there became mired. It was necessary to let the water out of the wagon before it could be moved. Then the wagon went back to Plainfield and returned to the clubhouse with another load of water.

The supply thus obtained kept the boilers full and was used for necessary purposes. This morning a machinist was taken to the clubhouse and will repair the engine and permit the running of the pump once more.

SENATOR KEAN'S NEW LINE.

Trolley Road Between Elizabeth and Elizabethport is Now in Operation.

United States Senator John Kean's new trolley road began operations yesterday morning in Elizabeth. The line is now two and a half miles long and runs between Broad street, Elizabeth, and the Staten Island ferry at Elizabethport. The first car to run over the road was decorated and carried Senator Kean, his brother, Julius Kean, Alderman Patterson, Superintendent Smith, of the North Jersey Traction Company, Supervising Constructor Turner and guests.

It is the intention of the company to extend its lines and to run to Plainfield if it can overcome the opposition of the property owners, who object to what they term the low awards for the 40 feet of their property frontage, which will be required to widen the avenue from 60 to 100 feet. Senator Kean has offered $250,000 for the property affected.

WESTFIELD SCHOOLS CROWDED.

Three New Buildings Rented, But Not Room Enough Yet.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, September 22—The Board of Education of this town has its hands full in trying to make room for the large increase of pupils. The Board has rented three additional buildings, but they are still short of room. There are 706 pupils registered, or 124 more than last year at this time, and it is expected that fully 100 more will enter the school during the present month, having as yet not returned from their summer vacations.

The rent of these extra buildings will reach about $1,000, and some of the citizens are asking why the Board of Education did not do as the voters asked at the annual spring school meeting, and call a meeting for the purpose of submitting a plan for the increasing of the school facilities.

Owns an X ray Machine.

Dr. W. C. Allen, who has recently established and office at 808 Park avenue, and who will remain in Plainfield to build up a medical practice, has an x-ray apparatus, and will make a special study of treating patients when it is advantageous to put under the searching light of this machine.

ISSUED $180 CHECK TO A STRANGE NAME.

Mayor Rockfellow Made the Defendant in an Action.

CAUSED BY TORREY FAILURE

DREW THE CHECK AS A FAVOR TO GENERAL SWENCK.

The Check Made Out in the Name of One "J. C. Monroe"—Cashed by Banker Torrey for General Swenck, but Another Check Given to Pay the First One Was Not Honored by Bank.

Mayor George W. Rockfellow is the defendent in an action brought before Justice Abbott by Oscar Richter, a lawyer, of 302 Broadway, New York, who is also the trustee in bankruptcy of the estate of D. M. Torrey, formerly a broker in New York city, but who made an assignment about a year ago.

The suit was brought last July on behalf of the plaintiff by Reed & Coddington, of this city, who sue to recover the amount of a check for $180, which Mr. Rockfellow issued on October 1st, 1896, made payable to one J. C. Monroe. Mr. Rockfellow issued the check at the request of Gen. S. W. Swenck, who lives in the vicinity of Oak Tree. The check, it appears, was paid by D. M. Torrey. It had been endorsed "J. C. Monroe." The check was drawn on the First National Bank of Plainfield.

After passing through Mr. Torrey's hands it was sent to the National Park Bank at New York for deposit. Subsequently this check, so Mayor Rockfellow says, was paid by another check which has became mislaid, also issued at the request of Gen. Swenck. This check was finally protested by the First National Bank in this city. Mr. Richter, as trustee of the Torrey estate, now brings suit to recover on the check. There have been several hearings of the case. This morning Attorney William A. Coddington, of the firm of Reed & Coddington, representing the plaintiff, and Attorney Nelson Runyon for the defendant, argued the case.

The peculiar thing about the case is the fact that Mayor Rockfellow testified that he had no acquaintance with any person by the name of "J. C. Monroe," and had never seen him. Mr. Richter, the trustee for the Torrey estate, has testified that the books of the assignee do not show any transaction connected with the check. The case has attracted considerable attention. Justice Abbott reserved decition.

FORTY DAYS IN JAIL

A Familiar Face in City Court Decides the Judge in Imposing a Severe Sentence.

It was a familiar face that appeared before City Judge Runyon this morning. John Mitchell is an umbrella mender hailing from no place in particular. In connection with his trade, he also canvasses the town for stray articles and incidentally lives to a large extent on the charity of well-disposed persons. Mitchell has been here before. He finds Plainfield a delightful section in which to work.

A month ago he came before the Judge and was sent down to the county jail for twenty days. That was because he couldn't raise a fine of $5. This morning the Judge recognized the face and was not favorably impressed.

Judge Runyon doubled the sentence and Mitchell went down the road for forty days in default of a fine of $10.

In Honor of Her Guest.

Miss Mabel Firstbrook gave a "dove" party at her home on Liberty street last evening in honor of her guest, Miss Elizabeth Stevenson, of Lambertville. The evening was very enjoyably spent playing games. Refreshments followed. Besides the hostess and her guest, those present were the Misses Margaret Porter, Marion Porter and Frances Cose, of this city, and Miss Jennie Hills, of Philadelphia.

Hard Luck of the Darbys.

John Darby, of Dog Corner, had his collarbone broken Monday. He was kicked by a horse at his farm. The same horse kicked Joseph Darby, his son, in the eye on Tuesday. Both father and son are now incapacitated for work.

OUR TROOPS WELCOMED.

Friendly Inhabitants of Jolo Pleased at the Raising of American Flag.

DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS.

Even the Chinese Take a Hand in Doing Honor to America's Emblem of Liberty.

Gen. Bates Returns to Manila and Reports Everything Quiet and Satisfactory in Jolo—The Moros Display a Friendly Spirit Toward the Americans.

Manila, Sept. 22.—Gen. Bates has returned from Jolo and reports everything quiet and conditions very satisfactory. Several military posts have been established at different points in the archipelago.

Capt. Seay's company of the 23d Regiment was sent to Syassi, and Capt. Dapray's company of the same regiment went to Bongao, the southernmost point of Tawitawi. The Moros are friendly to the Americans, and the people of Syassi and Bongao were glad to see the troops. Gen. Bates went to Syassi on the Yorktown. When the troops landed and the flag was raised and saluted, the Chinese inhabitants responded with a great display of fireworks.

Kalvi and Jokanine, the two datos who are unfriendly to the Sultan of Jolo, have not yet begun their threatened rebellion.

Gen. Bates touched at Zamboanga on his way back. There has been a small row there, but the Moros are friendly with both the Americans and the insurgents.

Batson's Maccabebe scouts surprised two small towns on the Pamanga River the other night and captured a few rifles. They exchanged shots with the enemy, but neither side suffered any loss. This is the first action in which the Maccabebes, who are friendly to the Americans, have participated.

Otis Tries to Buy Filipino Arms.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Information received at the War Department shows that General Otis has made a vain attempt to purchase the arms of the Filipinos.

Word was sent out that on the surrender of a gun a native would receive $40 in cash. There was only one response to this. A native appeared, offered a gun and a requisition was made on the Treasury for $40. Before the money was paid, however, it was learned that an American soldier had supplied the native with a gun that he had captured.

The failure of the Filipinos to respond to this offer is taken as an indication that the Filipinos are not dissatisfied with their rulers, and that reports that they are being driven to fight are really untrue.

Gen. Otis Coming Home.

Manila, via Hong Kong, Sept. 22.—It is learned that the Commissioners sent to the Philippines by President McKinley will report unanimously against the administration of Gen. Otis. They will urge a change of commanders in the islands.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The news from Manila to the effect that the Philippines Commissioners have reported unanimously against the administration of Gen. Otis has occasioned no great surprise here, and is generally credited by those who have had more or less to do with McKinley and the conduct of the war.

It is quite well known that the President has tired of continually apologizing for the General to the many callers who bring the subject repeatedly to his attention.. Who will relieve Otis is a matter for speculation. The names of Miles and Merritt are still under consideration.

Work on Transports Still Delayed.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 22.—The strike of the boilermakers is still on, and work on the transports must be further delayed. Capt. Baineson, of the Quartermaster's Department, told the committee of the strikers that the demand of the boilermakers for an eight-hour day on all vessels actually owned by the government, and on work paid for by the government on vessels chartered would be granted. The strikers replied that they would not do a stroke of work on the government-owned vessels until they force the owners of the others and the contractors to make the scale they demand.

Demand for Beef Increases.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—The continued rise in the price of beef is explained by the packers as due to the enormously increased demand, both foreign and domestic. The number of live cattle exported, it is said, will increase from 1,000 to 2,000 per week, and the home demand is greater than ever before by 100 per cent. No prediction has been heard as to how long the large demand will continue to exist. Cattle on the hoof have gone to $6.90 per 100 pounds. This is the highest price reached in the month of September since 1884.

Lieutenant Howland Wounded.

Washington, Sept. 22.—A cable message from Gen. Otis to the War Department states that Second Lieutenant Harry S. Howland, Twenty-third Infantry, was wounded severely in the arm near El Pardo, Island of Cebu, on Aug. 23. Private Charles Fisher, Company M, of the same regiment, received a severe wound in the forearm on August 25.

Vincennes, Ind., Sept. 22.—While two sons of John L. Catt, a farmer of Red Cloud, were hunting one brother accidently killed the other.

BROKE HIS WINDPIPE.

Boy Meets With a Fatal and Unexplained Accident.

Chillicothe, Ohio, Sept. 22.—A very remarkable and unexplained accident in this city cost the life of a boy, and the doctors are mystified by the case. Charley Black is a newspaper agent here, and while waiting for the paper train to arrive he and Tommy Griffin amused themselves tossing a broom back and forth. In one of the tosses the broom handle struck the Griffin boy on the front of the neck.

It did not even scratch it, but an instant later his neck began to puff out like a balloon and he found himself unable to get his breath. He was led to a doctor near by, but was soon writhing on the ground in the agonies of suffocation, and had turned quite black in the face, while his entire body was puffed out to an abnormal size. He died in a few minutes and before anything could be done for him.

No post-mortem examnation has yet been held, but it is the doctor's opinion that the blow on the neck broke the boy's windpipe and so suffocated him, the air swelling up his body by getting between the skin and adipose tissue. Both the boys belong to well-known families, and are about 12 years old.

Dreyfus at Carpentras.

Paris, Sept. 22.—Ex-Captain Dreyfus and his brother Mathieu have arrived at Carpentras, in the Department of Vancluse. Dreyfus is staying at the house of his sister, Mme. Valabregue, at Carpentras. Mme. Dreyfus will join her husband to-morrow. The official report of Gen. Galliffet, Minister of War, points out that though it was the the first duty of the Government to insure respect for the decisions of justice, yet the general wish of the country for pacification made it necessary that there should be an immediate end of the painful conflict. Moreover, Gen. Gallifet declared, the serious condition of the prisoner's health must be considered, as it was not in a fit condition to stand further imprisonment. The long imprisoment on Devil's Island, Gen. imprisonment on Devil's Island, Gen. to consideration.

Virginia Hospital Burned.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 22.—One woman was burnt to death and another woman and an insane man are also believed to have been buried in the ruins of St. Vincent's Hospital, which was burned. A nurse, Mrs. Dolan, was badly injured. The building is a total loss. The fire began on the fifth story in the south wing and spread rapidly. Although the removal of the patients began immediately upon the discovery of the fire the flames gained headway so rapidly that three persons, too weak to help themselves, were still in the building when it collapsed. The demolished building was valued at over $250,000.

Money Needed in the Klondike.

Bradford, Pa., Sept. 22.—John and Francis Mullin have arrived here from the Klondike and were met at the depot by a big crowd of friends. John Mullin says that the Klondike is a hard proposition for gold seekers who lack ample capital. "A man with $10,000," said Mullin, "can go to the Klondike and buy a claim, just as he can go into the oil country, buy an oil lease and realize good money on it. But it is no place for a man without capital to work with."

Jiminez to Be President.

Santo Domingo, Sept. 22.—A decree has been issued by the Provisional Government notifying the people that an election for President and Vice-President will be held on Oct. 6. Gen Don Juan Isidore Jiminez, the revolutionary chief, is named as the candidate for President. Gen. Horacio Vasquez, the provisional president, is nominated for Vice-President. The election of these candidates is almost certain.

Thrown From Horse and Killed.

New York, Sept. 22.—Benjamin W. Schwab, who was instantly killed by being thrown from his horse while riding in Van Cortlandt Park, was a son of Gustav Schwab, of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, and was himself a partner of the firm of Oelrichs & Co. He had just returned from a vacation in Maine.

John Herget Dead.

Pekin, Ill., Sept. 22.—John Herget, the millionaire distiller, died at his home in this city. The deceased was 73 years old and the wealthiest man in this part of Illinois.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 22.—Advances were common in the stock market, but the trading continued to reflect a great deal of feverishness and uncertainty Brooklyn Rapid Transit was the feature in respect of activity and of advance, although even in that instance the fluctuations were extremely wide. Comparatively active features were the Granger stocks, American Tobacco, Tennessee Coal & Iron and the Pacific stocks. The London market was reported at a standstill, pending the settlement of the critical situation in South Africa. As the day wore on the market showed more stability, but the advances were small as a rule.

READY TO TAKE THE FIELD

Burghers Will Fight Against the English Forces if War Comes.

THE BOERS ARE IN CAMP

President Kruger Gives Unmistakable Evidence of Being Anxious to Avoid Hostilities.

Cape Papers Declare the Action of Members of Parliament Amounts Almost to Treason—British Army Nursing Service Sails From Southampton for the Cape.

London, Sept. 22.—The speech of Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, the former Liberal leader, to his constitutents at New Tredegar, and the message of the Cape Town Afrikander member of Parliament to President Kruger, have proved "red rags" to the "war-at-any-price" party.

The Cape papers declare the action of the members of Parliament amounts almost to treason, and the same terms are applied to Sir William Vernon-Harcourt's remarks by the English anti-Boer papers.

Those who claim the situation has not yet passed the rubicon of pacific negotiation, see in President Kruger's answer to the Afrikanders a genuine desire to avoid hostilities. The report that he has personally petitioned Queen Victoria to avert hostilities certainly does not bear out the alarmist reports of the English correspondents in South Africa that President Kruger determined long since upon war.

Nevertheless, preparations for that eventuality continue energetically on both sides. The Boers are Laagering, and British troops are reaching Kimberley and Ladysmith, the onward march of the latter being marked by enthusiastic ovations from the scared inhabitants and hordes hurrying southward for safety.

The latest report of Boer activity emanates from Newcastle, Natal, saying the Transvaal forces are encamped at Zandsprint and intend to raid Natal immediately after they understand that Mr. Chamberlain's reply is not satisfactory.

The British army nursing service has sailed from Southampton and Major-General French will sail at once. He goes to Durban, Natal, to command the cavalry brigade.

The foregoing includes all the actual developments, but they help little to solve the universal question, "Will there be war?"

The answer of President Steyn, of the Orange Free State, to Sir Alfred Milner, the British High Commissioner of South Africa, is not regarded as a satisfactory explanation of the Free State's position and by no means dissipates the increased seriousness with which the situation is regarded. Since the first it has been reported that the Free State would aggressively assist the Transvaal.

Vanity Fair, frequently well informed regarding political secrets, emphatically reiterates the assertion that there will be no war. It says:

"President Kruger is an old man, but he is no dotard. He would like to get his own way, but not at the cost of defeat. Climb down he will. We maintain the belief that there will be no war?"

Vanity Fair takes the view, which is shared by several weeklies, that the alarmist daily papers have created a fictitious crisis.

The London edition of the Standard and Digger News, of Johannesburg, gave out a cable despatch purporting to be from Johannesburg, saying that the returns from the field corners of the Transvaal and Orange Free State show that 52,000 burghers are ready to take the field at short notice.

Croker and Harrison Invited.

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 22.—Richard Croker and Carter Harrison have been invited to attend the national Democratic carnival, to be held at the Texas Exposition Oct. 2 and 3. Two meetings are to be held each day, one in the forenoon and one in the afternoon. The carnival is to be ended with the dollar dinner on the night of Oct. 3. Ex-Vice President A. E. Stevenson was to have been present, but he has written that he will be here and speak on Illinois Day, October 7, at the fair grounds. Col. Bryan will speak on the afternoons of both days, and will make the principal address at the dollar dinner.

Plaintiffs Win Big Land Suit.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 22.—The case of Henry C. King against J. W. Watkins and others, involving the title to the Robert Morris grant for 500,000 acres of land in Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky, which has been on trial for over three weeks in the United States Court at Abingdon, was decided in favor of the plaintiffs. Some of the land has been occupied for many years, and in West Virginia includes the site of a large town. The decision will dispossess many people and have a far-reaching effect. The land is of immense value. The title runs back to the days of the Revolution.

Dr. Burchard's Will Interpreted.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 22.—Vice-Chancellor Emery has filed a decision in interpretation of the will of the late Rev. Thomas Merring Burchard, of "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" notoriety. He orders the estate to be divided equally between the two sons and the widow. Among the provisions of the will is one that the testator be buried beside his first wife and that the name "Tom" and the conjunction "and" be added, that the stone may read, "Tom and Irene."

Believed to Have Suicided.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Margaret Boughton, seventy-four years old, is supposed to have committed suicide, as her body has been found in the Hudson. She had a home with Judge E. Q. Eldridge, who died two days ago. It is believed she killed herself on learning of the death of her benefactor.

DEMOCRATS AT BOSTON.

Chicago Platform Indorsed and a State Ticket Nominated.

Boston, Sept. 22.—The Democratic State Convention was called to order in Mechanics' Hall. The business of the convention was the nomination of candidates for Governor, Lieutenant Governor and other State officers, and the selection of delegates to the National Democratic Convention.

The platform as adopted indorses the principles of the last national convention and opposes the policy of the McKinley Administration in the Philippines. The chairman of the Platform Committee is George Fred Williams.

Christopher T. Callahan, of Holyoke temporary Chairman, delivered an address which spoke of Bryan as the Presidential candidate and arraigned the McKinley administration.

The following state ticket was nominated:

Governor—Robert Treat Paine, Jr., Boston.

Lieutenant Governor—John H. Mack, North Adams.

Secretary of State—Harry Lloyd, Boston.

Attorney General—John H. Morrison, Lowell.

Auditor—W. L. Ramsdell, Lynn.

Treasurer—Joseph J. Flynn, Lawrence.

Nebraska Republicans Meet.

Omaha, Sept. 22.—The Republican State Convention here was one of harmony and enthusiasm. Much of this was due to the attitude of the soldiers recently returned from the Philippines.

The following ticket was nominated on the first ballot:

Supreme Justice—M. B. Reese, of Lincoln.

Regents of the State University—E. G. McGilton, Omaha; W. B. Ely, Ainsworth.

Justice Reese has served six years on the Supreme bench, retiring six years ago to resume the practice of his profession.

The platform expresses confidence in the national administration, declares for the gold standard, and in the closing paragraph says: "We denounce the attempt now desperately being made to again array labor and capital in hostile camps. The Republican party now, as always, opposes trusts and combinations having for their purpose the stifling of competition and arbitrarily controlling production or fixing prices, but we also recognize that legitimate business interests fairly capitalized and honestly managed, have built up our industries at home, given the largest employment to labor at the highest wage, and have enabled us to successfully compete with foreign countries in the markets of the world."

The G. A. R. Men Win.

New York, Sept. 22.—Gov. Roosevelt has ordered that the Grand Army Veterans be given the place of honor at the head of the Dewey parade, and in doing so has stirred up the wrath of General Roe to such an extent that the general says he will resign as chairman of the Dewey Land Parade Committee and have nothing more to do with it. As matters now stand, it looks as though the G. A. R. has won the victory and will be represented in the line of march according to the first arrangement of the program for the festivities.

A Corner in Almonds.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—People who supply salted almonds to their guests at dinner will probably pay more for the delicacy this winter. Almonds are cornered and are held so closely in the hands of the combination controlling the market that all offers to sell have been withdrawn. The combination is said to include two Chicago houses and a firm in California.

Dealt Too Heavily in Wheat.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—The firm of Barrett, Farnum & Co., a wealthy and influential Board of Trade concern here, has failed. The firm had sold short heavily in the last three days in the expectation that the New York stock panic would result in a break in wheat. The shortage of the firm is estimated from four to five million bushels of December option.

Howison Coming Home.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—Admiral Howison has reported to the Navy Department by cable his departure with the flagship Chicago from Barbados for New York. It is just possible for the ship to cover the distance between Barbados and New York at a somewhat accelerated cruising speed by the 29th inst.

Their Resignations Accepted.

Albany, Sept. 22.—Governor Roosevelt has accepted the resignation of all the members of the Board of Managers of the Western House of Refuge at Albion. The managers claim that State Controller Morgan interfered with their prerogations in the purchasing of supplies for the institution.

Heermance Resigns.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Martin M. Heermance of Poughkeepsie, has resigned as a member of the State Board of Tax Commissioners. He was appointed Jan. 20, 1896, by Governor Morton. The appointment of his successor, Lester Stern, is to be announced soon.

They Searched Guerin's House.

Paris, Sept. 22.—M. Guerin, president of the Anti-Semite League, who surrendered to the police Wednesday, has been taken to "Fort Chabrol," the headquarters of the league. The premises were searched by the police, M. Guerin looking on. A few Guerinites gathered and cheered their leader.

Fatal Wreck in West Virginia.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Sept. 22.—Train No. 3, on the Baltimore and Ohio, was wrecked near Petroleum, W. Va. Engineer William Meyers was killed and three postal clerks and three train men injured. The passengers were not hurt.

No New Cases of Fever.

New Orleans, Sept. 22.—No new cases of yellow fever have been reported. A decided drop in temperature has had a good effect and the quarantines that are still in force are expected to be withdrawn within a few days.

VAN ARSDALE,
Repairing Properly Done. 127 East Front St

A barkeeper living in Jersey City, N. J., has been troubled a great deal with dyspepsia, heartburn and sour stomach. "I have tried everything," he says, "but found no cure until I was induced to try Ripans Tabules. They are perfect. I always use them for my children for constipation. I always keep them in the house. I have induced friends to try them, and they all indorse them."

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores FOR FIVE CENTS. This low priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at liquor stores and barber shops.

SAYS THEY ARE BASELESS.

Wife of Minister Hunter Denounces Charges Aginst Her Husband.

Louisville, Sept. 22.—Mrs. W. Godfrey Hunter, wife of the United States minister to Guatemala, has arrived here from Guatemala. In speaking of the charges which American citizens in Guatemala are said to have filed against Minister Hunter, she said:

"I know nothing of the charges against my husband. I am confident that there can be no reasonable grounds for complaint at the administration of affairs in Guatemala as conducted by Dr. Hunter. The report that he is interested in certain deals with government officials of Guatemala is without foundation. There is no truth whatever in the story. The foundation of the whole thing lies in the fact that when the present president of Guatemala came into power he found his country in debt $50,000,000. Much of that money was owed to Americans, Germans and Englishmen. The president is making every effort to raise money to pay off the claims, but so far he has been able to accomplish little. It is unreasonable to expect that all the American claims would be paid before the British or German creditors are considered, even were the treasury of the country full. Yet many Americans expect Dr. Hunter to have that very thing done. When they find that no money is as yet forthcoming, they are inclined to make complaints."

Electric Motor Combination.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—At a meeting of manufacturers of electric motors at the Grand Pacific Hotel, a temporary organization was formed, Gilbert Hickcox of the Cutler-Hammer Manufacturing Company of Chicago being elected chairman. The object of the new association is to maintain prices in the trade. The cost of raw materials, iron, steel, copper and other materials has advanced 25 to 50 per cent. within the last few months, and it is the desire of the electric motor manufacturers to effect a corresponding increase in the price of the finished articles. About forty manufacturing firms from all parts of the United States were represented.

Harrison Would Run for Governor.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—The Times-Herald says that Mayor Harrison will run for Governor of Illinois next year. His decision was intended to have remained secret until later in the season. The Mayor himself gave the news to William J. Bryan last Saturday. Mr. Bryan was so eager to express his satisfaction to three or four Illinois Democrats that he let out the news. Mr. Harrison's determination to seek the Governorship is predicted, of course, on his receiving the Democratic nomination.

Will Grant French Concessions.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 22.—Advices from China say that the Chinese government, inclining to the pressure of the French minister at Pekin, has expressed a willingness to grant French concessions at Nanking under the provisions of the Tien Tsin treaty of 1858, provided France can obtain an agreement with Great Britain. That would seem to indicate that Great Britain's sphere of influence was recognized by the Chinese government.

Virginia Wants Olympia.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Senator Martin and a delegation of Virginians called on the President and at the Navy Department to request that the Olympia and such ships of the North Atlantic station as can be spared be sent to Norfolk during the State fair to be held there on Oct. 2, 3 and 4. Assistant Secretary Allen suggested that the application be made in written form and promised that the Department would consider it.

Indiana Will Be Represented.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 22.—A purse of $3,000 has been contributed by citizens, and the Indianapolis Light Artillery, known in the Spanish war as Battery A, will take part in the Dewey reception at New York. The battery will be fully equipped with guns, accouterments and horses, and will be forwarded by special train.

Will Stop Yaqui Rebellion.

New Orleans, Sept. 22.—A shipload of munitions of war has left this port for the island of Cozumel, from which point they are to be distributed by the Mexican government for use in the suppression of the Yaqui uprising in Yucatan. Gen. Monasterio, chief of the Mexican military, was in charge of the cargo.

Settled With Their Creditors.

English, Ind., Sept. 22.—The English Electric Light and Manufacturing Company, which made an assignment a week ago, has made a compromise with creditors, paying 50 cents on the dollar and the costs of litigation. The works will start up in about 10 days, employing about 100 men.

Will Make Type Setting Machines.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 22.—The Continental Type Bar Company, to manufacture type-setting machines, has been incorporated here with an authorized capital of $1,000,000. The incorporators are Edward T. Singer, Eugene E. Koenig, Walter McDermott, all of Jersey City.

Many Miners Killed.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 22.—Mail advices on the steamship Empress of India say that during the recent typhoons the most serious disaster was at Rosseble mines in the Araiheim district. Out of 12,300 persons employed at the mines more than 600 were killed.

New Trolley Line Opened.

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 22.—The trolley road built by United States Senator John Kean has begun operations in this city. The line is now two and one half miles long and runs between Broad street and the Staten Island Ferry at Elizabethport.

Killed By Rat's Bite.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 22.—The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Slack is dead from the effects of blood poison contracted eight weeks ago from a rat bite. The child lay in its crib and was attacked while asleep.

FIGHT AGAINST COMBINES.

Line of Action Suggested at the Governors' Anti-Trust Conference in St. Louis

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

The Placing of Local Laws on All Statute Books Would Leave No Home For Trusts.

Only Eight States Represented When the Resolutions, as Drawn up By Governor McMillin, of Tennessee, Were Adopted — The Conference Adjourns.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 22.—The anti-trust conference of Governors and Attorney Generals of the several states represented here, adopted a set of resolutions and then the conference adjourned.

Governor Shaw, of Iowa, and Governor Thomas, of Colorado, and Attorney General Taylor, of Indiana, having been unexpectedly called home, left only eight states represented.

The resolutions, drawn by Governor Benton McMillin, of Tennessee, are as follows:

That we believe that the best available remedies lie along the following lines:

1. The enactment and enforcement, both by the several states and the nation of legislation that shall adequately and fully define as crimes any attempted monopolization or restraint of trade in any line of industrial activity, with provisions for adequate punishment both of the individual, or corporation, that shall be found guilty thereof; punishment to the corporation to extent of its dissolution.

2. The enactment by each of the states of the Union of legislation for the adequate and proper control and regulation of corporations chartered by that state, and we recommend as efficacious a system of reports to and examination by state authority of the corporation's organized under its laws, to the end that they be brought to a fair observance of the laws under which they are created.

3. The enactment by each state of laws that will prevent the entrance of any foreign created corporation into its limits, for any other purpose than interstate commerce, except on terms that will put the foreign created corporation on a basis of equality with the domestic created corporation of the state entered, and subject to the same laws, rules and regulations of the state that it enters which are applicable to the domestic corporations of that state, and to this end we recommend legislation that would make it inandatory upon corporations seeking to engage in business outside the state of their creation, that they procure licenses from the foreign state as a condition precedent to their entry into such state, such license to be granted on such terms and subject to such restrictions as will place the corporation subject to the same control, inspection, supervision and regulation as the domestic corporation of that state, and subject to be revocable if the conditions thereof are violated.

4. The enactment of state legislation, declaring that a corporation created in one state to do business exclusively in other states than where created shall be prohibited from admission into any state.

This proposition is supported by decisions of the Supreme Courts of several states, but we believe it should become a legislative enactment, uniform througout the states.

5. That no corporation should be formed in whole or in any part by any corporation.

6. That no corporation shall own or hold any stock in another corporation engaged in a similar or competitive business, and that no officer or director of a corporation shall be the officer or director or the owner of stock in another corporation engaged in a similar competitive business, the object or result of which is to create a trust or monopoly.

7. Recognizing that trusts are usually composed of corporations, and that corporations are but creatures of the law, and can only exist in the place of their creation, and cannot migrate to another sovereignty without the consent of that sovereignty, and that this consent may be withheld when desired, we recommend as the sense of this confrence that each state pass laws providing that no corporation which is a member of any pool or trust in that state or elsewhere can do business in that state.

Grief Caused His Death.

Lancaster, Pa., Sept. 22.—Nathan B. Pryor, a merchant, died here from grief. His stepdaughter died, and Mr. Pryor, who was just recovering from illness himself, went downstairs to view the body. He grew pale and became very weak at the sight and had to be carried to bed, where he died four hours later from heart failure.

Peter Jackson Dying.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 22.—Peter Jackson, the colored pugilist, who has been giving a number of sparring exhibitions throughout the Northwest, has returned from Vancouver suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia. He was ordered to the hospital, and it is feared he may not recover.

Stone Makes an Appointment.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 22.—Governor Stone has appointed A. C. Fanning, of Troy, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Bradford county in place of the late Judge Benjamin M. Peck.

Choked to Death on a Sandwich.

Amsterdam, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Samuel Bunn, 55 years old, choked to death while eating a sandwich in Samuel E. Vunck's hotel, at Burtonsville, Montgomery county.

Mail Lost on Morgan City.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Gen. Otis has informed the War Department that the six or eight days' mail sent by the transport Morgan City was lost in the wreck of the vessel.

Pensioning Teachers.

Referring editorially to the latest scheme of pensioning teachers, by passing a State law allowing municipalities to retire superannuated school teachers on pensions, if they so desire, the Newark News very sensibly says:

"That the proposed pension scheme is wrong in principle and unjust in practice should not at this day need demononstration. Except that their salaries have been paid from the public treasury there is no difference between worn-out school teachers and superannuated followers of any other pursuit. Any member of the community who has led a sober, industrious, frugal life has just as much right to ask for a pension when no longer able to support himself as has a public school teacher. While there is truth in the claim that the salaries paid school teachers are not as liberal as they should be, it is also true that there is no lack of applicants for positions, and that the remuneration is not disproportionate to that earned in other pursuits where each person is expected to make provision for his or her old age. Socialists hold that every person after reaching a certain age should be supported by the State; the pensioning of teachers should be deferred until the advent of that much-to-be desired day."

The Republicans of Essex county are feeling good-natured today as the result of the announcement made yesterday that Judge Franklin Fort would consent to be their Senatorial candidate at the approaching election Judge Fort is regarded as a very strong candidate—hence the felicitious feeling of the G. O. P. leaders. The office of State Senator is regarded in a political sense the most important one to be filled this fall, principally because the successful candidate will have a vote for a successor to Senator Sewell in 1901. The vote from Essex may decide the contest on that occasion, and for this reason the Republicans are particularly anxious to have a strong candidate for the place.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, arguing the question, Will Dewey ever be President? concludes as follows: "Admiral Dewey will go down in history among the heroes of the United States Navy. With that history he and the people of the United States will be content. It is foolish to talk about Dewey for the Presidency, for he wouldn't have the office even if it were presented to him upon a platter of gold."

If Dreyfus should decide to come to the United States to remain until he recuperates his health he will receive such a cordial welcome that it will go a good ways tempering his high-strung feelings as a result of the great strain and injustice that he has been subjected to in the land of his own nativity.

THE OCEANIC, LARGEST EVER BUILT.

The Oceanic, new White Star liner which arrived in New York from Queenstown on Wednesday, September 13, made her maiden trip in 6 days, 1 hour, 24 minutes. The time is considered very good, though no effort was made to sail for a record. The record, held by the Lucania of the Cunard line, is 5 days, 7 hours, 23 minutes. The Oceanic is the largest vessel ever built. She was launched at Belfast on January 14th last from the world famous shipbuilding yards of Harland & Wolff. Her dimensions are—704 feet long, 72 feet beam and 68 feet depth, with draught light of 22 feet and loaded 32 1-2 feet. She registers 17,000 tons. Her engines were designed to develop 45,000 horse power. Her coal capacity is about 6,000 tons, sufficient to take her around the world at a 12 knot rate, and she consumes about 500 tons of coal daily.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The Plainfield Board of Trade has decided to try to interest the Boards of Trade and officials of other towns towns along the Central Railroad in an effort to secure a general reduction in the rates of passenger fares on that railroad. Such a movement should meet with approval here. It would be greatly to the advantage of Somerville if the regular fare to New York as well as the commutation rate could be lowered. We think the officials here will co-operate with Plainfield and if not the citizens should take it up. There is no doubt that lower fares would tend to a faster growth of suburban towns and the railroad company would soon make up the first loss.—Somerville Unionist Gazette.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

There are a number of Plainfielders, prominent in musical circles, who frequently visit the Hotel Hunterston. Impromptu concerts are held very frequently in the central court, and the other guests gather round to listen to the singing of popular songs and classical selections. Only a few days ago the young men rendered the famous "Anvil Chorus." The anvil accompaniment was furnished by an ingenious member of the party who utilized two silver sugar bowl covers.

* * * * *

The following letter written to The Daily Press in a reminiscent tone by an old Plainfielder will be read with interest:—A Plainfield woman, whom he is proud to call a friend of thirty years standing, has placed in the writer's hand a little reminder of earlier years when his pharmacy was located on the premises long since devoted to the business of that excellent merchant and citizen, Mr. A. M. Griffen—years when "Cherry" street (now Park avenue) and Front street were elm-shaded and (too often) muddy and ruddy channels of native Jersey soil, channels having no particular grade, and lighted at night by the glow of the store-windows and of the moon. This little time-yellowed card—a faded leaf, so to speak—with its imprint of "Force Bros.," may perhaps seem to their successor worthy of passing note in his daily paper by way of reminder and contrast.

As thus:—It bears a schedule of the passenger trains between New York and Plainfield in December, 1868; and it records the price of a staple commodity at that date.

Twenty-five trains in all are named as stopping daily at Plainfield, fourteen east-bound, eleven west-bound. As compared with the present train service it is a meagre list; and the running time is in keeping with the number. As to the old station of that time, inevitably suggested by this schedule—Heaven forbid the memory of its details. In its lower margin our faded-leaf bears a quotation of "Kerosene Oil, legal flash-test, price 50 cents a gallon." Herein is a contrast, the same oil being now retailed at ten (10) cents per gallon and down to six or seven for lower grades; thanks, shall we say to the trust?

Truly yes, Brer Jasper, the world do move, whether we will or no. Gone the shade of the elms: Gone the ruddy mud: Gone the foul old Railroad Station: Gone the high prices of oil: and now, into the scrap-basket goes the little faded card! But hold; that name pencilled on the back! Shall we not lay it aside for another day?

DOUBLE TRADING STAMPS

all day long on

SATURDAY.

As a grand climax to a week of bargain-giving we shall tomorrow (Sat) give double the usual quantity of Trading Stamps with each cash purchase.

The week just closing is a record breaker so far as receiving new goods is concerned. Never before in so short a space of time have we opened such quantities of goods.

Our entire winter supply of blankets is now on exhibition and we don't hesitate to affirm that Plainfield people have never had so comprehensive a line to select from and were never offered such values. We buy these goods direct from the mills and in so doing save the jobbers' profits. Prices range from 50c pair to $14.00 pair. Sizes 10-4, 11-4, 12-4. The line includes some beautiful soft gray blankets with rich borders, designed especially for bath robes.

Comfortables. Our experience in this line proves to us that ladies appreciate nice goods. Our comfortables are filled with clean white cotton, odorless, covered with coverings of exclusive patterns, thoroughly quilted and are superior in quality, finish and appearance. Prices as follows: 98c, $1.25, $1.48, $1.75, $1.98, $2.25, $2.48, $2.75, $2.98.

Two numbers in down quilts at $3.98, $4.98. Full size, pure down filled, covered with elegant satine and artistically quilted. Warm, light, fluffy. No well-regulated family should be without them.

Golf Suitings.

Fashion makes it imperative that Golf Suiting be worn. We are inclined to encourage their use, for no more durable and stylish suitings were ever introduced to the buying public. Double-faced, warm, serviceable, need no lining. Our line ranges in price from $1.25 to $3.98 per yard, and we believe our styles equal to the best shown by N. Y. houses. Our prices we believe to be lower, as we purchased early before the subsequent rise in price.

Underskirts. New fall styles are now on sale, and let us say to you—you may look many a day for a more attractive lot of styles. They are made of satines, Italian cloths, mercerized cottons, morreens, etc, in both black and colors.

New waists in flannel, brilliantine, satine, silk, etc. Styles are exclusive and prices are right.

Sundry Novelties.

New Embroidered Chiffons—Tucked Silks, Corded Silks, etc., for dress fronts. All over point-de-venise dress laces in black and cream, plain lace nets, new veilings, new neck novelties, velvet ribbons in satin back and linen back, butter colored lace ties with embroidered ends, black jetted lace nets, etc.

Kid Gloves. We sell no cheap kid gloves. No lady is well-dressed with either cheap gloves or cheap shoes. Better wear a cheap dress. $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 are our prices for good gloves. The last two numbers are entirely new and very desirable. Must be seen, however, to be appreciated.

New Table Damasks.

Our sales in this line are certainly phenomenal. We have surprised ourselves as well as our friends. It is not the result of accident, but rather the natural response to persistent effort to secure and offer to our customers special values. The latest attractions in this department are two special Bleached Damasks at 50c and 75c per yard. The 50c number is worth 75c and the 75c number is worth 89c, or we are guilty of prevarication.

DOWN STAIRS.

The old saying "forewarned forearmed" has proved true in our case in regard to White Iron Beds. Anticipating the rise in price of these goods we bought early and often all the iron beds we could find storage for. Prices have advanced since until we could sell the goods back to the people we bought them of at a handsome profit.

We prefer, however, to give our friends the benefit of our good fortune. Iron Beds, Brass trimmed, at 3.75, 4.98, 5.75, 6.48, 7.98, 8.49, 9.98, 10.75, 11.50, 12.50, 13.75, 14.98. Every bed quoted worth from 15 to 25 per cent more.

MATTRESSES.

Soft Top Mattresses, 1.98, 2.45. Husk, soft top, 2.98. Victor Combination, 1 part, 3.98. Victor Combination, 2 parts, 4.48. 45 lb Pure White Cotton, A. C. A. tick, 2 parts, 5.98. Genuine Felt Mattress, Fancy tick, 1 part or 2 parts, 8.50. Silk Floss Mattress, to order, 15.00. Springs, Pillows, Furniture, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Mattings, Shades, Rugs, etc.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 22—Lawyer Sweeney, of Plainfield, attempted to play peace maker between two boys who were attempting to thrash another yesterday afternoon. Before the youthful disciple of Blackstone realized it, he was engaged in a lively scrap. Willie showed that he was no novice in the pugilistic art and he soon had the young ruffians on "queer street."

Some miscreant helped themselves to a bicycle belonging to Henry Garretson, on Wednesday night, while the boys were serenading Mr. Carmen and bride.

Geo. W. Day, as auctioneer, yesterday sold the household goods in the home of Mrs. C.M. Boyrer, on Dunellen avenue.

Bob. Malby has served his connection with the local foot ball team and will join the Alis team of Plainfield.

Miss Nancy Thomas has returned to Hackettstown where she is attending school.

The larger boys are organizing a foot ball team in the borough.

Geo. Churchill, of Asbury Park, is visiting Mrs. Nancy Thomas.

The tinners are at work upon Mrs. H. L. Terry's new house.

Henry Stevens has been visiting in New York.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 22—Two young boys from Newark arrived in town Wednesday peddling matches. They made a tour of the town selling six large boxes for 25 cents. Some of the purchasers examined their packages after the young merchants had departed and found among the six several empty boxes. The boys made a tour of the candy stores in the village and were caught stealing in several places. The result was they were cuffed about the ears upon several different occasions, but they did not seem to mind this in the least. The boys showed from their actions that they are keeping well informed upon the events of the day and knew that nearly everything went in Scotch Plains.

Constable Wm. H. Trayno, while trying to land his prisoner in the lock-up cage Saturday night, was kicked on the ankle by some one of the prisoner's friends. While it hurt some then he thought little of it, but Sunday and Monday the bruise became more painful, and he was finally compelled to leave his work and call in a physician. Mr. Trayno has lost several days work, suffered a great deal of pain, and his fee for making the arrest is about $1.

The case of Miller against Bondy in tort in Judge Clark's court has been adjourned until October 4th by request of defendant's counsel, Lawyer Frech, of Somerville. The suit grew out of savage attack of a large mastiff, supposed to belong to Mrs. Hoffman, of Terrill road, upon Miller who was delivering a telegram some time ago at the home of Mrs. Hoffman. Miller brought suit against Mrs. Hoffman, claiming $200.

The football enthusiasts are practicing hard every evening on the gridiron in the rear of the Public School building. Some very creditable material is being developed and when the season opens Scotch Plains has the promise of having a strong team to represent her upon the gridiron. The average weigh will be 130.

Nearly all the unsightly posters which have adorned the electric light poles and fences through the town since time immemorial, have been torn down to comply with the new ordinance which forbids the posting of any advertisements upon the streets of the village, unless by consent of the Town Committee.

Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., held their regular weekly meeting in their rooms last evening. Business of importance was brought before the meeting.

Colonel Stegman, of Stout avenue, is improving his property by planting a number of shade trees about his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthias Schmidt are entertaining Mrs. Schmidt's brother, Octave Guenier, of Oceanic, for a few days.

The contract case of Jahn against West in Judge Schick's court, has been settled without suit.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 22.—At the meeting of the Township Committee to be held this evening Chairman J. Alston Dennis will issue a request to the residents and merchants of the town asking that flags be displayed and that houses and business buildings be decorated in some way on Dewey Day. C. P. Wilcox has arranged to fire a salute of seventeen guns from the old cannon taken from the Star of the West, the first vessel fired upon during the Civil War, when the news of the Admiral's arrival in New York is telegraphed to him.

Mrs. William Edgar fell down the stairs at her home on Elm street yesterday morning and sprained her left ankle and badly hurt her right knee. The accident was caused by catching her foot in her skirt.

The annual inspection of the Westfield Fire Department will be held Thursday evening of next week, Chief Chamberlain having issued such orders.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

The largest bloodhound in the world is with Stetson's Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. He weighs 203 lbs. and costs $1,000. The undying, inevitable Uncle Tom's Cabin appears at Music Hall this afternoon and evening under the successful management of Leon W. Washburn. It is the best dramatization of this celebrated play ever presented, and the specialties are of high order. Of the specialties the dancing of the Topsies is a fine exhibition of suppleness and dexterity. The natural melody of the Lone Star Quartette, in their southern songs, and Lady Creole Quartette, only one on the road direct from conservatory of music, Nashville, Tenn., also southern cake walkers, buck and wing dancers; the overture of the orchestra and the mandolin students are equally entertaining in the extreme. A calcium light situated in the key of the gallery arc, cast rich, glowing colors over the tableaux with charming effect.

* * * * *

The performance of that famous fabric of fun, music and movement, Thomas H. Davis' farcical play "The Hustler," at Music Hall tomorrow night reconstructed according to the times and new in everything but name. The production ranks among the greatest farce comedies now touring the country, and ever since its first conception is said to have surpassed all its contemporaries in laughter-evoking qualities. As a sparkling review of latest wit, fun, melody and song, the reputation of "The Hustler" is as wide as the continent itself. A well conceived, satirical story, a series of funny situations, a bevy of pretty girls, tuneful music, together with a talented array of singers, dancers and comedians, makes the ensemble of a performance which is said to bristle with novelties.

The eminent caricaturist and fin de siecle humorist, R. F. Outcault, has added much to the popularity of the New York World by his writing and pictures of "Kelly's Kids," their sayings and doings. His work has been made into a rattling, musical farce-comedy, embellished with all the latest song hits, terpischorean novelties, beautiful scenery, handsome costumes, and will be presented by a company of artists embracing many of the best known singers, dancers, actors and comedians. "The Kids" will be at Music Hall next Tuesday night.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Den „Münchener Neuesten Nachrichten" ist in Oesterreich das Postdebit entzogen, weil sich das Blatt zu offen über die hiesigen Zustände geäußert hatte.—Anhier starb Anton Schürer v. Waldheim, das Haupt der Apotheker Oesterreichs, Ehrenpräsident ihrer Vereine und Mitglied des obersten Sanitätsraths, geboren in Wien 1830. Er veröffentlichte grundlegende Schriften zur Pharmakopöe, und sein Entwurf einer internationalen Pharmakopöe wurde 1885 vom Brüsseler internationalen Pharmazeutenkongreß als Grundlage angenommen.

Altbenatek. Hier schlug der Blitz in das Haus des Tagelöhners Prajs ein und tödtete die 100 Jahre alte Großmutter des Tagelöhners, die eben einen Urenkel in den Armen hielt. Das Kind erlitt schwere Brandwunden. Das Haus brannte nieder.

Brixen. Der Ortler wurde letzthin an einem Tage von nicht weniger als 60 Touristen und Touristinnen bestiegen. Es ist dies wohl die höchste Zahl der Ortlerbesteigungen an einem Tage.

Budapest. In Beregratos ermordete der Landwirth Mikita, der sich in Erbanfprüchen verkürzt glaubte, seinen Bruder, dessen Frau, deren 12- und 5jährige Kinder und eine zweite Schwägerin während des Schlafes durch Beilhiebe. Der Mörder, der zuletzt Polizeimann war, ist verhaftet.

Feldkirch. Auf dem Veitskopf erfolgte die Enthüllung des Kriegerdenkmals zur Erinnerung an die Vertheidigung Feldkirchs am 22. und 23. März 1799 durch kaiserliche Truppen und das Aufgebot der Stände Vorarlbergs unter Führung des Generals Jellachich.

Fügen. Der erste Tiroler Meisterschütze Franz Ritzl von hier hat seinem Namen wieder Ehre gemacht. Unlängst traf er unter 205 Schüssen 204 Mal das Schwarze. Nur der erste Schuß war ein „Weißer," weil das Visir bei diesem Probeschuß noch nicht auf die Distanz eingestellt war.

Innsbruck. Dr. Franz Tschurtschenthaler, ein Bruder des hiesigen Staatsanwaltes, wurde zum Arzt in der Familie des Fürsten von Bulgarien ernannt. Tschurtschenthaler ist bereits seit einiger Zeit am Hofe des Fürsten.

Lemberg. Bei einem Offiziersdiner kam es zu einem Streite zwischen zwei Offizieren des 24. Infanterie-Regiments. Die Folge war ein Duell auf Pistolen, bei welchem Lieutenant Spang einen tödtlichen Schuß durch die Brust erhielt. Er starb nach zwei Stunden.

Magyar-Lapos. Ein Militärballon, welcher Früh um halb 8 Uhr in Przemysl hochgelassen wurde, ist um halb 3 Uhr Nachmittags bei Magyar-Lapos gelandet. Insassen waren Oberlieutenant Engel und Lieutenant Tepscher. Der Militärballon hatte die Karpathen und das Waldgebirge überflogen.

Meran. In St. Leonhard in Passeier ist Franz Holler, ein Urenkel Andreas Hofers, 18 Jahre alt, nach längerer Krankheit gestorben.

Miskolcz. In Aranyos erschoß Franz Zima das schönste Mädchen des Ortes, Elisabeth Farkas, weil sie seine Liebe verschmähte. Ihr Vater erstach hierauf den Mörder mit einer Heugabel.

Schweiz.

Bern. Der amtlichen Publikation zufolge hatte die Schweiz zu Ende des letzten Jahres 3,105,343 Einwohner, der volkreichste Kanton, Bern: 549,387; das industrielle Zürich 399,441. Der Ueberschuß der Geburten über die Todesfälle betrug 32,615. Die Anzahl der tödtlich verlaufenen Unfälle im Gebirge, durch Sturz oder herabfallende Felsen stellte sich auf 611. Durch Ueberfahrenwerden starben 74 Personen; auf Eisenbahnen erdrückt wurden 31.

Zürich. Das Organisationskomite des Deutschen Schriftsteller- und Journalistentages in Zürich beschloß, von dem 5500 Francs betragenden Ueberschuß der allgemeinen Rechnung 3000 Francs der Pensionskasse des Deutschen Schriftsteller- und Journalistenverbandes zu überweisen. Außerdem wurden je 1000 Francs für die dortige „Pestalozzigesellschaft" sowie die beiden Preßvereine als Fonds für die zu gründenden Unterstützungskassen verabreicht.

Zug. Wegen Ermordung eines Brodfuhrmanns in einer Thalschlucht bei Zug wurde im Jahre 1882 der Knecht Joseph Schicker von Blickerstorf zu lebenslänglicher Zuchthausstrafe verurtheilt. Just 14 Jahre verbrachte Schicker in der Strafanstalt und betheuerte fortwährend seine Unschuld. Nach wiederholter Abweisung des Revisionsbegehrens wurde endlich das Schuldurtheil wegen Mangels genügenden Beweises aufgehoben und Schicker auf freien Fuß gesetzt. Nun hat der wirkliche Mörder vor seinem Tode ein Geständniß abgelegt, und Schickers Unschuld ist jetzt also zweifellos festgestellt.

Graubünden. Noch nie hatten die Hochthäler Graubündens einen so kolossalen Besuch aufzuweisen, wie diese Saison. Etliche Wochen lang erschien das „Engadiner Fremdenblatt" in St. Moritz 16 Seiten, das „Allgemeine Fremdenblatt" in Chur 10 Seiten stark. In Chur wird ein neues komfortables Hotel in der Nähe des Bahnhofes hergestellt, dessen Baukosten auf 300,000 Francs angesetzt sind.

SHAMROCK'S BOOM.

THE NEW BOOM LONGER THAN THE OLD ONE.

Pictures of the New Challenger Show Her to Have Enormous Spar Plan —Headsails of Shamrock Probably Larger Than the Columbia's.

The shipbuilding firm of J. G. Fay & Co., Southampton, is constructing for the Shamrock a still larger boom than the one with which she is fitted at present, as it is thought that in the lighter atmosphere of America she will be able to carry more canvas.

SHAMROCK END ON.

The pictures of the Shamrock printed herewith are the first that have been published showing the spar plan of the challenger. It will easily be seen that the new boat has an enormous spread of canvas. Taking the water line of the yacht at 90 feet, and it is probably a little under that, the main boom measures 110 feet, and from the end of the bowsprit to the forward side of the mast is 82 feet, so that the base of the triangle for measurement is very close to 194 feet. The yacht in appearance is not unlike the Columbia, but the arrangement of sails is somewhat different. The head sails of the Shamrock are probably larger than those of the Columbia. The boom on both yachts is about the same length. The height of the mast and topmasts is very near the same, so what extra spread the Shamrock has is in her head sails.

The rigging of the yacht apears to be very light and simple. All the halyards lead through the deck and will be worked from the deck below. The masthead rigging is similar to that of the Columbia. Two shrouds lead to the hounds and two from each side of the topmast head. The spread is larger but appears to be light.

The picture of the yacht from a position aft shows her great beam and the length of the spinnaker pole, which is standing forward of the mast. The steel boom is round, not octagon shaped, like that which was carried on the Valkyrie III. Looking aft, the Shamrock has a somewhat "tubby" appearance. The construction of the boat, acording to all reports, is a wonderful piece of work, and while everything has been done to make her as light as possible she is strongly put together and is braced in an ingenious way.

The Shamrock, according to reliable information, is 130 feet over all, 90 feet on the water line, and 25 feet 8 inches beam. Her overhang forward is 19 feet, and aft it is 21 feet. The mast is stepped 30 feet from the forward end of the water line. It is a steel spar 106 feet long. From deck to hound it is 78 feet. The spar is made of three-eighth-inch steel, is 5 feet 9 inches in circumference and 3 inches in diameter. The bowsprit is 33 feet outboard, the gaff 68 feet and the spinnaker pole 85 feet long.

SHAMROCK'S BIG SPARS.

The sheer of the boat is straight and she looks very well. Fife always makes a pretty boat, and this one is no exception to the rule. Abroad there seems to be a disposition to find fault with the challenger. This is probably done so as to be able to criticise freely if the Columbia successfully defends the cup, and it is doubtful if any reliable idea of the Shamrock's speed will be had until she appears in these waters.

Fitz May Meet McCoy.

Bob Fitzsimmons and Kid McCoy may fight before one of the New York clubs in September for the middleweight championship of the world. Plans for the meeting have been perfected, it is said, and both men are willing. The only thing left undone is the signing of the articles of agreement. Beyond a little disagreement over the stipulations of the Marquis of Queensberry rules everything is satisfactory to both men, and their signatures will be affixed to the articles when McCoy arrives from Denver within the next three weeks.

A DEMON WHEELMAN.

Breakneck Exploits of a Bicyclist Who Plays With Cable Cars.

Could you ride the Broadway cable slot on the hind wheel of your bicycle with the front wheel in the air? Inquires the New York Journal.

"Could you take off your coat and vest in front of an on-rushing cable car while pedalling backwards?

Maybe you could—once; but don't!

An amateur bicyclist in this city has blanched the face of nearly every motorman on the Broadway line. His feats attract crowds near Twenty-third street and Broadway every evening. Some people have been going to see this rider night after night during the past month.

"I expect to see his mangled body picked up every night I see him," was the way one of them put it.

The rider's name is John A. Ryland. He is attached to the Empire Theatre, but has never given stage exhibitions.

Ryland was riding in front of a car with his front wheel in the air when seen by the reporter. When he came to the house at which he wanted to stop he swerved his bicycle into the gutter. Then he said:

"I ride for fun. My bicycle is made to stand the strain. There is no danger Motormen get scared when I come suddenly in front of their cars, and new men stop short. After one or two experiences they get used to my style of riding and keep going.

"I practised week after week before I attempted any tricks in front of cars The pavement bothered me at first. It is great sport and the element of danger makes it more interesting. If my bicycle should slip I would fall outside of the tracks."

Then Ryland jumped on his bicycle and, as an electric car came up Twenty-third street, he darted out and threw the front wheel in the air. Then he rode half way up the block. His wheel was at no time more than six feet from the car. He turned to the track running west, grasped the back of the bicycle saddle and sprang in the air, twisting his feet over the top bar of the machine. Then he caught the pedals and, sitting astride the top bar with his back against the handle-bars started up the street. Then he did the disrobing act.

First the coat came off. Then Ryland took off his vest and waved them at the motorman, all the time travelling backward ten miles an hour. At Sixth avenue Ryland put on his coat and vest, and, without changing his position on the wheel, steered east over the rough pavement, still riding backward.

Then Ryland saw a crowd gathering and said:

"There are too many people. It don't do to get such a crowd together."

Cycling Notes.

To keep the nickel parts of a bicycle bright use a solution of hyposulphite of soda, wiping it on with a rag and drying with a soft towel. Afterward use chamois to brighten the nickel.

The teeth of the pedals should be filed periodically. They become blunt by running them against curbstones and by ordinary wear. If filed occasionally they will be as serviceable as when new.

A "forward" position causes many case of side-slip. This position tends to lessen the control of the machine, makes steering more difficult and anything slippery on the road will complete the necessities for a slip.

The roads of England have cost the government $750,000,000 in the last two hundred years. There are 186,000 miles of them, according to official reports. Compared to ours they make ours look like the popular thirty cents

When a chain rivet is not to be found in the tool bag and a repair shop is not convenient, cyclists will find that a wire nail filed down makes a good substitute where one is necessary. Wire nails are now so common they may be found almost anywhere and the tip may be valuable to those who remember it.

Occasionally a wheelman should examine the cement tube to ascertain if it is ready for use. Cement hardens with time and when in that condition is not serviceable for repairing punctures. It should be kept as nearly airtight as possible to prevent the hardening process.

The greatest trouble novices have is steering. It is no unusual sight to see them wobbling the front wheel in every direction. This can easily be remedied if the would-be cyclist will keep his or her wits and remember not to look at the front wheel or very near it. By keeping the eyes as nearly as possible at least thirty feet away it will be found much easier to balance and steer. When the eyes are on the front wheel each little movement becomes aggravated and the effort to overcome the unsteadiness makes it worse.

The racing department of the L. A. W. is self-supporting. It derives its revenue from the granting of sanctions and from the registration of riders, and the expenses of the members of the board are paid therefrom. This is the only department of the organization which is not supported by an annual appropriation. The other departments cause a great expense and thousands of dollars are spent annually, particularly by the committee on Highway Improvement, but the department which governs all the racing men and tracks in this country pays as it goes and asks for nothing.

A Victory for Maryland Wheelmen.

The Maryland division of the L. A. W. has succeeded in having the street railroads of the City of Baltimore commence the replacement of all the rails at crossings with rails that will not inconvenience wheelmen or other owners of vehicles when riding over them. The chief consul of the division secured the change by acting in co-operation with the city authorities, who have on other occasions recognized the power of this division.

JET AND BLACK.

Both Will Be Popular During the Coming Season.

While in London I visited some of the famous "shops," as they call them, and I was struck by the rather somber appearance they presented. Black seems to be the keynote in gowns of all descriptions. Perhaps this is due in a measure to the court mourning. The Princess of Wales, however, has set the fashion of having very elaborate mourning attire, so that were it not for the crape upon it one might think some of the gowns for festal occasions.

After all, this is as it should be. There is no reason why a woman's mourning gowns should not be fashionably made. Mourning garb is depressing enough at the best. But, aside from the mourning garb, we must expect to see a great deal of black worn this season. So many rich and new black fabrics are offered that one finds choice difficult. There are the silk warp goods, eudora, henrietta, melrose and drap d'ete, drap d'alma and crape cloths and blister and other crepons. All these may be worn for mourning or for any occasion not especially festive.

Black silks are almost covered with jet, embroidery picked out with jet and with jetted passementerie. One gown for a swell dinner was of black armure silk thickly sewed with jet, so that altogether it weighed nearly 40 pounds. Black velvet gowns for grand occasions and for the street will be among the handsomest of all the winter costumes.

For mourning attire there are some very handsome wraps and capes; also empire coats and other shapes, such as tight jackets and blouse effects. Some of these are of all wool goods, like the wool drap d'alma and cachemire de l'inde. Broadcloth and venetian, melton and boucle will also be worn later in the season. All but the last two will be trimmed with crape. The melton and boucle will have black castle braid stitched on, and where buttons are required they will be of plain black horn. Everything in shape of wrap or jacket will have high collars, higher than ever, if possible. There is a new mantle where the body is blouse shaped and belted, with a flat revers collar and a high medici collar. The sleeves are cut like circular capes and joined. The top is sewed into the arm size, and the sleeve thus formed is left to fall in heavy folds.

For deep mourning these are quite or nearly covered with crape. Other sleeves are made very snug, almost as tight as they used to be some ten years ago, when it was said that a woman had to get up on a stepladder to get them on. The way she did it was to fall down.

The suits for what are generally called "growing girls" are very neat and pretty this season. I was looking at some cravanette suits recently. One had four clusters of soutache on the skirt, four rows in each. They were all massed above the knees. The jacket was double breasted, but fastened with flies. It was scalloped and had several rows of soutache. Jaunty pockets and revers and coat collar finished it. The color was dark brown. Another pretty suit for a girl of 16 had the skirt of very dark blue serge made entirely plain. The jacket was of tan melton, double breasted and elegantly braided. A glance at the illustration will show how both of these looked.

For young girls there are many pretty felt hats, stitched round and round the crowns, made like Tam O'Shanters, A quill and a band are considered the right trimming for these. Others there are with more of the sailor shape, with birds, quills, plumes or rosettes of velvet or of felt as garniture. For dress occasions velvet hats of dark color with light satin pipings are handsomer. These are trimmed with loops and bows of alternate velvet and satin.

Plaids will be unusually prominent for girls this season, but for dresses only. All coats and cloaks are of mixtures or solid color in smooth faced or boucle. The woolly effects in outer garments will be carried out to a greater extent than ever before. There are some self colored camel's hairs that are as thick as fur, with long, silky hair. These will make beautiful cloaks for small children in the lighter shades of gray.

WORK FOR WOMEN.

A DIFFICULT TRADE BUT IT IS NOT OVERCROWDED.

The Skill and Taste Required of Those Who Operate Machines for Bonnaz Work—Success of a French Woman in New York.

While every young lady who wants to be self-supporting should hesitate before leaving her own locality, where she is known, to go to a strange city, if she is obliged to do so she might well look into the opportunities afforded in Bonnaz work.

There is no school for teaching Bonnaz work either for instruction in its hand-craft departments or in its manipulation of the various costly machines that from time to time have been invented to lighten the labor. The Bonnaz worker must get her knowledge jot by jot, hand over hand, in the old fogy school of experience, with close application for a taskmaster, but, once proficient, she is sure of always having good-paying employment. This year more than ever she has cause for rejoicing that she learned Bonnaz work instead of typewriting or manicuring, bookkeeping, telegraphy or other trades by which women earn a livelihood. "Highest pay for good perforators and applique cutters." "Best wages for the right kind of stampers and hand-beaders." "Will pay $18 to $20 a week for experienced embroiderers on frames;" "12 and $14 for intelligent two-thread corders," are some of the manufacturer's advertisements in New York for female help inserted in the trades papers at this time of year, and "work the year round guaranteed at good salary," and "Highest wages to first-class hands," are phrases appended to nearly every advertisement.

"But this man can't get his experienced hands at $12 to $14 a week," said a Broadway manufacturer, as he scanned the list. "Good workers might have been got once for the money, but not now. Wages have gone up in our line. There are not, at the outside, more than 300 women experts at the business, and more than double that number could be used if we could get them, with fashion setting the way it does now. Even Philadelphia and Cincinnati firms are sending to New York for workers, and women willing to take extra work home to do, or to teach less experienced hands to help them, can make big salaries; especially from now till January. The reason why, when a big year like this comes, the manufacturers are put to it for skilled help, is that nobody bothers to teach Bonnaz work to the young girls just starting out in business. The machines used are expensive and one learner would soon put a valuable machine out of order. If a girl applies who is anxious to learn, and already has some insight into the work, she must be next to an expert to have a chance of learning anything, and that expert will lose valuable time overseeing the beginner or showing her what to do. Each girl who tries to learn has to pay down $10 beforehand for the privilege, even if she should get out of patience and abandon the work after a week's trial. This condition makes apprentices scarce, except merely in the simpler branches of the business.

The oldest and one of the best grade Bonnaz factories in New York is owned and conducted by a French woman, who was the first person to intrduce the Bonnaz machine in this country. Although she has been in the business for twenty-five years or more, and long ago might have retired on a competence, she still looks after all details of her factory herself and never misses a day from work. When she came to New York first, a girl of twenty-one, no description of Bonnaz embroidery was produced here, and the little that was seen came from abroad at a high price. She had heard of this in her Paris home, and, having procured a Bonnaz machine, then a novelty, even in the inventor's country, she came to try fortune with the trade she had been acquainted with from childhood. Having got settled in lodging somewhere in the lower West Side quarter, she started out on Canal street one morning to find out what market might offer itself for her handiwork. She had with her some squares of machine-braided white pique to exhibit as samples, and going into a children's goods-furnishing house, she asked the manager if he could use that of decoration in his business. I have heard her tell how, without so much as even asking her name or where she lived, the manager promptly engaged her services.

"'Can your French machine do this sort of work on woolen stuffs or thin textures?' he asked, when the first lot of newly-completed pique frocks were placed on the-OO1 losmthe vbg were put in stock, and, on being told that it could, so many orders were given that the French girl was overwhelmed with work and had to secure help. She made at this time $18 a day by working double time, but she guarded her machine carefully. She would permit no one to examine it, and if a stranger appeared in her workplace for any purpose, the precious braider was covered over before the worker went to speak with him. In a few months she had sent abroad for other machines, and had taught a half-dozen apprentices the hand part of the work so familiar to her. A few years later fifty Bonnaz machines all run by women whom this pioneer had trained, and kept in order by Frenchmen whom she had picked up here and there were kept busy in this factory, and other manufacturers had taken her cue and become apt at braiding and embellishing American goods and garments.

This French woman is still a foremost figure in the Bonnaz trade and never lost grasp of the best business.

The skilled workers in the best factories all look refined and pleasantly circumstanced. There is an army of ordinary helpers, trained to do the marking out of patterns, the clipping of threads, the cuting away of under surfaces and the less responsible branches of the work. These also run the simplest machines on ordinary grade fabrics, and get the foundation stuffs ready for embellishment and do the general filling in that is needed. Their employment is simply mechanical and their places could be supplied at any time, but the skilled workers are another mater.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 24—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Gideon's band.—Judg. vii, 1-23.

The story of Gideon's band is interesting and inspiring. Gideon was the fifth of the judges of Israel and in many respects the greatest of them all. He was called of God to deliver his people from the oppression of the Medianites. He blew his trumpet, and 32,000 rallied to his standard. By allowing the timid to withdraw and as a result of a second test at the "spring of trembling" his army was reduced to a band of 300 men. These, by a strategy peculiar to eastern warfare, under the battlecry of "The sword of the Lord and of Gideon!" won a signal victory over Israel's enemies, which resulted in a 40 years' peace. This historic incident has been the inspiration of thousands of God's people in their struggles against satan, the powers of the air and unregenerate man.

In the incident we have the secret of success in Christian work and warfare.

1. Success in Christian work depends more upon God than upon numbers. Numbers are not to be despised, but they are often magnified above their desert. There is too much of a tendency today in Christian work to depend entirely upon external agencies. External agencies of great appearance easily lead us to neglect God and to trust in that which is human. We must guard against this tendency. In all Christian work the source of power is God. If God be for us, greater is He that is for us than all they that be against us, and if He be for us, no matter who or what is against us, we shall prevail. To succeed we must keep close to God. It is not by might nor by power, but by God's spirit, true success is won. Paul may plant and Apollos water, but God only can give the increase.

2. Success in Christian work depends more upon the character of the workers than upon the number of them. Quality is more to be desired than quantity. Paul, with a little band of devout, consecrated followers, stirred the whole heathen world and largely won it for Christ. More attention should be paid to the quality of Christian workers. Too many are hindrances rather than helps. They impede progress rather than accelerate it. They are in the way rather than on the way. There needs to be more testing today than there is. The half hearted and doubting should tarry behind until they are full of the Holy Ghost. Those who are bowing the knee to Baal should step aside till entirely consecrated to God.

This topic should suggest a personal testing of ourselves. What kind of soldiers and workers are we? Are we timid and half hearted? Are we worldly, selfish Christians, thinking more of something else than God, or are we whole hearted, consecrated followers of Christ?

Bible Readings.—Neh. iv, 1-9; Hos. i, 7; Zech. iv, 1-10; Ps. xx, 7-9; xxxiii, 12-20; cxxv, 1-5; Prov. xxi, 31; Isa. xxxi, 1-9; Math. xxviii, 18-20; John ii, 1-11; ix, 1-4; I Cor. iii, 5-7; xv, 58; Gal. vi, 9; Rev. ii, 10.

The Wonders of God's Power.

We think of God's power chiefly when we are in the presence of some natural phenomenon, like Niagara or the Grand canyon of the Yellowstone, but no one can reflect long upon the most commonplace landscape or other natural fact without being impressed by it, nor is there a greater pleasure to most devout minds than to meditate upon such a subject. Mark off a square foot of ground some time and then examine it minutely and patiently, studying what there is in it in the way of plants or minerals, how it came to be what it is, how it is changing from day to day, and you will gain new conception of the divine power and wisdom. To study God's power on a large scale, as in connection with astronomy, for example, impresses one strongly with the immensity of the divine power, but to study it in little things impresses one equally with its wonderful care of detail, its almost incredible attention to the perfection of details and with the love of order and beauty which surely must be qualities in the divine nature.—Congregationalist.

Ill Mated.

A spiritually prepared preacher without a like minded congregation is like yoking the ox and the ass together. Instead of great things for the glory of God and an abundance of blessings from the word of life the assembly goes its way and straightway forgets what manner of men and women they are. The preacher is thrown back upon himself and requires a double portion of the spirit to save him from despair. The unbelieving go on in their sins, and the gospel goes forth into a community where sin abounds shorn of its power as an immediate remedy for the regeneration of human society.—Reformed Church Messenger.

God Was Preparing.

How often, after those who are dear to us have been suddenly called into the better life, we recognize that a strange tenderness and responsiveness to spiritual motives characterized them in the days or weeks immediately preceding the summons! They did not in the least realize that they were so near the end, but God was preparing them for it.—Watchman.

The Root of All Evil.

Many good people prefer to take all the risks themselves rather than let the church catch any disease from the root of all evil.—Ram's Horn.

A Distinction.

It is right to be contented with what we have, but never with what we are.—Episcopal Recorder.

A Famous Epigram.

It is better to know less than to know so much that ain't so.—Josh Billings.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 24. "Gideon's Band"—Text, Judg. vii, 1-23.

"A trumpet in every man's hand, with empty pitchers, and lamps within the pitchers."

Matters with the Israelites were in desperate condition. The Bedouin tribes from the country to the east and southeast came in swarms when the harvests were ripe and carried away whatever they could find. The people of the villages became weaker and weaker in power and less able from their peaceful occupation as farmers and graziers to contend with the warlike desert tribes. The vices of Baal worship tended still more to sap their strength and enervate their energy.

Gideon saw that the wickedness of the people and forsaking the worship of Jehovah was the cause of all the distress. He displayed his strength of conviction and fearlessness in the path of duty first by the destruction of the idolatrous grove and altar in his own city. When his life was threatened because of this, his father defended him and gave him a new name, Jerub-baal (let Baal plead), in reference to the bold act of the young man.

When the Midianites came for their annual foray, Gideon gathered the people to oppose them and followed the enemy across the Jordan. On the heights of Gilboa and by the spring Harod, in the valley of Jezreel, the unarmed peasants of Israel watched the horde of Arabs camped across the valley and were full of fear at the sight. Gideon sent home all who were afraid and then still further reduced his force by the test of drinking at the fountain. With only 300 men, supplied with torches, earthen vessels and horns, he waited till night; then, distributing his men in three companies on different sides of the encamped host, he waited until the watch was newly set around the camp.

Suddenly, at the given signal, every man of the band dashed his pitcher to the ground with a crash, blew his trumpet and waved his flaming torch. Consternation seized the Midianites, who supposed themselves caught by an overwhelming army. They fought in the darkness among themselves and, leaving everything, ran toward the Jordan to escape. The rout was complete. The kings of the invaders were captured, and the victory delivered Israel from the oppressions of their long time enemy.

With us, as with Gideon's band, the hope of success lies in firm determination and fearless devotion. We must sound our trumpets and let our lights shine at the opportune time, breaking all hindrances as they smashed the jars of crockery.

A Bookmark Church.

In Japan, under the guidance of Rev. David S. Spencer as presiding elder, many of the native churches have been engaged in a strong effort toward self support. The Toyohashi church was built of the proceeds of the sale of silk bookmarks made by the members of the congregation. The Epworth League was very helpful in the work. These silk slips with tassels were sold by friends in the United States. Some of the workers make elegant embroidered silk handkerchiefs, which are also sent for sale among the people of the home land. The Japanese are getting hold of the true sense of salvation in Jesus Christ and are showing themselves in labors and patience true types of the Christian.

The scheme for setting the people to making the articles they were proficient in manufacturing and then enlisting the interest of the friends in America in their sale was admirable. It did more than yield direct revenue. It awakened mutual regard between the people so widely separated and gave them better ideas of each other, drew out their sympathies and gave both the opportunity to come closer together in the bonds of Christian fraternity. This is making industry and commerce serve the cause of Christ wisely.

The Test of Love.

Some one has said that true love is not a matter of feeling, but of will. It seems to us that it is a matter of the reason, the feeling and of the will. It takes in the whole person. It may have in different persons of various temperaments widely varied expressions. Some will be more emotional, others more coolly calculating and others more firm and constant. The test of love is in the doing for others and not in the mere sentiment held. To love is to hold dear. But we can hold as precious only that which is worthy of regard. To hold as good and valuable is not merely to feel inside an emotion. It is to have a purpose to benefit the one highly regarded.

The test of love to Christ is the willingness to work for Him and with Him.

How We Learn.

Great truths are dearly bought. The common truth,
Such as men give and take from day to day,
Comes in the common walk of easy life,
Blown by the careless wind across our way.

Bought in the market at the current price,
Bred of the smile, the jest, perchance the bowl,
It tells no tales of daring or of worth,
Nor pierces even the surface of a soul.

Great truths are greatly won, not found by chance
Nor wafted on the breath of summer dream,
But grasped in the great struggle of a soul,
Hard buffeting with adverse wind and stream.

Not in the general mart, 'mid corn and wine,
Not in the merchandise of gold and gems,
Not in the world's gay hall of midnight mirth,
Not 'mid the blaze of regal diadems,

But in the day of conflict, fear and grief,
When the strong hand of God, put forth in might,
Plows up the subsoil of the stagnant heart
And brings the imprisoned truth seed to the light.

Wrung from the troubled spirit in hard hours
Of weakness, solitude, perchance of pain,
Truth springs, like harvest, from the well plowed field,
And the soul feels it has not wept in vain.

A BOUNDARY LINE.

EXPERIENCES OF THE COMMISSION ON THE MEXICAN FRONTIER.

Difficult and Dangerous Work in the Deserts and Mountains—A Furious Sandstorm—The Effects of Mirage—City Resolves Into a Mass of Bowlders.

Although the boundary line between the United States and Mexico was defined over half a century ago by the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, after the Mexican War, there has seldom been a time since then when the precise location of this international limit has not given cause for vigorous disputes and often bloody border warfare between the Mexican and American settlers near the line.

After the treaty of 1853 a survey was made of the line, to effect some necessary changes. Monuments were put up along the arbitrary portion of the boundary west of the Rio Grande, but most of these landmarks were simply rude piles of stone, and the ease with which they could be destroyed or removed was soon discovered by the nearby settlers, never loath to seize an opportunity for a quarrel with their neighbors on the other side of the international fence. Finally, in 1882, owing to continual boundary quarrels, a convention to settle them was arranged between the two countries. But on account of various delays it was not until November, 1891, that members of the International Boundary Commission were at last appointed.

By the month of June, 1894, all work along the entire line, both surveying and monument-erecting, was finished. Two hundred and fifty-eight monuments, some of stone, and some of iron, had been placed along the seven hundred miles of boundary west of the Rio Grande. The intervals between them were varied to suit the requirements of the different religions, but the distances averaged about two and three-quarter miles between each two.

Some of the experiences of the members of the survy are well worth a more extended description than can be given here. The mountainous region for many miles about Nogales, Ariz., is one of the roughest and most arid on the continent. In this neighborhood was seen for the first time the strange and ungainly giant cactus, called the "suguaro" by the Mexicans. Its fruit, when ripe, is used as food by the Papago Indians of the region, who eat it fresh, dried and preserved, and make from it, besides, a slightly intoxicating drink. In the broad valley called the Moreno Flat, west of the Baboquivari Mountains and about fifty-five miles west of Nogales, a frightful standstorm was encountered on July 3, 1893. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon, a dense, dark-brown cloud was seen rising in the south. The brilliant sun was soon overcast, and in a few moments after the cloud was first observed the storm broke in all its fury. In ten or fifteen minutes it was as black as midnight; the atmosphere was filled with loose soil of the valley to a height of several hundred feet; respiration became almost impossible, and it was only by breathing through a handkerchief held in front of the mouth that suffocation was avoided. In half an hour the wind began to subside, the darkness diminished, and in a little more than two hours the setting sun shone faintly through the dust particles that still filled the air.

Wonderful mirages were seen while crossing the lonely deserts. Just before sunrise craggy peaks would appear, capped by similar inverted peaks, which would gradually flatten out into strange forms. Once a city, with all its buildings, appeared in a valley to the northward, but the morning sun resolved it into a mass of large bowlders near the base of a mountain. At another time, on the bare Yuma Desert, the reconnoissance party seemed to be in a level depression, surrounded on every side by a vertical wall of rock, fifty to one hundred feet high, which moved with them as they journeyed toward the river, but lessened in height until it finally vanished. The commonest deception was seen in the heat of the day, when beautiful lakes, fringed with trees, lay apparently only a few hundred yards away. The details were so perfect, even to the reflections in the water, that the party did not wonder that thirsty travelers were often lured from the road to procure this water, which never could be reached. The mirage distortion of the size and form of animals was also remarkable. In one case a herd of wild horses was mistaken for a herd of antelope and followed for several miles before the mistake was discovered. At times a jack-rabbit would loom up on the desert with the apparent size of a cow, while occasionally the legs of animals would be so comically lengthened as to make them appear mounted upon stilts.

A New Science.

Glossomancie is a new "science," introduced by a Miss Erbere No of Paris, consisting of reading the character by the form and size of the tongue.

The guiding principles are as follows: If the tongue is long it is an indication of frankness; if it is short, of dissimulation; if it is broad, of expansiveness; if narrow, of concentration.

When the tongue is both long and large it implies that the possessor is a great gossip, frank to disagreeableness, and thoughtless. If the tongue be long and narrow, its owner is only half frank, thinking as much as is uttered, but not always uttering all that is thought.

If the tongue be short and broad, there is promise of plenty of gossip—and falsehoods; it talks a great deal, but says little of what is really thought.

If short and narrow, it indicates deep cunning and lying; impenetrability and prudence. This tongue belongs to those persons always ready to make mistakes, but eager to inspire confidence.

Examine the new oil cloth on the kitchen floor; its color and gloss are being destroyed and you may see where a cake of common soap fresh from the hot water in the scrubbing bucket has been laid on it for a moment, the free alkali having eaten an impression of the cake into the bright colors.

A more careful examination will show small "pin holes" here and there where the alkali has cut through the surface to soak into and gradually weaken the whole floor covering.

This is what cheap soaps do. Use Ivory Soap, it will not injure.

IVORY SOAP IS 99 44/100 PER CENT. PURE.

GOLF.

The course of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club is now in excellent condition for the competition for the Reinhart Cup which will be held on the club links tomorrow afternoon. It is a men's competion, handicap, eighteen holes, medal play. A big turnout is expected for the event.

There will be no lack of attendance at the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club if the weather continues pleasant. With the reduction of several of the large handicaps, the low handicap men are expected to come to the top again. It has been several weeks since any of the leading competitors for the cup have scored.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

Dunellen is planning to have an eleven on the gridiron this year, and settle the long-disputed question of superiority with Scotch Plains.

The Alis football team will meet for practice this evening on the Westervelt avenue grounds. The candidates will also be out tomorrow afternoon on Martine Common for a little daylight practice in punting, catching and such parts of the game as the cramped condition of the night practice will not permit.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The bowling alleys of the Park Club will be opened tomorrow evening to the members of the club. There will be no formal opening but a goodly number of bowling enthusiasts are expected to be on hand and resume their practice. The alleys have been entirely overhauled and put in perfect condition for the activity of the fall and winter months. So far, no steps have been taken toward the organization of a bowling league in this section.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

In a Nutshell:

Regular collections; intelligent washing; careful ironing; prompt deliveries. This makes a good laundry. People who have known us as dyers for thirty years back may not realize that we are doing the largest laundry business in New Jersey. Send us your bundle for a trail.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss May Raynor, of Newark, who has been visiting Miss Ida Lewis, of Somerset street, will return home today.

Mrs. D. R. Weaver, of North Plainfield, is spending a few days with friends at Brooklyn. Mr Weaver will join her Sunday.

Councilman S. S. Swackhammer and family will spend Sunday at their old home at Whitehouse. They will leave tomorrow by carriage.

The Misses Luella and Fanny Mills, of East Fifth street, returned home today after a very enjoyable two months' visit with relatives at Middletown, N. Y.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

AN ASSEMBLY CANDIDATE

GEORGE BALL, OF PLAINFIELD, MENTIONED FOR NOMINATION.

Elizabeth Journal States That He is a Candidate—It is Likely, However, That Nominations Will Go to Townships.

Plainfield has a candidate in line for one of the Republican nominations for the Assembly. The Elizabeth Journal states that George Ball, one of Plainfield's rising young lawyers, is a candidate for the nomination. It is doubtful, however, if Plainfield is represented in the Assembly this year. Elizabeth will have but one and the other two are to go to Summit and Cranford in response to the demand on the part of the smaller townships for representation on the county Republican ticket.

Mr. Ball is 30 years of age, and has taken a deep interest in the fortunes of his party. He is the former chief of the fire department of Scotch Plains and is very popular. He is possessed with considerable executive ability, is a fluent talker, a deep thinker and if elected it is claimed would be a credit to his constituents. He was graduated from the University Law School of New York, where he received the degree of bachelor of law. He also studied in the law office of Counselor W.S. Angleman, of Plainfield.

WITHOUT WRAPPING PAPER

Manila Shopkeepers Have Not Yet Learned How to Do Up a Bundle.

Such a thing as the delivery of goods from retail stores is unknown, in Manila, and even wrapping them up to be carried by the purchaser is not considered a necessity.

If one goes into a tobacconist's for a box of cigars, it is handed to him over the counter unwrapped. If he, by pantomime or the use of his "Spanish at a glance," succeeds in conveying the intelligence that he desires his purchase wrapped up, a search is instituted for a piece of newspaper, and if this be found, the box is enveloped in it and handed to him with a courtly bow, but without string.

A few bakery wagons may be seen going from house to house, and ice-carts and soda water carts, but beyond these, regular delivery vehicles are unknown.

Nor is the early morning made melodious by the clatter of milk wagons. Genuine cows' milk is a scarce article here. The water buffalo supplies most of the milk used, a snow-white liquid containing little cream and having a flavor none too pleasant to the American palate. There are a few Australian cattle kept in the suburbs of Manila, apparently of Durham and Devon extraction, but their milk is liquid gold in comparison with the other.

Instead of milk wagons, bare-legged milkmen trot about with long-necked jars, or bamboo cylinders hanging from either end of a pole carried on the shoulder.

All butter is imported in tins, and is a luxury for the rich only. With a luxuriant growth of grass the entire year this ought to be a paradise for cattle, and perhaps Americans will develop its possibilities in this respect.

The substitute for the butcher cart and the grocer's wagon is the basket of woven bamboo carried from the market on the head of a customer, almost invariably a woman, a term including girls of 10 years and toothless crones.

Everything to eat is sold at the "Mercado," of which there are half a dozen in the city. But let not the reader think of a market where crisp vegetables, fresh meat or clean fish tempt the eye. Let him rather picture to his mind a large building, an open court, or a group of bamboo stalls, dirty, vile-smelling and unpleasant to the eye, where crowds of women, sprinkled with the male servants of white residents, make their daily purchases and haggle as long over a 10-cent bargain as a white man would over a railroad contract.

Whatever the shopper buys is laid in bulk in her shallow basket, and when she is satisfied she walks calmly away with the basket on her head, its contents exposed to the gaze of the public and accumulating dust.—New York Evening Post.

NOTABLE GRADUATES OF THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Men Who Have Made Their Mark in This World.

HIGH IN THE PROFESSIONS.

SEVERAL ARE ENGAGED IN COLLEGE WORK NOW.

Corporation Counsel Marsh Was One of the First Graduates—Many of Them Followed up Their High School Learning With Courses in Colleges Which Fitted Them for the Life Work.

Those who have taken time to think of the distinguished people who secured the basis of their education in this city and are numbered among the graduates of the Plainfield High School, find quite a lengthy list of notables, many of whom have a national reputation.

Taking them in the order of graduation. Craig A. Marsh, corporation counsel of the city of Plainfield and one of the leading lawyers of the State, was among the first. He graduated in 1872, received the degree of A. B. from Union College and B. L. at the Columbia Law School. Among his classmates were William M. Stillman, another of Plainfield's best known lawyers and prominent men, who afterwards went to Rutgers College, and Arthur F. Kimball, who now occupies the chair of physics at Amherst College. Professor Kimball graduated from Princeton, receiving the degree of B. A. and was made Ph. D. after a course at John Hopkins College.

In the class of '75 there was William D. Murray who practices law in New York and has a charming home in this city. He is known throughout the country by his prominent connection with the Y. M. C. A. work, and is now a member of the national committee of that organization. He graduated from Yale, where he was made an A. B.

The following year Rev. Dr. Everett D. Burr graduated. Dr. Burr is now one of the leading Baptist clergymen of Boston, and was prominently mentioned for the presidency of Brown University when that position was vacant.

Frank W. Runyon, now editor and proprietor of the Plainfield Courier-News, was a member of the same class. He graduated from Cornell University after completing his High School course.

In the class of '77 there was another newspaper man, Ernest O. Chamberlain, who won his way to the head of his profession and became city editor of the New York World. He died as a result of the terrible strain of his duties at the time of the destruction of the "Maine."

Miss Kate F. Kimball, who is now general secretary of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle, with headquarters in Cleveland, O., was also a member of the class of '77.

Prof. B. Rush Rhees, who graduated in '78, is one of the most distinguished of the High School alumni. He completed his education at Amherst College and afterwards reached the position of professor at the Newton Theological Seminary. This summer he was chosen president of Rochester University.

Miss Georgia L. Chamberlain, now private secretary to President Harper, of Chicago University, was a member of that same class.

Among the graduates in 1879 was Franklin Baldwin Wiley, who graduated later from Harvard College, and has now become literary editor of the Ladies' Home Journal.

George E. Vincent, son of Bishop Vincent, was among the members of the class of '80. He graduated from Yale, receiving the degree of A. B. He is now professor of sociology at the University of Chicago and at the head of the Chautauqua educational system. He was one of the most promising candidates for the presidency of Yale University, to which honor Prof. Arthur T. Hadley was finally raised.

Among the other members of the class of '80 is Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, who is prominent in the commercial world and well known in the Republican party.

Edwin H. Lewis, a son of Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of this city, completed his High School course in 1882. Later he was made principal of the High School, from which he graduated, and went from here to Chicago to become a professor at the University of Chicago. He is now one of the leading professors of the Lewis Institute at Chicago.

Among the later graduates of prominence are Lieut. Tieman N. Horn, now in the U. S. Artillery, and Wm. N. Runyon, city judge of Plainfield, and a rising young lawyer.

BEFORE THE GRAND JURY.

Witnesses to the Roehricht Murder Have Received Summons to Appear and Tell Their Stories.

One of the first things that the Grand Jury of Somerset county will consider, when it meets at Somerville Tuesday, will be the murder of Paul Roehricht. Prosecutor Nelson Y. Dungan has invested the case thoroughly and has a large batch of evidence to bring before the Grand Jury. Summons have been served on all the witnesses of the shooting and all those who are remotely connected with it, including Drs. Zeglio and Pittis, who were called to attend the dying man, and Dr. Buchannan who assisted in the post mortem examination.

CHORUS IS ASSURED.

One Hundred Singers Volunteer Their Services to Aid the Production of the "Messiah."

Nelson Runyon, who is secretary of the committee in charge of the rendition of the "Messiah" by a local chorus this winter, has now received favorable responses from about a hundred of the Plainfielders who were invited to take part in the concert. There are yet a few more to be heard from. The committee wants a chorus of about a hundred and ten voices and expects that there will be no doubt but that the ten more necessary to make up that number will accept.

It is proposed to hold the first rehearsal Monday evening, October 2d, at the Y. M. C. A. Hall or in the lecture room of the First Baptist church. They will then be held once a week until the time of the concert. The concert will be held in the First Baptist church as the place most suitable to the requirements. The date has not yet been settled upon but it will be either just before or just after Christmas. It was originally intended to hold it during the so-called Christmas week but the fact that some of the participants go away at that time, may make it necessary to hold it just before the holiday.

A NATURAL THING TO DO.

Judge Runyon Thought There Were Mitigating Circumstances for Offense.

Some of the juvenile residents of Plainfield carried their troubles to Patrolman Mattox yesterday afternoon. The cause of the trouble was that one small boy kissed a small girl, which caused her to cry. The rest of the youngsters took up the case. After listening to their story the officer sent the whole crowd to see City Judge Runyon.

The latter was fairly bewildered with the stream of evidence in the case that was turned loose upon him. After seeing the little girl he declared that the boy wasn't much to be blamed and finally persuaded them to overlook the offence.

To Arrange for Unique Anniversary.

There was a meeting of Miantonomo tribe of Red Men last evening. Three propositions were received. A delegation of braves from the newly-organized Manawah Tribe visited the meeting. The anniversary committee reported that the tenth anniversary of the organization would be observed in unique and startling manner on the evening of October 13th. After speeches by the chieftains, the Red Men adjourned to a neighboring hotel and enjoyed a spread.

Going Into Business For Himself.

J. P. Hutchison, for the past five years manager of J. H. Leggett's pharmacy, has purchased the Opera House Pharmacy at Cranford, nearly opposite the railroad station in the opera house block. He takes possession October 1st. Mr. Hutchison has made many friends in this city by his careful and conscientious work. He is a competent pharmacist and graduated with high honors from the New York College of Pharmacy. He will undoubtedly make a success of his new venture.

Views of Foreign Lands.

The funds that fell to the share of the Girls' Athletic Association of the Plainfield High School from the benefit concern given last winter, have been devoted to the purchase of a stereoscope and 112 views for the benefit of the pupils of the High School. The views are principally of Greece, Rome and England. The Girls' Athletic Association contributed $20, and $10 was given by the State.

Will be Opened for Traffic Tomorrow.

The macadamizing of Watchung avenue, between North avenue and East Second street, which is being done by the Plainfield Street Railway Company, will be completed this afternoon and the street will be open for traffic on Sunday. The steam roller is now in use there.

ENJOYED A GOOD TIME.

"UNEEDA" SOCIABLE GIVEN BY EPWORTH LEAGUE MEMBERS.

The Affair Held in the Grace M. E Church — Pleasing Programme Rendered—Committee in Charge of Affair

The many young people who attended the "Uneeda" social at the Grace M. E. church in North Plainfield, last evening, will not soon forget the pleasant evening passed there. The social was held under the auspices of the Epworth League. Like previous entertainments which this society has held, it proved to be a most pleasant affair. The features of the evening was the gramophone, operated by William Woodland, and the progressive talking game, to play which according to the rules adopted, a gentleman was allowed to talk with his fair partner but five minutes upon such subjects as "vacation," "bicycles," "cameras," "fads," "ghosts" and "kissing bugs"

The literary features, usually introduced, were omitted last evening, the guests being given full sway to enjoy themselves to the fullest extent without restraint. The refreshments, which were served later in the evening, consisted principally of "uneeda biscuits" and "jinger wayfers," made up in the form of cheese sandwiches, while the usual quantity of choice cake, that the good mothers of the young people know so well how to make, was to be found in unlimited varieties. This palatable and toothsome collation was washed down with delicious coffee and lemonade of a superior quality.

The success of the social was largely due to the painstaking efforts of a committee consisting of Miss Grace Clark, chairman of the literary committee, and Miss Ada Wilson, chairman of the social committee, ably assisted by the Misses Mary Steiner, Lizzie Hoagland and Bertha Stevens; and Messrs. William Woodland, John Steiner and Dykeman Winckler.

Charge Was Not Pressed.

Law Student Sweeney departed triumphantly from the city court this morning, the charge of violating the bicycle ordinance having been dismissed by the City Judge. Patrolman Lunger, who made the arrest, failed to appear. Sweeney, it will be remembered, was arrested for riding a wheel without a light. He claimed that it was not yet an hour after sun down when he was hailed. As the complainant was absent, the Judge dismissed the complaint.

Lot Owners Assessed $5 Each.

The Board of Trustees of the First Presbyterian church have ordered an assessment of $5 against each of the lot owners in the Presbyterian cemetery on Chatham street in order to recompense William H. Shotwell, who personally furnished the money necessary to clear the property of the assessment levied against it to pay for the opening of Watchung avenue. The money assessed against the lot owners is to be paid to Mr. Shotwell.

Vesper Musical Programme.

The following is the musical programme to be rendered at the vesper service in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow night:

Anthem—"Every Day Will I Give Thanks." Rogers
Duet, soprano and tenor—"The Lord is My Light".....Buck
Bass Solo—"Thou'st Passing Hence." Sullivan
Quartette—"Pray for the Peace of Jerusalem." Horsley Trio—"Holy Jehovah".....Owen

Miss Curry's Work.

Miss Sara Curry, manager, desires to invite the friends of the work to the opening of "The Little Missionary's Day Nursery" in its new home, 612 East Ninth street, New York, Monday evening, Sept. 25th. Miss Curry has many warm friends in Plainfield and vicinity who will doubtless avail themselves of this opportunity to attend the dedication of the new home.

Work at Somerset Park to go Forward.

The death of the proprietor, Paul Roehricht, will not cause the abandonment of Somerset Park. An administrator for the estate of the murdered man will be appointed Monday and preparations will be made to push the work of building up the park and securing the benefits of a post office and trolley line.

Rally Day for a Sunday-School.

Rally Day will be observed at the Congregational church tomorrow afternoon when the Sunday-school will conduct special exercises to which all are invited. The services will begin at 2:45 o'clock. There will be special music and an address.

Youngest Advance Agent.

Joe Mack, the youngest advance agent engaged in the theatrical business, is in Plainfield today in the interest of Thomas H. Davis, the big theatrical promoter. He is sixteen years of age and is a bright young lad.

TO MAKE FINE ROADBED.

MACADAMIZING OF WEST FOURTH STREET TO START MONDAY.

It is an Improvement That Has Long Been Needed—Will Make the Street an Important One for That Section

The macadamizing of West Fourth street, from New street to Monroe avenue, will be started Monday morning by Contractor C. M. Meeker. The contract for the macadamizing of that thoroughfare and West Third street, was awarded at the meeting of the Common Council last Monday evening to Mr. Meeker.

West Fourth street, particularly between Grant and Plainfield avenues, is in a very bad condition. The street railway tracks were lowered to grade which necessitated the digging up of the street and leaving ridges on either side of the tracks. The street is nearly impassable to wheelmen and not pleasant riding for other vehicles. As the work of macadamizing the street was to begin so soon, no money was spent in putting it in temporary shape. Fourth street, west of Plainfield avenue, is one of the main thoroughfares opening up that part of the west end of the city, south of the railroad. When macadamized, it will be a great improvement to that section, and will open up a good road besides Seventh street into the west end.

The macadamizing of West Third street will also be a great benefit to the people living in that part of the city, as it has heretofore been in very poor condition, except during part of the summer. In the spring it has been almost impassable in places.

According to the contracts made with Mr. Meeker he is to have the work on the two streets completed before the first of December. He will therefore lose no time in the work.

FIT GIRLS FOR COLLEGE

MISSES RANDOLPH AND COOLEY INTRODUCE THEIR NEW SCHOOL.

A Reception Held Yesterday in Which the Plans and Purposes of the Young Women Were Fully Explained by Them.

The formal opening of the Randolph-Cooley Collegiate School was held yesterday afternoon, in the building which the school is to occupy, at the corner of LaGrande avenue and Washington street. Classes will not be begun until Wednesday of next week, but the two young women who are to act as principals yesterday afternoon received their friends in a social way, explained their plans of work, and showed their pleasant and well equipped schoolrooms.

Miss Carolyn Randolph, of East Front street, and Miss Grace Cooley, of Rockview avenue, both very popular young women, and leaders in society, are well prepared to take up the work of carrying on a school. Both are college graduates, and both have received during the summer, at Chautauqua, a careful training in up-to-date methods. A large number of students are already enrolled on their books.

From 4 until 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon a large number of the society women of the city crowded the pleasant rooms. They were received by the young teachers, who showed them over the house, and explained all the new and practical details.

During the afternoon, Miss Randolph and Miss Cooley each delivered a short address. Miss Cooley spoke of the aims of the school, saying that they hoped not only to teach the children in the various branches of knowledge, but to help them to be good citizens, and to become strong and noble in character. Miss Randolph spoke of the practical matters connected with the school.

At the close of the afternoon, refreshments were served. Mrs. George Wharton Edwards was in charge of the ices, and was assisted in serving by Miss Marion Dumont, the Misses Randolph, Miss Anne Miller, Miss Daisy VanBoskerck and Miss Margaret Yates.

The corps of instructors in the new school will include the following, besides the two principals: Miss Mellick, primary; Miss Machado, kindergarten; Miss Burt, assistant in kindergarten; Miss Brower, calisthenics; Miss Ketchum, vocal chorus music; Miss Daisy VanBoskerck, art; Miss Palmer, instrumental music; Miss VanZandt, dancing.

Central Railroad's Welcome to Dewey.

An electric "welcome," 12 feet letters, occupying a space 85 feet long, on the river front of the Jersey City ferry, will be a prominent sight as Admiral Dewey sails into New York Harbor.

Music to Have the First Call.

The first entertainment of the season at Hope chapel will be held there Friday evening, October 6th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. It will be of a musical character.

DEMOCRATS MAY RUN.

POSSIBLE CANDIDATES FOR SENATOR AND COUNTY CLERK.

It is Practically Settled That Jacob Glazer Will Get the Nomination for Sheriff—William M. Oliver for County Clerk.

The Union county Democrats are now actively engaged in casting about for candidates for Senator and County Clerk, as no trouble is being experienced in getting a candidate for Sheriff.

Alvord B Cook, of Rahway, former clerk of the Board of Freeholders, is being prominently spoken of for Senator, as is also Freeholder Mulford Scudder, of Westfield, while it is whispered that former Assemblyman Thomas F. Lane, of Summit, would not be averse to taking the Senatorial nomination. Just now these are the only three names heard mentioned in connection with the nomination.

For County Clerk there are two candidates spoken of—former County Clerk William M. Oliver, of Elizabeth, who only filled the one year unexpired term of the late James J. Gerber, and former County Clerk John L. Crowell, of Rahway, who served five years in the office. It looks now as if Mr. Oliver, who ran last time against William Howard, of Rahway, and was beaten by him, would stand the best chance of securing the nomination.

For Sheriff, Jacob Glaser, of Union Township, still easily leads in the race and is hustling for delegates. It looks just now as if Oliver and Glaser would be on the ticket, with the Senatorial nominee at present a matter of uncertainty.

NO MEDALS FOR REGULARS.

Official State Recognition for New Jersey Volunteers Only.

Jerseymen who served in the regular army or in volunteer regiments from other states during the war with Spain will not receive medals such as will be given to members of New Jersey volunteer regiments by this State.

The question was raised some time ago, when the matter of State pay for volunteers was being discussed, and it was then decided that the regulars would not come in for official State recognition.

A soldier who had served through the war with the Sixth United States Calvary, wrote to Governor Voorhees, asking if the former cavalrymen were not entitled to medals.

The query was answered in the negative, and the explanation was given that the act authorizing the medals expressly limits the distribution to those who served in New Jersey commands.

AFRO-AMERICAN BAPTISTS.

Holding Four Days' Convention in Cranford This Week.

The Afro-American Baptist Association is holding a four days' convention in the First Baptist church at Cranford. There are representatives in attendance from thirty churches in central New Jersey.

Officers of the association were elected as follows: President, Rev. W. A. Harris, of Cranford; vice-president, Rev. Wm. Wallace, of Asbury Park; clerk, Rev. Sidney Smith, of Princeton; treasurer, Rev. J. H. Bailey, of Elizabeth.

Friends Came Unexpected.

Mrs. William Smith, of West Front street, near Grant avenue, was tendered a birthday surprise party at her home last evening. A large number of Mrs. Smith's friends gathered to tender their congratulations and wish her many happy returns of the day. The evening was pleasantly passed in playing games, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music. Before breaking up the party was provided with a bountiful repast prepared by the committee in charge. Mrs. Smith was the recipient of many handsome tokens of the occasion.

An Old Time Fireman.

Captain "Pop" Hollenback, the oldest firemen in Newark, was a guest at the local fire department headquarters today. He was for many years engineer of Engine Company No. 1 of Newark. Shortly before he was retired he was made captain of the company. He is now on the retired list but still is a constant visitor at the enginehouse and looks after his old charge. He is the inventor of the self-registering alarm gong, now in use at the West End enginehouse.

Without a Gymnasium.

The Girls' Athletic Association of the Plainfield High School held a meeting yesterday when officers were elected. Miss Beatrice Miner was chosen president and Miss Mary Alice Ross, secretary and treasurer. Nothing was done regarding the coming basket-ball season, as the association has lost its gymnasium in the Whittier building, which has just been converted into school rooms.

CLEVE HOWARD'S MISTAKE.

Thought the Child Was Lost and Took it to the Police—His Impression Was Erroneous.

Cleve Howard thought he had discovered a lost child in front of the postoffice late yesterday afternoon. So he brought the youngster down to Patrolman Mattox. The officer suggested that Howard should take his find back to the place he found her and that he would undoubtedly discover who she belonged to. Howard did so and found some badly-frightened children who thought that their little sister had been kidnapped. They lived on East Front street, but did not give their name.

CLUB HOUSE WILL BE WARM.

A Needed Improvement Has Been Made in the Building Occupied by the Boys' Club.

The Boys' Club will open its doors once more on Monday evening and after two evenings in which the boys will be allowed to look around the club house on Sycamore street and register, the club will settle down to regular work. The classes will be the same as last year but greatly needed improvements have been made in the club house which will provide for its being kept warm and comfortable this winter.

One of the great drawbacks of the club last year was the impossibility of keeping the club house warm in cold weather. Over $1,000 has since been expended to put in a complete steam heating apparatus and to line the entire building, ceiling and walls with boards.

There will be classes in mechanical drawing, pattern making, carpentering, moulding and wood carving. Later it is hoped to start some additional departments.

FARMERS VS. R. R. CO.

Frank Van Nuis and H. S. Garretson Suing the Port Reading Co.

The cases of Frank Van Nuis vs. the Port Reading Railroad Company and Henry S. Garretson vs. the Port Reading Railroad Company, are being tried before Justice Collins in the Supreme Court at New Brunswick. Van Nuis and Garretson both own fine farms in Piscataway Township and they are suing the railroad for the burning of their grain fields last summer. The fire started in sparks from locomotives. The jury found damages for $204 for Van Nuis and $163.20 for Garretson.

Grand Jury Charges Carelessness.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 23.—The Middlesex County Grand Jury was dismissed for the term at noon yesterday. Twenty-eight indictments and one presentment were handed up. The presentment was relative to what the Grand Jury terms the laxity and carelessness of doctors and magistrates, which resulted in Peter Jones, a sane man, being sent to the Trenton Insane Asylum on a charge made by his wife, who afterward declared she had signed it without having any knowledge of its contents.

Nothing But Sulphur Smoke.

A still-alarm was sent to fire department headquarters yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence of J. M. Titsworth, 415 West Seventh street. The house was being fumigated with sulphur and the smoke came up through one of the floors. It was first supposed that the beams of the floor had caught fire, but it proved to be nothing but the sulphur fumes.

Macadamizing From Curb to Curb.

The macadamizing of East Second street, east of Richmond street, which is being done at the expense of the Plainfield Street Railway Company, is now nearly completed. Many of the property owners on that thoroughfare have agreed to pay their share in the cost of surfacing the street and so it will be macadamized from curb to curb nearly its entire length.

Fell Out of a Tree.

Edna Munson, the twelve-year-old daughter of William Munson, of Roselle, was seriously injured on the head yesterday by a club falling out of a chestnut tree, under which she and some other children were gathering chestnuts. The club cut a long gash in her scalp, and the blow rendered her unconscious for nearly half an hour.

Organ Recital.

William Henry Miller, organist of the First Presbyterian church, will render the following selections upon the grand organ at this church tomorrow evening commencing at 7:30: Grand offertoire, in C maj., LeProvost; "Andante," in C maj., Silas; "Des Abends," (at evening); Fantasia (in form of offertory) Grison.

INVOKE THE LAW TO STOP THE ROAD RACES.

Scotch Plains Citizens' League Begins to Get Aggressive.

COMPLAINT TO OFFICIALS.

LAW WITH REFERENCE TO SPEED IS BEING VIOLATED.

The League Appeals to Township Committee to Stop the Racing That Rev Mr. Shott Declares is a Disgrace to the Place—The Contestants in Today's Events May be Arrested as a Result.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 23—The efforts of Rev. Gideon M. Shott, president of the Citizen's League, to improve the morals of this borough, are believed to have already taken root. Recently Mr. Shott preached sermons denouncing the road races which have been held under the auspices of W. S. Emery. The attention of the authorities was called to the alleged violation of the ordinance against riding a bicycle at racing speed. These races Mr. Shott believes to be detrimental to the moral welfare of the community and that it invites to the 'Plains a class of immoral men and women.

It is possible that efforts will be made by the Citizens' League to stop the races advertised for this afternoon.

The Township Committee at last evening's meeting received a communication from the Citizens' League, calling attention to the violation of the borough ordinance in respect to racing on the streets and other acts of lawliness which from time to time have been permitted. The committee received the report and expressed themselves as being in thorough sympathy with the league in its movement toward the laudable efforts to elevate the moral tone of the community.

But the committee feel as though it is the duty of the officers of the law to enforce the ordinances which have enacted. They say that it is the privilege of any citizen to make complaint of a violation but as a body the committee believe they have no authority in the matter.

Mr. Emery says he will attempt to pull off the race at 4 o'clock as advertised. If he does it is understood that some members of the Citizens' League will cause the arrest of the men participating in the race.

The contestants, on the other hand, say that they expect protection from Mr. Emery in the event of arrest. It appears that the borough ordinance in relation to riding fast on the highway is a little crude. It provides for a fine of $5, but does not give the alternative of being sent to jail or the confiscation of the rider's wheel in case the fine is not paid; therefore, a rider who refuses to pay a fine would have to be released.

The outcome of the movement will be watched with interest. A big crowd will probably be present this afternoon to see the fun. Perhaps Mr. Shott will be the complainant against some of the racers.

A Surprise Party.

A surprise party was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. John Osborne, of Washingtonville, last night. Among those present were the Misses Clara Blume and Annie Texier, of New York; the Misses Ana and Grace Smith, of Newark; Miss Laura Shepherd, of Cranford; the Misses Nellie Motley, Emma and Hattie Wyckoff, Laura Myer, Katie Burncott, Mamie Rebrol, of Plainfield; and Louis Blume, of New York; and Messrs. James and John Gunn, Albert DeCamp, Harry Ackor, James and William Walker, William VanNest, Frank Smith and Buck Titus.

Hoodlums Threw Stones.

Fred Heffner, who drives the milk delivery wagon for Marchant Brothers, was attacked by a gang of young hoodlums on Grant avenue, near the railroad bridge, last night. The hoodlums bombarded the wagon with stones, and one struck Heffner in the head and cut his scalp. He has made a complaint to the police.

The Somerset Prohibitionists.

The Prohibitionists of Somerset county will hold their convention, to nominate their ticket for the coming county election, at Arcanum Hall, Somerville, Saturday afternoon, September 30th, at 3 o'clock.

A Relative of Dewey.

WILL LAY DOWN THE LAW.

Said That Next Week British Cabinet Will "Talk Business" to Transvaal.

MANY RUMORS AFLOAT.

Despatch Considered Pointing Out Great Britain's Readiness to Settle the Difficulty.

The Imperial Government Engaged in Drawing up Plans of Its Own For Acceptance or Rejection—Regret Expressed at Reitz's Latest Unfavorable Reply.

London, Sept. 23.—The Pall Mall Gazette says that another meeting of the cabinet will take place next Thursday or Friday, when the issues between Great Britain and the Transvaal will be presented in a more serious shape.

Various rumors are current regarding the latest cabinet meeting, but the following, which the Pall Mall Gazette publishes, is believed to be correct:

"Information in our possession is to the effect that it was an interim cabinet summoned to consider an interim despatch. It is believed that this paper, which met with the unanimous approval of Mr. Chamberlain's colleagues, will be published as soon as received by the Boer government on Monday or at the latest on Tuesday."

According to the Pall Mall Gazette, the despatch opens with an expression of regret at the unfavorable character of Secretary Reitz's last reply, and proceeds with a very firm insistence upon the repudiation of the claim of the Transvaal to the status of a sovereign state, once pointing out British readiness to settle at once the nature of the proposed arbitration tribunal, provided the other British conditions are promptly and unreservedly accepted, concluding with the intimation that the Imperial Government is now engaged in drawing up its own terms and that the Transvaal may expect to hear from them very shortly.

Immediately after the cabinet council the German Ambassador, Count von Hatzfeldt-Wildenburg, visited the Premier, Lord Salisbury, and had a long conference with him.

The fact that a similar visit immediately followed the previous cabinet council leads some persons to attach significance to it and to infer that Emperor William of Germany is taking an active part in Transvaal affairs.

The official German press, however, has been so outspoken in telling President Kruger that he need not expect German aid, that it is scarcely possible to attach credence to that inference. It is scarcely possible that the question of Delagoa Bay was discussed, if the despatch printed by the Pioneer, of Allahabad, saying negotiations had been concluded by Great Britain for taking possession of Delagoa Bay November 1, is correct.

Cheered the Ministers.

London, Sept. 22—The Cabinet meeting to consider the question of peace or war with the Boers caused Downing street to be thronged with people, who cheered the Ministers as they went to attend. Lord Lansdown, the Secretary of War, was the particular recipient of the public applause. The result of the meeting is wholly a matter of conjecture. It is the general official belief that the final steps will not be taken. This is based on the fact that the British force now in Natal is barely sufficient to check an invasion by the Boers. A large reinforcement will be necessary before offensive measures can be taken against the Free State and Transvaal united. A Pretoria despatch says that the Irish contingent recruited throughout the Transvaal has taken the field. General Joubert has given the command to Colonel Gillingham, a former Fenian and Transvaal delegate last year to Ireland's "Ninety-eight" celebrations.

Alleged Slavery in Hawaii.

Washington, Sept. 23.—George D. Gear, an attorney of Honolulu, called at the State Department to present a statement relative to the ill-treatment of coolie labor in the Hawaiian Islands. He asserts that the Supreme Court of Hawaii by its rulings is sustaining a system of slavery of the worst kind in the islands, in violation of the constitution of the United States, and he asks that the attorney general be required to declare whether or not the constitution covers the islands.

Max Regis Makes His Escape.

Algiers, Sept. 23.—Max Regis, formerly mayor of Algiers and a notorious Jew-baiter, left during the night the villa just outside the town in which he and his party of adherents had been barricaded for some days, fearing arrest by the government. It is said he went on board a boat bound for Spain. Eight of his companions were arrested.

Sighted a Burning Ship.

London, Sept. 23.—The Hamburg-American Line steamship Columbia, Capt. Vogelgesang, which called at Southampton from New York via Cherbourg for Hamburg, reported having passed on September 16, in latitude 33, longitude 55, a burning wooden ship, seemingly of American build and apparently abandoned.

Molten Metal Explodes.

Pittsburg, Sept. 23.—By the explosion of molten metal at Shoenberger's steel works four men were injured severely. Their names are as follows: Nicola I. Dalina, will die; Frank Smith, Adam Rafferty, John Dombrawski. The explosion was caused by the overturning of a ladle of hot metal.

Coming to Commercial Congress.

Southampton, Sept. 23.—Among the passengers who sailed in the American Line steamship New York, leaving this port for New York, via Boulogne, were the London agents general of the Australian colonies, who are bound for the Philadelphia commercial congress.

THE DEWEY FUND DRAGS.

Contributions Already in Amount to Only $27,065.

Washington, Sept. 23.—The final meeting of the Dewey national home fund committee was held at the office of the secretary of the treasury. An account of stock was taken and plans perfected for closing the subscriptions before the arrival in New York of Admiral Dewey. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Vanderlip, Assistant Postmaster-General Heath, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Allen, Adj.-Gen. Corbin and United States Treasurer Ellis H. Roberts were all present. At the conclusion of the meeting the committee gave out the following statement:

"The Dewey national home fund committee has received contributions from about 50,000 citizens, representing every state and territory in the Union. The contributions amount to $27,065, exclusive of those received this morning. The fund should be increased to at least $50,000, to enable the committee to purchase a home at the capital of the nation which is to be a credit to the givers and a pride to the hero of Manila Bay."

Oil Pipe Line Breaks.

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—A break in the pipe line which runs from the Pennsylvania oil regions to the Standard Oil Company's tanks at Gibson's Point, at the lower extremity of this city, resulted in a loss of many thousands of dollars' worth of oil.

A match was applied to the escaping fluid to prevent it from flowing into the Schuylkill River. The break occurred at Sixty-third street, West Philadelphia. The nearest pumping station is at Lancaster, and before the supply of oil could be shut off an enormous quantity had been burned.

Cramps' Strike is Spreading.

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—The strikers at Cramps' Ship Yards, have been joined by the blacksmiths and their helpers, who have been at work at the dry dock. Several machinists and joiners who at first refused to join the nine-hour movement also deserted their posts. Although the blacksmiths who left the dry dock were only five in number, the defection included all employed at that particular point, and resulted in a total suspension of work. Only a foreman was left to look after the forges, the helpers refusing to remain behind.

Democrats Will March for Goebel.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The Cook County Democracy's marching club will take part in the Kentucky campaign in the interest of Candidate Goebel. The club will leave Chicago on a special train immediately after the Chicago day parade, on Oct. 9, in which the club will participate. From Louisville it will go to Lexington, Covington and Frankfort, and then cross over into Ohio and give a parade for John R. McLean, at Cincinnati.

Change in Porto Rico Postage Rates

Washington, Sept. 23.—It was decided at the meeting of the Cabinet to reduce the letter postage rate between the United States and Porto Rico from five cents to the regular domestic rate of two cents. The Postmaster-General was directed to issue the necessary order. The step was taken chiefly on account of the poverty of the people of the island resulting from the recent hurricane.

Sought Death in a Millpond.

Oyster Bay, L. I., Sept. 23.—The body of Mrs. Frederick Bridgens, who had been missing since Tuesday night, was found this morning in the mill pond in this village. She tried to procure poison at two drug stores, and failing in this had jumped into the mill pond. Her husband died about one year ago. Her suicide was the result of melancholia, to which she had long been subject.

Mother Crazed by Grief.

Akron, Ohio, Sept. 23.—For an hour Mrs. Emil Pouchet waded up and down in the cold waters of the Little Cuyahoga River searching for the body of her three-year-old son, who had wandered away from his home and fallen from the river bank. Friends who came to the woman's aid found the body. The mother is crazed with grief.

Girl Jailed for Contempt of Court.

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 23.—Mabel E. Gray, a young lady, has been given a twenty-seven-day's sentence for contempt of court. She was summoned as a witness, and was unfamiliar with court rules. She attempted to override the instructions of the court and have her own way and would not accept a warning.

Will Stick to His Job.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 23.—Frank McIlvain, the young man who was shoveling coal on a barge near here, when told that his half interest in a California gold claim had proved to be worth $40,000, will not take any chance on it. He said, when told, "Well, I'll hold my job until I get the money."

Stranded Steamship Released.

London Sept. 23.—The British steamship Almond Branch towed off the British steamship Oak Branch, Capt. Steel, from Baltimore for Vladivostock, ashore at False Ras Gharib. The Oak Branch has returned to Suez, where she is being examined by divers.

New York Girl Burned.

Fishkill Landing, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Miss T. Gedney of New York City was burned to death at the home of Mrs. Harpel, in this city. Her dress caught fire from an overturned lamp.

Big Roller Mills Burned.

Sterling, Neb., Sept. 23.—The Sterling Roller Mills, were completely destroyed by fire. The loss will reach $150,000.

THE CHINESE CANNOT LAND

A Whole Shipload of Celestials Not Allowed to Go Ashore at Manila.

THEIR REQUEST DENIED.

Our Exclusion Regulations Are Rigidly Carried Out By the Military Authorities.

Believed That the Admission of Chinese to the Philippines Would Have an Unfavorable Effect—The Action Taken Upheld by Members of the Cabinet.

Washington, Sept. 23.—In the absence from the city of Secretary Hay, acting Secretary of State Hill attended the Cabinet meeting to discuss a request made by the Chinese Minister, Wu Ting Fang. The Minister has asked in behalf of his Government that a shipload of 700 Chinese be landed in the Philippines. The ship has already reached port, but the Chinese are prevented by our military officers from landing on account of the Chinese exclusion regulations.

The desire of the Chinese to land seems to have awakened some unpleasant suspicions among officers of the administration. After the Cabinet meeting one of the members said that it had been decided to maintain the exclusion law in the Philippines "for military reasons." When asked to explain what these military reasons were the Cabinet officer said that it was hardly proper to make any statement about it now. He was asked if the Administration suspected that the Chinese were to be enlisted in the insurgent army and he replied after some hesitation, "Not exactly."

No doubt was left that the President and members of the Cabinet believe that the admission of the Chinese would tend to have a direct unfavorable effect on the military situation, although it could not be learned in specific terms what was expected to result form granting admission. Secretary Root was directed to send a despatch to Gen. Otis asking for further information regarding the Chinese and their object in seeking admission to the Philippines.

To Divide the Philippines.

Washington, Sept. 23.—A plan is under consideration at the War Department to create an army division of the Philippines and divide it into departments on a basis similar to that in Cuba.

The idea is to create four departments in the Philippines, at least three of them to be commanded by Major Generals. The Philippines have been known as the Department of the Pacific. It is expected that one department of the proposed new division will consist of Gen. MacArthur's command north of Manila, another will be Gen. Lawton's command, south of Manila, and a third will be a new command to operate from Lingayen or Dagupen. The fourth department will probably consist of the troops in the islands south of Manila, which include the commands now at Iloilo, Cebu, and other points.

The scheme has not yet taken such definite form as to determine the commands of the division and departments. There is little doubt, however, that Lawton and MacArthur will remain where they now are, and probably the command in the islands south will be under a Brigadier General. Another officer will have to be selected for the department in the far northern part of the island at the terminus of the Dagupen Railroad.

The plan is to give each department commander all the troops that can be successfully operated and also insure sufficient garrisons for all points taken.

Protection to the peaceable tribes is one of the chief objects sought, as representations made to the War Department indicate that many of the inhabitants do not want to fight and if unmolested and relieved from fear of attack will assist in supporting the authority of the United States and make it impossible for the followers of Aguinaldo to subsist.

Death of Col. James F. Dwight.

Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 23.—Col. J. F. Dwight, 70 years old, of New York, died at Stockbridge after a year's illness. He was a graduate of Harvard and was a prominent lawyer. He served in the Civil War. His father, Col. Henry M. Dwight, represented Western Massachusetts in Congress.

His Wife Still Missing.

Gainesville, Ga., Sept. 23.—William Hudson Dudley, who killed James W. Smith and Berry O'Kelly on Monday night when he found them at his home with his wife, was captured and is now in jail at this place. It is thought Mrs. Dudley, who is missing, has suicided.

Released and Rearrested.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 23.—Newton Harr, a convict serving a term from Marion, was released from the penitentiary and immediately rearrested by an officer from Greenup, Ky. He is wanted there for an alleged burglary. He went without requisition papers.

FORMINC CORSET TRUST.

The Combine May be Incorporated at an Early Day.

New Haven, Sept. 23.—The plans for a corset trust, which have been under consideration for some months, seem to have been advanced to a point where they can be carried out. According to Connecticut manufacturers who are interested, the trust is likely to be incorporated in New Jersey next week. The Connecticut firms which are to join the combination are the following-named: I. Newman & Sons, Strouse, Adler & Co., and Ottenheimer Brothers, all of this city, and Warner Brothers of Bridgeport. DeVer Warner said:

"The trust of corset manufacturers has been gaining ground slowly for almost a year and advances have been made to the principal makers in New England looking to options on their properties. The trust has at present obtained about fifteen options. Those are to be taken up immediately. The cobination is being promoted by a New York and Chicago syndicate."

I. Newman of the firm of I. Newman & Sons of this city says:

"The corset trust has been given an option on our property for a good sum, and this option is to be taken up this week we expect. The Connecticut and Massachusetts manufacturers have not given support to the movement until this month."

Real Tragedy on the Stage.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 23.—Miss Julia Morrison, leading woman of the "Mr. Plaster of Paris" company, shot and instantly killed Frank Leiden, the stage manager, on the stage of the new Opera House in view of an audience of fully 2,000 people. She and her husband, J. H. James, were taken to jail.

It appears that Leiden and Miss Morrison had quarreled over the woman's alleged bad acting, Leiden accusing her of being an amateur. During the first act of the farce, she says, he made an insulting remark to her in a stage whisper.

She thereupon ran quickly to the wings, where she had placed a revolver, and returning faced Leiden, who was on the stage, and fired three times. All the shots struck him in the head, and he fell to the floor dead.

Foraker Speaks in Ohio.

Hamilton, Ohio, Sept. 23.—Although the formal opening of the Republican campaign has not made its appearance in Akron, Senator Foraker really fired the first gun at the Emancipation celebration, on the Butler County fair grounds. The feature of his address was a strong declaration for expansion and an exhaustive argument on the trust question, in which he declared that the tariff is not responsible for the formation of trusts and defended them where they are conducted as legalized bodies.

Three Murdered by Robbers.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 23.—The residence of Absolom Kesler, a miserly farmer, aged eighty, living on the West Virginia side of the river, near Pawpaw, was discovered on fire. Neighbors hurried to the scene and were horrified to find Kesler and Albert Gross, his hired man, lifeless in the yard. The housekeeper, Anna Doman, had also been murdered, and her body was consumed in the flames. The object of the crime was evidently robbery.

Was Dressed in Silk and Broadcloth

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 23.—Arrayed in the best clothes this city can supply, Robert Parker, a New York boy, who says his parents have disowned him, is held for burglary. He was captured in a clothing store here, having disrobed and reclothed himself in fine rainment of silk and broadcloth. He says he wanted the clothes so he could make a good appearance and thus get a position.

Sudden Death of Chorus Girl.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Miss Grace Wagner, a chorus girl in the Bostonian Opera Company, which opened an engagement at the Star Theatre here, was found dead in bed in her room in the Lincoln Hotel. She had suffered from herat trouble for some time, and this was the cause of her death.

A Whole Block Destroyed by Fire.

New York, Sept. 23.—Fire swept over a square block along the East River front, facing Hell Gate, and destroyed property valued at $150,000. All of the property within the space bounded by Ninety-fourth street, First avenue, Ninety-third street and the East River was destroyed.

Went a Long Distance to Suicide.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 23.—Kinloch Mathis, who came here from Lancaster, S. C., to kill himself, has set the town wondering what young woman here attracted him. In his hand, after death, was found a slip of paper on which was written a verse from Kipling's "Vampire."

Girls Chased the Burglar.

Wheeling, W. Va., Spt. 23.—A burglar entered the residence of J. C. Dent. While ransacking the house he awakened Miss Georgie Dent, who, with the assistance of her sister, Miss Lena, gave chase to the fellow, who left the house without any booty.

Morrison Goes to Portland.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 23.—Dr. A. A. Morrison of St. Matthew's Protestant Episcopal Church Brooklyn, N. Y., has been called to Trinity Church, this city, to succeed Dr. D. G. Garrett, who has just gone to St. Luke's Episcopal Church at San Francisco.

Hamilton Defeats Gardner.

New York, Sept. 23.—Jack Hamilton, of Troy defeated Oscar Gardner, of Omaha, at the Broadway Athletic Club. Gardner stayed the limit of twenty-five rounds and Hamilton was given the decision on points.

Trolley Car Capsized.

Carthage, Mo., Sept. 23.—An electric car filled with passengers and running at a high rate of speed jumped the track at Prince Curve, one mile from Carthage, and capsized. Twenty persons were injured, none fatally.

A Specific for Cancer.

"THE MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER has in some cases seemed to be of great benefit in arresting the progress of the disease. In a few instances, one of cancer of the breast and four of uterine cancer, the apparent effect has been more striking than any results I have seen from any other agent."

Fordyce Barker, M. D.

"I can fully endorse all that my friend Dr. Barker has said about the MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER. I have prescribed it with benefit in a few cases of cancer. I also consider it a great remedy in all scrofulous diseases, and in syphilitic affections. In these diseases its true value has not yet been fully recognized by the profession. It is also an admirable remedy in affections of the digestive organs, and in some diseases of the kidneys."

SCHEPFLIN & SCHULTZ,
M. J. CASHIN, Manager. 322 West Front Street.

There is at present living in the northern part of the State of New Hampshire a well-preserved man who was a soldier of the War of the Rebellion. He is sixty-one years of age, and likes to take life easy now; but has ailments, perhaps inseparable from the decline of life, and has found much relief from the use of Ripans Tabules. He was long troubled with frequent headaches; there was an enlargement of the liver; he was annoyed more or less now and then with piles, and occasionally there was a rheumatic affection in his shoulder; another difficulty was a shortness of breath, or what seemed to be an inability to fill his lungs; this he attributed to a stomach trouble, although he was told it was dropsy of the heart. He found that Ripans Tabules, if taken at the time of the approach of any of these troubles, would always stave it off, and bring almost instant relief. He noticed also that they brought about a condition of things that, were he a married man, would be a source of infinite pleasure, but, being single, has at times made him, as he expresses it, "very uneasy."

WANTED—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send five cents to Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce Street, New York, for 10 samples and 1,000 testimonials. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents, or 12 packets for 48 cents, may be had of all druggists who are willing to sell a standard medicine at a moderate profit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the packet. Accept no substitute.

HE FORGIVES HIS ENEMIES.

Dreyfus Can Do That But Cannot Forget Them.

Carpentras, Sept. 23.—"I have forgiven, but I will not forget." This is the way Captain Dreyfus sums up his feelings toward his enemies. He forgives. He bears no malice. In his retreat at Carpentras he is enjoying himself with his family and laying plans for the future, and especially for the fight to secure his rehabilitation in the army, or at least a legal acquittal of the charge under which he now rests. Asked of his opinion of Mercier, Captain Dreyfus replied without any apparent animosity:

"Mercier is a wicked, dishonest man. I believe he is not conscious of the depth of the evil which he has done. He is too intelligent to be wholly unconscious of it, but if he be mentally conscious he is morally unconscious. He has no moral sense."

"And Esterhazy, what do you think of him?" was asked.

In quiet, measured accents, slightly doubtful, came the reply: "I think he is a swindler who has swindled his country—it is not even his country—just as he swindled his cousin and his tradesmen, but without in the least realizing that he did so. He wanted money. That was his motive."

Emil Zola in a letter to Mme. Dreyfus says: "You may fully depend upon those who have restored your husband to freedom to restore him to his honor. Not one of us will give up the fight. We know well that we fight for justice and for our country. We have not been able all at once to restore your husband to you, freed from lying accusations. We ask yet a little patience, trusting that your children will not be much older before their name shall be legally purged of all blemish."

LEAPS TO DEATH.

Suicide of a Beautiful Young Wife in New York.

New York, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Harris Chenery, the beautiful young wife of Harris Chenery, of Larchmont, and the sister-in-law of Lieutenant-Commander Chenery, U. S. N., who leaped from a fifth-story window of the magnificent Hotel Majestic, fronting Central Park, was almost instantly killed. Her husband was not with her at the time. Mrs. Chenery had been a guest at the hotel for six weeks, under treatment for a nervous disorder. A trained nurse watched over her. Every attention and luxury that wealth could supply was given to her.

Mrs. Chenery was a victim of suicide melancholia. Her family knew it and every safeguard that wealth could provide was enlisted to prevent her from taking her life. Nurses were employed to watch her night and day. Several times she was prevented from committing suicide. But each time she was foiled she brought a greater shrewdness to the next attempt. Finally the opportunity came. The nurse's back was turned. With an extraordinary agility she reached the window and madly jumped toward the stones below.

Huntington Controls.

London, Sept. 23.—The Cabinet meet-Chronicle says: "Definite and reliable information from the East sets at rest the rumors about the sale of the Crocker holdings of the Southern Pacific stock. The Crocker shares, numbering 340,000, and valued approximately at $10,000,000, have been bought by a syndicate, of which C. P. Huntington is the head. Other outside holdings are also said to have been purchased by the syndicate in sufficient amounts to secure to C. P. Huntington the absolute control of the Southern Pacific Railway.

The Fighting Filipinos.

Manila, Sept. 23.—A railroad train was thrown from the track by the insurgents a mile south of Angeles. The wreckers then opened fire on the derailed cars from the cover of a bamboo thicket. Two Americans were killed and several wounded. The insurgents were forced to retire under a vigorous fire from Lieutenant Lowe and several scouts who were on the train. They left six dead in the thicket.

Girl Refuses to Eat.

Nyack, Sept. 23.—Nancy Van Riper, after three unsuccessful attempts to drown herself, now refuses to eat, hoping to kill herself in that way. She is a domestic and Henry Eaton says that he loves her, but they cannot marry as he earns only $4 a week.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 23.—The stock market opened irregularly and there were some fairly large declines. Manhattan and Metropolitan were uninteresting at the start. Continental Tobacco, Sugar and American Wire preferred showed strength. People's Gas, Union Pacific preferred and the Grangers were flat. The trading in the list was active, but not unusually heavy. The prices were steadier later in the day, and some stocks showed considerable strength.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Closing spot quotations: Wheat 74, corn 34⅝, oats 22⅝, pork 8.07, lard, 5.30, ribs 5.12.

Exercise for the Calves.

That results which seem incredible can be obtained in the development of the muscles without resorting to gymnasium practice or using expensive apparatus and without the slightest interference with the subject's usual mode of life has been learned with pleasure by a young man in Germantown, Pa. He bought a bicycle last summer and purposed to ride it, but his legs were so small that in bike pants he was jeered at wherever he went, and soon his wheel was rusty from disuse.

He determined then to enlarge his calves, and in the fall he began the simple exercise of standing with stiff knees flat-footed, then rising as high as possible on his toes and repeating this until thoroughly tired. His calves are now two inches bigger. Thirty rises in succession was the limit of his endurance the first day, but five hundred rises do not fatigue him now. He has been averaging daily since that time ten minutes on getting up, ten minutes before luncheon and ten before retiring.

WILL DO AS HE PLEASES.

General Roe Will Not Heed the Order Issued by Governor Roosevelt.

IT TRIED HIS PATIENCE.

Dewey Land Parade Committee Upholds Gen. Roe in Action Relating to the Grand Army.

Chairman Declares His Willingness to Stand All Responsibility for the Situation—Guggenheimer Says the Governor's Order is an Unwarranted Interferance.

New York, Sept. 23.—At the meeting of the Plan and Scope Committee of the Dewey Day celebration Gen. Roe announced that he would do as he pleased regarding the matter of giving the G. A. R. a place in the land parade.

Gen. Roe received a despatch from Gov. Roosevelt and it "directed" him to give the Grand Army their choice of place in the Dewey parade. Gen. Roe had just said, smilingly, when told that Roosevelt had sent him such a message, that he didn't believe the Governor had said any such thing or would send any such order.

With whitened face Gen. Roe, whose cup of bitterness was already full, clapped on his hat and strode over to the Mayor's office. He turned a stony face upon the reporters.

He talked earnestly with the Mayor a minute, then hurried to the office of Chairman Guggenheimer.

"I is peculiarly Rooseveltian," said Mr. Guggenheimer. "It is a most impudent, impertinent and unwarrantable interference in a matter in which he has no concern and no authority.

"Then there is more trouble," was Gen. Carroll's only comment on the despatch of the Commander-in-chief to the Major-General commanding the National Guard of New York.

Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, of the Sub-Committee on land parade said:

"I think the Governor is right. We can't do too much to please those old heroes. Let them have what they desire."

Gen. Roe reported to the Plan and Scope Committee the declination of the Grand Army men to parade unless they could have the place of honor. Then with trembling hands he read a statement of all the transactions with the G. A. R. Committees, which at first agreed to everything, but finally said they wouldn't march unless they were given the right of line, and did decline.

Gen. Roe said he had taken the position that this was distinctively a navy day, and he would take all responsibility for the situation.

The committee unanimously approved of his action in the matter.

It is now a settled fact that the G. A. R. veterans will have to accept the place in line assigned them by Gen. Roe or take no part in the parade.

Roosevelt Has No Advice to Give.

New York, Sept. 23.—The following despatch has been received from Governor Roosevelt in regard to the G. A. R. controversy in the Dewey land parade: "I have telegraphed General Roe that if the matter is one purely for the city authorities and in which I have no power, then, of course, I withdraw my former telegram. I had understood that General Roe was acting as Major General of the National Guard in the management of the parade, and in that event I, of course, had the power to direct that the right of line be given the veterans, and accordingly did it. If, however, as appears to be the case, it is a matter purely for the city officials, I, of course, have nothing to say, and no advice to give."

Line of March for Dewey Parade.

New York, Sept. 23.—Major-Gen. Charles F. Roe, Chairman of the Committee on Land Parade for Dewey Day, made public the order of the parade, Sept. 30 as follows:

Squad of mounted police, Grand Marshall small staff, Sousa's band, crew of the Olympia, Admiral Dewey and Mayor Van Wyck in a carriage drawn by four black horses. Invited guests—Rear-Admiral Schley, Maj.-Gen. Miles, Governors and other invited guests in thirty carriages, two abreast. Marines and Sailors, 2,000 men. United States Army—Maj.-Gen. Wesley Merritt, 2,500 men. Forty-eighth Highlanders, Toronto, Canada, 400 men. New York National Guard, arranged in order of senority of brigade commanders, 15,000 men. Stock Yards Still in Confusion.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The union Stock Yards, the Beef Trust's property, are still in confusion because of the fire of Thursday. The loss is now estimated at $3000,000. Fifteen hundred horses that were stampeded are badly bruised, some being so severely hust as to be worthless. Twenty horses were burned to death.

Profit in the Hen.

Hens and eggs are a commodity not be sneered at in Missouri. The surplus poultry shipped by rail last year exceeded in value the zinc ore, which the surplus eggs went the lead ore $250,000 better. Missouri is proud of its output of zinc and lead, but it is now enthusing, as was Kansas a few years ago, over the wealth-producing possibilities of the humble hen.

The figures are surprising indeed. The poultry product shipped and sold last year amounted to over 70,000,000 pounds. It realized the producers at first price $4,900,000. The eggs shipped were 33,935,000 dozen, and they brought to the people who gathered them from the nests $3,393,000. Poultry and eggs together yielded to the farmers of Missouri, after their own tables had been supplied, $8,298,000.

The two great items of agricultural grain for Missouri last year, cattle and hogs, realized, respectively, $34,000,000 and $36,000,000 each, only about four times what the poultry did; and they consumed the corn crop of 190,000,000 bushels, and kept a considerable proportion of the farmers of the state doing chores from daylight to dark all winter.

Following the wide publicity of the profits in the hen, much larger results in that line are expected in Missouri next year.

"Bob" Davis has completed his slate for the next election. His candidates will be Reumpler for Sheriff, Stuck for County Clerk, Clarke for Register, and for members of Assembly, Maurice Murks, Anthony Brock, George G. Tennant, John Vallers, James Murphy and Timothy J. Carroll, of Jersey City; Leon Abbett and J. J. Fallon, of Hoboken; Allan Benny, of Bayonne; J. Emil Walschied, of North Hudson, and J. Franklin Crowell, of West Hudson. John Zeller, who is ambitious to secure the nomination for Sheriff, has declared that he will contest for the nomination with Reumpler at the "open primaries."

THE OCEANIC, LARGEST EVER BUILT.

The Oceanic, new White Star liner which arrived in New York from Queenstown on Wednesday, September 13, made her maiden trip in 6 days, 1 hour, 24 minutes. The time is considered very good, though no effort was made to sail for a record. The record, held by the Lucania of the Cunard line, is 5 days, 7 hours, 23 minutes. The Oceanic is the largest vessel ever built. She was launched at Belfast on January 14th last from the world famous shipbuilding yards of Harland & Wolff. Her dimensions are—704 feet long, 72 feet beam and 68 feet depth, with draught light of 22 feet and loaded 32 1-2 feet. She registers 17,000 tons. Her engines were designed to develop 45,000 horse power. Her coal capacity is about 6,000 tons, sufficient to take her around the world at a 12 knot rate, and she consumes about 500 tons of coal daily.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

From North Plainfield comes the glad tidings that they are almost a unit for that straight young man of business, Elston M. French, and North Plainfield can sometimes get there with a bang.—Bound Brook State Centre.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A friend of the writer, who had the pleasure of being shown about North Plainfield a few days ago, was gratified to find the fire engine houses kept so nicely. At the rear of the house of Warren Engine Company is the borough lockup. What a contrast it presented to the disgraceful institution in the city of Plainfield called the city jail! The former place was found to be in a clean condition and apparently free from vermin. It had a wholesome atmosphere and there was an absence of the musty, foul smell so noticeable about the Plainfield city jail. Chief Marshal Campbell said that they had no difficulty in keeping the place clean and free from bugs. Upstairs, directly over the lockup, is a cosy court room provided with suitable furniture, which had a comfortable appearance. This court room and place of detention is as creditable to the borough officials as the Plainfield city jail is a disgrace to the officials of this city. But why discuss the question. Everyone knows that this city needs a new city jail, or, better yet, a handsome city hall. The city jail is the one blot on the city's fair name.

HAPPENINGS IN A FEW LINES FROM ALL OVER JERSEY.

More or Less Important Happenings and Events in Various Sections Served For a Quick Glance at

Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), who a short time ago wrote to the manager of the Princeton Inn to reserve him a suite for the winter, has cancelled the arrangement and will spend the winter in London.

The output of the canneries in South Jersey this year will be enormous, and yet it is stated the price for canned goods will be higher than last year. The farmers are realizing more for their tomatoes than in several seasons past.

Two men attacked Ernest Wandlung, of Hilton, in Tuscan road Tuesday night. The men stepped from the side of the road and started in to pummel Wandlung. A carriage approached and the highwaymen ran back into the woods. Wandlung was bruised about the face.

Burglars forced the side window of the parsonage of the First Methodist church, at No. 111 Bayard street, New Brunswick, Wednesday night. They stripped the table and sideboard of silver and left other valuables that were within easy reach. It is supposed they were frightened away.

The practice of throwing rice at married couples when they are leaving the church after the ceremony has been performed, was severly criticised by Rev. Charles P. Gillen, of Paterson. He said throwing rice was a pagan superstition, an irreverence to the church and an insult to the contracting parties. He was determined to have the practice stopped in his church, even if it be necessary to hire a detective for every wedding.

GIVE THE CHILDREN A DRINK

called Grain-O. It is a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it because when properly prepared it tastes like the finest coffee but is free from all its injurious properties. Grain-O aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant but a health builder, and children, as well as adults, can drink it with great benefit. Costs about ¼ as much as coffee 15 and 25c.

all day long on
SATURDAY.

As a grand climax to a week of bargain-giving we shall tomorrow (Sat) give double the usual quantity of Trading Stamps with each cash purchase.

The week just closing is a record breaker so far as receiving new goods is concerned. Never before in so short a space of time have we opened such quantities of goods.

Our entire winter supply of blankets is now on exhibition and we don't hesitate to affirm that Plainfield people have never had so comprehensive a line to select from and were never offered such values. We buy these goods direct from the mills and in so doing save the jobbers' profits. Prices range from 50c pair to $14.00 pair. Sizes 10-4, 11-4, 12-4. The line includes some beautiful soft gray blankets with rich borders, designed especially for bath robes.

Comfortables. Our experience in this line proves to us that ladies appreciate nice goods. Our comfortables are filled with clean white cotton, odorless, covered with coverings of exclusive patterns, thoroughly quilted and are superior in quality, finish and appearance. Prices as follows: 98c, $1.25, $1.48, $1.75, $1.98, $2.25, $2.48, $2.75, $2.98.

Two numbers in down quilts at $3.98, $4.98. Full size, pure down filled, covered with elegant satine and artistically quilted. Warm, light, fluffy. No well-regulated family should be without them.

Golf Suitings.

Fashion makes it imperative that Golf Suiting be worn. We are inclined to encourage their use, for no more durable and stylish suitings were ever introduced to the buying public. Double-faced, warm, serviceable, need no lining. Our line ranges in price from $1.25 to $3.98 per yard, and we believe our styles equal to the best shown by N. Y. houses. Our prices we believe to be lower, as we purchased early before the subsequent rise in price.

Underskirts. New fall styles are now on sale, and let us say to you—you may look many a day for a more attractive lot of styles. They are made of satines, Italian cloths, mercerized cottons, morreens, etc, in both black and colors.

New waists in flannel, brilliantine, satine, silk, etc. Styles are exclusive and prices are right.

Sundry Novelties.

New Embroidered Chiffons—Tucked Silks, Corded Silks, etc., for dress fronts. All over point-de-venise dress laces in black and cream, plain lace nets, new veilings, new neck novelties, velvet ribbons in satin back and linen back, butter colored lace ties with embroidered ends, black jetted lace nets, etc.

Kid Gloves. We sell no cheap kid gloves. No lady is well-dressed with either cheap gloves or cheap shoes. Better wear a cheap dress. $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 are our prices for good gloves. The last two numbers are entirely new and very desirable. Must be seen, however, to be appreciated.

New Table Damasks.

Our sales in this line are certainly phenomenal. We have surprised ourselves as well as our friends. It is not the result of accident, but rather the natural response to persistent effort to secure and offer to our customers special values. The latest attractions in this department are two special Bleached Damasks at 50c and 75c per yard. The 50c number is worth 75c and the 75c number is worth 89c, or we are guilty of prevarication.

DOWN STAIRS.

The old saying "forewarned forearmed" has proved true in our case in regard to White Iron Beds. Anticipating the rise in price of these goods we bought early and often all the iron beds we could find storage for. Prices have advanced since until we could sell the goods back to the people we bought them of at a handsome profit.

We prefer, however, to give our friends the benefit of our good fortune. Iron Beds, Brass trimmed, at 3.75, 4.98, 5.75, 6.48, 7.98, 8.49, 9.98, 10.75, 11.50, 12.50, 13.75, 14.98. Every bed quoted worth from 15 to 25 per cent more.

MATTRESSES.

Soft Top Mattresses, 1.98, 2.45. Husk, soft top, 2.98. Victor Combination, 1 part, 3.98. Victor Combination, 2 parts, 4.48. 45 lb Pure White Cotton, A. C. A. tick, 2 parts, 5.98. Genuine Felt Mattress, Fancy tick, 1 part or 2 parts, 8.50. Silk Floss Mattress, to order, 15.00. Springs, Pillows, Furniture, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Mattings, Shades, Rugs, etc.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Sept 23—Theodore Apgar, a carpenter employed upon the new house being erected on Prospect street by H. L. Terry, met with quite a painful accident yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. With another carpenter Mr. Apgar was taking down a scaffolding when in some manner a large sized hatchet fell and struck him on the back of his head, cutting a deep gash several inches long. The wound bled profusely and the injured man was considerably weakened by the loss of blood. However, he had sufficient strength to walk to the office of Dr. Brakeley, where he had his injuries properly dressed. The doctor was compelled to take several stitches in the cut to close it. It is not thought that Mr. Apgar will be laid up any length of time. He certainly had a narrow escape from a serious if not fatal injury. Had the sharp instrument struck him on a vital part of the head he might have been instantly killed. It was, indeed, fortunate.

The amount of money necessary to repair the roof of the Methodist church, which was damaged by the storm some weeks ago, was raised last Sunday at the morning service.

The topic for the meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist church tomorrow evening will be "Gideon's Band." J. E. Henry will lead.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Vail will spend Sunday at High Bridge visiting relatives and friends. They will return Sunday evening.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church will hold their regular monthly consecration service tomorrow evening.

The board of directors of the Dunellen Building and Loan Association met Thursday night and transacted routine business.

The Daughters of Liberty had an enthusiastic meeting Thursday evening at New Market. There was a large attendance.

Until further notice the evening services in the Methodist church will be at 7:30 Sundays and on week nights at 7:45 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. Jamieson has been invited to lecture at South Branch in October before the congregation of the Reformed church.

E. G. Lewis, the well known shoe maker, had the misfortune to cut two or three fingers on his left hand yesterday.

Services will be held in the body of the Baptist church tomorrow. In the evening there will be a service of song.

The friends of Mrs. C. A. Roberts will be pleased to learn that she is recovering from a recent illness.

Miss Edna Vail will spend a few days at High Bridge visiting relatives. She will remain over Sunday.

Rally day exercises will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Joseph Dunham has been entertaining her friend, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, of Westfield.

Linden Apgar has been attending the National Exposition at Philadelphia this week.

Mrs. Ann Fritz and daughter Della have returned from their summer outing.

Mrs. Charles Carpenter has bought a new piano of the Pease make.

Jonathan J. Lindsay and family have moved to Plainfield.

PLAINS AND FA[illegible]

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 23.—At the close of the weekly prayer meeting in the Baptist church last evening a teachers meeting was held to take action upon the resignation of George E. Hall, as superintendent of the Sunday-school. Mr. Hall's resignation was filled with love for the school in which he has passed several very pleasant years. Mr. Hall's resignation was accepted with the sincere regret of all, for by his faithful work and pleasant ways he had become endeared to all. Rev. G. M. Shott was elected superintendent to fill out the unexpired term.

Montague avenue is being improved by having the fences along the avenue set back. When Town Committeeman Bruchman is finished with the work it will be a big improvement to the property through this end of town.

Rev. G. M. Shott will preach the first of a series of sermons upon "Discipleship" tomorrow morning. In the evening he will by request repeat his sermon, recently delivered at Fanwood, upon "Lamps Going Out."

The Thursday Evening Literary Club of the Methodist church will shortly resume their interesting readings after a vacation of two months during the heated season.

Arthur Chapin has received a handsome racing suit which he won by capturing first place in the one-half mile open race, held Monday at the Somerville fair grounds.

Summons have been issued in Judge Clark's court in the contract case of Duykinck against Bonvall, summons returnable September 30th.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., met in their rooms last night. Business of importance was brought before the meeting.

John B Stiliger, of Roselle, was the guest of his parents last evening.

Miss Emily Schreiner visited friends in Plainfield Friday.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 23—Some time during last night thieves entered the store of M. J. Gildersleeve on Broad street by forcing a rear window and took about $5, all there was in the money drawer. They also broke open Mr. Gildersleeve's private desk, but found nothing. The work is supposed to be that of some one to whom the store is well-known.

Jack Townsend and Charles Embleton will meet in an unlimited pursuit race on the Vailsburg race track tomorrow afternoon. The race has awakened great interest in Westfield and a large amount of money will change hands on the result.

Proceedings of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., held Thursday, Sept. 7th, 1899, at 2:30 o'clock p. m.

Roll-call showed all members present excepting Freeholder Hulskamper.

The minutes of the previous meeting, reading of bills being omitted, were on motion approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS ETC.

From James W. Fink, County Road Inspector, as follows:

Westfield, September 4th, 1899.

To the Honorable, the Board of Chosen Freeholders, of the County of Union, N. J:

Gentlemen—The undersigned would respectfully submit to your Honorable Body the following report of repairs on County Roads for the year 1899:

On Westfield or North Avenue 23,645 lineal feet of road have been repaired with 1½ inch stone, 10,447 feet of road top-dressed with fine stone, and 53,903 feet of gutters cleaned.

On South Avenue 15,303 feet of road have been top-dressed with fine stone.

On Central Avenue 5,455 lineal feet of road have been repaired with 1½-inch stone, 3,835 feet of road top-dressed with fine stone, 14,610 feet of gutters cleaned.

On St. George's Avenue 9,481 lineal feet of road have been repaired with 1½-inch stone, 4,156 feet of road top-dressed with fine stone, 22,462 feet of gutters cleaned.

In New Providence 3,260 feet of road have been top-dressed with fine stone:—2,460 feet on Mountain avenue top-dressed with fine stone.

In Summit 2,466 feet of road repaired with 1½ inch stone, 13,200 feet top-dressed with fine stone, 6,000 feet of gutters cleaned.

On Morris avenue, 1,080 feet of road repaired with 1½ inch stone, 24,400 feet of road top-dressed with fine stone, 7,060 feet of gutters cleaned.

On Springfield avenue 7,920 feet of road top-dressed with fine stone.

Making a total of eight miles of 1½ inch stone work; sixteen miles of road top-dressed; nineteen and three-fourths miles of gutters cleaned.

The amount of money paid out for this work amounts to $15,077.34.

(Signed)
Very respectfully submitted,
James W. Fink,
Inspector.

On motion of Freeholder Farrell received and placed on file.

From County Collector E. M. Wood as follows:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—At the last meeting of the Board, the following resolution was introduced by Freeholder Robison and duly passed: "Resolved, That the Collector be requested to report to the Board at its next meeting what expenses have been incurred in Union county up to the present time on the plan to widen Westfield avenue, or what is known as the County Boulevard, and what amount if any, has been paid to the county by the Elizabeth Street Railway Co. on account of same." In answer thereto I report that the sum of $3,756.80 has been paid by the county on account of the widening of Westfield avenue and that nothing has been received from the Elizabeth Street Railway Co. on account of the same. Very respectfully,

E. M. Wood,
County Collector.

In reply to a question by Mr. Robison, Mr. Wood stated that the amount mentioned included all expenses incurred and paid by the county up to the present time, salaries of commissioners and stenographer's being included.

On motion of Freeholder Brucklacher the communication was then received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Freeholder Adams said he desired to call the attention of the County Board Committee to the condition of the gutters along the county road at Cranford. They were clogged and overgrown with grass, and should be looked after.

Freeholder Roll said that the matter would receive the attention of the County Road Committee.

Freeholder Robison asked if the County Road Committee had ever made any demand on the Elizabeth City Horse Railroad Company for the amount expended by the county on the widening, etc., of Westfield avenue, and the following letter from John Kean, president of said road, was read:

"E. M. Wood, Esq., county collector: Dear Sir—No call has ever been made on the Elizabeth City Horse Railroad Company for a payment under contract with the county. Last February (2d) the company offered in writing to make payment in instalments as called for by the county. The company is ready to pay under the contract as soon as the amount is ascertained. The amount of the disbursements by the county will be paid on demand.

"Very truly,
"John Kean."

President Elizabeth City Horse R. R. Co.

September 7th, 1899.

On motion of Freeholder Robison, received and placed on file.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Wahl:

"Resolved, That the bills of John Maxwell for $236 for mason work and bill of W. T. Kirk for $225 for iron work for bridge at New Providence, N. J., be paid when properly audited by the committee, all as per contracts."

Freeholder Robison moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Miller:

"Resolved, That the committe on Elizabeth drawbridge be and is hereby empowered to have the culvert at South Street bridge rebuilt at a cost not to exceed $150."

Freeholder Brucklacher moved the adoption of the resolution and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Miller:

"Resolved, That the bill of the State Hospital at Morris Plains quarter ending August 15, 1899, be paid when audited by the Lunacy Committee, said bill amounting to $9,993.41."

Freeholder Robinson moved the adoption of the resolution and on roll-call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Roll:

Resolved, That the County Road Committee be, and are hereby directed to ascertain the amount actually expended by the county in the boulevard matter to date from the County Collector, and that the County Collector be directed to demand such amount from the Elizabeth City Horse Railway Co., and therefore to make demand for further payments on account of the same whenever bills paid shall aggregate $2 000.

Freeholder King moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

THIN GOWNS.

They Are In Great Favor For Indoor Wear.

The passion for thin and sheer materials has had a most delightful influence upon wrappers and those loose and dainty gowns which are worn in the bedroom. Muslin, gauze, liberty silk and crepe de chine in all sorts of variations are the goods used for such garments. The skirt is long and floating, even in front, the bodices are full and much trimmed and sleeves often open to reveal the arms. Circular ruffles decorated with tiny ruches, lace insertion or embroidery are the favorite trimming, or flounces which are tucked at the top instead of being gathered.

These transparent gowns are worn over a colored lining, which is or can be made separate from the gown itself, as it may serve for several outsides. It consists of a plain skirt and bodice, made quite tight and closed as inconspicuously as possible. The only trimming is a series of frills around the foot of the skirt. Tinted plain silk is usually employed for these underdresses.

An illustration is given of one of the new directoire hats. The form is smoothly covered with sky blue moire, and the high crown is encircled by many bands of narrow black velvet. Clusters of loops of the velvet are fastened at the back by jeweled ornaments and fall on the hair. In front is a group of black plumes held by a chou composed of black velvet loops. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

Attractive Additions to the Elegant Wardrobe.

Evening wraps are elaborate and luxurious. A new cape model is composed of puffings of mousseline de soie over taffeta and clings to the figure as far down as the waist. At that point there is a voluminous flounce of plaited mousseline de soie, trimmed with finer plaitings. Under the chin is an immense cravat with long, floating ends.

Accordion plaited gowns of mousseline de soie are to be worn; also gowns of puffed mousseline, the puffs separated by insertion or lines of spangles.

Costumes of chiffon with accordion plaited tunics and applications of cream guipure over white satin are a charming and expensive novelty.

Many tunics are cut in points or scallops, and the same idea is repeated in the bodice, the points extending upon the guimpe. These tunics may match the body of the skirt or may be different. In lace or mousseline de soie they are very attractive.

The picture given illustrates an attractive fichu arrangement to be worn with a plain bodice. Its foundation is a round yoke composed of lines of insertion, each line being edged with fine passementerie. Around this yoke is a bertha of lace, and across each shoulder is a bretelle drapery of mousseline de soie, forming a chou at the top. In front is a large bow of mousseline striped with insertion and bordered with passementerie. From this fall two long ends of mousseline edged with lace, which forms coquilles, and trimmed at the bottom with bands of insertion. A frill of lace finishes the back of the high collar, which matches the yoke.

It is a very difficult matter to make a church the right size. Every one we saw was too small for weddings and too large for prayer meetings.—Atchison Globe.

CEASE WORRYING.

Mary Boardman Page Tells How to Stop It.

The usual way people set about stopping worry is a wrong way," writes Mary Boardman Page in the September Ladies' Home Journal. "That is why it is so unsuccessful. If a doctor tells a patient he must stop worrying, the patient is likely to say impatiently, 'Oh, doctor, don't I wish I could! But I can't. If I could have stopped worrying a year ago I would not be ill now!'—all of which is probably perfectly true. And the doctor does not always know how to help him, because doctor and patient have an idea that it is possible to repress worry through an effort of the will. This is a mistake. It is not possible to repress worry. You have got to replace it with something else.

"Let me illustrate this by a figure. Supposing you should go into a completely dark room, wishing it to be light. How would you set about the work? Would you try to scoop the darkness up in buckets and carry it out at the door? Not at all. You would just open the windows and shutters and let in the blessed sunlight. You would replace the darkness with light. So it is with worry. The only possible way to get rid of it is to replace the worried attitude of mind with the non-worry attitude. And this can always be done when the person is sincere and patient in his desire to bring it about. All he has to do is to be passive and let nature have her own perfect way with him."

A Speculation in Wheat.

"Deliver me from any more wheat deals with women," said the commission man wearily. "Just read this letter. Do you see what she says? Calls me a robber and says she will prosecute me.

"I'll tell you what brought out all that abuse. his woman decided some time ago to trade a little in wheat. She wrote, sending me $20, with instructions to buy her a thousand bushels. I did so, but the price of wheat went down almost as soon as I telephoned the order over to the firm at the board. I made up my mind that she shouldn't lose if I could help it, even if I had to help her out myself. So I began margining for her on my own account. I put up $20 without being worried much, for I thought the price would go up soon, but it didn't, and I had to spend another $20 to save my own margin. There was $40 gone just to protect her little old $20. Before the market began to come up again I had put in $80. When one day the price came up, very gradually. As soon as it got to a point where I could save myself I sold out, as any wise man would have done in my fix. As it happened, too, the price went back just after I had sold out, proving the wisdom of my course.

"No, I guess I won't do any more trading with women. They expect too much."

A Dolley Design.

seems no end. But a plain, fine linen embroidered with either white or yellow silk is as good as any.

The design given is quite pretty when simple outline stitch is used, and when the work is done with wash silk of good quality they will return from each trip to the laundry looking fresh and pretty.

Care of Flatirons.

These useful articles should be kept scrupulously free from rust, if they are to do justice to the ironer. When not in use they should be stood end up on a clean, dry shelf, and should be periodically rubbed with sandpaper so that perfect smoothness may be insured. Should an iron, through neglect, become rusty, it should be rubbed with a mixture of lard and beeswax, cleansed of this, and then briskly sandpapered until smooth and bright. A suitable iron rest should also be provided for a hot iron, as it may do much damage if placed, when hot, upon table, floor or window sill. Quite a respectable little fire was caused recently by a careless woman placing a very hot iron upon the boards of the floor and then forgeting it, when the wood smouldered under the heat and finally ignited. An iron is best heated over a gas flame, for this makes little or no dirt upon the botom and heats it through very quickly.

A Revolution.

"Bicycles and short skirts have certainly brought about one revolution" said a man who likes to walk the streets and look at what is going on. "It has forced the women and girls who ride to be neat about their shoes.

"Women with long skirts are inclined to be untidy and about their footgear. What is worse than to see a woman holding up her dress to display a pair of button shoes with the holes loose and untidy and all run down at the heel? Everybody who notices such things will bear me out that before the era of bicycle skirts three women in five were careless about this part of their makeup, no matter how faultless the attire in other espects. The short skirt has made them careful."

CARE OF THE TEETH

MOST PEOPLE PAY TOO LITTLE ATTENTION TO THEM.

The Most Common Cause of Bad Teeth—Acid Injures Teeth More Than Sweets—The Most Important Rule to Follow to Preserve Them.

It is curious what little attention people pay to their teeth. If anyone's boots begin to wear out he has them repaired at once, and when a button gets loose he has it sewn on, but unless a bad toothache drives him to the dentist he will let every tooth in his mouth wear down to a stump without giving it a thought.

Of course the result in most cases is bad dyspepsia, besides an exceedingly ugly disfigurement of the mouth.

Yet nothing is easier for people of ordinary good health than to keep sound teeth in their heads until they have reached a good old age. But to do this they should begin to take care of them when comparatively young.

One of the commonest causes of bad teeth is taking food too hot. When you drink a cup of very hot tea the enamel covering of the teeth expands and afterward, when you breathe the cold air, it contracts. This alternate swelling and shrinking makes the enamel fall to pieces, and once the hard covering goes the spongy inner substance crumbles away in no time.

To prove how destructive hot food is, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, a dentist recently performed an instructive experiment. He got a glass of hot and a glass of cold water, and placed a perfectly sound tooth first in one, then in the other, and so on, backward and forward, several hundred times with the curious result that the enamel was completely worn off.

Every one knows the injurious effects of acid on the teeth. Yet many foolish girls drink vinegar to make their faces pale, and, as they think, interesting. Of course the teeth pay the penalty. A young girl who consulted me lately had lost almost every tooth in her head from sucking lemons, and some of my most profitable patients are people given to eating pickles. It is not necessary altogether to avoid acids, but a little jar of bicarbonate of soda should be kept on every one's washstand and the teeth should be rinsed in water in which some of it has been dissolved. This, by the way, is a never-failing cure for that kind of toothache that attacks the whole jaw at once.

Some people say that sweets are bad for the teeth. I am not quite sure of that. West Indians, who actually live on sugar during the harvesting of the cane, have ivories like snow and without a flaw. But when one's teeth have begun to decay the sugar lodges in the crevices and a little microbe, who makes his home in the mouth, converts it into acid. This acid, of course, attacks the phosphate of lime which composes the dentine, and then, certainly, sugar is bad.

But cracking nuts with the teeth is destructive. If you crack nuts you are sure also to crack the enamel. Therefore, don't crack nuts. Put them on the ground and stamp on them.

Tooth powders and tooth washes are answerable for many a toothache and decayed tooth. The powders usually sold are gritty; pastes contain injurious chemicals, and though both help to clean the teeth they inevitably wear away the enamel. Most of the washes, such as tincture of myrrh, keep the gums more or less inflamed and finally loosen the teeth. Hard tooth brushes ruin the gums.

The best way to clean your teeth is to wipe them with a bit of a sponge attached to a handle, using tepid water containing a trace of some mild antiseptic. If you use a brush rub it up and down, not from side to side.

Smoking tobacco cannot fail to color the teeth yellow, and probably it weakens the gums and brings on decay. Still, you can scarcely be expected to do without your smoke for the sake of a few teeth.

But whatever precautions you take one or two of your teeth will probably begin to go. The moment this happens visit a dentist and have the cavity filled. This is really the most important rule with regard to the teeth. And you will save money by the operation, for it is cheaper to have a tooth filled today than replaced twelve months hence.

The Czar's Physician.

A health magazine, Omega, says: The present Emperor of Russia, instead of being an invalid just ready to die, is a man of good health and great ability to work, and he is also a hygienist to a far greater extent than is generally believed, and his physician is also a hygienist in so far as cleanliness and fresh air are concerned. He is thus spoken of in relation to the last Emperor:

"Fresh air was the creed emblazoned on his banner of hygiene, and fresh air he would have at any cost. No practitioner had more stoutly demanded the assistance of this valuable aid to nature's recuperation and his insistence doubtless occasioned much heart burning among his patients, who, like many others in our country, have a great fear of fresh air for the sick room. Zaccharin entertained no such qualms, and with brusque petulancy insisted on having doors and windows opened. When he visited the dying Czar he found him surrounded by the Czarina and other members of the family, and on entering the sick-room, ignoring the presence of the exalted individuals, he loudly demanded air, remarking at the same time, in tones of deep reproach: 'What an atmosphere! It is disease-breeding. And in this air you allow Russia's little father to die!' And then, without more ado, he roughly tore down the curtains and threw open the windows."

Silk Spun by Shellfish.

A shellfish, known as the pianna, in the Mediterranean, has the curious power of spinning a viscid silk, which is made in Italy into a regular fabric. The silk is spun by the shellfish, in the first place, for the purpose of attaching itself to the rocks. It is able to guide the delicate filaments to the proper place and then glue them fast, and if they are cut away it can reproduce them. The material when washed in soap and water, dried and straightened, one pound of the coarse filament yielding three ounces of the fine thread, which, when spun, is of a lovely burnished golden-brown color

A SKETCH OF MANILA.

Showing the Local Conditions of Passenger Traffic—Have Plenty of Conveyances.

VERY NARROW STREETS.

Trucks, Victorias, Carriages and Traps of Every Kind Must Have Under Cut for the Front Wheels.

Several Thousand Men Do the Work of Delivery Wagons — Four Men Trotting Along the Street With a Piano Strung Among Them By Ropes—Ten Cents All They Asked.

Horses are not used in Manila for draught animals, and freight trucks, spring wagons, etc., are unknown. Everything is on two wheels in the vehicle line, except the Victoria pleasure carriages, and these all have an undercut for the forward wheels. Narrow streets render this imperative. If the Americans introduce trucks, only the light, undercut style will be practicable.

The art of carrying burdens upon the head, for it certainly is an art, must be hereditary. Children practise it at an early age, and when ten years old, are already experts. I have seen women carry jars eighteen inches tall in this way without touching them with the hands, and I have seen a basket project far over to one side, balanced by a heavy object in the other end. Anything under fifty pounds always goes on top of the head.

A TYPICAL NIPA HOUSE.

Next in the scale of burden-bearers are the cargadores, or Chinese and Filipino coolies, who carry heavy articles suspended from poles across the shoulders. What the thousands of men engaged in this work in the city can accomplish in moving heavy goods is truly wonderful. Everything sold in the stores is carried home in this way, if it weigh less than 300 pounds, or is not too bulky to be handled. Even this limit of weight is exceeded by having several cargadores work together. I have seen four of them trotting along the street with a piano swung among them by ropes between them. Sideboards, huge marble-topped tables, iron sofas, cases of beer, bales of hemp, and an infinite variety of things, are handled in the same way. Ten cents for a short distance, equal to a nickel of our money, is all they ask for their services. In this way several thousand men do the work of a hundred delivery wagons. A family on the move looks like a Roman triumph, with the soldiers carrying the loot of a captured city. Nothing is covered up, and a complete inventory may be had of the mover's household effects.

Everything not practicable for the cargadores to handle is carried on two-wheeled drags drawn by water buffaloes or carabaos. This is a short-legged stocky animal, somewhat resembling a cow, with a hide the color of an elephant, and almost devoid of hair. The neck is long, and the head slender and crowned with huge, deeply wrinkled horns forming a perfect crescent. The patient ox of our country is hysterical in comparison with the utter calm of the water buffalo. It could win a slow race from a tortoise, yet it accomplishes wonders in transporting goods. A plain bow of wood on straight shafts lies loosely across its neck. A small hempen cord tied to its nose or to one of its horns completes its harness, and with this its master drives it by some system I have not yet mastered, though apparently by merely shaking the rope on the side towards which he wishes to turn, or, if riding it, by slapping it on the back with the hand. Slowly and majestically it plods along, shaking its cresent-horned head from side to side, and in a way almost marvellous avoiding locking the points into the wheels of passing vehicles. Why there are not many accidents I cannot understand, for I have myself only escaped empalement several times by my agility, but, except when on rare occasions one of them becomes frightened and starts down the street at a lumbering gait, they are less dangerous to pedestrians than the little ponies drawing passenger vehicles.

Buying a Manila Girl.

On one of his trips from San Francisco to Manila, Mr. Frank Bucklin, of the United States steamer Warren, saw and admired a beautiful Manila child, about 10 years of age. Speaking of her to a friend, he said: "Don't you think that would be a nice present to take home to my wife—a regular little Filipino? My wife can bring her up for a lady's maid."

"Why don't you buy her, then," said the friend.

"Good idea," said Bucklin, and he forthwith offered the mother a dollar for the child.

The Manila mamma handed over the girl with one hand and grabbed the dollar with the other. Mr. Bucklin took the wild young thing back with him, but she bit, fought, scratched, and kicked until his life became a burden. Every day boatloads of Manila mammas came alongside the Warren offering tender girls for sale to the fat man. He refused 100 girls the first day, and finally to escape the consequences of his rash act he gave the little Manila girl back to her mother, together with a bonus of $2. This only increased the desire on the part of the Filipinos to sell their children, and Bucklin was the happiest man on board ship when she weighed anchor and left Manila harbor.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The Alis football team met for practice last night on the field in the rear of the home of its captain, Roy T. Phillips, on Madison avenue. Practice will be held there hereafter. There was a goodly number of candidates out last evening and they showed much interest in the practice. Captain Phillips expects that the first game against Westfield on Saturday afternoon, October 7th, will be a hard one and he wants to get his team in as good shape as possible for the coming contest. The team will meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of next week.

GOLF.

There have been some of those who are interested in the competition for the McCutchen and Buttfield Cups on the links of the Park Golf Club, who have not been certain when the competitions end. They will both end with the last Saturday in October. After that the links will continue open for the month of November and will then close for the winter.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung trouble. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Alfred Macbeth, of Newark, has accepted a position at E. B. Maynard's tonsorial parlors, North avenue.

Chief T. O. Doane, of the Plainfield Fire Department, returned yesterday afternoon after a short vacation spent at Atlantic City.

Entertained Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wise, of Grandview avenue, entertained a number of their friends at their home last evening. The evening was passed with instrumental music and songs by Miss Carrie Pangborn and Mrs. Wakefield of Somerset place. During the evening refreshments were served. There were about thirty-five ladies and gentlemen present. Mr. Wise was formerly the chief marshal of the borough and he and his estimable wife has many friends.

Old Friends Met.

C. H. Schermerhorn and wife, of Plainfield, N. J., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gulick. The two families were neighbors and friends years ago when Mr. Gulick's family lived in Plainfihld, N. J. Until they met in Boston last week Mrs. Gulick had not seen these former friends for nearly twenty-five years.—White River Junction N. H., Landmark.

Big Money in Peaches.

The Hunterdon Democrat says it has been many years since the peach crop brought so much money to that county There have been larger crops, but the prices ranged low. Baskets and picking cost the same for peaches selling at 20 cents as when they bring $1 a basket.

Case has Been Settled.

The action brought before Justice Moffett some weeks ago by John F. O'Donnell, a New York lawyer, against Mrs. Josephine A. Huff, of Park avenue, for services rendered in an action for divorce, has been settled.

Why He Studied.

A member of the Kentucky bar named Simmondson, who was in the habit of intimidating the opposing witnesses, was once engaged in the trial of a case involving the title to some farm lands, and a number of countrymen were called in to testify on the other side. When Simmondson came to cross-examine he harassed them in every imaginable manner, and whenever they would show signs of confusion, would roar out: "What are you hesitating for? Are you afraid you may tell a lie?" If the victim replied "No," Simomondson would retort: "I was sure you didn't fear a little thing like that," and if the answer was "Yes," he would say with a sneer: "Aha, I thought so." The last witness he took in hand was a tall, lank farmer, with a thoughtful eye. He had watched the baiting of his neighbors in dead silence and took the stand with perfect composure. Simmondson evidently set him down as a lout, and when the witness hesitated over some question a moment later he fired his favorite shot: "What are y' studying about?" he bellowed; "'fraid of telling a lie, too, I suppose?" Without any apparent haste the countryman picked up a massive inkstand and hurled it straight at Simmondson's head, catching him on the bridge of the nose and knocking him senseless. "That's what I was a-studyin' about," he drawled in a moment of dead silence that followed the act. Needless to say, a tremendous hubbub ensued, but everybody was secretly pleased, and while the judge fined the farmer heavily for contempt he subsequently remitted the sentence.—N. Y. Verdict.

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS THAT PLAINFIELDERS MAY WITNESS.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

Of all farce comedies there has never been one more potent to create laughter than "The Hustler," which will be seen at Music Hall tonight. It is the funniest of funny shows. This season it has been revised and rendered up-to-date, and is presented by Manager Thomas H. Davis with an entirely new and exceedingly clever company. Of the many changes and improvements made in the piece, not one has altered the superlatively comic nature of the central character, the "busted" individual, who has impossible schemes to make millions while he cannot raise money enough to pay his board bill. There are other broadly drawn characters in the piece equally funny. There is the semblance of plot, however, to the farce, and the fact that it deals in a satirical manner with incidents in every-day life, lends interest. Unadulterated wit is a rare commodity in so-called farce comedies, but as the author of "The Hustler" claims for his work only a skillfully constructed vehicle for the marketing of a pleasing article of amusement, doubtless the result will show an improvement over the stock parceled out by the less modest purveyor. Dominant features are the music, dancing, marches, medleys and quartette singing, and numerous, varied and unique specialties, all, it is said, possessing the charm of novelty.

* * * * * *

As an organization the company presenting "Kelly's Kids" at Music Hall next Tuesday night is the most complete and talented that expert management and liberal ideas could secure. There will be no "star," but each character in the comedy will be interpreted by an artist, whose merits would entitle them to rank with many who are before the public as scintillant meteors in the dramatic firmament. Every effort has been made to secure individual talent and by competent stage management blend all into an harmonious whole that will make our cluster of brilliants shine like an 18 karat solitaire. The management guarantees that this will in every respect be the most complete, perfect and satisfying production of a musical farce comedy of this last year of the century.

* * * * * *

Of all the openings in New York last week the one at the Broadway was probably marked by the most enthusiasm, if the reports the following morning in the daily papers are to be believed. The new play "The Ghetto," which was given its first American presentation upon this occasion, made a sensational hit and was received with tremendous enthusiasm by an audience that completely overflowed this large and roomy theatre. The altered appearance of the interior of the Broadway excited almost as much enthusiasm as the play. During the summer months Mr. Litt has completely renovated this popular house and it is now beyond question the most beautiful theatre in America. He is said to have expended between twenty and twenty-five thousand dollars in improvements. It is quite certain that there is nothing in New York approaching it. The New York papers are unanimous in commending "The Ghetto" as one of the strongest things that has been produced on the New York stage in many years and predict for it a successful run. Alan Dale says in The Journal that "in these dawdling days of drawing room trivel, it is a relief to come across a strong, poetic, atmospheric and human play such as "The Ghetto." The Sun calls it a powerful and intense study, and all the other papers are equally strong in its praise.

New Jersey's Claims Will Be Paid.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Sept. 23—The claim of New Jersey for supplies furnished to the volunteers from the State after they had been mustered into the service of the United States will be paid, it can be stated positively. Some of the officials here were of the opinion that Congress would have to be appealed to for reimbursement. This is the matter on which Governor Voorhees made a hurried visit to this city recently.

Instructors Confer.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

Give Them a Chance.

Now that you have all returned from your outing in good shape and condition, you ought to think of certain members of your family that may need attention—your faithful old clock. You have had a good time, and they should have too, and they will be assured of getting it if you send them to Collier's time-piece sanitarium, 103 Park avenue.

ROAD RACE AT 'PLAINS WAS PULLED OFF O. K

No Effort was Made by Rev. Mr. Shott to Stop the Contest.

JEPPE SORENSON WINNER.

THERE WERE NO ACCIDENTS OR DISORDER.

But Six Riders Entered and Only Five Started—Hummer, of Plainfield, Got a Puncture But Captured the Time Prize—Not as Good Time Made as at Previous Races—Next Race Oct. 7th.

The third one of the series of 16-mile road races, given under the direction of W. S. Emery at Scotch Plains, was run Saturday afternoon and attracted a large crowd. Although it had been given out that the race would be stopped and the contestants placed under arrest on a charge of violating the borough ordinance regarding fast riding on the streets, nothing of the kind took place. The race was run without interference or accident. There was no attempt on the part of the members of the Citizens' League or of any citizen to enter a protest. Generally speaking it was found that the citizens of the borough were much interested in the race.

Among the spectators was Rev. Mr. Shott and some of the members of his congregration. Mr. Shott watched the contest with apparent interest from in front of his residence. There was not the least semblance of indecency, the riders were all properly dressed and there was an entire absence of anything in the least resembling disorder during the race. Not a drunken man was to be seen and the best of order prevailed.

While the race was not as exciting as the ones previously held, it proved very interesting and was watched by nearly 1,000 men and women.

There were but six entries, owing no doubt to the published statements that the riders would be arrested if they attempted to race. However, the absence of a large number made the racing all the more spirited, and in a measure prevented possible accidents caused by overcrowding the course. The following entered:

Robert Angleman, George Woodland, Jeppe Sorenson, Charles Hummer, Plainfield; William Embleton, Westfield, and Arthur Chapin, Scotch Plains. At the last moment Woodland sent word that he could not start. The others lined up as follows: Robert Angleman, Plainfield, 4 minutes; Jeppe Sorenson, Plainfield, 3 minutes; William Embleton, Plainfield, 3 minutes; Arthur Chapin, Scotch Plains, 2 minutes; Charles Hummer, Plainfield, scratch.

The men got a good start, the three minute men soon overhauling Angleman, who finding the race too hot dropped out at the first turn. Hummer was unfortunate in having a puncture on the first eight miles. Before he could secure another wheel the others had secured a big lead. At one time it looked as though Hummer would be lost in the shuffle, but he clearly demonstrated that he was made of the right stuff and was soon seen to be closing up on his opponents. Though riding at a magnificent speed the Plainfield man was unable to overtake the bunch. The good start secured by Sorenson was easily held by that rider and he crossed the tape a winner, closely followed by Embleton, of Westfield, and then Chapin, also of this city. Hummer was several lengths behind.

The first prize was won by Sorenson, of this city. Embleton, of Westfield, was second, and Chapin, of Scotch Plains, third. The time of the winner was 46 minutes and 30 seconds. Hummer covered the distance in 36 minutes and 25 seconds, thus winning the time prize.

The prizes were gold, silver and bronze watch pendants. The time prize was a pair of gold sleeve buttons.

Harry Lister acted as starter; Walter Long and George C. Smith were the timers, and William Walters and Matthews Sweeney were the judges.

The next race will be held Saturday, October 7th. It was Mr. Emery's intention to hold the race next Saturday, but in deference to Admiral Dewey, whom all of Scotch Plains desires to cordially welcome, the race was postponed one week.

The friends of Hummer and Chapin are trying to arrange a match race between these two fast riders.

DR LEWIS PREACHED ON DREYFUS TRIAL

France Dishonored Herself and Name of Christian Religion.

WORLD'S DEBT TO THE JEWS.

THE FOUNDATION OF THE BEST IN LIFE MADE BY THEM.

Danger to Personal and National Liberty Which the French Trial Brought About—An Appeal to Heaven-born Principles of Justice to be Applied to Every Day Life in This World.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, editor of The Sabbath Recorder, preached at the Trinity Reformed church last evening from eighty-nine Psalm, the fourteenth verse: "Justice and Judgment are the Foundation of Thy Throne." His theme was: "Justice for all Men, Even the Jew." The personal presence nor the illustrations which filled out the sermon cannot be produced, but the following is a brief outline of what was said:

"For many weeks past the eyes of the world have rested on the city of Rennes in France, where, in the name of justice, the trial of Captain Alfred Dreyfus culminated in a condemnation which the civilized world has condemned as being the embodiment of injustice. Smitten by the fierce condemnation of the world, the civil power has hastened to grant a pardon to the man thus wronged, and thus has begun the undoing of a long series of unjust acts which we hope will yet acknowledge to the world the innocence of this martyr to militarysm and race hatred. This trial, and the interest of the world in it, are ample justification for the choice of my theme this evening.

"The throne of God rests on justice. All our hopes of forgiveness and help from God are based on His love and justice. All that is good in human experience, all that makes for righteousness and justice among men, starts in the justice of God. Pervert justice and all forms of ruin follow. The main case of the injustice which has been poured upon Dreyfus started in a race-hatred which is as undeserved as it is unmanly and unchristian. Dreyfus is a Jew, and in condemning him France dishored herself and the name of Christian civilization.

"All the writers of the New Testament were Jews. We hold no word of inspiration but from Jewish pen. Christianity is the child of Judaism, and if the Hebrew race has failed to follow the teachings of Christ as fully as they ought, or if Christianity has been perverted from the basis on which Christ placed, it is yet true that Judaism and Christianity are so closely akin that the oldest member of the firm is entitled to an amount of respect and justice which the world has long refused to render.

Dr. Lewis discussed the danger to personal and national liberty and justice whenever and wherever false witness, bribery, intrigue and the like come in to pervert and set aside right and justice. He said:—

"Keep the judical ermine unsoiled, from the simplest court of daily trial to the highest tribunal of nations."

"In closing he made appeal for the application of the heaven-born principles of justice in every relation of life.

"Nail the ten commandments and their teachings of justice, honesty, and purity to every business counter in Plainfield. He said:—"Hang them on the walls of every lawyer's office. Pack them into the outfit of every soldier. Nail them to the doors of the National Capitol, and put a copy bound in gold on the table of the chief executive. Lay them on the desk of every business man in the land tomorrow morning. Hang them over every editor's table, and teach them to every school child. When this is done shames like the Dreyfus trial will be forgotten, and the world will rejoice in the fuller fruitage of our blessed religion, which was born amid the early throes of the Hebrew National life, and found its perfect ideal in the man of Calvary. If an ancient Pagan proverb could say: 'Let justice rule though the heavens fall,' what shall our Christian civilization answer to the unjust condemnation at Rennes?"

Dr. Lewis occupied the pulpit in Trinity church also in the morning, when his subject was "How Christ Enriches Human Life," from the text "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it abundantly," John 10:10, last clause. The sermon was a tender, uplifting one, and was thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by the large congregation present.

REINHART CUP WON BY WHITNEY BAKER.

Made Lowest Score of Eighteen Competitors.

MORRIS DUMONT SECOND.

LOST HIS CHANCE ON THE EIGHTEENTH PUTTING GREEN.

Cup Won for the Seventh Time—J. H. P. Wharton Has Won it Twice—Glenney Was Only Scratch Man Entered—Not up to His Usual Form—J. W. Baker Excelled His Best Score—Won With 78 Net.

The Reinhart cup furnished a lively competition on the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Saturday afternoon. This time it passed into the hands of J. Whitney Baker where it will remain until played for again in the spring. Baker only won out from Morris Dumont by one stroke and the sixteen other competitors who handed in their scores were comparatively close behind.

The day was a fine one for the sport and the course was consequently crowded. The golf committee has been putting the course in excellent condition and the improvements were much appreciated.

The Reinhart Cup competition is a men's handicap, eighteen holes, medal play. It was offered in 1896, by J. W. Reinhart, to be competed for twice a year until won by one member three times when it was to become his individual property. In November, 1896, Dr. F. C. Ard won the cup. J. H. P. Wharton captured it in June of the next year and Fred W. Walz made low score for it in September, 1897. Last year Olaf Saugstad won it in July and J. H. P. Wharton scored his second victory in October. Last June Henry V. Ryder won in a field of twenty-eight competitors with a gross score of 95, which his handicap of 13 brought down to 32. Frank Reinhart, at scratch, was second with 85. J. H. P. Wharton was fourth and Baker, the winner Saturday, was well down the list with 94, playing scratch.

There were nearly thirty entires, including three of the winners of the Cup on previous occasions, but only eighteen cards were handed in, which did not include any of the trio, Dr. Ard, Saugstad and Ryder. All of the scratch men except W. Lester Glenney were absent. As Glenney has been playing in particularly good form of late, the handicaps of the rest of the competitors were advanced two and three strokes according to their recent showing. Glenney made the lowest gross score of the day, 85, but it was six higher than his score that won the Josiah Browne Cup, a week ago.

J. Whitney Baker excelled his best record of the past by one stroke, finishing the eighteen holes in 87. Morris Dumont had one stroke better than Baker in the handicaps but finished two behind in the gross score. It would have been a tie but Dumont flubbed a wee bit of the last green and spoiled his chances of another opportunity to win the Cup. Frank Schoonmaker was third with a net score of 81. After the showing William T. Kaufman made last week, it was expected that he would stand well up in the list. He failed to get anything better than tenth.

The scores handed in for the cup were as follows:

	Gross.	Handicap.	Net.
J. W. Baker	87	9	78
Morris Dumont	89	10	79
Frank Schoonmaker	93	12	81
A. G. Hendersen	102	18	84

DINNER AT GOLF CLUB HOUSE.

Charming Affair Given to Jolly Party by Mr and Mrs. F. H. Andrews.

A jolly number enjoyed a dinner at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club house Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Andrews entertained a party of about twenty. Mr. and Mrs. Lozier and Mr. and Mrs. D. M. VanVliet entertained the guests.

The new furnishings of the clubhouse are most charming in effect and will make the members of the club more pleased than ever with their organization.

Deuse M. VanVliet, of Washington Park, also entertained a party of four at dinner at the clubhouse. Vincent Lozier, of Netherwood, gave a dinner to another party of seven.

A NEW PARISH SCHOOL

CONNECTED WITH SACRED HEART CHURCH IN ELIZABETH.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians, of Plainfield, Participated in the Dedicatory Exercises Held Yesterday Afternoon.

Nearly all the members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, of this city, accompanied by the Independent Fire and Drum Corps, went to Elizabeth yesterday to participate in the dedicatory exercises of the new parochial school of the Sacred Heart Church of Elizabeth. The Hibernians marched from their headquarters on West Second street to the North Avenue station, where they took the train for Elizabeth. When they reached Elizabeth they participated in a procession in which there were 2 000 members of Catholic societies represented.

Major Dennis F. Collins of the Second New Jersey Regiment and Knights of Columbus, was grand marshal, assisted by Postmaster Whelan and a large corps of aids, his chief of staff being City Clerk Manning.

There were scorces of American flags in the procession, which was viewed by Gov. Voorhees at the Central Railroad arch and by Mayor Mack, of Elizabeth, near the new school house.

Right Rev. Hillery Pfrangle, Abbot of St. Mary's Abbey, Newark, was on the platform with the pastors of the Catholic churches in Elizabeth and several priests from the Benedictine Order in Newark.

The new school is a handsome edifice of brick and stone, three stories high, with accommodations for several hundred pupils. It is nearly ready for occpancy.

RALLY DAY OBSERVED

CONGREGATIONAL SUNDAY-SCHOOL HELD SPECIAL SERVICES.

Exercises Under the Direction of the Superintendent, Joseph A. Robinson—Review Exercise a Special Feature.

Rally Day was observed by the Sunday-school of the Congregational church yesterday afternoon with appropriate services in place of the regular lesson. The service was well attended by members of the Home department and from the congregation as well as by the regular attendants at the school. The superintendent, Joseph A. Robinson, was in charge.

Mrs. Ward, soprano of the First Baptist church choir, sang a solo. The Sunday-school choir led the singing of the carols. There was a review exercise, conducted by the superintendent, in which those who took part were Ned Suffern, Miss Agnes LaBoyteaux, Miss M. G. Morse, Harold Nomer, Edwin Weseman, Miss Emily Winant, Miss Katherine Dwight, Louis I Van Alstyne, Miss Anna E. Mankelow and A. C. LaBoyteaux. A brief address on "Hope, Rally and Battle," was given by Alexander Millar.

A MAN IN THE CASE.

Two Irate and Jealous Women Come to Blows on Front Street—Fined $5 Each.

Mary Gartland and Mary Currin met Saturday evening on Front street, near Exchange alley. Mary Currin began operations by landing her fist on the other Mary's neck. Then Mary Gartland fell into the gutter from the force of the blow. She returned the compliment with her umbrella and was in fair way to do stunts to Mary Currin when Roundsman Frederickson and Flynn arrived and interferred with the proceedings.

The trial this morning was as exciting as the encounter Saturday night. The keen knowledge of Judge Runyon soon brought out the fact that there was a man in the case, the brother of the Gartland faction, who had once beeen to see the other combatant.

The Judge found them both guilty and fined them $5 each, which was paid.

COULDN'T STAY 'ROUND.

Noisy Women Arrested for Trying to Get Into Flat They Were Evicted From.

The McIntyre flats on North avenue had their share of excitement last night. Two women, who gave their names in court this morning as Mary Nolan and Mary Dunn, made such a noise that their landlady ordered them out. Once out she requested Law Student Willie Sweeney to keep them there. Sweeney guarded the door and Mary Nolan was arrested by Patrolman Lunger after she had laid siege to the door for a while, and her friend was arrested later.

The memory of both prisoners was very lax this morning, but City Judge Runyon found out the facts from the witnesses and fined both women $5 each.

LEADERS DEFEATED FOR M'CUTCHEN CUP.

Worth, Reed and M. T. Townsend Carried off Honors.

ANDERSON OUT OF FORM.

GEORGE C. WORTH WAS LOW MAN FOR THE AFTERNOON.

Senator Reed Scored Again for the Trophy—Worth Becomes a Factor in the Contest—Is Now Tied for Fifth Place—Miss Daisy Eisberg Increased Her Lead for Buttfield Cup—Many Out on Links.

The leaders for the McCutchen Cup were not in it at all on the links of the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon. George C. Worth, who is rapidly developing into one of the steadiest players in the club, came to the front again despite the fact that his handicap has already suffered severely at the hands of the greens committee and made low score for tueiday, thereby becoming a factor in the race for the trophy.

It was neither too warm nor too cold for golf and there was a large attendance at the course in consequence. For some reason, however, there were comparatively few who took part in the weekly competition for the McCutchen Cup. Among the visitors during the afternoon were many ladies. There were nine entries in the cup competition and five cards were handed in.

Worth made his first round in 60 and his second in 58. He played a steady game and showed much improvement in driving over his old form. There is little likelihood of his handicap being reduced, as it usually takes a lower net score than 98 to win first place.

Senator Charles A. Reed and Councilman George T. Rogers made their rounds together. The Senator was not playing quite as well as the week before, but he managed to finish second with a net score of 100.

W. de la R. Anderson and Morgan T. Townsend played together. Townsend was third with 105 net. His gross score of 110 was poor for him. Anderson was way off his usual form and failed to do anything better than 113. He has been unable to practice of late.

As a result of the play Saturday Worth has advanced from eleventh to fifth place, and now can be considered as a possible candidate for honors. Senator Reed stepped from seventeenth and is now tied for eighth place. Morgan Townsend went from eleventh to eighth, and is now only half a point behind his father.

The scores were:

	Gross.	Handicap.	Net.
George C. Worth	118	20	98
Charles A. Reed	130	30	100
Morgan T. Townsend	110	5	105
George T. Rogers	131	21	110
W. de la R. Anderson	113	0	113

The official standing of the candidates for the cup follows:

W. de la R. Anderson	12½
Meredith Dryden	10½
Gifford W. Cooley	10
Charles E. Faber	7
G. W. Faber	6
Geo. T. Rogers	6
George C. Worth	6
Samuel Townsend	4½
Morgan T. Townsend	4
Charles A. Reed	4
Wm. A. Townsend	3½
E. T. Douglass	3½
H. D. Hibbard	3½
Arthur Peck	3
W. J. S. Thiers	3
Fred P. Taylor	2½
S. S. Squires	2½
A. B. Laing	2
Volney F. Green	2
Fred S. Overton	1½
Clarence S. Roome	1½
Augustus VanDeventer	1
W. B. Faber	1
C. W. McCutchen	1

Miss Eisberg and Miss Howell were both out and contested for the Buttfield cup. They were in better form than the week before. Miss Eisberg's greater handicap enabled her to defeat her opponent by four strokes. There is little doubt now but that Miss Eisberg will win the trophy. Their scores for the nine holes were:

	Gross.	Handicay.	Net.
Miss Daisy Eisberg	84	18	66
Miss Saidee Howell	74	4	70

There has been no official announcement of the number of points yet scored for the Buttfield cup, but an inspection of the past scores shows the following competitors and the points scored by them:

Miss Daisy Eisberg	29
Miss Saidee Mae Howell	16
Miss Adelaide G. Ball	9

Cadets to Reorganize.

It is expected that the Plainfield High School cadets will reorganize this week for fall and winter drill. A number of the old cadets have left school but there is plenty of new material and it is expected that the corps will be larger than ever this year. The new officers have not yet been appointed.

Hearing This Evening.

Andrew Scott, who was arrested late Saturday night in North Plainfield by Officer Emmons for intoxication, will be given a hearing at 7 o'clock this evening.

FOSTER AND MRS. COX ACCUSED OF BIGAMY

Andrew Cox Swears Out a Warrant for Their Arrest

FOUND IN POUGHKEEPSIE.

WERE CONDUCTING STREET MEETINGS IN THAT CITY.

Mrs. Foster, or Cox, Recognized by an Old Mission Worker to Whom She Appealed—Her Deserted Husband is Hard After Her With the Law—Foster Also Has Another Wife.

"Rev." James H. Foster and Mrs. Andrew Cox, who now claims to be the wife of the bogus minister, have turned up again—this time in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where they have been parading themselves around as husband and wife and devout religious workers, who go out into the highways and byways looking for sinners to convert. When the couple wrote letters to this city a few days ago telling of their alleged marriage in Brooklyn, they stated that they were going to Wales to live. This statement was undoubtedly made as a "blind" so that Mrs. Cox's lawful husband in this city would not endeavor to prosecute her for having married again without securing a release from the nuptial vows which she made to him. But the whereabouts and conduct of the couple have been unearthed, as the following dispatch in the morning papers tells:

"Poughkeepsie, Sept. 25—The Rev. James H. Foster and the woman, Mrs. Andrew Cox, with whom he left Plainfield, N. J., two weeks ago, causing a sensation, were complained of to the police here yesterday by Superintendent Madison of the Union Rescue Mission. They came here a week ago last Wednesday from Brooklyn and have been preaching in the streets every afternoon and evening since. They have been known here as Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Foster. The woman asked Mr. Madison for help in her work of saving souls and he at once recognized her as one of his converts of the Florence Mission in New York, whose name was Mary Devoe and who was married to a man of the name of Ensign. The woman admitted this and Mr. Madison, after reading in the newspapers of the elopement of Foster and Mrs. Cox, from Plainfield, made the complaint to the police.

"The couple have been preaching and singing afternoons and evenings, taking up a collection at each gathering. They appeared tonight as usual and after his address a reporter asked Foster if the woman with him was Mrs. Cox. He hesittated at first, but finally said:

"'No, she is not Mrs. Cox and never was. Her first husband, whom she supposed dead, was living when she married Cox. When she left Cox it was to ascertain if Ensign was still alive. She learned that he is now dead and her marriage to Cox was illegal. She was not, therefore, Mrs. Cox. She is now my wife.'"

When Cox learned at 11 o'clock this morning that his wife and her newfound husband had been apprehended in Poughkeepsie, he hurried to Chief of Police Grant to institute legal action to bring the couple to trial on the charge of bigamy.

Chief Grant took Cox to Justice Mosher, before whom he made a complaint that Foster and Mrs. Cox, his lawful wife, had been married without being released from their previous nuptials vows. The justice issued a warrant for their arrest and placed it in the hands of Chief Grant, who immediately notified the Chief of Police of Poughkeepsie to arrest the couple and hold them till further notified.

If the couple are apprehended now and arrested the matter will be placed in the hands of Prosecutor English, of Union county, who will take steps to have them brought to New Jersey to stand trial on the charge of bigamy.

Yesterday Cox received a letter from a woman in Brooklyn, who claims to be the deserted wife of Foster, who says he has never been legally seperated from her. She signed herself as "Emiline Foster," and gave her address as 476 Humboldt street. Cox immediately went to Brooklyn and found the woman. She said that Foster married her in the west November 17th, 1879, and left her four years ago with a seven-year-old boy to care for. Mrs. Foster said that she would join with Cox in bringing Foster and his second wife to justice for transgressing the laws in marrying without a divorce.

She says that before Foster left her he became a religious fanatic, and neglected everything to exhort to sinners wherever he could get anyone to listen. For a time he claimed to be inspired and wrote a history of his life which he sold for five cents a copy, but never made enough out of to amount to anything.

HURRAHS FOR THE G. O. P. IN SOMERSET

Senatorial Aspirant Allows Himself to be Interviewed.

FRELINGHUYSEN'S IDEAS.

WHATEVER REPUBLICAN IS NAMED HE THINKS WILL WIN.

The Young Politician Talks Very Confidently of the G. O. P. Prospects in Somerset—A North Plainfield Republican Thinks He Would Win—The Candidacy of M. L. Suydam May be Strong.

The fact that Joseph S. Frelinghuysen has been frequently and favorably mentioned as a candidate for Senator from Somerset county led up to an interview with him at his office, No. 80 William street, New York. Mr. Frelinghuysen's active participation in the McKinley and Hobart Presidential campaign, and also in the Voorhees campaign, made for him an extensive acquaintance within and beyond Somerset county.

"You may put it down as one of the coming events," Mr. Frelinghuysen said, "which is pretty certain to occur, that the next Senator from Somerset county will be a Republican. I cannot speak for Senator Reed, or for anybody but myself. He knows better than any one else whether he is a candidate or not. We are the best of friends, and if he should be renominated he can count on my support, just as he did three years ago. So, in fact, can the candidate of the party whoever he may be. Our business in Somerset county is to elect a Republican State Senator, and that is what we are going to do. This is a time when we need Republicans in the Legislature, in view of the fact that we are soon to choose a United States Senator. The importance of having as many Republicans in the United States Senate as we can get there, cannot, in my opinion, be over estimated, in view of the issues which are already developed or which are pretty sure to develop within the next few years. To me it would seem that no Republican in New Jersey can afford to lose sight of this situation, and I am sure the Republicans of Somerset county are going to stand loyally by the party."

As to his own candidacy, Mr. Frelinghuysen was not disposed to say much, but he did say that if the Senatorial nomination should come to him he would do his best to be elected, and that he would do a great deal.

As a testimonial to the strength and sincerity of Mr. Frelinghuysen's Republicanism and his popularity in the county, a Plainfield Republican remarked: "If we should nominate 'Joe' Frelinghuysen for Senator, all doubts of Republican success would be removed from the minds of everybody. He is clear, popular, has no entangling alliances of any kind, and is one of the most indefatigable workers that pull in the party traces, and he never has to be watched for fear that he will kick over them."

To the list of Republican candidates for Senator in Somerset county the name of Matthew L. Suydam has been added. The report is being circulated, and it comes from a source which is regarded as authentic, that Mr. Suydam has the support of ex-Senator Thompson. However, Mr. Thompson has been quoted as favoring the candidacy of ex-Sheriff Dilts, and it may be—in fact, it is probable—that Mr. Thompson has not fully committed himself to any of the candidates. So far Major E. J. Anderson, who is one of the shrewdest leaders and tacticians in the Republican party, and who lives in Somerset county, has not made any pledges to anybody. There is plenty of evidence that if Mr. Suydam should become an out and out candidate he will have a large following. He is one of the best known Republicans in the IIId Congressional District. His interests in Somerset and the adjoining county of Middlesex are large and varied.

BLOSSOMED FIVE TIMES.

Remarkable Night Blooming Cereus at the Scott Press Works.

The famous night blooming cereus at the Scott Press Works, which usually has four series of blossoms each year, has outdone itself this season.

A few days ago it produced the fifth series this season and what was unusual the blossoms were fully open during the day, probably owing to the cool cloudy weather.

Last year this plant had sixty-five blossoms. This year it had thirteen, twenty seven, thirty-five and twelve each series, eighty-seven in all.

GENERAL OTIS IS SATISFIED.

He Says in an Interview That Things are Moving Nicely in the Philippines.

HAS PLENTY OF SUPPLIES

Aguinaldo's Offer to Release American Prisoners Thought to be a Sympathy Dodge.

Over 2,000 Filipino Prisoners Given Their Liberty—Otis Thinks Natives Will Tire of Independence. Reports of Dissension Among the Native Troops.

Manila, Sept. 25.—Gen. Otis said in regard to the Filipino offer to release certain American prisoners that he believed it was intended as a bluff to play on the sympathy of foreigners. Gen. Otis as has been stated before has repeatedly released Filipino prisoners of war; in fact, he has already set over 2,000 of them at liberty.

In order to test Aguinaldo's good faith, the Spaniards have asked Gen. Otis to authorize the sending of a steamer to Dayupan to get the Spanish prisoners there and transport them to Spain. Aguinaldo had offered to release these prisoners. Gen. Jaramillo, who is in charge of Spanish affairs, said that at the beginning of August the natives had 6,700 Spanish prisoners, including 400 officers. Since that time 30 per cent. of the prisoners had been starved. Each man gets only five cents a day for his food allowance.

Gen. Jaramillo recently received a letter from Gen. Pena, who surrendered Cavite, dated at Vigan, urging the Spanish Commission to use every endeavor to secure the release of the Spanish prisoners. Among other things he said: "If this thing does not end in a few months, there will be few left to tell the tale."

The Filipinos have abandoned San Francisco de Malabon and Noveleta, and have disappeared from the vicinity of Imus. This may mean a number of things. One conjecture is that they are tired; another that they mean to attack Calamba, where Gen. Hall has his headquarters.

A newspaper correspondent had a long interview with Gen. Otis about the state of affairs in the Philippines. The General, in reply to questions, said:

"Things are going along in a very satisfactory manner. Our own forces are in good condition. We have plenty of commissary supplies here or on the way. We also have all the transportation facilities necessary either here or on the way. When the weather conditions permit we shall be ready to make an active campaign.

"The Filipinos are having a hard time holding their forces together. They have no commissariat and no voluntary support from their own people.

"Reports are constantly coming to me from all parts of the island showing dissension, demoralization and disintegration among their troops and the dissatisfaction of the people with the 'insurrectionary government.'

"Letters come to me daily from persons of education and intelligence, men of property and prominence among the Filipinos, asking me to send troops to protect 'us from our army.' They call their 'army of liberation' nothing but bands of robbers and cutthroats.

"The southern and northern provinces have repeatedly begged protection from me. I have replied to these people: 'What's the matter with independence? Go back and enjoy it a while longer.'"

"It is not surprising that the Filipinos thought they could whip the Americans. They defeated the Spanish under Gen. Jaramillo at Zapote and they licked Gen. Rios at Novaleta when they were armed only with bolos. They expected to repeat this performance with us.

"Aguinaldo had eight months in which to organize his campaign. He accomplished a great deal in that time. He sent his Tagals to every island of any size and importance throughout the archipelago and got his government operating so thoroughly that the people cannot fail to understand what such self-government means."

Enlistment of Volunteers.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Of the 13,000 men required to fill the ten volunteer regiments now in course of organization, 9,231 have been secured up to date. Saturday 418 men were enlisted. The Thirty-eighth regiment with headquarters at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., had 1,277 men when the enlistment offices were closed Saturday night, and will probably reach its full strength today. Curiously enough the two regiments next in the number of enlistments made are being organized in Massachusetts and Nebraska, where the self-styled anti-imperialists are supposed to be strongest. These regiments are the Thirty-ninth, with headquarters at Fort Crook, Neb., and the Forty-fifth, with headquarters at South Framington, Mass. Up to Saturday 1,179 men had been enlisted in the Thirty-ninth and 1,023 men in the Forty-fifth.

Enlistments for the two negro volunteer regiments, the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth, began very recently. The Forty-eighth has secured 341 men and the Forty-ninth, 166 men.

Olongapo Bombarded.

Manila, Sept. 25.—The monitor Monterey, the cruiser Charleston and the gunboats Concord and Zafiro bombarded Olongapo for six hours. The town caught fire from the shells and was consumed. Two hundred and fifty marines and bluejackets landed and were fired on by the natives, who used a sixteen-centimeter Krupp gun, the shells of which were loaded with guncotton. One American was wounded.

Big Liabilities; No Assets.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 25.—William R. Lewis, a farmer of Accomac county, Va., has filed here a petition in bankruptcy; liabilities, $250,000, assets nothing.

DEWEY WATER PAGEANT.

How the Boats Will Line up For the Monster Procession.

New York, Sept. 25.—Gen. Harold Carroll, Chairman on the Committee for the Dewey Water Parade for Friday, Sept. 29, makes public the following order of the parade.

Police boat patrol.

Fire boats Van Wyck and New Yorker.

Admiral Dewey's flagship, Olympia.

The Mayor's boat, Sandy Hook.

Admiral Sampson's flagship, Brooklyn.

The North Atlantic Squadron; troop ships and hospital ships of the War Department.

Fleet of United States revenue cutters.

Committee—Steamers Gen. Slocum and Glen Island.

Municipal Assembly boats, Mount Hope and Warwick.

Press boat Manhattan.

1. The escort column of vessels to be formed in three divisions.

First Division (following the official boats of the city). Steam yachts under command of Commodore Morgan, of the New York Yacht Club.

Second Division, large steamers and others, under command of Capt. J. H. Perry, who is authorized to appoint his own aides.

Third Division, all tugs and unattached vessels, under command of F. B. Dalzell, who is authorized to appoint his own aides.

Speed to be eight knots. No slowing up or stopping abreast of warships will be permitted.

At 12 o'clock noon it is desired that every vessel in the harbor, in conjunction with every steam whistle in the vicinity on land shall blow a salute, to be continued for five minutes. Thereafter on the water, whistles shall be strictly confined to the customary signals of navigation. This rule to be vigorously enforced.

The parade will disband off Twenty-third street, North River.

The command of the parade is assigned to Lieut.-Commander John C. Fremont, U. S. N.

They Will Come High.

New York, Sept. 25.—The prices for seats on the line of march for the Dewey parade range from $8 to $25. This information is gained from signs displayed on some of the stands.

Dewey to Get Farragut's Flag.

Washington, Sept. 25.—The Admiral's flag flown by Admiral Farragut while on the Hartford and afterward on the Franklin will be presented to Admiral Dewey during the latter's visit to Washington. Farragut was the first Admiral of the United States Navy, and this flag was improvised by Quartermaster Knowles, who served on the Hartford during the Civil War. It is now owned by Bartholomew Diggins, Captain of the Watch in the State, War and Navy building, one of the survivors of the Hartford's crew, who flung it to the breeze and assisted at the unveiling of the statue to Farragut in this city in 1881. After the unveiling Mr. Diggins was permitted to keep the old flag. It is still in a good state of preservation.

Winters Again Nominated.

Owego, N. Y., Sept. 25.—At the Tioga County Democratic Convention Harry B. Winters of Smithboro was nominated for Member of the Assembly. Mr. Winters was the Democratic candidate for this office last year and his successful Republican opponent, Daniel P. Witter, again will contest with him for the honor of representing Tioga County in the lower house in the State Legislature.

Will Be Tried for Cannibalism.

Charleston, S. C., Sept. 25.—Warrants which were sworn out by Vice Consul Witte, acting for the Government of Norway, against Andersen and Thomas the Norwegian sailors from the bark Drot, who, according to their own story, killed and ate a companion while drifting in midocean on a raft, have been served on the men and they will be sent to Norway to stand trial as soon as they are able to travel.

Suicided in a Novel Manner.

Zanesville, Ohio, Sept. 25.—Abraham Stockwell, a widower, aged 63 years, committed suicide by hanging himself in his room. Stockwell had tied one end of the rope around his neck and then threw the loose end over an open door. Standing on tiptoe he drew the rope tight and slammed the door shut. When found Stockwell's body was standing on its feet facing the door. He was sick and despondent.

Shot His Brother Dead.

Jamestown, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Clarence Wilson shot his brother Lawrence at Lavona, a few miles from here, killing him instantly. The tragedy was the result of a lawsuit. The murderer immediately gave himself up and is now in Mayville jail. The murderer and his victim are well-to-do farmers.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 25.—Room traders bid up prices on the book statement, which was better than expected, and there was a better feeling among all classes of speculators, prices closing at an advance.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Closing quotations for spot: Wheat 72, corn 34, oats nominal, lard 5.30, ribs 5.11, pork 8.06.

Her Little Ways.

"When my wife buys a $15 hat she says it will last her three years."

"That's cheap enough."

"Yes; but every season she gets $5 worth of new trimmings to put on it."

An Inspiring Sight.

"How cheerfully your husband runs your lawnmower, Mrs. Riprap."

"Yes, I keep his father's old scythe hanging in the plazza, and whenever he looks at it he knows he is well off."

Awful Thought.

He—What a fine, fat little fellow baby is!

She—Yes, dear, but do you know I read in the magazine that early obesity was a sign of degeneracy?

DRIFTED THIRTY-FIVE DAYS

Two Shipwrecked Sailors Are Picked up After Suffering Frightful Tortures.

SEA MYSTERY IS SOLVED

One of the Unfortunate Men Rescued From the Floating Raft is Hopelessly Insane.

Water Bottles Cast Into the Sea by the Crazy Sailor and His Companion Had Laid Down to Die When Help Came—Caught in the Grasp of a Furious Storm.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 25.—A mystery of the sea was solved on the voyage of the Norwegian steamer Bergenhuses, from Sumarang, by way of Gibraltar, to the Delaware Breakwater. When 200 miles to the westward of the entrance to the Mediterranean she picked up two lone survivors of the ill-fated Russian bark Poti.

The story is best told in the account given by Ivan Petroff, who, with Michael Kissannovitch, were saved by the men of the Bergenhuses:

The storm which wrecked the Poti was of awful intensity, he says, but Petroff is not certain of the exact date of the shipwreck. He thinks that it was on the morning of August 1.

Caught in the grasp of a midocean storm, the Poti was dismasted and converted into a battered and shapeless hulk. The men succeeded in completing a raft on which they might take refuge. Six men, including the captain, were swept from the heaving decks in the night.

The next day Petroff and Kissannovitch took to the raft. The shipwrecked men were then about 400 miles northwest of the Azores, out of the track of transatlantic shipping.

"To add to my horror," said Petroff, "Kissannovitch became insane. In one of his frenzies he threw all except one water bottle into the sea. This would have gone, too, had I not used it as a weapon. He received a gash on the head and was insensible for many hours. I don't remember what occurred the three last days. The provisions had long since given out, and I lay down on the body of my companion to die."

The Bergenhuses sailed from Samarang, Java, on July 9. Gibraltar was passed on September 4 and at 4 o'clock on the morning of September 6 she sighted the raft with Petroff and his wretched companion. Petroff will recover, but is it said that his companion is hopelessly insane.

If the Poti was wrecked on August 1, Petroff and Kissamiovitch were thirty-six days on the raft.

Montana Troops Welcomed.

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—The six companies of the First Montana, which arrived here from Manila on the transport Zealandia, disembarked, and, escorted by the Thirteenth Minnesota, marched to the Presidio, where they will go into camp preparatory to muster out. The soldiers were fittingly received as they marched through the streets. They were decorated with flags and wreaths, and in the barrels of their rifles were carried small bouquets.

Forger Kent in Japan.

Jamestown, N. J., Sept. 25.—Officials of the Union Trust Company of this city have received information that A. N. Kent, a former prominent young business man, who obtained $30,000 by forgery and fled, has been found in Japan. He was discovered in Yokohama by an ensign in the navy. He will be brought back here to stand trial.

Paid a Fine for Sunday Fishing.

East Moriches, L. I., Sept. 25.—Emile Utard, a member of the Long Island Country Club of Eastport, was arrested by Constable Brown and fined $5 by Justice Howell, on a charge of fishing on Sunday. Mr. Utard paid the fine.

Making Cars For Germany.

Hagerstown, Ind., Sept. 25.—The Railway Cycle Manufacturing Company, which makes railway inspection cars, has just received an order for 35 machines from Hamburg, Germany. More than 100 have been shipped there this season.

Last of Middlesex Bank.

Perth Amboy, N. J., Sept. 25.—The last of the property of the Middlesex County Bank, which was wrecked by Valentine, the institution's cashier, has been sold at auction for $8,400 to Cortlandt Parker, Jr., of Newark.

Treated Plague Successfully.

Paris, Sept. 25.—The members of the French medical mission which was sent to Lisbon to investigate the bubonic plague announce that so far nobody inoculated with Yersin's antiplague serum has died.

Postponed the Launching.

Bath, Me., Sept. 25.—An attempt was made to launch the torpedo boat T. A. M. Craven from the Bath Iron Works, but the vessel stuck on the ways, and it was decided to postpone the launching.

Dreyfus Will go to Germany.

Berlin, Sept. 25.—M. Mathieu Dreyfus has retained a large apartment in the Binswanger Nerve Institute, at Kreuzlingen. It is in all probability intended for former Captain Dreyfus.

Guerin Siege Was Expensive.

Paris, Sept. 25.—Storekeepers in the Rue de Chabrol demand $60,000 from the Government as compensation for their loss of business during the siege of Jules Guerin's house.

Forty New Cases of Fever.

Key West, Fla., Sept. 25.—New cases of yellow fever number forty and the deaths number three. The weather continues rainy and favorably for the spread of the fever.

MISS JULIA GRANT MARRIED.

The Leading Event of the Season Solemnized at Newport.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 25.—By an elaborate and gorgeous ceremonial, Miss Julia Dent Grant, daughter of an American soldier and granddaughter of a great General, one time President of this Republic, has become a princess, the bride of a Russian—Prince Cantacuzene. Not only will Miss Grant have the right to call herself a princess, but she is at the same time a countess, her husband possessing titles of prince and count.

This marriage ceremony, though binding by the laws of Russia and according to the rites of the Greek Church, is not looked upon as legal by the laws of the State of Rhode Island. Therefore it was necessary to have another ceremony, which also was of a religious character and which was performed in All Saints' Chapel.

The Greek ceremony took place in the ballroom of Beaulieu. It may be interesting to know that Miss Grant's wedding gown was worn at both ceremonies. This was at first thought not to be necessary, but as both ceremonies were of a religious order the same conventional bridal attire was in keeping for both. There was present to witness the ceremony of the Greek Church the bride's mother, Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant; Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer, the Misses Sartoris, Mr. Potter Palmer, Jr.; Mr. Honore Palmer, Mr. Ulysses S. Grant 3d, and Captain Algernon Sartoris. A family dinner followed. The Greek ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Hotowitszky, of New York, who had the assistance of two acolytes. Bishop Potter and the clergymen who assisted at the second wedding, were the only people outside of the family and bridal party present.

There have been a number of presents received in the last two days, including a diamond and turquoise pin from Vice President and Mrs. Hobart, a gold service of spoons from Senator Depew, a silver card case from Ambassador and Mrs. Porter, a silver jewel box from General Merritt and a sapphire necklace from Harry Walters.

Alleged Murderer Arrested.

Jamestown, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The young woman who was murdered at Falconer has been identified by the Rev. P. Martinson, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran Church, who recognized the body as that of Miss Emily Adolphson, a member of his congregation.

The officers learned that the girl had been much in the company of Frank Vennerholm of this city, and the police visited Vennerholm's boarding house, at No. 305 Winsor street, and found the young man in bed. A search of the room brought to view a pair of wet trousers covered with mud and blood, and a vest in the same condition was also discovered.

The evidence against the young man was so conclusive that he was arrested. The ground in the vicinity of the place where the murder was committed was searched. A pair of men's gloves and the handle of a razor, with the blade broken off, were found. The handle was shown to Vennerholm's brother, who had not been informed of the arrest, and he said it was the handle of his brother Frank's razor. The prisoner was prominent among the Swedish young people of the city, and held a position of trust in Mount Tabor Lodge of Odd Fellows.

Insanity Cured by Goat Lymph.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 25.—Irwin Bush, a young man of Joliet, was sent to Kankakee Asylum in March hopelessly insane, but is now, through the treatment with lymph from glands of goats, Bush is at home, copletely restored in mind. The lymph was discovered by Dr. Roberts, a physician of Greene City, Mo. Its application to cases of insanity was made at a Chicago laboratory, where Bush was taken. He had been showing steady improvement until he was discharged as cured. Dr. Roberts has gone to Europe to lay his discovery before Professor Koch of Berlin and other foreign scientists, with a view of having them adopt it in insane asylums there.

Children Killed in a Wreck.

Denver, Col., Sept. 25.—Six persons were killed and as many injured in a wreck on the Rio Grande Railroad a few miles east of Canon City. The wreck was caused by a collision between a Judson excursion train, west bound, and a freight train, east bound, at a siding. The killed are: Eva M. Walker, Westford, Mass., aged 12 years; Eugenin B. Judkins, Spokane, Wash., aged 12 years; Addie Judkins, aged 10 and George H. Judkins, aged 6; a boy named Willis, Los Angeles, Cal.; and Conductor Salter, probably from Chicago. Perry Walker of Westford, Mass., was injured internally, and will probably die.

Will Act For Germany.

Washington, Sept. 25.—As a result of conferences between Acting Secretary Hill of the State Department and Dr. Von Halbach, Secretary of the German Embassy, the Government has consented, in a friendly way, to look after the interests of the German Empire in Venezuela during the progress of the pending revolution until a German warship can be sent to that country.

Frank H. Morehouse Suicides.

Boston, Sept. 25.—Frank H. Morehouse, manager for Paterson Brothers, wool merchants of this city, committed suicide by shooting, at Young's Hotel. He went to the hotel and registered as "James D. Johnson of New York." He had been in poor health for some time. He was a resident of Newtonville and engaged to be married to a young woman in that city.

Troop Train Wrecked.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 25.—A special train on the Dominion Atlantic Railroad, carrying 500 men of the Sixty-third regiment from Camp Aldershot to Halifax, was trown into a ditch near Mount Uniacke, thirty miles from this city. Several were injured, but no fatalities were reported.

Hay Enlists as a Private.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 25.—William R. Hay of this city has enlisted in the army as a private, and is assigned to Troop H, Eighth cavalry, now in Cuba. He is a son of former Mayor Charles E. Hay, one of Springfield's most prominent citizens, and is a nephew of Secretary of State Hay.

SCHEPFLIN & SCHULTZ,

M. J. CASHIN, Manager. 322 West Front Street.

Men who successfully canvass industrial insurance and who approach healthy people to talk to them of death with the purpose of interesting them to the extent of insuring their lives, must themselves be alert and lively. A healthy appearance and a nervous system in perfect order are worth much to such a man. Mr. James E. Butcher is one of the best known men in the 34th Ward of Philadelphia. He resides with his interesting family on 55th Street above Landsdown Avenue and is a highly successful insurance agent. In the political affairs of the 34th Ward he is also an important factor and in both of these capacities good health, good nature and a good digestion each play an important part. Mr. Butcher relates that once he had a torpid liver for some time and as a consequence his whole system became deranged. He was a good deal broken up until a friend, one day, told him to try RIPANS TABULES. "I did so," said he, "and still continue to take them whenever I feel a return of my old ailment. They keep me strong and hearty and have proved my best friend. I am confident that RIPANS TABULES will always be found highly beneficial to any one who needs either a stomach or nerve tonic."

A new style packet containing FIVE TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (60 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (FIVE TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

LIPTON'S MEN COMPLAIN.

Do Not Like the Wages at Which They Have to Work.

London, Sept. 25.—There was a meeting of the employes of Lipton's, Limited, the company of which Sir Thomas Lipton, the owner of the cup challenger Shamrock, is the head. The meeting was under the auspices of the Workers' Union and was called for the purpose of discussing certain grievances.

Mr. Banham, was the principal speaker. He repudiated a statement made by Lipton's manager that no complaints had been received from the men. He declared that if the men complained otherwise than through the union they would be discharged or their wages would be reduced. He said the wages paid the men were wrethched. For example one man got 12 shillings or about $3 a week. Several others worked 59 hours for 13 shillings and 11 pence. Some of the employes worked sixty-one hours for 17 shillings and 9 pence, and others worked twenty-eight and one-half hours for 9 shillings and 6 pence.

A resolution supporting the union was carried. All the organized workers of the East End are preparing to boycott Lipton's shops.

Forgot About the Express.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 25.—Two trains on the Allegheny Valley Railroad crashed together head on at Parker, Pa., totally wrecking both engines, demolishing eight freight cars, badly wrenching two passenger coaches and injuring nearly a score of persons. The wreck was one of the most destructive to property that had occurred on this railroad for some time. The officials of the company explain the cause of the collision by saying that the engineer on the freight train forgot that the passenger train, the Emlenon Express, had the right of way.

General Henry Remembered.

Dansville, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The officers and corporals of the Insular police of Porto Rico have presented to General and Mrs. Henry, who are here, a portrait of the General painted in Porto Rico, "As a slight token of the high regard in which the former Governor General of Porto Rico, and the founder of the Insular police, is held by the latter, assuring General Henry of the high esteem and admiration which the mass of the Porto Rican people and every member of the Insular police feel for its former beloved Governor and his wife."

More Discontent in Samoa.

Berlin, Sept. 25.—A special correspondent of the Cologne Gazette, who is making a trip through Samoa, cables that everywhere he has noticed growing discontent among the Samoans who are complaining that they have been deceived. The three governments interested must act quickly, the correspondent says, or there will be another outbreak. This statement is made on the authority of old settlers and reliable natives who understand the situation thoroughly.

Supreme Court Justice Nominated.

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The Democrats of the Fifth Judicial district, comprising the counties of Oneida, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Oswego and Onondaga, have nominated Howard C. Wiggins of Rome as their candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court to succeed Justice Hardin. Mr. Wiggins is a popular young lawyer and Grand Regent of the Royal Arcanum of the State of New York.

Woman Crushed to Death.

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 25.—Mrs. William Mook, wife of a vetinary surgeon of Metuchen, was riding a bicycle on Legrand avenue in that village when she ran into a peddler's wagon. She fell under the vehicle and the wheels passed over her body. She was carried into the residence of G. S. Silser and died within an hour without regaining consciousness. Mrs. Mook was 38 years old and leaves two small children.

Miners Resume Work.

Susquehanna, Pa., Sept. 25.—The differences recently existing between the Erie Railroad Company and its coal miners in Forest City, Susquehanna County, and which caused the company to close the mines on Monday last for thirty days, have been arranged amicably, and the 1,200 men have resumed work. Rumors of an impending strike had been current, and the company decided to anticipate such a step by closing the mines.

Populists File Their Nominations.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 25.—T. P. Ryndes, State Chairman of the People's party, was here and filed at the state department the nominations of his party as follows: For Supreme Court Justice, John H. Stevenson, Allegheny; for Judge of the Superior Court, Nathan L. Atwood, Erie; for State Treasurer, Justus Watkins, Tioga. The signers were largely in excess of the legal requirement.

Made Liberal Public Bequests.

Petersburg, Ind., Sept. 25.—Finis E. Hornady died at his home in this city. He leaves an estate valued at $100,000, and bequeathed $10,000 to the Masons, $10,000 to the Odd Fellows, $10,000 to the Thornton Orphans' Home, of this place, and his fine farm, one mile west of town, as a park for Petersburg.

Made a New Mile Record.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 25.—C. C. Holsell, of this city, has lowered the world's amateur bicycle record for a mile. Three judges and three timers certify that he covered the distance in 1:35½. The previous record, human paced, was 1:39.

Slept Itself to Death.

Springfield, Ohio, Sept. 25.—The four-year-old child of Charles Meis died at the home of its parents. The child had been in a sound sleep for over a week, and the doctors apparently did not know what to do for it.

Calf's Bite Causes Lockjaw.

Youngstown, Ohio, Sept. 25.—Jacob Bascom, a farmer, is suffering with lockjaw, and cannot live. Bascon was recently bitten by a calf, and his case of lockjaw is the result of the bite.

ALL DEPENDS ON KRUGER.

Peace or War in Transvaal Apparently Rests in President's Hands.

DELAYS NOT DANGEROUS

The Longer Precipitation of Definite Issues Are Postponed the Better Are Chances For Peace.

Declared That if Boers Hold off a Week Actual War will be Averted—The Orange Free State Likely to Stand By Kruger Firmly if War is Declared.

London, Sept. 25.—Never at any stage of the Transvaal crisis has peace or war rested so entirely within the hands of President Kruger. The longer he delays precipitating a definite issue the better are the chances for peace. He now knows to what extent he can rely on sections of South Africa to uphold him; he realizes that the British will, if posible, avoid a conflict until the last transport lands her men, and he is too wily a leader not to know the military advantage that comes to the aggressor.

His appeals to the foreign Powers to intervene apparently have been hopeless, but his efforts to drag in the Orange Free State, however, have been successful, and if he honestly intends to defy Great Britain he never will have a better opportunity than at present. It is such reasoning which is uppermost in the minds of the thinking British, and which prompts them to fear that before next week's Cabinet meeting the Boers will have passed over Natal's frontier.

If they have not there will be much ground for believing President Kruger intends an ultimate backdown, though whether he is strong enough to carry his people with him in such a course is open to grave doubts.

The Cabinet Council merely verified the logical supposition that Great Britain will issue no hostile ultimatum until she is in a position to back it up. The impression that war is inevitable, now fairly general, is based almost solely upon the belief that the Boers will not submit, while it is impossible for Great Britain to recede from her position.

The recent negotiations upon the part of the Colonial Secretary have not tended to appease the peace party in England. The Speaker and some of the other Liberal papers take the view that Mr. Chamberlain has made it as hard as possible for President Kruger to accept his terms. Sir Edward E. Clarke, Q. C., the former Solicitor General, writes to the Times that he sees no casus belli and hopes Parliament will be summoned, so that the whole affair may be explained.

W. T. Stead, Mr. Chamberlain's bitter opponent, is bringing out a pamphlet entitled "Shall I Slay My Brother Boer? An Appeal to the Consciences of Great Britain."

Such diatribes do not represent the popular feeling. If President Kruger decides to hold his ground he will find he has small sympathy from any class of British. The Transvaal negotiations are so long drawn out that popular interest is flagging. The Government organs point out that open hostility by the Orange Free State eventually will prove advantageous in ridding Great Britain of the annoyance of having a presumably neutral, but really hostile power so close to the scene of action and enabling Great Britain to add the Free State to her possessions without encountering foreign protests.

A special dispatch from Cape Town says there was an extraordinary scene in the Assembly in the debate on the Registration of Voters bill. Cecil Rhodes, who hitherto has deprecated the possibility of hostilities, repeated the statement that several members had "accepted money for electioneering purposes from the Transvaal Government, with which England was on the verge of war."

Mr. Rhodes pointedly indicated that some of the members practically were guilty of treason, that they were "supporters of a ministerial party who lived entirely on offal" and were "nothing more than political scavengers." He called on the Premier to hold these in check.

The departure of more officers for the Cape and the denial of the Portuguese Minister that Great Britain is to take Delagoa Bay are the only new developments in the situation.

Dewey and Lee Invited.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 25.—Citizens here are planning to have Dewey and Fitzhugh Lee at the launching of a torpedo boat. There will be a parade and a three day's carnival. Dewey and Lee are to ride in the same carriage. Lee is to be here any how, and the committee will call on Dewey as soon as he arrives to secure his presence. Some people regard the plans as having some political significance.

To Entertain Chicagoans.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 25.—The local Democracy are arranging for a reception to the Cook County Democracy, which will leave Chicago on the 9th of October to attend the great barbecue at Louisville, and will spend the evening here. Their arrival will be on the night preceding the city election, and a great political demonstration will mark their coming.

Trying to Prevent More Bloodshed.

Caracas, Venezuela, via Hayti, Sept. 25.—From reliable sources I learn that a number of influential men who were connected with former governmental parties are working hard to prevent any further bloodshed. It is now hoped that a cordial understanding will soon be reached between the revolutionists and emissaries of Andrade.

Allen May Succeed Reed.

Portland, Me., Sept. 25.—In 128 towns in the First Congress district Republican caucuses were held, and delegations favorable to Amos L. Allen, former Speaker Reed's private secretary, were elected. Mr. Allen has the pledges of 101 of the 111 delegates thus far chosen in the district.

Politics in Somerset.

The man who writes the political stuff for the New Jersey page of the New York Herald views the situation in Somerset county in the following words:

They say that Senator Charles A. Reed, of Somerset, is in danger of defeat by the Thompson wing of the party there, and it has been noted in the Herald heretofore that Mr. Reed would retire from the contest in the interest of party harmony. It was reported at one time, indeed, that he had explicitly assured Gen. Sewell that he would withdraw. It is hard to guess how party harmony can be promoted by Senator Reed's withdrawal. His friends would doubtless retaliate upon the Thompson candidate—who, by the way, is said to be Dilts. But if it be true that he is to be assured of the nomination for Congress at the expiration of Benjamin F. Howell's term, that may ease up the situation a trifle. That Somerset is a close county will make absolute harmony among them necessary to Republican success. Former Speaker Bergen is in large demand as the Democratic candidate and he will doubtless be put before the people. Some of the blatant cranks of the Atkinson kind in the county are declaiming against him, and one of them sent anonymously (luckily for him) an insulting assault upon Mr. Bergen's candidacy to the writer of this paragraph a few days ago. But the former Speaker is thoroughly acceptable to the rank and file, and his personal popularity may be worth enough votes to enable him to turn the scales his way in a close contest election day if the Republicans of the county are ever so harmonious.

Referring to the presentment made by the Middlesex County Grand Jury condemning the laxity and carelessness of doctors and officials of New Brunswick, which resulted in the confinement of a man of sound mind in the Trenton Hospital for the Insane, the Newark News says that it "should lead to a repeal of the law of 1898, under which this person was committed. Under this law any person upon petition of a relative, fortified by the affidavits of two physicians, may be incarcerated in an asylum for fifteen days on probation. During that period he is to be examined by the hospital physicians, who report to the County Judge. If they find the person sane he is discharged, if they declare him demented, the Judge orders an inquisition of lunacy in the regular form. Thus while there is little danger but that a sane man would ultimately secure his release the law opens up opportunities for abuse and oppression. The mere fact of being committed even tempororily to an asylum is enough to shake the reason or cause the death of persons of delicate and nervous organizations."

Subscriptions received to date for the Dewey home fund now amount to $29,065. The number of subscribers is 29,624, which makes the average subscription less than a dollar.

PRESIDENT KRUGER AND BOER SHARPSHOOTERS.

This cut of "Oom Paul" Kruger, president of the South African Republic, is made from his latest photograph. Note the marks of determination in the face of the man who dares defy England in what he considers a just cause. The other part of the picture shows a Boer family, of father and five sons, ready for battle. The Boer army is small. There are only about 20,000 males of military age in the republic, but every man and boy is a crack shot and from early youth they are taught a love of country which makes them ever ready to die for her. It was this spirit and their skill as riflemen that won victories for the Boers over the English at Laing's Neck and Mayuba Hill in 1881.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Some years ago a slick fakir, who had successfully succeeded in imposing upon the credulity of a crowd, made the forcible if not very elegant remark that "there was a sucker born every minute." It would seem as though that this was all too true, if one can judge of the easy marks which the average street fakir finds in the various cities. One of the itinnerant individuals held forth on Somerset street Saturday night and held a crowd spell-bound by his glib tongue, while he extolled the virtues of a tooth powder, which he claimed would cure the most violent toothache ever possessed by mortal man. For fully an hour the fellow did a land office business at ten cents a powder. Indeed, there is a fruitful field for the fool-killer right here in Plainfield.

* * * * *

Many speak of Plainfield as though its typographical formation was literally flat. This is far from the case. Even that portion of our city in the centre of the town has ample and sufficient grades to carry off all rainfalls, while in the eastern section of the city are the rolling Short Hills from which may be obtained most beautiful views of the country around on any fair day. Looking to the west it is quite easy to see Fox Hill in Hunterdon county some thirty miles away as well as the spires and college building at New Brunswick and the church at Stelton in Middlesex county. While from McNabb's Hill on the Rahway road, looking eastward, the dwellings on the Highlands of Staten Island may be easily seen; also the church spires and clock-tower at Elizabeth, and beyond these the Syndicate and Security buildings in New York stand up like great gray monuments. The Statue of Liberty is also plainly discernible and at night the lights on the Brooklyn Bridge show up like a glittering necklace. Yes! all these in beautiful Plainfield. The day is not far distant when these beautiful and historic hills will be dotted with the homes of wealth and refinement. Then all will wonder why they waited so long. J. E. M.

NOT OPPOSED TO ATHLETES

But Where They are Used to Feed a Barroom Rev. G. W. Shott Objects.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, September 25.—As a prelude to his sermon yesterday morning Rev. Gideon M. Shott stated that a mistaken idea appeared to prevail to the effect that he was opposed to athletic sports and bicycle racing. He said:

"I believe in reputable athletic contests, but when the sport is lowered to the saloon element and being pushed only for the purpose of increasing the sale of liquors in our quiet little hamlet, then I am opposed to it. Let me say that my war is upon the rum business and not upon the bicycle riders. I shall continne to fight along these lines. The work and prospective work of the Citizens' League and Christian people is a source of delight to me. Their work can already be seen in the moral standard of our town. Keep at it, for it is the constant drip, drip of the water that wears away the stone.

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS THAT PLAINFIELDERS MAY WITNESS.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

There is an old saying that "some men would kick at being hung," but there will be no cause for kicking on the part of those who attend the production of that lively, wholesome musical farce comedy, "Kelly's Kids," at Music Hall tomorrow night. This play has met with wonderful success everywhere, and is kept up-to-date by a company of fun makers unsurpassed in individual and collective excellence by any similar organization now before the public. Brimful and bright, new and clean humor, bristling with the latest catch phrases of the day; replete with the latest songs of the most popular composers, and freely interlarded with beautiful dances and musical selections, "Kelly's Kids" is well calculated to remain the greatest musical farce-comedy success of the season. The company engaged in its presentation is one of superior excellence, and is composed of the best actors, singers and dancers obtainable. Among the numerous company of well known names, are found Harry Crandall, Marty O'Neil, Pearce and Udell, Ed. Powers, Jas. K. Farley, Master Sammy Brown, Fred. Rounds, Kitty Wolf, Jean Cunningham, Laura Bennet, Janet Dore, and a host of others. The names alone are a sufficient guarantee of the quality of the performance, and in such a popular vehicle as "Kelly's Kids" the engagement should be a veritable triumph here, as it has been in other cities visited by them.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15 and 25c.

AUTUMN SELLING AT Woodhull & Martin's.

The week just closed was a record breaker so far as receiving new goods was concerned. Never before in so short a space of time have we opened such quantities of goods.

Our entire winter supply of blankets is now on exhibition and we don't hesitate to affirm that Plainfield people have never had so comprehensive a line to select from and were never offered such values. We buy these goods direct from the mills and in so doing save the jobbers' profits. Prices range from 50c pair to $14.00 pair. Sizes 10-4, 11-4, 12-4. The line includes some beautiful soft gray blankets with rich borders, designed especially for bath robes.

Comfortables. Our experience in this line proves to us that ladies appreciate nice goods. Our comfortables are filled with clean white cotton, odorless, covered with coverings of exclusive patterns, thoroughly quilted and are superior in quality, finish and appearance. Prices as follows: 98c, $1.25, $1.48, $1.75, $1.98, $2.25, $2.48, $2.75, $2.98.

Two numbers in down quilts at $3.98, $4.98. Full size, pure down filled, covered with elegant satine and artistically quilted. Warm, light, fluffy. No well-regulated family should be without them.

Golf Suitings.

Fashion makes it imperative that Golf Suiting be worn. We are inclined to encourage their use, for no more durable and stylish suitings were ever introduced to the buying public. Double-faced, warm, serviceable, need no lining. Our line ranges in price from $1.25 to $3.98 per yard, and we believe our styles equal to the best shown by N. Y. houses. Our prices we believe to be lower, as we purchased early before the subsequent rise in price.

Underskirts. New fall styles are now on sale, and let us say to you—you may look many a day for a more attractive lot of styles. They are made of satines, Italian cloths, mercerized cottons, morreens, etc, in both black and colors.

New waists in flannel, brilliantine, satine, silk, etc. Styles are exclusive and prices are right.

Sundry Novelties.

New Embroidered Chiffons—Tucked Silks, Corded Silks, etc., for dress fronts. All over point-de-venise dress laces in black and cream, plain lace nets, new veilings, new neck novelties, velvet ribbons in satin back and linen back, butter colored lace ties with embroidered ends, black jetted lace nets, etc.

Kid Gloves. We sell no cheap kid gloves. No lady is well-dressed with either cheap gloves or cheap shoes. Better wear a cheap dress. $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 are our prices for good gloves. The last two numbers are entirely new and very desirable. Must be seen, however, to be appreciated.

New Table Damasks.

Our sales in this line are certainly phenomenal. We have surprised ourselves as well as our friends. It is not the result of accident, but rather the natural response to persistent effort to secure and offer to our customers special values. The latest attractions in this department are two special Bleached Damasks at 50c and 75c per yard. The 50c number is worth 75c and the 75c number is worth 89c, or we are guilty of prevarication.

DOWN STAIRS.

The old saying "forewarned forearmed" has proved true in our case in regard to White Iron Beds. Anticipating the rise in price of these goods we bought early and often all the iron beds we could find storage for. Prices have advanced since until we could sell the goods back to the people we bought them of at a handsome profit.

We prefer, however, to give our friends the benefit of our good fortune. Iron Beds, Brass trimmed, at 3.75, 4.98, 5.75, 6.48, 7.98, 8.49, 9.98, 10.75, 11.50, 12.50, 13.75, 14.98. Every bed quoted worth from 15 to 25 per cent more.

MATTRESSES.

Soft Top Mattresses, 1.98, 2.45. Husk, soft top, 2.98. Victor Combination, 1 part, 3.98. Victor Combination, 2 parts, 4.48. 45 lb Pure White Cotton, A. C. A. tick, 2 parts, 5.98. Genuine Felt Mattress, Fancy tick, 1 part or 2 parts, 8.50. Silk Floss Mattress, to order, 15.00. Springs, Pillows, Furniture, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Mattings, Shades, Rugs, etc.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 25—The legal ordinances for the construction of flag stone sidewalks on Front street, from Madison avenue to Jefferson avenue and on Lincoln avenue, between North avenue and Front streets, have been published.

The Juniors of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church at New Market gave a delightful entertainment to Seniors in the church on Saturday evening. The literary features of the affair were of an impromptu order. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The Baptist church at New Market presents an inviting appearance since it was thoroughly renovated and the new carpet laid. The edifice was used yesterday for the first time in several weeks.

William VanMiddlesworth, an engineer on the Pennsylvania Railroad, who is soon to move to Newark, has rented his house on Front street to William B. Mead.

A large number of residents of Dunellen, New Market and Lincoln will attend the Dewey celebration at New York Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Farrier, of New Market, have had as their guest this week Mrs. Ellen H. McWharnel, of Williams Bridge, N. Y.

Mrs. E. P. Runkle, mother of Mrs. E. S. Jamison, has returned to the home of her daughter after an absence of several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Warden are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. James Wright and Mrs. Whitmire, of St. Simon Island, Ga.

Mrs. L. H. Dantz, who has been visiting friends at Columbus, has returned to her home in New Market.

Miss Minnie VanMiddleswoath has returned from a visit with friends at Chicago and other western cities.

Miss Sadie Davis, who has been visiting the Misses Jamison, has returned to her home in Newark.

John P. Cruser, night operator at the Central station, was recently married to a lady at Cranford.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Smalley has been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Charles Smalley, at South Orange.

Mrs. William M. Vail, of Brooklyn has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Nelson Runyon, New Market.

Dr. Whitford, of New Market is having a new house built on Centre street.

Mrs. Hannah Nelson is entertaining her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Bushnell, of Union.

John Huff has leased Dealaman's flat and will occupy it the first of next month.

The Dunellen football team had a practice game Saturday afternoon.

Miss Bertha Giles, of New Market, is visiting friends at Newark.

Mrs. Fred Ward, of New Market, is ill with malaria.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 25—A boys' two-mile bicycle race was held over the Mountain avenue course Saturday afternoon at 2:30. The race was held for boys under 15 years of age. Chris Tobin, of Westfield, captured first prize, a bicycle racing suit. Herbert Marsh took second, a pair of toe clips.

The town was noticeably quiet Saturday night. It may be it will only only require one case to be pressed for disorderly conduct, to settle some of the disturbances we have endured so long. It is to be hoped so.

Albert Marsh, of Spring Valley, Ill., who has been spending two weeks with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wade, returned to his home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Johnson, of Plainfield, were the guest of Mr. Johnston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward USUALLY MEEK.

But He Was Another Man When His Wife Was Around.

He was a big enough man, but he looked so meek that he seemed rather undersized. And he was meek. Ladies getting on a street car recognized him at once as a henpecked man, and cast a disdainful glance on him by way of thanks for the seat he always gave up with an apologetic air, as if he had been guilty of a misdemeanor in sitting in it in the first place. Men flecked their cigar ashes on him and turned to apologize, but seeing his meekness concluded not to take the trouble. The girls at the restaurant slammed down in front of him the leathern steaks that had been sent back by more fastidious customers, and the market people gave him fruit that would rot before he got it home. In fact, he got the worst of it everywhere, but he never complained, and let humanity trample on his corns with patient forbearance.

Jones in particular seemed to have it in for the meek man, whom he in derision called "Fighting Mollie," and the ingenuity of Jones in devising indignities for his spiritless victim was worthy of a better cause. Jones was a large, florid-faced man, who had no mercy and was insolent just for fun. But Jones made a mistake one day in the park. He stepped up to the meek man, pounded him on the back, smashed his hat down over his eyes, and tweaked his whiskers. "Just wanted to wake you up, Mollie, my boy, to say hello."

The meek man gasped and turned to a handsomely dressed lady standing near by to whom he said a word or two, and then came back to Jones, whom to that gentleman's surprise he grabbed by the collar.

"Just come behind the band stand here a moment," he said calmly. "I want to discourse a bit with you," and he dragged Jones away out of sight and hearing of all except the few of us who followed.

"Look here," he said, "that's my wife over there, and she thinks I'm a real man. She's going to keep on thinking so. My doctor has been telling me to avoid all excitement, and I am. I'm as cool as a gin rickey, but I'm d—d if I don't take a little violent exercise and warm up."

Then he gently but firmly proceeded to batter Jones' face.

The next day he looked as meek as ever, but somehow or other after that we took to handing him cigars now and then.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Under the Summer Moon.

She was a summer girl, dainty in dress, pink cheeked and golden haired, and there was a business line running about the corners of her cherry lips that any man might have seen with half an eye if he had only looked for it.

The man talking to her that night in the mellow moonlight hadn't so much as half an eye for business, and she knew it. But he was marvelously soft of voice and winning of manner, and he had seen many moons and talked beneath their magic light.

"Do you know," he said to her, "that I love you?"

"How should I," she answered with a rapturous longing in her tones, "when you have never told me?"

"Then, dearest, listen while I tell you—I love you, Jane; I love you."

She looked up at the far-off silent stars and down into his melting brown eyes.

"But you have told so many girls that," she contended.

"Oh, darling," he protested, "how could you be cruel enough to doubt me so?"

"Didn't you ever tell any other girl that you loved her?" she asked, with all the pent-up yearning of a woman's soul to know that she was alone in a man's heart.

"Never, darling, never," he breathed, with intense fervor, taking her unresisting hand in his.

She looked at him, and the lines about her cherry lips threw little shadows on her dimpled chin.

"Oh, George," she whispered, dreamily, "what a twelve-by-fourteen liar you are." And George dropped like a slump in the market.—New York Sun.

Took His Life in His Hands.

Caller (on crutches and with a bandage over one eye)—I have come, sir, to make application for the amount due on my accident insurance policy. I fell down a long flight of steps the other evening and sustained damages that will disable me for a month to come."

Manager of Company—"Young man, I have taken the trouble to investigate your case, and I find you are not entitled to anything. It could not be called an accident. You knew the young woman's father was at home."—Stray Stories.

CUTTING VENEERS.

MANY KINDS OF WOOD USED IN THEIR MANUFACTURE.

Variety of Uses to Which They Are Put—Some Are Sawed and Others Cut—Powerful and Costly Machinery Required—The Marvelous Slicer.

Veneers are cut from almost all the finer woods, both native and foreign, including mahogany, birch, rosewood, ebony, satinwood, cedar, tulipwood, Hungarian ash, sycamore, and others, veneers being used on pianos and other musical instruments, on furniture, doors, and so on.

Some veneers are sawed and some are cut from the log by means of a knife. The sawed veneers are the better and more desirable, and they cost twice as much as cut veneers. More cut veneers are used, however. Twenty years ago 75 per cent. of veneers were sawed and 25 per cent. cut; but now these percentages have been reversed.

Some woods can be worked for veneers under the saw only; some can be either sawed or cut, and of such both kinds of veneers are made; but there are woods that practically are made in knife veneers only.

Veneers may be made of almost any degree of thinness as, say, one one-hundredth of an inch. They are most commonly made for the many uses to which they are put, in sawed veneers of a thickness of twenty-six to thirty to the inch, and in cut veneers of a thickness averaging thirty to the inch. Of sawed veneers of such thickness but twelve to thirteen can be produced from an inch of solid wood; the rest is lost in sawdust. There is no waste of material in making cut veneers.

Sawed veneers are cut, a single sheet from the log at a time, by a circular saw of between five and six feet in diameter, of a kind specially made for the purpose. The inner side of this saw, that is, the side toward the body of the log, is flat; the outer side of the flange, which is the disk of the saw, to which the teeth are attached, is made slightly concave, so as to throw the veneer a little clear of the saw as it comes along; if it were permitted to hug the saw, the thin sheet of wood would be burned or scorched by the friction. The saw is, of course, adjusted to run with the greatest nicety, and the square log that is to be sawed into veneers is rigidly secured to the frame that carries it to the saw.

The cut veneers are shaved off on a simple but powerful and costly machine called a slicer, in which the log, securely held on a moving frame is brought against a knife held rigidly. The knife of a slicer is perhaps seventeen feet in length, made in two parts each eight and a half feet in length, but perfectly joined, making one continuous knife seventeen feet long. The knife is set horizontally, edge upward, in the face of what is called the knife bed, which is a ponderous casting immovably set. Extending along over the top of the knife bed, and above the level of the knife edge is a massive casting called the cap. Attached to the front of the cap, horizontally, just above the knife edge, parallel with it and adjusted at a line back from it the thickness of the veneer that is to be cut, is what is called the pressure bar. The knife and the pressure bar, so held, constitute in effect a gigantic plane, which is not moved to cut the thick shaving that it is made to produce, but which is held securely while the log from which the shaving is taken is brought against it.

A Sacred Plant.

The plant known as vervain, which is not distinguished for its beauty, and which grows nowadays utterly disregarded, was so sacred in the Druids that they only gathered it for their divinations when the great dog star arose, in order that neither sun nor moon should see the deed.

Closing of Plant Leaves.

The closing of the leaves of plants as the evening comes on was at first supposed by botanists to be due to the difference in temperature, but on transplanting the plants into a hothouse it was found that the same phenomenon occurred, the leaves closing at sunset.

Königsberg. Hier wurde der Prokurist des Silospeichers, Otto, von einer Rangirmaschine zermalmt.

Johannisburg. In Bialla hat Großfeuer 30 Gebäude, darunter 12 Wohnhäuser, eingeäschert.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Dirschau. Beim Abstieg vom Ortler (Tirol) hat sich der Student Max Liedtke von hier verirrt. Er machte in der Frühe von der Beckmannhütte führerlos den Aufstieg und kam um 7 Uhr Abends auf dem Gipfel an. Er wollte dann zur Payerhütte absteigen, verfehlte jedoch den Weg und kam in die hohe Eibrinne, wo er in Folge der inzwischen eingetretenen Dunkelheit übernachten mußte. Mit Ausnahme einiger Verletzungen am Knie kam er glücklich bei diesem Ortler-Abenteuer davon.

Marienburg. Die in Betracht kommenden Hausbesitzer beschlossen einstimmig, dem geäußerten kaiserlichen Wunsche, den niedergebrannten Stadttheil in der ursprünglichen Bauart wieder hergestellt zu sehen, nachzukommen.

Rheinprovinz.

Köln. Hier ist die Rollgerstefabrik von Junker u. Wilde in Köln-Lindenthal gänzlich niedergebrannt. Das sechs Stockwerk hohe Fabrikgebäude, sowie das Maschinen- und Kesselhaus wurden vollständig zerstört und bilden einen Trümmerhaufen. Der Schaden ist enorm, der Betrieb gestört. Das Feuer griff derart rasch um sich, daß der in der Fabrik wohnende Portier nebst Familie nur mit knapper Noth gerettet werden konnte.

Aachen. Zwischen den Textilarbeitern der christlich-sozialen und der sozialdemokratischen Richtung sind seit einiger Zeit Verhandlungen über ein gemeinsames Vorgehen in sozialer Hinsicht gepflogen worden, welche jetzt zum Abschlusse gelangt sind. Fernerhin werden beide Richtungen für eine Regelung der Arbeitszeit, Beseitigung der Mißstände in den Betrieben, Hintanhaltung des Zweistuhlsystems und für die Regelung der Lohnfrage gemeinsam eintreten. Dieses Handinhandgehen war das einzige Mittel, zum Ziel zu kommen.

Koblenz. Ein Uebelstand des Elsenborner Truppen-Uebungsplatzes, an den Niemand gedacht hat, stellt sich jetzt heraus. Die Nähe der Grenze erleichtert die Desertion. Während einer dreiwöchigen Schießübung des Infanterie-Regiments v. Goeben sind fünf Mann desertirt.

Provinz Sachsen.

Erfurt. Neulich früh gerieth der Glockenthurm der Neuwerkskirche in Brand und wurde von den Flammen vollständig vernichtet. Die beiden Glocken zerschmolzen und fielen herab. Für die Stadt ist die Vernichtung des unschönen Thurmes ein großer Gewinn; denn durch die Beseitigung des alten Gemäuers wird ein erheblicher Raum geschaffen für das Kaiser Wilhelm-Denkmal und diesem letzteren selbst ein unglücklicher Hintergrund genommen. Der Thurm ist Jahrhunderte alt, er stammt aus der früheren Festungszeit Erfurts und deckte das sogenannte Wasserthor.

Salzwedel. Auf dem hiesigen Bahnhof war der Bahnarbeiter Ahrens, ein Mann von 56 Jahren, im Begriff, zwei Wagen zusammenzukoppeln, als ein einfahrender Zug die Wagen zusammenstieß. Ahrens wurde zunächst die Brust eingedrückt, dann wurde der über die Schienen fallende Mann noch überfahren, wobei die Beine fast vom Rumpf getrennt wurden. Als Leiche wurde der Verunglückte hervorgeholt.

BIG DOG FELT THE HEAT

The Seedy-Looking Man Diagnosed the Case and Tried to Treat It.

The big dog lay on the pavement in front of the Custom House in New York. He was a yellowish, brindly sort of dog, enveloped in a coat of heavy fur that seemed very much out of place with the thermometer at 93. So the big dog thought, at any rate, for his face expressed extreme weariness, and from his open panting mouth great drops of water dripped on the hot flagstones. A sympathetic crowd of messenger boys and loungers gathered around him and volunteered counsel after the manner of the angels ministering unto Elijah.

"Hully gee! But he's a whale," said one.

"Newfoundland," suggested another.

"Naw, he ain't neither," said the shoestring man. "St. Bunnard; you can always tell 'em by the color."

"Italiano dog; verra good; si?" chattered the pushcart man, showing all his white teeth in the delight the suggestion afforded him.

"That dog don't act right, I tell you," said a seedy-looking man, impressively. "Look at them eyes. I shouldn't wonder if he was going mad. He wouldn't be the first one this hot weather, either."

The big dog turned his head slightly and looked up as if in appreciation of the speaker's acumen. Several of the crowd drew back.

"That's the idea," said the seedy-looking man. "Give him air. Most likely he's run all the way from Harlem down here in the first stages of hyderfoby. What he needs is air and something to cool his blood."

"Send for the ice man," irreverently suggested a small newsboy, who was quickly suppressed.

"That kid's all right," said the seedy-looking man, who was gaining confidence. "We got to do something. One of you fellows go for a policeman and another of you get a chunk of ice somewhere. Maybe we can save him yet."

Two of the messenger boys hurried away with the spirit of noble charity in their pace. The crowd by this time had increased to a small multitude.

"Now," said the seedy-looking man, turning to a fakir, "gimme one of them fans and I'll keep down his temperature till they git back."

He seized the broad palm leaf, and stepping in front of the canine sufferer, described an arc through the air which caused the fan to pass within three inches of the patient's nose.

"Ounce!" said the big dog, indignantly, starting to his feet. "Ounce! Ounce! Ounce!" he continued loudly.

But by that time there were only a few whose physical incapacity left them still within hearing; these only accelerated their speed. The big dog opened his eyes in melancholy wonder, and settled himself upon the pavement.

Then a cool-appearing man in a blue suit came out of the Custom House, says the New York Sun, and said, "Here, Rex," and the big dog rose and followed him slowly down the street toward Broadway.

Five minutes later three policemen rounded the corner at double quick time, an ambulance dashed up, and the gong of an approaching fire engine was heard up the block. But they found only an overturned pushcart, whose owner was gathering up his wares with soft Italian curses, a man picking up a scattered stock of palm leaf fans, and a crowd of people watching from the second-story windows.

Something About 55,000 Elk.

The order of Elks is diffused throughout the whole country, says Leslie's Weekly. It originated in New York City in 1867, its founder being Charles A. Vivian, a ballad singer. It was at first restricted to members of the theatrical profession and to singers. In the beginning it had only thirteen members. Its scope, however, soon broadened, and it admitted other persons besides those to which it was at first confined. A social organization at the outset, it developed into a benevolent order having lodges in every State, and having on its rolls representatives of all the professions. First calling itself the "Jolly Corks," it then adopted the name Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. It is one of the most popular of all the fraternal orders of the United States, as is shown by its rapid increase in membership and the growth of the surplus in its treasury. The reports at St. Louis showed that there was a gain of 11,187 members in the order during the past twelve months, the present membership being 55,439. This is the largest increase ever made in any one year. Ohio leads in number of members, which is 6,384, followed, in this order, by Pennsylvania, New York, Michigan, Indiana, Iowa, New Jersey, Minnesota, Massachusetts, Virginia, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Colorado, California, Illinois, Washington, Missouri and Connecticut. The other States of the Union have less than 1,000 members. The largest individual lodges are, in this order, in New York City (870 members), Grand Rapids, Jackson, Michigan; Baltimore, Alleghany, Cincinnati, Detroit, Minneapolis and Pittsburg. All these lodges and no others have over 500 members.

Bees Hived in a Camern.

An enthusiastic amateur photographer of Phoenixville, Pa., is Marion Lyttons. His pride has been a rather costly camera, which when not in use he kept in a third-story room of his home. For over a week Mr. Lyttons was too busy otherwise to take pictures, but finally he decided to go out and secure some views. When he picked up his camera he was surprised to find a half dozen bees flying about it. As he proceeded through the room with the camera in his hand a whole army of the insects came in a line out of a small opening in the black box cover. Then the owner placed the camera on a table and started an investigation, which he gave up when the truth flashed upon him that a swarm of bees, which had come in through the open window, had made a hive out of his camera. The bees have been dismissed as tenants, but the camera will have to be overhauled before any more views can be taken.

THE LATEST GOWNS.

CLINGING EFFECTS ACCENTUATE GRACE OF SLENDER FIGURES.

The Princess Model Favorite for All Gowns—New Kilted Skirt—Elaborate Dress Trimmings—Return of the Redingote.

The princess gown is coming, whether it is welcome or not. Ball gowns, cloth costumes, calling frocks and dinner dresses are to be modelled with the long sweeping, clinging lines which make the slim, Junoesque woman look like a goddess and drive the dressmaker and their over-plump or undersized patrons to despair.

One of these gowns is of black, satin-faced cloth, the back being exquisitely fitted from neck to hem. Its front, from throat to feet, is one unbroken sweep of pearl-gray cloth set in narrow horizontal tucks. The black cloth bodice and skirt turn back in straight revers faced with gray cloth and edged with small pearl buttons. These revers do not extend from neck to hem, but are broken at the waist-line, the skirt revers beginning rather narrow and growing broader as they descend. This gives the bodice a sort of jacket effect and accentuates the slenderness of the waist. The high collar is of the tucked gray cloth. The tight sleeves are unrelieved by color and extend to the knuckles, where they are slashed in points like the petals of a tulip.

Another gown is semi-princess, and is made of white cashmere and stitched perpendicularly from neck to knees and from shoulders almost to the elbows. The bodice has broad pointed revers embroidered with black chenille and beneath them narrow revers of black velvet. The waist is encircled by a narrow belt of black velvet. The skirt is finished by six frills of plaited mousseline, edged with chenille, and the sleeves are finished at the wrist by chenille embroidery. The upper part of the sleeves are of the stitched cashmere, and where it meets the plain matrial is a band of chenille embroidery.

A new skirt for slender figures has a deep yoke at the top, which fits the form without a wrinkle. Sometimes this yoke is of corded silk, again it is of wool fabric, covered with circling rows of braid its entire depth. Below the yoke, the skirt is laid in kilts. It is of even length, just clearing the ground all around. Double-faced cashmere, carmelite, vicuna, camel's hair and similar soft, light wool fabrics are used for the kilts.

Another new model shows an underdress of small-figured silk, with an overdress in circular form, but slashed from the hem to below the hips on the front and sides, leaving the overdress in seven long, straight panels. The skirt at the top, instead of being cut off and belted, is carried up on the bodice in the shape of a pointed girdle.

The tendency is still decidedly toward clinging effects, with an unrestricted flare around the foot of the skirt. The wonderful contrasting effect of colors, the endless amount of choice and perfected silk and wool fabrics, the elaborate and beautiful dress trimmings, have become such important elements of fashionable attire, that there is no limit to the variety a clever and artistic dressmaker can now produce, and never was her scope greater than at the present time. Fancy basques and jackets, new blouse effect, guimpe corsages of every discription, graceful polonaises and redingotes, with their picturesque bodice and sleeve decorations, remain among the distinct features of dominating autumn and winter modes.

The French redingote appears in many graceful forms and effects, made of greatly varied materials, and with simple or elaborate trimmings, to conform to the occasions for which it is required. This stately style of overdress has gained steadily in fashionable favor, and redingote effects are likely to multiply. Skirts of velvet or corded silk will be worn beneath handsome silk and wool or cloth redingotes, and other skirts for less elegant costumes will be plain cheviot, vicuna and similar fabrics.

Plaids of the most pronounced type are used for wraps, skirts and facings for jackets.

There are snugly-fitting, double-fall plaid capes with large useful capped pockets applied to the outside surface of the first fall, besides the round, short collet-formed "golfer's friend," which wears a deep circular flounce piped on the skirt of the garment. One and all they seem arranged to give the arms free play without exposing the rest of the body to the winds, and many of them are so artfully garnished with fringe and stitched straps, and draped with a big cairngorm set buckle on the shoulder, that it is easy to understand why they enjoy so wide and flattering a reputation.

AGNES ALCOTT.

Millinery Economies.

Faded colored straw hats may be freshened with a veil of tulle.

A soiled black straw hat should first be brushed well with a stiff brush, sponged with a weak solution of ammonia, and when thoroughly dried given a coat of shoe-blacking.

Clean a felt hat by quick sponging with alcohol. If a bad subject, a good bath of ammonia and water is beneficial.

Brims that are out of shape may be pressed with an ordinary iron, care being taken to place a cloth of the same color as the hat under the iron.

Egrets may be washed gently in suds made of a pure white soap.

Quills will look as good as new if they are held over the steaming spout of a teakettle and the separate parts gently drawn together with the fingers.

A drop of mucilage will fasten loose feathers on a wing or bird.

If a bird has lost an eye, break off the head of a black pin and fasten with black sealing wax.

Faded ostrich tips may be dyed and curled at home.

Chiffon can be made to look like new if it is carefully steamed.

Jets may be mended with black sealing wax.

Flowers may be pinched into shape, but if they are in bad condition can only be used under lace or tulle.

Old ribbons, after having been cleaned and pressed, may be knife-pleated and made into rosettes.

Alcohol will take the shine from ribbon or silk.

The Hair is Dressed High.

If at the present moment there is but one fashion of dressing the hair—namely, turned up at the nape of the neck, there never was a time when so many ornaments in the guise of pins, buckles, brooches and fancy clasps were introduced to render the head brilliant. Nevertheless, plain tortoise shell is one of the softest things for the hair, the most distinguished of anything in the way of pins. But in modern coiffure brooches are extensively used. The small locks are turned up behind the real jeweled brooches. Every form is convenient for this purpose, especially round, plain buckles with the least asperity possible about them.

For evening, if you have a pretty buckle, stick it in front of the chignon, between the aureole and the mass of hair, fixed by a bright ribbon or piece of black velvet rolled round the chignon. The effect is both novel and pleasing.

Lastly, if you have very little hair, instead of tightening it up into a twist, separate it into small tufts, twine them around your finger and make them up into small hollow rolls. To fasten these rolls put pins in them with the heads sticking out to form an ornament to the coiffure. Abundance of hair may be set off by ornament. Figures of eight are in favor, also every description of openwork dressing, that is to say, all kinds of elevations composed of loose tufts, through which you can see or you can feel that they are empty.

Rules for Gaining Flesh.

Absolutely freedom from anxiety. At least ten hours' sleep out of every twenty-four. In addition, naps during the day if possible. Sleep must always be natural. Nothing is so bad for the health as sleep induced by narcotics in any form. The diet should consist largely of food containing starch and sugar—potatoes, fresh sweet butter, milk, cream, fruits cooked and served with sugar, all vegetables containing starch and sugar, such as corn, sweet potatoes, beans, peas, foods of the macaroni and spaghetti kinds, fish and oysters, ice-creams, deserts without pastry; plenty of outdoor life and moderate exercise; sleep in a well-ventilated room. I do not believe one can gain flesh if there is an internal disease—certainly not if there is any tendency to dyspepsia or liver trouble. Where the patient is plump in one portion of the body and fails in another a gymnasium course is advised. The patient is advised to a first-class gymnasium, submit to an examination and take the exercise prescribed. These gymnasiums may be found in a town of any size in the country. Where the development is meagre in the upper part of the body swimming is also an excellent exercise. Walking is always wholesome. The patient who wishes to gain flesh can never do so if she worries, is harassed or permits her nerves to get the better of her.

A Woman Honored.

Mrs. A. G. Cullop, who has been appointed by Governor Mount one of the five honorary commissioners for Indiana at the Exposition of Paris in 1900, is a woman of fine executive ability and many accomplishments. She spent five years abroad. Eight or nine months of that time she was in Paris, so that she speaks the French language fluently. Mrs. Cullop had the endorsement of Federal judges and of other men of national prominence, in addition to the prestige in that she is the wife of Hon. W. A. Cullop, one of the most prominent Democratic politicians of Southern Indiana.

BASE BALL MATTERS

A RIVAL TO THE NATIONAL LEAGUE AND ITS AIMS.

No War on Western League, but a Fight With the Old Organization. Gossip and Gleanings From All Sources.

A new baseball league, the circuit of which will include cities in both the National and Western leagues, and which will be known as the American Association of Baseball Clubs, has been formed in Chicago. The circuit, as decided on, will include the following cities: St. Louis, Milwaukee, Detroit and Chicago in the West, and Baltimore, New York, Philadelphia and Washington in the East. Those present at the meeting were Chris Von der Ahe, George Shaefer and Al Spinks, representing St. Louis, and a reputed agent of a brewing company of that city, which is supposed to be interested in the new league; H. D. Clough, representing Chicago; a representative of New York, Frank Hough of Philadelphia, M. Scanlon, representing Washington. The names of the representatives of Detroit and Baltimore were not given out, but they are supposed to be men connected with the National League clubs. A. C. Anson was offered the Presidency of the new league, but he refused to accept at present, and H. D. Quinn, of Milwaukee, was elected temporary President. Other temporary officers were elected as follows: Vice-President, M. D. Scanlan; Treasurer, Geo. Shaefer; Secretary, Frank Hough; Directors, Chris Von der Ahe, M. D. Scanlan, Frank Buckley, New York, and C. S. Havenor. The platform of the new league was anounced as follows:

"Honest competition, no syndicate baseball, no reserved rule, to respect all contracts and popular prices."

The real backers of the new organization were not disclosed, but it is supposed the league will have the support of brewing company in St. Louis. A representative of the St. Louis concern was in the city, but he did not attend the meeting, and he also kept away from the hotel where he was registered.

The surprise of the conference was the avowal of the promoters to invade Western League territory. All of those present disclaimed any intention of going to war with the minor league, but they strongly hinted that it was a war to the finish with the national organization.

By abolishing the reserve rule, the new league thinks it can get a hold on the best baseball talent in the country, and by catering to the public with lower prices to get the masses. The promoters also argue that the evils engendered by forcing upon the public syndicate ball is too patent to be overlooked.

A Base Ball Genius.

Who does not remember Ed Williamson of the old Chicago team? Anson was a dummy, a puppet, a cigar-store Indian, in the hands of Williamson, and still we credit "Ans" with being the grand old man of the game. Williamson was the student who applied his noodle to a study of the batsmen, and connived with "Jack" Clarkson and "Fred" Goldsmith to play on the weakness of every tyro of a hitter who faced them. Williamson made it easy for the Stonewall infield by pulling his field around, placing his men to play for the right-field hitter, the left-field hitter, the left centre-field hitter and so on, just as the Boston players play to-day. For an athlete of his plump almost pudgy mould, Williamson was swift on his feet, one of the best base runners in the League. In playing for a ball that came at him at a certain angle he was positively a genius, and in dispatching the ball to the firstbaseman after recovering from a low bound on a fast runner, his like never was duplicated.

The League Season.

So certain are the positions in the League race at the present time that very little interest remains in the outcome of the season. Brooklyn has the pennant won, and Philadelphia is going to come very close to running second. Outside of the struggle between Boston and Philadelphia there is not much left in the competition. With so much apathy existing at present, it should teach the League magnates to shorten up the time in which they play games There exists no good reason why baseball should not end on October 1 and begin on May 1. This idea of beginning the game in mid-April, when the weather is anything but agreeable, and finishing when pneumonia, and a few kindred ailments lurk in the air, doesn't carry very much pleasure with it. Besides there is such a fault as giving the public too much of a good thing.

League Base Ball Notes.

A. H. Soden, of Boston, is the chilliest magnate of them all.

Dick Cogan has a Chicago contract for 1900.

Catcher Maurice Power will pursue his medical studies in Louisville next winter.

Lowe and Long are the only regulars on the Boston team with a batting average under .300.

It is now said that Mike Griffin's suit against Brooklyn for $3,500 will be settled outside the courts.

President Soden says he would welcome a rule prohibiting the transfer of league players during the playing season.

President Nick Young reappointed John Hunt to the National League's umpire staff and paired him with Swartwood.

Manager Selee never puts his name to a Boston contract. He simply makes terms with Director Conant and continues his career.

Third Baseman Irwin, it is said, will go to Detroit as part of the deal whereby Cincinnati got Elberfeld. Washington, wants Irwin.

Competent critics who have seen Jennings in action says that there isn't a first baseman in the League that has Jennings beat much in covering the initial bag.

It is promised that a national league of colored ball players will be organized in Chicago in November. Cincinnati will be one of the cities represented.

Every man of the Cincinnati team believes if McBride and Beckley had been in their regular positions all season their team should now have been in first place.

Ex-President Ed Barrows of the defunct Atlantic League has purchased an interest in the Toronto Club, and will assume the management of the team.

In the seven National League games played Sept. 5, 127 runs were made, an average of over 18 to a game, which is the heaviest scoring since the "palmy" days of the game.

Young of St. Louis has won more games than any League pitcher—twenty-three. Up to Labor Day, when he fell down, he had won eight straight and thirteen out of his last fifteen games.

THE LIGHT WEIGHTS.

McGovern Must Now Take on Gardner or Dixon.

Although Terry McGovern whipped Pedlar Palmer, the 116-pound champion of England, without taking a long breath, he is not the champion of the world. He has one man yet in his class to whip before he can read his title clear to that honor. There is one fighter that can do 116 pounds and be a reasonable betting proposition against the little Brooklyn terror. Oscar Gardner will not be a 100 to 60 shot as Palmer was if he ever fights McGovern. Oscar Gardner has enough admirers to make him the equal in betting of the wonderful Brooklyn fighter. If Gardner and McGovern meet, Gardner will be the favorite, providing there is any favorite.

It will be McGovern's youth, strength and hard-hitting ability against Gardner's cleverness, generalship and long ring experience. Although Gardner is old in experience he is young in years. What makes Gardner a good betting proposition is the fact he can fight any way. He can confine his milling to side steps, ducks and other illusive tactics until he should desire to become the aggressor, or, if the occasion demands, he can fight in the rough and ready style.

[McGovern's Fighting Face.]

He is just a strong as McGovern and can hit just as hard, if not harder, than the recently crowned champion. Gardner is built to take punishment, and has taken it. He has a good jaw and is hard to daze or make groggy.

As hard a hitter as McGovern is he will find that Gardner can hit just as hard as he can. At in-fighting, McGovern's long suit, Gardner is a past-master. Gardner lets the other fighter do the clinching, and his hands are always free to do execution. At short-arm punches on the wind, heart and ribs Gardner is an adept. McGovern is rugged. He will have to be able to stand the body gruelling he is sure to get from the Western lad.

McGovern is beseiged by challenges, but he will probably take on Gardner or Dixon first.

MIDDLE-WEIGHTS.

Conditions and Facts Concerning the Title to Champion.

Kid McCoy is sincere in his attempt to get on a match with Bob Fitzsimmons for the middleweight championship. He has made every possible kind of an overture to Lanky Bob for a contest.

For some reason Fitzsimmons will not match with the Hoosier fighter. His refusal is certainly not prompted by the fear that such a match would not be a paying one from a box-office standpoint. Fitzsimmon's defeat by Jeffries should not have a dampening effect on such a contest. The match with McCoy would involve new conditions and a championship title which is distinct from the one now held by the Californian. Fitz gave his weight the night he fought Jeffries at 156 pounds. Roeber, who trained Fitz for his contest with Corbett, insists that Fitz only weighed 156 pounds in the Carson City ring. There has always been an inclination to take Fitz's stories about his weight with several grains of allowance. In the Coney Island ring, when Jeffries was told that he gave his weight at 156 pounds, the big Californian remarked sarcastically:

"If that is the game, put my weight down at 146 pounds."

Although Fitz insists that he can do the middleweight limit, the popular impression is that Fitz weighed about 170 pounds in both the Carson City and Coney Island contests.

In his earlier contests in this country Fitz could do the middleweight limit very easily. The night he won the middleweight title from poor Jack Dempsey he pulled up the beam at 151½ pounds. Since then Fitz looks much bigger. His mode of living has been entirely different since that fight from what it was before. He has been in good circumstances ever since he won the championship. He has lived on the best the country affords the past eight or nine years. Good living has apparently increased Fitzsimmon's avoirdupois. There is no reason why McCoy should not call himself the middleweight champion of the world. He has done all in his power to get a match with the champion. Fitz cannot hold the title without defending it, and McCoy has made him back out of a match.

But since Tommy Ryan polished off the Harlem Coffee Cooler so easily, he seems anxious to get another go at McCoy, and the latter should give him a chance.

PORTO RICO AS IT IS

PEN PICTURES OF A TRIP ACROSS THE ISLAND.

Taking Refuge in a Native Hut—The Peon and the Hotel Landlord—The Highways in the Rainy Season—A Porto Rican City.

On my trip from Ponce to San Juan I should have stopped at Cayey over night, instead of attempting to push on to Caguas, but the road is a fairly good one and the distance from Cayey only sixteen miles. So I concluded to start just at dark on my wheel, thinking to make it in two hours easily. Before going far, however, thick, black clouds began to roll up from the horizon, and then came a downpour of rain with a suddenness and volume that are experienced only in the tropics.

My own thorough drenching was not of so much consequence, but I did not fancy the idea of having my photograph outfit spoiled by a thorough wetting. There was a native hut a few yards back from the road. It did not look particularly inviting as an occasional flash of lightning revealed its outlines, but I dragged my wheel through the thicket, the water up to my ankles, and pushed my way through the open door. Judging from appearances I was not welcome. There were eight in the family, three adults and five children, and all were blacker than the thunderclouds in the heavens.

Now, my Spanish is of poor quality and small quantity, and whether I succeeded in making the lord of the manor understand the situation and comprehend how much I apreciated the shelter is uncertain. He sprang up from the floor when I entered and seemed about to attack me, for he was evidently frightened and so was I. But after I had told him in imperfect Spanish how grateful I was for the shelter, and had given the eldest youngster, a lad of ten years, who did not wear a stitch of clothing, two "centavos" he settled down on his back contented and took very little notice of me afterwards.

There were no chairs in the hut, although two long benches extended along the walls. I sat down upon one and rested my wheel against my knees. There were scarcely a half-dozen dishes or cooking utensils of any sort in the hut, and altogether the surroundings had a far more forbidding and miserable look than those of the habitation of a Sioux Indian. It may be that the Porto Rican peasant ascended from the same glutenious organism on the rocks of the primeval ocean as that of civilized man, but he stopped ascending several thousand years ago. There was no light in the room save from the smouldering embers of a brasier of charcoal and before I had been there a half hour I began to sincerely hope that it would stop raining speedily. The children crawled off to one corner of the room and went to sleep after they had finished their feast of staring at me and and my wheel. The adults whiled away the time wondering how long I would stay and where I was from.

Prometheus was chained to a rock and Job to something worse, but I fancy my position was about as uncomfortable as that of either. There is only one thing, I reflected, that can be said in extenuation of such depravity and degradation. It escaped all the little perplexities and annoyances of civilization. Padre never worries about rent, taxes or wages. He never "grunts and sweats under a load of oppression"—or any other kind of a load. He can lie on his back all day and kick up his heels. He can "loaf his soul" as did Walt Whitman, to his heart's content. As for madre, she has no blue Monday, no stockings to darn, no stated meals to prepare, no fashion magazines to worry about, no parlor or bedroom to furnish. The children need never worry about being late to school, nor soiling their frocks, having holes in their pockets, nor getting their clothing wet. But this is a digression.

It stopped raining finally, just as it always has, and at about 11 o'clock I made my way through the trail to the road, mounted my wheel and pushed on at a good speed for Caguas. it was midnight when I arrived, and one of Uncle Sam's soldier boys who was doing guard duty, directed me to the hotel. Of course the entrance was barred and it took five minutes of hard pounding and kicking to awaken the stupid porter. Porto Rican hotel porters remind me much of those the traveler finds in Europe, inasmuch as there they seem to know almost everything and here they know almost nothing. A shower bath—all hotels in Porto Rico have them, and they are rickety, dark, foul-smelling and as far distant from sleeping apartment—and a vigorous rubbing fitted me for a good night's rest.

The next morning my landlady came in while I was dressing to tell me what a fine hostelry was hers, and what distinguished guests made a home in it. She was smoking a cigarette according to the custom of real Porto Rican ladies; the ordinary, everyday sort smoke only cigars. Her calico frock was unconventionally frescoed with the egg that escaped from last week's breakfasts, her fingers were yellow with nicotine, her figure was the shape of a fairly extended letter S, and her face was leathery and hideous. She was a type of the average middle-aged Porto Rican woman.

The hotel may also be referred to briefly as of the usual local type. The entrance is through a long passage into a court, and thence upstairs to the sleeping, dining and sitting rooms. These courts might be made things of beauty and joy forever, but they are often the refuge of broken bottles, foul stenches and pools of stagnant water. The floors are unclean, the house is seldom dusted, there are no mattings on the floors save little squares of straw before the beds, and the beds are the worst I ever saw, although my experience extends pretty much all over the civilized world. All are infested with fleas and some with insects of a far worse character. The cooking is bad, the food is poor and so is the service.

Caguas has some 4,500 inhabitants, 1,500 of which call themselves white, while the balance acknowledge they are colored. It is the chief town of a jurisdiction of 16,000 people, of whom about 10,000 are colored. It has an alcalde, or mayor, who is appointed by the city council, although the central power in Spain has heretofore been the real appointing power, just as the United States military authority is at present dictator. The council corresponds largely to the city councils of our own states.

The town has a public square or plaza which, seen from a distance looks quite attractive, with its tropical trees and shrubs; but a closer inspection reveals its filthiness and want of attention. Around this plaza are the post-office and other public buildings, the church, stores and shops, and some of the more pretentious residences. Naturally it is quaint and picturesque; nature does enough for it, but man, and man alone, has made it vile.

The military road leading from Ponce to San Juan is a fairly good one, although of necessity extremely tortuous. It is of macadam, and, when constructed some two hundred years ago, would pass for a remarkable engineering feat. It winds in and out among the hills with great ingenuity, and in some places the scenery is unusually grand. These hills rise from the shore to the centre of the island, not steadily or in chains, but like the billows of the ocean, and many of them are so steep as not to admit of ascent by any other means than that of a rope ladder.

There are only about 120 miles of good road on the island, transportation being affected elsewhere by horseback, and on these latter roads civilized man is likely to lose his patience. The Spanish Government kept men constantly employed on the macadam roads, but they don't seem to be kept up very well since our military force has occupied the island, and the opinion of a practical road maker only would be of any value as to how long they will last if no one is to attend to them.

Besides the military road referred to, which is 80 odd miles long, there is a pike running around the island which, like the little nursery rhyme girl, is "very, very good" here and there and "horrid" the rest of the way. As the road has few bridges, the traveler in the rainy season which has just closed must be a good swimmer and not mind a ducking. For interior communication there is little beyond the nearest trails, and these are almost impassable in rainy weather. While at Albonita I went across country to the north to Barranquitas, a distance of some eight miles. Although this is the chief town of a jurisdiction of nearly 10,000 people, there is not a single carriage road leading to it. A. A. H.

THE PHILIPPINES.

See'y Wilson Thinks They Are the Richest Regions in the World.

One of the best features in the Philippines is the prospect that the United States, within the coming year, will restore order throughout the islands. But for the cession of the group to this country it would be the scene of civil war for a generation. Few of the islands would submit to Aguinaldo's military despotism and constant revolutions would have occurred even in Luzon. But the United States will establish a stable, free upright government, and prevent the anarchy threatened. Under present disadvantages the commerce of the Philippines is improving fast. Both export and import duties frequently break the record. Receipts from the time of the American occupation to July 31 last reached the surprising total of $5,230,588, leaving a balance on hand of $1,876,530. It is stated that the War Department officials are deeply impressed with the commercial possibilities of the islands. Under the present military government receipts are running ahead of expenses by over 50 per cent. Under ordinary conditions not a dollar will be required from the treasury of the United States on account of annexation.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson thinks the Philippines are one of the richest regions in the world in natural resources, but need an advanced race to develop them. Their tropical area will round out the production of the United States. He expects much there from the dairy interest. Reports of extensive mining deposits continue to come in. Valuable deposits of gold have bee found and tested on the southeastern coast of Luzon, and gold is known to exist in other provinces. The United States never coveted these islands, but they are ours through the legitimate results of war. We have the men and the means to quiet them, to save them from perpetual native conflict and atrocities, and to utilize their riches. By a natural and righteous chain of events they have fallen into the hands of a capable and enlightened owner.—New York Times.

Our Brave Soldiers.

One who reads the letters from the Philippnes cannot fail to be struck with the fortitude—even cheerfulness—with which the wounded soldiers bear their sufferings. Every Kansas boy who has been hit and not been killed seems to have made either a joke or a patriotic epigram as he was being carried from the battlefield. This is an example in the case of Cortland Fleming of Mound City, who was shot badly through the groin and hip. One of his comrades writes about him as follows: "We had just been talking when Cortland drew his legs up and said 'Oh!' I knew he had been hit, and yelled for the hospital boys. Court has lots of nerve When we were carrying him off the field he rose up on the stretcher and yelled, 'So long, boys!'"—Kansas City Journal.

Unexpected Resources.

Mr. Rambo, moving vaguely and uncertainly toward his home at a late hour, was held up by a footpad, who went through all his pockets and found a quarter of a dollar.

"Shay," hiccoughed Mr. Rambo, surprised himself at the extent of his portable wealth, "how ju know I had all that left?"—Chicago Tribune.

A clean, vigorous shampoo, with an abundant lather of Ivory Soap, is delightful and refreshing. It cleanses the scalp, removes dandruff and leaves the hair glossy and clean.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The much talked of pursuit race between "Jack" Townsend, of Bayonne, who made a record for Union county in a road race here on Labor Day, and Charles G. Embleton, of Westfield, who has quite a local reputation as a fast rider, came off at the Vailsburg board track yesterday afternoon. At the end of the Fourth mile Embleton ran off the track, it being so slippery, and Townsend won. But the latter thought that Embleton had run off the track purposely and at once offered to let him try again. The toss of a coin gave Townsend the choice of positions and he took the eighth of a mile mark while the Westfield boy started from scratch. The latter started at a fast pace from the start and at each lap gained on the pet of the old New Jersey Athletic Club until the ninth mile was reached when he was so near him that a spurt sent him ahead at the tenth The time was 24:50 which is very fast considering the condition of the track.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

In the trotting contests held at White Plains, N. Y., last week. Thomas Brantingham's "Myrtle Twig" won fourth money in one of the races.

Plainfield was represented at the races held in connection with the five day carnival at Somerville last week. Friday John Osborn secured second money with "Woven Wind" and in another race the same day David Smalley's pacer, "Ned Davis" took fourth money.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache, and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents, at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store. RESIGNED AS PRESIDENT.

Clarence Rogers Leaves the Office to Go to College.

A business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church was held Saturday afternoon. The resignation of Clarence Rogers, as president, was accepted. He has gone to Troy to enter a technical school. Miss Bessie Fitz Randolph was elected to fill the vacancy.

It was decided to send a delegate to the State convention to be held at Camden, and Miss Bessie FitzRandolph was chosen as delegate.

F VOR MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Recommendation Made at Westfield Regarding Water and Light.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 25—At the meeting of the Westfield Township Committee the members of the advisory board on water and electric light, who were appointed at the last meeting, reported that they thought town ownership advisable, and suggested an investigation.

The matter was referred back to the advisory board, with a request that it investigate further.

To Fight the Rubber Trust.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 25.—Land has been purchased at Milltown upon which the new factory of the Milltown India Rubber Company will be erected. The concern was organized to fight the Rubber Trust. Its chief promoter is John C. Evans, who was for years manager of the Meyer Rubber Company plant. The new factory will be in operation in three months.

APPEAL TO PATRIOTIC

MAYOR SMALLEY ISSUES DEW Y DAY PROCLAMATION.

Urges All Citizens to Decorate With National Colors on Dewey Days—And to Suspend Business Next Friday

In conjunction with the proclamation issued by Mayor Rockfellow, of this city, calling upon all citizens to pay homage to the home-coming of Admiral Dewey this week, Mayor Smalley, of the borough, also issued a similar proclamation this morning. It is as follows:

Mayor's office,
North Plainfield, Sept. 25, 1899

The citizens of North Plainfield yield to none in their loyalty to the flag and appreciation of the valor of its defenders on land and sea.

In order that there may be some concert in manifestation of the sentiment aroused in the heart of every American by the return of the gallant Dewey and his heroic crew, I recommend that on September 28th, 29th and 30th, buildings throughout the borough be appropriately decorated, and that, so far as possible, business be entirely suspended Friday, the 29th.

Newton B. Smalley, Mayor.

SUIT OVER M'CORMICK'S ESTATE.

Senator Kean's Bank Seeks to Protect Notes Given by Late Judge.

In the Chancery Chambers, at Newark, today, testimony was heard by Vice-Chancellor Reed in a suit involving the financial affair of the late Judge William F. McCormick, of Elizabeth, The plaintiff is the Elizabeth National State Bank, of which United States Senator John Kean is the president.

The defendants are William McCormick, brother of the Judge, and Foster Callahan, of East Grand street, Elizabeth.

The suit was brought to protect the bank on two notes aggregating $7,000, on which about $4,500 is due. The notes were given to the bank in 1895 by Judge McCormick, indorsed by William McCormick. The interest was regularly paid up to the time of Judge McCormick's death.

FANWOOD'S TAX RATE $2.40.

$5,210 Will be Raised on Assessed Valuation of $217,500.

The tax rate in the Borough of Fanwood has been fixed at $2.40 on the $100 of valuation for the ensuing year, which will produce $5,210 on the assessed valuation of $217,500. The money will be used for the following purposes: County tax, $1,200; State School tax, $590; interest on county road bonds, $37; township school tax, $1,270; street lighting, $760; repair of streets, $760; borough expenses, $543. Collector Sheelen is sending out neat statements of the tax rate.

MARRIED BY THE JUSTICE.

Newark Couple Sought Out Mr. Naegle to Tie Nuptial Knot.

Justice of the Peace John Naegle, of Madison avenue, was called upon for the first time last night to act in a matrimonial capacity. The couple whom he made husband and wife were Charles S. Cogger and Sarah Edith Hinchcliffe, both of Newark. They were accompanied by Mrs. Thomas H. Whitenack, of Scotch Plains, and and Sarah F. Smith, of Plainfield, who acted as witnesses to the ceremony.

Fine Looking Cattle.

Among the many excellent attractions at the Inter-State Fair, which opened at Trenton today, none will probably attract more attention of the Plainfielders who go there than the exhibit of home-dressed beef cattle entered by Drake & Mundy, the enterprising meat dealers of this city. The cattle are very fine. After the fair they will be killed and the meat sent to Plainfield to be disposed of at the firm's market on West Front street.

Friday a Holiday in the Schools.

Friday will be observed as a holiday in the Plainfield public schools. So many of the school children will go to New York on that day to see the naval parade that the schools, particularly by the older children, would be practically deserted. So it has been decided to close the schools for that day and allow teachers and pupils to attend the nation's welcome to Admiral Dewey.

In Honor of Her Birthday.

Miss Olive Kinsey, of LaGrande avenue, entertained a number of her friends Friday evening in honor of her eighth birthday. She received a number of souvenirs as reminders of the happy occasion. The evening was spent playing games.

John Lair, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Madden, of West Front street, were married at Bayonne last Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Lair have taken up their home on West Front street.

CAR HAD NOT STOPPED.

South Plainfield Woman Hurt While Trying to Get Off a Trolley Car.

When Bridget McDonough signaled to the conductor on a trolley car on West Front street to stop near Liberty street yesterday afternoon, she did not wait till the car came to a full stop. Instead she jumped when it was in motion, with the result of being thrown heavily to the roadbed and striking on her head.

She was rendered unconscious. Several witnesses of the accident carried the injured woman into the home of Mr McCarthy near at hand, and Dr. Fritts, the company's physician, was called. He found that the woman had sustained a slight concussion of the brain, but the injury was not serious enough to endanger her life.

Later in the afternoon she was removed to the home of Patrick McDonough in South Plainfield by the Muhlenburg hospital ambulance.

RICH WOODS PLENTIFUL

Mahogany as Common In the Philippines as Ordinary Lumber Here.

Cuba and the Philippines are destined to cut considerable figure in the lumber trade as soon as American methods of push and enterprise are adopted. Cuba possesses some of the best mahogony and Spanish cedar in the world, and the Philippine Islands are covered with mahogony, ebony, camphor wood and other valuable hard wood forests. J. G. Hinkle, a practical furniture maker, recently wrote to Charles R. Sligh, of Spokane, from Manila, as follows:

"There are half a dozen hard woods here that take a high polish. They are somewhat lighter than mahogony in appearance. I know the name of only one, camphor wood. I think the others do not grow in other places. The native names would not enlighten you in regard to them. Ebony is also abundant. It is of mahogony that I wish to speak. The meanest hovel as well as the plainest partition work is of mahogony. Notwithstanding its abundance, lumber is high here. The natives work almost for a song, but when it comes to whipsawing 1,000 feet of boards, you can understand why many people cannot stand much of this song.

"There is one sawmill in the islands. The logs are cut up in the mountains and then hewed out square, then nosed so that they will plow through reeds, grass, etc., down the Passig River. There are many yards full of them, and with American machinery and enterprise this industry could be made of great profit. A word as to the quality of lumber. We are at present quartered in an old place once the residence of the Archbishop of the church. I have been told by some of the oldest natives that it has been here fifty-eight years. In the main floor, upstairs all the boards are two feet wide and over, none less. They are laid with screws and have heads countersunk and covered. There is not a single reason check or knot in the floor that I have found."

Guam Welcomes Gov. Leary,

Captain Leary's little province of Guam is more interested in the band which is a portion of the Governor's outfit than with the change of sovereignty of the island.

The Governor's house at Guam is large, with spacious grounds around it and barracks for the military close by. In this house lived the former Spanish Governor, who, when an American man-of-war came into port and fired a few warning shots, went on board to apologize for not returning the "salute" because he was out of powder, and then he found himself a prisoner before he knew there was any war.

There is an abundance of shooting and fishing about Guam. Deer and wild fowl can be shot with ease near the town. Most of the fishing is done by the natives at night. They go out in their boats with great torches. The light of the torches lures the fish to the net or spears of the fishermen. The natives have a curious sort of water clock. It consists of a bucket of water and a cocoanut shell. The shell is hollow and is pierced by a small hole, through which the water gradually makes its way, filling the shell. The aperture through which the water passes is made of such a size that it takes just one hour for the shell to fill and sink to the bottom of the bucket.

The roads about Guam are said to be excellent, and the rice fields through which they run are remarkably fertile. Rice and copra are the two chief products of Guam. Rice, indeed, forms the chief articles of food in the island, and all about the town the "paddy fields" lie shining with a vivid green. The cultivation of rice can be extended over much more of the island than it is now, and, by proper planting, two crops a year can be raised.

Non-Migrating Birds.

In Cebu, which is 120 miles long by twenty miles wide at its greatest width Prof. Worcester found what he had been assured did not exist in the island, namely, a fair-sized patch of forest on tolerably smooth ground. He spent several weeks exploring this spot adding thirty-seven species to the known list of birds there, bringing the total up to 125. Of Siquigor, Professor Worcester says: "The birds form a somewhat miscellaneous assemblage. Ten or twelve miles of water may seem a small matter to the people of America, where our change of seasons drives many of our birds from north to south and back again, but in the tropics, where birds may be born, grow old, and die within the limits of a single grove, and never suffer want of food or shelter, the effect of a barrier of these dimensions is far more noteworthy. In the present instance numerous species of birds have either utterly failed to cross from the neighboring islands, or, having reached the island, have been unable to live and multiply. By diligent search, carried on for weeks on two different occasions, we were able to raise the total number of species, and, as was perhaps to be anticipated, nearly all of the thirty-four are species which range widely throughout the archipelago."

FIREMEN ARE HAPPY.

New Uniforms For Members of Warren Engine Co. Have Arrived.

Forty new uniforms ordered from D Klein & Bros., of Philadelphia, for the members of Warren Engine Co., of North Plainfield, have arrived and were unpacked this morning. They can be inspected at the engine house.

The uniforms consist of a sack coat and trousers with long over coat. The cloth is of dark blue. The members have also bought new eight-cone white fire hats. In the front of each hat is a shield with a blue back ground and in the centre the figure 1 appears. There will also be a blue cloth fatigue cap. The hats and caps are expected next week. The uniforms are very handsome. The Warren Engine Co. will surely make a fine appearance on the date of the annual parade and inspection.

Broke His Leg.

B. S. Braider, an employe of Groceryman MacDonald, of East Front street, had the misfortune yesterday to break his right leg. With some friends Mr. Braider was up on the mountains enjoying the beauties of nature. In some manner he stepped into a woodchuck's hole and fell in such a position as to fracture his leg. He was helped to his home on Manning avenue, where Drs. Zeigio and Buchanan were called to set the bones. The fracture is a particularly bad one and will lay Mr. Braider up for several weeks.

NEW JERSEY IS IN JUNIOR ORDER REVOLT

Believed State Lodges Will Refuse to Pay Per Capital Tax.

MAY GO INTO THE COURTS.

ARBITRARY ACTION OF NATIONAL COUNCIL IS RESENTED.

In Event of State Charter Being Taken Away Legal Measures Will Probably Be Taken, and if They Fail the State Membership May Secede—History of the Troubles in the Order.

That the New Jersey membership of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics will join in the revolt against the national council is deemed almost certain by officers and individual members of the order. This action, it is expected, will be taken when the State Council meets at Trenton in October.

Local lodges are now being urged to instruct the representatives to the State council to vote not to pay the per capita tax to the national body. This will precipitate the issue. Whether the national council will retort by taking away the State charter, as was done in the case of Pennsylvania on Thursday, or whether it will weaken and rescind the measures which have caused the rebellion, is a question which few members attempt to answer at present.

That the States having the greatest strength in point of membership have not proportionate representation in the national council seems to be at the root of the trouble. The total membership of the order is about 183 000. Of this five branches have approaching 126,000, divided as follows: Pennsylvania, 77,003; New Jersey 30,000; New York, 9,000; Virginia, 8,000; District of Columbia, 1,800. On account of their numerical strength the branches named have collectively been known as the "Big Five."

Past Councilors and Past National officers are life members of the National Council. On account of this fact the control of that body has gradually passed from the hands of the "Big Five" into that of the weaker States. No perceptible effect of the change was felt until last June. Then the Council assembled in Minneapolis, adopted a number of laws which members of the large divisions pronounce to be arbitrary, unjust and unconstitutional.

The statement of the objects of the order was changed materially. The name of the order was changed to "United Mechanics," subject to a vote by States, each State having but one vote. The method of representation in the National Council was changed so as to still further give the control of the body to the weaker States. Each State under the new law gets three representatives-at-large and one for each of 10,000 membership or fraction thereof. Thus Pennsylvania gets eleven in place of twenty-nine members in the National Council.

In addition to these changes in the law of the body, the National Council raised the per capita tax from eight cents to twenty-five cents, employed a number of its life members as special organizers, put a number more in national offices, and, it is claimed, adopted a number of other measures which have increased or will largely increase the expenses of the order, without commensurate return. Over $40,000 it is said, has been spent in organizing in the west, and only $9,000 received from investments.

While the acts of the National Council caused discontent at once, actual rebellion did not take place until last month, when prominent individual members from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Virginia and the District of Columbia met at Trenton. These men, though not invested with any authority from their respective States, decided to issue an appeal to the local councils of the "Big Five" to resist what was freely termed the the tyranny of the National Council. Copies of the appeal were sent to all the councils in the five States and to many individual members of the order as well.

In response to the appeal, Virginia, New York, the District of Columbia and Pennsylvania have one after another refused to pay the per capita tax. The action of New Jersey is only needed to make the revolt complete, so far as the "Big Five" is concerned.

"I think there can scarcely be any doubt at all that New Jersey will refuse to pay the per capita tax," said Warren S. Furman, past councillor of East End Council and past representative in the State Council. "There is, so far as I have been able to ascertain, practically no division of sentiment

SURPRISED ON DATE OF GOLDEN WEDDING.

A Notable Event in Lives of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Leveridge.

MARRIED FOR FIFTY YEARS.

THEIR PLANS FOR A QUIET DAY WENT PLEASANTLY AMISS.

When Mr. Leveridge Went Home in the Afternoon He Found the House Full of Old Friends From Westfield and Cranford—Evening Brought Another Batch of Unexpected Guests.

To have lived for a half century as husband and wife under the most happy and auspicious circumstances is the lot that falls to but few couples, but Dr. and Mrs. Cornelius A. Leveridge, of 531 West Front street, are among the few honored and rewarded in life that way. Yesterday was the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, which was performed in Quebec, Canada, September 24th, 1849. Mrs. Leveridge's maiden name was Ellenor J. Mills. She was the daughter of Dr. James Mills, of Exeter, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Leveridge had been trying to keep the event a secret from their relatives and friends, as they were anxious to enjoy the anniversary by themselves. But their plans went amiss in a most happy and surprising manner for them, as the events of yesterday demonstrated.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Leveridge, as is his usual custom, came down town and spent a portion of the afternoon at the Asbestos Club. He returned home about 4 o'clock, but had no sooner reached the house than it began to dawn upon him that the golden wedding anniversary was not going to be so quiet after all. As he entered the house he was greeted and congratulated by a party of Westfield friends, but leaving them he started for the rear of the house for the purpose of changing his attire, when he suddenly came plumb against another bevy of unexpected guests—this time old neighbors and friends from Cranford, where he formerly lived.

The guests came expecting the celebrants to be unprepared for their reception, and so they brought along flowers for decorating the house and plenty of edibles for the repast that is an essential for all such gatherings. Mr. and Mrs. Leveridge soon recovered from their embarrassment over the unexpected arrival of their friends, and acted the part of the hosts in a most generous and happy manner. The afternoon was spent in social chat, short congratulatory talks to the celebrants and the presentation of a number of appropriate presents. Then after justice had been done to the refreshments the visitors left wishing Mr. and Mrs. Leveridge many happy returns of the notable day in their lives. A pleasing feature of the departure was the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Then Mr. and Mrs. Leveridge settled down for an evening by themselves, but here again they counted without their guests, for soon after 7 o'clock another party of surprisers came in upon them. This time they were a few friends from this city, headed by Rev. W. C. Snodgrass and Rev. W. C. Nelson. More congratulations, sociability, presentations, addresses and the like followed till the evening passed away. At 10 o'clock the second set of guests left for home, leaving the hosts to dream and soliloquize of the pleasures of being held in such high esteem by friends on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

ROSELLE RETALIATES NOW.

Lehigh Found to Have Encroached on Public Property—Will Have to Come to Time.

The anxiety of the Lehigh Valley Railroad lest the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railroad should steal the crossing at Aldene, has called the attention of the Roselle Borough Council to some of the shortcomings of the Lehigh, and as a result Frank Bergen, counsel for the borough, has been directed to notify the Lehigh Valley to take a house, fences and a well out of the public highway.

The encroachments are near the crossing where the trouble was, and it is alleged that the fences fronting the railroad property inclose one-half of the street. Maps in the County Clerk's office call for a roadway sixty feet wide, but there is barely thirty feet between the fences.

An official of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, when seen this morning, said he supposed his company would move the house and fences if compelled to, but he did not think they would attempt to move the well.

NEW JERSEY'S PART IN THE DEWEY WELCOME.

General Wanser Issues His Orders for the Guards to Participate.

2,300 JERSEYMEN TO MARCH

EXPECTED THEY WILL REPRESENT THE STATE FINELY.

Arrangements Completed for Transportation of Troops and Assignment of Place in the Land Parade—Naval Reserve Orders Issued and Portsmouth Towed Up the River Ready to Act as Stakeboat.

Brigadier-General Wanser has issued the orders for the First Brigade, N. G. N. J., for the parade in New York next Saturday in honor of Admiral Dewey. In order to ascertain where the New Jersey Guardsmen will be located in line in the great parade General Wanser had an interview Saturday with Major-General Roe, who is at the head of the committee of arrangements, and after the consultation General Wanser got his orders ready.

General Wanser's desire is to have the New Jersey soldiers and sailors put to as little inconvenience as possible in being transported, in view of the fact that they will be on their feet over twelve hours, and will have to travel over a line of march in New York of more than seven miles.

General Wanser has arranged to have the First Brigade land at One Hundred and Thirtieth street, instead of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, as originally proposed. He expects that New Jersey will have 2,300 men in line and feels confident that they will march as well and present as fine an appearance as any organization in line. The brigade will form in line on One Hundred and Trenty-fourth street, east and west of Amsterdam avenue, with the head of the column on Amsterdam avenue. The New Jersey delegation will follow directly after the National Guard from Pennsylvania and will have a prominent place in the line.

The order for the Naval Reserves, which includes several Plainfielders, has also been issued by Commander Irving. The Battalion of the East will parade as infantry. The officers will be in service dress and leggins, while the enlisted men will wear clean blue and leggins. The Naval Reserves' ship, the Portsmouth, was Saturday removed from her berth in the dock at Fifteenth street, Hoboken, and towed up the North river to a point nearly opposite Grant's Tomb. She will be used as the stakeboat in the naval parade. Commander Irving's orders say that the men of the command may report on board Friday morning, September 29th, before noon, and may remain Friday night. Subsistence will be furnished. A tug will leave the Hoboken berth of the Portsmouth at 8, 9, 10 and 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to furnish transportation to the ship, returning at 6 and 7 o'clock p. m. No visitors other than those in receipt of official cards of invitation will be allowed.

Saturday morning a tug will leave the Portsmouth's wharf for the ship at 8 and 9 o'clock, and will carry none but officers and enlisted men of the command.

MADE OVER $1,000 PROFITS.

Successful Fair Conducted by Bound Brook Firemen to Secure Money for Uniforms.

The members of the Bound Brook Fire Department are in a jubilant mood over the unexpected success of their fair which came to a close Saturday evening. Chief Pettengill announced this morning that the net proceeds would be considerably over $1,000. The contest between three of the popular young ladies of the town for a handsome gold watch alone netted $350, the winner, Miss Maggie Brady, collecting $150.

The object of the fair was to raise money for new uniforms, but as the money raised is so much in excess of the amount required, the surplus will be divided between the three companies and will be used in making some necessary repairs to their quarters.

DEWEY IS HOME.

Arrived In New York Two Days Ahead of Time.

CAUSED A BIG SURPRISE.

THE OLYMPIA NOW ANCHORED IN LOWER BAY.

It Was Thought That the Returning Hero Would Not Appear Till Thursday—Reports All Well—Is Said That There Will be No Change in the Plans for the Coming Great Celebration.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, September 26—Admiral Dewey arrived this morning, two days before he was expected.

The cruiser Olympia was first sighted from the Scotland Lightship at 5:55. It passed in at Sandy Hook at 7:14 a. m.

It anchored off the Southwest Spit at 7:40 a. m. This is five and a half miles west of the point of the Hook and eighteen miles from the Battery.

An Admiral's salute was fired from Fort Hancock on the Hook, and the Admiral's colors were dipped in reply and an answering salute fired.

The cruiser had a pleasant passage and reports all well.

She will come to anchor off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, tomorrow.

Scores of small craft have gone down the bay to welcome Dewey, and the big cruiser will be surrounded all day.

No change in the programme as arranged will be made because of Dewey's early arrival.

THE NEWS IN PLAINFIELD.

National Salute Blown on the Fire Gong at Noon by Chief T. O. Doane.

The news that Dewey had arrived in the lower New York bay was received by The Daily Press at 8 o'clock this morning and was immediately bulletined in front of the office, which it attracted great attention from the crowds hurrying to catch the morning trains.

In accordance with an arrangement with the New York World, Chief of the Fire Department Doane received a message notifying him of the arrival the Olympia, and at noon he had the fire gong blown seventeen times—the Admiral's salute—to let the general public know that the hero of Manila and his brave crew, were home at last. Several factory whistles also tooted the patriotic news at noon by longer blasts than usual at that hour.

Tonight at sunset a salute of seventeen guns will be fired from the Democratic Association cannon in honor of the home-coming of Admiral Dewey. The salute will be fired under the auspices of The Daily Press.

SEVERED AN ARTERY.

Knife Slipped and Cut a Deep Gash in the Leg—Services of a Doctor Necessary.

John M. Hughes, of Jackson avenue, accidentally cut an artery in his leg yesterday afternoon and will be laid up for several weeks in consequence. Hughes is a carpenter. He was making some repairs in the bathroom at the Central Hotel, 115 East East Front street for the proprietor, William Schorb. While cutting a stick with his large jack-knife, the knife slipped and cut a deep gash in his right leg, severing an artery.

The wound was bound up and Hughes, not realizing the serious nature of it, insisted on finishing the job. He went home and Dr. Tomlinson was summoned. The artery was tied up and several stitches taken to close the cut.

Preparing for an Initiation.

The officers of Crescent Division, No. 13, Uniformed Rank of Knights of Pythias, met last evening at the home of J. Steven Higham, of West Sixth street, and prepared for the initiation of two candidates at the regular meeting Wednesday evening.

RAILROADS PREPARE FOR DEWEY DAY.

Extra Facilities on Jersey Central to Care For Crowds.

NO REDUCTION IN RATES.

BIG TRAFFIC EXPECTED BETWEEN NEW YORK AND PHILADELPHIA.

The Regular Trains Will be Enlarged and Run in Sections if Necessary—No Extra Trains Probable in the Suburban Service—Rates are Cut Only From Places 125 Miles From New York.

New York has already felt the glow of excitement preceding the great Dewey celebration for several days. Every train brings many guests who have taken this occasion to visit the great metropolis. The influence of the approaching gala time is now being felt in Plainfield, although to a much less extent. But Plainfield is so convenient to New York that it offers many advantages to the visitors who come from one side of the continent to the other to honor the hero of Manila Bay.

There will undoubtedly be many guests in Plainfield homes over the time of the Dewey celebration. Some have arrived already and others are expected today, tomorrow and Thursday. It's just as easy, if not easier to get from Plainfield to the scene of the two parades as from the upper part of New York city. With all these guests besides the regular population of Plainfield and other cities and towns along the line of the Jersey Central Railroad, that railroad company will have its hands full to look after all the extra passenger traffic that is sure to appear Friday and Saturday if the weather only continues pleasant.

The present suburban service of the Jersey Central is sufficient to handle many thousands of people on those days. It will not be necessary to put on any extra trains in all probability. More cars will undoubtedly have to be run and it may be necessary, particularly in the case of the evening trains after the fireworks Friday night and the land parade Saturday night, to run some of the trains in more than one section.

Many of the strangers are taking the opportunity to see the Dewey celebration and also visit the National Export Exposition at the same time. Consequently the traffic between New York and Philadelphia will be very large. It is expected that the Philadelphia and Reading and Jersey Central will run a number of extra trains between the two cities during the time of the celebration in New York.

There is a noticeable increase in the baggage on all the through trains on the Jersey Central. This will affect the Plainfield office but little, although there may be some increase. The Central will do its biggest business in the suburban traffic, going to New York in the morning and returning at night, while the baggage will stay at home.

There will be no special rates between Plainfield and New York for the celebration. The Jersey Central does not differ from the other main roads, which only offer special rates in cities and towns more than 125 miles from New York. To these places on the Central as well as the others, the rate for the round trip is one and a third fares. The cheapest way for Plainfielders and their friends to go to the city will be to purchase or hire the 50-trip tickets

AN EXHIBIT FROM THE PHILLIPINES.

Jersey's Big Fair Has a New Attraction.

Secretary John Guild Muirheid, of the Great Inter State Fair at Trenton, has succeeded in securing a most attractive exhibit, that of the Manila and Phillippine Island Exposition, which is shown in a rolling palace of modern magnificence and of the largest dimensions. Arrangements were made with the Pennsylvania Railroad officials to build a track for it from the main line up to near the grandstand, where it will be found gorgeous with golden decorations and gaily decorated with flags of all nations, and where all visitors can inspect the mysterious products of America's Filipino Archipelago. The attractions of the fair this year are on a most magnificent scale, excelling all of its predecessors in that respect. The fair opened yesterday.

Patriotic and Artistic.

The artistic skill of Henry Windham is displayed to good advantage at the Hotel Kensington. Some of the mirrors have been picturesquely embellished by the use of soap, which has also been used in excellent taste to exhibit the features of the hero of Manila Bay.

TO PROTECT WEST END OF CITY FROM FIRE

Contract May Be Made With Watchung Water Company.

IT DEPENDS ON THE TEST.

CITY OFFICIALS TO WITNESS TRIAL TOMORROW EVENING.

At Present the Pipes of the Plainfield Water Supply Company Do Not Afford Protection to Residents on the Western Outskirts of the City—New Hydrants are Badly Needed in That Section.

Better fire protection is to be given to the residents of the city who live along the extreme western boundary of city. With that object in view the fire and building committee of the Common Council will go to Dunellen tomorrow evening, accompanied by Chief Doane, of the Plainfield fire department, to witness a test of the water supply system of the Watchung Water Company. If satisfactory the city will arrange for two or three hydrants to be placed by that company on Jefferson avenue.

Some time ago the residents of Jefferson avenue, which is the boundary line between Plainfield and the borough of Dunellen, petitioned the Common Council for fire hydrants on Jefferson avenue. Charles Sebring, who is at the head of the Watchung Water Company, at the same time notified the Council that he would put in hydrants on Jefferson avenue at the same rate now charged the city by the Plainfield Water Supply Company, viz: $15 a year per hydrant. The matter was turned over to the fire committee with power.

The fire committee has been in communication with Mr. Sebring and has wanted to see a test of the present hydrants of the company to see if there is sufficient pressure on the Watchung Company's lines to make the hydrants of any use to the city. Tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock the Councilmen and Chief Doane will go to Dunellen and see a test of the hydrants there. If satisfactory, two or possibly three hydrants will be put on Jefferson avenue.

The system of pipes of the Plainfield Water Supply Company ends on West Front street, 700 feet west of Clinton avenue. Beyond that there has heretofore been no fire protection except that which could be given with the assistance of the steamer or by laying in very long lines of hose. These hydrants will give protection against fire to the little settlement of houses at Front street and Jefferson avenue and along Jefferson avenue. The City Industrial Home is still without an adequate supply of water for use in case of fire.

T. E. H. CURTIS' FATHER DEAD.

Was a Prominent Business Man of New York, and Very Wealthy.

Sylvester Johnson Curtis, father of Thomas E. H. Curtis, of 511 West Eighth street, and a member of the New York Stock Exchange since 1867, died yesterday morning after a lingering illness from Bright's disease, at his home, No. 39 West Twentieth street. He was born in Meriden, Conn., September 30, 1826, and was formerly in the dry goods business. He entered the banking business in 1861, and retired in 1878. He leaves a widow, son and daughter.

Some six months ago he distributed nearly $2,000.000 worth of property among the members of his family. He has, however, left a large residuary estate, the disposition of which will not be made known until the will is probated. The funeral services will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at his late residence, and the interment will be at Middletown, Conn.

Handsome Souveiner Pamphlet.

The Prudential Insurance Company of America has just issued a handsome souvenir pamphlet on the international yacht races, which are to take place in October off Sandy Hook, for the America's cup. The souvenir contains handsome half-tone engravings of both the Shamrock and the Columbia, and also gives a short history of the attempts made by English yachtsmen to regain possession of the cup since it was captured by the America off the Isle of Wight in 1851. A copy of this pamphlet will be sent free to anyone who will write to the Home Office of The Prudential at Newark, N. J., mentioning this publication.

Bills Against the City.

In order to ensure payment by the next meeting of the Common Council all bills against the city must be in the hands of the City Clerk by Thursday of this week.

Former Judge William A. Coddington is attending court today in Somerville.

DOES NOT APPROVE OF DALY MANIFESTO.

"Farmer Orator" Martine Deprecates Factional Controversy.

SEES NO GOOD TO THE PARTY

HE BELIEVES IN ABIDING BY DECISION OF MAJORITY.

Knows No Gourley or no Daly, but Only the Democratic Party—Principal Points Made in the Address Issued by the Daly-Atkinson Faction, Which Violently Attacks Present State Committee.

No man can accuse James E. Martine, familiarly known as the "Farmer Orator," of this city, with being untrue or lukewarm to the real interests of the Democratic party in New Jersey, or of not being a great admirer and steadfast advocate of William Jennings Bryan. Therefore it is interesting to know what Mr. Martine, as one of the Democrats whose loyalty and devotion to his party cannot be impeached, thinks of the address issued by the Daly-Atkinson combination yesterday. A Press reporter met Mr. Martine this morning and asked him what he thought of the address issued to the Democrats.

"'Well,' said the 'Farmer Orator,' "from my education, and standpoint as a Democrat I only know of one party of Democrats. I know of no faction. True or otherwise, Democrats are Democrats and will support the regular nomination.

"I love my party and her teachings and I personally admire Mr. Bryan. I am an honest believer in bi-metalism. I believe the free coinage of both gold and silver is necessary for the well being of the masses—but there are other great issues that have come before people that will be met by the Democatic party.

"I deprecate this factional controversy. It can bring no good to our party, nor to any member of it. It is only of profit to the Republican party. Let it stop. Let us be true Democrats and abide the decision of the marjority as declared in convention. Let us know no Gourley, no Daly. Let us drop personal controversy for welfare of country and the success of our party."

Representative Wm. D. Daly, as chairman of the committee appointed by the supporters of Bryan at a conference held in Philadelphia, September 2d, to prepare an address to the residents of New Jersey in regard to the position taken by Bryan men in political affairs in New Jersey, yesterday made public the address prepared by the committee.

It is dated at Trenton September 25th, is addressed to the Democrats of New Jersey and is in part as follows:

"You have seen the destruction of our party planned by those claiming to be in sympathy with the traditions of the national organization, and who have been honored with the party's favors; and as true and loyal Democrats we condemn their actions. With them personal greed stands for the highest statesmanship, while self-aggrandizement is the sole motive of their disloyal activity. We insist that this element of the party shall have no voice in the councils of the party, directly or indirectly, or through their representatives.

"It is self-evident that loyal support cannot permeate the rank and file of the party in New Jersey when that same loyalty is not inspired by those who, through fraud and force, have usurped the leadership of the party organization.

"We declare that the Decocretic Committee, as represented at Asbury Park, by its active and open hostility to the representatives of loyal Democracy there assembled, and by its indifference to the evils of the present administration, has offended the great mass of the Democratic voters of New Jersey.

"While we will support the candidate which the next Democratic Convention shall name, we will use every honorable means to secure the nomination of the leader of 1896.

"Recognizing that success of the Democratic party can only be attained by perfect loyality and united action, we counsel unswerving support of the candidates nominated by the party for the pending elections. We trust and believe that the Democracy of the State will need neither warning nor admonition to see to it that no man shall receive a nomination for any office on the Democratic ticket who is not in thorough and hearty accord with the principles of this address and the platform of 1896.

"We seek no disaffection in the party. Men who were false in 18.6 cannot be trusted today as leaders.

JUDGES PAY BIG PRICES.

They Tell of Campaign Expenses to Mazet Committee.

New York, Sept. 26.—From testimony before the Mazet Committee, given by eleven Supreme Court Justices, the astounding fact was learned that the Supreme Court Bench in New York bears one-half the total expenses of an election.

Justice David McAdam testified that an election in New York costs his party $200,000.

Of this amount he and his associates contributed about one-half.

From $1,500 to $15,000 the prices ran. Election expense certificates were produced, and the Judges spoke of the enormous contributions with the utmost composure.

Of the eleven Justices who took the stand but one—Justice McLean—had failed to contribute most liberally.

Justice McAdam led the list. His election expenses reached $15,000. His salary is $17,500 a year.

Some of the learned, dignified jurists were of the opinion that the system of political contribution by Judges was vicious and should be abolished.

Washington Warmly Welcomed.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 26.—Five hundred negroes heard Booker T. Washington, president of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial School for negroes, at Tuskegee, Ala., deliver an address here on the "Race Problem in the Light of European Travel." Among the other speakers was Governor Candler, who welcomed Professor Wahington on behalf of the State. The Governor said he was astonished when he contemplated the progress made by the negroes in thirty years of freedom. The cause of the negroes' plight, Governor Candler said, was the "dirty" politicians. He advised the negroes to listen to Professor Washington, as he could lead them to attain a position no politician could ever attain for them.

"Your work will aid me in putting down the mob in the South," were his final words.

Professor Washington took occasion during the course of his masterly address to thank Governor Candler in the name of the negro race for the manly and courageous manner in which he is having the law for the protection of human life enforced.

Captain Sigsbee's Daughter Dead.

Lewes, Del., Sept. 26.—Miss Ethel Sigsbee, daughter of Captain Sigsbee, who commanded the battleship Maine and now is in charge of the Texas, died from heart failure at the cottage of Mrs. Rittenhouse, Rehoboth, Delaware, where she had been spending the summer. Her body will be sent to Washington for burial. Miss Sigsbee was 20 years of age.

Aguinaldo's Brother in Japan.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 26.—Advices by steamer state that General Baldemro Aguinaldo, Filipino Minister of War and brother of the native leader, is at present in Yokohama. The object of his visit is to attempt to enlist the good officers of the Japanese Government in behalf of the insurgents. Several previous attempts have failed.

Lake Traffic May Tied Up.

Buffalo, Sept. 26.—Unless they are granted the increase in wages demanded, 4,000 engineers on the boats will strike. The Lake Carriers' Association has been considering the matter since Saturday, when President George W. Uhler, of the National Marine Engineers' Association, presented his ultimatum.

Tugboat May Be Lost.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—The tug Dorr, Capt. Peterson, and crew of six men, which was caught in a storm Saturday night, has not yet reached this port, although she set sail Sunday from Michigan City, towing two scows. The yacht Juno, which was thought to have been lost in the gale, has reached a safe anchorage.

Kearsarge's Trial Satisfactory.

Boston, Sept. 26.—With the splendid average of 16.84 knots to her credit, the first-class battleship Kearsarge, the latest and gratest addition to our navy, ended her official trial, a trial which was successful in every detail, and which for marine picturesqueness has been unequaled in our naval career.

President Liberates Eaton.

Auburn, Sept. 26.—Robert W. Eaton, cashier of the Fayetteville, N. Y., National Bank, who was convicted of making false reports to the controller of the currency, has been released from prison on a special commutation granted by President McKinley. Easton had served two years and a half of a five years' sentence.

Fatal Football Accident.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 26.—Thomas I. Kelly is dying in the Meriden Hospital as a result of a broken neck, sustained while playing football. He was a member of the Middletown eleven that was contesting with the Meriden High School team. This is the first fatal football accident of the season.

Steamship Adula Lost.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 26.—The Atlas steamship Company's steamer Adula, Captain McAuley, from Kingston for Baltimore, foundered off Port Morant, on the south coast of Jamaica. Five lives were lost, including Mr. E. Percy, the first officer.

Grannan Backs Columbia.

London, Sept. 26.—The interest here in the cup challenger, Shamrock, has increased since her recent trials. Capt. Laurence, a friend of Lord Dunraven, has wagered with Riley Grannan, the "plunger," £500 to £400 on the challenger.

Diaz Will Not Go to Chicago.

City of Mexico, Sept. 26.—President Diaz cannot go to Chicago on account of the illness of Mme. Diaz. He has appointed Lic Ignacion Mariscal, Minister of Foreign Relations, to go as his representative.

Yellow Fever Increases.

Key West, Fla., Sept. 26.—The new cases of yellow fever number twenty-six, one death.

This is what a Brooklyn man—a painter—has to say concerning Ripans Tabules: "For over a year I had been greatly troubled with sick headache and such a nauseating taste in my mouth, arising from bad stomach and indigestion. I tried several kinds of remedies but found no relief. About four months ago I was doing some work in a friend's house and he asked me if I ever had taken any Ripans Tabules; he praised them so much that I thought I would try them. In the evening, when I went home, I stopped at the drug store and got a vial of Ripans Tabules and before going to bed I took two. In the morning when I woke up my head felt much clearer than it had for some time and then I took them according to directions—one after every meal for about two months—and then I found that I was thoroughly cured of my complaints. I feel like a different man altogether now, and can not praise Ripans Tabules too much."

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

HOBART QUITE ILL.

And Will Not Be Candidate For Vice-President Again.

Paterson, N. J., Sept. 26.—Vice-President Hobart is so seriously ill at his home here that his close friends know that he wil not be a candidate for re-election next year

It is claimed that he is indignant, nevertheless, over the statement attributed to President McKinley that the Vice-President had said to him that his physical condition would prevent him from agan running as the President's mate. He insists that this is false, and that he has not yet intimated his intentions.

The illness of the Vice-President is so serious, in spite of favorable reports persistently given out that he is improving, that the bell at his residence was removed. Callers are met at the front door by a servant constantly on duty there, and only those having imperative business there are permitted to see the patient. Grip complicated by indigestion is ostensibly the ailment with which he is suffering, but friends that have seen him are satisfied that some far more serious kidney trouble is the real cause of his illness.

Every time he has shown signs of an improvement within the past six months, the slightest exertion has again prostrated him and he has been forced to abandon both business and political projects. It is more than doubtful if he will even be able to preside over the Senate at its next ssion. Mrs. Hobart is also ill through nervous prostration due to her close attendance upon her husband throughout his long illness.

Buried by Man She Died Cursing.

New York, Sept. 26.—The final act in the tragedy of love, perfidy and death, disclosed by the dramatic death by her own hand of Mary E. McVicker, once the friend of Frederick Mead, the rich tea merchant, has ended. For three days the body of the unfortunate woman laid unclaimed in the public Morgue, until it was interred in Olivet Cemetery by order of the Public Administrator. The name of the person who furnished the authorities with the means to bury the body is not given by the undertaker. It is well understood, however, that the person is Mr. Mead. "A lawyer made the arangements for the interment," is all that Mr. Hoes would say. The name of the lawyer he refused to disclose. Reed, Thatcher & Barnum, of No. 10 Wall street, the law firm with which Thomas B. Reed is connected, are said to be the counsel for Frederick Mead. Mead and Thatcher, it is said, were classmates in Yale College.

Mary McVicker's dying wish was fulfilled. The copy of the testament on which she said Frederick Mead plighted his troth and swore to shield and protect her through life was buried with her.

Hospital Attendants Indicted.

New York, Sept. 26.—The three attendants in the Manhattan State Hospital for the Insane on Wards Island, who were held by the Coroner after the inquest on the body of James A. Maguire, who died in the hospital from bruises and other injuries, have been indicted by the Grand Jury for manslaughter in the second degree. The men are Thomas Sexton, P. J. Ryan and Daniel O'Connor.

Fair Was a Success.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 26.—The total attendance at the State Fair was about 70,000 people, including "dead heads," and the total receipts exceed $40,000, with expenditures of $30,000 in round numbers. This meets the deficit of last year and leaves a surplus.

Prison Congress Meets.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 26.—State Superintendent of Prisons C. V. Collins and Deputy Superintendent Baker have gone to Hartford, to attend the National Prisons Congress being held there.

Plague Still Spreading.

Oporto, Sept. 26.—Four new cases of the bubonic plague are reported. Since the outbreak of the disease here there have been seventy-four cases, of which number thirty have resulted fatally.

Cogs Tore His Heart Out.

Lorain, Ohio, Sept. 26.—Fred Seeley, employed at the steel plant, had his heart cut out by one of the cogs and fell dead. He leaves a wife and child in North Amherst.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 26.—The beginning of trading in the stock market was unusually slow, but later it became active and some large blocks of stock changed hands. The quotations were down in all the prominent shares. In sugar was recorded the maximum decline, 2½ points. The lack of news concerning the situation in the Transvaal caused stagnation in the London markets and the figures were generally below parity. Another slight drawback to an advance is the fact that the fortnightly settlement begins Wednesday and, reasonably enough, hinders traders taking on new lines of stock. The American list to-day showed little life, and the figures averaged ¼ below parity. The New York Central and Central Pacific gained ½ each. Reading 2d was up to ¼ and St. Paul ⅛.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Closing quotations for spot: Wheat 74⅝, corn 35, oats 23, pork 8.15, lard 5.32, ribs, 5.17.

Phosphorous

Ordinary phosphorus is highly poisonous, is inflammable at a temperature far below that of boiling water and at the ordinary temperature of a room if exposed to the slightest friction, and gives off poisonous fumes at ordinary temperatures when in contact with air containing any moisture. Red phosphorus is not poisonous even in large quantities, and gives off no fumes in ordinary conditions. It is used in the manufacture of matches that strike only on the box. The ordinary phosphorus occupies a large place in match manufacture which the red variety cannot fill. How large that place is may be judged from the fact that some sixty tons of white phosphorus are annually used in making matches, while the consumption of red phosphorus is only four tons.

IS FILLING WITH VISITORS

Throngs of Dewey Celebration Sightseers Arrive in New York.

ALL TRAINS CROWDED.

The "Advance Guard" Already Fills the Hotels and Boarding Houses From Cellar to Garret.

All Incoming Trains Crowded to the Doors—Prices on Everything Advance With a Rush—Steamships Converted Into Floating Hotels—Beautiful Decorations.

New York, Sept. 26.—All railroad trains coming into New York from distant points are crowded to the doors with visitors to the Dewey celebration. Some of the roads are in a quandary how they are going to handle the immense press of travel and the baggage men are already in despair.

The Pennsylvania road with its four tracks will run no freight trains on Friday and Saturday, but devote all of its transportation facilities to carrying passengers. The rush on all the roads has commenced in earnest.

The Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, crowded to the roof, is serving 12,000 meals a day. Two thousand persons who have rooms there and 2,000 who sleep outside are being supplied, and it hasn't room for another soul.

The same story is repeated at all the prominent hotels, the Fifth Avenue, the Hoffman, the Holland, the Imperial, Park Avenue, Plaza, Savoy and the Netherland and nearly all of the less pretentious hostelries are already crowded. The establishments facing Fifth avenue had all of their rooms bespoken weeks ago, and they are now endeavoring to make additional provision for the demands that are still being made. The Hotel Reeves at Forty-second street and Broadway, has 600 guests, many of whom are sleeping on cots. There have been more than four hundred applications in the past twenty-four hours that could not be filled. Fancy prices are being demanded for all kinds of accommodations, and those who wish to be taken care of are obliged to pay handsomely for the luxury. Several wealthy persons living on Fifth avenue near the Waldorf and in the cross streets have rented their parlors, not for the parade day, but for sleeping rooms during the entire jubilee.

The overflow from the hotels is quickly filling up the boarding-houses and private residences, not only in this borough, but in Brooklyn, the Bronx, Staten Island, Long Island towns and Jersey City.

Many steamship lines are turning the craft into floating hotels. Steamers tied up at the foot of West Twenty-third street will be so utilized. They have on an average berths and cabin accommodations for 600 persons each, and already these accommodations have been eagerly gobbled up.

And the coming of Dewey has sent up prices all around. Every means of transportation has largely appreciated in value, except the street cars, which will have more than they can do to transport the throngs at a nickel a head.

Extra clerks and cashiers, most in demand at business places, will be paid $10 a day. A well-known caterer who has hired 100 extra waiters for the day of the land parade will pay them $5 each.

Fifth avenue has begun to take on a radical change. Bunting has broke out along the fronts of hundreds of houses that twenty-four hours ago showed severe brown fronts. Stands are springing up before clubs and private residences and the air is full of the sound of the hammer and saw. Thousands of sightseers fill the avenue, walking around obstructions, dodging out of the way of danger and looking at the residences of the millionaires. The flow of the crowd is from the Dewey arch at Madison Square to the Park Plaza and back again.

Among the decorations, especially in the stores, are greetings to Dewey and his men.

Despite all that has been said, it is now certain that the Grand Army of the Republic will take no active part in the land parade of the Dewey celebration. Some 600 or 700 G. A. R. men probably will parade, but it will not be as representatives of the G. A. R. They will parade as independent organizations of Veterans of the Civil War. Already five such organiations have applied for places in the line, and it is exepected that a sufficient large number of unattached veterans will form on Dewey Day to make an imposing showing.

Artillery Ready to Leave Cuba.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The adjutant general has received the following despatch from Gen. Brooke:

"Havana, Sept. 24.

"Adjutant general, Washington:

"First Battalion, Second Artillery, Batteries B, C, D, E, Depot Battalion, will be ready to return to states on arrival of transport. Where shall the four battalions embark for? There are twenty-one general prisoners here, who should go with this battalion to serve out their sentences in the states. Where shall they be sent.

Turned Over Guns to the Governor.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—The Minnesota Volunteers at the Presidio have turned in their guns to Governor Lind of Minneapolis. The rifles are to be kept under guard and forwarded with the troops, so that they may carry them when they parade on their arrival in St. Paul and Minneapolis. The arms then are to be returned to the United States government at the Rock Island arsenal. The North Dakota and Minnesota Volunteers have been mustered out.

Catholics Go on Pilgrimage.

Waterville, Me., Sept. 26.—Two hundred members of St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church of this city have begun a pilgrimage for absolution to the shrine at St. Anne de Beaupre, Quebec The pilgrimage is to extend over a period of two weeks.

LAID A TRAP FOR THEM.

Finding of Wrecked Gunboat Reveals Sharp Practices by the Filipinos.

CREW WAS AMBUSHED.

Seized by a Large Band of Natives and Removed to Porac While Boat Was Being Looted.

Two Englishmen Escape From the Filipino Lines and Convey News to General Otis—Natives Strip the Wrecked Warship of Nearly all Her Guns.

Manila, Sept. 26.—A boat's crew of the Petrel proceeding down the Pasig River found the gunboat Urdaneta which had been burned and riddled by the Filipinos. The wreck was lying opposite Orani and had not been heard from for ten days. A Colt automatic, a Nordenfeldt and one a one-pounder had been taken off. One officer and the crew of nine were missing.

The Urdaneta had been patrolling the shore on the north of Manila Bay, and her long-continued absence caused great anxiety, as it was thought that her coal had been exhausted. A search was then decided upon. Natives who were interrogated by Lieut. Franklin, in command of the gunboat Laguna de Bay, told that officer that the Urdaneta had bombarded the town of Orani on Sunday. The crew had landed to take possession, when they were seized by a large body of Filipinos who had laid a trap for them. According to the natives, the prisoners were removed to Porac, and the gunboat was at once looted and scuttled.

Two Englishmen who say that they were wrecked in an open boat last July, and held as prisoners by the Filipinos at Vigan, in the northern part of Luzon, have entered the American lines. They brought a message from Gen. Pantaleon Garcia, saying that fourteen Americans, who are held by the natives as prisoners at Teriac, will be released next Wednesday in accordance with a decree of the Filipino "Congress." It was stated that other prisoners who were ill would be released as soon as their physicial condition would justify such a course. The natives also sent word that the cause of the delay in the release of the prisoners was the fact that the Filipinos could not furnish the American prisoners with suitable clothing.

The Englishmen also brought a message from Gregorica Ganzaga, the Filipino envoy who came through the lines several months ago for the purpose of holding a consultation with Gen. Otis regarding a settlement of the rebellion. Gonzaga, who was the President of the Filipino Commission that called on Major-Gen. Otis, sent word to Col. Smith, of the Twelfth Infantry, who is in command at Angeles that he had made the most diligent inquiry all over the island of Luzon, but had been unable to find any trace of Major Rockefeller of the 9th Infantry, who disappeared in a mysterious manner shortly after the arrival of his regiment at Manila. It was stated at First that Rockefeller wandered beyond the American lines and was taken prisoner by the natives. Later it was announced that he was alive and well and was held as a prisoner. The Englishmen say there are three other American prisoners—a sergeant of an unknown regiment, a corporal of a California regiment, and a negro who offered to accept a commission in the Filipino army.

Lieutenant Gilmore and his men, according to these Englishmen, are still at Vigan, but will be released later on. Gilmore and the sailors receive an allowance of 20 cents a day.

Five Japanese army officers, according to the story told by the Englishmen, are assisting the natives at the north. The crops are plentiful and the army is enthusiastic, but the organization is poor and the discipline slack. It is believed that the Filipinos will retreat to the mountains when the Americans advance, as they fear the cavalry particularly.

Used Willows to Cause Her Death.

Dorchester, Neb., Sept. 26.—Mrs. H. Steinheider committed suicide here by hanging herself with willow withes. During her husband's absence the woman went to a cluster of willow saplings, which fringed a pond about 200 yards from the house, and wound the withes around her neck. Trowing her weight backward she leaned until she choked to death.

G. F. Danforth Dies at Rochester.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Ex-Judge George F. Danforth, at one time on the New York State Court of Appeals bench, dropped dead in court here. He had just finished his argument in a case and had seated himself when he was stricken with apoplexy. He expired two minutes later in an adjoining room.

Horse Ran Into a Train.

Plymouth, Ind., Sept. 26.—While Mrs. Undike and a small child were approaching the railroad crossing in a buggy, one mile west of Inwood, the horse became frightened and ran into a passing train. The lady is unconscious and will die. The child is not injured.

Ran Into Some Heavy Gales.

London, Sept. 26.—The British steamship Barrowmore, Capt. Harris, from Boston Sept. 10, has arrived here and reports having lost forty-seven bullocks and had cattle fittings damaged by gales encountered on the passage.

Tore Both His Arms Off.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 26.—Stanislaus Kornowiz, aged 15, while working in a factory here had both arms caught in a belt, tearing them off. It is thought he will die.

Monument to Mosby's Men.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 26.—A monument was unveiled at Ft. Royal to seven of Mosby's men hanged by Custer's troops.

THINK HALEY SUICIDED.

Friends of Wesleyan Professor Believe He is Dead in Boston.

Middletown, Conn., Sept. 26.—It is feared here that Professor Herman W. Haley, of Wesleyan University, is a suicide.

He left this place for Boston on Saturday night, and so far as known, no word has been received from him since. According to despatches from Boston a man answering his description was found dead in the United States Hotel in that place with his throat cut.

The man registered at the hotel as H. W. Haley, of West Concord, N. H. When the chambermaid went to his room his body was found on the floor.

His traveling bag was opened by the polince, and in it were found several letters addressed to Dr. Herman W. Haley, at this place. Word was sent to the authorities here, and friends declared that the description of the suicide tallied with that of the professor. Friends of the instructor have gone to Boston to view the body.

No letters were found in the room where the body was discovered, and no reason for the suicide is known. Professor Haley, who was about forty-one years old, was always well liked here.

Middletown, Conn., Sept. 26.—Word has just reached this city of the suicide of Herman Wadsworth Haley, instructor in Latin in Wesleyan University, at the United States Hotel in Boston, where he was found dead in bed with his throat cut from ear to ear. The cause of suicide was melancholia, due to fear of insanity. Five years ago he tried to kill himself when at Harvard.

To Take a Chance on Siberia.

Ft. Wayne, Ind., Sept. 26.—Urgis T. Atquarcargis, a Russian, has returned to this city as mysteriously as he left three years ago. He was employed on the farm of William Johnson, and escaped while in a delirium. He was found nearly frozen to death and brought to the County Jail. Sheriff Melching found on the prisoner $500, part in Russian money. He was taken to the hospital, where he again escaped, and nothing was heard of him until Monday. He kissed Sheriff Melching's hand when his money was returned. He says he will take a chance on returning to his family, in Russia, but he is afraid he will be arrested on an old charge and made to serve in Siberia.

Broken Flange Causes Wreck.

Olney, Ill., Sept. 26.—A broken flange on the engine wheel of a gravel train on the P., D. and E. Railroad caused an engine and 10 gravel cars to go into a ravine with the engine on top, a mass of twisted iron. The trestle was broken and about 100 feet of track torn up so that the mail and passengers had to be transferred. Brakeman Albert Hensen, of Decatur, was instantly killed, and Engineer Edward Milton and Fireman Hunsicker badly scalded on the face and arms. The fireman may die.

Paid a Million for Oil Property.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Sept. 26.—F. E. Boden, of Boston, representing F. E. Boden & Co., Eastern capitalists, has paid $1,000,000 for the oil leaseholdings of F. H. Rich & Co., Smick & Mowris, Longfellow Bros., Ohio operators, and also some property of T. N. Barnsdell. The purchases are in the oil fields of Ohio and West Virginia, and the parties intend securing other valuable properties as rapidly as possible, and will develop them thoroughly.

Conspirators Sentenced to Death.

Belgrade, Servia, Sept. 26.—The court has rendered judgment in the case of the prisoners who have been on trial for some time charged with the attempted assassination of Milan, formerly King of Servia, on July 6. Knezevic and Paisitch, the leaders of the conspiracy, were sentenced to death; ten others were condemned to twenty years' imprisonment, one of the accused was sentenced to nine years' imprisonment and seven to five years' imprisonment.

Will Hold Out for Eight Hours.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—At a meeting of the striking boilermakers a resolution that men of all the shops that work on the transports—whether government or chartered—stay out until the eight hours guaranteed by law on government work is granted them on all transport work, was adopted unanimously. By this action the union men working at the Union Iron works on transports are called out as well as the men of the Eureka Iron Works.

Mrs. Merrill Succeeds Her Husband.

Fairfield, Me., Sept. 26.—Mrs. A. A. Merrill has been elected treasurer of the Fairfield Savings Bank, to succeed her husband, the late Simon Merrill. Mrs. Merrill is the second woman in the state to be elected treasurer of a bank.

Summer Hotel Destroyed.

Quogue, L. I., Sept. 26.—The four-story frame hotel known as the Beach House was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of about $25,000. The fire was caused by the explosion of a gasoline lamp in the kitchen.

Lynching is Threatened.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 26.—Henry M. Murden, the Greentown merchant who was shot while asleep by his son-in-law, James Ball, three weeks ago, has died and there is strong talk of lynching the shooter.

Tried to Suicide With Suspenders.

Xenia, Ohio, Sept. 26.—Willis Coates, locked up for drunkenness, attempted to hang himself in his cell by means of his suspenders, and when discovered was in a dying condition. He may recover.

Dreyfus Improving in Health.

Paris, Sept. 26.—The Petit Bleu denies the reports in circulation regarding the health of Dreyfus, which, the paper says, despite reports to the contrary, is improving.

West's Condition a Little Improved.

Saratoga, Sept. 26.—Ex-Congressman George West of Ballston Spa, who suffered a fourth stroke of paralysis, is reported to be a little better.

It's a Manly Act.

A Plainfield Citizen Speaks For the Benefit of His Fellow Citizens.

A plain straighforward statement.
A grateful acknowledgement of help.
Telling a personal experience.
Making it public for the public good.
It's a manly act.
It's manly because it helps others.
So many people have been misled.
So many claims made that were not true.
No wonder there are skeptics.
A Plainfield man speaks here.
Speaks in the interest of humanity.
Shows the way to our citizens.
Removes the stumbling block of doubt.
Gives local endorsement.
No better proof can be had.
No better should be asked.
Plainfield people should know what is the true kidney remedy.
Distinguish it from many imitations.
Know that Doan's Kidney Pills are the only genuine.
There are many kidney remedies, but only one cure.
Other kidney pills but only on Doan's.
And they cure kidney ills.
We say so—your neighbors prove it.

Mr. Chas. Giese, cigar manufacturer, of 25 Elm place, says: "I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint for 2 or 3 years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp, shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such a good medicine for kidney troubles, so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after two or three days I felt better. I continued their use until the pain disappeared. I am only too glad to be able to testify to the fact that Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers; price 50 cents a box. Mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

A Specific for Cancer.

"THE MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER has in some cases seemed to be of great benefit in arresting the progress of the disease. In a few instances, one of cancer of the breast and four of uterine cancer, the apparent effect has been more striking than any results I have seen from any other agent."
Fordyce Barker, M. D.

"I can fully endorse all that my friend Dr. Barker has said about the MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER. I have prescribed it with benefit in a few cases of cancer. I also consider it a great remedy in all scrofulous diseases, and in syphilitic affections. In these diseases its true value has not yet been fully recognized by the profession. It is also an admirable remedy in affections of the digestive organs, and in some diseases of the kidneys."

CAN'T PASS IT IN SILENCE.

Letter From the Secretary of State of South Africa Offends Great Britain.

PLAIN TALK TO BOERS.

Text of Two Despatches Received by Sir Alfred Milner Are Made Public in London.

Her Majesty's Government Expresses Sincere Regret That the South African Republic Refuses Terms. Further Discussion Declared to Be Useless.

London, Sept. 26.—The text of two despatches sent to Sir Alfred Milner after adjournment of the cabinet meeting has been issued simultaneously. The first of these acknowledges the receipt of the Transvaal's reply to Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's note of Sept. 8 and answers the reply thus:

"The offer made by her Majesty's Government was moderate and conciliatory, and they have to express profound regret that the reply of the South African Republic is a refusal to accept it.

"Her Majesty's Government have on more than one occasion repeated assurances that they have no desire to interfere in any way with the independence of the South African Republic, provided that the conditions upon which it was granted be honorably observed, both in spirit and letter.

"They have not asserted any rights of interference in the affairs of the republic other than those derived from the conventions between the two countries, or those which belong to every neighboring government and especially to one which has largely predominant interest is in adjacent territories for the protection of its subjects and its adjoining possessions. But they have been compelled by the action of the South African Republic, which, in its note of May 9, asserted the right of the republic to be a sovereign international state.

"Absolutely to deny and repudiate this claim was the object which Her Majesty's Government had in view in the recent negotiations, and has been stated in a manner which cannot admit of misapprehension, viz: To obtain such substantial and immediate representation for the Uitlanders as Her Majesty's Government hoped would relieve them of any necessity for further interference in their behalf, and enable the Uitlanders to secure for themselves that fair and just treatment which was formerly promised them in 1881, and which Her Majesty intended to secure for them when she granted the privilege of self-government to the inhabitants of the Transvaal.

"The refusal of the Government of the South African Republic to entertain the offer thus made, coming at the end of nearly four months' protracted negotiations, themselves the climax of an agitation extending over a period of more than five years, makes it useless further to pursue the discussion on the lines hitherto followed, and Her Majesty's government are now compelled to consider the situation afresh and formulate their own proposals for the settlement of the issues which have been created in South Africa by the policy which has been constantly followed for many years by te government of the South African Republic. They will communicate the result."

A few minutes later a second despatch was forwarded directing Sir Alfred Milner to communicate to the South African Republic that:

"Her Majesty's government cannot pass over in silence the charge of breach of faith which was practically insinuated in a letter from the Secretary of State of the South African Republic and forwarded in your telegram of September 16."

$15,000,000 Tobacco Trust.

Trenton, N J., Sept. 26.—Articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state by the United States and Havana Cigar Company, with an authorized capital of $15,000,000. Five millions are preferred stock with 7 per cent. cumulative dividend. The company is authorized to grow tobacco and manufacture cigars, cigarettes and tobacco in all its forms.

Doctor Sued for Heavy Damages.

Tiffin, Ohio, Sept. 26.—Elizabeth M. Ranker has sued Dr. I. L. St. John for $10,000, alleging that he sold her late husband, Henry Ranker, strichnine when he was intoxicated, by which he took his life and deprived her of his support. Dr. St. John says that Ranker had no appearance of being drunk, and asked for poison to kill rats.

Firemen Injured at Passaic, N. J.

Passaic, N. J., Sept. 26.—Kaplan's block, a tenement sheltering twenty-one families, was burned to the ground here. All the occupants escaped, but they lost all their effects. Two firemen were injured. The fire started in a store on the ground floor.

Fell From Steamer and Drowned.

Goes Wide of Its Mark.

The expected address of the Daly-Atkinson faction of the Democratic party has made its appearance. Perhaps it is no more violent than was anticipated in view of the things that have already transpired and been said by the men responsible for the document, but as tending to strengthen the Democratic party in New Jersey it goes wide of its mark.

From a Democratic standpoint, viewing the influence and success of the party in the future, it is particularly unfortunate that a set of men like those headed by Messrs. Atkinson and Daly should have indulged in such acrimony and impetuosity against the men who are now in charge of the machinery of the organization.

It is foolish for the men who are responsible for the address to believe that they are going to be able to oust the present leaders in the organization from their places, begin the organization all over again and then obtain for New Jersey Democracy a representative influence for any particular candidate or set of principles. It is beyond the possibility of practical politics to do this.

Undoubtedly there is urgent need of conciliation on the part of both sides, a spirit of give and take, in order to bring about harmony in the party; but it will not be brought about by such actions as the Daly and Atkinson people are indulging in.

The Newark News points out that an unusual condition that has arisen from the failure of Congress last winter to act on Secretary Gage's suggestions is the threatened scarcity of fractional silver currency. The News explains that there is no silver bullion in the Treasury that the Director of the Mint is authorized to use for this purpose. Since the resumption of specie payments in 1879 that official has been using uncurrent coins, recoining them into fractional currency. That stock is now almost exhausted, and in a week or two none of it will remain, if the recoining continues as at present. The demand for fractional silver is extraordinary. It cannot be filled even if Congress should act in the matter during the first week of the coming session. Of course, nothing more serious than temporary inconvenience in the business community could arise from these conditions, but they serve to bring into a stronger light some of the little things—as well as larger ones—that Congress passed over lightly during its last session.

This is the week when every patriot should deck out in the national colors, as much in Plainfield as in New York where Admiral Dewey and his crew will be personally.

No matter if Dewey has arrived a couple of day ahead of time and set askew all the plans made for his coming up the bay, he is just as welcome.

Henceforth no one will be permitted to vote in Delaware who cannot read the Constitution of the State and write his name.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Hon. Roger F. Murray's system of conducting primary meetings has again been adopted by the Plainfield Republicans. As they have tried this system for one year and adopted it for the second, it is evident that there must be a great deal of good in it. It is the element of secrecy in balloting which makes the system so valuable, and has won it so much favor. It seems to have some weak points, too, for there was a question whether the Plainfield Republicans would adopt it or go back to the old system, but the executive committee, after recommending some changes in minor details, decided in favor of the Murray system.—Elizabeth Journal.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The future of the golf club—the organization, not the stick—is being discussed with interest by many who have money invested. Nearly all the clubs have borrowed money to build houses and to lay out the grounds. This is represented by either stock or bonds, and the greater part of the value of the security depends upon the continuance of the club through many years. If the game was only a fad, of course, the money invested would be fleeting, but no golfer believes that. It is likely, however, that the golfer will not alone possess the charming resorts of some of the golf clubs, such as the Hillside in Plainfield, Montclair, Youantakah, Morris County, Baltusrol, etc., and that each will eventually develope more and more into a country club, with golf as a chief attraction, but with other features as well—games of skill and good catering a great feature. Certainly the great population of this section can easily support a number of such organizations, and very delightful resorts they will always be.

A quiet, peaceful serenity has finally settled over West Fifth street, in the neighborhood of the home of Officer Patrick J. Flanagan. It's all over the snake, which has been wiggling about in the vicinity of the vigilant bluecoat's garden. For several weeks Officer Flanagan's family have lived in abject fear of the pesky varmint, which was the devoted consort of the reptile killed by a neighbor some weeks ago. Mr. Flanagan's friends, however, have been trying to make him believe that there was no fear of there being a second snake in that vicinity. But Mr. Flanagan was not to be fooled by the reassuring words of his friends. He stuck to it that where there was one snake there was always two, for hadn't he read when a boy that snakes always go in pairs. Mr. Flanagan was right in his conjectures. There was another snake and a good-sized one at that. Last week Friday his snakeship had the temerity to make himself known and a neighbor of Mr. Flanagan at once proceeded to give it battle. The fight was of short duration, and resulted about as disastrously to the reptile as did the engagement which Admiral Dewey had with the Spaniards at Manilla Bay. Mr. Flanagan's reputation as a man of good memory is still unimpeached, and his knowledge of the habits of things that crawl will be handed down as history to his posterity.

on the question. The acts of the National Council have been unfair, tyrannical, and, we claim, unlawful. Should the refusal to pay the tax be met with a taking away of our State charter we will, in all probability, go into the courts. If the courts should decide against us we will simply secede, and reorganize under another name."

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS THAT PLAINFIELDERS MAY WITNESS.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

"Kelley's Kids" will perform at Music Hall tonight. The general public is so well informed as to the personality and artistic history of actors, that it is only necessary to mention the names of the people in any theatrical company in order for the public to be at once informed as to the merits of the organization. Mr. Thos. W. Dinkins, manager of the successful farce-comedy "Kelley's Kids," is proud of the artists who appear in his play. Each member of the company is a well-known performer, whose career has been universally successful Among the men is Harry Crandall, the famous German comedian of the best farce companies, Marty O'Neil, well-known for his Irish comedy work, Udell & Pearce, operatic vocalists, Ed. Powers, Jas. K. Farley, Master Sammy Brown, Miss Jean Cunningham, the thrush throated song bird of celtic and operatic airs, Kittie Wolf, the petite soubrette, Janet Dore, a dainty young ingenue, Laura Bennett, a refined actress of rare talent. These are the principal people of "Kelly's Kid's" Company, and with an auxiliary corps of twenty handsome women The comedy is an excellent one, full of rich but perfectly harmless fun, and freely interspersed with the latest and most popular song hits of the day.

"Hurly Burly." What is Hurly Burly? Hurly Burly is confusion; and confusion is Hurly Burly; and Hurly Burly is an extravaganza with a sprinkling of high-class vaudeville here and there. It was first produced by Weber & Fields at their Broadway, New York, Music Hall, and is to be presented at the Stillman Music Hall Saturday night of this week, under the direction of Messrs. Weber & Fields. "Hurly Burly" with its many confusions, is so excruciatingly funny that it never fails to tickle the risible propensities to an exceedingly hilarious extent of the most non-laughing persons. Preceding this good-natured confusion will be presented an excellent olio of vaudeville acts by specialty artists.

APPEAL TO ENDEAVORERS.

Aid Will Be Sought from Them for the J. Clement French Industrial Home.

The committee having in charge the creation of a fund in memory of the late Rev. J. Clement French and to be devoted to the J. Clement French Industrial Home for Men, met last Friday night and decided to make an appeal at the State convention to the Christian Endeavor Society next Wednesday and Thursday at Camden. They will also try to interest the county and local unions.

The society, it is reasoned, will be willing to aid the cause on account of the close friendship which always existed between Dr. French and the Endeavorers. The home is designed to be self-supporting if the elements of rent and care of the building be eliminated. This can be done by securing a sufficient endowment. The Rev. Alexander MacGeorge is chairman of the committee and Uzal H. McCarter treasurer.

In Attendance at Opening of Yale.

City Judge William N. Runyon, of East Ninth street, left yesterday afternoon for New Haven, Conn., where he has gone to attend the opening of Yale University. Judge Runyon graduated there and now his brother, Carroll L. Runyon, has entered the college. The Judge will remain there until Friday and be elbowed off the sidewalks by the upper classmen as he used to do in his time.

DRINK GRAIN-O

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about ¼ as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,
122 East Front Street.

By our new process of ironing we are enabled to give you a perfect domestic finish, and to launder turn down collars without breaking them. Call and see how we do it; you are welcome to inspect our plant at all times; no mystery about our work.

Hand work on all shirt waists, cost a little more, but perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

AUTUMN SELLING AT Woodhull & Martin's.

The week just closed was a record breaker so far as receiving new goods was concerned. Never before in so short a space of time have we opened such quantities of goods.

Our entire winter supply of blankets is now on exhibition and we don't hesitate to affirm that Plainfield people have never had so comprehensive a line to select from and were never offered such values. We buy these goods direct from the mills and in so doing save the jobbers' profits. Prices range from 50c pair to $14.00 pair. Sizes 10-4, 11-4, 12-4. The line includes some beautiful soft gray blankets with rich borders, designed especially for bath robes.

Comfortables. Our experience in this line proves to us that ladies appreciate nice goods. Our comfortables are filled with clean white cotton, odorless, covered with coverings of exclusive patterns, thoroughly quilted and are superior in quality, finish and appearance. Prices as follows: 98c, $1.25, $1.48, $1.75, $1.98, $2.25, $2.48, $2.75, $2.98.

Two numbers in down quilts at $3.98, $4.98. Full size, pure down filled, covered with elegant satine and artistically quilted. Warm, light, fluffy. No well-regulated family should be without them.

Golf Suitings.

Fashion makes it imperative that Golf Suiting be worn. We are inclined to encourage their use, for no more durable and stylish suitings were ever introduced to the buying public. Double-faced, warm, serviceable, need no lining. Our line ranges in price from $1.25 to $3.98 per yard, and we believe our styles equal to the best shown by N. Y. houses. Our prices we believe to be lower, as we purchased early before the subsequent rise in price.

Underskirts. New fall styles are now on sale, and let us say to you—you may look many a day for a more attractive lot of styles. They are made of satines, Italian cloths, mercerized cottons, morreens, etc, in both black and colors.

New waists in flannel, brilliantine, satine, silk, etc. Styles are exclusive and prices are right.

Sundry Novelties.

New Embroidered Chiffons—Tucked Silks, Corded Silks, etc., for dress fronts. All over point-de-venise dress laces in black and cream, plain lace nets, new veilings, new neck novelties, velvet ribbons in satin back and linen back, butter colored lace ties with embroidered ends, black jetted lace nets, etc.

Kid Gloves. We sell no cheap kid gloves. No lady is well-dressed with either cheap gloves or cheap shoes. Better wear a cheap dress. $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 are our prices for good gloves. The last two numbers are entirely new and very desirable. Must be seen, however, to be appreciated.

New Table Damasks.

Our sales in this line are certainly phenomenal. We have surprised ourselves as well as our friends. It is not the result of accident, but rather the natural response to persistent effort to secure and offer to our customers special values. The latest attractions in this department are two special Bleached Damasks at 50c and 75c per yard. The 50c number is worth 75c and the 75c number is worth 89c, or we are guilty of prevarication.

DOWN STAIRS.

The old saying "forewarned forearmed" has proved true in our case in regard to White Iron Beds. Anticipating the rise in price of these goods we bought early and often all the iron beds we could find storage for. Prices have advanced since until we could sell the goods back to the people we bought them of at a handsome profit.

We prefer, however, to give our friends the benefit of our good fortune. Iron Beds, Brass trimmed, at 3.75, 4.98, 5.75, 6.48, 7.98, 8.49, 9.98, 10.75, 11.50, 12.50, 13.75, 14.98. Every bed quoted worth from 15 to 25 per cent more.

MATTRESSES.

Soft Top Mattresses, 1.98, 2.45. Husk, soft top, 2.98. Victor Combination, 1 part, 3.98. Victor Combination, 2 parts, 4.48. 45 lb Pure White Cotton, A. C. A. tick, 2 parts, 5.98. Genuine Felt Mattress, Fancy tick, 1 part or 2 parts, 8.50. Silk Floss Mattress, to order, 15.00. Springs, Pillows, Furniture, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Mattings, Shades, Rugs, etc.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 26.—The prevalence of diphtheria in the borough has necessitated the closing of the Whittier school. There was no session of the school yesterday. By order of the local board of health Peter Apgar, the janitor, gave the school building a thorough fumigating yesterday. The children who have come down with the dread disease are David Kuldosha and Earl Wyhuski. The board of health has taken stringent measures to prevent the spread of the disease. It is not thought that the disease will spread to other families. These are the only cases that have as yet been reported. The Kuldosha boy is attended by Dr. Nelson and the Wyhuski child by Dr. Brakeley. It is not believed that the Lincoln school will be closed. The Whittier school will probably be reopened today.

The statement that the Prospect street crossing was the only one in the borough which did hot have a watchman, is erroneous. Prospect street crossing has always been well protected in this particular by the Central Railroad.

The suit of Nate Blackford against George Jordan, to recover for labor, was tried before Justice Worden yesterday afternoon. Walter Hetfield represented the defendant. The Justice reserved his decision.

Peter Winfelt has severed his connection as a clerk in the store of Adam Dealaman and will go south to engage in the egg business. At present Mr. Fenner is making his parents at Pluckamin a short visit.

The family of James McElvare, who have been occupying the ouse of George W. Churchill, have returned to their home in Brooklyn.

John P. Cruiser, night operator and ticket agent at the Central station, who was married last week, has returned to duty.

Miss Blanche Abbott, daughter of George W. Abbott, of Somerville, has been visiting Mrs. Annie Abbott.

Miss Ethel Gray, of Irvington, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Alvah Gray, has returned to her home.

John Fenner, a clerk for George Schenck, is enjoying a week's visit with his parents at Pluckamin.

George W. Churchill and family will return today from Asbury Park, where they have been for the season.

Albert Giddes, who has been visiting friends in Allentown for a few days, has returned home.

Walter Clawson went by wheel to Pluckamin Sunday to visit his sister, Mrs. George Wiegand.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sirinsky spent Sunday with relatives and friends at Rahway.

Mrs. Abner Coriell, who has been visiting friends in New York, has returned to town.

The Heller family of Easton, Pa., have moved into the Martine Cottage, on First street.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson and two children spent Sunday at Lake Hopatcong.

The family of Wm. VanMiddlesworth will move to Newark Friday next.

S. O. Sutton and family have moved to the Lindsey house on Prospect avenue.

Henry Garretson made a business trip to Seawarren on Saturday.

Herbert Wyckoff spent Sunday at High Bridge.

PLAINS AND FA[illegible]

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, September 26.—Rev. Mr. Woodruff, of the Methodist church, preached two strong and interesting sermons Sunday. In the morning he took for his text "The Master's Message and the Servant's Reply;" evening, "Weighed in the Balance." Mr. Woodruff's short Sunday evening services during the summer months have been very successful and the attendance has been very encouraging to him in his work.

Rev. Dr. J. H. Parks led the monthly conquest meeting of the young peoples society of the Baptist church Sunday night. Missionary work in Europe was the subject and proved to be very interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Putnam and family, of Plainfield, have been the guests of Mrs. Putnam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frentz.

James McNair, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting his friend, Richard Robison, has returned to his home in Brooklyn.

Alfred Merrett, of Newark, spent Sunday with his family who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Johnston.

Mrs. Ira G. Walker led the Epworth League meeting in the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Rev. G. M. Shott attended the weekly ministers' conference held in New York Monday.

Miss Josie Marsh has returned from a short visit with relatives and friends in Brooklyn.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 26—The meeting called for the purpose of organizing the Westfield Republican Association was held at Etta Hall last evening and was largely attended by the Republicans of the township. Frank S. Smith called the meeting to order and was afterward elected president of the new club. A. G. Grant was elected vice-president, Wellington Morehouse, secretary, and Harry P. Condit, treasurer. A committee, consisting of Messrs. George B. Dickerson, James O. Clark, Martin Welles and A. G. Anderson, were appointed to draft a set of by-laws and a constitution. It is the purpose of the new organization to keep the Republican voters of the township together and, incidentally, it is said, to boom John F. Dorvall, who is a candidate for Sheriff.

The annual election of the Social Club will be held this evening at the club rooms and it is expected that there will be a warm time, some of the members being opposed to the ticket put in the field by the nominating committee.

At a meeting of Court Provident, No. 3130, I. O. F., held last evening Charles Cox was elected court deputy and Dr. Fred A. Kinch was elected a court physician.

Informal Saturday Evening Dinners.

The series of informal Saturday evening dinners at the clubhouse of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, which were inaugurated by some of the members the first of this month, will be continued Saturday, October 7th. No dinner will be held next Saturday on account of the Dewey celebration in New York.

Arranging Elaborate Programme.

An elaborate programme has been arranged for the Rally Day service at the First M. E. church next Sunday afternoon. The members of the Sunday-school will participate in the service and there will be special music and an address.

MORTGAGES INVOLVED?

METHOD OF RECORDING THEM BELIEVED TO BE ILLEGAL.

A Mix-up in the Laws of New Jersey Which Will Have to be Straightened Out by Enactment of the Next Legislature

Property owners throughout New Jersey have become alarmed over a discovery that the present methods of recording mortgages are illegal, and, in consequence, are void. This discovery involves thousands of mortgages, and would affect the entire business of twenty title abstracting and real estate insurance companies doing business in the principal New Jersey cities.

Under the old law there were two ways to record a mortgage, one by copying the entire document and the other by registering an abstract. The latter cost only seventy five cents, and the former was paid for by the folio. In the new law, framed by the Commission on Revision and passed by the Legislature in 1898, there is a repealer of the act authorizing the registering of recording mortgages in abstract, and making it necessary that all mortgages should be registered in full. This affects all mortgages registered in abstract since June 14th of last year.

The revisers in working on the statute law in 1874 made up an act of conveyances. In that act mortgages are also mentioned specifically. That conveyances act provided that all instruments mentioned in that act should be recorded by entering them in a book word for word. The revisers of 1896, in section 21, enumerate what are conveyances and come under revision. In section 41 the clerk of the county is directed to "record" the conveyances. According to legal usage to "record" a mortgage is to have it preserved in books of record, "word for word and in a fair hand."

The matter will have to be straightened out in the next Legislature. Nearly all the lawyers favor a change. The county clerks approve of it because it means fifty per cent. more to them in business.

A PREHISTORIC MONSTER.

The Bones of a Prehistoric Animal Found in Ocean County.

J. G. W. Havens, the Superintendent of the New Jersey Life Saving Service, has secured part of the skeleton of some hugh prehistoric animal or sudrian, that was washed out of the mud on the seashore, between Bay Head and Mantolokers, during the recent storm. The portion secured is the base of skull, consisting principally of the temporal bone, where it rested upon the spinal column.

It had been well preserved in the mud in which it had been imbedded for centuries, and is in an almost perfect state. It measures seven and a half feet across, and probably weighs well on to a ton. There are some other parts of the skeleton in sight, which Superintendent Haven hopes to secure. What kind of animal, reptile or fish this monster was nobody here seems able of deciding. It was doubtless stranded or mired where its bones were found, when that part of the coast was a vast swamp, probably some miles inland from the seashore.

OXFORD'S REGENERATION.

Mines Reopened and Production of Steel Resumed in Village.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, Sept. 26—The town of Oxford, in Warren county, which at one time was one of the busiest places in that section, and which has been practically deserted for the past few years, now shows signs of renewed activity.

About 200 men are now employed by the Empire Steel and Iron Company. No. 3 slope mine has been pumped out and work will be begun this week. The Washington mine will be ready for operations in a few days. Through a large expenditure of money the furnace has been put into shape and the fires will be lighted this week.

To Talk of Home Department.

"The Home Department of the Sunday-school" will be the subject of an address by Rev. A. E. Main, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, at the prayer meeting in Trinity Reformed church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

BIGAMISTS STILL FREE.

"REV." MR. FOSTER AND MRS. COX NOT YET ARRESTED.

Chief of Police of Poughkeepsie Asks for Instruction—Another Warrant May be Issued in the City of Brooklyn.

Chief of Police Grant received a telegram from the Chief of Police of Poughkeepsie last night asking what he should do about arresting "Rev." James Foster and Mrs. Andrew Cox, of this city, who are wanted for bigamy. Chief Grant telephoned back for the Chief to wait until he heard further from him. It is the opinion of Justice Moffett, who issued the warrant for Foster's arrest, that it will be better to have a warrant issued in Brooklyn upon the complaint of Foster's first wife.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 26—The police of this city were requested by the Chief of Police of Plainfield this afternoon to arrest Rev. J. H. Foster, the street evangelist, and his wife, who is also the wife of Andrew Cox, of Plainfield, on a charge of bigamy. Chief Platto decided to wait until the couple appeared on the street to hold their usual service last evening. At 8 o'clock, the hour that the Fosters had established for their services, the Chief and Patrolman Leroy were on hand to meet them, but the evangelists did not appear. It is supposed that they took the warning from the information printed about them and left the city yesterday morning.

Although warned that the couple were bigamists, the police took no steps to keep them under surveillance. It is believed that they will have to go far from this section to escape the publicity that has been given to them.

Facts Worth Knowing About Private Postal Cards.

Postmaster Bird has received a notice from the postoffice department that the use of the words "Private Mailing Card" on printed matter or cards which do not conform to the conditions prescribed by department order of June 23, 1899, is unauthorized. Such matter, he is informed, is unmailable.

The cards to which his attention is drawn are the ones authorized by Congress, May 19, 1899, for transmission through the mails. The act allowed the issuance of these cards by persons not connected with the postoffice department. It provided that they should be mailable on affixing a one cent stamp to each, and that they were to be sent openly in the mails.

To entitle these cards to transmission, certain rules were prescribed. These provided that the cards should not be larger than 3½ by 5½ inches; that their quality should be substantially that of the Government postal cards, which weigh six pounds three ounces to the 1,000; that they could be any color; that each should bear the words printed at the top of the address side "Private mailing card, authroized by act of Congress of May 19th, 1899" ("Postal card, carte postale"); that such cards when prepared by printers for sale should bear in their proper upper right hand corner of the address side a diagram with the words "Place postage stamp here," and in lower left hand corner another notice that "This side for the address."

Notwithstanding these directions, which have been given wide publicity by the newspapers, cards which do not conform to these provisions are frequently offered for mailing. Most of the cards are larger than the prescribed size, some do not have the necessary printing on their face, and others are not of the required weight. As these are the cause of much confusion in the mails they are thrown out, and in each case they are sent to the dead letter office at Washington, where they are destroyed.

Important Work Begun.

Work was begun yesterday by Contractor C. M. Meeker for the macadamizing of West Fourth street. A gang of men who were expected to be on hand yesterday morning did not arrive until today. The teams and plows were started on the street, between Plainfield avenue and John street. The work is to be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Provinz Westfalen.

Münster. Die Maul- und Klauenseuche tritt in Westfalen immer stärker auf. Um nun ihre Verbreitung möglichst zu verhindern, wurde von dem königlichen Landrathsamte Hamm über die Städte Hamm und Unna, sowie die Ortschaften Rünthe, Heil, Sandbokum und Niedermassen die nur in seltenen Fällen in Kraft tretende Ortssperre verhängt. Die Ausfuhr von Rindvieh, Schafen und Schweinen ist nur mit polizeilicher Erlaubniß und nach vorhergehender thierärztlicher Untersuchung der Thiere gestattet.

Dorstfeld. Auf der hiesigen Zeche wurden durch einen Pferdezug im Querschlage mehrere Hölzer umgerissen, was den Hereinbruch großer Gesteinsmengen im Gefolge hatte. Vier Arbeiter wurden verschüttet, einer wurde als Leiche, einer schwer, einer weniger schwer, einer unverletzt hervorgezogen. Bei den Rettungsarbeiten wurde der Steiger Pottkämper erheblich verletzt.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Unendliches Geschnatter erfüllt gegenwärtig die Bahnstationen und Landstraßen Sachsens. Es ist die Zeit, wo die Geflügelgroßhändler an der russischen Grenze von russischen Aufkäufern ganze Heerden Gänse aufgekauft haben, die sie nun mit der Bahn nach Sachsen verschicken. Hier nehmen sie an vielen Orten die Kleinhändler in Empfang und treiben sie truppweise—jeder nimmt etwa 200 bis 300 Stück—in die Ortschaften, um sie an die Bauern, Gastwirthe u. s. w. weiter zu verkaufen. In einem Eisenbahnwagen werden in vier übereinander liegenden Abtheilungen 1200 Gänse untergebracht. Auf diese Weise kommen jährlich aus Rußland weit über 300,000 Stück des leckeren Geflügels nach Sachsen.

Chemnitz. Hier wurde der Bankier Sachi, der frühere Mitinhaber der in Bankerott gerathenen Bankfirma B. A. Fuchs Söhne in Würzburg verhaftet und in das dortige Untersuchungs-Gefängniß eingeliefert.

Leipzig. Für die Errichtung eines Goethe-Denkmals in Leipzig hat der Rath der Stadt einen Beitrag von 10,000 Mark bewilligt.—In einem hiesigen Hotel wurde der geistesgestörte Berliner Kaufmann Hermann Bardasch verhaftet, weil er den König Albert von Sachsen zu ermorden drohte.

Oschatz. In dem Dorfe Zeuckritz hat in Folge von Ehewirren die Mühlenbesitzersfrau Hoffmann ihre beiden Knaben und sich selbst ertränkt.

Plauen. Die Bigognespinnerei Wiede u. Co. hier gibt bekannt, daß sie wegen ungünstiger Zollverhältnisse liquidirt.—Die große Bigognespinnerei Luckner u. Fiedler bei Crimmitschau ist niedergebrannt.

Zittau. Offenbar im Wahnsinn hat in Seifheimersdorf die Ehefrau des Kleiderfabrikanten Hornau sich selbst und ihre beiden kleinen Kinder ertränkt.

Thüringische Staaten.

Altenburg. Der Maurerpolier Bernhard Krug hatte sich an dem letzten Maurerausstand nicht betheiligt und wollte auch der Organisation nicht beitreten. Seine Mitarbeiter veranlaßten deshalb den Meister, den Polier zu entlassen, da sie sonst die Sperre über seine Bauten verhängen würden. Der Meister gab nach, weil es sich um einen Bau handelte, der durchaus ausgeführt werden mußte.

Eisenach. Ein bekanntes Frankfurter Bankhaus betreibt gegenwärtig die Erbauung eines großen, modern eingerichteten Kurhauses dahier. Der Kostenaufwand erfordert mindestens 1,000,000 Mark.

Koburg. Der verstorbene Kunst- und Handelsgärtner Dehler hat der Stadt und gemeinnützigen Vereinen bedeutende Legate ausgesetzt. Insgesammt betragen die Schenkungen etwa 80,000 Mark, wovon 40,000 Mark auf das der Stadt Koburg zugefallene Legat zu gemeinnützigen Zwecken entfallen.

Weimar. Ein Liszt-Denkmal soll in den Parkanlagen in der Nähe des Liszt-Museums errichtet werden. Es ist hierzu ein Wettbewerb unter allen Künstlern Deutschlands und Oesterreich-Ungarns ausgeschrieben. Die Preise betragen 2000, 1000 und 500 Mark. Die Kosten des Denkmals sind auf 40,000 Mark veranschlagt.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Der Inspektor des Stadttheaters, Wurm, ist wegen Unterschlagungen verhaftet worden.

Bremen. Das Laboratorium des Pyrotechnikers Ludorf wurde durch eine Explosion von Feuerwerkskörpern gänzlich vernichtet. Die Frau des Herrn Ludorf wurde schwer, er selbst leicht verletzt.—Die Arbeiterkolonie Dauelsberg ist durch eine in Folge Blitzschlags entstandene Feuersbrunst eingeäschert worden. Sämmtliche Gebäude bis auf eins sind niedergebrannt. Die Erntevorräthe wurden vernichtet. Das Vieh konnte gerettet werden.

WITH THE GLOVES.

A Rattling Contest as Related in St. Nicholas.

Rupert Hughes' "Dozens from Lakerim" goes up from Kingston in the September St. Nicholas, to have some friendly indoor contests with the Trojan rivals.

And now the heavy-weight from Troy, one Jaynes, appeared upon the scene with his seconds. There was no roped-off space, but only a collection of mats of the proper dimensions. Jaynes overshadowed little Bobbles as the giants overshadowed Jack the Giant-killer.

Bobbles, while he was diminutive compared with Jaynes, was yet rather tall and wiry for his light weight, and had an unusually long reach for one of his size. And now he was matched to box with a heavy-weight, but it was only for points, and he counted on his agility to save him.

In order to make the scoring of points more vivid and visible to the audience, it was decided, after some hesitation, that the gloves should be coated with shoe-blacking.

Bobbles proved himself an adept at that best of boxing tactics, the ability to dodge. He rarely moved more than would take him sufficiently out of harm's way. A little moving of the head from one side to to the other, a quick side step, or an adroit duck, saved him from most of Jaynes' attacks.

There were to be three rounds of three minutes each, with one minute's intermission between rounds. The first round was over before either of the men was much more than well warmed up to the work, and before either had scored an impressive amount of points. Jaynes, however, realized that Bobbles had landed more often than he, and that the sympathy of the audience was with the little fellow. In the swift interchange of blows Bobbles was usually quicker than he. Jaynes' blows were heavier, but Bobbles countered and dodged with remarkable skill; and when, after three spirited rounds, the judges met to discuss the verdict they were to render, and there was some dispute as to the number of blows landed by each, the two men were brought together for inspection. Bobbles' face and neck were as black as a piccaninny's, but there were few dark spots upon his chest. Jaynes, however, was like a leopard, for the blacking on Bobbles' gloves had mottled him all up and down and around As Jumbo remarked to Sawed-Off: "Bobbles certainly had designs on that big fellow!"

The judges had been agreed that, on the point of defense, guarding, ducking, getting away and counter-hitting, Bobbles, considering his size, was certainly the most speedy of the two. They were also inclined to grant him the greater number of points on his form in general, and especially on account of the disparity in size and reach; but when the counted the tattoo-marks on each, they found that here also Bobbles had mde the higher score, and the judges decided to award him the prize.

Ten Pins at Home.

As the evenings grow longer the young folks may like to play a game at home which requires some activity, and a new with small ten pins that can be set up in almost any room in the house with the aid of a board upon which two narrow cleats have been nailed will supply more recreation than is at first thought. The pins should not be more than eight inches high and the balls about the size of a baseball. A lamp should be placed so that it throws a light on the pins, and along the alley. This can be done with a simply constructed shade.

Parents may be glad to know that after a few games of ten pins at home in the evening the young folks will retire to sound sleep, for the game gives just activity enough for proper exercise.

An Evidence of Bird Justice.

The English sparrow is the most universally unpopular of all birds. Because of its ceaseless war upon other birds, they are always ready to show their hatred of it. Whether it feeds on the eggs of other birds or not is a question, but that it destroys them and the nest that contains them is a well established fact. I can certify to the following incident, of what I have no doubt was justice meted out to one of these little sneak-thieves.

One morning on entering the barn I noticed a broken egg on the manger before a mud-swallows nest which I had permitted to be built there. I glanced up at the nest and saw, suspended beneath it, one of the sparrows, dead. Upon closer examination it was found that the bird was hung by the neck at the end of a horse hair about a foot long.

It was carefully taken down for closer examination. There was a noose at the end of the hair, the knot being perfect, the free end slipped far enough through, and bent in such a way that the knot could not be untied. It could not have been an accident—or, if possible, it was very improbable, to say the least. The noose was preserved and carefully laid away, as a relic of bird justice.

The swallows must have grown tired of the prosecution of the tormentors, and set a snare; or, coming upon it in the act of robbing them, held it a prisoner in their nest until a noose was slipped over its head and it was allowed out, only to tighten the fatal knot as it attempted to fly away.—Ohio Farmer.

Mendelsohn felt intensely the meaning of music. "Comparing music with words," he said. "Die Worte reichen nicht hinzu"—"Words do not go as far."

The more self is indulged the more it demands, and therefore of all girls the most selfish are the most discontented.

FASHION NOTES.

Modes For the Present and Coming Season.

Fashion is now to a certain degree eclectic. In the matter of skirts, for example, provided they are tight and molded to the figure from the waist down to the knee, all sorts of variations are permitted. They may be plain all the way down, may have a circular or gathered flounce or a tunic, and the trimming may follow any freak of fancy so long as it is comparatively flat.

The great desideratum is now to conceal the fastening of the skirt, and that is no easy matter when there is neither fullness nor fold under which it may be hidden. As for a pocket, such a convenience is often an utter impossibility, for it cannot be inserted without its opening being fully visible, and, moreover, if anything were put in it, it would make an unsightly protuberance. Where the skirt has a separate lining the pocket may be placed in that, or even in the petticoat.

The bodice shown in the cut is of taffeta, corded all over, and is of a soft mauve shade. The back is plain. The front has two plaits at the waist and is cut down in a V at the top. The sleeves are close and terminate just below the elbow. The collar, revers and cuffs are covered with applications of guipure. The soft belt is of pansy velvet and fastens under a chou of loops of fine black velvet ribbon. A similar chou is placed at the point of the V shaped decolletage.

ACCESSORIES.

Blouses, Skirts and Other Articles of Attire.

The blouse effect above the waistband, not long ago so well liked, is now quite abandoned and is seen only occasionally in full fronts.

As the form of skirts has changed very little since last winter, it is easy to remodel old gowns for the coming season. The full bodice may be cut over and made tight fitting, a yoke of silk, crepe de chine or gathered mousseline de soie being added. With fresh trimming to match on the skirt, the costume is practically new. The little ornamental capes which are worn this fall afford another opportunity for using old material. They are very small, are fancifully trimmed and often take the form of a large capuchon, with a flaring fanciful collar and an immense cravat with long, fringed ends.

Immense scarfs of net, gauze or mousseline de soie are tied around the neck in a small bow, the long ends falling half way down the skirt.

The picture shows a blouse bodice of antique guipure. At each side of the front are two bands of white taffeta stitched with pink silk and bordered with little ruches. These bands simulate a bolero. Across the front is a V formed by another band of stitched taffeta. The collar and belt are composed of stitched taffeta edged with ruches. The sleeves of white taffeta are covered with lines of pink stitching and have caps of guipure bordered by stitched bands, with ruches at the edges.

TALENTED VIOLINIST.

Young Yankee Girl Plays Before a Crowned Head.

Miss Leonora Jackson, who is to make her debut in New York this season, is an attractive girl in her early twenties. She was born in Boston, and when a very young child she showed signs of the great talent which has since developed. Wealthy persons interested themselves in her and sent her abroad, where she has been successful from the beginning. Her principal teacher was Joachim, and she was studying with him when she won in 1896 the most desired of prizes, the Mendelssohn medal. Since then she has played successfully before all the great musical audiences of the continent. She has played in Leipsic, in Paris and in London. Last spring she was summoned to Windsor to play for the Queen, and before she comes to this country wil play there again.

To Make Good Coffee.

To make good coffee you will find it necessary to have a vessel that is broad at the bottom and narrow at the top. On the continent, where it is as rare to have a bad cup of coffe as it is to have a good one in England, the coffee is never boiled, as it is considered that this method spoils the flavor. Here is a simple recipe for making good coffee: Make a funnel-shaped bag out of loose white flannel. Put inside the bag one large teaspoonful of coffee for every cup you wish to obtain and one over, pour into it boiling water, one cup for every spoon of coffee, let it filter through the bag into the vessel which is placed beneath. When the water has filtered through the bag, if the coffee is not black enough the operation may be repeated, and then the pot should be placed on the stove to make the coffee hot, without boiling it. The fireproof pots now sold very cheaply are excellent for making coffee in. Another point in connection with coffee is the milk. Many people serve luke-warm or cold milk with it; in either of these states no coffee can be really good. The milk must be absolutely boiling, so that it froths up in the pan before it can be considered fit to add to the coffee.

Cake and Bread Boxes.

Cake boxes with double trays, that swing out to afford easy access to each, are a considerable improvement over the old style. Bread boxes, too, are much improved. A patent one is self-closing, and takes forever out of the mouth that oft-repeated injunction to the cook, "Keep the bread box shut." The bread receptacle is cylindrical in shape, and revolves, pulling open like the covers of some of the mail boxes, to spring back into place the moment the hand releases it. These boxes are made sufficiently long to hold loaves of French bread, and cost from $3.50 up, acording to size. All bread boxes are made now with ventilating holes, to keep their contents from geting musty.

No More Old Women.

Happily no woman is ever old now, unless she chooses to be. The day is passed when the mother is relegated to the back parlor and allowed to wear only black silk, with an occasional black alpaca for a dissipation. Nowadays the mother dresses just as young as her daughters, and no one can say that she or her looks suffer from the change. She has as many partners as her daughters if she dances, and she usually does. Perhaps it is the change in the way of living, as well as in the change of dress, that has made a young woman of the matron, even after her fortieth year has passed.

Save Nasturtium Seeds.

Pickled nasturtium seeds are a good substitute for capers and are a piquant as well as artistic garnish to a salad. The seeds should be pickled green. Leave a short stem on them and place them in a weak brine for two days; then soak them in fresh water for a day. Pack them in jars and turn boiling vinegar over them. Seal and keep for a month before using.

Indian Pancakes.

One pint Indian meal, one teaspoonful of salt, mixed with enough boiling water to make a little thinner than mush. When cold add the yolks of four eggs, half a cup of flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls baking powder, enough sweet milk to make batter as for griddle cakes, and the beaten whites of four eggs, added just before baking.

Welsh Rarebit.

One pound cheese, grated, one large tablespoon butter, one tablespoon tomato catsup, one-quarter teaspoonful salt, one gill beer or ale, dash of red pepper. Cook in a double boiler, stirring all the time until smooth and thick. Serve on hot dipped and buttered toast.

A TROPICAL CUBAN CAVE

A Queer Underground Cavity Which Is Warmer Than the Outside Temperature.

ONLY HALF A MILE LONG.

Formations of Stalactite and Stalagmite Very the Same as In Other Caves—Captain Killed.

The Cave Was Discovered By a Chinese In Searching For Some Stone For His House—It Is Now Owned By Some Enterprising American and Has Its Full Share of Visitors.

A correspondent writing from Havana says: "We who are here in Cuba for a short time feel that we wish to see all that we can before returning to the States, and this all would scarcely be complete without including Montserrat and the cave at Bellamar, at Matanzas, a natural formation, which the Cubans consider one of the wonders of the island. To spend only one day there involves the loss of considerable sleep, for the ferry connecting with the train leaves Havana at 6 o'clock in the morning, and the train with which it connects leaves Regia at 6:20. It means pretty early rising if one lives in Havana, but when one lives in the suburbs, as most of us army people do, it means rising at 2 or half past.

On board we found a number of American officers on their way to Matanzas. Indeed, one might have almost thought one's self in the States, there were so many Americans on the train. As we neared Matanzas the country became much higher, and we had a near view of the mountains—the first land one sees on approaching Havana from the United States. They are very high and stand out in bold relief from the surrounding country. We passed a number of cemeteries, in each of which was a little chapel, and a corner of each cemetery was a bonepit, or, as the Cubans call it, an osario. One village of considerable size was composed entirely of shacks of one story each, and of probably not more than two rooms each. This village presented a very odd appearance.

In Havana one can usually find a cab without any trouble, and we expected that it would be the same in Matanzas, but it was not, and we had to walk several blocks before finding one. The driver agreed to take us to the cave and back for the sum of $3, American money. For the first part of the distance the road was excellent, leading along the bay, a broad drive not unlike the famous Ocean Drive at Newport. Then it turns and goes up a hill, rather gradual in slope at first, but becoming steeper and steeper and very rocky. When the summit was reached a beautiful view greeted us—across the harbor and out to the open sea beyond two points of land, which seem to almost form a gate.

The entrance to the cave is reached through a little house of one room, perched on the summit of a hill. On the door of the house is a placard telling the rates of admission—for soldiers, 50 cents; for officers and all other persons, $1, all of which is in American money. This placard is printed in both Spanish and English. In the register we found the names of many Americans from all sections of the States. A small boy of elevn was detailed to act as guide for us and several others who were waiting. We came to the conclusion that if this child could pilot us the cave could not be as extensive as had been said, and so we found it; instead of being several miles in length it was not more than half a one.

We entered the cave from the office by means of several flights of wooden steps, guided by the boy, who carried two long candles of wax, which, he told us, had come from America. Instead of finding cold air, as one does in Mammoth Cave, we found the temperature much higher within than without. The formations are very much the same as in other caves. Names which imaginative minds have suggested, cling to various parts; there are the "Robe of Columbus," the "Twelve Apostles," the "Ballroom," the "Organ," and half a dozen other names equally as appropriate or otherwise. Our guide showed us the place where a Spanish Captain had met death, whether by accident or otherwise we could not make out; at all events, he had gone over the cliff and his body had never been recovered.

No one is allowed to carry away any specimen from the cave, and for that very reason all of us were anxious to do so; the little boy had no objections; indeed, helped us by showing us where we could find the prettiest ones.

The cave was discovered by a Chinese in searching for some stone for his house. Whether he owned the cave or not I do not know, but for a long time he acted as guide. Later it was bought by an enterprising American, by whom it is still owned, if I mistake not. It takes only a short time to walk through it—half an hour being ample unless one wishes to linger along the way to study the formations. All of the rocks are not of pure white; in some places they are shell pink, in others a delicate shade of yellow. There are two springs, but the water from both are so warm that there is no pleasure in drinking it.

The air inside of the cave is so warm that when one gets back above ground once more it seems very much as though it were a change to a colder zone.

Several people were waiting in the office, and as we went down the hill we met others coming up, and there is little doubt that the cave has its full share of visitors. The trip to and from town, including the time spent in the cave, only took about two hours, leaving ample time to drive to Montserrat and yet catch the train back to Havana at 3:30.

AN ORDINANCE

to provide for the issuing of temporary notes for sewerage expenses pursuant to Chapter 33, P. L., 1899.

WHEREAS, The Common Council has ascertained and determined, and does hereby ascertain and determine that the expense incurred for the sewerage purposes specified in Chapter 33, P. L., 1899, in full to date, amounts to the sum of $7,654.70, and that it is expedient to provide for such expense by issuing temporary notes or obligations of the City, the same to be renewed from time to time in such manner as to make an equal amount thereof, as nearly as practicable, payable each year during five years from the date on which they shall be authorized:

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1.—That to provide for the expense aforesaid, temporary notes or obligations of said City be issued as follows: One note for one-fifth of said amount payable one year from date of issue; one note for one-fifth of said amount drawn for one year from said date, but subject to renewal for one year thereafter; one note for one-fifth of said amount drawn for one year from said date, but subject to renewal for two successive years thereafter; one note for one-fifth of said amount drawn for one year from said date, but subject to renewal for three successive years thereafter, and one note for one-fifth of said amount drawn for one year from said date, but subject to renewal for four successive years thereafter; all of said notes to bear interest at the rate of 4 per centum per annum.

Section 2.—That the Mayor and City Treasurer be, and are hereby authorized to make and execute the said notes, and apply the same for the purpose aforesaid.

NEWS OF THE WHEEL

LIGHTER BICYCLES DEMANDED FOR WOMEN.

The Trust Will Not be Able to Advance Prices—Lamps, Roads, a Remarkable Woman Rider, Racing. News and Notes From All Quarters.

Why do manufacturers at present ignore weights in their catalogues? The 1899 wheel is on an average fully four pounds heavier than that of 1896, and riders are beginning to complain. A wheelwoman says in the New York Sun:

"Where I was none of the girls had a wheel that weighed less than 28 pounds. Nearly every day they made up a party and went out for a tour of the neighboring villages, but tle fun that they got out of their rides did not repay them for their exertion. As a last resort, they hired a cart, with two horses, to go along with them and when they tired of pedalling they lifted their machines into the cart and allowed te horses to draw them along until they regained their ambition to revert to their wheels.

"As for myself, I have used the same wheel for three years because I haven't been able to buy another. The old thing looks somewhat antiquated, but I think more depends on how a machine runs than on how it looks. It weighs just 21 pounds and I can lift it and carry it almost any distance with ease. My friends said it would be dangerous for a person of my weight, 152 pounds, to ride such a light wheel over roads that were soft and full of ruts, but, if you will believe me, I did not have a breakdown all the while I was away. I was able to make better time and to ride longer distances than any one of the party, and the old wheel behaved so well that, unless those of next year present some very striking advantages over the models of 1899, I shall have no desire to give up the one I have."

Manufacturers seem to think that a difference of four or five pounds in the weight of a bicycle is a very trivial matter, too trivial, in fact, for their serious consideration. They apparently believe that the women who ride do so for the purpose of exhibiting their strength, not for the purpose of acquiring strength; and there's where they are wrong. With wheels so heavy that their riders become positively fatiguing, except on the best of roads, how can they hope to derive the benefit from cycling which would come from the use of machines which were lighter and more easily propelled?

The contention of makers may be true that for men who make a practice of touring here, there and everywhere, thirty pounds, and even thirty-five pound wheels are preferable, but it should be remembered that an exceedingly small percentage of the wheelmen are tourists and that the number of touring women cyclists is still smaller. The experiments with lightweight machines in 1896 fully justify the manufacture of light wheels in the future, at least for women. And, according to reports, several of the large makers have already signified their intention of reducing the weight of their models for 1900. Let us hope t their intention will be carried out and that after this year the wheelwomen's plea for lighter mounts will become unnecessary.

Coming Prices.

The reduction in the price of bicycles from $150 to less than a third of that amount has weighed heavily upon the minds of the manufacturers who entered the wheel trust. The combination was undoubtedly made with the purpose of advancing prices to a point that would restore at least a part of the old fabulous profits, but it is doubtful if it can be made a success. Too many independent manufacturers are in existence who are free to extend their trade by offering every possible inducement in the way of price and quality, such as individual competition suggests. One of these has just issued a circular, in which he has the following to say:

"We have a thoroughly organized and profitable business, both in firearms and bicycles, and there is no necessity for our joining any movement to monopolize or manipulate the bicycle trade, or to assist some of the 'top-heavy' firms to dispose of their factories at fancy prices and thus avoid a probable 'collapse.'

"We are and shall remain perfectly independent and free to act according to our business judgment and our sense of justice and fairness to the agents who have assisted us in building up our present large business. No one can buy better material or build high grade bicycles cheaper than we can, and we have completed our plans and our new line of bicycles much earlier than usual, so as to make this statement frankly and squarely to our agents, and we announce our line and prices for the coming season as follows: Medium grade roadster, $25; high grade roadster, $35; with coaster brake, $40; with cushion frames, $50; chainless, $60."

As these prices are a cut of $15 on each grade, and as the manufacturer is one of high repute in the trade, it is manifest that the trust will not be able to advance the cost of wheels next season. Besides, the day has passed when the wheelman could be persuaded that his machine, beautiful and delicate as it is, can be more costly than a small steam engine.

The Acetylene Lamp.

The "Lancet" regards the acetylene cycle lamp as "a menace to the safety of the public." There are two sides to this question. The cyclist whose way is somewhat dimly illuminated by an ordinary oil lamp is placed at a great disadvantage, because on a dark night the light from such a lamp is wholly insufficient to reveal the presence of those misguided people in the country who will walk in the middle of the road. Such people appear to think that the cyclist by the aid of his lamp can see them. Unfortunately, this is not the case, as many a rider who has been upset from this cause knows to his cost. Now, with an acetylene lamp, the rider can see everything ahead of him for perhaps 30 to 40 yards very clearly. I am quite sure that this must mean a reduction in the number of night accidents, and consequently the acetylene lamp from this point of view must be a source of safety instead of "menace," not only to the pedestrian but to the cyclist as well. It is certain that if acetylene lamps involved no more trouble and attention to the rider than oil lamps they would speedily become universal, in spite of the "Lancet."—W. F. B., in the "Birmingham Daily Mail."

A Rapid Motor Wheel.

Camile Jenatzsy, of Belgium, has invented a "torpedo" motor-bicycle which, it is said, will do better than a mile a minute. The machine is pointed fore and aft like a cigar, with polished sides and apertures at the top through which the heads of the crew poke up as if rising out of a coffin. The steel cone is for the purpose of contecting the men who guide the machine from the rush of air, which at the pace the machine is capable of is not only terrifying, but dangerous. The pointed front pierces the atmosphere as a projectile impelled by a thirteen-inch bore cannon, the gradual broadening of its width considerably lessening the enormous wind resistance as well.

The motors are entirely concealed inside of the cigar, only the lower part projecting on the under side. The riders have pedals with which to start the machines in motion.

The motors are electric, but what contrivance is employed to secure the necessary power for the fearful speed at which the bicycle travels is not made public. It has gone at a speed of over sixty-five miles an hour. The test was made on a straight-away, level high-way from St. Germain to Constanz.

A Wonderful Woman Rider.

Mrs. Irene Brush, of Brooklyn, who has ridden 400 miles in 48 hours on a bicycle, has set herself a still harder task. She is about to attempt to ride a thousand miles in five days, doing the first 600 miles in sixty hours, then after a rest of twelve hours riding the remaining 400 in forty hours. Mrs. Brush will be paced by a motor-tandem fitted with a wind shield.

[Mrs. Irene Brush.]

No Money in Racing.

Following the announcement that Bald, Zimmerman, Gardiner and Johnson had decided to stop cycle racing, ostensibly because there was no money in it for them, but really because they have defied the League of American Wheelmen, and have therefore been unable to get enough races this year to make the sport an object, comes the information that W. E. Becker, once the five mile national champion, and another of the "outlaw" stars, has also retired. In speaking of the conditions under which the "outlaw" riders have labored, Becker says: "Outside of two or three riders there is not one who has made $100 on the season. To tell you the truth the bicycle racing is a miserable business as at present conducted, and I am thankful to get out of it with a whole skin." He also says that most of the riders have not been able to pay their expenses. A better commentary on "outlaw" government could not be desired.

Position on the Tandem.

The controversy concerning whether a woman should be seated on the front or rear of a tandem has been progressing for many years, the points of contention being usually whether the forward or rearward position was most dangerous, where the most work had to be done, where the most weight should be, and the matter of competent steering. It seems to be undetermined yet whether a woman should ride before or behind in most cases, but common sense says before, and for more than one reason. The woman is usually the lightest. It is more awkward for her to mount on the rear. She makes a better appearance in front. The front is the seat of honor. These reasons are conclusive and sufficient.

Bicycle Bearings.

According to experts the neglect of bearings is a prolific source of injury to bicycles. A loose bearing causes extra friction and extra strain. The machine runs badly and wears out much more quickly. An overtight bearing is almost as bad. A bearing should be adjusted until there is absolutely no side play. The act of securing the nuts, however, sometimes overtightens the bearing, and for this reason the wheel should be spun after the nuts have ben tightened. If the wheel stops at all suddenly it is a sign that the bearing is over-tight, and it should be simply slackened.

A Way to Catch Fish.

Dutch fishermen make astonishing catches by the means of the following very simple plan; They put a number of live worms and insects in a bottle partially filled with water and then cork it securely. The bottle is dropped into the water, the fisherman sinking his line alongside. It appears that the sight of the wriggling contents of the bottle so excites the appetite of the finny tribes that they fall easy prey to the baited hooks.

Women sailors are employed in Denmark, Norway and Finland, and they are often found to be most excellent and deightful mariners

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The Alis boys were out again last evening for practice on the field in the rear of the home of Captain Roy T. Phillips, of Madison avenue. The field was lighted with gasoline torches and some excellent practice was had. The team shows every prospect of being as strong or stronger than ever this year. It was feared that centre was going to be a weak place in the line. George Proctor Smith has been tried there for several evenings and has done very well. He is likely to be a fixture unless his playing in games is far below what it promises to be. Dick Waring will probably have to go into the line on account of a severe wrench to his ankle, which will not permit the activity necessary for a back.

The football team at Rutgers College, New Brunswick, has been practicing now for nearly two weeks. All of last year's 'varsity men are back with the exception of two substitutes. Fifteen men have been attending the training table for a week. William VanB. VanDyck, '96, star full-back of the Rutgers' championship team of 1894, has been engaged to coach and train the team throughout the season. Herbert DeW. Bapalje, manager of this year's eleven, announces the following complete schedule: Saturday, September 30, Columbia, at New Brunswick. (Subject to change); Saturday, October 7, Lehigh, at South Bethlehem; Saturday, October 14, Lafayette, at Easton; Wednesday, October 18, Stevens, at Hoboken; Saturday, October 21, Haverford, at Haverford; Wednesday, October 25, Swarthmore, at New Brunswick; Saturday, October 28, Ursinus, at Norristown; Saturday, November 4, Stevens, at New Brunswick. Wednesday, November 8, open; Saturday, November 11, New York University, at New Brunswick; Saturday, November 18, Dickinson, at Carlisle; Wednesday, November 21, Class games: '00 vs. '01; '02 vs. '03; Saturday, November 25, Championship class game.

GOLF.

The Dewey celebration in New York is likely to attract many from the local golf links Friday and Saturday and the usual Saturday afternoon turnout at both clubs will be much smaller than usual.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache, and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents, at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store. GRAND JURY CHARGED

JUSTICE MAGIE REFERS TO SOMERSET PARK MURDER.

Explains the Law and Cautions Jury Not to Allow Sentiment to Sway Them—Jury Investigating the Crime.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 26—The September term of the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Somerset county convened this morning, with Chief Justice Magie presiding. The most important business this morning was the empaneling of the Grand Jury and the charge of Justice Magie with reference to the murder of Paul Roehricht by Mrs. Catherine Fingerhuth at Somerset Park two weeks ago.

In charging the Grand Jury the Justice explained the law in reference to murder cases and the varying degrees of guilt, and cautioned the jurors not to allow their sympathies for the unfortunate woman who committed the crime to sway their action in the application of what the law demands for the case.

After the charge of the justice the grand jury retired and immediately commenced an investigation of the killing of Roehricht. Nearly all the witnesses to the crime were on hand and it is expected that an indictment will be found against Mrs. Fingerhuth immediately, as well as against her son, Oscar, charged with being an accomplice.

The grand jury is composed of representative citizens from all sections of the county, Sheriff Schoonmaker having displayed excellent judgment in choosing them for the important work in hand. Those from North Plainfield are Elston M. French, Richard McCullough and John W. Coddington. Those from Warren are Assemblyman E. E Cooper and Angel Lugo. Harrison B. Wright, of Somerville, was elected foreman of the jury.

The first case called in court this morning was the one against the Somerset Chemical Company. Reed & Coddington, of Plainfield, represent the company.

GERMAN AT HUNTERSTON

SUCCESSFUL ONE AT THE HOTEL SATURDAY NIGHT.

Was Arranged by T. S. Fuller in Honor of Miss Mary Howard Cobb—Led by Miss Cobb and Mr. Fuller—Eighteen Couples.

A successful german was given at the Hotel Hunterston Saturday evening by T. S. Fuller, of New York, one of the guests, in honor of Miss Mary Howard Cobb, of New York. Eighteen couples participated and went through a number of pretty figures. They were led by Mr. Fuller and Miss Cobb.

The favors were all appropriate to the coming Dewey celebration and the face of the Admiral and pictures of his ship with the national colors were utilized. The german opened with a grand march in which each couple carried an American flag while the orchestra played "The Red, White and Blue."

Those who took part in the german were Miss Ivon Garner, of Mississippi, the Misses Smith, of Somerville, the Misses Margaret Fuller and Iva Kellum, of New York, Miss Lora Holbrook, of Brooklyn, Maude Irere Robinson, of East Orange, Mrs. Mitchell, of New York, Mrs. A. J. Brittain, of Buffalo, the Misses Florence R. Beal, Daisy Elsberg, Mary Anderson Reinhart and Madeline Ostermoor, of Plainfield, and Miss Juanita DaCosta Humphrey, of Washington, D. EXPECT TO ENTERTAIN 700.

Parade Committee of Borough Fire Department Completing Arrangements for Their Affair.

There was a meeting of the parade committee of the North Plainfield Fire Department last evening. Nothing of importance was transacted. There was an informal discussion regarding the proposed parade and inspection of the department October 12th.

The principal business talked over was in regard to the entertaining of the seven hundred visiting firemen that are expected to be here on the occasion. No definite arrangements were made about the entertainment. The final settlement of that part of the programme will be disposed of at a future meeting.

Tomorrow evening the members of the Warren Engine Company will meet to try on the new uniforms. Every member is expected to be on hand as early as possible.

Her Face Was too Familiar.

Bridget McCloskey, sometimes called Bridget Coleman, partook too freely yesterday afternoon. Patrolman Mattox found her on East Front street, wandering about with no particular object in view. He locked her up. This morning she was arraigned before Mayor Rockfellow, the City Judge being out of town. As she has been a frequent visitor at court, the Mayor decided that her neglect of the proprieties should be impressed upon her. So he fined her $3.

W. S. Nelson Takes a Wife.

William S. Nelson, of 230 West Front street, and Miss Carrie A. Heidt, of Kenoza Lake, N. Y., were married Monday at the residence of the bride's mother at Kenoza Lake. The groom is a son of William J. Nelson, of this city. After a short wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will come to this city and take up their home on West Second street.

—Miss Holmes, 440 West Front street, will make appointments for scientific massage treatment, hair dressing and manicuring.

LIVE WIRE KILLS HORSE.

ACCIDENT OCCURRED EARLY THIS MORNING IN DUNELLEN.

Horse Belonged to William Waldron, a Milk Dealer, Who Was on His Way to This City to Serve His Customers.

A horse belonging to William Waldron, a milk dealer, living on Rockview avenue, was instantly killed at Dunellen this morning. It is supposed that the horse was shocked by a live electric light wire, which had been blown down by the high wind that prevailed early this morning.

It was about 4 o'clock when Mr. Waldron, accompanied by his wife, left his home for the purpose of serving his customers in this city. Before coming to this city Mr. Waldron serves a few families in Dunellen. He had done so this morning and was on his way to Plainfield. When near the store of Adam Dealaman, his horse, without the least warning, suddenly dropped. Mr. Waldron at first thought the animal had stumbled over something in the highway. He jumped from his milk wagon and with the assistance of his wife attempted to assist the horse to its feet.

It was Mrs Waldron who at first discovered the wire lying upon the ground. She immediately warned her husband of his danger. Her words of warning were none to soon, as Mr. Waldron had come within an ace of touching the live wire. Had he done so he would have met the same fate as his faithful horse.

The wire is thought to have been blown down by the high wind. Mr. Waldron is a brother of Brazille Waldron, the well-known milk dealer of this city. He has but recently gone into the milk business.

BOYS' CLUB NOW OPEN.

CLASSES WILL BE FORMED IN A FEW DAYS.

Open House Last Night—Olaf Saugstad, the Superintendent, Spoke on Objects of the Club and Proposed Plans.

The clubhouse of the Boys' Club was opened last evening to the public and to the boys of the city who are anxious to take part in the work of the club this year. Olaf Saugstad, the superintendent, was on hand to explain the workings of the club. There were a number of interested townfolk who dropped in during the evening to look over the house and expressed themselves delighted with the prospects.

The boys were out in force. Most all of those who have been in the club last year were on hand to apply for membership this season.

No attempt was made to organize any of the classes. That work will not be done for several evenings yet. Mr. Saugstad wants to give every boy a chance to enter before the lists are made up.

Mr. Saugstad made a short address last evening to the boys, telling them the objects of the club and the methods that would prevail during the year. The boys were much interested in the prospect.

The new heating apparatus and the lined ceiling and walls greatly pleased all who knew from personal experience of the cold nights spent there last winter.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

There will be a meeting of the committee on physical work Thursday evening next at 7:45 o'clock in the parlor of the Y. M. C. A.

There will be a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Bicycle Club Thursday evening next, at 8:30 o'clock, in the parlor.

The opening of the physical department will be held Tuesday, Oct. 3d, at which time L. M. Smith, physical director of the Newark Y. M. C. A., with his "Model Classs" will give an exhibition in the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Mr. Smith will have entire charge of the gymnasium. Regular class work in the gymnasium will commence the day following the exhibition. The season promises to be one of the best ever known in the physical department.

Old Man Hurt Falling Out of a Tree.

Mr. Schomp, a farmer living at Dog Corners, is confined to the bed in a critical condition as the result of falling out of an apple tree last Thursday. He fell twenty feet and struck on his back, receiving internal injuries and hurting his spine. The injured man is 65 years of age. Dr. Hallock is attending him.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on L. W. Randolph, Druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50c. and $1. Every bottle guaranteed, or price refunded.

Couldn't Find the Court.

Michael Sullivan was ordered before the City Judge for riding at night without a light. Patrolman Vanderweg stopped him last night. Sullivan showed up at 9 o'clock this morning but fail to find Judge or court. The Mayor held court at 10 o'clock. Sullivan will come up again.

URGE CITY TO OWN WATER SUPPLY PLANT.

Advancement Association Advocates Municipal Ownership.

DISCUSSION OF THE IDEA.

THE WASHINGTONVILLE TROLLEY ALSO COMES UP AGAIN.

Only One Man Opposes the Extension of the Trolley in That Direction—Resolution Urging Local Government to Acquire Water Supply System—Praise for Admiral Dewey—Other Business.

If the business men of this city could have been present at last evening's meeting of the Plainfield Advancement Association, they would have been surprised at the interest displayed by the members. The Board of Trade will have to look to its laurels if it expects to keep pace with the Advancement Association. There was a good attendance last night, and a number of business men applied and were received into membership.

If the efforts being put forth by President Smalley and the members of the Association to benefit the city and borough do not meet with success than it will not be because of hard work. There are several projects on foot to bring about reforms, among them being in relation to lower railway fares, cheaper water rates and a reductions in the price of gas. The principal object to be attained at preeent by the Association, however, is in regard to the ultimate ownership of the water works or the establishment by the city of a new plant.

Owing to the enthusiasm of some of the members, it was thought advisable last evening to dispense with the minutes and proceed at once to business. Among the guests present were Assemblyman E. E. Cooper, of Warrenville, and F. W. Wohlfurt, of Washingtonville.

In opening the meeting President Smalley spoke at some length of the great possibilities for the city and the borough if they were made more attractive and some inducements were held out to the people who desire to make make their homes here.

Secretary Martine said he believed the best way to induce people to locate in Plainfield was to make the city more attractive and by making the cost of living as low as it was consistent with good service. At present outsiders considered that Plainfield was an expensive place to live in. The water rents were outrageously high, he said, and as was also the gas. Secretary Martine cited an instance of a gentleman who formerly lived in Plainfield, but who moved his family to Brooklyn because the water rents and the gas charges here were exorbitant. In this city he had paid $24 a quarter for water, while in Brooklyn he paid but $3 a quarter, and for gas he paid but 80 cents a thousand, while in this city he was compelled to pay $1.80 per thousand. In conclusion Secretary Martine strongly advocated the municipal ownership of the water works in Plainfield. He then offered the following, which was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, An adequate and cheap water supply is of a prime necessity for the well-being and prosperity of every city; therefore be it

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Plainfield Advancement Association that the city of Plainfield and borough of North Plainfield should own and control their own water supply. And to this end we urge upon the Common Councils of this city and the borough to take steps that shall bring about municipal ownership of the present plant; provided, however, that the same can be purchased at a fair figure. Or, failing in that, that action be taken by said Councils to build a plant for the city and borough."

Elston M. French said that he thoroughly indorsed what Secretary Martine had said, and he was in hearty sympathy with the ideas conveyed in the resolution. He also said that he understood that the village of Fair Haven, Vt., had constructed its own water works and that municipal ownership had been a decided success. Remarks were also made along these lines by other members, who were deeply impressed with the suggestions that had been made in relation to the ownership of the water works. Upon motion of Frank Bowley the secretary was directed to send a copy of the resolution to both Councils.

F. W. Wohlfurt, of Washingtonville, was then introduced and spoke at considerable length upon the importance of having the Somerset trolley line extended to Washingtonville. He asked the co-operation of the asso-

SAID HE WOULDN'T GO TO JAIL, BUT HE DID.

Roundsman Frederickson Had a Tussle With Young Ross.

SENT TO JAIL FOR 30 DAYS.

QUARRELED WITH HIS FATHER IN LATTER'S RESTAURANT.

Had Made a Boast That No Policeman Could Take Him to Jail, but Roundsman Frederickson Convinced Him of His Error—Mayor Decided That Term in Jail Would be Best for Him.

It has been a boast of William Ross, Jr., that there wasn't a policeman in Plainfield who could arrest him. Some time ago he was wanted on the charge of non-support brought by his wife. He managed to evade Patrolman Wenzienreid who tried to serve the warrant. Last night Roundsman Frederickson tried his hand and landed Ross in the city jail after a long and hard combat. As a result Ross is languishing in the county jail for a term of thirty days.

Ross, Sr., is the proprietor of the Delmonico Oyster and Chop House on Park avenue. Father and son do not get along very well. Young Ross lives at 527 West Second street with his wife and seven children. The police say that he does little else beside drink rum while his father and father-in-law prevent the wife and children from starving.

The immediate cause of Ross' arrest was his generous use of profane language in front of his father's store. Young Ross went into the place last night and soon engaged in a lively war of words with his father. A crowd soon gathered. Compliments were flying. Then Roundsman Frederickson arrived on the scene. Then elder Ross asked the officer to arrest his son. The son wanted to fight and attacked the officer. Frederickson found it necessary to down his prisoner and put the nippers on him.

Ross refused to go to jail, but Frederickson persevered. The young man, who had imbibed sufficiently to be ugly, fought all the way. Frederickson succeeded in dragging his prisoner as far as the railroad bridge, when Patrolman Higgins came along, and together they carried the kicking, squirming man to the lockup and deposited him in a cell.

He was arraigned before His Honor, Mayor Rockfellow, this morning, his father appearing against him The elder Ross became visibly excited as the trial progressed.

"You scoundrel," was the way he ended his remarks. "You're no use, you loafer." Then the Mayor rapped for order. Father and son occupied most of the time in contradicting each other's statements. The story of the fight enroute to the lockup satisfied the Mayor that Ross needed thirty days in jail to consider the matter.

RAILROAD WRECK AVERTED.

Passengers Unaware the Axle Was Broken Till Danger Was Past.

The eastbound Atlantic City express had a narrow escape from being wrecked yesterday afternoon at North Elizabeth owing to the breaking of an axle under the forward truck of the tender.

The train consisted of an engine and four vestibule cars filled with passengers. The engineer was Bert Stulz, and the fireman J. Dorwart, both of Atlantic City. The train was under slow headway at the time, having just made a stop at Elizabeth. The broken axle ripped fishplates off the rails and and tore up the ties until the train was stopped.

The passengers did not know what had happened until the train stopped. They were transferred to another train.

A Big Real Estate Deal.

J. Erwin Hillpot, a Bound Brook contractor, has closed a deal with Adam Lutz and Jacob Weldy, of New Brunswick, for properties owned by them at Nos. 53, 55 and 57 Albany street. Mr. Lutz sold his store and residence at Nos. 53 and 55 Albany street for $4,000, and Mr. Weldy sold his store at No. 57 Albany street. Mr. Hillpot represents a syndicate of New Yorkers, who will erect stores and a theatre.

WILL DEVOTE DAY TO LAWN TENNIS

Hillside Club to Hold Championship Tournament.

ON SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7.

WILL BE HELD ON PRIVATE COURTS OF COUNCILMAN MELLICK.

Championship Cup Now Held by Henry V. Ryder—He Will Play Winner of the Tournament—Old and New Players Will Contest—Much Interest in Contest Shown—Championship to be Revived

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club has decided to devote one afternoon at least to the game of tennis, once so overwhelmingly popular with the members of that club. The contest for the tennis championship of the club is to be revived and the club tournament to decide the holder of the club championship trophy has been set for Saturday afternoon, October 7th.

Since the club moved into its new quarters on the hill there have been no tennis courts in connection with the club house. George P. Mellick, who has been one of the strongest supporters of the game in Plainfield, has offered the use of the fine courts adjoining his bungalow, near the club house. The tournament will consequently be held there.

Arrangements have been made for the tournament and a number of entries have been promised. It will be open only to club members. The club cup has been won twice by Henry V. Ryder, the present holder. The winner of the tournament will therefore meet Ryder to decide the championship for the year. If Ryder wins, the cup will become his personal property, having been won three times.

There are still in the club a number of the old enthusiasts who used to take such an interest in the game of tennis and appear at the various tournaments. Most of them have promised to be on hand. Then there are a number of new members who have played the game more or less and are willing to try for the championship.

The entries will be closed several days before the tournament and the drawing of the players will take place. If possible, several of the matches of the preliminary and first rounds will be played in the morning so that the tournament can be completed that night. It is doubtful if the championship round can be decided that night and the match between the winner of the tournament and Ryder will probably be played at a later date.

RUMPUS IN THE ALLEY.

Lee Wells Indulged in too Much Red Eye and Did Exciting Stunts.

Fairchild's Alley had another visitation from the police last evening. Patrolman Higgins came in the alley to find Special Officer "Jim" Babbitt, Czar of the Alley, rather busy in trying to keep one of his neighbors from cleaning out the neighborhood.

Lee Wells, a colored man of usually excellent character, has partaken too freely and was preparing to do all sorts of stunts. Higgins took him in charge. Wells was for going home again but the officer impressed upon him the necessity of continuing to the jail.

In consideration that Lee Wells had behaved himself in the past and never given the police any trouble before, Mayor Rockfellow suspended sentence this morning.

High Courts of Foresters.

The thirteenth annual convention of the High Court of New Jersey Foresters was held at Hoboken yesterday. High Chief Ranger L. Titsworth, of Dunellen, presided. Watchung Lodge of this city was represented by Chief Ranger Remsen and Financial Secretary Orra Rodgers. The report of High Secretary J. H. Dravis, of Elizabeth, showed that the order now has a membership of 3,660 in this State, with $3,000 in the high court treasury and no liabilities.

Peck to be Patriotic

Peck, the dry goods man, has not been waited upon by any committee seeking to have Friday observed as a holiday, but he announces that he will comply with the Mayor's proclamation and keep his store closed all day Friday irrespective of anyone else.

Two Candidates to Initiate.

PAY ROLL WAS $8,500.

THAT MUCH CASH IS DISTRIBUTED FOR WORK ON TROLLEY.

Six Hundred Men on the Roll of Contractor Serrell—Italian Employes Paid According to Their Tickets

The Italians employed in building the trolley lines of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company were all paid off last Saturday. It required $8,500 to meet the pay roll Saturday. The men are paid every two weeks. Judge E. R. Collins acts as paymaster, and he had his hands full in seeing that some 600 men received their pay. Paymaster Collins drove all along the line between Westfield and Roselle and to Scotch Plains. Each Italian workman has a number and ticket identifying him. The rules of the railway company regarding the payment of wages are as follows:

The men will be paid every two weeks. Each man will be paid only his own ticket. Men having two tickets will be discharged. When men are discharged they will be paid upon presenting ticket at office. Men leaving the work of their own accord will not be paid until the regular pay day. Any man found creating discontent among the men will be immediately discharged. The company has no interest in any boarding house, and the men will not be discharged for boarding where they please.

"POINT BREEZE CAMP."

A POPULAR RESORT FOR PLAINFIELDERS IN THE SUMMER.

It is on the Shores of Lake Wentworth up in New Hampshire—Plainfielders Who Have Enjoyed Life There.

There have been a number of Plainfielders this summer who have discovered the delights and pleasures afforded by an outing at "Point Breeze Camp," charmingly situated on the banks of Lake Wentworth, four miles from Wolfsboro, N. H. The season at Point Breeze Camp has been the most successful since it was started way back in the '30's. The camp was founded by G. E. Carhart. In 1890, C. H. Stevens, the present proprietor of the Camp, visited the place and was so pleased that the following year he built a cottage there and afterwards took charge of the entire resort. In 1895 an addition to the camp was built and named "Murray Hill Hotel," in honor of J. W. Murray of this city, who was one of the early guests.

The guests at the camp are like one great family and many pleasant days have been spent there. Lake Wentworth is one of the most famous bass fishing grounds of New England. This year the largest catch was made by Mrs. J. W. Murray, of this city, the fish weighing four and three-quarter pounds.

The Plainfielders who have found their way to this delightful resort during the past summer were: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sandford, Miss Sadiee R. Sandford, Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, Miss Mary Rushmore, Murray Rushmore, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Roome, Clarence Roome, Howard Roome and Reginald Roome, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Miss Virginia Hegeman, Harold Hegeman, Cupid Hegeman, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Scott, J. T. Scott, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McGee and Willard Wadsworth. H. D. Brewster and family and R. E. Tilney and family, all of New York, well-known here, were also among the guests.

PLAYED PROGRESSIVE EUCHRE.

Misses McKeon Entertained a Party of Friends Pleasantly.

The Misses Kate and Mamie McKeon, of West End Park, tendered a progressive euchre party to a number of friends last evening. The first gentleman's prize was won by Samuel Frazee and the first lady's prize by Miss Carty. The gentlemen's consolation prize fell to the lot of Mr. VanFleet and the lady's to Miss Kelly. Among those present were the following: Messrs. O'Keefe, Eick, Keeley, Frazee, E. Hines, J. Hines, Revielle, Lynch, Owens, Connelley, VanFleet; Misses N. Keeley, J. Keeley, A. Keeley, Madden, Mullen, Kelley, Carty, Sullivan; Mrs. VanFleet and Mrs. Smith.

Daily Concerts to be Discontinued.

The daily concerts at the Hotel Hunsterton will not be continued any longer this season. The orchestra will play at the hotel Wednesday and Saturday evenings for dancing and the usual attendance of Plainfield society folk at these informal affairs is expected.

MR GOURLEY DOES NOT INTEND TO BE PUSHED.

He Replies to Address Issued by Daly Cohorts.

ANSWERS THEIR ATTACK.

DECLARES THEIR GRIEVIENCES NOT TO BE WELL FOUNDED.

State Chairman Says That Bryan Will be Nominated and That the State Committee Has Acted Entirely Right in all its Proceedings—Says That He Does Not Propose to Get Out of the Race.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Paterson, Sept. 27.—William B Gourley, chairman of the New Jersey State Democratic Committee, took occasion yesterday to reply vigorously to "An address to the voters of New Jersey," was promulgated yesterday by Congressman Daly and the rest of the committee of fifteen appointed in a recent silver conference in the Ridgway House in Philadelphia.

"Will I resign?" said Mr. Gourley, when asked whether he intended to step down and out, in compliance with the demand. "I am not of the retiring kind. I shall not be led into any controversy with the gentlemen. My sole desire is for party harmony. If these gentlemen do not desire party success, I am not with them. My quarrels are with my opponents in party.

"I may point out that the only fact set forth in this address, concerning the State Committee, is that the State Committee defied the loyal Democrats of the State by refusing to receive into their committee a true Democrat, a man chosen by his party to represent them on that committee, and that the committee did appoint one who was not accepted by his county as a consistent Democrat. This statement, which is the basis of the whole address, as far as it concerns the State Commitee, is untrue. The reference is to the county of Burlington.

"Since 1895, the year of creating the State committee by selecting a representative from each county, it has been the practice to allow the county committees, in case of vacancy, to propose a man to fill the vacancy. A petition was presented from Burlington county in favor of E. P. Budd, signed by thirty-four out of thirty-nine members of the County Executive Committee. Another petition was presented, signed by five out of seven of what was called a central committee. This committee is named by the chairman of the County convention. The other committee is elected and is the body that named the election officers.

"The State committee unanimously adopted the recommendation of the executive committee and named Mr. Budd. It was stated that he voted for Mr. Bryan in 1896, contributed toward the campaign fund, and was on the stump for Bryan in that fight.

"The signers of this address therefore have signed their names to a false statement, and I am sure will regret to learn this is so. Every one of them, I am confident, would have voted the same way if he had been in the meeting of the State committee.

"The gentlemen proclaim themselves as supporters of William J. Bryan. If this is so, it is not evident to them that no other name will be mentioned in the National convention and in the State convention than that of Bryan? If they want to see him elected, and have at heart the success of the party, they should, like all loyal Democrats, work with us to achieve success, and not attempt to create a disunited party. The new rule regarding county committees goes into effect this fall. We shall have a better organization than our opponents throughout the State, and, with prudent counsel, harmony and energetic work, shall restore to the Democracy its former record as the dominant political party of the State."

NEW TROLLEY CARS.

They Are to be Almost Double the Size of Present Ones.

The new cars ordered for the Plainfield Street Railway Company and the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company are under way and will be completed in a few weeks. They are to be closed cars and will be run from Plainfield out the Scotch Plains line to Westfield as soon as it is opened and will eventually go to Elizabeth. The new cars are thirty-four feet long with double trucks. The old cars in this city are only eighteen feet long.

FINGERHUTH NOW UNDER ARREST, TOO.

Locked up in Somerset County Jail With Wife and Son.

CAUSE FOR IT IS A SECRET.

SUPPOSED THAT HE WILL BE HELD AS AN ACCESSORY TO MURDER.

Grand Jury Expected to Bring in an Indictment This Afternoon—A Claim Now Made That Roehricht Had a Wife and Children, Whom He Deserted, Now Living in Germany.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 27—Developments in the Roehricht murder case are expected this afternoon. Yesterday the Grand Jury listened to the testimony in the case. It was the first to be brought to the attention of the Grand Jury, and, although there is a large batch of other cases to be considered at this session, it is understood that the Jury will bring in an indictment in the case without waiting to consider any of the others.

Special Officer Totten went to Plainfield yesterday afternoon and went to the Allen farm in Washington Valley where Theodore Fingerhuth has been living since he was released the day after the shooting.

Fingerhuth was placed under arrest and brought to this place on the train leaving Plainfield at 8:13 o'clock last night. He was locked up in the county jail. Although no statement was made by the prosecution it is understood that Fingerhuth's arrest means that he will be held as an accessory to the crime.

Coulman Walter L. Hetfield and William G. DeMeza, counsel for Mrs. Fingerhuth, were notified by the Prosecutor to be here this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Shortly after that it is expected that the Grand Jury will bring in an indictment in the case. There will undoubtedly be an indictment of Mrs. Fingerhuth for murder with Theodore and Oscar Fingerhuth named as accessories.

It is possible that the prisoners may be arraigned before Judge Magie in the Court of Oyer and Terminer later in the afternoon. If not arraigned this afternoon it will take place in a day or so. Counsel for the Fingerhuths will then enter a plea of not guilty for all of them and then a date will be set for the trial.

Judging from what has been said in the case, one of the principal arguments of the defence will be that Roehricht was not the good man he has been painted and that he greatly overstepped all his rights and privileges, and that he went so far that the shooting was justifiable. A man named Charles Schrann, said to be prominent in the meat trust in New York, will undoubtedly be called upon by the defence to tell his story at the trial.

He says, it is alleged by the defence, that Roehricht has a wife and two children living in Germany. The wife is his sister. His father, Schrann says, started Roehricht in business in Berlin, but that the latter left there suddenly leaving only debts behind him. The German Mrs. Roehricht then secured a divorce in the German courts which is not recognized in New York, however. There are two children, a son twenty-six years old, and a daughter twenty four years old. Schrann declares that they will institute proceedings to recover their share of the property left by Roehricht in in New York and at Somerset Park. Schrann says that the woman in New York, supposed to be Roehricht's wife, was his housekeeper.

W. B. Heidelolf Takes a Wife.

Werner B. Heidloff, brother of J. J. Heidloff, of Somerset street, and the clerk in the latter's store, was married at noon today to Miss Ida Johnson, of Norwich, Conn. Among the guests present from this city were A. B. Vail and Frank Blatz. The latter filled the honor as best man. After a short wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Heidloff will return to this city and take up their residence on Watchung avenue.

Death of Catherine King.

The death of Catherine King occurred yesterday afternoon at the home of her brother, A. B. King, of 36 Chatham street. The funeral will be held from the latter's house tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock and from Warren chapel at 1:30 o'clock.

Bible Society Met.

The thirty-second annual meeting of the Somerset County Bible Society was held yesterday in the Bound Brook Presbyterian church. Rev. James Le Fevre, of Middlebush, delivered the sermon.

NO BUSINESS TO BE TRANSACTED FRIDAY.

The Day to Be Observed In Honor of Dewey.

MOVEMENT IS IN FAVOR.

ALL THE MERCHANTS AGREE TO CLOSE THEIR STORES.

Proclamations of Mayors Rockfellow and Smalley Will be Generally Observed—Uncertain Ones Got Into the Movement When They Saw the Idea was Meeting With General Favor.

A goodly share of the population of Plainfield will move to New York Friday to honor America's naval hero, Admiral George Dewey. Those that will remain will, most of them, enjoy a holiday. The proclamation of the Mayors of the city and borough asking that Friday be observed as a holiday have had the desired result. All the stores, with the exception of the drug stores, barber shops and a few others, will close tomorrow night and remain so until Saturday morning.

Several of the clerks interested in the general observation of Dewey Day made the rounds of most of the stores and met with almost unanimity in favor of closing Friday. There were a few merchants who were inclined to hang back and see what the rest were going to do. When they found that the day was to be so generally observed, they joined in the procession and agreed to keep their establishments closed all day.

The department and dry-goods stores are all going to close. The shoe dealers are unanimous for the closing movement. All the groceries will shut their doors. The hardware men were among the first to agree to observe the day. The meat markets favor general closing. Then there are a number of other stores that have decided to make no attempt to do business that day.

In the borough, the day will be as generally observed as in Plainfield. The merchants there all favor closing and there will be no more business there Friday than in the city.

MOSES D. BROWN DEAD.

FOR MANY YEARS HE WAS AN ENGINEER ON THE CENTRAL.

Born in This City November 5th, 1827—Illness Lasted for Nine Months—Funeral to be Held in Methodist Church.

After an illness of about nine months, nearly three months of which he was confined to his bed almost helpless, Moses D. Brown died at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. L. J. Denton, No. 2 Washington avenue, aged 71 years, 10 months and 21 days. Death was due to dropsy.

The deceased was born in this city November 5th, 1827. For many years Mr. Brown was a faithful engineer on the Central Railroad, and it was while filling a position on the Central road that he lost his arm. He was a member of the order of Locomotive Engineers, being a charter member of Phillipsburg Division, No. 30.

Mr. Brown married the eldest daughter of the late Steven Pangborn, of this city. He is survived by his wife and eight children, four sons and four daughters.

The funeral will be held at the house at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The services will be conducted by the Rev. W. C. Snodgrass of the First Methodist church. Interment will be in the Presbyterian cemetery at North Plainfield.

Music in Metuchen.

A very successful Musicale was given at Robin's Hall, Metuchen, last evening. It was arranged by Fred W. Spencer, violinist, who is now a guest at Avon Park. He was assisted by Miss Katheryn Quinn, accompanist. C. Maynard Evans, of this city, gave several whistling solos and E. C. Martin, also of this city, took part in the programme and sang very acceptably.

To Try on Uniforms.

Every member of Warren Engine Company is expected to be present at the engine house this evening for the purpose of trying on the new uniforms. Other business will possibly be transacted with regard to the approaching parade and inspection of the fire department

Smoker to Follow Business.

A regular meeting of Central Lodge, A. O. U. W., will be held tomorrow evening. Several propositions will be received and the good and welfare committee has made arrangements for a smoker to follow the business session.

EVERYTHING SUITS DEWEY

The Hero of Manila Bay Says Arrangements for His Reception Are All Right.

HE WANTS NO CHANGES

Says He is in the Hands of New York People and is Ready to Sanction Their Movements.

The Early Arrival of the Olympia Not to Interfere With the Original Plans for the Reception—Officially Welcomed by Mayor—Admiral Dewey Talks.

New York, Sept. 27.—While the arrival of Admiral Dewey was two days ahead of schedule time, the general plans of the various committees have not been materially interfered with in consequence. The only matter requiring specific change was the welcoming of the Admiral by Mayor Van Wyck, which necessitated this particular part of the function being performed to-day instead of Thursday as originally arranged for.

The Olympia was lying at anchor off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, when the Mayor and a portion of the reception committee boarded her and found Admiral Dewey in the best of health and spirits. After pleasant greetings had been passed between the visitors and the hero of Manila Bay, Mayor Van Wyck officially informed the Admiral of the several features of the program that have been arranged for his entertainment and reception, and that the people of Greater New York extended to him the hand of hospitality, their hearty good wishes and a royal welcome. The Admiral said that any arrangements the committees had decided upon were entirely satisfactory to him, and urged that in as much as he was a little ahead of time in arriving in New York harbor, that none of the original plans for the celebration should be changed. He said he should consider himself in the hands of New York people for the balance of the week and that they are at liberty to do with him as they see fit, and their movements will receive his sanction.

Admiral Dewey was visibly affected by Mayor Van Wyck's remarks and said that he was not much of a speech-maker—never made a public speech in his life, and at this time felt that he had not command of language sufficient to express his grateful appreciation of the magnificent welcome prepared for him upon his return to his native land. He said he could not understand that he deserved so much attention, but for once, at least would be obliged to bow in humble submission to the wishes of the majority.

Previous to Mayor Van Wyck's visit to Admiral Dewey, Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, Richard Croker, St. Clair McKelway and William McAdoo, of the reception Committee, called and tendered the Admiral the freedom of the city, and after a pleasant chat boarded the police boat Patrol and returned to New York.

Atlantic Highlands, N. J., Sept. 27.—Admiral Dewey was seen on his flagship, the Olympia, as she lay at anchor at the southwest spit. He was busy writing letters in his cabin, the breech of an 8-inch gun at his elbow, when the visitors to the flagship boarded. He made his appearance in a few minutes on the quarter-deck dressed in the fatigue uniform of an Admiral, and his elastic step showed that he was far from the physical wreck the American people have pictured recently to themselves. His dog Bob, a Filipino dog, of brown furry coat was at his heels. The Admiral politely but firmly refused to talk at length upon any of the many important questions upon which the people of the United States have learned to regard him as an authority.

He emphatically expressed his absolute confidence in the ability of the United States to settle the question of the Philippines, and as emphatically declined, even with a show of irritation, to talk about the attitude of Admiral Diederichs at Manila. He denied that the Filipinos were capable of running their own government. He spoke in a sanguine way of his health. Aguinaldo he stamped as a figurehead.

He explained the reason for the arrival of the Olympia at Sandy Hook two days ahead of the expected time.

"We are in the habit of arriving in time, and haven't missed a place yet. Fortune was with us on the run from Gibraltar. When we weighed anchor there a week ago last Saturday afternoon, I determined to make an allowance for at least one of the storms that a sailor must expect on the southerly course at this season of the year. So we shaped our course with three days' allowance for delays. The winds this week favored a quick run, and as we met no storms of any consequence we found ourselves at home two days ahead of time.

"I knew that the people expected us, and rather than run the risk of failing afoul of the plans that they have so generously made for our reception, I thought it was best to be on the safe side. And then we are not in the city or at Tompkinsville, either, so that I do not anticipate that the earliness of our arrival will cause any complication whatever. I suppose we must now surrender ourselves to the mercies of the American people."

In answer to a question regarding the situation in the Philippines, Admiral Dewey wheeled half-way round on his heel and said briskly: "There are a good many questions on which I may be expected to talk, but I will have to defer to a great extent my opinions until I have reported to Washington.

"I shall go there on Tuesday, and I cannot say how long my stay at the capital will be. I have many intimate friends there, and so long as the Government sees fit to keep me there I shall stay. As to the Philippines, I am no talker; never was. I have often wished that I could talk, but I never made a speech, and I'm too old to learn those tricks. You know as much about the Philippines as I do. Any intelligent American citizen who has followed with the right interest what has happened there since we whipped the Spanish fleet knows as much of that problem as I or any man aboardship.

"Ever since I left the Islands I have read everything bearing upon the Islands and what has transpired there since we left that I could obtain. At the time I left I said that the insurgents were on their last legs. It's got to come, they can't stop it. They can't hold out against the Army and Navy. I believe then that they would be unable to secure the arms and ammunition, without which they could not wage war, but I have learned through the newspapers since that they have receievd the necessary supplies. That must be stopped, and the insurgents will then be of little strength. They are good soldiers, splendid ones, and their powers of endurance are remarkable."

"Do you consider that the Filipinos are yet capable of self-government, at least enough so to allow of the withdrawal of American forces?'

"No, they are not, but in time they will be. It is bound to come out right. Bound to," replied Admiral Dewey, decisively.

"I will say this much, though, for the Filipinos. They are more capable of governing themselves than the Cubans are."

"Some of them I doubt not, are now capable of administrating affairs, but the great majority of them have the crudest ideas of an honest and efficient government. Their greatest fault is this: They don't know the meaning of the word 'honesty.' Of course, like all Malays who have had educational advantages they are wonderfully capable of imitative construction and are admirable artisans when trained."

At this point Admiral Dewey was asked what he thought of the mention of his name for the Presidency. The gallant seaman braced his shoulders, thrust out his right hand expressively and laughed good naturedly before he replied:

"They don't know me."

"Gen. Joe Wheeler has been mentioned as your running mate."

"Well, well, is that true? A fine mess we two would make of it. The army and navy. That's too good, really, to be true. You know the old saying, 'Once a soldier always a soldier.' That covers Wheeler's case.

"Then it is once an Admiral, always an Admiral," was suggested.

"Yes, that covers my case," laughed Dewey.

"But the change would be only to another craft, the ship of State," was said.

"Too much of a change, too much," replied Dewey. "Now, Wheeler has had some political training in his life, but for me, my son, I know as much about politics as Bob here," said the Admiral, stooping to stroke the dog's head and dismissing the subject with one of his expressive gestures. Then he straightened up stiffly. "Orderly, go in my room and get that picture of Gen. Luna," he said suddenly. "Luna," he resumed, was killed by Aguinaldo's orderly while I was on my way back to the United States. The orderly was an expert swordsman and when Luna attempted to brush past him after the orderly had refused to let him pass, Luna was killed.

"He was one of Aguinaldo's best generals. Paterno. I should say, is the ablest of them now. Aguinaldo is nothing but a figurehead. He is only of average intelligence and ability. The brains are back of him. In Manila he is held at his true worth, and there they know who is responsible for what successes, if any, that have attended the efforts of the Filipinos to rebel against our government. Aguinaldo was only a clerk in the navy yard at Manila before he took the field against the Spanish. The men who actually have the most influence among the Filipinos are a number of lawyers, unquestionably able men.

"I have a very fine cane made of native wood and trimmed with gold, that was presented to me by Aguinaldo. We became quite friendly before the Filipinos became our enemies. So far as that goes we are friends yet," and Dewey gave a quizzical smile. The photograph of Gen. Luna, a typical Filipino with a decided strain of negro in appearance, bore on its back an inscription written by the Archbishop of Manila, Bernadino Nesaleda.

"The Archbishop," said Dewey with another of those quiet smiles, "is the gentleman who declared that the Spanish fleet would wipe the scum of the earth off the face of the sea, when the Spaniards heard that we were on our way to Manila. Well, the Archbishop became a good friend of mine in good time, and we passed many a pleasant hour together on the Olympia. I remember very distinctly one day, when he turned to me on the quarter deck and pointing to the crew mustered forward, said, 'Admiral, you must be a proud man to know that you have command of such a fine body of men and to know that they respect and love you.'

"I answered that our ship was only one of many on which the same relations existed and where the crews were made up of just the same fine chaps. The archbishop was quiet for a moment and then said with every show of feeling, 'Admiral, they are not the scum of the earth. Those men are the pick of the earth. I have seen the ships and crews of every nation, but I have never seen what is shown to me on this American warship.' I called to one of the men and asked him, 'How much do you get a month?' 'Eighty dollars,' he said, with a salute.' Dewey smiled again in his quiet way. "That's more than a whole ship's crew gets on board a Spanish man-of-war. Why shouldn't we have the pick of the earth, didn't those men show it in the way they fought at Manila, and haven't they shown it ever since?"

The criticism aimed at Gen. Otis from certain quarters was mentioned, and Dewey said, with quickening interest:

"The last thing that I told Otis when I left Manila was this: 'You're trying to do too much.' He's down there wearing himself out, and more than once have I told him that if he did not give up some of his work or come home he'd die there in a year. And I believe it, too. Gen. Otis is an unusually painstaking man, and he's not only Governor-General and directing the movements of the army in the field, but he's working with might and soul at everything that comes under his notice in the way of putting down the rebellion and bringing order out of chaos in the islands.

"It's altogether too much work for one man, and Otis has some exceptionally able lieutenants. With new troops being hurried to him, and our comparative familiarity with what we have to overcome there, I think that the outlook is a cheering one."

The talk then swung to questions about his health, to which the Admiral answered: "I feel very well, thank you: much better than the day I left Manila. The voyage has done me great good, and with great consideration the Department did not enjoin haste upon our return.

"After I have had a good rest on shore I think I shall feel as strong and healthy as I ever did."

"Admiral, can't you say something about the alleged interference or aggressive attitude of the Germans at Manila?" was asked.

The first appearance of brusqueness bordering on irritation was evident. Dewey whirled about on his heel, facing the entrance to his wardroom on the port side of the Olympia, and said quickly, "Now, that's something that I won't talk about. Not a word."

"As to the Dewey reception," said the Admiral facetiously, "I am afraid that I can not miss that. Is it true that Schley has been assigned to the South Atlantic squadron?" When he was answered affirmatively he inquired, "What ship will he have? The Chicago, probably? Yes, that's Howison's ship. When Howison stopped in at Aden on his present cruise, they thought there that the Chicago was the Olympia, and gave him the Admiral's salute of seventeen guns. I'd like to see Howison. He was two classes ahaed of me at the Academy. Now I think I have said enough. I've got a long letter to write and I don't like to put anything off. I'm glad to see any newspaper men. They had a splendid lot of men at Manila, and no matter what I told them, they never misquoted or betrayed any confidence. And there never was a place that they would not go when the fighting was on." Dewey turned to an 8-inch gun and patted the breech affectionately. "There's one of the boys that did the work." The Admiral's Chinese steward passed the door just then, and Dewey pointing him out, said:

"There's Ah Leen. He's been in our service for fifteen years, and yet he can't land with us when we parade. Our Chinese servants did some good fighting that day at Manila, and there's not a more loyal servant of Uncle Sam on board the Olympia than Ah Leen."

"But the Treasury Department has decided to let the Chinamen on board take part in the land parade," Admiral Dewey was informed.

His face lighted up with a cheery smile and he called Ah Leen. Ah Leen stood quietly at attention while Admiral Dewey said slowly, "Ah Leen, the United States let Chinamen go land parade."

"Me likee velly much, velly much," said Ah Leen. And then he hurried away to tell his fellow-countrymen of their good fortune.

"Now, that's the best news I have heard in a long time," beamed the Admiral. "Those faithful fellows will get their medals, but I had despaired of their being allowed to land. Now plase don't ask me another question for I can't answer any more. Take a good look about the ship and enjoy yourselves. Fine boat, isn't she? She never failed us and is as handsome a man-of-war as I have ever seen. She's in splendid condition. She will have to go in dry dock to have the hull cleaned, but she behaved splendidly on the way home. The English ports of course gave us the best receptions, but you know that I refused every invitation that I possibly could, for I don't care much for that kind of thing. I'm in for it now though, I'm afraid."

They All Did Him Honor.

New York, Sept. 27.—Hundreds of despatches received here from all parts of the country convey the information that scarcely a city, town, village, hamlet or crossroad, between Van Buren, Me., and San Diego, Cal., unless far removed from a telegraph office, omitted a patriotic and noisy demonstration on hearing that Dewey was home. Tons of powder were burned in artillery salutes in scores of towns, and the ringing of church bells, blowing of whistles and raising of flags and cheering of crowds were common to all. Vermont, the Admiral's native State, tried to outdo even its larger sister Commonwealth in the fevor of its plaudits.

Criminal Wanted in Cleveland.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 27.—Wallace S. Bennett, son of the former Chief of Police at Richmond, has been arrested as a fugitive from Cleveland, where he escaped from jail, where he was held for larceny. He was married but a short time previous to his arrest.

Factory Will be Moved.

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 27.—This city has secured the location of the Wilke Refrigerator Company, headed by Fred J. Wilke and Wescott, of Richmond. They will at once begin the erection of plants, which will open the first of the year with 100 employes.

Knights Templars Meet at Syracuse

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The Grand Commandery of the Knights Templars of the state of New York opened its eighty-sixth conclave in this city. There were twenty-eight commanderies and twenty-six bands of music in line in the grand parade.

Swedish Baptists Convene.

Meriden, Conn., Sept. 27.—The annual conference of the Swedish Baptist ministers of the eastern states was called to order in the Swedish Baptist Church in this city. The Rev. O. G. Engstrand of Brooklyn, president of the church council, presided.

Threaten to Lynch Murderer.

Jamestown, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Excitement caused by the murder of Emily Adolphson has not abated and the authorities have fears that an attempt will be made to lynch the man locked up charged with the murder.

Carriage Makers Assign.

Wooster, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Myers & Blackwood, wholesale manufacturers of buggies and carriages, at Orrville, have made an assignment to N. L. Royer. Their liabilities are $75,000 assets, $15,000.

To the Sick.
Indisputable Facts.
Disease, fermentation and decay are caused by microbes and germ life; when these organic pests are destroyed there can be no sickness.
Antiseptics are so called because they destroy microbes; surgeons always use antiseptics in performing dangerous operations.
Carbolic acid is a common antiseptic, but is poisonous if taken into the system strong enough to destroy the germs of disease.
Radam's Microbe Killer, composed of GASES, is an antiseptic, perfectly harmless to the human body, but doubly powerful in destroying disease if faithfully applied. Physicians frequently use Microbe Killer in treating Cancers, and recommend it for Catarrh, Tuberculosis, etc.; others know it to be invaluable in Bright's Disease and Bladder Troubles.
Fermentation of food in the stomach causes Dyspepsia, Sourness, etc.; Radam's Microbe Killer destroys the CAUSE and sweetens the stomach.
Impoverished blood is the nome of germ life; when pure it is the fountain of life, the source of all health and vigor.
Radam's Microbe Killer is the only rational remedy for all diseases; its antiseptic power eradicates every disease from the human body.
These facts are incontrovertible, and we invite the fullest investigation by all interested people, professional or otherwise.
We would like to mail you, absolutely free, a book containing testimonials and advice.

ROBBED ANOTHER HOUSE.

Prisoner Escapes and Goes Back to His Old Calling.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 27.—James S. Lynch, the colored diamond thief who escaped from the penitentiary last Tuesday morning, and on account of whose escape two guards lost their official heads and two more are under suspension, has been captured by Detective Tom Foster, of the local police force, and is now safe behind the bars. Lynch made another record for himself while out, and is supposed to have worked off a job committed in the North End, as he had in his possession when arrested a lady's gold watch with the name of Maggie McCune engraved on it. The McCune residence was robbed Monday night. Besides the watch Lynch had a plain gold ring and two watch chains, property taken from the residence robbed.

He was captured out near the Academy of St. Mary's, of the Springs, and he informed Captain Langenberger that he had been in that neighborhood ever since he escaped. Lynch accuses Guard Frank Houser of standing in with him in his escape. Frank Houser has been dismissed from the penitentiary.

Three Killed in a Wreck.

Auburn, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The New York Central westbound passenger train came into collision with an eastbound freight train at Wheeler's Bridge, just outside the city limits. Three men were killed, two are fatally and four seriously injured.

The dead are: Emmet Lanctot, of Rochester, engineer on the freight train; J. G. Curry, of Rochester, fireman on the freight train; A tramp, name and residence unknown.

The fatally injured are: R. J. Frew, of Geneva, baggage man on the passenger train, skull fractured; will die; Thomas Dugan, of Geneva, engineer on the passenger train, will die.

Price of Farm Tools Advanced.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—A special meeting of the Northwestern Plow and Implement Association has been held here. The condition of the steel market was discussed and it was decided to make another advance of about 25 per cent. above the schedule made at the meeting of the association held last July. It was announced during the discussion that iron and steel have advanced considerably within the last ten days, and the association decided to adjourn until Oct. 31, when another meeting is to be held for the purpose of making a further advance, and all contracts let after Nov. 1 are to be under the new schedule.

Carried Brother's Dismembered Arm

Hamilton, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Daniel McGlynn, a fourteen-year-old lad, had his right arm cut off by a C., H. and D. freight train near Hanover Station. The lad was playing with some companions on the track and jumped the freight on Hamilton Hill, and in getting off was thrown under the wheels. His nine-year-old sister, Barbara, witnessed the accident and carried the dismembered arm a quarter of a mile distant to their home, while the boy bravely bore the pain and trudged along by her side. He will recover.

Apple Crop Badly Damaged.

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 27.—Reports received here from various parts throughout the apple district are to the effect that the northwest gale which visited this vicinity stripped hundreds of apple trees, as well as many peach trees. Many apple trees were broken, and some were wrenched from the ground. Growers estimate that fully one-fourth of the apple crop has been blown from the trees, and that 100,000 bushels of apples may have been destroyed.

Quiet Prevails in Samoa.

Aukland, N. Z., Sept. 27.—Advices from Samoa, under date of Sept. 20, received here, say quiet prevails there, but the feeling among the whites is that there is trouble ahead. It is added that Von Buelow, formerly a lieutenant in the German army, who organized the forces of Mataafa, has been going about the country interviewing the Mataafa chiefs. That is objected to by the British and Americans as likely to accentuate the hostile feeling.

More Rioting in Spain.

Ferrol, Spain, Sept. 27.—Rioting has been renewed here. The strikers, with women and children, attacked the men at work in the arsenal. A hail of stones was thrown and revolver shots were fired. The gendarmes charged and dispersed the mob. A number of persons were injured, including the commander of the ironclad Cardenal Cisneros, who was hurt seriously.

Against Sunday Railway Labor.

Boston, Sept. 27.—The usual devotional exercises were held at the opening session of the International Congregational Council, after which the Rev. W. E. Griffis, D. D., of Ithaca, N. Y., offered a resolution bearing on Sunday railway labor and urging members of the Congregational churches to do everything possible to reduce such work.

Fears for Overdue Steamship.

Montreal, Sept. 27.—The Dominion line's steamship Scotsman is several days overdue, and friends of the passengers are anxious. The Scotsman should have reported Friday last. The agents of the line say that the delay is due to the fact that inexperienced stokers were shipped owing to the strike in Great Britain.

Stearns Gets an Appointment.

Albany, Sept. 27.—Martin Heermance having tendered his resignation as one of the State Board of Tax Commissioners Governor Roosevelt has selected Lester F. Stearns of Dunkirk, formerly district attorney of Chautauqua County, to fill the vacancy from Oct. 1 next.

Beat His Child's Assailant.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 27.—Geo. E. Cook is charged with criminally assaulting Evalina Trolly, a child of 5 years. When taken to the child's home for identification by the police he was set upon by the father and child's brother and narrowly escaped death.

. . . TAYLOR & MACDONALD.

A cabinet maker of Woodtown, N. J., suffered with shortness of breath and debility for several years and thought he had lung trouble. At last he was unable to do any work, and a friend recommended Ripans Tabules. "After using one-fourth of a large bottle," he says, "I was like a new man, and continue to feel so. I can not say enough for them."

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

THE BOERS ARE ARMED.

British Authorities Sending Troops to Disarm Them.

Pietermaritzburg, Sept. 27.—A considerable body of Natal Boers, armed with Mauser rifles supplied from Pretoria, are on the frontier ready to fight. British authorities are sending troops to disarm the Boers or drive them over the frontier.

Creates a Bad Impression.

London, Sept. 27.—A despatch to the Times from Johannesburg says that the delay in the statement of negotiations is creating the worst impression among the burghers. They boast that while Great Britain depreciates delay in behalf of the Boers, she intentionally and unnecessarily prolongs the controversy because she is afraid to follow her game of bluff with the argument of force. According to the Times's despatch, everywhere reports are received of the eagerness of the Boers to start hostilities. The postponement is said to be almost wholly due to Gen. Joubert's restraining influence. It is rumored circumstantially that Gen. Joubert has received imperative orders from the burghers that unless he is prepared to take the initiative within a brief period he must relinquish command of the army.

Banker Gets Ten Years.

Kansas City, Sept. 27.—Leonard B. Imboden, president of the Planters' Bank, a "wildcat" concern suppressed by the State officials several months ago, has been found guilty in the Criminal Court of forging a draft for $15,000, with which he hoped to get a false credit for his bank, and was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. Imboden came here from Texas, where he was pardoned by Governor Hogg after serving two years for forgery.

Leprosy in San Francisco.

Washington, Sept. 27.—The War Department is wrestling with a case of leprosy discovered by the health authorities in San Francisco. The victim is a woman, and the officials here requested that she be deported to the leper colony in Hawaii on a transport. The woman heard of this, and a letter has been received from her. She declares she will cry "Leper, Leper, Unclean, Unclean!" from the moment she is put aboard the ship.

Fifty-Three Lost in Gale.

St. John's N. F., Sept. 27.—The loss of another schooner is reported as the result of the recent gale. She foundered with six men, bringing the total of lives lost up to fifty-three. Reports from remote sections of the island confirm the fears as to an extensive destruction of shipping property. Vessels returning from Northern Labrador are also badly damaged.

Routed the Filipinos.

Washington, Sept. 27.—The War Department has received from Manila a despatch in which it is reported that Gen. Snyder attacked the position of the Filipinos five miles west of Cebu and destroyed seven forts and a number of smooth-bore cannon. The natives were routed utterly, and Gen. Snyder returned with his force to Cebu.

Will Sue Canadian Police.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—A. A. Advani, the East Indian who was arrested on Sunday at the request of the police of Ottawa, Ont., and charged with passing a worthless check on C. D. Peacock, the jeweler, declares he will go to Ottawa and seek damages for his detention there.

Worst Storm in Years.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The worst thunder storm that this region has experienced in years continued for about thirteen hours, during which time almost five and one-half inches of rain fell. The streams have overflowed their banks and the lowlands are submerged.

Felt the Earthquake at Sea.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 27.—The earthquakes which shook the Alaskan coast early in September were felt at sea. Three vessels which have arrived from the northern salmon fisheries report having experienced very peculiar weather on Sunday, Sept. 3, the day of the first earthquake.

Maher Defeats Kennedy.

New York, Sept. 27.—Peter Maher knocked out Joe Kennedy of California in the second round of what was to have been a twenty-five round bout at the Lenox Athletic Club.

Another Revolt in Venezuela.

Caracas, Sept. 27.—General Manuel Guzman Alvarez, Governor of the Province of Bermudez, has revolted against the Venezuelan Government.

Wiman Will Make Another Venture

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 27.—It is reported that Erastus Wiman will organize a $2,000,000 commercial agency in opposition to Dun and Bradstreet's.

It Has Come to This in Chicago.

A woman, in answer to an advertisement for a cook applied at a fashionable boarding house on Lake avenue.

She seemed to know her business and was practically engaged when she said:

"I have two children and would like to board with them elsewhere."

"Where is your husband?" asked the landlady.

"He keeps a butcher store on the West Side."

"Don't you live with him? Doesn't he support you?"

"Yes, he does at present," answered the woman, slowly.

"Why do you want to hire out, then?"

"I am afraid of being chopped up," blurted out the applicant.

"Chopped up!" exclaimed the mistress of the house in astonishment.

"Yes," answered the woman, "that is why I am looking for a situation. Butchers, it seems, are inclined to chop up their wives. There's Luetgert and Becker. My husband has been abusing me lately and I've got afraid. There's no knowing what might happen. I want to be on the safe side and get away from him."

The woman was not engaged, much to her disappointment.—Chicago Journal.

EARTHQUAKE KILLS MANY.

Vibrations of the Earth Wipe Out Human Lives by the Hundreds.

DISASTER IS WIDESPREAD

Property Damaged to an Enormous Extent and Towns and Plantations Wrecked.

Disturbance in India Followed by Landslides—Europeans Said to be Among the Victims — Railroads Damaged — Two Hundred Lives Lost at Phool.

Calcutta, Sept. 27.—A succession of earthquake shocks at Darjeeling, one of the principal hill stations, situated about twenty-four hours by rail from this city, has caused great loss of life, and immense damage to property. Nine European children are reported to have been killed. It is known that many of the European children have been sent, to the hills for the hot season, and the loss of life among them may be still greater than now reported. The earthquake shocks were followed by a remarkable rainfall and some terrible landslides. Twenty-eight inches of rain fell in thirty-eight hours. The road in this city was blocked and the railroad seriously damaged.

Paglijhord and many other places were partialy wrecked. About 1,000 acres of tea gardens were destroyed from Jalapaha to Birch Hill. Part of the eastern slope slipped 3,000 feet. The water supply pipe of Birch Hill was destroyed and the electric plant damaged, leaving the town in darkness. At Phool a bazaar was overwhelmed and 200 persons were killed. Twenty-one bodies have already been recovered at Tamsong, in the district of Bustee. At Darjeeling 100 persons perished. A despatch from Allahabad states that a ferryboat was capsized. Kuster, the manager of the railway, Anderson, the chief engineer, and Whitton, a tea planter, were drowned.

New Philippine Steamship Line.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 27.—In a letter to W. H. Chapin, secretary of the Portland-Philippine Trading Association, H. R. Lewis, now in Manila, writes of a new steamship line between Portland, Honolulu and Manila. Mr. Lewis does not say that the line is an accomplished fact, but he does give assurance that indications for such an enterprise are good. He encloses a copy of an advertisement in the Manila papers, which goes to show that the project is there regarded as a certainty. The first steamship to leave Manila, Mr. Lewis says, is to be consigned to the Portland Association, and it was to leave Manila about September 15.

May Employ Convict Labor.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 27.—The state officials are canvassing the feasibility of utilizing the non-employed convict labor in the Prison North in the manufacture of binder twine. About $20,000 is available with which to establish a plant, and as binder twine is controlled by a trust the officials feel that they would please the farmers by starting an independent plant, besides which idle convicts could be given work. One other penal institution in the Northwest is said to be operating a twine factory with great success, and this is encouraging the Indiana officials to undertake a similar experiment.

Standard Buys Another Company.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 27.—It is announced that the Manhattan Oil Company has been purchased by the Standard Oil Company. The Manhattan company was the largest competitor of the Standard in the Lima field. It has an immense refinery at Welker, this county, and controlled extensive pipe and tank lines. The stock of the Manhattan company was picked up quietly by the Standard company.

Have a Skunk Farm in Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 27.—A very unique enterprise has just been established down on the east coast of Florida by a New York syndicate. It is a skunk farm and contains 60 acres on a little peninsula between the St. John's River and the Atlantic Ocean. The location is between Ormond and Miami. The farm will be stocked at once with several hundred skunks brought down from New Jersey.

Bees Stung Him to Death.

Alliance, Ohio, Sept. 27.—John Carson, a farmer, aged sixty-five years, of Newton Falls, was stung to death by bees. Carson desired to work in his apiary, and, to quiet the bees, burned sulphur. That only enraged them, and they swarmed over him, stinging him in hundreds of places. He made his way to the house, where he fell on the floor. Several hours later he died.

Struck By Two Engines.

Galion, Ohio, Sept. 27.—A young man named Dursche and Miss Pearl Moneysmith, while out walking were hit by a train and thrown about 20 feet, alighting on a side track, when they were again struck by a switching engine. The girl was fatally injured, but the man will probably recover. They were soon to have been married.

Discovered Platinum Beds.

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 27.—The owners of the Cripple Hill gold mines, six miles from this city, have discovered red platinum in paying quantities in their mines. The find was accidentally made while assaying for gold. The assay shows five to six pounds of platinum to the ton. This metal is worth $185 per pound.

Coal Rate is Increased.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 27.—At a meeting of the Ohio Coal Traffic Association and the Michigan roads here, it was decided to increase the coal rate, owing to a scarcity of cars and the increased tonnage. The members refused to say what the amount of the increase is to be.

Ready to Act as a Leader.

The Plainfield Advancement Association set out to be progressive and to advocate those things which would be of benefit to the city and borough by increasing the advantages that we might offer to prospective residents and business men who had an idea of locating here. That the Association is in earnest in this respect, is shown by the step taken at the meeting last night when resolutions were passed urging upon the officials of the city and borough the need of the municipal ownership of the water supply system.

The municipal ownership idea in relation to the water supply has been agitated spasmodically for the past two or three years, and has even gone so far as creep into the proceedings of the Common Council in the form of a resolution calling for a thorough investigation into the proposition But there it seems to have halted. The cause for this is due to the fact that though the people at large undoubtedly favor the idea of the city owning and operating the water supply system of the community, the movement has lacked a leader and a substantial backer such as the Advancement Association can serve to be. The organization by its action last night puts itself into the breech, and may now go ahead and crystalize the sentiment of the city into a demand upon the city officials to take aggressive action for the muncipal ownership of the water supply.

Any great movement that means a radical change from the previous condition of things requires conspicuous leadership, and the Advancement Association has placed itself in that light in relation to proposition of the city owning the water supply.

NEW YORK'S LOVING CUP FOR DEWEY.

The loving cup which New York will present to Admiral Dewey is of 18-Karat gold, 13 inches high and has a capacity of four and a half quarts. Besides other decorations it contains a portrait of the Admiral, a representation of the Olympia and the coat of arms of the city. Around the neck are 45 stars representing the states.

Mayor Jones, of Toledo, O., has forbidden the city police to carry clubs, and is thinking of taking away their revolvers. To remonstrants Mayor Jones says he would not be afraid to patrol any district in the city without club or revolver, depending solely on the love and patriotism of the people behind him for protection. The Boston Transcript observes that Mayor Jones ought to remember that the people walking behind the dispenser of municipal offices have a great deal more love and patriotism than those who walk behind policemen.

From the action of the Chickasaw Legislature in raising the fee for marriage licenses from $50 to $1,000 it might be thought that the nation was opposed to matrimony. What it is opposed to, however, is the white adventurer who seeks a Chickasaw bride for the money she draws from the Government.

The Newark News thinks that "If the State of New Jersey owned the Palisades it could make enough out of Dewey parade spectators to pay several years' interest on their original cost."

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The fine roadbed on Park avenue, between Fourth street and Ninth street, was particularly evidenced yesterday after the heavy rain of the early morning. Most of the city streets were almost unridable for wheelmen on account of the many puddles and thick mud that covered them. Park avenue, on the contrary, was almost dry. There wasn't a puddle its entire length and the roadbed was as hard and smooth as could be asked. It was almost equal to asphalt. These are the roads that the street committee is planning to have throughout the city. If they can only be maintained in that condition, Plainfield will have the best macadam roads in the country for there is certainly nothing that can beat them now.

Finley Peter Dunne, author of the "Dooley Papers," has created a new character quite as original and humorous as the Irish philosopher that carried him at a bound into the first rank of American humorists. This new personage is a neighbor of Mr. Dooley. She is an Irish-American, lives on Archey Road, and her name is Molly Donahue. Molly, though humble, has aspirations. She wants to join women's clubs and enter "high toned" society. These desires create dissension in her family, and Mr. Dooley, being a near neighbor and a good friend, is frequently called upon to settle the differences in the Donahue household, which he does in his own way—an exceedingly funny way it is. Molly Donahue will be introduced to the public through the Ladies' Home Journal, and will be met with for several months in the pages of that magazine only.

The lovers of golf who frequent the beautiful Baltusrol golf links little think or know of the horrible tragedy that was enacted in the homestead of the farm upon which are now situated the famous golf links. As the story goes, some fifty or more years ago a peddler came to the quiet homestead in which lived in a plain and quiet manner Baltus Roll and his wife, both quite advanced in years. They were reputed to be rich and thought to keep large sums of money in hiding about the old farmhouse. The peddler sought shelter and lodging for the night. After much pleading he was taken in. In the dead of night the old man and his wife were brutally murdered by the sojourner in order that he might secure the supposed hidden treasure. How the lapse of time obliterates the past. Today at the Baltus Roll homestead naught is known of the past horrid deed; naught is heard but the merry voices of golfers; naught but a pleasure-bent throng tread the beautiful carpet-like green sward of the Baltus Roll farm.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The coming of Weber & Fields' "Hurly Burly" to Music Hall next Saturday is looked forward to by the management as one of the good things of the season. "Hurly Burly" is the extravaganza which enjoyed such a long and prosperous run in New York. For the engagement here thirty-two people are promised, together with new scenery, costumes and stage effects used in the New York engagement. Besides "Hurly Burly" there are seven vaudeville acts by Sylvia Thorne, the celebrated singer; Kelly & Ashby, acrobatic comedians; Casino Comedy Four, singers and comedians; Cook & Sonora introduce their tramp specialties; Hart & Verona, travesty artists; Julia Lee, the Hebrew comedienne; Sadie Harris in sensational toe dancing and others. This engagement promises to be the most successful of the season, and the patrons of this popular amusement resort will doubtless take advantage of the opportunity of witnessing the performance.

Red Hot From the Gun

Was the ball that hit G. B. Steadman, of Newark, Mich., in the Civil War. It caused horrible Ulcers that no treatment helped for 20 years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him. —Drake & Mundy give some startling money saving prices in their advertisement in this issue.

—Tickets for a grand stand to witness both parades at the Dewey celebration and for steamers to witness the yacht races may be secured at Randolph's pharmacy.

—You can make no greater mistake than to neglect attending to your impaired eyesight. If your eyes cause you discomfort have them examined, for this we make no charge. Leech, Stiles & Co., at 107 East Front street, every Thursday. Hours, 10:30 a. m. to 4 p. m.

—A change today in A. M. Griffen's advertisement. The season for stoves, ranges, etc., is here, and those in need of anything in their line would do well to examine their line before buying elsewhere. Don't forget the gunning season is drawing near and a good gun can be found at the same place.

GRAIN-O BRINGS RELIEF

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25c. per package.

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

122 East Front Street.

By our new process of ironing we are enabled to give you a perfect domestic finish, and to launder turn down collars without breaking them. Call and see how we do it; you are welcome to inspect our plant at all times; no mystery about our work.

Hand work on all shirt waists, cost a little more, but perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

AUTUMN SELLING AT Woodhull & Martin's.

The week just closed was a record breaker so far as receiving new goods was concerned. Never before in so short a space of time have we opened such quantities of goods.

Our entire winter supply of blankets is now on exhibition and we don't hesitate to affirm that Plainfield people have never had so comprehensive a line to select from and were never offered such values. We buy these goods direct from the mills and in so doing save the jobbers' profits. Prices range from 50c pair to $14.00 pair. Sizes 10-4, 11-4, 12-4. The line includes some beautiful soft gray blankets with rich borders, designed especially for bath robes.

Comfortables. Our experience in this line proves to us that ladies appreciate nice goods. Our comfortables are filled with clean white cotton, odorless, covered with coverings of exclusive patterns, thoroughly quilted and are superior in quality, finish and appearance. Prices as follows: 98c, $1.25, $1.48, $1.75, $1.98, $2.25, $2.48, $2.75, $2.98.

Two numbers in down quilts at $3.98, $4.98. Full size, pure down filled, covered with elegant satine and artistically quilted. Warm, light, fluffy. No well-regulated family should be without them.

Golf Suitings.

Fashion makes it imperative that Golf Suiting be worn. We are inclined to encourage their use, for no more durable and stylish suitings were ever introduced to the buying public. Double-faced, warm, serviceable, need no lining. Our line ranges in price from $1.25 to $3.98 per yard, and we believe our styles equal to the best shown by N. Y. houses. Our prices we believe to be lower, as we purchased early before the subsequent rise in price.

Underskirts. New fall styles are now on sale, and let us say to you—you may look many a day for a more attractive lot of styles. They are made of satines, Italian cloths, mercerized cottons, morreens, etc, in both black and colors.

New waists in flannel, brilliantine, satine, silk, etc. Styles are exclusive and prices are right.

Sundry Novelties.

New Embroidered Chiffons—Tucked Silks, Corded Silks, etc., for dress fronts. All over point-de-venise dress laces in black and cream, plain lace nets, new veilings, new neck novelties, velvet ribbons in satin back and linen back, butter colored lace ties with embroidered ends, black jetted lace nets, etc.

Kid Gloves. We sell no cheap kid gloves. No lady is well-dressed with either cheap gloves or cheap shoes. Better wear a cheap dress. $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 are our prices for good gloves. The last two numbers are entirely new and very desirable. Must be seen, however, to be appreciated.

New Table Damasks.

Our sales in this line are certainly phenomenal. We have surprised ourselves as well as our friends. It is not the result of accident, but rather the natural response to persistent effort to secure and offer to our customers special values. The latest attractions in this department are two special Bleached Damasks at 50c and 75c per yard. The 50c number is worth 75c and the 75c number is worth 89c, or we are guilty of prevarication.

DOWN STAIRS.

The old saying "forewarned forearmed" has proved true in our case in regard to White Iron Beds. Anticipating the rise in price of these goods we bought early and often all the iron beds we could find storage for. Prices have advanced since until we could sell the goods back to the people we bought them of at a handsome profit.

We prefer, however, to give our friends the benefit of our good fortune. Iron Beds, Brass trimmed, at 3.75, 4.98, 5.75, 6.48, 7.98, 8.49, 9.98, 10.75, 11.50, 12.50, 13.75, 14.98. Every bed quoted worth from 15 to 25 per cent more.

MATTRESSES.

Soft Top Mattresses, 1.98, 2.45. Husk, soft top, 2.98. Victor Combination, 1 part, 3.98. Victor Combination, 2 parts, 4.48. 45 lb Pure White Cotton, A. C. A. tick, 2 parts, 5.98. Genuine Felt Mattress, Fancy tick, 1 part or 2 parts, 8.50. Silk Floss Mattress, to order, 15.00. Springs, Pillows, Furniture, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Mattings, Shades, Rugs, etc.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 27—The Bound Brook Electric Light Company has offered $40 to James Waldron, whose horse was killed by an electric light wire early yesterday morning. It is understood that Mr. Waldron has declined the offer. Mrs. Waldron, who was with her husband at the time the horse was shocked to death, is also understood to have sustained a severe shock. She had a narrow escape from being instantly killed.

Henry Stevens, an employe of William Cole, had a narrow escape from a serious injury Monday while attempting to catch a wild hog on the premises of Henry Garretson. Before "Hank" realized that he was in danger, the hog had buried its tusks into his right hand, badly lacerating the flesh. When the injured man reached the borough he called upon Dr. Brakeley, who dressed the wound.

There was a great demand made upon Dr. Brakeley yesterday for camphor, which the school children placed in bags and wore about their necks. This treatment is said to be a sure preventative from the dread disease of diphtheria. Before night the Doctor's supply was completely exhausted; but a new supply has been laid in.

A Republican meeting is advertised to be held at the Borough Hall Monday, October 2d, for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention to be held October 5th, by order of P. W. Brakely, a member of the executive committe.

David Kildosha and Earl Wyhuski, the young boys who were stricken with diphtheria several days ago, are convalescing under the care of Drs. Brakeley and Nelson. It is believed that the spread of the disease has been entirely checked.

The Whittier school, which was closed Monday owing to the prevalence of diptheria, was reopened again yesterday, after being thoroughly fumigated by the janitor under the direction of the local board of health.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Dealaman, accompanied by Miss Ella Boice, left yesterday for Washington, D. C. Before returning the party will visit points of interest in Virginia.

J. B. Lane left yesterday for Camden where he will attend the state convention of the Christian Endeavor Society, which is being held in that city this week.

There was a teachers' meeting at the Whittier School yesterday afternoon, when the proper method of instruction in elocution was thoroughly explained.

The Misses Davis and Williams, of Port Richmond, S. I., former teachers in the Dunellen public schools, are visiting at the home of Harry Fisher.

Miss Stella Larkin was tendered a surprise at the home of her parents Monday evening. The occasion was Miss Stella's fourteenth birthday.

B. B. Titsworth, who is attending the military department of Rutgers College, has been made a sergeant of the cadets.

Mrs. Taylor, of New York, is visiting Mrs. O.B.Evans, of Church street.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 27.—A number of complaints are heard about the Park avenue trolley crossing. When the company started to open up Westfield avenue for the extension, the crossing was temporarily repaired so as to make it passable for the public to drive over. The work seems to have slacked off of late but there is no effort being made to put the crossing in the condition it was before the extension was started. The heavy rains of late have washed a great deal of the gravel away and riding over it is very uncomfortable and somewhat dangerous.

Mr. and Mrs Matthias Schmidt and family started yesterday over the Union Pacific Railroad for California where Mr. Schmidt will engage in the fruit growing business.

Mrs. James Skelly and daughter, Miss Maggie, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Lee, have returned to their home in Raritan.

Fanwood Council, R. A., held their semi monthly meeting in their rooms last evening. Business of importance was transacted.

Miss Mamie Mercier, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mercier, has returned to her home in Plainfield.

A number from town attended the performance of "Kelly's Kids" in Music Hall last night

Mrs. Charles Messler has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Smith, of Plainfield.

There will be no dance held at Emery's Pleasure Garden tonight.

Mrs. John Ford spent Tuesday with relatives in Plainfield.

—Leggett will have a fresh supply of Huyler's, Thursday.

—Dewey buttons given away free to all callers Thursday morning at Crosby & Hill's.

—Deputy Nash went to Camden Monday evening and visited Provident and Fidelity lodges, A. O. U. W., where he delivered a short address.

OLD TIMERS TO BE SEEN

GROUP OF PICTURES THAT INDUCES REMENISCENT THOUGHTS.

Photographs of Forty Members of Gazelle Engine Co., No. 1, in 1867, Nineteen of Whom Are Now Among the Dead.

The frame containing photographs of forty members of the old Gazelle Engine Company, No. 1, which is on exhibition in the window of the business office of The Daily Press, attracts much attention. It also serves to revive in the breasts of the old firemen by-gone days that are fraught with tender memories.

This picture was presented to the Gazelle Engine Company February 22, 1867, by G. Thorn, the photographer, who took pictures of the members the year previous. Mr. Thorn's studio was then located over Griffin's store. At the time the photos were taken, and in fact for a long time previous, Mr. Thorn had been the acting secretary of the company, the regular secretary rarely ever being able to be present.

When the company was disbanded upon the introduction of the paid fire department this picture was presented to the Exempt Firemen's Association by the Gazelle Engine Company, and it is highly prized.

At the time the pictures were taken the Gazelle Engine Company was the only organized fire company in Plainfield. Its members were composed of the best citizens of the city, who took great interest in fire matters. There are some of the members living today who can recall how the old machine was taken out for trial and a good sized stream of water thrown far over one of the old Liberty poles which stood at the corner of Front street and Park avenue, and also the one at the corner of Second street and Park avenue, where the City Hotel is now located. The latter pole was about 110 feet high, while the first named pole was but about 90 feet in height.

Among the forty members shown in the picture, the following had served seven years in the the department and were known as "exempts." Their names are: Ellis Ayers, J. M. C. Smith, John Roselle, Warren Marsh, Thomas Worth, E. R. Pope, William E. Gardner, Carmon Parse, Edward P. Thorn, R. E. Barkalew, T. F. French, Wallace Vail, John T. Lee.

The picture is, indeed, doubly valuable from the fact that of the forty members of the company ninteen have passed away, but their memories are fondly cherished in the hearts of their associates, who live to recall the many happy events which transpired nearly thirty-three years ago. Following are the names of those who have gone to join the great majority:

John Roselle, Warren Marsh, Thomas Worth, E. R. Pope, Carmon Parse, John T. Lee, T. J. Gillies, Charles Johnson, Martin Giles, F. M. Cushing, Jeremiah VanWinkle, Ayres Leeson, D. D. Vermeule, Voorhees Randolph, Josiah Layton, Eckley Stearns, William Dunn, W. L. Force and Samuel Johnson.

Reserves Will Have a Share.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Sept. 28—Gov. Voorhees said yesterday that while in Washington last week he investigated the claims of the New Jersey Naval Reserves for their share of the prize money for the destruction of Cervera's fleet off Santiago. The Governor was informed that the Court of Claims had the New Jersey Naval Reserves under consideration and they were not to be excluded in the distribution.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Oldenburg.

Oldenburg. Im Bürgerfelde verunglückten in Folge Einathmens giftiger Brunnengase zwei Dienstleute. Sie waren beauftragt worden, Baumaterialien an einen der Reparatur bedürftigen Brunnen heranzuschaffen, waren ohne die nöthigen Vorsichtsmaßregeln hineingestiegen und durch giftige Gase betäubt worden. Es wurden sogleich Rettungsversuche angestellt, die aber nur bei dem Dienstmann Kropp von Erfolg waren. Der andere, Namens Helms, wurde als Leiche an die Oberfläche gezogen.

Mecklenburg.

Güstrow. Bei einer Wagenfahrt, die der Major a. D. v. Maltzahn auf Schloß Grubenhagen mit seinem Sohn, einem Gymnasiasten, und seiner Tochter nach hier unternahm, schlug das Gefährt unterwegs um. Der Baron und sein Sohn erlitten dabei erhebliche Verletzungen, so daß der ältere Herr längere Zeit ohne Besinnung blieb. Die Tochter und der Kutscher dagegen kamen ohne Schaden davon.

Braunschweig.

Braunschweig. Unter dem Vorsitz des Geheimen Bauraths Stübben-Köln tagte hier die 28. Abgeordnetenversammlung des rund 7500 Mitglieder zählenden Verbandes deutscher Architekten- und Ingenieurvereine, wobei 29 Vereine durch 91 Abgeordnete vertreten waren.—Der Oberlandesgerichtspräsident Wilhelm Mansfeld ist im Alter von 68 Jahren gestorben.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Zur Zeit sind aussichtsvolle Verhandlungen zwischen der Stadt Darmstadt und der süddeutschen Eisenbahngesellschaft auf folgender Grundlage im Gange. Die süddeutsche Eisenbahngesellschaft führt auf der Strecke Arheilgen-Eberstadt den elektrischen Betrieb ein, den sie nach Bedarf auf einen viertelstündigen erhöht. Der Betrieb auf den bisherigen Verkehrslinien bleibt der süddeutschen Eisenbahngesellschaft. Die Stadt erhält die Berechtigung, die Anlage innerhalb der Stadt ähnlich wie in der Rheinstraße auszubauen und darauf einen städtischen Betrieb einzurichten. Die Benutzung der zusammenfallenden Linien wird eine gemeinschaftliche sein. Die süddeutsche Eisenbahngesellschaft beschränkt sich auf den Vorortverkehr. Die Lieferung der Elektrizität soll durch die Stadt erfolgen. Führen die Verhandlungen zu keinem Ergebniß, so wird die Gesellschaft ein eigenes Elektrizitätswerk bauen. Ein bestimmter Ort ist dafür noch nicht in Aussicht genommen.

Offenbach. Durch eine Feuersbrunst wurde die Schmalz'sche Maschinen- und Schmirgelfabrik vollständig eingeäschert. Der Gesammtschaden wird auf 300,000 Mark geschätzt, der Werth der vollständig verlorenen Maschinen beträgt allein 150,000 Mark, der der vernichteten Werkzeuge u. s. w. wird auf 30,000 Mark geschätzt. Soweit die Maschinenfabrik in Frage kommt, ist der Betrieb vollständig gestört, der Betrieb der Schmirgelfabrik wird theilweise in einer befreundeten Fabrik aufgenommen werden.

Bayern.

München. Die erste Abrechnung über die gemeindliche Besitzesveränderungssteuer ergibt für die Stadtgemeinde München im abgelaufenen Rechnungsjahr eine Reineinnahme von 452,000 Mark.—Ein Student, der im Sommersemester an der Universität Erlangen immatrikulirt war und hier seine Studien fortsetzen wollte, wurde verhaftet, weil er seinem Hauswirth in Erlangen unter Vorspiegelung falscher Thatsachen 600 Mark entlockt haben soll.—Durch andauernden Regen schwoll die Isar dieser Tage zu enormer Höhe. Im Strome trieben Menschenleichen, Brücken- und Holztheile, Heuhaufen, Möbel und andere Dinge wild durcheinander. Die elektrischen Bahnen mußten den Betrieb einstellen; bei Bogenhausen ist die Isarbrücke eingestürzt; ferner stürzte die neue „Prinz Regentenbrücke" ein, doch wurden glücklicher Weise keine Menschen dabei verletzt. In Tegernsee und Schliersee mußten in aller Eile die niedriger gelegenen Häuser geräumt werden, in Tölz wurde die mächtige Isarbrücke von den tobenden Fluthen fortgerissen, zu Eisenerz wurde durch einen Bergsturz ein Haus mitsammt den drei darin befindlichen Personen verschüttet, bei Rosenheim erfaßten die sich über die Straße wälzenden Fluthen einen beladenen Lastwagen und rissen ihn sammt Pferden und dem Kutscher mit sich.

Aschaffenburg. Der hiesige Metzgerverein hat beschlossen, sich in eine freie Innung umzuwandeln. Die sämmtlichen Mitglieder des bisherigen Metzgervereins treten der freien Innung als Mitglieder bei; die übrigen selbstständigen Metzger werden ebenfalls eingeladen.

Bad Kissingen. Privatier W. Holzmann, der am 15. April sein Hotel um 193,000 Mark verkaufte, hat sich auf seiner Gruft im Friedhof erschossen. Die fixe Idee, sein Hotel zu billig verkauft zu haben, und Mangel an Thätigkeit sollen ihn zu dem traurigen Schritt veranlaßt haben.

Bamberg. Dieser Tage ist Domkapitular und Dompfarrer Michael Pfister nach längerem Leiden gestorben. Ob seiner seltenen Toleranz gegen Andersgläubige, seiner Freundlichkeit und Güte war Pfister von Jedermann, Reich und Arm, Hoch und Niedrig, geliebt und geehrt.

Hof. In der Genossenschaftsweberei Ruckdeschl u. Endert brach ein großes Feuer aus, das den Dachstuhl, unter dem sich die Vorbereitungsmaschinen und der gesammte Lagerraum befand, einäscherte. Das Maschinenhaus und der Webstuhlsaal konnten gerettet werden. Die Fabrik ist seinerzeit von einer Anzahl aus der Kanzler'schen Fabrik entlassener Arbeiter gegründet worden. Es wird Brandstiftung vermuthet.

Lohr. Der bayerische Landes-Bienenzüchterverband, der im rechtsrheinischen Bayern 379 Zweigvereine mit 21,366 Mitgliedern zählt, hielt hier seinen Delegirtentag. Beschlossen wurde, eine Petition an den Reichstag zu senden, um Erlaß eines Gesetzes gegen Honigfälschung. Die bisherige Vorstandschaft wurde wiedergewählt. Der nächste Delegirtentag findet in Regensburg statt.

Mellrichstadt. Die Erbauung eines Getreide-Lagerhauses auf dem hiesigen Bahnhofe wurde von mehreren Darlehnskassenvereinen beschlossen.

Regensburg. Dieser Tage ist im südwestlichen Stadttheil Kumpfmühl der Grundstein zur Theresienkirche gelegt worden. Der Bauaufwand wird vom hiesigen Karmelitenkloster und aus freiwilligen Spenden bestritten; neben die Kirche kommt eine Klosterfiliale zu stehen.—Auch im neuen Ostenviertel ist mit dem Bau einer Kirche, die der heiligen Cäcilia geweiht sein wird, begonnen worden. Die Kosten hierfür bringt ein Kirchenbau-Verein auf, während den Bauplatz hierzu und ein ansehnliches Grundkapital der Direktor der kirchlichen Musikschule, Herr Haberl, zur Verfügung gestellt hat.

WHAT IS WORN.

Revival of White Stockings—Hand Painted Costumes.

It is announced that white stockings are to be again worn, and now it is a question how many women will consent to adopt them simply because fashion decrees their reappearance. Nothing is uglier and more unbecoming, yet there are blind followers of the blind who will doubtless eagerly endue themselves with the ugly things. Black hosiery is and will be generally worn, however, except for evening costume, where the gown is of a light color. In this case the stockings match the gown or the shoes.

Hand painted muslin, gauze and linen are used for both afternoon and evening toilets. They are made over a taffeta lining which repeats the general color of the pattern. The design is floral and of a running character, and such gowns are, of course, very costly unless they are painted at home, which is not usual. Embroidery is sometimes mingled with the painted decoration.

WEDDING GOWN.

The wedding gown shown in the cut is of white satin, cut in the princess style, with a round train. The skirt and the edge of the front which overlaps are bordered with an embroidery of white silk. The bodice is draped over a plaited guimpe of silk tulle, with a lace bertha which terminates in sleeve caps. The plaited sleeves of silk tulle have lace ruffles at the wrist. A spray of orange flowers is placed at the closing of the bodice. JUDIC CHOLLET.

NOVELTIES.

Fresh Ideas For the Autumn Wardrobe.

The newest form of the long redingote is buttoned at the side. The sleeve is half concealed by a second pelerine sleeve, like the sleeves seen on old fashioned visites.

For cycling and other outing gowns corkscrew, serge and cloth are, as usual, the preferred materials. There is, in addition, a sort of heavily ribbed poplin, which is a novelty this season. The habit bodice, pointed in front and with small coattails at the back, is the latest shape for bicycling costumes. It is often of black cloth, with white silk revers.

CREPE COSTUME.

Costumes of thin cloth of bright color, such as red or clear blue, are sometimes covered with stretched mousseline de soie. The effect is odd and entirely new.

The illustration given today shows a costume of mauve crepe de chine embroidered with flowers a shade darker. The long skirt has a circular flounce which is narrow in front, but rises midway of the skirt at the back. A flounce of Irish guipure borders the foot of the skirt, and another guipure flounce follows the head of the circular flounce and is caught up with a large chou of crepe de chine at the back. The blouse bodice is fastened behind. A bertha of Irish guipure is placed around the shoulders, passing across the top of the arms. A large chou of black tulle appears in front above the bertha. The belt is of pansy velvet. The black hat of braided felt is trimmed with black tulle and black feathers.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Decided on His Future.

A small boy friend of mine who lives out at Cleveland Park has decided on his future profession at the age of 4. He has the interrogation mania in a peculiarly aggravated form, and after the first million or two questions in the day his mother, in self defense, begins to answer, "I don't know." Just the other day the child had an unusually violent attack of question asking, and he tired of bearing her inevitable response.

"Well," he said, "I know what I'll be when I grow up. I'll be so I can tell my little boy things he wants to know. I'll be a find outer."—Washington Post.

WOMEN'S REALM

AN ARTISTIC EDUCATION.

A Well-Known Artist Advises Mothers in Regard to Training Children.

"I think," said a well-known artist, "that there are several ways that it might be well to try with young children in an effort to develop the artistic instinct in the right direction. I am inclined to believe that the Japanese method is one of the best."

"What is that?" inquired the mother of a family, who was listening eagerly to the words of wisdom from such an acknowledged authority.

"Their aim," continued the master, "is to cultivate memory, rapidity of execution and observation; for this purpose, in their drawing-classes they put an object before their pupils, tell them to examine it carefully and then take it entirely away, leaving the students to draw it from memory only. The result from this training, I am told, are exceedingly surprising. Not that I would have this the only teaching," he continued, after a moment's pause. "I would also encourage drawing from every object about the room, and I should allow colored pencils and paint, for, after all, nothing is in black and white really; everything has color."

"How about tracing, Mr.——?" said materfamilias. "I once heard it very highly recommended for very young children."

"With good outlines, I should say it would be an excellent exercise," answered the artist, "and the Japanese idea might also be connected with it. That is, after the tracing has been done, take the model away and let the child do the same thing over from memory."

"I have an idea," said a theoretical young person who was present, "that it would also be a good plan to teach children the theory of motion—it would be sure to interest them. For instance, the teacher might give them slates with horizontal and vertical lines, and then stand herself at a blackboard similarly marked out and draw figures walking, figures running, figures carrying weights or dragging weights, etc. The children could copy the positions on their slates while the teacher explains the principle."

"Capital, capital!" approved the master. "All that would be excellent."

"I am rather surprised, Mr.——," said the mother, "to hear you advocate such very liberal methods. I had an idea that all artists insisted that beginners should draw only from casts, and that their imagination should be kept in check as much as possible. I cannot tell you how you comfort me, for I find that my children get deadly tired of this dry-as-dust work, and that their natural love of drawing entirely disappears when the teaching is so monotonous."

"I am speaking more for younger children," answered the artist, "although I believe that the same principle introduced somewhat into regular art-teaching would be well. But there is always one thing that surprises me about people who wish their children to study art: they expect results so soon. In no other study would they dream of looking for any particular development for years to come; but in art they look for pictures almost at once. Why, they might as well expect that a young person could compose a sonata after a couple of years' instruction on the piano! It is quite marvelous to see the ignorance displayed on this point by really intelligent people."

Weddings in Westminster Abbey.

It isn't everybody that can be married in Wesminster Abbey. The recent wedding there of Lady "Peggy" Primrose to the Earl of Crewe is the occasion of recalling some of the noteworthy ceremonies that have occurred in the honored pile. In the first place, it is an expensive matter, a marriage there. Then, too, a wise discretion guides the dean, Dr. Bradley, in the replies he makes to fair and gallant aspirants to the life-long fame attaching to an abbey wedding, although he is well known to be pleased with the laudable desire of English men and women to be joined together in holy matrimony in England's most exquisite church. Thus a Westminster Abbey wedding, while still rare, is not now the exceptionally uncommon occurrence that it used to be.

One of the dean's own daughters was married there. Another famous wedding was that of H. M. Stanley, the African explorer, and Miss Dorothy Tennant, an occasion that excited some interest, occurring as it did at the moment of Mr. Stanley's great popularity as a hero of marvelous adventures and exploits. The "little great man" on his way to the altar may have stepped over the flat stone on which the name of his illustrious forerunner Livingstone, is engraved. It lies just in the centre of the nave, almost in the direct line between the west door and the choir.

Christine Nilsson, the Swedish nightingale, was at the zenith of her power on the English operatic stage when she was married in the abbey. The occasion was graced by a fashionable throng, and the music provided was an artistic feast.

Not another church in London can offer the attractions of Westminster Abbey. The stately choir, the many steps leading to the chancel and the wide area within the rails make it ideal for the accommodation of the contracting parties and the attending bridesmaids.

There is one wise woman who declares she always keeps her company manners for her husband, together with her prettiest gowns. "If I must be cross or horrid and have to do my hair up in kids to make it curl, I intend to reserve those revelations for persons whom I do not care so much about pleasing. Of course in time he will find out I have not an angelic disposition, and also that my fluffy hair was not bestowed upon me by nature, but I do not intend to enlighten him until I'm obliged to." Now is not this deceit preferable to the out-and-out bluntness that makes a woman feel privileged because she really owns a man to show him at once that his bargain is not such a wonder as he supposed!

BRER TERRAPIN WON.

How Brer Deer Ran a Race With Him and Why He Lost Brer Coon's Daughter.

Emma M. Backus, of North Carolina, has contributed to the Journal of American Folk Lore several fables and legends told her by the old darkies of that section. Some of these are variations on world-old fables; others are new and original. From them these selections have been made:

Brer Deer and Brer Terrapin was a-courting of Mr. Coon's daughter. Brer Deer was a peart chap, and have the airs of the quality, no put-on bigoty ways; Brer Deer am right a sure enough gentleman, that he is. Well, old Brer Terrapin am a poor, slow, old man; all the creeters wonder how the gal can smile on hisself when Mr. Deer flying around her, but them what knows tells how, when old man Terrapin lay hisself out, he have a mighty taking way with the gals, and the gals in the old times mighty like the gals these here times, and ain't got no sense nohow.

So he say, Brer Coon did, how Brer Deer and Brer Terrapin shall run a seven-mile race, and the one what got there first shall surely have the gal, 'cause he feel that sure in he mind, Brer Coon do, that Brer Deer nat'rally bound to outrun poor old Brer Terrapin.

Well, Brer Terrapin, he say he run the race, if he can run in the water 'cause he 'low he mighty slow on the foots. And Brer Deer and Brer Coon they talk it over to theyselves, and they 'low Brer Deer mighty slow in the water, and so they set the race 'long the river bank. Brer Deer, he gwine run seven miles on the bank and Brer Terrapin, he gwine run 'long the shore in the water, and he say every mile he gwine raise he head out the water and say, "Oho! here I is."

Den Brer Deer and Brer Coon laugh to burse theyselves, 'cause they lay out 'fore Brer Terrapin done pass the first mile, Brer Deer done win the race.

Well, sah, Brer Terrapin he have six brothers, and he set one in the water every mile, and he set one in the water the starting place, and the old man he set hisself in the water at the seven-mile post. O my, massa, dat ole Brer Terrapin, he got a head on his self, he surely have.

Well, Brer Coon and Brer Deer, they come down to the water, and they see Brer Terrapin out there in the water, an' Brer Coon, he place Brer Deer, and tell him hold on till he ge' hisself there, 'cause he bound to see the end of the race. So he get on the horse and whip up, and directly Brer Deer and Brer Terrapin start out, and when Brer Deer come to the first mile stone he stick his head out the water and he say, "Oho, here I is!" and Brer Deer, he just set to faster, 'cause he know Brer Terrapin mighty short winded, but when he git to the two mile post, sure 'nough there Brer Terrapin stick he head out and say, "Oho here I is!" and Brer Deer, he that astonished he nigh 'bout break down but he set to and do he best, and when he come to the three-mile post, 'fore God if ain't Brer Terrapin's head come out the water, and he just holler out, "Oho, here I is."

But Brer Deer he push on, and every mile was that bodacious old Brer Terrapin. Well, when Brer Deer come a-puffink and a-blowing up to the last most post, and Brer Coon set there on the horse, and just 'fore Brer Deer come up, if there ain't sure 'nough ole Brer Terrapin, just where he done been waiting all the time, and just 'fore Brer Deer fotch round the bend he just stick up he head and say "Oho, Brer Deer, here I is 'fore your self!"

But Brer Terrapin never tell the gal 'bout his management, and how he get there that soon.

When the animals was young, Brer Bar, he never sleep in the winter, no more'n the rest. The way it was in them days, old man Bar was flying roun' more same than tother creeters and he was the meanest one in the lot, and 'cause he the biggest he get in he mind that he king of the country and the way he put on the animals was scand'lous, that it was.

Well, they was all crossway wid the old man a long time, but they bound to step up when he tell 'em, cause you kin see in these times old Brer Bar ain't a powerful man, but he's just onery 'side what he was in the old times. 'Pears like all the animals is getting mighty low down these yer times, 'cept old Sis Coon, and sure you born she get more heady ebery year.

Well, they talk it over 'twixt themselves many and many a day, how they gwine take down Mr. Bar. They know he mighty man to sleep in the dark, and one day Brer Rabbit 'low that they stop the old man up when he sleep in a dark tree; he take a mighty long nap, and they get a little comfort.

So they all watch out, and when the old man sleep that night in a hollow tree they turn in and tote rocks and brush, and stop up the hole.

And sure 'nough, when mornin, come, Brer Bar don't know it, and he just sleep on; when he woke up he see it all dark, and he say day ain't break and turn over and go sleep, and there the old man sleep just that way till the leaves turn out the trees, and I 'spect the old man been sleeping there to this day; but, the animals they all hold the old man dead fo, sure, and they just feel a meddlesome ness to move them rocks; and wher they let the light in, old Brer Bar he just crack he eye and stretch hisself and come out, and when he see the spring done come he say, the old man did, that he done had a mighty comfortable winter, and from that time every year, when the cold come, old Brer Bar go to sleep.

A horse went prancing by.

"Your sun is setting," brayed the mule in the adjacent barnyard, "but you never hear anybody predicting a muleless age."—Chicago Tribune.

AN ANIMAL IMITATOR

David Abrahams Tells Why He Is So Successful in His Impersonations.

David Abrahams, who played the part of the cat in "Aladdin Jr.," is the most successful impersonator of animals in the world. He has played animal parts ever since he was a boy. His repertoire ranges from the rabbit, frog, mouse and duck up to the cat, wolf, dog, ape and donkey. He has been on all fours so much that he admits he sometimes acts like an animal unconsciously.

He now tells how he came to take up this queer kind of theatrical work.

"To be a successful impersonator of animals one must first learn to walk like the beast to be represented. This may sound strange to the outsider, but in the walk really lies the difficult part of all the imitations of the animal, and this walk can only be acquired by practice, exercise and the close study of the animal. The general impression that an acrobat makes the best animal impersonator is a grave mistake. True, to do this work requires much agility, but an absolute essential is that the performer must be a pantomimist. The argument is easy; an acrobat will naturally resort to tricks foreign to the animal, a pantomist never does.

DAVID ABRAHAMS AS A CAT.

"Another impression that has much weight abroad, and that is very erroneous, is that the monkey is the easiest thing to portray; it is really the most difficult. I have studied the beast for years and years, have hunted every species of them, had them imported, looked upon them and watched them day and night, and yet, while I dress him correctly, and imitate him closely, I do not consider myself anywhere near the real thing. No man living can do the real monkey act, and I say this in the face of the fact that I have been a wolf, cat, dog, ape, frog, mouse, duck, donkey, rabbit and others.

"I can tell why most animal impersonators have mental troubles. The part of the body that suffers the most is the neck and spinal cord. The reason of this is because of the absolute necessity for the head to be erect at all times. It is easy enough for a man to stand with his head erect, but when you get down on all fours and keep the head as it should be to face an audience, you will find it a different tale. The moment the head drops the face is on the floor, the expression gone and the effect lost. The positions in presenting the animal are never natural to a human being. Then, again, the skins are exceedingly uncomfortable, because they produce great heat. This, with the agility and rapidity of movement, is a great weakener, aggravated by the fact that the performer dare not eat after 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and he must at that time be careful not to use fat food.

A Heroic Boy.

Not long ago a freight conductor started on a night run after drawing his month's wages from the pay car. He had with him his son, a lad of twelve, and when well under way they began to cook supper on the caboose stove. The rear brakeman, on watch in the cupola, observed that the engine seemed to have unusual difficulty in pulling the train. He did not connect this fact with the presence of several hoboes on top of the cars, who, unknown to him, were setting brakes and stalling the train.

Suddenly the front door of the caboose flew open, and four masked and armed men ordered the occupants to throw up their hands. The conductor jumped to shield his child, seized a coupling pin and smashed a head, but not until four shots had rung out and three bullets were in his body. Fighting to the last, he fell dead in the doorway. The brakeman was shot in the arm, and made his escape from the car to the ground. Fearing he would give the alarm and cause their capture the bandits fled.

Then the boy showed that the blood of heroes is transmitted to succeeding generations. He pulled the body of his father inside, and secured his money and watch. He noticed that the train was barely moving, and it occurred to him that there was a second section close behind. He knew the brakeman had no lantern, even if alive. The plucky boy took the red light and torpedoes, dropped off, ran back, expecting at every step to be shot, and flagged the other train.

Travelers westward over the Big Four sometimes wonder why a slender volunteer seems so prominent in helping the switchmen attach the dining car at one of the terminals. If they happen to inquire the men reply: "Why, that's John's boy, the conductor those bums 'put in the clear' that pay day last year."—The Century.

Let's More Cats.

Annie's older sister, Ellinor, lost a dearly loved pet cat. The children decided to have a funeral just like "grown-up folks."

They invited in their neighbors, and putting pussy into a small tin express cart they drew her carefully out to a corner of the yard, where the gardener had dug a grave for her.

Ellinor cried with all her might. Annie looked very sober, and finally when pussy was laid away, and tenderly covered with grass and flowers, she threw her arms around her sister consolingly and said: "Ella, if I were you, I would'nt cry so hard. There are lots mare cats in the world. God makes more and more cats every day. Let's play something."

THE SEASON OF SCHOOLS.

Why Knowledge is Always a Source of Pleasure as Well as Power.

EDUCATION OF TO-DAY

Influence of Intellectual Success and Culture on the Mind and Body.

Historical Scholars and Educators—Success of Jesuit School Masters—The Teacher Should be the Friend—Good Reading For Pupil and Teacher—Definition of Learning.

Apropos to the new education and the public school season, the writer hereof wishes to register a public protest against the emphasis ordinarily given to the doctrine "Knowledge is power," and to make an argument for the doctrine, "Knowledge is pleasure."

This argument is the outcome of an exhaustive study of the literature of the subject and of protracted personal and professional observation, and is made in full confidence that in the evolution of the new education, the Baconian axiom, "Knowledge is power," which has long been the motto of the party, will ultimately be relegated to deserved obscurity and its place as a motto be given to the axiom, "Knowledge is pleasure."

During the past two centuries countless millions of children have written "Knowledge is power" many millions of times without any adequate conception whatever of that "bewitching phantom knowledge." And while their conception of power was much more acute than their conception of knowledge, it was no more to the purpose for general speaking, their idea of power was that acquired when the teacher employed physical power, or force, as a means of driving in knowledge.

Under these circumstances, is it any wonder that much of what passed for education went into one ear and out of the other, without leaving any other impression than mental disgust for further education.

Of Bacon, the author of the famous epigram "Knowledge is power," the poet Pope wrote: "He was the wisest, brightest, meanest of mankind." Carefully read Bacon's life and you will readily understand that the expression "Knowledge is power" was a very natural one for him. Spencer's remark that moral precepts are largely the selfish maxims expressive of the will of the ruling forces in society, those who have health, wealth, knowledge and power, and are designed for their protection and the maintenance of their power, would seem to apply directly to Bacon's axiom, "Knowledge is power."

Although numerous writers, historical and contemporary, have directly and indirectly, and frequently, at regular intervals, and in a desultory fashion, for over 2,000 years, referred to the idea that "knowledge is pleasure," that idea has never become an educational axiom. The idea has never yet acquired the prominence its promise of usefulness would seem to warrant.

Among the historical scholars and writers whose works strongly confirm the idea that knowledge is pleasure, we quote Plato, who was the author of the first systematic treatise on education and who therein insisted upon the beautiful and the good. Each precept of which Socrates delivered himself was recommended on the ground that obedience to it would promote the pleasure, the comfort, the advancement and the well-being of the individual. To make those happy who are undergoing an education was a favorite precept with Locke.

"KNOWLEDGE IS POWER."

THE OLD WAY.

In the early sixteen hundreds, by far the most successful school masters were the Jesuits. It was their rule to lead the pupils, and not only to make learning endurable but acceptable. They evidently believed "that which enters willing ears, the mind, as it were, runs to welcome, seizes with avidity, carefully stows away and faithfully preserves."

The Port Royalists, who flourished in France about 1625, "would banish all useless difficulties in acquiring knowledge and do what they could to help the young and make study even more pleasant to them than play and pastime." The magnificent vista opened to Milton's mental vision from the summit of the "Hill of Learning," strongly confirms the idea that, to him at least, knowledge is pleasure.

Wordsworth, an eminent English scholar, spoke of the grand elementary principle of pleasure, by which man knows, and feels, and lives and moves. We have no sympathy but what is propagated by pleasure. We have no knowledge but what has been built up by pleasure and exists in us by pleasure alone. The man of science the chemist and mathematician know and feel this. However painful the knowledge may be connected, he feels that his knowledge is pleasure and when he has no pleasure he has no knowledge.

A visitor to Pestilozzi's school in 1802 said, "The children are very happy, and evidently take great pleasure in their lessons, which says a great deal for the method."

The Froebel historians do not indicate he ever taught the doctrine knowledge is pleasure directly, but they do make it very plain this idea pervaded his life work.

Fifty years ago Dr. Joseph R. Buchanan, of Cincinnati, Ohio, taught the doctrine knowledge is pleasure thus directly and forcibly:

"Let children meet with forbearance, cheerfulness and true affection, on the part of all above them: let those older persons, who love their society, take charge of them, and be with them at their sports, as well as at their lessons; and let the influence of music be brought to bear, attuning all their feelings to accord, and education will be a most delightful process and the school so charming a place that it would be imposible to keep the children away from it."

"KNOWLEDGE IS PLEASURE."

THE NEW WAY.

In the list of contemporary scholars and writers who reaffim the doctrine knowledge is pleasure we find Sir John Lubbock, of London, who remarks that "Whatever our occupation it is most desirable to create for ourselves some other special interest. We must all expect times of anxiety, of suffering and of sorrow; when these come it is an estimable comfort to have some deep interest which will, at any rate to some extent, enable us to escape from ourselves."

The identical idea meant to be conveyed with the greatest cleverness by that distinguished statesman and scholar, Hon. William M. Evarts, who said that "he would not take all the wealth of the world for the pleasure his knowledge had given him. His studies are his only recreation. If he were unable to appreciate books or art he would be the most miserable of men."

Herbert Spencer, that prince of English scholars, has written with his usual perspicuity on this matter as follows: As a final test by which to judge any plan of culture should come the queston—does it create a pleasurable excitement in the pupils—a pleasurable state of feeling is far more favorable to intellectual action than one of indifference or disgust. Everyone knows that things read, heard, or seen with interest, are better remembered than those read, heard or seen with apathy.

Whoever has marked the effect of intellectual success upon the mind, and the power of the mind over the body, will see that in the one case both temper and health are favorably affected, whilst in the other there is danger of permanent moroseness, of permanent timidity and even of permanent constitutional depression. To all which considerations we must add the further one, that the relationship between teachers and their scholars is, other things equal, rendered friendly and influential, or antagonistic and powerless, according as the system of culture produces happiness or misery. Human beings are at the mercy of their associated ideas. A daily minister of pain cannot fail to be regarded with a secret dislike, and if he causes no emotion but painful ones, will inevitably be hated. Conversely he who constantly aids children to their ends, hourly provides them with satisfaction of conquest, hourly encourages them through their difficulties and sympathies in their successes, cannot fail to be liked; nay, if his behavior is consistent throughout must be loved.

And when we remember how efficient and benign is the control of a master who is felt to be a friend, when compared with the control of one who is looked upon with aversion, or, at best, indifference, we may infer that the indirect advantages of conducting education of the happiness principle do not fall far short of the direct ones.

In the Sanskrit it is written: "Knowledge produces humility; from humility proceedeth worthiness; from worthiness riches are acquired; from riches religion, and thence happiness."

Of all things knowledge is esteemed the most precious treasure because of its incapacity to be stolen, to be given away, or even to be consumed. Knowledge introduceth a man to acquaintance, and as the humble stream to the ocean, so doth it conduct him into the hard acquired presence of the prince, whence fortune floweth.

Learning to a man is a name superior to beauty; learning is better than hidden treasure; learning is a companion on a journey to a strange country; learning is strength inexhaustible. Learning is the source of renown, and is the fountain of victory in the Senate. Learning is a superior sight; learning is a livelihood, and a man in this world without learning is as a beast of the field."

It is a well settled principle that educational systems are not made—they grow. If the doctrine knowledge is pleasure ever comes to be an educational axiom, it must be by process of growth.

Probably every teacher of experience has seen the crises which occur, so to speak, in the lives of some pupils, that it to say, from being indolent and indifferent and possibly a universal torment to the teacher, they become interested and zealous. This change occurred at the hour they realized knowledge was pleasure. That hour marked the beginning of an epoch in the individual life, and so, too, this hour will mark the beginning of an epoch in educational matters, if the influence of the press and the pulpit and the forum for the next 200 years, can be brought to bear to announce and reiterate in season and out the doctrine knowledge is pleasure.

TO CLEAN CARPETS.

If you have a carpet that looks dingy and you wish to restore it to its original freshness, make a stiff lather of Ivory Soap and warm water and scrub it, width by width, with the lather. Wipe with a clean damp sponge. Do not apply more water than necessary.

The vegetable oils of which Ivory Soap is made, and its purity, fit it for many special uses for which other soaps are unsafe and unsatisfactory.

GOLF.

There will be a few of the golfers of the Park Golf Club who will remain at home Saturday to contest for the McCutchen Cup. The weekly competition for the cup will be held as usual deepite the Dewey Day celebration.

No events are scheduled to take place at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club links on the next two Saturday afternoons. On account of the Dewey Day celebration, the golf committee has deemed it best to make no plans for that day. It is expected that many of the members will be in New York witnessing the parade.

Green-keeper Barrie of the Park Golf Club has now completed the remaking of the second putting green of the links of that club. The old green was not level and had several hummocks in it that were by no means conducive to the best play. The green has now been made perfectly level and is much improved. He will now turn his attention to the third green and deal with it in a similar manner. All the greens are to be improved this fall which will tend to make the course more attractive to players.

A number of improvements have been made to the course of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and still others are planned. A low bunker has been put on the fourth hole just in front of the green. Others are to be placed on the eighth and fourteenth holes. The green keeper and his assistants are going carefully over the fair greens filling up every hole and replacing the turf where it has been torn up. The putting greens are also being looked after.

The play of the past three weeks for the McCutchen Cup on the links of the Park Golf Club have been a general surprise. It was expected that W. de la R. Anderson and the other club experts would keep well to the top in the contest for the trophy, but they have failed to score entirely, and there are several comparatively new competitors who are rapidly creeping up on them and promise exciting things if the leaders don't do any better than they have done of late.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The candidates for the Alis football team will practice again this evening on the Madison avenue field. It is particularly requested that all the candidates shall be on hand. The eleven is now getting into good condition and can be expected to make a good showing for itself in its initial contest against Westfield Saturday afternoon, October 7th.

ROD AND GUN.

The Cranford Fish and Game Protective Association held a meeting Saturday night and decided on a vigorous campaign this fall for the protection of game. The association controls the right to hunt over most of the property in the township, and will, at its own expense, see that notices are posted forbidding outside hunters on the grounds.

FOR PARTY EFFICIENCY.

PLAN OF ORGANIZATION PROPOSED FOR THE DEMOCRATS.

Formulated by Committee Appointed by Asbury Park Conference—Calculated to Bring Out Full Party Vote.

The report of the special committee appointed in the Democratic State Committee's meeting in Asbury Park on last August 7th to formulate a plan for the reorganization of the Democratic County committees throughout the State has been made public. The committee consisted of E. L. Price, of Essex, Eckert T. Budd, of Burlington, Johnston Cornish, of Warren, James W. Lanning, of Mercer, and the State chairman.

The report embodies a draft of a constitution for the government of such of the County bodies as see fit to adopt it. In part it says:

"The County Committee shall be formed on the basis of a two years' term, one-half of the body expiring each year. The term should begin on the first day of January following their election, so as not to interfere with any pending campaign. It is suggested that they be elected at the primaries, either at the time county elections or at a primary especially called for that purpose.

The second Monday of January is fixed as the proper time for organization.

"There shall be appointed," the report continues, "for every election district in the county, by the Committee, on or before the first day of September each year, not more than five warders, of whom one shall be captain. The captain shall cause to be organized in his district a Democratic club for the purpose of aiding him in his work in such district. Such club may make its rooms the political headquarters of the district and it shall be known as the Democratic Club of that district. It shall have the distribution of all campaign documents and may constitute itself a marching club."

A section of the constitution provides that no member of the county committee shall act as a judge of any primary election ordered by the committee, nor shall any member thereof or any district captain serve as a member of any board of registry and election. In order to vote at a Democratic primary, under the plan of the special committee, a member must be, for at least thirty days prior to the primary, a member of the district in which it is held. District captains are required to meet on the Friday night after the general election at the headquarters of the county committee and report in detail to the committee on organization regarding their work in the election.

In case any precinct report shall indicate improper management, the committee on organization shall investigate and report at the next meeting of the county committee. Should it be found that any member of the county committee has neglected in any campaign to do his duty as leader of his district, his place may, by a two-thirds vote of the committee, be declared vacant. All vacancies shall be filled by the committee. In case of an amendment to the constitution, notice shall be given at least a week before the call for the county convention is published and the proposed amendment shall be set forth in the call.

THEATRE FOR NEW BRUNSWICK.

New York Capitalists Close a Deal to Build the Structure.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, September 27.—After three years without a theatre, New Brunswick's need in that direction is about to be supplied. J. Edwin Hillpot, a contractor, of Bound Brook, has secured an option on adjoining properties on Albany, below Neilson streets, having a frontage of 152 feet on Albany street. The property includes the leather store of Adam Lutz, at 53 and 55 Albany street, and the store buildings of Jacob Weldy, at 57 Albany street.

Mr. Hillpot states that he is acting for a syndicate of New York capitalists. They intend erecting a three-story store and office building with a three-story store and office building with a theatre. The theatre will be capable of seating 1,500, and will be a modern playhouse in every respect.

—Woodhull & Martin will close their store all day on Friday, September 29th in honor of the "Hero of Manila" regardless of what action these merchants may take in the matter.

—Every woman in Plainfield and vicinity will be interested to know that the opening exhibition of autumn millinery at Bonn's, West Front street, will take place Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 3d, 4th and 5th.

ciation to assist the citizens of his town toward securing the much wished for extension. Mr. Wohlfurt exhibited a paper which contained the names of every property owner along the line with the exception of James Wilson, who was the only person opposed to the road being extended toward Washington Valley.

Some of the members made the suggestion that it was understood that the Brunswick Traction Company was anxious to get into Plainfield and it was possible that a right of way might be secured in another direction should the one at present proposed be not secured. After some further discussion Mr. French made a motion which was adopted, that the President appoint a committee of three to use their best efforts to assist in bringing about an extension of the Somerset trolley line. Messrs. James E. Martine, Robert Clark and Charles Hand were named as such committee.

Before the meeting adjourned, President Smalley offered the following resolution, which was adopted amid cheers:

Resolved, That the Plainfield Advancement Association feel that it voices the sentiments of every citizen of Plainfield when we extend to Admiral Dewey a most hearty and cordial welcome. Though a local organization, our patriotism is not circumscribed by narrow bounds; we feel that he belongs to us. We honor him as the nation's hero—a hero who has shown himself as capable a diplomat as a naval officer. We recognize in him one who has written his name high on the scroll of fame, and added new lustre and glory to our country's history. In a word, we welcome and honor Dewey as a typical American.

We urge upon every patriotic citizen of the city and borough of Plainfield to observe Dewey Day. At least let business men give this day to the nation's glory; let business be suspended, and that they decorate their homes with that emblem of the free, the stars and stripes.

Upon motion of J. B. Coward, the meeting adjourned to the third Tuesday in October.

DESPICABLE CONDUCT.

Editor Runyon Resorts to Dirty Business to Hurt Chief of Police Grant.

Yesterday's News contained a despicable and unwarranted attack on Chief of Police Grant, charging him with having caused the arrest of a man against whom it was impossible to prefer a charge. In addition to misrepresenting the conduct of the Chief it also dragged in the name of a member of his family.

The fact of the matter is that the Chief knew nothing of the arrest until after the man was locked up. Roundsman Flynn arrested the man on the complaint of a woman, who subsequently declined to appear against the prisoner owing to the delicacy of the charge. So far as The News statement that one of the members of the Chief's family was instrumental in causing the arrest, that was an absolute falsehood. The person in question knew nothing of the case whatever.

When Chief Grant called on Editor Runyon to protest against such unwarranted effort to drag his family into police business, the editor got on his high-horse and ordered the Chief out of his office. Such conduct was that of a cad.

Death of A. L. Smalley.

Andrew L. Smalley, one of the oldest citizens of Somerset county, died this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of David C. Smalley, East Front street, after a long illness. Mr. Smalley was a painter by profession, and was well-known in this vicinity. He is survived by a wife. The notice of the funeral will be published later.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on L. W. Randolph, Druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50c. and $1. Every bottle guaranteed, or price refunded.

WANT A NIGHT SESSION.

REPUBLICANS ANXIOUS TO MAKE NEW CITIZENS.

They Will Ask Judge Vail to Keep Court Open One Night Next Week so as Not to Lose the Prospective Voters.

The Republicans of this city, represented in this case by the city executive committee, are trying to persuade Judge Vail, of the Union County Circuit Court to hold a session some evening next week at which he will pass on the applications for naturalization papers. There is quite a bunch of foreigners of various nationalities, who make their home in Plainfield, who find it difficult to attend the day sessions of the court. So the city executive committee, which is chaperoning their conversion into American citizens, is going to try to arrange things so that they can go at night.

According to the present orders Judge Vail will hold court Wednesday and Saturday mornings of next week, beginning at 10 o'clock, when he will administer the final oaths and pass on the applications for citizenship. On a previous occasion Judge McCormick held evening sessions so that the men who were busy in the daytime could attend without loss of time. That is what the city executive committee now wants Judge Vail to do.

LAST STATE FAIR.

After This Year's Exhibition the Waverly Grounds Will be Used for a Park

The Board of Directors of the New Jersey State Fair, in presenting this year's announcement of the forty-first annual exhibition to be held at the old grounds October 2 to 6, would respectfully announce to the public the sale of the now historic fair grounds at Waverly.

With the close of the exhibition for 1899, the lands will become the property of the Park commission of Essex county, to be laid out and dedicated by them for park purposes for the benefit of the people of Newark and vicinity.

The value to the State of New Jersey growing out of the yearly exhibitions promoted and conducted by the managers of the New Jersey State Fair, is a matter worthy of earnest thought. The value of the herds, flocks and breeding interests in our State today as compared with forty or twenty years since, reflects great credit upon the State Society.

A State Fair first of all is an institution of learning for the benefit of the public. Its exhibits properly classified are the very best object lesson that can be presented, and no man can fail to carry home from the fair something of value in the way of experience to be obtained from viewing the results achieved by others. The very first requisite for its success, is to secure the attendance of the class it is established to benefit. As a class the man whose hours are spent on the farm is not a whit slower than the man who toils in the workshop or office. Each, when planning a holiday, (especially when such days are years between) anticipates a day among scenes where pleasures are plentifully sprinkled among the lanes of profit, and the more forms of amusement in the way of novelties and fancies, the better the day and the greater the enjoyment.

National Colors Flying.

The National colors are flying from many of the public and private residences about the city. Some of the merchants have decorated their places of business.

COPPER MINES MAY BE WORKED AGAIN.

Rise In Price Of Copper Makes It Possible.

MINES OVER A CENTURY OLD

MINING GRANT INCLUDED FIRST RANGE OF WATCHUNG AVENUE.

Was Given By English Crown to Capitalists Before Revolutionary War—Crude Methods Made Mines Unprofitable—Galleries Extend Into Mountain for Hundreds of Feet — Capitalists Consider.

The wave of prosperity that is now sweeping over the country has promise in it of renewing activity in a nearby industry that has been abandoned for over a century. Already work has been resumed at the old Schuyler copper mines near North Arlington. And the advisability of reopening the copper mines in the first ridge of the Watchung Mountains is now being considered. The seams between the layers of trap rock that form this range of mountains are known to be rich in copper ore. Back before the Revolutionary War the mines were started, but the crude methods of extracting the metal from the hard rock made them unprofitable. Now the advance in the price of copper, due to the formation of the Copper Trust and the increase in the price of iron and steel, together with the modern methods of ore refinining, have caused certain capitalists to believe that the Watchung range offers a good field for a profitable investment.

Long before there was anything but a few scattered houses in this part of Jersey a large grant was made by the English Crown to certain English capitalists to work the copper mines in this vicinity. Adventurous settlers had found traces of rich copper ore along the first ridge of the Watchung Mountains. The grant entitled the holders to all the mining privileges in this section and the right to use as much of the timber as was necessary to get their ore out of the ground and to a point of shipment.

Work was started at what is now known as Chimney Rock Notch, the Somerset Street Gap and the Scotch Plains Notch. Tunnels were run into the mountains for several hundred feet. The work was continued at intervals thrcugh the colonial period, but the crude methods of those days made the refining of the ore too expensive to make the mines of any value.

Since then these mines have been abandoned. At intervals people have examined them with a view of making another attempt to market the copper, but nothing ever came of it. The tunnels in the mountains at the various places are still in existance, although many of them have been covered up and filled in. Within only a few years a Plainfielder picked up a specimen of malachite in one of the excavations. A chemist said, after analyzing it, that it was forty per cent. copper.

The chief difficulty has been that it has been too expensive work to separate the copper from the very hard trap rock. If some of the modern methods can accomplish this and still keep the copper with the commercial prices, then Plainfield is likely to see active copper mines in th is part of Jersey once more.

WAS RIDING WITHOUT A LIGHT.

Wheelman Ran Down Miss Miller at Westfield, Who May Die.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, September 28. — Mary Miller, a young woman in the employ of William Bloodgood, was run into and perhaps fatally injured Tuesday night by Herbert Burdick, who was riding a bicycle. The accident occurred about 8:30 o'clock near the drinking fountain on Broad street.

Miss Miller was crossing the street and stepped out of the way of one bicycle rider right in front of Burdick, who was riding fast, and had no light. She was picked up unconscious and taken to Trenchard's drug store, where Dr Sinclair found her skull had been fractured. An ambulance was sent for and she was taken to the Elizabeth General Hospital.

Burdick had his face and head severely cut, but was able to go home.

PROBABLE SLATE FOR COUNTY G. O. P.

Outlined by One Who Claims to Know About it.

PLAINFIELDERS NOT IN IT.

BOB HOUSTON SLATED FOR PLACE AS SHERIFF.

Howard Named for the County Clerkship, and, of Course, Cross Will Run for Senator—Assemblymen Will Come From Elizabeth, Summit and Cranford—Some Other Gossip on the Situation.

"Don't think," remarked a well-known supporter of the G. O. P. in Plainfield yesterday, "that because you haven't heard much about Plainfield is going to get out of the coming county convention that this city is not going to be represented on the county Republican ticket this fall. The leaders are saying nothing now for they don't believe that the time has come. Just wait."

It is a fact that none of the booms for the various Plainfielders that have been sprung this early in the campaign have borne the stamp of approval of the party leaders in the city. Not that the leaders have opposed them but there has been a general silence on the part of the machine. Some have said that this silence indicated that Plainfield would not make any strong fight for a place on the county ticket. But it doesn't sound like a Plainfield delegation attending a county convention without a single candidate of its own and the knowing ones say that this year will be no exception to the rule. If there is a "dark horse" hidden away in the ranks, many are wondering who it can be.

A strong canvass is being made for George Ball for one of the Assembly nominations. The friends of that young lawyer are doing their best to win him the place. It is extremely doubtful, however, that he will ever receive the nomination. While he has been a good Republican in his former home in Fanwood and here, he has done nothing particular to entitle him to the honor that many far more active party men covet. Consequently, he is not likely to have the united support of the Plainfield delegation and, without that, he can hardly hope to win.

From an Elizabeth source, supposed to be inspired by the leaders in the county seat, comes the following slate as the probable choice of the county convention.

For Senator—Joseph Cross, of Elizabeth.

For County Clerk—William Howard, of Rahway.

For Sheriff—Robert Houston, of Elizabethport.

For Assemblymen—Addison Swift of Elizabeth; Corra Williams, of Summit; F. E. Furgeson, of Cranford.

Plainfield has evidently been counted out but it remains to be seen just how far this forecast is going to be carried out.

CONTESTS THE WILL.

Son of the Late Col. James Moore Files a Protest.

Before Judge Vail, at the court of special sessions yesterday, exceptions were filed by Thomas Moore, to the account of the estate of his father, the late Colonel James Moore, who for many years was chief engineer of the Central Railroad Company. It appears that when the colonel's will was opened it was found to contain certain charges against the sons of the deceased for money advanced to them during his life time. The contents of the will were consented to by all of the heirs with the exception of Thomas, who in filing his exception claims that the money anvanced him by his father was made use of by him in connection with his father's business.—Col. C. K. Moore, formerly of this city, is one of the interested heirs, being a son of the late Col. James Moore.

No Closed Cars Yet.

As yet the Brunswick Traction Company have no closed cars for fall and winter travel and persons making trips over their road yesterday found it uncomfortably cold riding in the open cars. The motormen and conductors wore their winter overcoats and some of them wore heavy artic rubbers. Passengers tried in vain to keep warm, but the sun's rays was hardly strong enough to keep them warm.

Holiday for the Schools, Too.

STATE ENDEAVORERS GATHER IN CAMDEN.

Thirteenth Annual Meeting of the State Union.

WORK SHOWN BY REPORTS.

PRESIDENT BRETT APPOINTS NECESSARY COMMITTEES.

M. Josephine Petrie, of Plainfield, a Member of the Committee on Nominations—Treasurer E. E. Anthony Maks a Report of Financial Conditions—Sunset Prayer Meetings a Feature.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Camden, Sept. 28.—Two thousand members of the Christian Endeavor Society from all parts of the State assembled yesterday in the Broadway Methodist Episcopal church for the opening session of the thirteenth annual meeting of the State Union.

Dr. A. W. Spooner, of this city, vice-president of the State Union and chairman of the Convention Committee, called the convention to order. Dr. Cornelius Brett, of Jersey City, then assumed the chair.

Joseph M. Engard made an address of welcome. The address of welcome on behalf of the Christian Endeavor Union of Camden and vicinity was made by Rev. H. E. Moody, president of the district. Dr. Brett responded to the address.

The report of the treasurer, E. E. Anthony, of Plainfield, showed that when the convention committee commenced its work this year it had eighty-two cents in the treasury. There is now $406.27 in hand.

Miss Ida B. Stephens, of Hackettstown, the State secretary, presented her annual report. There are now more than forty thousand members in the State Union. Of the total contributions of $12,131.68, $7,108.96 has gone through nominational boards. Aid has been given to other benevolences amounting to $5,081 49.

Then followed the reports of the departments, each secretary being allowed ten minutes.

President Brett announced his committees as follows:—Nominations—Theodore Billis, Hunterdon; the Rev. J. L. Hart, Cumberland; the Rev. J A. Brown, Hudson; the Rev. W. W. Casselberry, Camden; the Rev. Jacob Leupple, Gloucester; M. Josephine Petre, Union, and P. J. Kennedy, Warren.

Resolutions—The Rev. P. K. Hegaman, Monmouth; the Rev. Horace D. Sausman, Morris; the Rev. J. H. Algor, Gloucester; W. J. Bradway, Salem; Herbert Macombe, Hudson; Mrs. W. G. Husted, Cumberland, and Deborah Stratton, Gloucester.

Auditing Committee—A. E Pierson, A. L. Becker and W. H. Babbitt.

Dr. Brett delivered his official address to the Convention yesterday afternoon. Addresses were made last night by the Rev. J. W. Baer, of the United Society, and by the Rev. Kerr Boyce Tupper, of Philadelphia. A sunrise prayer meeting was held this morning at Calvary Presbyterian church. Devotional exercises were led by the Rev. H. R. Blackwood.

Since last September fifty-three societies have been organized in New Jersey. These, with the disbandonment of sixteen societies, makes a net gain of thirty-seven in the State. There are now 774 young people's societies, 383 junior societies and four mothers' societies, making a total of 1,172. These are distributed among fourteen denominations, the Presbyterians leading, with the Baptists second. The total membership of the young people's societies is 21,857 and the juniors 8,066.

The convention was treated to a genuine surprise at the afternoon session yesterday by the appearance on the platform of Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, the president of the societies of the country. Dr. Clark was received with the Chautauqua salute and spoke for ten minutes. He declared that never was there such progress made in Christian Endeavor work all over the land as at present.

DARLING IN PRISON.

Taken to Trenton Yesterday to Serve Out Twenty Years' Sentence.

WATCHUNG SCHOOL TO BE FOR PRIMARY ONLY.

Fifth Grade Has Been Transferred to Old Building.

TO RELIEVE OVERCROWDING

A NEW TEACHER ALSO ENGAGED FOR THE BOROUGH.

Miss Terry's Class of Sixty-six Has Been Divided—Borough Schools to be Closed Tomorrow—Half Holiday for Firemen's Parade Day—Telephone to Connect the Two School Buildings.

An important meeting of the Borough Board of Education was held the first part of this week, at which time provision was made to relieve the overcrowded condition of the Watchung school. Under the new arrangements the new school is now strictly a primary school. The fifth grade has been transferred from that school to the High School building, and Miss Acock, the teacher, has also been transferred. Miss Terry's class in the new school, which has had a membership of 66, has been divided, and Miss Enid Walker, of Cranbury, N. J. has been engaged to teach the first class. The normal number of this class is thirty. Miss Walker will assume charge next Monday. This class is temporary for the winter, but if there is no decrease during the winter it will be made permanent.

The Board decided to adjourn school tomorrow on account of the Dewey celebration, and it was also decided to hold no school on the afternoon of October 12th, at which time the firemen's parade will be held in the borough.

It was deemed wise to continue the rule of last year and allow each teacher two days off during the school year for the purpose of visiting other schools.

The necessary action was taken regarding the movement to place each school in communication by telephone. Clarence Brokaw was given the contract to construct the private talking apparatus. The Plainfield Electric Light Company, by agreement, has given the Board the right to string telephone wires on their poles, and this right will be taken advantage of. In constructing the line, it will be necessary to erect two poles on Watchung avenue. The work will be started at once and completed as soon as possible. The first cost of installing the system will be the only cost and the Board feel sure that in a short time the thing will pay for itself.

COOK RESIGNS AS TRUSTEE.

Gov. Voorhees Demanded That He Leave Industrial School Board and He Has Acquiesced.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Sept. 28.—Gov Voorhees has at last succeeded in securing the written resignation of E Rezeau Cook as trustee of the Girls' Industrial School. Mr. Cook has all along insisted that he would not resign, and recently, after a statement to the press by the Governor that Mr. Cook had verbally expressed a purpose of resigning as soon as his successor was named. Mr. Cook publicly reiterated his intention not to step down and out, and practically denied the Governor's statement. The Governor grew impatient over Cook's course and finally demanded his resignation.

The Governor has not yet named the new Board of Trustees, and until he does there can only be speculation as to what disposition will be made of Mrs. Eyler and her husband.

Realty Changes.

The following real estate transfers have been recorded from North Plainfield during the past week: Borough of North Plainfield to J. A JUNCTION OF TWO BIG TROLLEY LINES

Plans of Riker-Hine Electric Railway Syndicate.

TAP NORTH JERSEY LINES.

CONNECTING LINE BETWEEN MILBURN AND ELIZABETH.

Franchise From Springfield to Milburn Line Already Secured and Efforts Being Made to Get to Lackawanna Station in Milburn—To Boom a Piece of Land Near Scotch Plains.

Now that an agreement has been entered into by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company by which the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company, which is controlled by the Hine-Riker syndicate, may cross the tracks of the railroad at Aldene, the trolley company will increase the force of workmen now constructing the line. The trolley company has already secured a franchise to run its line through Springfield to the Millburn line, and is now securing the consents of property owners preparatory to making application to run the line to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad station in Millburn. The distance to the station from where the present franchises extend to is but about one-half of a mile.

It was stated by an official of the railway company today that, once its line is established in Milburn, it is hoped that a junction with the lines of the North Jersey Street Railway Company may be effected there. If this is accomplished, the Westfield and Elizabeth road will form a connecting line between the North Jersey's lines from Millburn to Elizabeth, where it will join the line on West Jersey street.

It is likely that, in connection with the Westfield and Elizabetu Street Railway Company, a land company will be formed to build up the country through which the road runs. With this idea in view, Chandler W. Riker has already purchased a tract of about 100 acres lying between Westfield and Scotch Plains. This tract, it is said, is to be taken over and developed by the land company that is to be formed.

PAID A FRATERNAL VISIT.

Juniors Went to Mt. Bethel Last Night and Had a Fine Time.

A delegation from Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., went to Mt. Bethel last evening to pay a fraternal visit to Fairview Council, No. 248, and to meet State Councilor L. L. Hansell, of Jersey City, and W. S. Clarendon, of Newark, another State officer. There was an unusually large attendance of members and a grand good time was had. Excellent speeches were made by visiting members and a collation and smoker were enjoyed before the meeting closed. The members of Fairview Council will visit Franklin Council in this city two weeks from tonight when they will be entertained in a royal manner.

A HARVEST HOME.

Autumnal Event Arranged by the Salvation Army.

The Salvationists are busy in preparing for their harvest celebration which has been announced for a long time. Friday they will finish decorating the hall for the opening Saturday night. There will be a display of fruits and vegetables, tastefully arranged on the platform. The subject of Saturday's meeting is "Bringing in the Sheaves"

The great closing meeting of this four days' series of meetings will take place Tuesday. A proper person has been chosen in Captain Singleton, who will be assisted by his two boys. They are well known as the musical trio.

GYPSIES BIND HIM TO A TREE.

They Give the Prisoner a Beating for His Attack on a Child.

An Italian charged with attempted assault on a little girl in the gypsy camp at North Elizabeth yesterday is in the jail at Elizabeth. The girl is a daughter of John Smith, a member of the tribe. The enraged Gypsies pursured the accused through the woods, gave him a frightful beating, and then bound him with ropes until police arrived from Elizabeth.

The prisoner works for B. M. & J. F. Shandley, the contractors, and is known on their books as 4 325.

Dewey Day at Leal's School.

Dewey Day will be observed at Mr. Leal's School. There will be no session tomorrow to allow the boys to see the naval parade if they wish.

FINGERHUTHS TO BE TRIED IN OCTOBER.

Pleaded Not Guilty to Indictments of Grand Jury.

DEFENCE WILL BE READY.

THE WOMAN ACCUSED OF MURDER BY THE INQUEST.

Father and Son Involved in the Comission of the Crime as Accessories—Order Made Granting Defendants' Counsel Expenses Needed in the Case—Confinement Tells on Mrs. Fingerhuth.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 28—Mrs. Henrietta Fingerhuth was indicted by the Grand Jury of Somerset county for the murder of Paul Roehricht, proprietor of Somerset Park, and her husband, Theodore Fingerhuth, and her son, Oscar Fingerhuth, were held as accessories to the crime. The Grand Jury announced the indictment yesterday afternoon and the prisoners were immediately arraigned and entered a plea of not guilty to the charges through their counsel. The trial was set down for October 23d.

As was told in The Daily Press yesterday, the elder Fingerhuth was arrested Tuesday evening and brought to the county jail here and locked up. The Grand Jury, although there was a big batch of cases to be considered, brought in the indictment in the Roehricht murder case as soon as the testimony was heard.

The Grand Jury came into court in the afternoon and presented its decision. Mrs. Fingerhuth was indicted for murder and her husband and son named as accessories. The prisoners were arraigned at once before Justice Magie. They were nervous, but took the announcement without any manifestation of grief. Councilman Walter L. Hetfield and Lawyer Wm. G. DeMeza, both of Plainfield, appeared as counsel for the accused.

The lawyers immediately entered a plea of not guilty in behalf of the three prisoners. They then made application to the court for a order to subpœna witnesses and for the expenses of the defense, stating that their clients were without means to do so. The order was granted.

Justice Magie asked Lawyers Hetfield and DeMeza if they would be ready to try the case at the next term of court. They declared that they would be. So the Judge set the trial down to begin Octorber 23d.

The Fingerhuths were then taken back to their cells in the jail where they will remain until the time for the trial. The confinement has told slightly on the wife and son who do not look as healthy as when they were first locked up.

None of the Fingerhuths are able to speak English with any fluency. Mrs. Fingerhuth can carry on a simple conversation but her husband can understand but a few words in English. So Frank Linke, of Plainfield, was sworn as an interpeter in the case.

CYCLER'S PREDICAMENT.

Collided With a Wagon on Park Avenue and Narrowly Escape Being Seriously Hurt.

A. E. Faber, of Rockview avenue, while on his way to take a train about 7:30 o'clock this morning, met with an accident which came near proving serious. Mr. Faber was riding his wheel and when near Second street, on Park avenue, he came into collision with the milk wagon of Arthur D. Pearson. In a moment there was a mix up and Mr. Faber fell with his wheel.

Pearson's horse became excitable and began to rear and plunge and finally kicked the wheel into a wreck. Fortunately Mr. Faber was not seriously hurt and was able to continue to New York.

A DEWEY DANCE.

One Hundred Couples Tripped the Night Away in T. A. B. Hall.

The dance given at T. A. B. Hall last night by the Dewey Social Club was attended by nearly 100 couple. The affair proved a complete success and everyone enjoyed themselves. O Reilly's orchestra supplied the music. About midnight a prize waltz was the centre of attraction. It was won by Thomas McNearney and Miss Geary. The committee of arrangements consisted of William Spencer, Joseph Clark, Patrick Mack and Clarence Waldron. The club will hold another social next month.

Councilman Mellick's Purchase.

Councilman George P. Mellick, of LaGrande avenue, has purchased the residence of W. B. Fiske on the same street through the real estate agency of J. T. Vail. The house will be entirely remodeled.

VICIOUS COW GORED WOMAN FRIGHTFULLY.

Mrs. Welch's Terrible Experience Yesterday Afternoon.

SENT TO THE HOSPITAL.

HORN OF THE COW PIERCED THE WOMAN'S ABDOMEN.

With A Badly Lacerated Wound She Fell by the Wayside and Was Taken to the Muhlenburg Hospital—Attacking Animal Had Probably Been Teased by Boys—Happened on Plainfield Avenue.

A vicious cow attacked and frightfully gored Mrs. Michael Welch, of 622 West Third street, yesterday morning, on a pasture near Plainfield and Sherman avenues. She now lies in Muhlenberg Hospital in a precarious condition. Michael Welch is employed as a driver in the street department of the city. The Welchs keep a cow which Mrs. Welch has been accustomed to lead to pasture every morning. The cow is kept on a pasture near the old golf links on Plainfield avenue. She reached the field in safety yesterday morning and was tethering her charge when another cow pastured in the field started for her.

The cow was owned by Cormick Caufield, of West Third street, a neighbor of the Welchs. The cow had evidently been teased by some passing boy. The animal dashed at Mrs. Welch with head lowered and drove a horn through her clothing and into her abdomen. She tried to drive the animal back but it tossed its head, badly lacerating the wound. The cow kept rushing at her but she finally managed to escape into the road.

With the blood spurting from the terrible gash, she made her way in the direction of her home. She passed a man and asked him what to do. He told her to hurry to a doctor. At West Seventh street and Irving place she was overcome by weakness and fell to the sidewalk. One of Frank Linke's delivery wagons passed by and the driver knew her. He assisted her into the wagon and she was driven home.

As soon as the serious nature of her injuries was realized, the ambulance was summoned and she was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital early in the afternoon.

At the hospital this afternoon it was said that Mrs. Welsh will probably recover from the wounds inflicted by the cow, although she is seriously injured.

HOSPITAL INSTEAD OF SHOP.

McDonald Started for Work But Bicycle Accident Has Laid Him Up for E pairs.

Edward McDonald, a boarder at McVey's Hotel, and an employe at the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works, met with an accident today noon while riding his wheel to work. The accident occurred on Watchung avenue, when McDonald ran into the pole of Swift's beef delivery wagon that was coming toward him.

His wheel was completely wrecked and was taken to Rogers' shop for repairs. The rider sustained an injury to the left arm, between the hand and elbow, and was taken to the hospital.

It is not believed that the arm is fractured. When the ambulance was summoned, Dr. J. T. Fritts, of Park avenue, was nearby, and he gave his assistance, accompanying the injured man to the hospital. He was then assisted by Dr. Endicott in caring for McDonald.

John Cronin Alleges That He Was a Victim of False Imprisonment.

John Cronin, who was arrested last Monday night on complaint of a woman, who alleged that he had made an assault upon her, but who failed to appear in court to substantiate the charge, has consulted Lawyer Wm. G. DeMeza with a view of bringing an action against the city for false imprisonment.

Cronin, who is a lineman employed by the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, maintains that he was not in the vicinity of the place where the crime is alleged to have been committed.

Enrollment in the Schools.

The total enrollment of scholars in the borough public schools is 860, divided as follows: High School, 80; kindergarten, 80; grammar, 200; primary, 500. At present the schools are in better condition than ever, and the best of work is being performed by both scholars and teachers.

Public Library Hours.

The Free Public Library will be open for circulation tomorrow from 10 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. The Art Gallery will be open from 3 until 5 p.m.

WELCOME STILL GOES ON

Admiral Dewey Made to Feel That All Americans Are His Friends.

IS JOYOUSLY GREETED

The Lower Bay Litterally Swarming With Excursion Boats Tugs and Private Yachts.

Thousands of Visitors Hasten to Get a Glimpse of the Famous Admiral and the Olympia—Admiral Dewey Pays a Visit to Brooklyn Navy Yard.

New York, Sept. 28.—Since early morning the lower bay has been litterally swarming with excursion boats, private yachts and tugs, crowded to their fullest capacity with visitors anxious to get a glimpse of the famous Olympia. It is estimated that there are at least a million visitors her already and that there will be twice that number in the city before Friday noon. They all want to be the first to see the warship and Admiral Dewey, and the rush is so great that not much more than half of them can be accommodated. All of the available boats are in use transporting the strangers to and from the Olympia's anchorage, but some of those who want to have the pleasure of seeing the big ship before the parade will necessarily have to be disappointed.

Admiral Dewey has received several calls to-day from persons of note among them being Governor Roosevelt and Mayor Van Wyck.

Mayor Van Wyck was formally notified by an officer from the cruiser Chicago that Rear-Admiral Howison had arrived. The Mayor promptly notified the Reception Committee, which was in session and the committee changed the order of precedence in the parade. Rear-Admiral Howison, as ranking officer next to Admiral Dewey, was assigned to the second carriage with President Guggenheimer, and Admiral Dewey and Mayor Van Wyck will occupy the first carriage. The revised program places Rear-Admiral Sampson in the third carriage with President Woods, of the Board of Aldermen, and Rear-Admiral Philip in the fourth carriage with Dr. St. Clair McKelway. Howison, however, will not be in command of the ships in the naval parade. Sampson has a definite assignment to that command, and only for reasons which he would be required to give to the Navy Department, could Howison supersede Sampson in that command.

At a meeting of the Reception Committee in executive session it was decided that on the day of the land parade the members of the committee who went down the bay to welcome Adiral Dewey should embark on the police boat Patrol at the foot of West Forty-second street. They will take the Admiral and officers of the Olympia aboard and convey them to the Battery, at which point they will arrive as near 8 o'clock as possible. It is expected that the party will reach City Hall by 8:30 o'clock, where the Admiral will be presented to the Mayor in the Mayor's office or the Governor's room.

The arrangements for the school children's part of the reception have been completed. It has been decided that seats will be provided for 3,660 children. On the Seventy-second street stand, where the children are to be arrayed so as to form the word "Dewey" in colors, there will be 2,100, and 1,500 will be seated on the City Hall stand.

Dewey Visits Navy Yard.

In order to return the courtesy of Rear-Admiral Philip, who called on him Tuesday, Admiral Dewey went to the Navy Yard yesterday afternoon to visit its commandant. The Admiral left the Olympia accompanied by Capt. Laberton, Flag Lieutenant Brumby and Flag Secretary Lieut. Scott. The launch Undine conveyed the party to the Navy Yard. A landing was effected at the pier at the foot of Main street, Navy Yard, and Admiral Philip who was accompanied by Capt. Wildes, the Captain of the yard, who commanded the Boston at the battle of Manila, met the Admiral as he stepped on the pier and shook his hand in hearty welcome.

After that the Admiral was escorted to No. 1 building, the headquarters of the yard, where the officers detailed to duty in the yard were drawn up in line. Admiral Dewey shook hands with these officers as they were introduced to him by Admiral Philip, but before he reached the end of the line he saw Rear-Admiral Entwistle, retired, standing nearby and left the line to shake hands with him. Then he returned to the other officers, and after their introduction to him was finished, many women, wives and daughters of officers were presented to him.

At the conclusion of this part of the exercises the Admiral turned to Admiral Philip and said:

"Say, old man I've got to get through with this. After I've shaken hands with Mrs. Philip I must return to the Olympia."

The Admiral had to go up to the commandant's house to meet Mrs. Philip, but his visit was ended in a few minutes and he was soon on the way back to the flagship.

Still at Tompkinsville.

New York, Sept. 28.—Admiral Dewey is still at anchor off Tompkinsville with his flagship, Olympia. He will not "officially" leave the vessel until Saturday morning after the great naval parade and night pageant.

"Do you know," he said to a reporter, "I rather dread going through the ordeal—the noise and hubbub of crowds, to which I am unaccustomed. Not that I do not appreciate the honor the people do me, do not think that, but, to say the truth, I was wholly unprepared for the great wave of enthusiasm with which we have been met on my return home.

"We had expected, of course, quite a reception, but this exaggeration of statement—this hero worship—is something that I did not dream of.

"So, while I am almost afraid of the next few days, I am at the same time filled with a vast joy and thankfulness that I belong to a nation that knows how to thank so nobly its servants who do their duty.

"But, with Von Moltke, I hold that a man should not be judged too soon. No man, said Von Moltke, is known even to his own family until after he is dead, and he believed that people should not make their estimates of a man till then.

"That, I know, is a little too slow for progressive Americans. They are generous to a fault and impulsive to a great degree. But there is no denying that they do things in a princely fashion.

"I feel that our people ought to wait awhile in my case. I fear they are making me too much of a hero, and if they should be disappointed ultimately how flat I should feel and what a fall there would be. Yet, after the fight there in Manila Bay, I feel it was out of the common.

" 'Gentlemen,' I said to a group of officers sitting on the deck, 'I believe we will hear of this. I believe the American people will think it was well done. There is a picturesqueness about the Philippines and a completeness about the victory that will arouse some enthusiasm.'

"You would know about Gen. Otis? I believe he is a man of the strictest integrity. In the trade which he permits among the islands there is every chance for dishonesty, but not a whisper has been heard against Gen. Otis. He makes mistakes, the most flagrant of which so far has been in establishing a censorship which is ludicrously strict. Now, I never had the slightest trouble with newspaper men.

"All I said to them was this: 'Boys, we all want to avoid the same thing—giving out anything that would injure our common country or help the enemy.' After that not a line went out that I objected to. I regard American newspaper men as not only the most enterprising in the world, but the most accurate as well. Not until I got to Europe was I misquoted.

"Now, Otis had so strict a censorship that no favorable mention of the navy was allowed to slip through"—the Admiral's eye twinkled—"I taxed him with it and he didn't deny it."

The City Crowded.

More people arrived here Wednesday than on any day since the city began to fill up with strangers. Every train that arrives is loaded with people who come from cities and towns and villages nearby and far away. Many who had made no provisions for getting accommodations after arriving here apply to the ticket agents and the policemen stationed about the depot for information concerning boarding houses and hotels. They want to know where they can get quarters for three days and in many instances insist upon knowing where they can find boarding houses with windows overlooking streets through which the land parade will pass. When told that boarding houses on the line of march would furnish accommodations at the rate of $20 a day, they seem to think that the person giving this information is not telling the truth. One policeman told a woman that he knew of a boarding house on Fifth avenue where she could get a parlor floor for $250 for Friday and Saturday. She became indignant and threatened to report the policeman for having insulted her.

An inspector of the Building Department estimates that the stands thus far erected will seat 110,000 persons. He also said that permits had been issued for the erection of enough stands to seat a quarter of a million persons. The average price of tickets for seats on these stands is $5. Seats sold yesterday at some of them for sums as high as $15 and $20. One man who secured the privilege for the erection of a big stand on Fifth avenue started in to sell seats at $3 each. After selling the first four rows he learned that there was such a demand for seats that he raised the price of the back seats to $10. Even at that price he sold a large number of tickets, and said that by Saturday the price of seats on his stand would certainly be $20. The proprietor of a stand erected in Central Park West, near Sixty-fifth street, said that his expenses were $4,200, but he expected to make a profit on the investment. He said that a lease of the ground for three days cost him $1,000, and that his printing and cost of building the stand would certainly cost him $3,200 more. Still he said he would be able to make a profit by selling tickets for $5. The man in charge of the big stand on Riverside Drive said that he expected to make a barrel of money, because he could sell seats on Friday as well as Saturday. He added that he would sell tickets for the fire-works display, and that would swell his receipts, too.

The Programme.

The condensed programme for the celebration is as follows:

FRIDAY.

11 A. M.—Official visit to Admiral Dewey on the Olympia by the Mayor and heads of both branches of the Municipal Assembly.

1 P. M.—Naval parade from Tompkinsville to Grant's Tomb; Olympia leading the warships and 250 other vessels.

This may be watched from the docks along the North River, from the River Side Drive and the stands erected for the occasion.

5 P. M.—Salute at Grant's Tomb and response by the Olympia.

7 P. M.—Night pageant begins. Fireworks on North River off Grant's Tomb and in the East River off Ward's Island. Parade of fireboat flotilla and grand pyrotechnic display at the Battery, City Hall Park, Union Square, Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue, Mt. Morris Park and at the junction of the Southern Boulevard and the Concourse in the Bronx. In Brooklyn at the Borough Hall and the entrance to Prospect Park. In Queens at Long Island City Court House, in Richmond on Barron Hill, the highest point on the island.

The night pageant and the fireworks may be seen from along the shores of the rivers, excursion boats or the Battery.

SATURDAY.

8 A. M.—Admiral Dewey brought ashore and escorted by cavalry to the City Hall.

9 A. M.—Presentation by the Mayor on behalf of the city with a gold loving cup on the steps of the City Hall. National Anthems sung by 2,000 school children.

11 A. M.—Grand parade starts from Grant's Tomb. Admiral Dewey in a carriage at the head. At the triumphal arch in Madison Square Garden the procession halts and is reviewed by Admiral Dewey. The route of the procession is down Riverside Drive to Seventy-second street, to Eighth avenue, to Fifty-ninth street, to Fifth avenue to Washington Square.

7 P. M.—The Admiral will dine with his relatives at the Waldorf-Astoria.

8 P. M.—Smoker to the crew of the Olympia at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Must Dress According to Law.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 28.—George P. Fleurot of New York was notified that he had been guilty of cruelty to his daughter, 8 years old, and that unless he covered the child's legs with a kind of stocking satisfactory to the Connecticut Humane Society he would be called to account. Fleurot came here to spend a few days at the opening of Yale. Mrs. Fleurot, the daughter and maid accompanied him. Mr. and Mrs. Fleurot, with their little daughter, were walking in the green when Wallace S. Moyle, a local lawyer, accosted the man and said:

"Why do you not cover your daughter's bare legs."

"That's none of your business," retorted Fleurot.

"The child wears stockings which reach only to the tops of her shoes. Her knees are bare," answered Moyle. "That is downright cruelty."

"What right have you to dictate to me what kind of stockings my daughter shall wear?" gasped Fleurot.

Moyle flashed his badge as State officer of the Humane Society before Fleurot's vision. Fleurot discreetly decided not to maintain an argument with Moyle and took the little girl to the hotel. Later he visited the office of the City Attorney and, it is said, tried to procure a warrant for Moyle's arrest. The maid went to a local department store and purchased long stockings for the little girl, and the Fleurots made haste to leave town.

Fierce Storm in Connecticut.

South Norwalk, Conn., Sept. 28.—Reports are coming in of a severe windstorm, which passed over the territory north and west of the Norwalks. The blow assumed the proportions of a cyclone. Trees were uprooted, roofs sent flying, sheds and small buildings overturned, apple orchards devastated and minor damage done. The storm was severely felt at Winnipauk, West Norwalk, Silver Mine, Wilton, Darien and Georgetown. The damage, it is believed, will amount to several thousand dollars.

Lost Americans Are Found.

Port Arthur, Ont., Sept. 28.—Two Americans who were lost in the bush at Nipigon have been brought into town. Their names are H. F. Kendall, of Cambridge, Mass., and C. E. Eastman, of Saginaw, Mich. They were found by Indians sent out to search for them. Mr. Eastman has lived in Saginaw for many years, being well known as a lumberman and boat owner.

Ending Canal Contracts.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The Canal Board at its meeting here audited the claims of Clinton Beckwith on contracts Nos. 23 and 27 of the eastern division at $1,301.85 and $4,267.52, respectively, on the report of the investigating committee. That is the first of the contractors' applications for the termination of their contracts with the state to be acted on by the board.

Knights Templar Install Officers.

Syracuse, Sept. 28.—The eighty-sixth conclave of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templars, was brought to a close with the installation of officers. Sir Mathew J. Steel of Monroe Commandery, No. 12, of Rochester, was appointed grand captain of the guard by Grand Commander Charles E. Ide. A parade was held under the auspices of Central City Commandery, No. 25.

Saved the Town From Destruction.

Brazil, Ind., Sept. 28.—John Johnson's saloon and building, at Saline City, this county, was totally destroyed by fire. A strong wind blowing carried the burning embers in every direction, and soon the Brown Hotel and a number of other buildings were on fire. Teams were hitched to wagons and water was hauled from a creek, which saved the town from destruction.

Warehouse Company Incorporated.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 28.—The Chicago Warehouse Company, capital $4,000,000, has filed papers of incorporation here. One-half of the capital stock is preferred with six per cent. cumulative dividends.

Good Wheat Crop in France.

Paris, Sept. 28.—The government estimates of the wheat harvest this year show the production to be 129,005,000 hectolitres, as against 128,096,140 hectolitres in 1898.

Delegates Sail for Philadelphia.

Colon, Sept. 28.—The Isthmian delegates to the commercial exhibition at Philadelphia have sailed from here on the steamship Finance.

It's manly because it helps others.
So many people have been misled.
So many claims made that were not true.
No wonder there are skeptics.
A Plainfield man speaks here.
Speaks in the interest of humanity.
Shows the way to our citizens.
Removes the stumbling block of doubt.
Gives local endorsement.
No better proof can be had.
No better should be asked.
Plainfield people should know what is the true kidney remedy.
Distinguish it from many imitations.
Know that Doan's Kidney Pills are the only genuine.
There are many kidney remedies, but only one cure.
Other kidney pills but only on Doan's.
And they cure kidney ills.
We say so—your neighbors prove it.

Mr. Chas. Giese, cigar manufacturer, of 25 Elm place, says: "I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint for 2 or 3 years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp, shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such a good medicine for kidney troubles, so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after two or three days I felt better. I continued their use until the pain disappeared. I am only too glad to be able to testify to the fact that Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy."

IS AGAINST REMARRIAGE.

Bishop Potter Declares Himself on Subject of Divorces.

New York, Sept. 28.—Bishop Potter, in an address to the Diocesan Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of New York, held in the Church of the Incarnation, on Madison avenue, declared emphatically against the remarriage of persons who had been divorced.

The Bishop began by touching on the mooted question of divorces in the church, which was warmly discussed at the last convention. He said that the church would doubtless always be divided as to the authority of the words relating to this subject in the Holy Scriptures.

"But meantime," he said, "the subject has gained a new aspect from events to which I need not more particularly refer here, which have undoubtedly awakened in all sober-minded Christian people a profound sense of alarm and the consesus of opinion among them, as to the necessity of legislation which shall prohibit the remarriage of divorced persons under any circumtances whatever has greatly widened and deepened."

"It must be owned that, in the face of such a danger as threatens us, the only safe course must be to prohibit absolutely that which, while it might be permissible if we could always be sure that it had a Scriptual justification for it, is only wrong, and evil when that justification, existing in fact, exists only because it has been fraudulently obtained.

"Here the judgment of eminent publicists and legal authorities concur, and some of them of the foremost rank as jurists and churchmen have agreed in the opinion that the only safe canon, in view of the tendencies painfully evident among us, is one in which the Church refuses remarriage to persons divorced for any cause arising after marriage, absolutely and universally.

"The institutions and obligations of marriage have come to be so lightly regarded that now at length the least thoughtful among us are beginning to realize the vicious tendencies in some forty or fifty different commonwealths of our composite and contradictory legislation: and to recognize that the facility with which the marriage relation may be taken on and put off is a menace to the foundations of society and the jest of the civilized world."

Formed New Temperance Union.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—A new national temperance organization, which is pledged to raise 1,000,000 votes for the prohibition party; $1,000,000 to "save the temple," to maintain "social, industrial and economic bureaus," and to see to the enforcement of law, is to be started in Willard Hall. The first annual national convention of the Young People's Christian Temperance Union has opened here. Delegates are present from Illinois, Iowa, Oregon, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, New York, Massachusetts, New Mexico and Washington.

City Officials Are Accused.

Youngstown, Ohio, Sept. 28.—Judge Robinson has demanded that the grand jury investigate the slot machines. He accused some officials with "standing in" with the owners of the machines. The Judge said that a person had some show in a poker or other gambling games, but with the slot machine the person playing it had absolutely no chance of winning, and that youths were allowed to play the machine.

Had Hard Fight With Robbers.

Mishawaka, Ind., Sept. 28.—Irwin S. Shanover, foreman of a woodchoppers' gang, while on his way to a clearing with $300 to pay workmen, had a terrible fight with five tramps, whose motive was robbery. Shanover was slashed with a razor about the arms, hands, and chest. Three arteries were cut in efforts to reach Shanover's throat. He was brought here and may die.

Captured the "Wild Man."

Middleburg, Ky., Sept. 28.—The alleged "wild man," that has been creating such terror in the mountains of Casey, has been finally caught in the knobs near Liberty by Sheriff Brown and a posse. He fought until the very last. He gave his name as Sullivan, and said he was going to San Francisco, Cal. He is now in the Casey County Jail at Liberty.

Another Trustee Resigns.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 28.—E. R. Cook, managing trustee of the State Industrial School for Girls, who said he would not resign, has sent a letter of resignation to Gov. Voorhees. This leaves only one of the old board who has not resigned, Carter of Newark, and his resignation will now be forthcoming.

The Officials Are Worried.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—No word has yet been received of the overdue Dominion liner Scotsman, and officials of the company do not attempt to conceal the fact that they are worried. The Scotsman carries eighty-one first cabin, ninety-five second cabin and a large number of steerage passengers.

Will Build New Trolley Line.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The Buffalo and Erie Electric Railroad, a street surface railroad with a capital stock of one million dollars, has been incorporated with the secretary of state. The railroad is to be built through Buffalo and to Erie, Pa., a distance of about seventy miles.

Killed While Going Home.

Olney, Ill., Sept. 28.—Eugene Cunningham, a railroader living at Medora, Ind., while attempting to board a freight train fell between the wheels and was instantly killed. He was going home to his family.

Killed Playing "Wild West."

Rockport, Ind., Sept. 28.—Robert H. Montgomery, aged 16, shot Isaac C. Baker, aged 15, with a shotgun above the heart while playing "Wild West." Baker died of his injuries.

Aged Man Gored to Death.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 28.—John W. Hicks, aged 70 years, was gored to death by a bull at Valley Station, about 12 miles from this city.

"As a newspaper correspondent I often make long journeys," writes a gentleman whose home is in Elmira, N. Y., "and not infrequently my wife accompanies me. Long days of riding on trains tend to aggravate her natural trouble with her bowels, which are slow-acting. We have but recently completed a trip of over eighteen thousand miles, occupying four months' time; and a Ripans Tabule, taken at breakfast-time, has been the means of making the tour an enjoyable one. This statement of facts may not be a 'good one,' but the results obtained by the Tabules were good, and they now have a permanent place in our household."

A new style packet containing THE RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (THE TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

ENGLAND TO MAKE DEMAND

Great Britain Assumes an Offensive Attitude Toward Transvaal.

London, Sept. 28.—A few days more should witness a definite development in the crisis in the Transvaal. The Volksraad was sitting in secret session last evening (Wednesday), and the burghers doubtless had the result of the deliberations of the Orange Free State Volksraad to guide them in making a decision as to the reply to Mr. Chamberlain's latest dispatch, which probably will be handed to the British Diplomatic Agent in Pretoria, Conyngham Greene, and be discussed by the British Cabinet.

A telegram from Naples shows that the British Government is buying mules there, as well as in the United States. It is understood that 10,000 will be purchased altogether; but, as it will take at least a month to get them to Africa and a similar time to get an army corps to the front, it is evident that big operations will be impossible until toward the end of next month.

It is understood that the next British note virtually will demand the absolute fulfillment of the conventions of 1881 and 1884.

The War Office has ordered the whole transport and supply for an army corps to proceed to the Cape. This is an important order, and implies the early dispatch of an army corps.

The men of twenty-five companies are being examined medically in Aldershot.

The Currie line has received an order from the Admiralty to prepare the Braemar Castle of that line to sail for the Cape on October 6 with 1,400 officers and men. This is an entirely fresh batch of troops, and the composition of it is unknown.

The Currie line has been compelled to cancel its passenger list, which was made up, and workmen have been sent to transform the Braemar Castle into a transport.

Cornell Defeats Syracuse.

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The Syracuse University eleven failed to score against Cornell in the football game here. The first half of the contest was close and exciting, and the carnelian and white could only count six. In the second half, however, the Syracuse line showed weak points and Cornell increased her total to 17.

Dreyfus to Live in England.

Southampton, Sept. 28.—A consignment of luggage from Carpentras, labelled "Dreyfus," has arrived here. It has been forwarded to London. It is concluded that ex-Capt. Dreyfus intends shortly to take up his residence in England.

Janney May Be Lost at Sea.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 28.—The family of Thomas Janney, Jr., fear that he is lost at sea with his little steam yacht Nodus. He left Newport in the boat last Wednesday to sail home, but has not been heard from since he touched at New Haven Friday.

Captured Wine Sold by Uncle Sam.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 28.—Thirty-one casks of rare wines captured on Admiral Cervera's flagship, the Maria Theresa, were sold here by the Government. Many relics of the battle were also sold.

McCoy Whips McCormack.

New York, Sept. 28.—In the Lenox Athletic Club Kid McCoy defeated Jack McCormack of Philadelphia in the eighth round. McCormack was not knocked out but was a very badly beaten man.

Want Minister Recalled.

Sonsonate, Salvador, Sept. 28.—American residents are signing a petition for the recall of United States Minister Hunter, whom they accuse of neglecting American interests.

Victims of Earthquake.

Calcutta, Sept. 28.—Later reports of the fatalities caused by the series of earthquake shocks show that 300 persons lost their lives in the vicinity of Darjeeling alone.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 28.—The stock market was slow and steady, with prices little changed from last night. People's Gas and Tennessee Coal made slight gains, but the latter lost all of its advance immediately and dropped ¼ below yesterday.

Chicago, Sept. 28—Closing quotations for spot: Wheat 74⅜, corn 33, oats 22⅞, pork 8.22, lard 5.12, ribs 5.12.

Clover Sickness.

Clover sickness, a common disease that often ruins clover crops, has caused German scientists to make experiments. They now say that farmers will soon be able to inoculate their land just as human beings may be treated

Libraries Not Wanted.

Free libraries are not wanted in some parts of London. The three adjoining parishes of Islington, St. Pancras and Marylebone have refused to establish them even where the books were offered as a gift.

Brake for Ships.

Ships can be stopped quickly by a newly-designed brake, which is hinged to the bow of the boat, and is of that shape to spread out on either side of the boat and resist the passage of the water.

Singing to Oxen.

In France the oxen that work in the fields are regularly sung to as an encouragement to exertion, and no peasant has the slightest doubt that the animals listen to him with pleasure.

Civil War Battles.

The total number of battles fought during the American Civil War reached the astounding figure of 3,125. The figures are taken from the official records.

GENERAL OTIS DECLINES.

He Refuses to Send Vessels to Filipino Ports to Gather up Spanish Prisoners.

READY TO SURRENDER.

Some of the Filipinos Are Willing to Lay Down Their Arms and Accept American Terms.

All They Ask is to Be Guaranteed Protection Against the Moros—Aguinaldo Postpones the Surrender of American Prisoners Until October 19.

Manila, Sept. 28.—Gen. Otis has declined the request of Gen. Jaranillo, the Spanish officer who is settling Spain's military affairs in the Philippine Islands, to send a vessel under the Spanish flag to collect the Spanish prisoners at Filipino ports, as stipulated by the Filipinos, on the ground that the ports are closed that such a step, therefore, would be unlawful. The general will not permit the Filipinos to dictate conditions. He is ready to send American vessels for the prisoners. The Spanish commission, therefore, will return to the insurgent lines and endeavor to effect an arrangement for the delivery of the prisoners on board an American vessel.

Aguinaldo has issued a statement saying the warlike activity of the Americans has prevented the concentration of the prisoners, as intended, but that they will be surrendered on October 19.

The Tagalos of the Island of Mindanao have expressed their readiness to accept American sovereignty in exchange for protection against the harrassing Moros.

A native officer has offered Major-Gen. Otis 1,000 Maccabebe tribesmen to fight Tagalos of the Laguna de Bay district.

The troops engaged in the fighting at Cebua belonged to the Nineteenth Infantry, Sixth Infantry, Twenty-third Infantry and Sixth Artillery.

Attempts Self Destruction.

Sing Sing, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Arthur E. Michaels, a convict in Sing Sing prison, who a month ago attempted to commit suicide by hanging himself to the door of his cell, but was discovered by his keeper in time to save his life, has made another attempt at suicide by setting fire to his clothing and the bedding in his cell, having in some way got some matches. His cell is situated on gallery No. 3, and all the prisoners were locked in their cells for the night. The smoke coming through the iron bars of his cell door attracted the attention of the guards and they succeeded in extinguishing the fire. The smoke raised a cry of fire from the other prisoners and excitement reigned in the prison for some time. The guards quieted the men and assured them that there was no danger. It is believed that Michaels is insane and he will probably be examined and sent to the Matteawan Asylum for insane criminals.

Twenty-Six Bullets Hit Him.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 28.—Among those who have arrived by transport is D. W. Krider, of Wharton, Ohio, of Battery K, Third Artillery, who gained the distinction of being the worst wounded man in the war. In February last he was with his battery in a native attack on Manila, when word came to fall back. Utah Battery was given the same order, but failed to observe it, and a shrapnel shell from this battery exploded. Two men were killed and Krider received 26 wounds from the shrapnel bullets, while at the same time a Mauser bullet passed through him. Krider still carries some of the bullets, and it is doubtful if he will ever recover his health and strength.

Hobart's Condition Improved.

Paterson, N. J., Sept. 28.—The following bulletin was given out by Hobart Tuttle, brother-in-law of Vice-President Hobart, concerning the Vice-President's health: "The Vice-President passed a very comfortable night and is in excellent spirits. He has finally decided to take the advice of his physicians and will take perfect rest. He will attend to his private duties in his house, and will occasionally visit his downtown office. Perfect rest is what Mr. Hobart needs, and after much persuasion he has reconciled himself to the fact that he must keep quiet."

Strike is Off at Havana.

Havana, Sept. 28.—The general strike of the workmen is over. Many workers have gone back, and it is expected that the members of the various trades organizations will be at their accustomed places soon. The strikers are now devoting all their attention to securing the release of their leaders who were arrested by order of Gen. Ludlow.

Stone Through Car Window.

Mount Vernon, N. Y., Sept. 28.—James Bissland, of this city, while riding on a New York, New Haven & Hartford train, near Tremont, was hit by a stone thrown through the window. The flying glass cut a New Rochelle man badly on the face and neck. Bissland is under the care of a physician. The Tremont police are looking for the person who threw the stone.

Crippled Man Suicides.

Marietta, Ohio, Sept. 28.—Levi Barber was found dead in his room here. He had tied a rope to the bed post, slipped a noose over his head and rolled out of bed. He had been dead for several hours when found. He was 59 years old and a cripple from birth. Despondency is supposed to have been the cause.

More Fever at Jackson.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 28.—The yellow fever situation is not so encouraging. A total of three new cases has been reported since Tuesday in Jackson. The latest is Mrs. O. J. Waite, wife of the cashier of the First National Bank.

No Daily Press Tomorrow.

Owing to the almost unanimous movement of the business men of Plainfield to act in accordance with the proclamation of Mayor Rockfellow asking that Friday be observed as a holiday in order that Plainfield may do its share towards paying homage to Admiral Dewey and his crew on the occasion of their welcome home, The Daily Press will not be issued tomorrow.

How to Get People in Church.

How to get people into the churches to listen to the Gospel preached by ministers, is a problem that has forced itself into discussion among the local religious workers many times. It will be interesting, therefore, to learn what other persons have been grappling with the same question think of it.

One such is a pastor of a Boston church. He avers that it "requires skill to attract people to church," and the most spiritual sermons "avail little in empty pews," and "souls cannot be saved unless they can be reached and be brought under gospel influence." The Rev. gentlemen dislikes to bear the name of a sensational preacher, but he "may sometimes try to attract young people by announcing subjects like the Dreyfus case, or the return of Admiral Dewey, in order to get a chance to preach Christ to the people."

He believes in advertising, too, and has not only increased the space bought weekly of the newspapers, but has engaged for the posting each week of 15x20 foot bills advertising the plans and the special services of the church, and for the distribution of placards to be hung in shop-windows. All this will increase the church expenses about $500 a year, but the pastor shows his faith in his plan by offering to be reponsible for this amount, if the added prosperity of the church should not relieve him of the burden.

NATIONAL EXPORT EXPOSITION, PHILADELPHIA.

On September 14 President McKinley touched the button that started the great National Export Exposition at Philadelphia. It is to run to Nov. 30. The handsome exposition buildings and grounds cover 56 acres. Dr. William P. Wilson is the Director General. The object of the exposition is the display of American manufactures.

Industrial Possibilities in China.

The Hon. John Barrett contributes an instructive and timely article to The Engineering Magazine on "The Industrial Possibilities in China," in which he says:

"When we consider that the conditions throughout the Empire are practically the same as those of 1,000 years ago, then we realize what there remains to be done according to the methods of this modern age. Although China had a history and a civilization before even Europe had emerged from a savage state, she has remained practically the same, according to the standards of the present day, that she was long centuries ago. Had she advanced as Europe and America have forged ahead, she would today control the world. She can now enter upon a period of progress and will never become an element of danger, provided the great powers of the world exercise that guiding influence which they can and should exert."

Robert Davis, the Democratic leader, was asked his opinion of the address issued by the Bryan committee of fifteen, of which Congressman Daly is chairman "What do I think about that address?" he said, repeating the question, and, after a pause, added abruptly, "I think some men talk to much." It was brief, but very much to the point.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Clamor for a general law for the abolition of the fee system is not without reason when one considers that county officers will be elected in November whose fees will aggregate over $200,000 annually. A fair salary to each sheriff, county clerk and surrogate would reduce the total outgo nearly one-half. The fee system is seriously overworked in this State.—"Freeholder" in New York Press.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The great modesty and reticence displayed in Admiral Dewey is also to be noticed in his son. Although the Admiral is today probably most in the public mind of any American, his son has not shown the slightest inclination to take advantage of his father's popularity. After the great victory won by Dewey at Manila the younger Dewey was invited to visit his cousins, the Misses Petrie, of East Sixth street, this city, and spend part of his vacation here. He accepted the invitation, but made it an express provision that he was not to be paraded about as the son of the hero of Manila Bay but was to be just plain Mr. Dewey. Circumstances afterward prevented his visit to this city, although his cousins were perfectly agreed not to force any honors upon him.

* * * * *

There will probably be an exodous from Plainfield tomorrow such as has not been seen in many a day. It is some years since the average citizen has been so worked up to a pitch of enthusiasm. The unexpected arrival of Admiral Dewey two days ahead of time has been the talk of the town. The query on every side is: "Are you going to see Dewey?" Half of the population will be in New York tomorrow night. Dewey's name is on every one's lips. Even the small boy has caught the inspiration, and the popular slogan is: "Dewey did it." Occasionally one is compelled to listen to the croakers, who are opposed to "making so much fuss and feathers" over one man. Fortunately this class is composed of a certain few who can never see any good in anything, save what they do themselves. They will have the effrontery to tell you that "any other man could have done as well as Dewey." Perhaps so, but the other fellow didn't happen to be at Manila to do it.

Found an Unrecorded Mortgage.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, September 28.—E. S. Campbell, of Newark, receiver of the defunct Middlesex County Bank at Perth Amboy, sent to the County Clerk's office Tuesday an assignment of mortgage dated 1894, which had never been recorded by the bank officials. The original mortgage was given by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Garretson to James Hall, who assigned it to the bank. The amount is $3,500.

GIVE THE CHILDREN A DRINK

called Grain-O. It is a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it because when properly prepared it tastes like the finest coffee but is free from all its injurious properties. Grain-O aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant but a health builder, and children, as well as adults, can drink it with great benefit. Costs about ¼ as much as coffee 15 and 25c.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 28.—Superintendent Morris is already asserting his authority as a master disciplinarian. Some of the boys of the Whittier school, who have heretofore had an idea that they could run things to suit themselves, have finally awakened to a realization of their position. The boys have learned that the new superintendent will stand no nonsence. A few days ago some of the older boys, who attempted to show their cleverness, were brought up with a round turn. As a consequence the recess hour has been denied them for a few days.

Some of the pupils of the Whittier School will observe Dewey Day tomorrow by going to Washington Rock and enjoying a picnic at that picturesques place, from where a good view can be had of the surrounding country. It is expected that the members of the eighth, ninth and tenth grades will make up the party. If the day is pleasant an enjoyable time is anticipated.

The family of William VanMiddlesworth is moving to Newark, where they will reside in the future. Mr. VanMiddlesworth is an engineer on the Pennsylvania Railroad and he finds it more convenient to live in Newark than in Dunellen. The many friends in the borough will regret their departure.

Now that there is every possibility of checking the spread of diphtheria, several cases of whooping cough have developed. Among those afflicted is Lena Marienschenck, of North avenue.

The family of William VanMiddlesworth were tendered a surprise at their home Tuesday evening. About fifty of the friends of the family were present to bid them.

Nearly all the places of business will close tomorrow and many of the citizens will go to New York to attend the Dewey celebration.

Mrs. William Walters and daughter and Mrs. A. F. Vail and Mrs. H. H. Vail visited friends at Bound Brook Wednesday.

Parties are being organized to go nutting. There is said to be a large crop of both walnuts and chestnuts this year.

The family of G. W. Churchill has returned from Ocean Grove, where they have been sojourning all summer.

John Huff has moved his family into the Dealaman flats over the store of Postmaster Adam Dealaman.

Mrs. George Weigand paid a short visit to her father and sisters on Church street yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 28.—The backers of Chapin and Hummer are trying to arrange to have the ten-mile race between the two speedy riders pulled off Saturday afternoon over the Mountain avenue course. The race will be for $25, but much more money will be placed on both men by their friends, who are ready to back their respective favorites with their last dollar. The records of both men are about even, Chapin beating Hummer by a few seconds in Kenyon's road race held in Plainfield last month, and in last Saturday's race Hummer redeemed himself by beating Chapin's time by five seconds So it will probably be a close and exciting race if the authorities allow it to be pulled off. If arrangements are not completed for Saturday then it has been agreed upon to have it on the following Saturday afternoon.

Scotch Plains already sees the necessity of having shelter or a waiting room of some kind at the trolley terminus. The recent wet weather has clearly demonstrated this fact, for those who use the trolley have had to wait from twelve to fifteen minutes in the mud and rain, for when one goes to catch a car, he is just in time to see one pull out, consequently a wait and a ruffled temper.

The material from which the local football eleven will be picked are practicing hard every evening on the gridiron in the rear of the school. From the present outlook the team will be stronger than ever.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schick are entertaining Mrs. Schick's sister, Miss Louise Daley and her friend, Miss Foy, of Philadelphia, for a few days.

Mrs. R. S. Welcome and child, of Milford, Delaware, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jimerson, of Westfield, were the guest of their daughter, Mrs. George W. Marsh, last evening.

The Jefferson Brothers Company will give an entertainment and cake walk in Excelsior Hall this evening.

Wm. D. Johnston, the mason, is making a number of necessary repairs to the Baptist parsonage.

Wm. Flanders, of North Carolina, spent yesterday with relatives and friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gotlick have taken up their residence in Westfield.

Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., meet in their room this evening.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 28—The Westfield Social Club has elected the following officers to serve for the coming year: President, N. B. Arnold; vice-president, J. H. Hendricks; secretary, H. R. Foster; treasurer, George B. Dickerson; governors, W. E. Tuttle, Jr., J. Dix Ritchie and W. N. Hacket. The coming winter season at the social club promises to excel any of former years. The club has grown wonderfully in membership during the past year.

While There is Life There is Hope.

I was afflicted with Catarrh; could neither taste nor smell and could hear but little. Ely's Cream Balm cured it.—Marcus G. Shautz, Rahway, N. J.

The Balm reached me safely and the effect is surprising. My son says the first application gave decided relief. Respectfully, Mrs. Franklin Freeman, Dover, N. H.

The Balm does not irritate or cause sneezing. Sold by druggists at 50 cts. or mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., New York.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Ludwigshafen. Der Stadtrath wählte den früheren Regierungsassessor Krafft zum Berufsbürgermeister. Diese Wahl ist die erste ihrer Art in der Pfalz.

Mittelberbach. Auf Grube „König" war der Schlosser Friedrich Brenner mit dem Kesselschmied Neuschwander und dem Bergschüler Funk damit beschäftigt, einen Dichtungsring anzuziehen. Nun platzte aber am Vorwärmer des Kessels ein Dreiwegestück. Durch den ausströmenden Dampf wurden die Arbeiter schrecklich verbrüht. Nach ihrer Ueberführung in's Knappschaftslazareth erlag Brenner seinen Wunden.

Neustadt. Dieser Tage wurde in Diedesfeld der Keller einer bekannten Weinfirma in polizeilichen Gewahrsam genommen. Es sollten, wie der „Pfälzische Kurier" schreibt, etwa 100 Fuder „Diesjähriger" schon fertig fabrizirt worden sein.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Der Begründer und langjährige Wirth des vielbesuchten Hotels und Restaurants Dierlamm, Christian Dierlamm, ist einem langen und schweren Leiden erlegen. Seine beiden Söhne haben schon vor einiger Zeit das Hotel und Restaurant übernommen.—Die Acetylen-Ausstellung im Frühjahr hat bekanntlich mit einem erheblichen Defizit abgeschlossen. Vom Vorstand des Internationalen Acetylen-Werke-Verbands werden jetzt die Garantiezeichner der Ausstellung aufgefordert, vorläufig 90 Prozent der Garantiesumme einzuzahlen.—Vom 1. Oktober an wird eine neue Schnellzugsverbindung in's Leben treten zwischen London, dem Niederrhein und Stuttgart, indem die zwischen Holland und Basel laufenden Züge in Karlsruhe Anschluß erhalten über Pforzheim nach Stuttgart und umgekehrt.

Cannstatt. Zu schweren Ausschreitungen kam es neulich Abends zwischen den Mitgliedern einiger auswärtiger Turnvereine und dem Besitzer eines Karussells. Die Turner wollten das Karussell unentgeltlich benützen und suchten den Besitzer, da er dies nicht zuließ, mit Gewalt dazu zu zwingen. Hierbei entspann sich ein förmlicher Kampf, in dessen Verlauf der Karussellbesitzer schwer verwundet wurde. Das Karussell wurde völlig demolirt.

Dillingen. Mitglieder des Aufsichtsrathes der Westdeutschen Eisenbahngesellschaft, welche die Härtsfelder Bahn bauen wird, durchreisten dieser Tage von hier aus über Neresheim nach Aalen das Bahngebiet. Schwierigkeiten, welche der Ausführung des von der Regierung und der Kammer bereits genehmigten Bahnprojektes noch entgegenzutreten drohten, dürfen jetzt als beseitigt angesehen werden. Mit den Vorarbeiten wird in Bälde begonnen werden.

Heilbronn. In Folge falscher Weichenstellung ist in Gundelsheim ein ankommender Güterzug auf einen in der Station haltenden Güterzug gerannt. Fünf Wagen wurden vollständig demolirt, die Lokomotive stark beschädigt. Personen wurden nicht verletzt.

Schwäbisch Gmünd. Ein treuer Anhänger der Volkspartei, Kaufmann Julius Seeger, ein Bruder des Vorstandes des demokratischen Vereins, ist hier im 42. Lebensjahre nach kurzem Krankenlager gestorben.

Weingarten. Das zweite Bataillon des hiesigen 6. Infanterie-Regiments wurde mit Extrazug aus dem Manöver bei Herrenberg hierher zurückbefördert und in Zelten untergebracht. Als Grund wird Typhus bezeichnet.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Vom 30. September bis 2. Oktober wird dahier der 15. deutsche Kongreß für erziehliche Knabenhandarbeit abgehalten.

Bühl. Zwei Winzer im Bühlerthal haben Versuche mit Anpflanzung von japanischen und chinesischen Reben gemacht und dieses Jahr nun zum ersten Mal den vollen Beweis des Gelingens ihrer Versuche vor Augen. Man kann annehmen, daß nunmehr weitere Anpflanzungen solcher Reben erfolgen.

Heidelberg. Eine akademische Trauerfeier für Bunsen wird hier Anfangs November in großartiger Weise begangen werden.

Mannheim. Hier sind die Rheinmühlenwerke abgebrannt. Der Schaden beträgt über 1,000,000 Mark.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Der aus dem Elsaß gebürtige Versailler Professor Weber, der seine Ferien in Bischweiler verbringen sollte, wurde aufgefordert, binnen Kurzem Elsaß-Lothringen zu verlassen. Der Grund der Ausweisung ist unbekannt.

Kolmar. Der Direktor der landwirthschaftlichen Versuchsstation des Reichslandes, Professor Barth, ein eifriger Förderer der Germanisation auf landwirthschaftlichem Vereinsgebiet, ist gestorben.

Markirch. Im Comersee ertranken dieser Tage die 19 und 17 Jahre zählenden Töchter Lili und Genovefa des hiesigen Fabrikanten Charles Blech Sohn.

Metz. Der Kaiser hat bei seiner letzten Anwesenheit den Lieutenant Schlickmann, der den Mühlenpächterssohn Fillement Anfangs Januar im Duell erschoß, nach sechsmonatiger Festungshaft begnadigt.

FALL FASHIONS.

The Straight Sack Again Brought Forward.

An attempt has repeatedly been made to bring the straight, loose sack into fashionable favor again, and each time the attempt has failed. Now the sack is again being forced to the front, but this time with better hopes of success, for, instead of appearing as a dress wrap, embroidered and decorated expensively, a role for which its negligee shape unfits it, it is seen in materials suitable for traveling and outing wear, plainly finished and serviceable. In such form it may prove acceptable, as it imposes no constraint and is easily put on and off.

Short, tight coats matching the skirt are worn with silk bodices and shirt waists. The basque is plain and flat and is cut a little longer in front than at the back.

The gown illustrated is of black taffeta and has a plaited tablier, which continues around the foot in the form of a deep plaited flounce, trimmed with two puffings of white mousseline de soie. Over this is a double tunic, edged with plaited ruffles of black taffeta, headed by bands of black chantilly over white satin. The fitted bodice has a full plastron, edged on each side with plaitings and chantilly over white satin. The yoke of chantilly over white satin has a bertha of white lace, headed by a puffing of black mousseline de soie. The black grosgrain belt is secured by an ornamental buckle. The directoire hat of black velvet is trimmed with yellow ostrich plumes and has strings of yellow tulle, which are tied in a large bow under the chin.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

VARIOUS NOTES.

Items About Jewelry and Other Accessories.

The marriage ring is now extremely fine and thin if it is according to the mode, and the marriage ring par excellence, the one used by most Europeans, is not the solid, plain circlet it appears to be, but when it is off the finger may be shaken apart so that it is seen to consist of two interlinked, inseparable rings. These are so shaped that they fit together with perfect smoothness, no division being perceptible when the ring is worn.

Large combs are still worn. They are necessarily very light, so as not to tire the head or injure the hair, and, although they are ornamented when intended for dress wear, the decoration is always delicate, to prevent weightiness.

Ostrich plume boas are yet in favor. The newest variety is in shaded tints running from light to dark.

A novelty is the monogram glove. Upon the back, in place of the usual lines of stitching, is an embroidered cipher composed of the enlaced initials of the wearer.

The bonnet illustrated is designed for a woman of mature age. The crown is embroidered with a jeweled effect, while the brim is covered by a plaiting of black lace. In front is a wired bow of ribbon with erect ends, and strings of the same ribbon are tied in a bow under the chin.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Inspector Caught.

A police inspector, being informed that a restaurateur was serving game out of season, visits the restaurant in plain clothes and orders dinner. "Waiter, partridge for me."

The inspector finishes his dinner leisurely and then says to the waiter, "Ask the boss to step this way a minute."

"What for?"

"I wish to notify him to appear in court tomorrow and answer for selling partridge out of season. I am the police inspector and have secured the necessary evidence against him."

Waiter—It wasn't partridge you had.

Police Inspector (uneasily)—What was it then?

Waiter (cheerfully)—Crow.

The inspector swooned.—London Telegraph.

WOMEN OF THE TROPICS.

Barbarous Treatment of Siamese Women Make Them Fade Early.

All women of the tropics fade early, but none more quickly than the women of Siam, and this chiefly for two reasons. They are really very pretty as young girls, seldom or never growing stout, they should retain their beauty for a long period, and would do so were it not for some of their customs and superstitions.

The most promiscuous of these is the treatment of a woman who has just become a mother. A fire, to which she is entirely unaccustomed in that hot climate, is immediately lighted in her room near the bed and kept burning without intermission for two weeks. This is done for the purpose of exorcising demons and evil spirits, and very often results in exorcising the spirit of the poor little woman herself. The heat of her room during her entire illness is simply insupportable, and where it does not produce fatal results tends to undermine the strongest constitution. As the girls marry when very young, they are likely to be old women long before they are thirty.

Then the disgusting habit of chewing the betel nut, combined with the fact that they have no dentists, transforms the originally pretty mouth of the Siamese women into a hideous spectacle. They first smear a seri leaf over with quicklime and then wrap in it a piece of the betel nut, very much as one rolls a cigarette, and they are rarely seen without a piece in their mouths.

They have a very disgusting way of carrying this narcotic about with them. They have their ears pierced exactly as the women of other nations pierce theirs for the purpose of wearing earrings, only instead of donning jewels they stick into the perforations the stems of several of these prepared leaves. One may frequently see them starting off for a chat with their neighbors, their ears quite overloaded with their favorite refreshment.

A Beautiful Lamp Shade.

Very beautiful things are now being made out of crepe paper and many of them even the novice can make unaided. The lamp shade here shown is made of white paper (costing from 6 to 10c. a roll, four rolls required for the shade), with a top and bottom edging of a rich purple. Join (by pasting or sewing) two rolls of paper together at both narrow ends, forming an endless ring of paper edged with purple top and bottom. Also join the two remaining rolls in similar manner. Place one ring over the other ring. It might be stated here that two people working together can better manage the paper, which is refractory in character.

A PRETTY LAMP SHADE.

Both rings are then adjusted around your plain wire frame, the upper part of the paper to protrude above the neck of the frame from 6 to 10 inches, according to choice. Gather all this fullness in closely around the neck and fasten with a ribbon or string—either will do, as the fullness of paper, which should be pressed downward will cover up this fastening. On opposite corners the upper piece of paper is raised a trifle and caught to the frame by a few stitches, over which is placed a bunch of chrysanthemums with green leaves. The leaves can be bought for a few cents and the flowers are made of white tissue paper, cut according to pattern, five inches across, the petals being crinkled. Ten pieces (see illustration) are placed one above another and fastened in the center with a bit of wire. While very simple of manufacture, this shade when completed is very handsome.—Emma Louise Hauck Rowe.

Philippine Women's Legal Status.

In discussing the legal status of the Philippine women we hazarded the guess that they might possess already, according to their crude laws more rights than their civilized sisters. From the Chicago Elite we clip the following:

In the Philippine Islands the law which relates to the property of married people is entirely in favor of the wife. Any property a bride may possess is never by any chance settled upon the husband, and if he is poor and she well off he can only become at most administrator of her possessions. After death, unless she has executed a deed in her husband's favor, under a lawyer's eye, the property goes to her children and blood relations, but none to her husband. A married woman also retains her maiden name, and adds to it that of her husband with the prefix "de," and the children bear the names of both parents.

Every one of these legal rights will be forfeited by the women of the Islands if our Government establishes the statutes that prevail in the vast majority of the States of our Union.

Man as a Dress Critic.

There is no better critic of woman's dress than a man who gives his mind thoroughly to the subject. But, the man who cannot tell a toque from a 3-years-ago one is the one who flies off in a tirade against the habiliments of womenkind. A man of this stamp will remorselessly denounce his wife's costume as a "rag" or tell his sister he wishes she would not go out in that "shabby thing." He will grumble that his wife looks "all to pieces"—a favorite masculine form of criticism—and dampen her spirit by telling her that her latest gown does not "look right somehow," yet by no means can he describe what is missing or what he does not like about it. The man who will say definitely "that gown fits badly," "that collar is unbecoming to you," "those gloves are ill shaped," may occasionally bore his family with his fussiness, but his opinion, nevertheless, carries weight.

CATHOLIC PROGRESS.

THE POSITION OF OUR HOLY MOTHER THE CHURCH IN ENGLAND.

Its Present Condition, Despite Its Enemies, Has Never Been Surpassed at Any Period From the Apostacy of the Sixteenth Century.

The progress of the Catholic church in England has formed the subject of some measure of comment in the Catholic and non-Catholic press. From the days of Elizabeth onward the British public seems to have never quite lost its secret fear of Rome. Be that as it may, it is certain that indications of our progress awaken misgivings somewhat out of proportion to their significance. On the other hand, any assurance from any quarter to the effect that we are stationary or decreasing in numbers is hailed by a section of the non-Catholic press with almost babyish delight. Even The Times heaves a sigh of relief in large headings and leaded type, while certain dissenting and second rate Anglican organs are overcome with a joy which nothing less than whole columns can adequately express.

Catholics may well derive some amusement from the evident glee and gusto of such naif outpourings. We may even fear that they may be tempted to derive something of self satisfaction from the thought that their numbers and progress are evidently a matter of such deep import to the general public. It may perhaps read to them as a confirmation of the old saying that in every land the Catholic church is either dearly loved or fiercely feared and hated, but that nowhere, save by a transparent and momentary effort of affection, is she regarded with apathy or indifference.

Neither we nor those who find so much pleasure in looking at us through the inverted telescope can have any real interest in the concealment of facts. Needless to say, our numbers are what they are. The most sanguine optimist will not add one to them by his optimism, nor can the most croaking pessimist take one away by his pessimism.

Moreover, if upon investigation it were ascertained that our numbers in England are really decreasing, we should indeed regret the fact, but we should have no difficulty in accepting it. Our right and claim as the Catholic church in this country is of course absolutely unaffected by the consideration of our membership being great or small, increasing or decreasing. Whether the "little flock" be a little less or a little more, our strength is in the truth of our position and not in our numbers.

Happily the Catholics of England to day have not to deplore any decrease or retrogression of this kind. Very much the contrary. Undoubtedly there is much to be done and much to be remedied, and, above all in our own lives, there is much to be amended. But in the midst of all these drawbacks we have to thank God that over the face of the land the proofs of our progress and increase both in souls and in shrines are written far too plainly and broadly and undeniably to be rationally called in question.

Only those who have a reason for closing their eyes or blindfolding the eyes of others will question the plain fact written upon the face of the land that our Catholic progress in England is steady, solid and undeniable. We do not forget for a moment that our progress is hampered in many ways by hostility from without and by our own unworthiness from within, and that thus it is smaller and slower than it ought to be.

But when we have said all this and more it still remains true and a subject for devout thankfulness by every Catholic in the land that never since the days of the reformation was our position more strong and our prospects more promising and our work more consoling than they are at the present moment. We stand well and compactly together. The rare instances of disloyalty in our ranks are so isolated and so ludicrous in their feebleness and following that they only serve to bring contempt upon themselves and to give luster and emphasis to our unshaken solidarity.

When, in the autumn of next year, the new Westminster cathedral is opened in commemoration of the jubilee of the restored hierarchy, it will find the Catholic church in this "Our Lady's Dowry" in a condition which as to numbers, strength, equipment, unity, zeal, loyalty of clergy and faithful to our holy religion, and to the archbishop and bishops, and to the vicar of Christ, has never been surpassed at any period from the apostasy of the sixteenth century to the present day.—London Tablet.

A Safe Stepping Stone.

It is always a pleasant thing to have been at mass; it sweetens and savors the whole day. It is indeed a wonderful thing as we walk about to think that "we have seen the Lord"—seen him with our eyes, have actually been in his company, have stood within a few feet of him! What a privilege to enjoy over ordinary men and women whom we pass by in the streets! No one therefore who can do it should miss this seeing of our Lord every day. Continued day after day during life, it forms a strong habit of piety and a sure protection. It brings confidence and protection and may be a stepping stone to better things. We think of accidents and of sudden death with less apprehension, for we know that we are the humble friends of Almighty God—"we have seen the Lord."

A Look Is Enough.

How often in "mixed society" do we accept with a smile the free or dubious story, not having the courage even to look dissent! Yet but little is required of us, a cold, hard, unsympathizing look, as though the matter were unintelligible. It is more significant than a rebuke.

CONFIDENCE.

Art thou one of those who borrow
Sadness by forecasting sorrow,
If God send them joy and cheer?
Are the roses that are given
From the flushing bowers of heaven
Blanched and withered by thy fear?

Why thus brood on future sorrow?
Why not trust in God above?
In his hand he holds tomorrow,
In his heart he holds thy love.

In your pain and sore affliction,
In distress and dereliction,
Lean on him whose child thou art.
With kind favor he will bless thee,
With great love he will caress thee,
Pillowed on his sacred heart.

He can level mountain sorrow,
He can light the darkest way;
Trust in him for [illegible] tomorrow,
Though in pain and grief today.

Teach thy children thus to know him,
Their sweet confidence to show him,
Trusting in his care divine.
He their little feet will strengthen,
He their days and joys will lengthen
With far greater care than thine.

God has made us not for sadness,
Not for timid anxious fears,
But for hope and sunny gladness,
Joy that lives beyond the years.

—Rev. John P. Chidwick, Late Chaplain of the Maine, in Guidon.

THE "SERAPHIC DOCTOR."

A Saint Who From Childhood Was the Companion of Saints.

Sanctity and learning raised Bonaventure to the church's highest honors, and from a child he was the companion of saints. Yet at heart he was ever the poor Franciscan friar and practiced and taught humility and mortification. St. Francis gave him his name, for, having miraculously cured him of a mortal sickness, he prophetically exclaimed of the child, "O bona Ventura!"—good luck. He is known also as the "Seraphic Doctor," from the fervor of divine love which breathes in his writings.

St. Bonaventure was the friend of St. Thomas Aquinas, who asked him one day whence he drew his great learning. He replied by pointing to his crucifix. At another time St. Thomas found him in ecstasy while writing the life of St. Francis and exclaimed, "Let us leave a saint to write of a saint." They received the doctor's cap together.

St. Bonaventure was the guest and adviser of St. Louis and the director of St. Isabella, the king's sister. At the age of 35 he was made general of his order and only escaped another dignity, the archbishopric of York, by dint of tears and entreaties. Gregory X. appointed him cardinal bishop of Albano, and he sat at that pontiff's right hand and spoke first at the council of Lyons. His piety and eloquence won over the Greeks to Catholic union, and then his strength failed. He died while the council was sitting and was buried by the assembled bishops, A. D. 1274.

An Earthquake In Rome.

The earthquake which visited Rome and the vicinity recently was very distinctly felt at the Vatican. Leo XIII was at the time in his apartments. He at once recognized the seismic disturbance and expressed his concern lest damage should be done to the loggia of Raphael and in the Sistine chapel. He sent a messenger to make examinations, and he also ordered that inquiry should be made as to whether there had been any loss of life in the city. When word was brought back that there was injury neither to life nor property, he knelt and prayed for half an hour. The anxiety of the holy father with regard to the art treasures of the Vatican is a reminder of the special danger associated with an earthquake in Rome. There is no other city in the world where destruction would be so appalling, for no other city contains such a wealth of ancient monuments and memorials associated with the history of every nation in Christendom.

For an Irish Church University.

At a recent meeting of the Irish Roman Catholic bishops held at Maynooth college a demand was made upon the British government for the immediate establishment of a church university. A resolution containing the following words was adopted: "Not a shred of the Protestant ascendency must be allowed to remain in Ireland. It is high time that the whole country should ask with one united voice by what moral right 100,000 acres of the soil of Ireland are reserved for the education of a small section of the community in Trinity college. Whatever it may be in theory, in its practical working that establishment is now what it has always been, anti-Catholic and anti-Irish."

Father Zahm's Work.

Men dearly love the ideas and theories which they father. As a rule they will sacrifice anything rather than give them up. A wonderful example of nobility of soul and of obedience was manifested by the Very Rev. Dr. John A. Zahm. This eminent scientist's work on "Evolution and Dogma" produced a profound sensation. The reverend doctor, learning that the holy see was adverse to the further distribution of the work, requests that his book be withdrawn from sale. In this act of obedience Father Zahm glorifies himself far more than when he appeared before the scientific world as a great thinker and a profound philosopher.—Wheeling Church Calendar.

Sister Mance.

The only statue of a nun on a public monument in North America is the portrait of Jeanne Mance, the first Sister of Charity who landed in North America. The statue is of colossal size and is in the Place d'Armes, Montreal. She is represented dressing the wounds of an Indian. Nothing could be more exquisitely beautiful than the unspeakable tenderness, firmness and skill portrayed by the artist in the monumental bronze. The Indian was modeled from life, the model being a descendant of the tribe which occupied the site of Montreal when Sister Mance landed there in 1642.

WONDERS OF ELECTROID

New Substance That Makes Plants Grow Visibly Discovered.

Francis Rychnowski, a mechanical engineer of Lemburg, Austria, has discovered a strange and very subtle matter, which he has called "electroid," because of certain affinity with electricity. Electroid, produced by a special apparatus built by the inventor, is obtained by the dissolution of certain matters under the influence of the electiric current. It makes noise and at the same time a refreshing scent and cool breeze are experienced.

This discovery induced Mr. Rychnowski to make a machine capable of refreshing the air to such a degree that those present during the experiment had the feeling that the window was open, although this was not the case.

Electroid is a very subtle matter, but it seems to be a fiuid, and it can be gathered and preserved, while falling on a plate it reflects in a shape of shining sheaves.

The commission appointed by the Austrian Government to investigate this discovery reported that, under the influence of electroid, plants grow rapidly and the buds of flowers unclose while one is looking at them. Electroid annihilates microbes and thus preserves organic matter. These are physiological influences of electroid.

Among mechanical phenomena the commission reported that the influence of electroid is not stopped even by a brick wall and glass; that it attracts solid bodies and makes them shine like moonlight—it makes them move and attract other bodies; finally, that it acts on photographic plates and produces sharp and distinct lines, such as were formerly possible only with a very powerful lens.

Spurgeon Helped By an Echo

No orator ever less needed the aids of art than the great London preacher, Charles H. Spurgeon, and none ever used them less; but when nature helped him, not only in himself, but outside of himself, he welcomed the effect, as he had a right to do. One striking instance of a sermon reinforced in this way is related by a clergyman of the Church of England, the Rev. D. A. Doudney.

Mr. Spurgeon was holding out-door meetings in the county of Hants (opposite the Isle of Wight), and one afternoon he preached to a great throng of people in a beautiful valley near the market town of Havant.

His text was from the fifty-first Psalm. "Then will I teach trangressors Thy ways," and the sermon was a Gospel invitation. The air was still, and a cloudless sun was sinking as he approached the end of his discourse, while the attentive hearers caught every word.

Apparently they had not noticed, carried along as they were by the sweep of his powerful voice, that the valley was the home of echoes. Mr. Spurgeon had discovered the fact. At the close of his last appeal, raising his voice, he called to the congregation: "All things are ready! Come! 'The Spirit and the bride say come!' and nature herself accents the heavenly invitation again and again, Come! Come! Come!"

The echoes took up the word, and from side to side the breathless assembly heard the repeated call, "Come! Come! Come!" till it sank to a whisper in the distance.

The narrator describes the effect as "like an electric shock." It was as if the preacher's eloquent peroration had awakened supernal voices.

We have no written record of the fruits of the meeting, but there was a solemnity in the aptness of its close that lifted it above mere dramatic artifice or any of the devices employed to trick.

J. C. STORM,

Meat Market,

318 Liberty St.,
Near Fourth St.

Every man or woman who deals with me will save money.

I buy for spot cash, thus saving a large percentage which I share with my customers.

I deal in choice meats of all kinds and game in season.

My market is first-class in every respect and people who deal with me can depend upon being treated fair, courteous and with satisfaction.

If you buy poor meat all the steak pounders in the world won't make it good.

A small portion of the beef, veal, mutton, lamb or pork I sell contains more nourishment than a whole quarter of inferior stuff—let what you eat be good.

The quality of meat I sell is guaranteed the best in the market.

Special attention is given to home-dressed poultry, Jersey Pork; also prime cuts of Beef, Veal and Mutton.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO BUY OF ME BECAUSE I buy for cash, sell for cash, and therefore can give you the best meat for the smallest amount of money.

PORTO RICAN RESOURCES.

Frederick A. Ober, a Well-Known Author, Writes on This Subject.

WILL SUPPLY OUR WANTS

We Spend Annually $250,000,000 for Tropical Supplies Which Porto Rica and Cuba Can Furnish.

The Inhabitants Do Very Little Manufacturing Consequently Will Look to the United States Principally For Machinery, Flour and Cotton and Woolen Goods.

There have been several books recently published treating of the Island of Puerto Rico, telling about its people or describing its resources, either from the casual observer in the invading army of the United States or from the libraries and the archives of statistics. Both these sources are valuable when properly handled, and when their results are properly presented separately or in combination. Frederick A. Ober already known as an author of some good books on travel and adventure, and also as being something of a naturalist, visited Puerto Rico for the first time nearly twenty years ago, and later on as West Indian Commissioner for the Columbian Exposition. He has just written a book called "Puerto Rico and Its Resources," which seems to be the result of not only careful and systematic study but of keen observation of the subject as well, a subject that when it appears in the book has lost whatever dryness the scientist may have found in it at the beginning. Mr. Ober's book is published by D. Appleton & Co.

The author arouses interest in his reader's mind at once by his initial chapter, in which he tells of the commercial and strategic value the island will be to the United States. Take, for example, tropical products: Mr. Ober writes: "Although we have a restricted area capable of producing sugar cane, yet we expend abroad for sugar about $100,000,000 annually; we have no soil and climate favorable for coffee within the confines of the United States, yet we send to foreign parts another hundred million, and, without going into detail, it may be stated that we expend abroad annually at least $250,000,000 for purely tropical products which we cannot raise ourselves. Though we could 'at a pinch' find substitutes for coffee and spices in home products and obtain a limited amount of sugar from beets and sorghum, yet the annual outflow of $250,000,000 for such luxuries has gone on just the same."

Here, then, in this respect, is the value that Mr. Ober places on Puerto Rico: "In a word, the acquisition of these islands, it is believed, will enable us eventually to supply all our wants as to tropical products which we have hitherto lacked, and, what is more, while they produce the things we lack and need, the people of those islands manufacture next to nothing, and will look to us for all their machinery, flour, cotton, and woolen goods—in fact, for everything necessary to civilized communities. While England is talking about an 'open door' in the Orient for her commerce and the expansion of trade, we have, though almost fortuitously, opened a door (through the valor of our soldiers and seamen) which will ultimately lead to the commercial conquest of those 40,000,000 people south of us, in the West Indies and South America, and the consequent enrichment of millions of our own."

In reverting to the features which make the island valuable in the author's eyes as a naval station, he writes: "Although most of the streams descending from the mountains flow northwardly, yet a very few have open or navigable harbors at their mouths, and most of the good seaports are on the southern shore. The north coast boasts one important harbor, however to which events of the war have called attention, in the famous Port of San Juan, the capital and only fortified city on the island. It is an inlet of the northern coast, about one-third the distance, or thirty-five miles, from Cape San Juan, in the east, to Cape Penas Aguda, in the extreme west. The width of the navigable channel, at its mouth is about 400 yards, and when the water is smooth vessels carrying five fathoms can cross the bar in safety and run in as far as the wharves near the arsenal, but vessels with the average draught of battleships, or, say twenty-four feet, have to exercise great caution in entering, and at all times have to pass within biscuit throw of the powerful batteries and fortifications on the eastern side. When a storm is raging or a norther blowing the harbor mouth, or 'boca,' is a sheet of tossing, seething billows, through which the most experienced pilot can only navigate at the extreme risk of losing his vessel. Inside, though exposed to the northers, is a deep and beautiful harbor, which can doubtless be improved by dredging and the building of breakwaters, so as to be safe even in the hurricane season."

AN AUTUMNAL WEDDING.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE TAKE THEIR NUPTIAL VOWS.

Miss Katherine Marsh Ackerman and Walter Franklin Manning the Contracting Parties—Ceremony in Bride's Home.

The home of Cornelius J. Ackerman, of Clinton avenue, was the scene last evening of one of the prettiest weddings of the autumn season, when his daughter, Miss Katherine Marsh Ackerman, was united in marriage to Walter Franklin Manning of West Seventh street.

The ceremony took place at 7:30 o'clock in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Rev. William C. O'Donnell, pastor of the Monroe Avenue church, performed the ceremony.

The marriage vows were taken in the parlor, which was beautifully decorated with the season's flowers.

The bride was gowned in white satin and wore a tulle veil and carried white roses. A beautiful sunburst of diamonds, a gift from the groom, was worn.

Miss Rosa Adams, of Pearl River, N. Y., was the maid of honor. She was gowned in white organdie over blue silk and carried pink roses. Miss Tiny Smith, of North Plainfield, presided at the piano and rendered perfectly the customary wedding march.

The groom was attended by Charles Randolph, of West Front street, as best man. After the ceremony the happy couple received the heart congratulations of all. Following congratulations a wedding supper was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Manning left their relatives and friends for a trip through the South. They will be absent two or three weeks, and upon their return will take up their residence in this city.

The couple are popular and both prominently identified with the Monroe Avenue church. They were handsomely remembered by receiving a very large collection of presents.

There were a great many guests present from out of town, also a large number of Plainfielders, most of whom are relatives of the bride and groom.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. C. T. Vail, of Valley Station, N. J., is visiting Mrs. A. C. Vail, Jr., of West Front street.

Chief Marshal Campbell, of the borough, is enjoying the Trenton fair today and Marshal Kleiner is filling his position.

David S. Pope, of North avenue, was able to go out yesterday for the first time after an illness of four weeks with jaundice.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, of Craig place, entertained a few friends at their home last evening. Violin and piano music was the feature.

George Steiner, a former resident of Plainfield, and for the past year a deputy collector of Internal Revenue at Wichita Falls, Texas, has been granted a twenty-five days leave of absence, and is spending the time with his mother, brothers and sisters at 197 Somerset street.

A Review of the Dreyfus Case.

The Monday Afternoon Club, not being able to secure the Casino at the present time, will hold its meeting in All Souls' church, Park avenue between Seventh and Eight streets. Albert H. Atterbury has kindly consented to deliver a lecture before the Club Saturday, October 2d, entitled "A Review of the Dreyfus Case."

—A special sale of fine fruit will be on at Neuman Brothers' grocery store Saturday.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache, and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents. at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed.

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS THAT PLAINFIELDERS MAY WITNESS.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

The Broadway Theatre Opera Company, noted for the excellence of its productions, will present deKoven & Smith's comic opera success, "The Highwayman," in this city next Wednesday evening, October 11th, at Music Hall. This undoubtedly will be welcome news to our musical public.

* * * * * *

J. M. Gaites' popular spectaucular musical comedy "The Air Ship" full of keen but kindly satire on the fads of the day, sparkling with wit and altogether possessing those qualities that are sure to put an audience in a happy frame of mind will be seen at Music Hall next Tuesday night.

* * * * * *

A realistic "holdup" of an express train, in which the car is blown open with dynamite and the safe robbed of its contents, is one of the startling events in "The Great Train Robbery," a new Western drama to be presented at Music Hall next week. This is but one, however, of a surprising number of interesting things that are to be seen in William T. Keogh's latest successful production.

* * * * * *

Weber & Field's "Hurly Burly" one of the largest and strongest companies on the road today with many well-know artists in the cast, will be at Music Hall Saturday night. A novelty in "Hurly Burly" is its wholly feminine chorus. The managers have spared no expense in securing their talent nor have they forgotten to costume and stage the play with as much taste and lavish display as was done during its initial season in New York city. New songs and novelties are introduced, making it one of the brightest things in musical comedy to be enjoyed by theatre-goers of today, who are largely of that class who believes in "laugh and the world laughs with you," and who will have a chance to enjoy two and a half hours of this pleasant divertisement when they witness "Hurly Burly" on its coming presentation. The electric effects and staging will be something new and original, making in all one of the best extravaganzas now on any stage. "Hurly Burly" is confusion—and there will be plenty of confusion in "Hurly Burly."

* * * * * *

Unusually strong programmes of the best class vaudeville features are being presented weekly at F. F. Proctor's two New York theatres, the 23d Street Theatre and the Pleasure Palace. Camille D'Arville, the famous comic opera prima donna, who made her debut at Proctor's 23d Street Theatre on September 18th, has scored such a tremendous triumph that her engagement has twice been extended and next week, October 2d, she will be seen at the Pleasure Palace. She will present a new programme of songs every week. The New York critics were unanimous in their praise of Camille D'Arville, and said her superb voice was never heard to better advantage, The other stars at the Palace week of October 2d are: Herbert Cawthorne and Susie Forrester, of the Casino productions; Quigley Bros., and 20 specialty performers. The special matinee prices to the ladies at the Palace still continue at 10 cents for the orchestra. The big feature at Proctor's 23d Street Theatre, week of October 2d, is the famous "La Loie" dancer, Ida Fuller, who comes from Paris with all La Loie's dances and scenic and light effects. It is regarded as the greatest mirror and illuminated dance on the American stage.

New Cider Mill.

If you have apples that you want converted into sweet cider take them to Morgan Bird's new cider press on East Fourth street, near Park avenue. Mr. Bird has erected a small building, only 10x16 feet in size, but inside that small building he has contrived a grinder and a very powerful press, operated by steam power, by which he first grinds the apples and then extracts the pure juice. The public are at liberty to visit his mill and see it in operation.

Had a Guest of Honor.

A meeting of Crescent Division, Uniformed Ranks of Knights of Pythias, was held last evening. The members were out in force. Colonel McClane, of Ashland Lodge, New York, was present as a guest of honor. There was initiation of several candidates.

Guest of the Pythians.

Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias, held a regular meeting last night and transacted routine business. Col. McClame, of Ashland Lodge, New York, was a guest and spoke a few words.

RETURNED HOME TO DIE.

CARL SCHIPPER ARRIVED FROM EUROPE YESTERDAY.

He Had Been at Carlsbad, Germany, Drinking the Water at That Place, but It Had Failed to Benefit Him.

Carl Schipper, who yesterday returned from a trip to Europe, taken for the benefit of his health, died in a hospital on Lexington avenue in New York this afternoon of cancer of the stomach.

Mr. Schipper was sixty-five years of age. He leaves no immediate family.

The funeral will probably be held in this city next Sunday afternoon.

Sometime ago he underwent an operation for appendicitis, and from that he seemed to rally sufficiently to permit him to take a trip to Germany, accompanied by his sister. For sometime past he had been at Carlsbad, Germany, where he hoped to recover through the benefits to be derived from drinking the water at that place.

His health did not materially improve and he returned to this country, arriving yesterday afternoon in New York. His condition was such that he was removed at once to the hospital at Lexington avenue, New York, and the family physican, Dr. Endicott, of Park avenue, was summoned. Mr. Schipper rested quite well last evening, and this morning was feeling very well. Hopes of his recovery were given up by the physicians in charge.

Mr. Schipper has a great many friends in this city. He was a public spirited citizen and in various ways he he has assisted in charitable enterprises.

AROUND THE PUMPKINS.

BIG POLITICIANS MET AT INTERSTATE FAIR YESTERDAY.

Senator Reed Among the Big Guns Who Were There—Nominations in Essex Was the Most Important Topic.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Sept. 28—Yesterday was Governor's Day, if not "Political Day," at the Inter-State Fair. Governor Voorhees and United States Senators Sewell and Kean went to the fair, because other engagements made it impossible for Senator Sewell and the Governor to be here today. The knowledge that this trio would be at the fair yesterday instead of today had the effect of bringing a number of others who are prominent in New Jersey politics. Among them were State Controller Hancock, President Reed, of the Senate, Senators Cross Stokes, ex-speaker De Rousse, Generals Wanser and Donnelly, Colonel Potter, Dr. Herold, Custodian Bonnell and a contingent of Essex politicians, Sheriff David Baird, of Camden, Bank and Insurance Commissioner Bettle, Barker Gummere, Assemblyman Bradley and Coles, of Camden, and Mayor Hatch of the same city.

There was a noticeable absence of the smaller politicians, but these and a fair sprinkling of the better known ones will be on hand today, which is regular "Politicians' Day." About the only thing discussed among the politicians were the coming nominations in Essex. But no conclusions were reached, because of the absence of Elisha E. Gaddis, General Sewell's chief lieutenant in Essex, and Supreme Court Clerk Riker.

To be Sent to Reform School.

At the request of Mr. and Mrs. John Haberle, of Chatham street, their 15-year-old son was taken this morning to the Reform School at Jamesburg, N. J., where they believe he will be better off for a time. The lad has been inclined to be exceedingly troublesome, and after serious consideration this course was adopted. The boy was taken to the school by Sheriff Selah Schoonmaker, of Somerville.

Unable to Navigate.

Arthur Scott was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Mattox for being drunk and unable to navigate. He was locked up over night and arraigned this morning before Mayor Rockfellow. As Scott had done nothing very bad, the Mayor suspended sentence, declaring one night with the creeping and the crawling ones was ample punishment for the offense.

Open Saturday Morning.

The remainder of the stock of G. L. VanEmburgh & Son, which has been removed to 135 East Front street, formerly the trading stamp store, will be sold at cut prices, by the assignee, W. R. Codington, commencing Saturday morning, September 30th.

Miss Stackhouse, of A. V. D. Honeyman's office on North avenue, returned to her duties this morning after a delightful vacation spent at various points of interest.

CITY WILL HONOR HIM.

MANY FLAGS FLOAT FOR DEWEY DAY CELEBRATION.

Tomorrow Will Be Observed as a General Holiday in City and Borough and the Stores Will Be Closed.

Over a million people are going to assemble in New York tomorrow to do honor to the hero of Manila Bay. Plainfield will be well represented. In honor of the day almost all the local stores will be closed all tomorrow and the city will take a holiday.

Already the Stars and Stripes are waving from many scores of homes and business houses in city and borough. More will appear in the morning. Many of the merchants will decorate for Friday and Saturday with flags and bunting.

The morning trains on the Jersey Central Railroad will be crowded and it will be necessary to put on many extra cars to provide for the throng. In the afternoon and evening the crowd will return homeward and the railroad people will again have their hands full.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Dr. Main, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, gave a very interesting talk on Home Department Sunday-school work at the pray meeting service in Trinity Reformed church last evening, and it is expected that an organization will be started in a few weeks. Dr. Main's talk was very much enjoyed, and if the Home Department is started in Trinity Reformed church it will be mainly through the influence of his remarks last evening.

Hillside Club Planning for an Elaborate Event.

HONOR OF PARK GOLF CLUB.

ALL DAY PROGRAMME ARRANGED FOR SATURDAY, OCT. 14TH.

Ladies' Handicap Competition for Silver Cup in the Morning — Handicap for Men in the Afternoon — Also Approach and Putting Contest—Concert and Tea Will be Held at Clubhouse.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club is making elaborate arrangements to entertain the members of the Park Golf Club for an afternoon, and is planning various delightful things with which to entertain the fellow golfers from over the brook. The day set for the extending of the club's courtesies is Saturday, October 14th. The invitations for the affair have just been sent out.

An all-day programme has been arranged by the golf committee of the Hillside Club, which has the matter in charge. First there will be a ladies' handicap tournament for the lady members of both clubs in the morning. A handsome silver cup will be awarded to the winner. The handicaps of the two clubs will be so combined as to make the contest a fair one.

In the afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock, a men's handicap competition, eighteen holes, medal play, will take place. It will be open to active and associate members of both clubs, and another combination of the handicaps of the two clubs will be arranged. Another silver cup goes to the winner.

At 4 o'clock an approach and putting contest for mixed couples from the two clubs will be held on the fourth hole which ends directly at the clubhouse. There is a low bunker just before reaching the green that necessitates a little loft to the approach. The ladies will approach and the gentlemen putt out. Prizes will be awarded in this contest as well.

The clubhouse will be opened to the guests and an orchestra will give a concert during the afternoon. Tea will be seaved by the ladies of the entertaining club. Every effort will be made to make the event the most successful affair ever held in local golfing circles.

TO AVOID ALL MISTAKES.

CITY OFFICIALS GOING CAREFUL IN TROLLEY FRANCHISE.

Therefore the Application for Arlington Avenue May Not be Granted Monday Night—Better to be Slow and Sure.

The ordinance providing for the Arlington avenue extension of the Plainfield Street Railway will come before the Common Council on third reading Monday evening, but there is a likelihood that final action on the subject will not be taken at that meeting. The last hearing developed the fact that the objectors were going to fight the line to the last ditch, and were ready to take advantage of every little legal technicality to hold-up the extension. Now the street committee is going to be perfectly sure of everything before action is taken.

The committee and the Corporation Counsel has been looking over every part of the franchise and the consents for any defect, and will make perfectly sure that it will stand trial before submitting it to the Council for final action. If that work can be completed by Monday night then the ordinance will be passed on third reading. Otherwise consideration of the ordinance will be delayed until later in the month.

An Approaching Marriage.

The marriage of Miss Cora Sheppard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sheppard, of West Fifth street, to Maurice McGrath, of New Brunswick, will take place at the home of the bride, Wednesday afternoon, October 11th, at 4 o'clock. Mr. McGrath is an employe of Uncle Sam at the New Brunswick postoffice. The couple will reside at New Brunswick.

It Was Dewey, Too.

A "Dewey" sociable was held at the Wilson Memorial chapel at Washingtonville Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of that chapel. An enjoyable programme of recitations, vocal and instrumental music was rendered and was followed by light refreshments.

LIFE FULL OF BUSINESS.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF THE LATE CHARLES W. SCHIPPER.

Had Resided in Plainfield for Twenty Years—Once Engaged in Banking Business, but of Late a Big Importer.

Charles W. Schipper, of West Seventh street, who died last Thursday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock at Dr. Helmuth's private hospital, 465 Lexington avenue, New York, was one of Plainfield's best known and highly respected citizens, having resided here about twenty years. He was born in Oldenburg, Germany, sixty-two years ago, and came to this country about thirty years ago. During the Civil War he was engaged in the banking business. Afterward he became a member of the firm of Smith & Schipper, 91-93 Wall street, New York, probably the largest exporters and importers of sugar in this country. The firm was one of the most widely known in the trade.

Previous to the time that Mr. Schipper and his sister, Miss Emillie Schipper, sailed for Germany last summer, he underwent an operation for appendicitis, and he felt that a trip abroad would restore him to health and strength. He visited Carlsbad and drank freely of the water at that place, which is so beneficial. This did not have the desired effect and no signs of improvement could be noticed. Later cancer of the stomach developed and this is what caused Mr. Schipper's death.

Mr. Schipper and his sister arrived in New York last Wednesday afternoon on the steamship Lahn. Last Sunday Mr. Schipper lapsed into unconsciousness from which he never recovered. As soon as the steamer arrived in port Mr. Schipper, who was to all appearances dead, was removed in an ambulance to Dr. Helmuth's private hospital, and his physician, Dr. Endicott, was summoned to attend him. As soon as an examination was made it was decided that he could not live.

The remains were brought to this city Thursday afternoon accompanied by Gustave Schipper, a brother, and the funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the house on West Seventh street, at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in Hillside Cemetery.

Mr. Schipper is survived by a brother, Gustave, and a sister, Miss Emillie Schipper.

WEDDED AT ST. MARY'S.

Happy Couple Plighted Their Troth Before Rev. Father Smith Thursday Afternoon.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at St. Mary's church, Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, when Miss Bridget Phelan and James O'Brien were united in marriage by Rev. Father Smythe.

Miss Margaret A. Delaney, of Brooklyn, was bridesmaid, and John Wenzenreid, of this city, was best man. After the ceremony a reception was tendered the happy couple at their new home, 333 McDowell street.

Among those present were Miss Margaret Delaney, of Brooklyn; Miss Mary Carroll, of West Point; Mr. and Mrs. Meegan, and Miss O'Brien, of Boston, Miss Minnie Collins, New York; Wm. Jarvis, of Newark; Miss Kittie Roche, Miss Anna Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. B. McGauley, and Mr. and Mrs. John Wenzenried, of Plainfield. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien received a number of handsome and useful presents.

An Example for Plainfield.

The result of the fourth peremptory sale by the city of Bayonne of realty seized under the provisions of the Martin Tax act for taxes, assessments and water rents proved satisfactory to the city authorities. An aggregate of more than $36,000 will be realized when all the guaranteed payments are made. The property disposed of comprised more than four hundred and fifty parcels, chiefly of one lot each, and situated principally in the Third ward. The Fifth ward was the only subdivision of the city not interested.

Fined and Licensed

The people of Bernardsville are considerably aroused over the license of Michael Ranschie, which was granted Monday at the Somerset court for selling liquor at wholesale. Mr. Ranschie was arraigned before the court Friday for illegal liquor selling, pleaded guilty and Prosecutor Dungan moved for sentence. Judge Bartine fined Ranschie $50, which was paid. Monday, Mr. Dungan, as counsel for Ranschie, filed an application for a wholesale license and it was granted by the court.

LEHIGH ESTABLISHES CITY TICKET OFFICE.

Frank Rowley Will Be Placed In Charge Of It.

BUSSES TO MEET THE TRAIN.

AN AGGRESSIVE BID FOR PATRONAGE IN PLAINFIELD.

The Office Will be Located in Mr. Rowley's Drug Store, From Which Point the Busses Will Make Frequent Trips to South Plainfield — A Fare of Twenty-Five Cents is to be Charged on Busses.

Failing in a number of efforts to bring their railroad into Plainfield in the hopes of securing some of the patronage that is now held by the Central Railroad, the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has at last decided to do the next best thing and open a ticket office in the city and run busses between this city and South Plainfield where people can secure the many advantages offered by this road.

The ticket office will be established in about ten days at Frank Rowley's drug store, West Front street, next to Music Hall, and Mr. Rowley will have charge of the sale of all tickets. He will also be able to furnish all necessary information to people who desire to know about the running of trains, price of tickets, etc., on the Lehigh road.

That the new system will be a success goes without saying, for there are a great many people who would like to use the Lehigh Valley trains if good accommodations were given between this city and South Plainfield, and no doubt there will be an increase in patronage.

Messrs. TenEyck & Harris, of South Plainfield, have secured the contract to operate the busses, and they will be up-to date in every particular. These busses will make five trips every day. It will probably be arranged that passengers for Easton or points west will be carried free, while those for this side of that point will be charged 25 cents. The busses will be operated especially for the railroad company's interests, but still if people wish to pay the price they can ride between the two places without being passengers for the railroad.

COL. WILSON'S GENEROSITY.

He is Putting in New Heating Apparatus For Wilson Memorial Chapel

The Wilson Memorial chapel at Washingtonville is now equipped with a brand-new hot-air furnace, thanks to the generosity of Former Mayor John F. Wilson, of the borough. One great trouble with the chapel was the difficulty in keeping it warm during the cold winter days owing to lack of suitable heating apparatus. Colonel Wilson heard of the circumstances and gave the furnace which is now being put into place by A. M. Griffin.

In the Hands of the Filipinos.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, Sep. 30.—John James Farley, of this city, was one of the crew of the gunboat Urdevetta, which was recently captured by the Filipinos. Farley formerly lived with his widowed mother in No. 81 1-2 Chambers street. He had been in the navy four years, and had been in turn connected with the Indiana, Massachusetts, Solace and Oregon. He was a first class firemen. Farley's family is hoping against hope that he simply was taken prisoner and not killed.

$1 GAS IS PROMISED.

Formation of the People's Gas Company.

THE CAPITAL IS $100,000.

INCORPORATORS ARE INFLUENTIAL BUSINESS MEN.

Papers of Incorporation are Filed at Trenton Today—Application to be Made to the Council Monday Night for the Franchise—$1 to be the Maximum Price.

Plainfield is promised $1 gas by the organization of the People's Gas Company, of Plainfield, articles of incorporation for which were filed in the Secretary of State's office in Trenton today. The captial stock is $100,000 with the following incorporators and directors: William A. Coddington, J. Wesley Johnson, Nelson Runyon, George J. Tobin, James E. Martine, David C. Smalley, Vincent W. Nash, John H. McVey, Edward White, all of Plainfield; Hugh H. Hammill, Barker Gummere, William G. Hendrickson, Charles Howell Cook, of Trenton.

The news of the incorporation of this company to compete with the Plainfield Gas and Electric Company will be a great surprise to Plainfielders, as the negotiations towards forming the new company have been conducted in a very quiet manner.

Monday night at the meeting of the Common Council an application for a franchise for laying pipes and operating the plant of the company will be made, and at the next meeting of the Borough Council a similar application will be made for North Plainfield.

The principal point in the formation of the new company is the fact that the company will promise and make it a part of the stipulation of the franchise they ask for, to sell gas at $1 per thousand per cubic feet at a maximum price and as much lower as the commodity can be manufactured for at a reasonable profit.

A single glance at the list of incorporators show them to be among the most influential and substantial in the city, and perfectly capable of doing all they promise to do.

The new company will undoubtedly at once enlist the opposition of the old company, which has always charged high prices for the commodity.

VOORHEES MET DEWEY.

UNEXPECTED GREETING BETWEEN GOVERNOR AND ADMIRAL.

The Governor and a Party of Elizabethans Were in a Tug Cruising Around When They Were Invited on the Olympia

Governor Voorhees and a company of well-known Elizabethans had an unexpected reception aboard the Olympia Thursday evening. They started out on the steam tug Erie, for a cruise in the harbor to see the illuminations.

While the Erie was cruising about the fleet off Tompkinsville, it was hailed by an officer on a launch from the Olympia, with the a salutation: "This is the Olympia's launch, who are you?"

"This is the Erie, and we have New Jersey's governor abroad!" was the reply.

The officer on the launch told the Erie to hold by a few moments and its passengers would be taken aboard the Olympia.

The Olympia's launch ran up along side of the Erie, and all were taken aboard the Olympia, where they were kindly received by Admiral Dewey. There was greetings exchanged between Governor Voorhees and the admiral. The members of the party were each introduced to the admiral, his son, Captain Lamberton and Lieutenant Brumby.

When they left the Olympia her guns gave to Governor Voorhees a parting salute of 17 guns.

NEW RESIDENCES ARE GOING UP ALL OVER.

Permits for Eleven New Houses Granted This Month.

NETHERWOOD IS BOOMING.

MANY OF THE NEW HOUSES ARE OF ELABORATE STRUCTURE.

Rapid Growth of Netherwood District is Remarkable, Three Big and Two Small Residences Being Planned—Other Buildings Being Put up in Various Sections of the City Which is an Improvment.

Plainfield is feeling its share of the prosperity that is sweeping over the country. During the month of September which ends today, work has been started on eleven new houses, several of them elaborately planned residences, which are now in a varying state of completion. Others will be started soon.

The rapid growth in the Netherwood district is remarkable. Plans have been filed this month with the building inspector for three more large residences there. Two smaller ones have also been started. Runyon and Manning are putting up another frame dwelling that will be a very handsome one when completed. It was designed by Fred L. Lancaster. The mason work is being done by John Mitchell and the carpenter work by J. Manning, The house is being built on LaGrande avenue near Woodland avenue. There is another handsome frame dwelling going up on that same street. John N. Mitchell, the owner, is doing his own mason work. The carpenter is J. C. Manning. William H. Clum was the architect.

Charles H. Hand has a charming residence well under way on Belvidere avenue, corner of LaGrande avenue. The architect was William H. Clum, the mason Jacob Gulick and the carpenter S. P. Hoffman.

A smaller house of tasteful design is being erected on Belvidere avenue, near LaGrande avenue by David Arthur, Jr. A. F. Seicht is the architect, Cormick Caufield the mason and Arthur Brothers the carpenters.

C. VanHerwerden has a new house in course of erection at 1312 South avenue. It is of pretty design, the work of Fred L. Lancaster. William C. Smith is the mason and John Lloyd the carpenter.

A. Schlick is building two frame cottages at 720 West Third street. Lewis Nelson has the contract for building them. Mrs. Bridget Newman is the owner of a frame cottage being erected at 521 West Third street. Wm. Tallamy has the contract for the mason work and D. Murray for the carpenter work. Mrs. Alicia McIntyre owns another frame cottage in course of erection on the same street, near New street. Cormick Caufield has the mason work and C. L. Hedemark the carpenter work.

George W. Nostrand is putting an addition on his frame dwelling at 303 East Second street. Mitchell & VanHorn are doing the mason work and H. E. Gayle the carpenter work.

CONDUCTOR'S FORTUNE.

CHARLES DODWELL WILL COME INTO A WINDFALL.

An Uncle Dies in England and Leaves, it is Said, a Good Sized Lump of Money for the Genial Railroad Man.

The many friends of Conductor Charles Dodwell, of Dunellen, will be pleased to learn that he is soon to come into possession of a considerable sum of money by the death of a relative in England. The estate is being settled, and it is anticipated that before many months Conductor Dodwell will be placed in possession of this windfall The amount of this fortune is variously estimated at from $15,000 to $25,000.

The relative in question is an uncle of Mr. Dodwell, who has but one relative besides himself. When asked about the report Conductor Dodwell admitted that there was some truth in the story, but said that he had not yet received the money. It is possible that when the good fortune arrives Mr. Dodwell will resign his position as a conductor.

While his genial face will be missed by the many commuters who have so long rode with him to and from New York, nevertheless all will be pleased to congratulate him on his good fortune.

STATE UNION MEET ENDS.

French Memorial Home Recommended to Officers—The Officers Elected.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Camden, Sept. 30.—The concluding day's session of the thirteenth annual convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Society was held Thursday.

Dr. Brett stated that the executive committee of the State Union had considered the question of the French Memorial Industrial Home and had unanimously voted to recommend it to the Endeavorers of the State as a most worthy and commendable project.

Jersey City will be the next meeting place for the Convention, in 1900.

The nominating committee decided on the following new officers, who were chosen: President, Dr. A. W. Spooner, of Camden; vice-presidents, Rev. Luther B. Dyott, of Newark; Rev. I. N. Davis, of Bound Brook; Rev. W. T. S. Lumbar, of Moorestown; secretary, Miss Ida B. Stephens, of Hackettstown; treasurer, E. E. Anthony, of Plainfield.

IN A BIG STORM.

Mrs. Arthur Lee on a Ship That Buffeted the Terrible Sea.

Mrs. Arthur Lee, daughter of Mrs. C. W. Runyon, of this city, who was a passenger on the steamer Caracas, of the Red "D" Line, recently when that ship encountered a terrible hurricane, writes to her friends in this city of her awful experiences when off the Florida coast. For thirty-six hours the good ship was buffeted by the waves. During the storm the passengers, although battened down for these long thirty-six hours, preserved the best of order and aided the brave seamen in the efforts they made to save the ship. To show their appreciation of Captain Woodrick's efforts to save their lives, the passengers passed a set of resolutions and also subscribed to a purse of $271.50, which was presented to the crew of the good ship. Among the list of contributors is noticed the name of Mrs. Arthur Lee.

Real Estate News Election.

A meeting of the recently-elected directors of the Real Estate News Publishing Company was held Wednesday afternoon at the handsomely furnished office of S. D. Drake, on North avenue. The board organized with the election of S. D. Drake, president; C. A Reed, vice-president; W. B. B. Mason, secretary, and A. G. Drake, treasurer. The usual semi-annual dividend of five per cent. was declared.

PLAINFIELD CLOSED UP SHOP FOR DEWEY.

Business Completely Suspended All Day Yesterday.

WITNESSED NAVAL PARADE.

HUNDREDS OF PLAINFIELDERS WENT TO NEW YORK.

Every Train That Left in the Morning Carried a Small Multitude of Local Patriots and Sightseers to New the York Harbor—Plainfielders Were at the Various Points of Vantage.

Even the Fourth of July or Christmas could not have been observed any more religiously as a holiday than was Dewey Day in Plainfield yesterday. In accordance with the proclamations issued by Mayors Rockfellow and Smalley nearly every business house in the city and borough suspended operations all day, and many of the local factories closed down also.

ADMIRAL GEORGE DEWEY.

National colors and flags were displayed liberally throughout the city, and gave a patriotic air in keeping with the significance of the day.

Of course, there was nothing going on in the city in connection with the welcoming home of the hero of Manila and his brave men, and therefore the mecca to which a vast majority of Plainfielders turned their steps was New York, where places of vantage overlooking the New York Harbor and the North river were pre-empted for the purpose of viewing the greatest naval pageant viewed in this country.

In fear that they might be put to some inconvenience in the immense crowds gathered in the metropolis, some Plainfielders went off on little private excursion parties, but they were not many. The greatest exodus of people was seen going in the direction of New York. Always a scene of hustle and bustle in the morning hours, the North Avenue station of the Central Railroad seemed immeasurably so yesterday with the congestion of people at that place bound for New York. Extra cars were run on every train, but the big crowd filled filled them almost full by the time the trains pulled out of Plainfield. The Central, however, furnished splendid service and took care of its patrons in good shape.

A large number of Plainfielder had prepared days in advance for places to see the naval parade—either from advantageous spots along the piers, high buildings or on the multitude of river craft that were a part of the escort of the war vessels. Others went to the city intending to take their chances of seeing the parade from the best places they could find. The ferry boats were swarmed with this latter class, and as rule they made excellent places from which to view the fleet of vessels as they passed up in review along the river.

The great exodus of Plainfielders came home in a steady but modern flow all the afternoon, so that distributed through the numerous trains running out of Jersey City during the late afternoon and early evening hours there was but little inconvenience for them so far as the transit between New York and Plainfield was concerned.

Drill of the Dauntless Third.

The members of Engine Company No. 3, who are going to participate in the parade at Plainfield very shortly, had a foot drill last night under command of Foreman Bauer. Mr. Bauer evidently understands a few things about foot-drills and for an hour he kept the men moving with martial precision. If the members go to Plainfield and execute wheeling, circling, action near, and several more such orders the way they did last night, Plainfield will not be able to hold them and they will come home with all the medals in the market.

SPECTATORS IMMERSED.

Large Crowd of Dewey Sightseers Precipitated Into North River.

MANY NARROW ESCAPES

Officers, Assisted by Volunteers From the General Crowd, Rescue the Unfortunates.

The Collapse of a Platform at a Ferry House Causes the Unpleasant Occurrence—Admiral Dewey to Go to Washington by Special Train Monday.

New York, Sept. 30.—In the excess of their zeal to secure a good point of view of the Dewey naval parade, three score of would-be spectators were precipitated into the North River at the foot of West Forty-second street. One woman fell among the floating timbers and sustained a broken leg in addition to possible iternal injuries. The otuer persons who fell either climbed out themselves or were pulled out by the police with the assistance of the general crowd.

The accident occurred alongside of the ferry-house, where an old and narrow platform along the side of the house had attracted some of the more venturesome of the crowd. Along this strip of half-rotten boards, not more than two feet wide, the first man was followed by another and still more, both men and women pushing their way after the leaders. The limited number that the planks would hold had just settled down in snug safety, when the cracking shelf collapsed a moment later and the ripping of the boards and splashing of water, mingled with terrified cries, caused instantly a rush of excited spectators.

Mrs. Salma Krog, 50 years old, of 358 East Fifty-third street, was half unconscious with pain and fright when taken from the water by the first party of rescuers that arrived. She was carried to a neighboring coal yard, and an ambulance from Roosevelt Hospital was summoned. The ambulance surgeon found that the woman's right leg had been broken just above the ankle. She was removed to the hospital.

The other persons involved in the collapse were more fortunate. Some had tumbled into shallow water and were able to wade out. Those who got into deeper water were picked up by Detective Shindler of the Thirty-sixth Precinct and Patrolman McGowan of the Twenty-seventh Precinct, who had found a small boat near the ferry slip.

Wet and bedraggled, the rescued men and women betook themselves to their homes, and left the crowd and police to watch for another mishap.

To Invite Dewey to Chicago.

Among yesterday's arrivals in town were two separate parties from Chicago, which are here to try to induce Admiral Dewey to accept the hospitality of te metropolis of the West. One of these parties is led by Mayor Harrison and a number of Chicago business men, mostly members of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association. There are about 300 in this party. They are the bearers of a foral invitation to the Admiral to participate in a celebration in his honor to be held in Chicago on Oct. 9. The invitation wil be handed to the Admiral at the Waldorf-Astoria on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

The train which will carry Admiral Dewey to Washington on Monday will, it is said, be the finest in appointments ever run ovr an American railroad. It will consist of a composite dining and three vestibule drawing-room parlor cars. The private car Atalanta will be for the exclusive use of the Admiral. The train will leave Jersey City at 1:50 o'clock on Monday afternoon and arrive in Washington at 6:50 the same day. It was offered to the committee in charge of the Dewey celebration at Washington, by Prsident Cassatt of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Immense Crowds Everywhere.

During the naval parade the scene along the shores was one never to be forgotten. Not one-quarter of the people who desired to do so, either from the river banks or from steamers, could witness it. Before 8 o'clock every pier and dock open to the public was jammed with a jostling, eager mob, ready to break out into cheers at the smallest provocaton. The more daring dangled their legs from the the ends of the piers regardless of the push behind. Small boys perched upon spiles and jibed their less fortunate companions below.

The police arrangements were excellent. The bluecoats showed all the tact for which the New York police force is noted. They were firm, but chary of using force and directed their efforts entirely to preventing accidents in the crush and to facilitate progress. Their clubs were used only as guard rails and badges of authority.

Up in Riverside Park the crowd was no less dense, but the scene was more pastoral. The trees and stretches of grass, still green, broke the monotony of the sea of human heads that lined the river front. All the way up to Grant's Tomb the shore was black with people. At the monument a dense mass surged up the very edge of the cliffs till it seemed that the island itself must tip and cast its unaccustomed weight into the river below.

Across the river all of New Jersey and the surplus of this city and Connecticut had gathered. All along the edge of the picturesque bluffs they stood. They perched on perilous craggs and climbed to the topmost limbs of trees.

Like a Battle in the Cloud.

Seen from this side it was like a battle in the clouds. The crowds surged back and forth as if in combat. Flags waved frantically above the heads of the swaying masses on the heights of Weehawken and Fort Lee, and now and again hoarse shouts billowed across the river, sounding in the distance like the indescribable roar of armies in battle.

In accordance with the Governor's proclamation the day was made a holiday, and for the most part business houses were closed, while stores and office fronts were swathed in bunting the buildings were vacant and employers and employed joined the holiday makers. All the banks were closed as were the exchanges. The streets in the business section of the city, especially downtown, were not deserted, however, during the early morning because of the holiday crowds which poured through, but before noon, when everybody had gone to the river front who could, the streets began to look bare and deserted.

In a Blaze of Glory.

Fireworks lighted the whole city and habor last night in honor of Admiral Dewey. Great conceits in aerial fire were set off, and lighted the heavens, and set pieces, rockets, red fire in plenty helped to make such a display as the city has never seen before.

Bluffs, piers, ships and every house furnished places from which the demonstration could be seen, and great crowds gathered in Riverside Park, Central Park, Battery Park, along the shores and at all other places of vantage.

Many of those who went out in excursion steamers to see the naval parade stayed aboard in the evening to watch the fireworks. Some of them even took staterooms for the night.

Visiting soldiers, sailors and other people thronged all the Tenderloin, but the crowds were orderly and there was little trouble.

Over Thirty Thousand in Line.

The great land parade, which extended over a distance of more than eight miles, and in which more than thirty thousand men lined up to march in honor of Admiral Dewey, was a fitting close to the three days' celebration planned and carried out by the people of Greater New York as a token of appreciation and a welcome home to the man who has been talked about more during the past week than all the rest of the people in the United States put together.

All along the line of march the streets were litterally packed with a crowding mass of humanity, all clamoring to get "the best place" to view the parade. There were lots of good places to see what was going on, but they had all been taken as early as seven o'clock in the morning, and those who were unfortunate enough to arrive on the scene of activity at a later hour were doomed to disappointment, for they could consider themselves in as great luck as the Prince of Monte Carlo if they could get within three blocks of the marching multitude.

The police had their hands full in keeping the crowd back so that the procession could pass unobstructed. Everyone who owned a flag or a handkerchief waved it and everyone who had a voice let loose of wild and enthusiastic cheers until their throats were sore. They all recognized Admiral Dewey from the position he occupied at the head of the line and the patriotic ovation he received from the moment the parade started until the grand finale was the noisiest demonstration that has taken place since the Olympia arrived in New York harbor.

Before the parade Mayor Van Wyck, on behalf of the city, presented to Admiral Dewey the gold loving cup on the stand in City Hall park, where national anthems were sung by 2,000 school children.

From the City Hall the Admiral, under military escort, was driven to Riverside Park, where he took his position in a carriage at the head of the procession which started from in front of Grant's tomb and marched to the triumphal arch in Madison Square where it was halted and reviewed by Admiral Dewey.

The military display in the parade, from all sections of the country made an imposing feature of this portion of the big reception. New York state and Pennsylvania were the best represented in this particular line.

Sold His Mexican Mine.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Hugh McFarlane of Chicago has just sold his property at Bland, N. M., known as the "Lone Star" mine and mill, for $100,000 cash. Bland is a small but hustling town, where many former Chicago and Illinois persons are finding remunerative employment. There are two other mills, the property of Boston capitalists. S. W. Allerton and other Chicagoans have valuable interests near there.

The Olympia's Movements.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—The Olympia is to go out of commission at the Boton Navy Yard, thus giving the people of Boston an opportunity to see her, although it may not be with Admiral Dewey aboard. Being already detached from command of the Asiatic station, he ay leave for his home in Vermont at his own pleasure. It is believed that he will do so immediately after his visit to Washington is ended.

Epworth Leaguer Goes to War.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Fred O. Brown, president of the Epworth League of the Chicago Northern District, has enlisted for service in the Philippines. He will leave his home this afternoon for Fort Meade, where he will join the Forty-seventh Regiment of volunteers. Mr. Brown is a son of the Rev. A. S. Brown of Evanton and leaves a lucative position.

Tug and Her Crew Lost.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—It is believed that the tug McCarthy has gone down in a gale on Lake Michigan. She was caught in the storm between the Straits and Green Bay. The McCarthy carried a crew of seven men, and on this trip had aboard one of the owners, Harry Lydon, of the shipping firm of Lydon & Drews.

Want Free Schoolbooks.

Elwood, Ind., Sept. 30.—The State Federation of Labor elected Edgar L. Perkins, of Indianapolis, President; John Peters, of South Bend, Secretary-Treasurer; J. M. Shellhouse, of Marion, First Vice President; Sarah Crossfield, of Muncie, Second Vice President. The body declared in favor of free schoolbooks for pupils.

Three Crops in One Year.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio, Sept. 30.—W. W. Winterhalder picked from a small pear tree the third crop of pears for this season. The first was the size of one's fist, the second larger than a walnut and the third the size of a hickory nut. The tree blossomed on three separate occasions.

A Specific for Cancer.

"THE MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER has in some cases seemed to be of great benefit in arresting the progress of the disease. In a few instances, one of cancer of the breast and four of uterine cancer, the apparent effect has been more striking than any results I have seen from any other agent."

Fordyce Barker, M. D.

"I can fully endorse all that my friend Dr. Barker has said about the MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER. I have prescribed it with benefit in a few cases of cancer. I also consider it a great remedy in all scrofulous diseases, and in syphilitic affections. In these diseases its true value has not yet been fully recognized by the profession. It is also an admirable remedy in affections of the digestive organs, and in some diseases of the kidneys."

Don't Die

when within your power to live on, in health and happiness. It is the duty of every man, woman and child to know, that Radam's Microbe Killer destroys every germ or microbe with which it comes in contact when introduced into the human system.

Microbes produce sickness, and, as they multiply in the blood and organs of the body, ptomaines appear also, and death frequently follows.

Radam's Microbe Killer, wonderful remedy that it is, though powerful in destroying microbes of every disease known, is perfectly harmless to humanity. It has cured others—it will cure you; and if you once try it, you will adopt it for every illness.

Should you be interested, or if any of your friends are sick, write for book containing testimonials and advice, mailed free.

PRISONERS ARE RELEASED

Filipinos Give up Americans They Had Held For a Long Time.

TO RECEIVE EMISSARIES.

Natives Notified That They May Send Representatives to Confer With Major-General Otis

American Regiments Are Resting at Porac—General MacArthur's Latest Victory Regarded as the Preliminary Step to a General Movement in Philippines.

Manila, Sept. 30.—The American authorities spent a whole day arranging the details of the delivery of the American prisoners at Angeles. A Filipino general, an aide-de-camp and a secretary accompanied the prisoners to Manila.

The Filipinos have been notified that they may send a representative to confer with Major-Gen. Otis. The regiments are resting at Porac.

A Spanish Captain who escaped from the Filipinos and entered the American lines at the north states that the native Gen. Mascardo with 1,500 men has evacuated Dolores and Calumpit and fallen back to the mountain. He says that four prisoners from the gunboat Urdaneta are with Mascardo's men. The remainder of the Urdaneta's crew are reported to have been killed. The Spanish Captain knew nothing in regard to the fate of Ensign Wood, who commanded the Urdaneta. He says 800 insurgents took part in the fight at Porac Thursday.

May Be For General Movemet.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The capture of Porac by Gen. MacArthur is regarded at the War Department as the preliminary manoeuve to a general movement of the American troops north to take possession of the railroad from Manila to Lingayau Bay. Gen. Otis has enough troops to make that movement and to garrison the towns along the line of the railroad. It is believed the rainy season will soon be ended, and that more extensive military operations will then be begun.

A large body of insurgents was in the vicinity of Porac, the extreme west of the populous province of Pampanga. Gen. MacArthur extended his lines almost to Porac early in August, but was compelled to withdraw toward Santa Bita and Angeles because of the heavy rains. The insurgents have remained to the west of Porac and last week they captured the gunboat Urdeneta on the coast to the south. It was considered necessary to drive them out of that territory before a general movement north was begun, and Gen. MacArthur took possession of Porac with that end in view. The general will garrison Porac and keep the insurgents out of the valley and in the mountains. That will enable him to move his army north on Tarlac, where Aguinaldo has his headquarters, and he will continue to drive the insurgents to the north until the railroad from Manila to Lingayau Bay is in the possession of the Americans.

But little has been heard of Gen. Lawton recently. It is said by War Department officials that he is near Gen MacArthur, and is preparing to move north with a column parallel to the forces of that general. The greater part of the troops have been transferred quietly to the north of Manila for the movement. It is also said that a considerable body of troops will be transported from Manila to Lingayau Bay and landed to begin a southward march, with the expectation of crushing the insurgents between the two columns.

It is significant that Gens. Lawton, Wheaton and Grant are all with MacArthur to the north, and it is said that they are preparing for an aggressive campaign that will clear that part of the island and place the one railroad in the Philippines completely under American control.

General Otis Will Stay.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—Major General Otis is not to be relieved of command in the Philippines, but is to be given assistants, who will take the routine business off his hands.

President McKinley believes the statements of Admiral Dewey, and other officers who have returned from the East have given the true cause of the dissatisfaction with the General. These officers have said he is overburdened with details, but is an able commander.

In view of the President's opinion orders have been issued designed to relieve him of many pressing matters. The assignment of Brigadier General Schwan as chief of staff of the Department of the Pacific and principal assitant of the Governor General of the Philippines is one of these orders.

Buffalo Society Stirred Up.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept., 30.—Buffalo society was stirred to the depths, when the secret marriage of Miss Josephine B. Dickson of Delaware avenue to Mr. Apprecio of Guatemala became known. Miss Dickson, who is known as the Lillian Russel of Buffalo, met Apprecio in France. He is said to posses many titles, and to be immensely wealthy. Miss Dickson went to New York a few days ago, where she met Apprecio, and the two were married by a Roman Catholic priest.

Died on His Way to Church.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 30.—Walter Gibson died while seated in his buggy driving to the Christian Friend's Church. Mr. Gibson was aged 73 and often boasted that for thirty years he had not missed a prayer meeting at the church.

Mrs. Neff Wants a Divorce.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 30.—Mrs. William H. Neff has sued for divorce and $15,000 alimony, causing a sensation in Cowan society, where the family reside. Mr. Neff has for years been conducting a big washing machine factory, and has become rich.

TEN PERSONS PERISHED.

Wreck of the Scotsman Resulted in Sad Fatality.

Rimouski, Que., Sept. 30.—It now transpires that the Dominican liner Scotsman which was wrecked eight days ago southeast of Change Island, eight miles from Belle Isle lighthouse, lost ten of her passengers while disembarking from the wrecked vessel. The Scotsman is a total wreck. The dead are: Mrs. Robertson, wife of the manager of the Sunlight Soap Company, of Toronto; Miss Robertson, her daughter; Mrs. Childs, wife of the stage manager of the "Sign of the Cross" Company; Miss Street, of Montreal, traveling companion of Miss Duncan, of Montreal; Mrs. Dickson, of Windsor, Ont, wife of a former editor of the Toronto Globe; Miss R. Weavrs; Mrs. Talbot; Mrs. E Scott; Mrs. Skelton and an infant child of Mrs. Roberts.

The first five named were cabin passengers and the others were traveling by second-class of steerage. A number of passengers are missing.

The steamhip Montfort, with 249 of the Scotsman's passengers on board, has reached here. The Montfort carried to Rimouski all the survivors except fifty-six second cabin and steerage passengers, who were left on the island, and nine passengers and forty-five of the crew were taken off by the Monterey and carried to Liverpool. The passengers who were left on the island will come to Rimouski on the Allan Line steamship Germanic.

The story told by the passengers who arrived here is one of hardship and suffering. Mr. Emerson, who was representing the firm of Messrs. Christy & Company, of London, was a passenger on board the Scotsman. According to his story the vessel truck at 2.30 o'clock on the morning of Friday, Sept. 21. All the passengers were in bed. There was a dense fog at the time and the first warning the passengers had was when the vessel struck the rock. There was a crash and a heavy crushing sound as the ship piled headlong upon the rocks. In a moment all was confusion. Passengers crowded on the deck partly dressed. There was a high sea running at the time and the ship's officers, fearing the vessel would slip back into deep water and founder, ordered the boats lowered.

The women and children were lowered into the boats with great difficulty. One of the boats foundered after it had been filled with women and children. It is said by those who were in the boat that the plug was out, and that the boat filled with water, and that it was through this accident that the loss of life occurred.

Four boats in all were lowered and each was crowded with women and children. They put out to sea and remained as near the wreck as possible until daybreak. Passengers in the meantime were lowered to the rocks by means of ropes.

By Saturday noon all the passengers had reached shore, women and children being carried over the wrecked vessel to the rocks.

The conduct of the crew was outrageous. No sooner had the steamer foundered than the crew invaded all the cabins and plundered the baggage of the passengers.

The ship's officers were utterly unable to control the crew, but busied themselves in saving the lives of the passengers. It is evident that the ship was entirely out of her course. The crew had been hastily picked up owing to the seamen's strike at Liverpool.

Carriage Makers Raise Prices.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—Representatives of a dozen of the carriage and buggy body manufacturers of the Central States met here and formed a combination to maintain prices. They raised the prices on an average of 20 per cent. The claim is made that the increase in the prices of iron, steel, screws, lumber and also of wages has necessitated an increased price for the manufactured goods. There will be another meeting held here October 24, when a permanent organization will be effected. D. J. Miller, of the LaFrantz Body Manufacturing Company, of Akron, Ohio, is temporary chairman of the combination, and A. Schnidler, of Cincinnati, secretary.

Boys Burn a Residence.

Princeton, Ind., Sept. 30.—The residence of Miguel Wild, 14 miles southeast of this city, was burned, and with it an eight-year-old son and two orphan boys, aged 14 and 16. Wild and his wife made a narrow escape for their lives as the roof had fallen in on them. The victims slept on the second floor, which had neither doors or windows. The stairway was aflame and they could not escape.

Blacksmith Dies of Lockjaw.

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 30.—Surgeons at the hospital here are greatly interested in th autopsy of the body of John Jordan, a young blacksmith of Noroton, who died of lockjaw. A horse stepped on one of Jordan's fingers a week ago. The finger was amputated and the stump was apparently healing when tetanus set in.

Bought by the Whisky Trust.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 30.—The Standard Distilling and Distributing Company, the largest of the three whisky trusts, has purchased the Great Eastern Distillery, located here. The Great Eastern was an independent plant, with a capacity of 5,000 barrels a day. The price paid is said to have been over $200,000.

Unearthed a Skeleton.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, Sept. 30.—While plowing in a gravel pit on Washington avenue workmen turned up the skeleton of a woman. The frame was intact and the bones appeared to have been recently interred right in the middle of the thoroughfare. How the skeleton came there is a mystery.

Fatal Mine Accident at Wilkesbarre

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 30.—A fall of coal at the Conygham Mine shaft here killed Thomas Timblin and injured fatally George Cooper and Thomas E. Timbling. The last-named is a cousin of the dead man.

Mayor Dewitt Renominated.

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 30.—The Democratic city convention renominated Mayor Jerome Dewitt for a second term as mayor.

JUMPED FROM A TRAIN.

Murderer Takes a Desperate Chance to Escape Arrest.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 30.—A leap in the dark from the platform of a railroad train going forty miles an hour saved Wiliam Conapin from arrest on the charge of murder and cheated a passenger of the $500 reward which is out for Conapin's apprehension. Just two weeks ago Horace Halpin was shot dead and robbed in his carriage on the loney "Swamp" road in Barre, Orleans County. Conapin having been seen in the murdered man's company, was instantly suspected. Before the train began to slow down at Charlotte, August Basel, an Albion farmer who was passing through the car, looked at the Hilton's passenger and exclaimed: "There's Halpin's murderer!" Instantly there was a comotion, as all of the passengers were familiar with the case, but before any one could reach him Conapin dashed to the platform and leaped into darkness.

Fierce Fight With Tramps.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Chief of Police Hoy of Prescott, with William Hiscox, a special officer, attempted to raid a rendezvous for tramps and a desperate fight followed. For two years tramps have gathered in the pines on the outskirts of Prescott, where the tracks of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railroads cross, and recently the Canadian Government ordered their arrest whenever found.

The policemen found six tramps cooking, and Hoy took one, who appeared to be a leader, and started for Prescott for help, leaving Hiscox to guard the others. As soon as Hoy had gone the tramps disarmed Hiscox and with his own revolver shot him four times, one bullet piercing the breastbone near the heart, another going through the left arm, one in the groin and the last through the right hand.

An alarm was sent to Precott, and the Mayor, with 100 armed men, started in search of the tramps. Volunteers are being added, and, though a heavy rain is falling fully 300 armed men are searching the County. Hiscox has been taken to Montreal to be put under an X-ray machine, as the bullets cannot be found by ordinary means. He will probably die.

Shot Herself Five Times.

Jamaica, L. I., Sept. 30.—Mrs. Amelia Wright, thirty-eight years old, wife of Asher Wright, superintendent of Nelson Morris' Long Island beef establishment, of this place, attempted suicide. She fired four shots into her abdomen and one into her throat, but failed to kill herself at once. The physicians, however, say she will probably die. She has been temporarily deranged at times for the last four years. The neighbors say she was usually of a pleasant disposition. She had three children, and appeared to be very fond of them. Her husband cannot imagine why she should have attempted to take her life.

Miners Jailed and Released.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 30.—News is brought by the steamer Alliance that 400 miners were arrested last month along the beach at Cape Nome. The trouble was caused by claim jumping and the filing of claims by attorney. On account of these abuses the Cape Nome Mining and Development Company claimed a strip of the beach. The miners who were at work there were arrested and taken to Anvil City. The captain of the revenue cutter Bear sided with the miners and ordered their release.

He Held up a Stage Coach.

Skagway, Sept. 22 (via Seattle, Sept. 30).—The stage running between Atlin and Discovery was held up by a lone highwayman. There were nine passengers, but none carried much money or valuables, and the plunder obtained was light. The robber escaped without being molested. The robber hailed the stage, saying he wanted to ride, and when it halted he covered the driver and passengers, telling them if they wanted to save their lives they would have to give up their money.

Will Try to Settle the Trouble.

Paris, Sept. 30.—Premier Waldeck-Rousseau presided at a Cabinet Council here which discussed the strike at the Creusot Iron Works. It was decided that while the Government would maintain the strictest neutrality as between the employers and the strikers, it would use every endeavor to promote a peaceful solution of the trouble.

Drowned Celebrating for Dewey.

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 30.—Annie Kalesar, a patriotic girl of six, was drowned playing Dewey parade. She and Mary Saska, of the same age, got into a boat tied to a pier to play Dewey naval parade. The rope broke and Annie jumped into the water. James Gill went to her rescue but sank with her. James McCauley then dived, but was only able to save Gill.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 30.—The markets here are closed until Monday.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Closing quotations for spot: Wheat 73⅛, corn 30⅛, pork 8.30.

Unheal hy to Eat Alone.

The solitary eater is always tempted to eat too large mouthfuls and swallow them too quickly, and either to eat too much or too little. Eating is only one part of feeding, and without digestion is not only useless, but injurious.

Those who eat in company have to devote a certain amount of time to talking and attending to each other's wants. This makes the period between the mouthfuls longer and gives more time for digestion.

Then, again, conversation at meal times usually takes a cheerful turn, and the tone of both mind and body is raised, the heart and nervous system act better, the flow of digestive juices is stimulated, and a larger amount of actual nourishment is obtained from a smaller quantity of food.

In a word, the man who eats in company eats more like a man and less like an animal than he who feeds alone; so his food does him more good in every way.

A CONFLICT IS EXPECTED

There Are Very Few Who Believe Hostilities in Transvaal Can be Averted.

CABINET MEETS AGAIN.

The Transvaal Apparently Very Anxious to Have the Trouble Commence at Once.

The Boers Will Not Yield an Inch and Expect to Conquer Their Foes—The Situation Does Not Improve—Will England be the One to Recede?

London, Sept. 30.—The chances of a peaceable settlement of the Boer trouble has been appreciably lessened in the last few hours. The burghers are taking the field in all parts of the Transvaal and Orange Free State, and it is clear that they are concentrating their forces on the Natal border. Several thousand Boers are now within a few miles of Laing's Nek, which is likely to be the centre of operations in case of an outbreak of hostilities.

The Cabinet met at 1 o'clock. Several thousand persons gathered on Downing street and greeted the Ministers warmly. Prime Minister Salisbury entered the Foreign Office by a side door and was not seen by the crowd.

The Times Pretoria correspondent telegraphs an interview he had yesterday with President Kruger. The Chief Executive of the South African Republic said he had done all that was possible to preserve peace. Great Britain was massing troops on all sides, and war was being forced on him.

It was impossible, President Kruger said, to accede to the demand in regard to the seven-years' franchise contained in Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's last despatch. If this request were granted, 50,000 Uitlanders would be enfranchised—a number greater than all the Boers.

The Boer President repeated his previous statement that the Uitlanders never wished the franchise right. They registered themselves as aliens and refused to accept any burdens when requested to take up arms for the South African Republic.

In conclusion, the correspondent asked the President if peace was possible. He replied: "No; unless the other side does something to make it possible."

Pretoria, Sept. 30.—The Transvaal's reply to the last British despatch says the South African Republic adheres strictly to the London Convention in 1884. It asks nothing further, and does not mention the question of suzerainty. A declaration of war is expected at any moment. In case war comes the mines will be worked where profits are obtained and the gold will be deposited with the Transvaal Government for safe-keeping. Englishmen will be allowed a reasonable time to leave the country. Those who remain will have to take an oath to obey the orders of the Transvaal Government in regard to the preservation of order. No one will be allowed to travel through the country without a passport. The Transvaal forces are hurrying to the front from all sides.

President Kruger declares that some one besides the Boers will have to do a little peace making if Great Britain wishes to avoid war.

Cape Town, Sept. 30.—The adoption by the Raad of the Orange Free State of the resolution to support the Transvaal Government created no sensation here; in fact, such action was a foregone conclusion. The burghers of the Orange Free State regard the ultimate victory of the Boers as a certainty.

The northern border towns of the Cape Colony are being garrisoned owto the menacing attitude of the Cape Boers.

Children Die by Mother's Hand.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 30.—Mrs. Clara Rheiner, 34 years of age, is alive after having attempted suicide, but two of her three children are dead by her hand. She gave all of the children morphine and then cut her own wrist. The wounds were not deep enough to reach the arteries. Mrs. Rheiner and her eldest child were resuscitated. It is believed that she is insane.

Wouldn't Accept Love Pledge.

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 30.—The marriage ceremony of Miss Della Allen and Alonzo Gardner was brought to a sensational stop in the center of the service by the groom refusing to take the pledge of love. The wedding was declared off. On a second consideration he decided that he would make the pledge, and then the officiating pastor refused to go on.

The Wool Caught Fire.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 30.—The South Bend Woolen Company is $18,000 loser from a fire. A large shipment of dipped wool was stored in the factory, with nearby 100,000 pounds, and spontaneous combustion resulted. All the wool had to be pulled out before the fire was discovered.

Were Not Massacred.

Algiers, Sept. 30.—It is reported that the French Foureau-Lamy mission has arrived safely at Air, in the Desert of Sahara, where the party will remain for the present. It was reported a few days ago that the members of this expedition had been massacred by Tuaregs.

O'Brien Defeats Kerns.

New York, Sept. 30.—Jack O'Brien defeated Tim Kearns, of Boston in the thirteenth round at the Broadway Athletic Club. The bout was to have been a twenty-five round go. Kerns was badly punished.

Prominent Politician Shot.

Mt. Willing, Ala., Sept. 30.—W. T. Noble shot and instantly killed Stephen J. Barganier a prominent politician, late this evening on the public highway. The cause is unknown.

Plainfield Patriotism.

That all Plainfield should have taken a day off yesterday to pay homage to Admiral Dewey and his brave crew on the occasion of the first of the public ceremonies welcoming them back to a loving and appreciative nation, is highly significant of the patriotism that obtains in this community.

So far as we know this city is the only town in the metropolitan section that so unanimously and thoroughly acquiesced in the spirit of making yesterday a holiday. It is evidence that Plainfielders are not only loyal and devoted patriots, but also that they are willing to sacrifice something personally that they better impress upon the world their respect and admiration for that noble body of men who fought the battle in Manila bay.

Getting Ready for the Campaign.

The campaign has opened among the Republicans of Somerset county. Lewis A. Thompson, of Somerville, who is chairman of the county executive committee of the G. O. P., has issued a call for a meeting of the committee at the County House, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

At the meeting the date for the county convention will be set and the call adds that such other business as comes before the committee will be transacted. It seems likely that there will be a trial of strength between the rival factions at the committee meeting. There is a possibility that the trouble in the party may be settled then, but it is not likely.

Diagrams prepared by an expert for one of the large life insurance companies to illustrate the comparative longevity of clergymen, farmers, teachers, lawyers and doctors show that 42 out of every 170 ministers of the gospel reach the age of 70. The farmers come next, their proportion for 70 years of age being 40 out of 170. Next come the teachers, with 34; the lawyers show 25; the doctors are last, with only 24 out of 170. It seems as though these statistics contradict the heretofore accepted statement that "self-preservation is the first law of nature" in the case of the doctors.

Pictures of famous men which appear in public prints are not always good likenesses. This portrait of Admiral Dewey is as near perfect as the art of picture making can produce. It will be noticed that the hair and mustache are both white; in the old pictures they are black. The photograph was taken on the admiral's flagship, Olympia.

The Elizabeth Journal admits that "for the shrievalty nomination, B. Frank Coriell, of Plainfield, is the most formidable opponent ex-Assemblyman Houston has. Mr. Coriell is friendly to Mr. Houston, but says he is in the hands of his friends, and his candidacy is undoubtedly an assured fact. The sentiment that an implied pledge to Mr. Houston should be fulfilled has not lost any of its force, however, and there is the general impression that he will capture the convention honors."

Lemuel E. Quigg, spreaking presumably for Senator Platt, is credited with confessing that the refusal of the Republican machine of New York to support Seth Low for Mayor in 1897 was an egregious piece of folly. The rest of what Mr. Quigg said amounts to the offer of a bargain that the machine will support Low the next time the Citizens' Union will help it to hold on to the Legislature.

A wealthy citizen of New York, whose name has not been made public, is reported to have made an offer to subscribe $500,000 towards a permanent reproduction in marble of the Dewey arch. The creation of a small park at One Hundred and Tenth street and Seventh avenue, where the permanent arch would be, is under consideration by the Board of Public Improvements.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, after enumerating the achievments of Admiral Dewey, tells why the people love him: "It is rather because the Admiral has shown himself to be so much of a man. He is so simple, so unaffected, so unassuming, so free from any tendency toward ostentation, so devoid of self-consciousness, so strong, so self-sufficient, so serene."

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The small boy has already begun his visitations to the woods that surround the city in search of nuts of various kinds, principally the hickory nuts and chestnuts. There are lots of hickory nuts and have been for a week and the small boys have been gathering them in by the bagful. The chestnuts need a little frost and a high wind to bring them down. The are lots of burrs which promise an ample harvest of nuts.

* * * * *

These are great days for the street fakirs in New York. There are thousands of them on the streets today and they have been there all the week selling a multitude of varieties of "Dewey" souvenirs. Of course, the out-of-town people are their best customers and everyone of them is anxious to take home some souvenir of the great Dewey celebration. There are buttons with pictures of Dewey and the Olympia on them, medals with Dewey's head on one side and suitable insciption on the other, little knots of tri-colored ribbon with Dewey's head hanging from it in bas-relief. There are so many varieties that it is impossible to begin to enumerate them.

* * * * *

It is truly remarkable how many people, drivers of vehicles in particular, wander about without looking where they are going. Now any well bred driver who has the slightest regard for the rest of humanity will look around when he starts to turn. But there are many that do not and the local wheelmen are called upon to go through all sorts of evolution to prevent being run down if they happen to be alongside or behind that particular vehicle. Only the other day, a wheelman well-known in Washington Park, was riding along Park avenue in the midst of a stream of vehicles Suddenly the wagon in front of him stopped without warning. The wheelman promptly crashed into the back of the wagon, tumbled off his wheel and besmeared his red golf coat with the mire from the roadway.

MAZE EDWARDS STILL IN IT.

Plainfield Theatrical Man Will Try to Build Theatre in New Brunswick.

The New Brunswick Home News says:

Maze Edwards, manager of Stillman Music Hall at Plainfield, is still in the ring to locate a theatre here. He says that the plans of J. E. Hillpot, of Bound Brook, to erect a theatre would not interfere with him, as he intends to go ahead with his theatre scheme until he finishes it or sees the foundation walls of some one else's theatre going up.

Mr. Edwards does not favor the site on Albany street that the Bound Brook contractor is after, but thinks that he could make a theatre and office building pay well on Philip Weigel, Jr.'s property on Dennis street. Mr. Edwards will come here again next week to interest local capitalists.

It is known to be a fact that Edward H. Badel will not go into a scheme to erect a theatre for this city. He has said this most emphatically. It is very likely, however, if he saw that his money was needed to insure the completion of a theatre, he would go down into his pocket and help along the cause after it was once started, as the trolley magnate is just big hearted enough for that.

Another Bicycle Collision.

Harry Hock, an employe at Blimm's grocery on East Third street, collided with a single rig with a rubber tire on North avenue yesterday afternoon. Hock was thrown from his wheel but was not seriously injured. Before he could pick himself up the driver of the carriage had disappeared. His wheel was badly wrecked, one peddle being broken and some of the forks bent.

Mrs. H. Compton, of South Amboy, is a guest at the Cedar cottage.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, September 30.—Dewey Day was observed in a general way in the village yesterday. The merchants closed at noon so as to give the clerks a chance to enjoy part of the day. Some attempts at decorating were made, while from nearly every house in town the familiar face of the native hero was seen pinned to the window along with the Stars and Stripes.

Fred Schmidt, who recently bought Walpole's candy store, has made a number of improvements about the place, and the store presents a more attractive appearance with its new coat of paint.

Rev. G. M. Shott chaperoned a wheeling party of young people at a day's outing at Echo Lake. The day was very pleasantly spent in fishing and enjoying a corn roast.

Rev. G. M. Shott will preach Sunday morning the second of a series of sermons upon "Discipleship." In the evening the subject will be "Demetrius."

Scotch Plains and Fanwood were represented by a large delegation at the celebration in New York yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Morey and child are spending a few days with Mrs. Morey's parents, in Brooklyn.

Wm. S. Emery is having the high board fence about his summer garden treated to a coat of paint.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held their regular weekly meeting in their rooms last evening.

The Trenton Fair has been the attraction for a number of Scotch Plains people during the week.

Carmon R. Hetfield, of Brooklyn, was the guest Thursday of his sister, Mrs. Ann Cleaver.

William Jones, the obliging porter at Randolph's pharmacy, will start on his vacation next week.

While There is Life There is Hope.

I was afflicted with Catarrh; could neither taste nor smell and could hear but little. Ely's Cream Balm cured it.—Marcus G. Shautz, Rahway, N. J.

The Balm reached me safely and the effect is surprising. My son says the first application gave decided relief. Respectfully, Mrs. Franklin Freeman, Dover, N. H.

The Balm does not irritate or cause sneezing. Sold by druggists at 50 cts. or mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., New York.

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS THAT PLAINFIELDERS MAY WITNESS.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

Weber & Fields' "Hurly Burly" with all its wealth of scenic splendor, dazzling costumes, glorious ballots and a large army of fun-makers, will be at Music Hall tonight, and will be presented here, as it was in New York, with most careful attention to the minutest detail. The chorus of twenty beautiful young ladids will be a revelation, as each besides possessing a pretty face, also possess a well-trained voice and a pair of nimble feet. Altogether the extravaganza will prove a delightful treat and one long to be remembered. Besides "Hurly Burly," there will be an excellent vaudeville bill, which will include Sylvia Thorne, the famous operatic star; Kelly and Ashby, English acrobatic excentriques; Casino Comedy Four, a quartette of funny comedians and exceptionally good singers; Cook and Sonora, in their tramp and soubrette specialty; Bart and Verona in their travesty; Sadie Harris in her wonderful toe dance, and several other bright numbers.

* * * * *

The sparkling musical comedy, "The Air Ship," said to be filled with laughable situations and extraordinarily strong specialty features, will be the attraction at Music Hall next Tuesday night. J. M. Gaites, the author, has given an amusing, well-told story that this excellent company has succeeded in elaborating into an enjoyable entertainment, meritorious from the fact that it not only has all the elements of music and fun but its story is coherent and full of well sustained interest. The three acts of "The Air Ship" have been happily seasoned with new medleys, songs, dances and clever specialty features all of which are introduced in a perfectly legitimate manner and the presentation gives a bright, crisp, hilarious farce with the refreshing novelty of a plot, something decidedly new in the comedy field, and a feature that has proven one of the strongest factors in its phenomenal success.

* * * * *

While sensation and comedy predominate in Wm. F. Keogh's new western play, "The Great Train Robbery," by Scott Marble, which will be at Music Hall Thursday, October 5th, there is also a very dramatic story that is tinged with real heart-interest and touches of pathos. The plot is admirably woven. The comedy while exuberant is never tiresome. The sensational concomitants of real savage Indians, typical western characters, a hand-to-hand bowie-knife fight, an express train robbery, and other realistic features, occur just often enough in the play to lend a pleasing variety and picturesqueness without conflicting with the dramatic interest. Its forthcoming production in this city will be awaited with some curiosity. The company is large and numbers many well-known people.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

CLOTHING

Ever held in Plainfield. Prices that will be in reach of everybody at 214 WEST FRONT ST., NEXT DOOR TO MUSIC HALL.

SALE TO LAST TEN DAYS ONLY.

NEED OF READY CASH causes a sacrifice of fine clothing by manufacturers, their stock offered at 35c on the dollar. Too many goods on hand is the reason for this wonderful sale. Manufacturers must have cash, this is an honest sacrifice of goods by first-class reliable manufacturers who have made up more clothing than they can sell and consequently close out their surplus at an enormous loss for ready money.

We guarantee that for one dollar you get three dollars worth of clothing.

Just Look at These Prices:

Men's woolen suits, worth $9. at $2.75. Men's extra durable trousers, worth $3. at 95c. Men's fall overcoats, worth $7.50, at $2.75. Men's and young men's striped worsted suits at $6 50, worth $16.50. Men's winter overcoats, worth 15.00, at 4.25, and hundreds of other bargains in suits and trousers. These prices don't represent the cost of making these goods, they are clean made garments and bear the labels of the best makers in the country. There will also be sold elegant business and dress suits for men at 3.50, 4.50, 5.50, 6.50, 8.00 and 9.00, actually and honestly worth from 15.00 to 25.00. No shop-worn truck, but clean, honest clothing, good enough for the best dressed man in Plainfield. Bring this ad with you and if we don't show you everything we will pay you car fare both ways.

Come this Saturday at 8 a. m. and get the first pick while the assortment is still large, don't hesitate, don't delay, first come, first choice, come and see for yourself.

Elegant silk lined fall overcoats worth from 15.00 to 20.00, at 4.50, 5 50 and 6.50. Elegant dress trousers, worth from 3.50 to 7.00, at 2 25 and 2.50. Every man and woman within 25 miles of Plainfield should visit this unprecedented sale.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Der Bund der deutschen Landwirthe der Ostmark ist behördlicherseits aufgelöst worden.—Im Wörthersee ist der 74jährige Arzt Dr. Franz X. Heller von hier beim Baden vom Schlage gerührt worden und ertrunken. Dr. Heller, ein Bruder des bekannten Börsebesuchers, war eine in Wien sehr bekannte Persönlichkeit. Bis vor zehn Jahren übte er noch seine ärztliche Praxis aus und insbesondere galt er als Spezialist für die Behandlung des Lupus.

Bregenz. Dieser Tage gerieth in der Oelz'schen Fabrik in Lochau der Arbeiter Kold, Vater von vier Kindern, in die Maschine, in der ihm durch das Kammrad der Kopf vollständig zerquetscht wurde.

Esch. Zur Nachtzeit brach in dem Peter Brunnauer vulgo Gröberl'schen Turnermayerhofe durch Selbstentzündung des Heues im Stall- und Wirthschaftsgebäude ein großes Schadenfeuer aus; das Vieh konnte gerettet werden. Von dem angrenzenden Wohngebäude ist der Dachstuhl abgebrannt.

Gran. Das hiesige Domkapitel hat die Absicht, die historischen Kunstwerke, welche die Basilika, die schönste Kirche Ungarns enthält, zur Ausstellung nach Paris zu schicken, wieder aufgegeben, da es diese auf viele Millionen gewertheten Schätze nicht der in Frankreich herrschenden Unsicherheit aussetzen will.

Innsbruck. In unmittelbarer Nähe vom Berg Isel, wo jetzt Erdarbeiten ausgeführt werden, fand man mehrere Gerippe, die unzweifelhaft von Gefallenen aus den Kämpfen von 1809 herrühren.

Lugos. Der preußische Ingenieur Robert Thiem wurde bei der südlich von Krassowa im Gebirge liegenden Ortschaft Anina von einer aus fünf Mitgliedern bestehenden Räuberbande angegriffen, lebensgefährlich verletzt und beraubt. Gendarmerie verfolgte die Räuber.

Mährisch-Ostrau. An der Stelle des 1873 verstützten und aufgelassenen 200 Meter tiefen Antoni-Kunstwetterschachtes entstand eine ungefähr den Schachtdimensionen entsprechende 12 Meter tiefe Oeffnung in der Erde. Die Oeffnung wurde sofort umzäunt und das Verstützen eingeleitet. Nach den behördlichen Erhebungen besteht für die Stadt keine Gefahr.

Schweiz.

Bern. Nach der dieser Tage ausgegebenen Statistik des handelsstatistischen Bureaus des schweizerischen Zolldepartements betrug die Einfuhr im Jahre 1898 1,065,305,000 Francs, die Ausfuhr 723,826,000 Francs, die Unterbilanz somit 341,000,000 Francs oder 32.05 Prozent der Einfuhr gegen 32.78 Prozent im Vorjahre. Damit ist der schweizerische Handel auf eine Stufe angelangt, auf der er nie zuvor gestanden. Sowohl die Einfuhr als auch die Ausfuhr haben stark zugenommen, erstere um 34,100,000 Francs, letztere um 30,700,000 Francs.

Zürich. Der englische Baronet Sir John Brunner, Mitglied des Parlaments, dessen Vater aus dem zürcherischen Orte Bülach stammte, hat dem Schweizerischen Landesmuseum ein Geschenk von £1000 zugewendet. Der Betrag soll zu Ankäufen für die Schatzkammer des Museums verwendet werden.

Glarus. Der Zeichner Freuler, der eine Bergtour in's Klönthal unternommen hatte, ist spurlos verschwunden. Man glaubt, er sei abgestürzt.

Graubünden. Dieser Tage ist die von der Sektion Bernina des S. A. C. erbaute Tschierbahütte, die über 10,000 Francs kostete und Mobiliar im Werthe von etwa 2000 Francs birgt, dem Verkehr übergeben worden. Sie repräsentirt ein bescheidenes Hotel mitten in der großartigsten Gebirgs- und Gletscherwelt, zwischen dem Morteratsch, Bernina und Roseg. Ihr Abwart ist ein alter Bärenjäger, Nolfi, aus dem Münsterthal.

Wallis. Auf dem Bergpaß Bignettes zwischen Ottemmat und Piecegletscher verunglückte der Tiroler Bergführer Reinstalder, der in Gesellschaft von zwei Touristen und einem Führer war. Er fiel in eine Gletscherspalte und wurde todt herausgezogen.

Genf. Die drei am Dent-Blanche verunglückten Walliser Bergführer Furrer, Zurbriggen und Buignez waren verheirathet; jeder hinterläßt eine zahlreiche Familie, mit theils noch ganz kleinen Kindern. In Genf wird für die Hinterlassenen gesammelt.

DOMESTIC AFFAIRS.

Timely Reminders and What the Housekeeper Wishes to Know.

A new way of serving eggs is always in demand, especially if a good supper dish is the result. First boil three eggs till hard and throw into cold water. Make a sauce by boiling a few slices of carrot, two onions and a bunch of sweet herbs in a quarter of a pint of milk and the same quantity of water for 15 minutes. When the milk is flavored, strain it, thicken with a piece of butter rolled in flour; add pepper and salt to taste. Remove the eggs and cut each in thick slices; arrange in a circle on a hot dish and set in the oven. Pour the sauce round the slices of egg, reserving about two tablespoonfuls. Color the remains of the sauce with anchovy and pour in the centre of the eggs. Scatter chopped capers or parsley over the eggs and serve with croutons of fried bread round the dish.

When poaching eggs don't forget that a teaspoonful of vinegar in the water which they are cooked makes them snowy white. Remember to salt the water. If they are dropped in muffin rings in a deep frying pan of boiling water they will be cooked soft by standing the covered pan (removed to a cool place) in water.

To clean sponges thoroughly dissolve a handful of coarse salt in a pint of water. Soak and knead the sponges in this mixture for some little time; then rinse under the water faucet, and they will be as good as new.

Steamers are now made with adjustable trays provided with two sets of cups. The cups of one set are deep and are used for individual steamed puddings; the other set has smaller cups in which eggs may be steamed. Finally, the trays may be taken out and the steamer used for its usual purpose.

Here is a good way of using up meats left over: Take any kind of meat, cut in small pieces, as small as dice; put half butter and lard in a pan; let get very hot. Then put the meat in and shake it until it browns, and season; then put enough canned tomatoes to cover and let stew for about ten minutes. You will find this much better than salad in cold weather, and beter than hash, so try it. I am sure you will like it.

If, when veal loaf is ready for the oven it is packed in a melon mold, it will be found to take in a much better shape. Wet the mold and closely pack in the meat. A short time suffices for it to take form, when it may be transferred to a baking pan and baked as usual. It should be basted often with hot water to which a lump of butter has been added.

The successful making of an omelet is, according to experts, a matter of precision of detail. The word, therefore, of a French gentleman noted for his skill in this line is of value when he advices that the salt and pepper should be sprinkled in after the eggs have begun to cook—when the omelet, indeed, shows igns of setting. To salt the omelet before it is put on the stove, as many do, is to add to the chances of its coming out heavy.

To make vinegar out of cider, put cider in a dry, warm place and put some molasses in it; that gives it something to work upon. In a short time it will make vinegar. You must not cover it tightly. Put a piece of cheesecloth over the opening so no dirt can get in.

Knitting wool can be made a fast color by soaking it in a strong solution of salt and water, taking it out after a few minutes' immersion and hanging to dry in the open air.

Fillets of haddocks make a useful dish of fried fish. Take as many small fillets of fresh haddocks as you require, and tie each in a knot. Flour thickly, dip in frying batter, and fry in deep, boiling fat. Dry the fillets on paper near the fire and serve with a slice of cut lemon on each.

A shank of veal should be large enough for three dishes—the hot stew, the stock for soup and a bowlful of good meat to make the "jellied veal." The shank is best for all these.

Thin and valuable glass can be hardened after this fashion. Tie it around with hay, place over a fire in cold water and allow the water to come to a boil. Then let the glassware remain in the water until it becomes cold again.

In households where not only economy but the real art of cooking is practiced, the water in which rice is boiled is never thrown away. The major part of the nutriment goes into this liquid, and its addition to a soup is both valuable and palatable.

Cut warm bread and cake with a knife heated by being place in boiling water.

Their Fine Jewels.

Mrs. George Vanderbilt is said to have the finest rope of solitaire rubies in the country, if not in the world. The same thing is said of Mrs. Webb's rope of pearls, which she is fond of wearing looped elaborately over a velvet corsage. Mrs. John Jacob Astor has a famous diamond crown and Mrs. Stanley Mortimer has a coronet of emeralds and diamonds. Mrs. George Gould has stunning jewels, including a rope of pearls and one of diamonds. Mrs. Clarence Mackay possesses a curious trio of rings which belonged to a Hindoo rajah. The rings are attached to one another and, though each one is for a separate finger, they must be worn at once.

The quaint grandmother poke bonnets that have been worn to some extent are to be superseded, it is said, by the large Directoire hat. Miroir velvet is to be found for hats and bonnets and gossamer flowers and insects for trimming

A New Jersey woman has patented a skirt protector, which combines a short petticoat and a detachable waterproof bottom portion, which can be attached to the short skirt in wet weather.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 1. "Our Own Church"—Text, Ps. cxxii, 1-9.

"Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces."

The motto given by Bishop Matthew Simpson to the Epworth League at the time of its formation is the sentiment given for consideration this week.

"We live to make our church a power in the land while we live to love every other church that exalts our Christ."

It is advised that every chapter have a meeting, led by the pastor, to discuss denominational work. One of the first things which impresses an observer in meeting a live Christian worker is his denominational loyalty. That was a characteristic mark of all the best workers of both Old Testament and New Testament times. Love of one's own church—true love—is apt to be coupled with respect for every other true church.

Every Leaguer should make himself acquainted with the outlines at least of the history of the Methodist Episcopal church and should be intelligently acquainted with our special views and customs and know why we hold to these peculiarities. We should also have a good knowledge of the characteristics of each of the other great denominations in our own community. Besides this, we ought to be well posted as to the connectional benevolent societies, their past history and present standing. The most thrilling romances ever written are not more fascinating than the facts frequently coming to the surface as we study the progress of our church in different lands.

The more we learn of the noble men and women who are associated with us in the work of our church around the world, the more we meet with rank and file from various localities as well as with the leaders of the host, the more we shall appreciate the grandeur of our calling, the heroism of the workers, the pressing needs on every side, the call for steadfast courage and diligence on our own part.

Boasting and pride are at a great discount. Mere numbers are of small value. The spirit which impels us is the point of great value. Loyalty to our associates, our denominational mission and our personal opportunities is a grand way of cultivating allegiance to Jesus Christ.

Walls of Defense.

There is danger as well as helpfulness in the spirit of liberality which is so influential at the present time. The wider the circle of our acquaintance the more do we find diversities of views on vital points. We are often surprised to find men of much experience and education holding opinions we had supposed were erroneous and doing things we have been taught were wrong. Our own belief and practices are put to severe tests as we enlarge our world of observation, until it sometimes makes us wonder if, after all, there is any fixed standard of truth and any real rule of right.

Then comes the plausible explanation that all depends on personal conviction and sincerity, that every one has a right to his own opinion, and the test of all right and truth is your sincerity in holding to it.

But there are truth and right and duty, and their test is not the opinion of any one nor his imperfect practice. Differences of belief and habits only show the many sidedness of life, the imperfections of the best judgments and the need of diligence and care to learn the real way and train our powers to do the best.

The value of the doctrines of our church lies at this point. They should be known by our young people and, if known, will prove a wall of defense against assaults of ignorance and bigotry and doubt. These doctrines are not the utterances of any one man or company of men, but are the great foundation principles of divine truth, holding firm through all ages and worlds. They are the prominent teachings of the Bible and are the sure facts on which faith can rest securely. Every chapter should spend some time in the study of our foundations of belief and practice, know what it is to be a Methodist and be one from conviction and intelligence. There is no defensive protection so valable as conviction based on knowledge.

Barriers and Boulevards.

The old fortifications which formerly surrounded Paris were some years since leveled and made into a grand boulevard. At the same time wide and beautiful avenues were out through some of the oldest and most densely populated parts of the city, opening up the slums and letting light, air and publicity into quarters which were previously filled with squalor and crime.

In the progress of the present century much the same thing has occurred in the churches. It is not so long ago that loyalty to one's own church and creed was supposed to necessitate the denial of the truth of all other beliefs and the withholding of fellowship from those who did not agree in all points. Each church seemed to hedge and wall itself in from all others and from the world. The change in these things has been one of the marked improvements of recent years. Beliefs have been modified by wider knowledge and are no longer so narrow as formerly. Men as a whole believe no less firmly, creeds are no less clearly held than before, but they are more reasonable and more inclusive.

Exclusiveness in fellowship has been greatly modified. People of all creeds and peculiarities of worship meet, debate, worship and work together. The walls of separation have been thrown down and made into thoroughfares for service of God. Barriers are made boulevards, and blocks of defense are pavements over which chariots of human progress roll freely. Put your prejudices under foot and find your best defense in fraternal love and co-operation.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 1—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Our own church. What can we do for her?—Ps. cxxii, 1-9. (A meeting to discuss denominational work, led by the pastor.)

This psalm is a pilgrim song. It was undoubtedly composed with reference to one of the great yearly festivals, when the caravans of pilgrims went up to the holy city. The psalmist rejoices in the call of his friends and neighbors to come and go up to the house of the Lord. The procession moves forward. Jerusalem is reached. "Our feet are standing within thy gates, O Jerusalem!" He describes the city of Jerusalem and bursts into prayer for her peace and prosperity. This psalm and its surroundings suggest that—

1. We should be devoted to our own church. What devotion for Jerusalem and the temple possessed the heart of the poet who wrote this psalm! He loved Jerusalem; he looked upon the holy city; he admired her stateliness and beauty; he rejoiced in the scenes of her early grandeur, and his heart swelled with pride as he recalled the fact that Jerusalem had been the gathering place of the tribes of Israel; that here they had given testimony unto the Lord and rendered thanks unto his name. Every Endeavorer should be thoroughly devoted to his own church. He should know her past history and rejoice in it. He should be familiar with her present greatness and should joy in that also. A spirit of loyal, true hearted devotion to the church will put us in the proper frame of mind to do all we can for her best interests and advancement.

2. We should place a high estimate upon the services of our own church. The poet was glad when the call came to go up to the house of the Lord. He was ready and anxious to go. He prized highly the privileges of God's house and considered it a pleasure and not an irksome task to attend them. Would that this spirit prevailed more in the hearts of the church people of today! Not only would the house of God be more often frequented, but from its inspiring services influences would go forth that would quicken into new life and vigor all forms of church work. It is just as possible for us to find joy in God's house as it was for the psalmist. Let us cultivate this spirit more and more. Let us learn to properly prize and appreciate the services of God's house.

3. We should pray for our own church. "Pray for the peace of Jerusalem. They shall prosper that love thee. Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces." The peace and prosperity of our church should have constant place in our prayers, and we should also pray for the whole church of Christ, the church universal.

Bible Readings.—Ps. lxvi, 1-15; lxxxiv, 1-12; lxxxvii, 1-7; c, 1-5; cxvi, 17-19; cxxxv, 1-5; cxxxvii, 1-6; Math. xiii, 16-20; Acts ii, 42-47; xx, 28; Eph. v, 25, 29; Heb. x, 23-25.

Veil Will Be Lifted.

The time will undoubtedly come when "in Thy light we shall see light." The afflictions of the present resemble what the fissures and unsightly gashes were to the Israelites when encamped beneath the savage cliffs of Sinai. Their gloom and terror and mystery were all gone when beheld at the far distance in the flush of evening. So, too, will your experiences of trial be when seen bathed in the glory of unsetting suns. What now is like the tolling of funeral bells will then appear rather to have been preparatory and preparation chimes, ringing in the festal worshipers to the church of the glorified. No purpose of God regarding you will remain unfulfilled, no flower uncrowned with blossom.—J. R. Macduff, D. D.

The Gift of God.

Perhaps no cry in Cairo is more striking than that of the water carrier. "The gift of God!" he cries as he goes along with the waterskin on his shoulder. It is very likely that water, so invaluable and so often scarce in hot countries, was in Christ's day spoken of, as now, as "the gift of God," to denote its preciousness. If so, Jesus' expression to the woman would be very forcible.—"Ragged Life In Egypt."

Reading the Bible.

Give the Bible a chance! It appears very often that ministers are of the opinion of the old lady who called all the church services the "trimmin's to the sermon" and of "no account." It is surprising to hear how badly some ministers can and do read the Scriptures. It would be strange if the people had much regard for the Bible after the minister had shown so little.—Universalist Leader.

In Touch With All Spiritual Work.

A pastor should be in touch with every part of the congregational work, so far as to know that all is being carried on, but he should have direct part in all the spiritual work. If he is a stranger in the Sabbath school and young people's meeting, he will find that the bonds between him and his people are not increasing in strength or tenderness.—United Presbyterian.

Be Not Afraid.

When o'er your spirit's sunlight
Dark clouds of sorrow sweep,
And you, from nature's gladness,
Do turn away to weep,
There is a loving Saviour
Who comfort can bestow;
His great heart longs to aid you;
Your sorrow He doth know.

Upon the cross He suffered
More than you can conceive,
That He might heal your heartache,
You've only to believe.
Oh, hear the words of Jesus,
Who for you pardon paid!
"Let not your heart be troubled,
Nor let it be afraid."

Then strive, sad heart, to trust Him,
Though dreary be the day,
For He has surely promised
All tears to wipe away;
And lead where clouds of sorrow
No more can cast their shade.
"Let not your heart be troubled,
Nor let it be afraid."

THE WHIST TABLE.

Common Sense Theory and Rules for the Use of the Discard.

There seems to be some fatality in whist which makes it impossible for two persons to agree upon any particular scheme of arbitrary conventions, especially in the discards, without coming to grief. How often we see two players coming together in a compass game for the first time and agreeing to play some pet scheme which one or the other fancies, and how curiously the deals in that particular game seem set up to beat that very system. If they agree to discard in a certain way, along comes a hand in which the system drops about five tricks. As a modern writer says, all such schemes are either a waste of ingenuity or an insult to the intelligence of the partner. There never can be an absolute rule for anything in whist, because each hand presents its own difficulties which may be solved by the common-sense player in his own way.

About the only general rule for the common-sense discard is to throw away the suit which you don't want your partner to lead. That does not mean that you are not willing for the adversaries to lead it up to or through you; on the contrary, such a thing may be exactly to your taste. A player should be free at all times to discard according to the best interests of his own hand agreeably to his judgment of the situation and without fear that his partner will be tempted to do something foolish just because a certain suit or a particular card has been discarded.

If you see that you will probably have two discards and you want to show your strong suit to your partner, you can usually do so by discarding both the others. The style of discarding frequently follows a speculative lead of short trumps when your partner is found able to continue them. If one suit has already been shown, especially by the adversaries, one discard will best suit. If your best suit is known, a discard may be useful in showing discard of your own suit, especially if established, it should be a positive indication that you have a re-entry in the suit you keep, and such a discard will usually show that the re-entry card is not an ace, or you would not be keeping a guard to it.

If your partner discards the same suit twice, it will usually be found that he does not care which of the others you lead to him and wants you to lead the best suit for yourself. This should prompt you to lead the best card you have of such a suit, regardless of number, so that he may know on the first round exactly what high cards are out against him. If your partner discards the adversaries' suits you may be pretty sure that he wishes you to play your hand without any regard to him, as he is probably in the high grass with a surprise party for some one.

It is frequently good policy, however, not to discard the adversaries' suit, even at the risk of breaking up your hand, especially if such a discard will enable them to place the remaining cards in their suit. They may be playing a very forward game in order to make a certain suit. When the time comes to get back to the suit, the player holding it may take some sort of finesse which will spoil the whole thing at once, just because he is in doubt as to the exact location of a single card. If you discard the suit, your card may give him the key to the whole situation. This is especially true of situations in which the second best and one small are still out against the strong hand. If these cards are divided between yourself and your partner, you having the small one, and you discard it, the player immediately sees that his suit is established, because he can catch the only one out against him with one lead. If you decline to discard this small card, letting go something valuable in another suit, he will naturally conclude, when you play the small one second hand, for instance, that you are keeping it as a guard to the second-best and he will finesse against you, letting your partner's second-best win a trick.

Saddle Horses.

The constant change in the style of saddle horses is well shown in observing the difference between prize winners this year and last. The first illustration shows the Missouri stallion Thornton Star, winner of the first prize at the St. Louis horse show in 1898, and the second is a cut of the Kentucky gelding Frenchman winner of the cup given by the National Saddle-Horse Breeders' Association for the champion saddler at Lexington in 1899.

[Frenchman, Prize Winner in 1899.]

Most horse breeders and equestrians would choose the former, but since improvement is the order of the day, probably the latter has good points not clearly shown in the cut.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The Westfield eleven is practicing several evenings each week. They open the season with the Alis team on the Martine field, October 7. For five years the Westfield boys have been unable to defeat the Alis boys and they are bound to do it this year. With that object in view, they are practicing hard for the game.

The Alis football team met last evening for practice on the Madison avenue practice grounds. Most of the candidates were on hand. The question of the backs is not yet settled. Morris Dumont is a sure thing at quarter while Captain Roy Phillips will fill his old place at full. The two halves are as yet undecided. The team showed an improvement in its interference. The new men are getting the hang of it and move faster and keep their positions better than before.

The opening of the football season for the crack Plainfield eleven, the Alis team, is now only a week off. The Alis boys have been practicing for two weeks now and are in fair shape. The lineup of the team is not decided yet for certain but there are only a few places that are still uncertain. Dumont, Cuming, Finch or Waring and Phillips form the probable combination behind the line. Waring will play if his ankle is well enough. Otherwise he will go on the line and Finch will take his place. Smith seems a sure thing for centre with Long for one guard and Kline a strong probability for the other. The tackles are uncertain. Homer Smith and Charles Woolston are the ends.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache, and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents, at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store. GOLF.

There will be no scheduled event on the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club this afternoon. There will be several matches and individual play, however.

The weekly competition for the McCutchen cup will be held this afternoon, despite the fact that many of the golfers on the Park Golf Club, on whose links the competition is held, have gone to New York to see the land parade. There were a number of players on hand yesterday who spent part of the day on the links.

The greens committee of the Park Golf Club expect quite a turnout at the links Friday and Saturday. Friday will be observed as a holiday here and in New York and there will be many who will not care to witness the naval parades. So they are expected to spend the day on the course. Saturday, the land parade may not have attractions for all the golfers and a fair showing is expected at the links.

REUNION OF VETERANS.

Survivors of the Thirtieth New Jersey Volunteers to Meet in Bound Brook.

The following members of the 30th New Jersey Volunteers living in this city will attend the annual reunion of that organization to be held at Bound Brook on Wednesday, October 4th: Capt. J. Frank Herbert, Charles Randolph, F. S. Runyon, Nelson Runyon, T. J. Runyon, Randolph Thorn, J. Lance Mundy, P. V. Weaver, David R. Weaver, T. J. Carey, Theodore Rutan, John Sullivan, Garret Eyck, Samuel Moore, J. B. Stryker, John Giddis, E. C. Mulford, Jacob Manning.

"The Curse of New Jersey."

Tuesday, before Bailies Lawson and Barrie, Hugh Henderson, a laborer on tramp, was charged with being drunk and kicking the door of a police cell and wilfully and maliciously destroying a drinking tin. Accused—I wish to throw myself on the mercy of the Court. Constable Scott stated that after the accused was brought into the office he commenced to be very outrageous, his boots having to be taken off after he was put into the cell. Accused said that in the swamps of New Jersey he had acquired what was known as the curse of New Jersey—a chill and fever. His was the first case known in the United States. Sentence, 12s. 6d. or seven days.—Hawick Express, Scotland.

Almost Fell in the Water.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, of Elmwood place, went to New York yesterday to witness the naval parade, and while Mrs. Dobbins was getting on a boat from which she expected to view the festivities, she tripped on a large rope on the boat and very narrowly escaped falling into the water. Mr. Carr, of this city, a member of the party, was standing close by and caught Mrs. Dobbins just in time to save her from what might have been a serious accident.

Whirlwind Cuts a Swath Through Red Bank
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Red Bank, Sept. 30.—A whirlwind went through this section yesterday afternoon. It was funnel-shaped and as it moved made a noise like an express train. Its track was probably one hundred yards wide. At Eatontown it is reported to have lifted the roof from the school house and blown a house from its foundations. In Red Bank it tore big trees up by the roots and blew down several chimneys. The damage was confined to the western end of the town. When it reached the river the whirler picked up a lot of water and then went up in the air. Nobody was hurt during the blow.

Celebration Postponed Murder Trial.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 30—The celebration in New York saved George Day and Reuben Strickland from pleading to the charge of murder yesterday. The men were indicted for the the murder of Patrick Cronin by the September Grand Jury. They only can be brought here in custody of an official from the State prison, and since all of the keepers were excused to witness the Dewey celebration, there was no one to bring the two men to this city, and the case will have to wait several days.

Rev. Mr. Shott to Talk.

Rev. Gideon M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, will address the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow at 4:15 and there will be singing and orchestral accompaniment. Men invited. Boys' meeting at same hour.

NEW YORK'S LOVING CUP FOR DEWEY.

The loving cup which New York will present to Admiral Dewey is of 18-Karat gold, 13 inches high and has a capacity of four and a half quarts. Besides other decorations it contains a portrait of the Admiral, a representation of the Olympia and the coat of arms of the city. Around the neck are 45 stars representing the states.

A MINISTER'S EULOGY.

Rev. W. C. Snodgrass Spoke Highly of the Departed at Late M. D. Brown's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Moses D. Brown was held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the house on Washington avenue and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church, conducted the services and spoke beautifully concerning the departed.

Miss Emma Raybert, a near friend of the family, sang two beautiful solos, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "God Be With You Until We Meet Again."

The floral display was profuse and handsome, and surrounding the casket there was one large bank of the choicest flowers. There was a large pillow from the children and grandchildren bearing the inscription "At Rest." The Epworth League of the M. E. church sent a large bunch of white roses. Other floral gifts were received from relatives and friends.

The interment took place in the North Plainfield cemetery and those who acted as bearers were Charles Graves and Dr. Pocock, of this city, and Firman Gise and George Giles, of Dunellen.

Endeavor State Finances.

In the report of the Treasurer E. E. Anthony, of State Christian Endeavor society, presented at the Camden convention, The Daily Press Thursday stated that the cash on hand was $426.-07. Instead of its being cash, that sum represents the indebtedness. The various items of indebtedness are as follows: For stationery and printing, $92.57; for Asbury Park convention, (due to State officers,) 36 11; for Asbury Park convention, (due for badges,) $200; for department work, junior, $3; for district secretaries, $52 09; for Camden '99 program com., $22.50.

Printers' Products.

The printers on the Printers' Farm at Bound Brook have been fairly successful this season, considering everything; they have raised over 5,000 bushels of potatoes, besides many thousand ears of corn and other garden truck. The printers are selling much of their produce to the people of the borough.

Doing Well, But Want More Money.

The committee from the Loyal Temperance Legion, who has in charge the raising of funds for the public drinking fountain proposed to be erected, report that they are meeting with great success, yet they are desirous that all who have not contributed will do so at once.

Aboard His Private Yacht.

J. Wesley Johnson, president of the First National Bank, enjoyed the naval parade in New York yesterday aboard his fine steam yacht. Among his invited guests were David Runyon, A. M. Griffin, Will F. Williams and Mulford Estil. They all report having had a fine time.

Chinaman Was Patriotic, Too.

When Sam Lee, the North avenue laundryman, learned that yesterday was a holiday, he at once became patriotic. Last night Sam gave vent to his enthusiasm and celebrated Admiral Dewey's victory at Manila by discharging a quantity of firecrackers.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on L. W. Randolph, Druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50c. and $1. Every bottle guaranteed, or price refunded.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Ella Conover, of Elmwood place, a graduate nurse of the Mercer Hospital, Trenton, has returned to her home after a brief vacation.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The relatives of the late Moses D. Brown desire to thank all who in any way rendered assistance during the illness or death of the departed.

—This weather makes an open fire a desirable feature in the home, and Mr. Thorpe, at 310 and 312 Park avenue, has just put in a fine line of andirons and fireplace fixtures to meet the fall demand. His store is also headquarters for gas logs and grates.

Funeral of Miss King.

The funeral services of the late Miss Catherine King, of the borough, were held Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from Warren chapel. The attendance of relrtives and friends was large. The services were in charge of Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church, and Rev. Dr. W. C. Nelson, of the borough, both spoke words of comfort and consolation.

During the services a beautiful vocal selection was given by a trio composed of the Misses Grace Johnson, Edith Vail and Josie Martin. The interment took place in the family plot in Hillside cemetery, and six nephews of the deceased served as bearers.

FIFTY-SEVEN YEARS AT THE THROTTLE.

One of the Oldest Employes of the Pennsylvania Road.

SOON BE 75 YEARS OLD.

HE WILL CELEBRATE HIS BIRTHDAY NEXT MONDAY.

For Over Half a Century Has Been Running the Same Train—William Gordon, Sr., of East Millstone, is the Man With This Remarkable Record—Comes Under Benefit of Pension System.

Wm. Gordon, Sr., of East Millstone, the oldest railroad engineer in the United States in active service, will celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of his birthday next Monday. Mr. Gordon is hale and hearty and does not reveal his age. He is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and will be the first of the engineers to come under the recently adopted pension system, which goes into effect January 1st next.

Mr. Gordon does not fully realize how it will feel not to run his engine, for the train that he is running today between Jersey City and East Millstone he has run for fifty-seven years. Fortunately the accidents to his credit are so small and trivial that they can scarcely be called accidents. Despite his advanced years and the constant use of his eyes he never uses eyeglasses when at work and only occasionally to read by when he is off duty.

Mr. Gordon had the honor of being one of the chosen few to run the old John Bull engine, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was anxious that he should run her to the World's Fair. He refused this honor, as the trip was a long one and his age argued against it. There is scarcely a railroad engineer in the east of any prominence who does not know Mr. Gordon or has not heard of him.

He lives a life of quietude at East Millstone, and follows every day the even tenor of his way. He is wedded to his trade and will no doubt feel the loss of occupation that he has followed for so many years. He is highly esteemed by the company for which he works and is considered as one of the best and most careful men in its employ. No doubt he will be generously treated by his employers under the new pension system.

Mr. Gordon is a grandfather of Mrs. Walter C. Dobbins, of this city.

Well! Well! Well.

Of course you saw Dewey! And the great pageant that reflected to the heavens the honor and love we bear him! And of course you are willing to swear it was the sight of a lifetime! And if you want to preserve that very kind of a sight go to Collier's and have a free examination of your eyes, and learn thereby if your eyes need attention. 103 Park avenue.

Omer C. Moore as an Artist.

A large oil painting with the likeness of the "Hero of Manila" attracts attention in the show window of Woolston & Buckle's store on North avenue. It is the work of Omer C. Moore, who is to present it to the association by that name.
